The dead have managed to ruin everything Catherine stood for and was and everything she tried to do that was positive, healthy, intelligent and wise… Gee. Gosh. How could this happen? Who invented the ideas of political intrigue to manage a switch of a alliances and make a secret treaty with a neighboring European empire in order to have an ally? In order to prosecute their war against another empire? Catherine. And win the Crimea with the least amount of violence possible in order to spread the enlightenment of an Empire based on Kindness and Compassion instead of cruelty. Hmmm let's see… how did the undead manage to ruin this goal; by inventing a series of secret treaties that would send the entire world into death and destruction 200 years later and ruin the entire world… Oh gosh: it took the dead one extra century to orchestrate this global horror called WW1. Oh gosh: one imperial empress with a kind heart who actually tried to make things better: who tried to make the Russian empire a more humane society: this one exception to the rule out of all the corrupted diseased rotting filth of European royalty… hmmm let's see: It took the dead 230 years to destroy that dream of a kinder Russian Empire completely, and they are continuing to destroy every single human love and kindness they find… Secretly working, working, conniving, plotting, manipulating for thousands and millions of years with only one agenda: pure stinking evil. Evil stinking rotting ghouls every single one of them. Does any living person reading this book wonder why these dead scum must be exterminated? If you the reader are not enraged by what the undead have done and are continuing to do. If you the reader of this book do not have the righteous anger and righteous reason to kill these things then you are not human: you are one of them: you are a possessed insane puppet of the undead. The fucking POINT of Catherine and Victoria is this: there is no such thing as prophecies or any magical ability to see into the future. The dead REACT the Present: they do not and cannot predict the Future. They cannot see into the Future. All of their fucking so-called 'prophecies' are hoaxes, swindles, and cons. They have no fucking special powers, no special knowledge, no special wisdom. Get all the fucking biblical shit about prophecies out of your brain. Only what the dead WORK AT to invent and push and manipulate ever comes true and it takes hundreds and thousands of years of these shit turds working and slaving away to succeed at anything. What you the living do not know is that 99% of all their fucking plans have always failed miserably. If I predict I will kill these dead things and later I do: it is not a fucking prophecy: It is what I WORK AT that makes it happen in the future: not a fucking 'prophecy'. If you work at planting and growing trees and they grow it is not a fucking prophecy. If you work at planting evil and it grows it is not a fucking 'prophecy'. It is the work of evil sick filthy ghouls that need to be EXTERMINATED AND WIPED OUT OF EXISTENCE>. WITH EXTREME PREJUDICE.

Now back to Queen Victoria; the undead reaction of Catherine the Great: Victoria the hag; an orchestrated travesty of what Catherine was 100 years before Victoria gained the throne of the British empire

Victoria was an ogre, a monster: wanting to have her hemophiliac child beaten and in doing so kill him dead…! Compare this with the royal Russian family's treatment of their hemophiliac child of Nicholas II. There is no comparison. One is an insane, vindictive, murderous, evil hag. The other is a kind, caring couple who would never think of doing such a horrible thing to their child. That is why the undead exterminated the Russian royal dynasty while preserving the English royal dynasty. Nicholas and his German wife actually cared about their children. Victoria hated her children. The undead always destroy and poison the best while preserving and glorifying the worst. They always destroy love and preserve hate. This is why they must be exterminated and wiped off the face of this Earth forever.

Albert's intelligent plan of uniting Germany and Britain by the arranged marriage of his oldest daughter to a German Prince had to be sabotaged by the undead. Victoria herself preferred Germany to England. She was half-German herself. Albert was a full German. His intelligent plan to marry his children off to the Teutonic Protestant nations of Europe had to be destroyed by the undead. His plan was exactly what Hitler later tried to do: unite these two white Protestant Anglo-Saxon-Teutonic-Scandinavian races into a unity of friendship based upon the commonality of their national-social cultural values and common heritage which complimented each other and were harmonious with each other because they shared the same basic ancestry and culture. This was what the undead set out to destroy.

That black, bloodsucking, needy, spider of a hag: that sex whore who detested babies and hated her own children and needed to be fucked every night or else she became a raging harridan; while setting the hypocritical tone of a puritanical middleclass Royal family; was a total fraud. It was only Albert who genuinely cared about his children, not Victoria; but even there he mostly cared about them only to be modeled and pressed into political pawns for the spread of their filthy dynasty to become a global power covering all of Europe and the world. Everything good about their family and marriage was destroyed and poisoned beyond recognition: Everything evil, sick and degenerate was preserved, glorified and spread throughout the world as a royal disease of pure stinking filth.

Edward VII: Her son Bertie who succeeded Victoria was also a sex addict just like his mother: he frequented brothels so often a special fucking-chair was built for him at a Paris brothel called Le Charbonet; it was designed for clients who were so fat and out of shape they couldn't move their hips. It was later put on exhibition and named 'Bertie's chair'. Chair- bon… good chair, get it? Bonet: bonnet, bone, boner. Get it?

King Edward was a depraved, sick, fat bloated evil lizard-thing; filled with the undead ghouls of his ancestors. The entire world turned a blind eye to all of his depravity and degeneracy. He was so diseased and filled with pus because he was in agony from the filth which had accumulated inside his guts; his Coronation had to be postponed so his appendix could be removed: a new dangerous surgery which many people died from. The surgeon who operated on him was the same doctor who treated the Elephant man: another sick, deformed monster. He had a sick fascination for horrible misshapen ugliness. The Elephant man was a physical monstrosity: Bertie was also a physical-psychic-spiritual-sexual monstrosity. He died physically on the doctor's operating table just before his coronation; he stopped breathing. his face turned blue; but the undead had more evil for him to commit: they brought the body back to life and used this monster to further their secret ghouls. The undead entered his dead body and brought it back from the realm of the undead and used it as an instrument of evil. He actually invited all of his mistresses to his Coronation! As an amoral filthy professional hypocrite and liar with NO sense of decency or morals; that royal filth set a public example of the worst kind for all the world to follow. Contrast this with what kind of public image the stinking 'English' royal family tried to project after he died as a reaction to what the Royal Families of England had been for centuries.

The fact is the Anglo-French alliance which was the strategic reason why WW1 began: that treaty could not have been signed without Bertie wooing the most decadent degenerates of the Paris Bourgeoisie and becoming an idol of the depraved French pornographic elite who had already been infiltrated and corrupted by the Jewish culture of sexual perversion. Before Bertie visited Paris as the new King of England: Edward VII, France correctly held England to be her worst enemy and that hag Victoria to be the most evil despot on Earth. All of France rightly despised that fat depraved, ugly sick flatulent monster of a sex pervert. The undead used the death of Queen Victoria: this insane female monster and inserted her son as an even sicker more foul monster in order to orchestrate and make sure that WW1 would happen so all human love and decency would be wiped out of existence. In one short state visit a miracle occurred in France: public opinion of that fat fucking whoring drug addict and of England and the British Empire was suddenly reversed by the specific forced intervention of the undead into the hearts and minds of the French masses.

The oldest ancestral mortal enemy of France: the filthy British Empire who had destroyed the French Empire and stolen the French Suez Canal from the French and had blocked all of France's colonial ambitions for 400 years!? Suddenly becomes a 'friend' of France!? How did this happen? By Jewish owned and controlled newspapers manipulating public opinion in France*?* No. The newspapers are only one tip of one arm of the octopus of undead evil which permeates all of the world and has done so for millions of years. This new weapon invented by the undead: called mass media was spread and used all over the world: This weapon of mass opinion, mass brainwashing, mass conformity and mass distraction is still owned and controlled by Jewish filth who are controlled by Jewish undead ghouls who are in turn controlled by other undead demons.

Just HOW this sudden about-turn happened… that the national opinion of all France! Seeing the English, Britain, the British empire and Edward VII as friends instead of enemies… remains a total mystery. For French society to make this incomprehensible, unbelievable turn-about from despising him as a fat degenerate pornographic piece of filth, to actually liking that fat toad during his state visit in 1903, makes no human sense whatsoever.
One state visit is not enough reason for all of France: every milkmaid, every farmer and workmen, every seamstress, every cook and child to suddenly experience a change of heart regarding their oldest, most reviled, hated national-cultural enemy and rival! It is only by the mass will of the undead pushing and pushing the consciousness of living humans into reversing themselves which makes these insane irrational things happen at all.

Bertie her son, as opposed to Victoria the stinking hypocrite, was the 'honest' Royal: He did not hide his depravity from the world like his mother the mad queen Victoria had in total secrecy. He flaunted his sexual depravity publicly instead of keeping it a secret. This reversal is another sign of the undead at work. He was used by the undead as an instrument to push the culture of filthy pornographic degeneracy all over the entire world. The effect of his living example is that now 100 years later, pornography is the No.1 cash business in the world.

It wasn't just Bertie; the entire elite upper class of 19th century England was rotten. They presented themselves to the lower classes as the utmost righteous, pillars of morality; while at the same time all of their vices, addictions, crimes and anti-social psychopathic behavior was excused, tolerated, whitewashed, covered up and kept secret. It was from this culture of moral immunity, immunity from all moral judgment, which this brain-damaged child Winston Churchill was born into; he absorbed the unspoken religious belief that the members of his elite class could do no wrong and would never be punished for their sins. By presenting the foulest, most corrupt of that nation as the most immaculately upright pillars of society. the undead systematically reversed the morality of the lower classes of England from Good into evil.

This culture which the elite lived in, a culture of silence and secrecy, of denying any wrong doing on their part, this culture of elite privilege, the culture of never criticizing the upper crust for their rotten corrupt amorality; is crucial to understanding how Churchill could do the things he did without any public outrage being raised… how he could consciously commit to killing millions of innocent people without feeling any guilt or responsibility whatsoever. He was totally blind to his own evilness. He never blamed himself for what he did and never held himself accountable for any of the consequences of his own actions. The entire British Empire was a culture of worshiping and revering the elite upper class of England. It was this global culture of elite privilege that enabled him to get away with his evil; it was the evil side of the British Empire; its class system; the mindless worship of the upper class; never punishing the evils which the upper class were guilty of. The hidden ghoul hiding inside him revealed itself in his cherubic smile when in front of the camera in public. It was the smile of a sly, inhuman undead thing; knowing it that it was fooling the entire world of the living.

After the death of Queen Victoria in 1901, the evil blackness of her influence over the whole world vanished. This brought about the short blooming of a new Positive Life energy and Happiness all over the world. It was this brief sunny period of new beginnings which the undead speedily put to an abrupt end to by quickly setting up, orchestrating and perpetrating the insane horrors of WW1 and WW2.

Why was Churchill the most evil thing to poison the British Empire after Queen Victoria? He was the most evil of all possessed living shells because the undead ghouls of that black hag lay hidden inside him. The ghouls which had infected and poisoned her; entered into his soul and poisoned him also. The undead always like to give 'secret' signs of their existence to the blind, brainwashed masses of Humanity… But only as long as these signs are not recognized by the living. The sign which Churchill gave, showing that the evil spirit of that foul hag was living inside him, the sign which he continually showed to the cameras was the famous 'V' sign… That sign did not mean victory: it meant the disaster of Vulcanism for the whole world; it means the worship of the god Vulcan: the gods of the Volcanoes of Africa that had destroyed all Life on Earth for 25 million years; it means the evil of undead Vultures pecking at the dead dying corpse of Humanity. It meant that the undead ghoul who had controlled and corrupted queen Victoria had control of him as well.

Victoria and her Royal dynasty were the vultures of her age; filled with hatred, envy and jealousy. The ruling class of the British Empire were the vultures feasting on the global British empire: and the effect of their evil was that every lower class took their cue from them, copied them and began pecking DOWN onto everyone lower than they were… until it became a mass fad: an unspoken mass culture of obscene global snobbery. Churchill showing that sign of the 'V' meant that the evil undead hag which had controlled Victoria was hiding inside him; making sure that Churchill would destroy the newfound health and happiness of all Humanity which had suddenly bloomed after her death. This undead thing; this foul unspeakably evil undead ghoul of Queen Victoria wanted the entire world to suffer as much sorrow and loss as she had when she was alive. And all the demons of the hell and angels of heaven massed together in unison to make sure it would happen by bringing about the most pointless war ever fought.

This again shows how on closer scrutiny, every perception of reality, every supposed 'truth' which the masses have been brainwashed into believing is actually the complete opposite of what they believe; it is a reversal of the actual truth.

Now back to the historical events of the Victorian era which produced Winston Churchill.

The British financial coup of stealing the French-built Suez Canal right from under their noses; thus guaranteeing them the shortened trade route to China and India and a huge increase in profits was the culture that Winston Churchill was born into. It was the last golden years of the British Empire; the culture of colonial land grabbing, greed and power grabbing was running rampant throughout the British Empire and the huge influx of drugs and spices imported from China, India and the Orient was rotting the British upper class. While the rich Jewish robber baron bankers were embedding themselves into English royal aristocracy and the English aristocrats were squeezing every pound they could get out of this intermarriage of English-Germanic decadent degeneracy with Jewish corruption.

Now the stage is set for you to begin to better understand that world of the 1800's and how the English aristocracy lived and what they did and why they did it. Now you can begin to understand why the richest Jewish banking families in England were friends with the highest Aristocratic families of English Royalty and Aristocracy… These historical facts are kept from the ignorant masses and never mentioned in polite society. The history of degenerate Jewish wealth merging and mingling with degenerate English ruling class families has been glossed over and never examined too closely, and for good reason. Because if their true history of true ruling elite is ever exposed, the people will burn down their castles and mansions and wipe them out of existence. Mansions are the sins of a man visited on his sons: Man-sin-son; get it?

Winston's father Lord Randolph Churchill was intimate friends with Nathan Rothschild: (Nathaniel Mayer Victor; 3rd Baron Rothschild) head of the London branch of the family bank after his father's death in 1879, the 2nd Baron Rothschild. As a boy at Harrows the elite private school for the Aristocrats of England, Winston befriended his schoolmate the Baron's son, Nathan or Natty, as he was called (Nathaniel Charles Jacob; 4th Baron Rothschild). It should be noted that Randolph's ancestors, the Spencers, had once been the richest family in all of England, so it is no surprise that both he and his son Winston were attracted to the richest family in England during their lifetimes, since their undead filthy lurking ancestors once had been the Rothschilds of their day. Water always seeks the lowest level.

In 1891, Nathan (3rd Baron Rothschild) paid for Randolph's trip to South Africa to evaluate the natural resources in the area and lent him £65,000 to invest in the mining syndicates there: he never did. Randolph had no intention of investing the money in wild schemes; he just deposited the money into safe investments and proceeded to live off the interest.

Randolph died in 1895 before he could repay the loan; thus putting his entire family into debt servitude to the Rothschilds for generations to come. Upon his death, the gross value of his personal estate was revealed to be £75,5971. Exposing the fact that the bulk of the estate of Randolph Churchill was primarily made up of the secret loan which Rothschild had given him to invest in African mining companies which he never did… Randolph Churchill had hid the fact that his family was penniless and on the verge of bankruptcy from the public… the interesting question is whether Barton Rothschild was aware of Randolph's financial state when he loaned him this huge sum… One would assume that he did, but that assumption is only conjecture. To give you an idea of how enormous this loan was and how huge the Churchill fortune was: £75,971 is the financial equivalent of over £6.45 million today in modern currency. £65,000 of Randolph's estate was Rothschild's money. Meaning aside from his property he died broke and in debt to Rothschild. When it comes to money and debt and revenge: Jews have a long, long memory. Rothschild was determined to get his pound of flesh out of the Churchill family. And they collected by turning Winston into their paid goon.

The fact was Randolph Churchill never intended to pay off this loan. It was his one last jab against the Jewish bankers whom he used as they used him. It was a relationship of mutual usury: the most evil, stinking rotten abomination of human relationships. He used Rothschild to stay afloat financially and preserve his rotten corrupt aristocratic status; putting his family into a secure financial position just before he died. But he was a wastrel and his whole fucking family was a bunch of corrupt wastrels also. After he died they ran through the millions in short order and were back into debt again. Randolph banked on the fact that Rothschild needed the English elite more than they needed him; Randolph knew that Rothschild could not afford to drive the most aristocratic family in England into penury and bankruptcy by calling in his unpaid loan, If he had; he and all the rest of the fucking stinking Rothschild dynasty would have been ripped out of their fucking mansions by mobs and strung up and burned at the stake as the most filthy evil usurers of England. This was a situation which the Rothschilds in one generation later reversed; by making Winston: Randolph's son, their personal slave and instrument of Rothschild evil: which is to say, an instrument of the most foul undead evil on Earth.

Thus it comes as no surprise that throughout his political career in Parliament, Randolph Churchill was a staunch supporter of Jewish causes, especially the issues that were important to his close associates and friends; specifically rich Jewish Bankers like Baron Rothschild. For instance in 1883, Randolph favored the emancipation of all Jews living in Britain; not a very popular move in those anti-Semitic days. In 1881 as a Member of Parliament (1874-1895) he persuaded the British govt to investigate the reports of pogroms against Jews in Russia. On January 11 and 13 in 1882, The London based Times attracted worldwide attention to these fictional pogroms in which the figure of 6 million being killed and starving to death was mentioned. The result was London citizens held a meeting on February 1st 1882 to institute fund-raising for the victims, an endeavor that ultimately amounted to collecting over ₤108,000, confirming the idea that the fictional persecution of Jews anywhere might be profitable for Jews who do the publicizing. This should ring a clear bell to anyone who has studied the myth of the hollow hoax which is now called the holocaust and the historical origin of this number of 6 million Jews being persecuted constantly recurring in Jewish texts, newspapers, stories, myths and legends.

The fact is, Randolph Churchill was instrumental in pushing for and achieving the emancipation of Jews in England 28 years before the emancipation of women… Just as in Russia, the emancipation of jews was passed before the emancipation of peasants… The undead made sure to unleash the most evil poisonous scum on the earth before mankind had a chance to humanize itself and reform itself

In 1882, after Britain sent a military force to Egypt to stabilize the crisis concerning the Suez Canal; Randolph Churchill was annoyed at the P.M. William E. Gladstone when he sent a member of the gentile Baring bank to examine Egypt's financial records instead of a representative of the Rothschilds; whose loaned money had enabled the British to attain their major interest in the Suez Canal in the first place. This shows there were anti-Jew and pro-Jew camps inside the British govt vying for control of the Empire. It also reveals how dependent the British govt was on the Rothschild wealth before WW1 and how Randolph kept from having his loan called in. As long as he was Rothschild's obedient political puppet he was allowed to function; this rotting of his inner soul and his entire body killed him and he died prematurely.

Note: the ongoing financial war for mastery over the British Empire and thus the western world, the war between Baron Rothschild and the English Baring bank is left out here. Ultimately by 1820, Nathan Rothschild & Sons won the war and took over complete control of the financial capital of the world; The City of London, the Bank of England and the running of the bullion market and the bond market: which is to say the entire centralized wealth of the British Empire…

This financial takeover was accomplished from scratch in a 30 short years. As I said before; the speed of the rise and growth of the Rothschild financial powerhouse was unimaginable and completely unnatural; it could never have taken place if it had not been aided, planned and orchestrated by undead evil controlling them at every turn. The English Baring side of undead evil lost out to the more evil cunning secrecy of the Jewish Rothschild evil and ultimately merged with it. Churchill's side, the English side of open honesty and baring your soul and body in public, which was what he did throughout his life, merged with the older evil culture of Jewish secrecy of the Ashkenazi Jewish bankers, the culture of greed and avarice which was thousands of years older than the British culture of openness triumphed. WHY? Because when both sides are evil to begin with: the worse evil always takes over the lesser evil when it operates inside the negative evil context of civilization. Whatever 'baring' Churchill did, it always turned out to be a sly, cunning evil deception which hid far uglier truths. For instance Churchill bared his soul to Roosevelt when he admitted that WW2 was the most unnecessary war ever fought. but he did not bare this fact to the public at large: he did not admit he had pushed for and fought the wrong enemy to anyone else. And what's more nobody stood up and accused him of this crime against Humanity. Why? Because the undead had a LOCK on the awareness and souls of living humans and made sure nobody looked into this glaring mistake and nobody exposed it while that fat foul thing was still alive.

Why is the Rothschild banking criminal syndicate so important? Why are the Rothschilds so powerful?... Because they mark the historical shift of two evils of the undead: The power to kill, and the power to corrupt human souls. The power to destroy materially with guns and bombs and the immaterial power to destroy human lives with avarice and the love of money… For thousands of years, the evil immaterial power of money served the material power to kill and destroy Life. Jewish banking evil filth served kings and emperors and govts and rulers. Then in a flash, in just a few decades, the positions of these two evils were reversed. Not only was it reversed: it was reversed with a planned, malevolent, completely hidden, secret savagery in the form of one Jewish banking family literally buying up and controlling and manipulating huge forces like national banks, armies, corporations, industries govts and taking over control of the largest empires in the world… That is why the Rothschilds are so important.

What most historians have carefully covered up is the fact that Churchill's family was constantly in debt; mainly to Jewish bankers… especially to Rothschild, a debt they could never afford to pay off. This was one of the greatest sins of Victorian anti-Semite Aristocracy: to go into debt, but even worse to be in debt to a Jew… this had to be kept secret.

This is also one possible reason why Churchill kept his relationship and all his dealings with the Rothschild family a secret. If it had been known that the Churchill family was in debt up to its ass to a Jewish banker: they would have lost all their elite connections and been blacklisted from every social event in the Elite upper crust calendar and been banned from elite society as outcasts. The fact that this is still not generally known today shows how secret this fact was. The crucial question is; just how much hold, influence, power or control did Rothschild have over the Churchill dynasty and if they did: just how much did they exercise and use it?

The fact is that the entire Churchill family was indebted to the Rothschild family and was beholden to them for many favors given by the Rothschilds to the Churchills and vice versa. This uncovers the fact that Winston, even though he was a rabid anti-Semite: was an even bigger class-racist… he distinguished his upper aristocratic friends apart from his racist attitude towards literally everyone else below him who was not of his own elite social class.

Everyone who was anyone in the upper class knew quite well that the Rothschilds were the richest motherfuckers in the world and that they secretly controlled politicians and govts. Churchill, that self-seeking ass-kisser, saw this as his golden opportunity to get into the inner circles of power by sucking up to the Rothschild boy at Harrows, which he did. His family's indebtedness to Rothschild may have even been another reason; not collecting on the loan to his dead father and not bankrupting and humiliating his entire family both socially and financially which they could have.

The one thing which stands out is how Winston Churchill became an unspoken secret agent for the Rothschilds, just as his father had been; they became secret agents, the 007's of their day. Randolph Churchill did not come straight out and support Rothschild publicly and neither did Churchill; but the political facts of what they did for Rothschild… supporting his secret aims and ghouls and what they did for the rich Jews of Britain speak for itself. Nearly every chance they got; both Randolph and Winston tried to return the favors they had received from the Rothschild family and other Jewish bankers. That in itself is nothing new: the ancient system of political corruption, the unspoken tenet of Pro Quid Quo; the Machiavellian custom of the selling of favors, the selling of contracts and power and positions to clients goes back before Roman times; it is older than the Pharaohs of Egypt.

As a side note, one hidden evil can now be better understood historically: Ian Fleming's James Bond: calling him secret agent 007 now makes historical sense. The number 7 refers to the Jewish 7-day week and to the seven candlesticks of the Jewish Menorah and the myth of the Jewish Yahweh of the Jewish Old Testament, who was supposed to have created the entire Universe in 7 days. By the time Fleming was a member of the OSS, the Rothschild elite had taken over complete control of the entire upper bureaucracy of the British govt. The fact is, James Bond was secretly working for the Jewish Rothschild bankers: not for the English govt. The name Bond refers to the British Bond market which already had been owned and controlled by the Jewish House of Rothschild for more than a century before Fleming wrote his books; and also the bondage of expensive elite addictions to alcohol, cigarettes, expensive cars, illicit sex; which originates from the Flemish drug culture of Holland and the Netherlands, and the Flemish Jewish bankers who emigrated to take over the English banking system and the English govt bureaucracy: it also refers to the English addiction and enslavement to the Jewish evils of greed, avarice, sexual lust, hedonism and the secret lust for secret power*; the drive for world domination by a chosen race of secret agents controlled by the undead.* All the arch-enemies in the Bond novels mirror the secret agendas of the secret Jewish cabal which has now taken over the West plus; they also mirror the secret agendas of the undead who control who control and manipulate them; it is simply a case of reversal; brainwashing the masses to believe the opposite of the ugly truth. Bond's secret agent number 007 is the Jewish number of evil; signifying that only Jews are allowed to kill, that Jews have a secret license, secretly given to them by the undead; to kill anyone they want to, except other Jews, and get away with it. Zionist Jews of the West and of the East committed mass murder, they committed selective genocide in two World Wars and they are still getting away with the genocide in Palestine. It is not a coincidence that the Jews were No. 7 on the Nazi watch list of potential enemies in 1935-36. It was only when a Nazi ambassador in Paris was killed by a Jew that the SS put them at the top of the list as the most dangerous enemy of the 3rd Reich. This is why the Hebrew text signifying Israel is the number 7. Since Hebrew is written and read backwards: it is seen as a backwards 7 which hides its actual evil significance to the unlearned

As you see, there is always more than one level of meaning to abstract symbols; ancient evil has many layers of hidden meaning. But once they are exposed: the advantage of their filthy secrecy disappears: which is why this book will be read by every human on Earth.

This is also where the magic number of 6 million Jews being killed comes in. The entire myth of this number comes from the Jewish scriptures which predict that the Jews will regain their ancestral land only when 6 million of them are killed off… This is the hidden propaganda myth which the ideology of Jewish Zionism is based upon and why these lying scum have had to preserve the myth of 6 million killed by the Nazis in order to rationalize and justify their invasion and takeover of Palestine and justify the unjustifiable existence of Israel. The word Zionism is a corruption of the word lionism. Corrupt Jews are attempting to lionize the most evil Jews and present them as bastions of righteousness instead of the sinful scum they actually are. Instead of lions they are all liars. Zi-onists are lie-onists; stinking evil cunning liars. Winston's part in this deal of the Balfour Declaration of 1917, supporting the establishment of a Jewish homeland in Palestine is already well-known, and it is further proof that he was a staunch pro-Jewish Rothschild paid shill long before the Focus group and WW2.
The rumors of 6 million Jews being killed in Russia is the Jews again creating their own myths out of thin air: inventing lies out of pure fiction and selling them as the truth for the specific purpose of creating a Jewish state in Palestine. The Jews and Rothschild tried many cunning ploys and tricks to make this happen. It also explains where the hollow hoax industry came from.

Long before WW2, and long before Bernie Madoff; certain Jews realized they could swindle their fellow-Jews by using their own guilt against them. One tactic was by yanking on their Jewish guilt of how rich they were and how poor their Jewish brethren in Russia were. By using Jewish Synagogues, Jewish temples, Jewish organizations such as B'nai B'rith Society, Jewish newspapers and mass media to sell this myth of 6 million Jews being persecuted long before WW2 ever happened; this paved the way for the fable of the Nazis killing 6 million Jews to be swallowed by the gullible masses. The mythic story of 6 million Jews being killed became a staple diet in sensationalist Jewish and international news tabloids that sold newspapers by appealing to the lowest most vicarious appetites and printing exaggerated claims and outright lies as truth… Tales of Jews portrayed as victims instead of victimizers which they actually are, as the predators they actually are; is a common theme that runs throughout Jewish history: feel sorry for the poor victimized Jews while they rob the Goyim of everything they have. This myth, this swindle also re-awoke the Jewish dream of re-founding a Jewish state in Jerusalem and created the Zionist Jewish movement to recreate their own nation once again…back in what once had been Ancient Israel 2,000 years ago; as if they had any fucking moral, legal or ethical right to do this.

Once this tale of 6 million Jews killed came to be believed in by many of the brainwashed masses of duped Jews and Goyim: it became the signal for them to invent the false belief that at last their time had come; that Jews were ready to fulfill the ancient prophesies of their religious texts and regain the land they had been kicked out of 2,000 years ago.

Thus when the war propaganda of 6 million Jews killed by the Nazis was spread all over the western world; nearly all Jews instantly believed in this foul cunning lie not only because they wanted to believe it, but because it was written in their holy scriptures and because Jews only believe in lies: never in the truth… it created a mass hysteria, and lemming-like flood of Jews escaping from Russia and Europe, who descended upon the peaceful, quiet land of Palestine like a plague of biblical locusts… which they were in Egypt and still are.

All because their obsolete ancient stupid Jewish culture is based upon insane biblical ancient stupid superstitious bullshit… which the Jews sold to the rest of the world as a biblical rationalization; in reaction to modern day intelligence of recognizing the evils of their culture and their race. Presenting this ancient myth as a completely normal understandable sane motive for flooding Palestine with their filthy race and forcing out the people who had been living there for thousands of years. But then again, that is exactly what white Europeans did to the natives of North America and nobody screams about that either because it is a 'fait accompli'… a done deal, spilt milk, in the past and thusly; 'not important', which is also a reversal of the truth. The exact opposite is true: understanding the past is crucial to understanding our present, and understanding where you are going and where you do not want to go.

If you study the cultures and politics of the early and middle 1900's in Europe, you will find a common theme running through each ethnic population and culture. Each one began having dreams and visions of a return to past glory; a return back to some ancient time when they had once been a dominant race or a dominant Kingdom or a dominant Empire or whatever… Whether it was Germany, or France or Serbia, or Russia, or the Jews, or Japan, or the Austrian Empire, or the Turks or the Poles or any of the others… the drive for acquiring colonies, acquiring more territory, the push for expansion and aggression was in the air almost everywhere. The lessons of history now centuries later is that all of those who succeeded at first either came to a bad end or are now coming to a bad end. The best examples are the demise of the Ottoman, British, Russian and Austrian Empires. Now back to the Churchill family…

If you study the life and personality of Randolph Churchill you will find that Winston took on his father's worst habits and characteristics… with the difference that he did not die of his excesses at the age of 45 as his father had; from venereal disease plus a life of decadent corruption, plus the drugs his doctor prescribed to 'cure' his many illnesses which did not cure him but actually hastened his demise.

Winston Churchill came from one of 'the best families' of Britain… which actually means the opposite: he came from one of the worst families of England. His supposed father Randolph, was a product of his Age and his Class… only he was the worst product of that Age and the worst product of his Class… he was a typical product of the corrupt culture of the upper class society of Victorian England. He was a frequenter of brothels. He fucked anything that was female and had two legs. As all other elite of his class did at that time, he had his string of kept mistresses who were given money and an apartment. He had many illnesses; enough to fill a handbook… trouble with an inner ear imbalance, deafness, numbness of the hands and feet, a speech impediment, slurred speech, bouts of dizziness, he was a heavy smoker and drinker: an alcoholic, he suffered from periods of great exhaustion, melancholia, profound fatigue, confusion, high blood pressure, etc; all symptoms of venereal disease.

The medicines Randolph took were worse than his illnesses: Opium from the poppy plant, Belladonna from the deadly Nightshade plant, the most poisonous plant in Asia, and Digitalis; another toxic poison that is so dangerous the slightest overdose can kill you and Mercury. At that time the English elite were heavy users of every poison known to Mankind: from Mercury to Strychnine to Opium, from the Opium drug trade in China: which was called 'laudanum' in those days; named after the medical term 'Laudable Pus' for its whiteness, like the white pus of a pimple or a boil.

The present whitewashed politically correct opinion is that Randolph Churchill died of an inoperable brain tumor: not of a life of dissipation, drugs, whoring, smoking tobacco, alcoholism and drinking himself to death at an early age; which is of course total bullshit. His slow steady decline into an early senility due to his degenerating health from syphilis, his degenerate soul and his degenerate body could be tracked in Parliament as his speeches became progressively more and more incoherent until nobody could understand what he was mumbling about. He was, in fact dying of a general degeneration and paralysis of all his senses and organs, in short; the accumulated sum of his degenerate life and lifestyle came back to haunt him… that is: kill him dead.

Churchill's mother: Jenny Jerome was a Jewish socialite; a social climber extraordinaire. Her Jewish father was a real work of filth. Proprietor, and editor, of the New York Times, who used gattling guns on his striking employees. He was a stock speculator, and a close friend of August Belmont, Sr. nee Schoenberg, American representative of the Rothschild family's banking. He had interests in Broadway theatres, race tracks and railroads. He was plagued by scandals such as Minnie Hauk who was believed to be his illegitimate daughter. He changed his name from Jacobson to Jerome to cover up his filthy Jewish past.

Jenny's socialite mother took her daughters to Paris to find royalty; to marry them. There she met the Prince of Wales on one of his sex vacations visiting the Parisian brothels. Later in August 1874 Jennie Jerome met Lord Randolph at Cowes during the yachting festival where Bertie was sailing his royal yacht. She became pregnant and her father paid Lord Randolph a sum of $ 2.5 mil (2004 equivalent) to get the bitch off his hands and save himself another huge sex scandal which his Jewish American family would never be able to live down. The Prince of Wales approval of the marriage paved the way for their eventual marriage at the British Embassy in Paris in April of 1874 since he would never marry her. As he later told Winston Churchill at a dinner with a twinkle in his eye, "If it weren't for me, you wouldn't be here." As soon as this 'settlement' was reached they were married, on 15 April 1874 at the British embassy in Paris. The wedding was a hushed and rushed affair with none of the splendour that an international society wedding of such wealth and standing would normally receive: no public ceremony, and little mention in the press. The Duke and Duchess of Marlborough were conspicuously absent. After discreet inquiries about Leonard Jerome nee Jacobson, the Duke concluded that he was a bad sort and not exactly his ideal of an in-law. In other words he was an out-and-out scoundrel of the worst sort: an adulterer, an embezzler, a cheat, a liar, etc: a New York Jew… a Jewish American New Age Robber Baron, with a shady past so filled with scandal that he had been forced to change his name from Jacobson to Jerome. This alone was a red flag to the English aristocracy who prized their heritage and would never think of hiding it? Not really. The English aristocracy hid their dirty filth inbreeding incestuous relationships by changing their names with every royal peerage they were granted. Thus the result of the Marlborough family living under the aliases of Blandford, Churchill, etc ad rot… The English aristocrats like all others were not known by their actual names but by their titles. The Marlborough family tried to put a road block in their way by insisting that Randolph couldn't marry until he had won a seat in parliament. Fate intervened when Randolph won a seat from his home seat of Woodstock. It was only with the huge bribe of money that the family was finally persuaded to allow the marriage.

What happened is clear. The New upstart American Jewish Robber Baron families were copying the same tactic of upward mobility the Rothschild's had used a 100 years earlier of marrying themselves into British aristocracy. It was not a marriage, it was a financial arrangement of a half-Jewish wife sold for 2 ½ million dollars, carrying an illegitimate royal fetus in her belly… It was done to cover up the fact that Jenny was carrying Bertie's baby. She became known for having a strong personality, and grew to become well-respected and influential in British society as a member of the first wave of 'Dollar Princesses' who swept across the Atlantic at the end of the 19th Century to make advantageous matches with the British aristocracy. She was unique for being one of the first American women to be accepted by English high society. She told dirty stories in the most risqué manner: thus single-handedly lowering the morals of the entire English upper crust down to a new low of pornographic licentious filth by her leading the way as an example for others to copy. This was just one way how the pornographic filth of Judaic culture was spread to the highest British aristocracy to corrupt them even more than they already were.

Lord Aylesford, one of Bertie's friends, had accompanied him on his trip to India. During his absence, his wife, Lady Aylesford, was involved in a love affair with Lord Blandford, the eldest son and heir of the Duke of Marlborough. When Lord Aylesford learned of his wife's adultery, he, supported by Bertie, threatened to divorce his wife. However that was not the only affair she was having. She was fucking Bertie also and had letters written to her by Bertie himself to prove it.

Blandford's younger brother, Randolph, refused to allow this divorce to happen as it would ruin the good name of Churchill and the Marlborough family dynasty; so he threatened to publish Bertie's letters if Aylesford divorced his wife; thus casting the blame on her, not on his older brother for the affair. By proving that Bertie had been the original cuckolder years earlier; thus tarnishing his reputation as well… a scandal which could prevent the Prince from succession to the throne: he had dared to lay the blame where it actually was. Infuriated by this outrage of honesty Bertie challenged Randolph to a duel. This abysmal cowardice and bullying by Bertie was refused by Randolph who sent back an insulting letter. You need to understand that no English lord, however high, could run the risk of killing the successor to the throne of Britain in a duel. Bertie knew this. Bertie's challenge to a duel was total bullshit. In order to cover up the entire affair the Queen banished Randolph to Ireland. The dissolute degenerate royal filth known as Bertie refused to accept Randolph's note of apology. Instead he declared that he and his wife Alix would never set foot again in the house of anyone who offered hospitality to Lord Randolph or his wife. As social outcasts the Churchills fled to the United States on an enforced holiday. Bertie's dispute with Lord Randolph would last eight years more. All this because this fucking scumbag of a royal peer, this cuckolder of other men's wives, this adulterer; was jealous of any other cuckolder who fucked any of the wives whom he fucked. For that crime he wanted her to be divorced from her husband and the entire Churchill family ostracized from all polite society because they had dared to threaten to publicize the truth about him.

How small-minded, how nasty, how vicious do you have to be to side with the husband you had cuckolded against the wife you had fucked: because she had found another illicit sex partner….? This is basically what the upper crust scum of Britain did for centuries: fuck each others wives, cuckolding each other, raising illegitimate bastards as if they were their own flesh and blood; hating and despising their own illegitimate children but never revealing the ugly truth to the public. You can read about it in the English Arthurian legend.

Jennie took on 'lovers'; one estimate was that she fucked 200 aristocrats not out of love, just sex. One conquest was Albert Edward, Prince of Wales known as Bertie to his friends. Randolph who having no choice, accepted them; although on one occasion he ran the Prince of Wales out of his house and on another he attacked one of her sex companions with his fists. The couple took long, separate vacations… The entire upper crust of England knew about the ongoing affair between Bertie and Jenny Churchill. When Winston was seven, his mother spent time on the Irish estate of Colonel John Strange Jocelyn, a famous horseman. Jennie became pregnant with his child, and when the child was born, named it 'John Strange Churchill'. . . Winston's only brother; Jack. The fact is: both of the Churchill sons were illegitimate bastards

Now you know why Bertie said to Winston one evening at supper in a cryptic comment… after fucking his mother of course in Churchill's father's own house:

"If it weren't for me, you wouldn't be here."

In 1889, Lord Randolph returned home to find his wife and Prince Albert Edward VII; The Prince of Wales; Victoria's heir; together in, er… an indelicate situation: he chased the Prince out of his house in a fit of quite justifiable rage. As a cuckolded husband who could do nothing about what he knew was going on in front of his nose, due to his chuckhole's superior royal lineage… could be one more reason for the deterioration of his health after he found out about his wife's unfaithfulness… his own unfaithfulness and his slew of kept mistresses did not enter into his awareness as that was considered to be normal for the pornographic male filth of the upper crust in the Victorian Era.

To have a wife like this…a whore who flaunted her sex partners in his face; and fucked them in his house: not having the common decency to do the dirty deed somewhere else… his being unable to express his suppressed rage, anger and jealousy, having her bastard sons living under his roof, supporting them with his money and being forced to live with this black widow spider of an American Jewess pornographic bitch… being forced to apologize to the royal fat oaf who was fucking his wife: being challenged to a duel which he knew he could not fight. Hating his wife, taking long separate extended vacations away from each others company so as not to see each other. This

'aristocratic' family was filled with so much vitriolic mutual hatred, revulsion, rage, anger, jealousy, envy, despising each other; can anyone imagine living in a family like this? It's a miracle Randolph didn't commit suicide. The depths of misery and unhappiness which these upper crust assholes actually suffer and endure all their stinking corrupt lives… while the public image they present to the masses is designed to make all the lower classes envy them, worship them, idolize them, copy them… This is how the undead have systematically deceived, poisoned and brainwashed the lower classes for thousands of years into copying how these upper class royal filth live and copying everything they do.

His wife's long standing sex affair with Prince Albert continued after Randolph's death from syphilis in 1895. In other words, she did not give a rat's ass whether her husband was alive or dead; she didn't care if he knew she was fucking the heir to the British throne or not. Aside from wearing black for a few days she did not grieve for her dead husband and after Randolph died she had no qualms whatsoever in continuing her affair with the Prince; flaunting the conventional mores of her class and time, when the Victorian culture was to grieve for your dead husband for 40 stinking years; as Queen Victoria did all her adult life; Jennie Churchill did the opposite. After Lord Randolph died, Lady Churchill, in two ensuing marriages to previously married men; each about the age of her son.

Winston's mother, Jenny Churchill (née Jacobson) was a notorious adulteress. Basically Jennie Churchill was the pre-eminent social climber of her era: a predatory Black Widow, determined to scramble her way up the ladder of British Victorian elite society as high as possible by every means at her disposal, especially her sexual attractiveness. She was an amoral, immoral, calculating bitch who could not be tamed or controlled by any man. Their marriage became a battle for dominance and supremacy. Randolph lost in the battle of the sexes: his defeat ultimately killed him. She herself died after falling down a set of stairs, her left leg had to be amputated after gangrene set in; she died soon thereafter. On her deathbed, and in extreme pain, she mused, "Is this punishment for living life the way I wanted and not the way others wanted me to?"

My own 'mother' died in a similar way: from a massive heart failure which was operated on twice. The first time didn't kill her the: the 2nd time did. The doctors removed the main artery from her left leg to use in replacing her damaged diseased coronary arteries; as a result her left leg turned blue and rotted for one month for lack of blood circulation as she lay dying in the hospital; plus she could not speak. Because she couldn't breath without a huge tube stuck down her throat. She died in extreme pain in the hospital; operated on twice. The similarity between her and Winston's mother's death is obvious. The undead who poisoned and controlled Jenny Jerome and my mother hid themselves in the left leg of their victims. The left legs and left arms are notorious hiding places for the undead who hide inside the living auras of their victims. You can see this in the film classic Dr. Strangeglove.

Now you know why contacting undead departed spirits through the practice of left-hand writing is a cunning deception, a scam of these undead evil scum: You are actually letting one of the undead filth who has been hiding in the left side of your body all of your life to take over the muscles-control of your left arm. And why every thought you have they know and use to further deceive you into believing that you are contacting the spirit of someone who died.

Why was this daughter of a Jewish New York banker named "Jennie"?

Here's why: Jenny: a term for a female donkey or a mule. A mule in criminal lingo is someone who smuggles contraband into a foreign land… in her case it was her son, the product of her evil jewish genes…
Spinning Jenny: an early spinning machine having more than one spindle, enabling a person to spin a number of yarns simultaneously. This refers to the 3 hags of antiquity known as the three fates spinning the threads of each person's fate.
Invention of the spinning mule or mule jenny in 1779, so called because it is a hybrid of Arkwright's water frame and James Hargreaves' spinning jenny in the same way that mule is the product of crossbreeding a female horse with a male donkey. Winston Churchill was an evil, hybrid of the most evil rotten genes the undead could find and use.
Jenny: nautical slang for Genoa. The medieval city of Genoa is where European Jewish banking and their evil dynasties all began.

If you know the key players, the hidden evil of their orchestrated existence by the undead becomes clear. She was called a "Jennie" because she was a genetic abomination> a genetic crossbreed between a Jew and an Iroquois, like a mule is a crossbreed between a horse and a donkey. She was used by the undead to spin the threads of fate. The 3 fates of Greek mythology used her and entered into her. Her Jewish ancestry originally came from the Jewish bankers of Genoa. Her spinning was an abomination of the fates of other people whom she touched: twisting them and poisoning them with her evil sick sexual lust and her Jewish ambition for upward mobility. She was famous in elite society for spinning stories about other people or "yarns". The spinning mule is just as much of an evil invention of undead evil as this female mule was in her spinning and twisting the threads of fate for the entire western world in order to ruin and destroy the largest, most civilized Empire in the history of the world. These definitions are not a coincidence. Her son went on to become the First Lord of the British Navy twice: something unheard of. Her name is not a coincidence. The undead leave their mark on every evil abomination they commit. She was a crossbreed between the undead of the Jewish Ark of the Covenant and the Greek Greaves of the undead who armored themselves against the slings and arrows of their enemies. She was impervious to criticism. (Inventors Arkwright + Hargreaves = spinning mule or *mule jenny.) She was an attempt to justify the sexual filth of Jewish sexual lust: that it was the "right" thing to do in elite circles. She was a hard woman. All these apparent coincidences are not a coincidence! Jenny Jerome spun more than one thread at a time. She had numerous sex partners whom she used and fucked, enabling her to spin a number of yarns-threads simultaneously. She was an embodiment of all 3 sisters of the 3 Greek Fates put together. As a result: her personal life had an enormous impact on Western civilization. Take all these definitions of her first name and string them together and twist them into a snarled evil life of hedonism and lust and Jewish ambition and you have what she was: a controlled puppet of the undead This is why the dead must be killed DEAD DEAD DEAD with EXTREME PREJUDICE.>>>

The History of Upper Class whoredom

Can be seen in how the rich sell their souls for higher status and how the lower class sell their souls and bodies for money

Between the years 1870 and 1914, hundreds of American heiresses called 'Dollar Princesses' flooded the shores of Britain and Continental Europe. To this day their influence and lineage can be traced through many noble European households, and even some royal ones. Princess Diana was descended from New York heiress Frances Work who intermarried with the Rothschilds of London. Their marriages were financial arrangements of millionaire American robber baron families marrying into European and British nobility. The nobles of Europe and Britain sold their souls for money because they had none. They had no money and no soul: they are empty vessels filled with corruption and filth. The American Robber Baron Families sold their souls for a title because they came from the lowest filth on earth: the most brutal, grasping, greedy, selfish, immoral, rapacious motherfuckers of the new Brutal Age of the Industrial Machine crushing all Humanity out of the Human Species by turning them into machines.

Before Grace Kelly, there was another American Princess of Monaco: Alice Heine of New Orleans; widow of the Duc de Richelieu. Alice married Prince Albert I of Monaco in 1889. Alice and Albert's relationship cooled soon after their marriage, and she took a series a lovers, the most notorious being Isidore de Lara. Fed up with his wife, Albert made public their break when he slapped Alice in the face at the Opera when she stopped to whisper to her lover. After this public disgrace she packed her bags in 1902 and left Monaco forever. Alice in Wonderland: written in 1865… Alice and Albert of Monaco in 1889: get it?

But Jennie Jerome wasn't the first American Dollar Princess to marry into the Marlborough dynasty; there's Alva Vanderbilt; who after divorcing her husband, made a dollar-title match between the Duke of Marlborough and the wealthiest heiress in America: her daughter Consuelo. The duke as usual was broke from trying to maintain that huge rotting mausoleum of an ancestral home; Blenheim Palace. The Duchess of Marlborough, née Consuelo Vanderbilt. was one of the wealthiest heiresses of her time with a dowry of approximately $2.5 million ($75 million in 2008 dollars) She was forced to wed the Duke of Marlborough in 1895 against her will. (8 other similar financial-nuptial arrangements were made that same year between American heiresses and European nobility.) The nouveau riche robber barons of America were desperate to gain some form of respectability; being despised in the country of their birth they fled to England where the titled rich were not as despised as in America. Consuelo was 20 minutes late to her own wedding because the bride, greatly infatuated with an American socialite, was still at home, weeping uncontrollably in the arms of her father, William K. Vanderbilt, pleading with him to rescue her from a marriage enforced against her will by her notoriously dominating mother, Alva. Her mother even feigned mortal illness to convince her daughter to accept the proposal of the 9th Duke of Marlborough, and the poor girl wept the entire way to her wedding. Their marriage was obviously unhappy, with the duke informing Consuelo he'd given up the woman he loved to marry her on their honeymoon, and by the birth of their second son their marriage was on the rocks She coined the phrase "the heir and the spare". When they petitioned for divorce in 1906, the scandal rocked English society and King Edward made his disapproval known. From familial pressure, and the revelation of Consuelo's aborted elopement with the also married Viscount Castlereagh, they settled for a legal separation. Both were banished from court circles. She was one of the first American 'Dollar Princesses' to crash British high society.

If you research and study the lineage of the house of Marlborough, which took on the name of Churchill, you will come to the stunning discovery that for four generations: literally all of their marriages were arranged marriages to American dollar princesses. All of them were loveless marriages of 'convenience'… which is the politically correct term for financial necessity.

Ahhhh… now the plot thickens. The connections between the upper elite of Britain and the Robber baron Elite of America did not come only from Jenny Jerome the American Millionaire Jewess marrying into one offshoot of the Marlborough Dynasty. The Marlborough Dynasty was preserved by a second installment of earlier American Robber Baron money: American Dollar Princesses saving the destitute old Aristocratic lineage from bankruptcy was standard practice in those times… Now it makes prefect sense why Churchill's Uncle literally ordered him to propose marriage to this American whore from New York… It was a standard trick of the upper class to marry off their worst rejects for money. The Marlboroughs needed the 2 million dollars (Over 70 million in 2012 dollars)… Even though they couldn't stomach the bitch herself: it was a strictly financial deal. The head of the clan disapproved of the marriage: he refused to attend the wedding… but he took the money: in fact that was the only reason they allowed the marriage to happen at all because the 'dowry' went straight into the coffers of the Marlborough elder's estate. Not into the Churchill's estate. Two loveless marriages: 4 ½ million American Dollars: over 159 million in today's currency… not a bad deal for the Elders of that rotten Marlborough clan.

If you think this is an exaggeration consider this: in acquiring prestige by selling their bodies for a title, the "dollar princesses" of America were estimated to have contributed an estimated $25 billion to the British economy in today's currency. Without them, the entire fucking rotting rotten English Aristocracy would have gone bankrupt, and become extinct, died out and disappeared and good riddance to them.

Then there's the American Robber Baron Astor who moved back to England and became Viscount Astor … in fact the entire social movement of American high society was moving back to Europe and Britain and intermarrying with the European elite. The fucking myth-fraud-fallacy that America is a democratic republic with no liking for royalty: this stinking propaganda shit sold to the masses of the American poor is still sold and believed in by the brainwashed dolts of the lower class

The lineage of the most rapacious, brutal, avaricious American robber baron of them all intermarrying into British aristocracy! Commodore Vanderbilt's bloodline… merging with that of an American Jewess, merged with the rotten Dynasty of the Marlboroughs, was just one of the many bloodlines on both sides of the Atlantic coming together into the foulest genetic pairings on earth. The history of their destroyed lives, their divorces, their illicit sexual couplings, their unhappiness… the abomination of arranged marriages not done out of love but for evil motives and purposes is one reason why upper class elites are the most rotten scum on earth. The history of their ruined, twisted, filthy lives… covered up and whitewashed over and over in order to give the masses the false perception that these people: these scum were actually had feelings of affection for each other when they secretly hated each other and despised each other… The litany of white lies and scandals and divorces and abominably behavior of these turds called the upper class… secretly being controlled and poisoned by their own undead ancestors… are the lowest filthy subhuman evil turds on earth.

Go back and read what is known as 'literature'… the fiction novels of the 1830's, 40's.50's 60's 70's 80's 90's up to the 1900's on up to the 1920's and 30's and you will have this mania of the American rich marrying into elite upper crust European nobility thrust into your face endlessly. Read The Prisoner of Zenda by Anthony Hope, Read The Man in the Iron Mask, the Four Musketeers The Count of Monte Cristo by Alexander Dumas, read Kidnapped by Robert Louis Stevenson. This obsession of tracing ones ancestral lineage and discovering that you are actually born of some ancient high royal line: that you are royalty! That you are the long lost duke of Bridgewater or the long lost king of France as Clemens describes in his pre-civil war novel of the American South and its worship of European royalty… is a theme that runs throughout the novels of 100 years of mass produced rot-gut fiction which the lower classes gobbled up in their idolatry of the higher class elite prigs and scoundrels; whose upper class behavior would never have been tolerated in the lower stratum.

The point is the prostitutes and hookers of the lowest classes are more honest, more decent and more humane than these upper class filth: at least they know they are whores; they do not fool themselves. Their lives are happier, they are less inhuman than the miserable wretches of the upper crust who sell themselves for a fantasy and a castle pretending they are not whores. Lady Diana is a perfect example of how the upper elite culture of no love can and does destroy the Humanity of every single stinking wretch that is born into this culture of privilege and feeds off its criminal unspoken stinking code of evil masquerading as good; black portrayed as white, vice parading as virtue.

The lowest slave auctioned off on a slave block has a more honest, realistic understanding of Life than these upper crust scum can ever have. The lowest slaves in chains values the Humanity of Human Love, Kindness and Friendship more than these upper crust turds can ever do. Samuel Clemens made this clear in his fictitious novel 'The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn'.

There is the inhuman brutality of the lower class slave systems and cultures of enslavement and there is the inhuman brutality of the upper class slave systems and cultures of enslavement. The point is that both of them are evil… the point is the upper class slave system is more evil than the lower class systems. The lower class slave systems are poor copies of the upper class slave systems. Without the upper class slave system there would be no lower class slave system. How the upper class examples of these loveless marriages poisoned and warped the mentality of the lower classes and the social relationships between boys and girls: how the living examples of these warped, miserable, sick, diseased upper class scum poisoned the culture of the lower classes can be traced back through annals of history which I have no time for and no desire to trace it. The point is: in a short 200 years the Rothschilds intermarried and allied themselves with:

European nobility
The English and Dutch Royal families
The Vatican
The Jewish robber baron criminals of America

They have systematically intermarried and allied themselves with the oldest, richest, most corrupt ruling elite in the western world and are continuing to do so, regularly introducing new blood from the lower class to keep their genetic lines from degenerating into utter rot. They have consolidated what was left of the old upper ruling elite with the new Jewish criminals in a global dynastic hierarchy of money, power and privilege. They have done this because they are puppets of the dead who control them. It is not a 'new world order' it is the dead taking over the living: it is the smell of pure rotten evil which living people smell as these rich and powerful criminals: these puppets of the dead go about their mission to corrupt and ruin all love and health and sanity. The only thing new about it is this ruling class now has gone completely underground. It hides in secrecy because that is how the dead who control them operate. Their plan to secretly control the entire world is coming to a head, their plan to destroy the entire world is coming to a head. This is why the entire ruling elite must be exterminated if the Earth is to be saved from another 3rd World War and total nuclear annihilation. These living shells of the secret ruling elite are infested with the most evil, cunning undead ghouls in the realm of the undead. They must be exposed and wiped out. They cannot hide behind any national flag because they are international in scope and in their secret alliances and by intermarriage. They are what Queen Victoria's seed almost became: an interlocked set of ruling privileged elite families that ruled all of Europe and by their colonial empires, most of the world. Except now: this time: the creation of a global ruling elite has been orchestrated and set up in complete secrecy. Nobody has researched or found out exactly who is intermarried to who. Nobody knows for certain who is the actual titular head of this secret criminal Jewish/non-Jewish cabal… if there is one. What little is known is horrible in itself; what little we know of the actual extent of their wealth and power is enough to make every living human their mortal enemy because they have declared war on the entire human species AND on every living organism on EARTH. The rise of evil: the rise of every evil empire these dead things tried to build up has fallen into ashes. This time: civilization will never again rise from its ashes: the ashes of the fall of civilization will be final. What is planned is the extermination of all LIFE on EARTH. It is them or us. This is what the living do not see: They do not see the urgency needed to act NOW… not when it is too late. The need to exterminate this Jewish ruling elite completely and utterly is growing more and more urgent every day. Their arrogance and power and evil is becoming more evident and more blatant every day. These Jewish scum cannot ask the nations of the world into which they are embedded like cancer cells in a living body to protect them. They are not of British or French or Swiss or American blood: but they have intermarried with the ruling elite of every nation they have inserted themselves into. They represent nobody but themselves. They stand for nothing but their own venal privileged class of rotten unearned dynastic wealth.

To put Winston Churchill into the correct historical context and perspective, he was a product of the last two centuries of this, this stinking upper class money culture of loveless marriages and pornographic adultery which comes from Jewish money marrying into British aristocracy. The culture of his parents and his peers were the worst examples any brain-damaged mongoloid idiot could possibly have, and it shaped and poisoned his soul and his body for life; beginning with the poisoned, diseased royal sperm which he was a direct descendent of.

Winston, like many other young sons of Victorian aristocrats, was trucked off to boarding school. Despite many pleading letters to come and visit, neither his mother nor father paid any heed. It was not until he was embarking on his political career that she became involved in his life. In 1882, at eight years of age: at too early an age; his mother and father sent Winston off to three private elite schools in succession for the upper class rich: St. George's School in Ascot, Berkshire; Brunswick School in Hove, near Brighton, and Harrow School in London.

They never once visited him.

The reason he went to 3 different schools is that he was kicked out from the first two schools for flunking his courses and his uncontrollable outbursts of violence; the classic signs of mental retardation. When a mentally retarded child does not get what it wants right away: it reverts back to its earliest retarded state of infantile rage. This was when he was beaten for his insufferable behavior by his school mates and his refusal to learn how to live with others dehumanized him; he learned to become desensitized to all kinds of inhuman treatment and abuse.

Since I was sent off to a similar institution at the age of 9, I know from personal experience what this can do to a child. It shattered his little world of coddled safety. It traumatized him for life. It brutalized him and in order to survive, he learned how to cover up and hide his childhood traumas and dysfunctional inabilities and incapacities. Trauma on top of trauma… until Churchill was damaged and weakened, dehumanized, and poisoned enough to be controlled and used by the undead to commit horrible things which no decent human being would ever imagine doing.

I was not dehumanized by my experiences; instead it opened my eyes to how inhuman and cruel people can be; given the slightest chance once they acquire any power or authority over others. This led me to be curious about why people are like that. But then I did not have the parents Churchill had, or the spoiled upbringing he did; or the rotten genes he had.

Taken away from his nanny at the age of 8… Three schools in a row… not allowed to come home. Abandoned by his parents because both were far too involved in their own promiscuous sex affairs and corrupt lifestyles to bother with their own children: which they regarded as a nuisance to be handed off to others to be taken care of. The only person who visited him at Harrows was his former nanny whom he called 'Old Womb'. He proudly showed her off to the whole school as proof that at last there was somebody in the world who actually did care about him. This is the famous English 'nanny' system which has spread over the whole world now: resulting in the destruction of millions of families and manufacturing millions of spoiled little babies who never had a mother, who never grow up, millions of stinking class-racists and subhuman snobs.

This epithet used by Winston of his nanny also has a lower class gross connotation; calling the only person who cared about him an 'old cunt'. It is one of the characteristics of the undead to use certain cryptic terms and names which have more than one meaning and have many levels of meaning. The British and world Press purposefully mis-spell what he called his nanny as 'Old Woom'. In case you don't know: the word 'Womb' is pronounced 'Woom'. The word 'Woom' does not exist in the English language.

What does it do to the soul of a young child who knows that his mother is secretly fucking the King of England, and keeps on fucking him even after his father finds out about it and dies in 1895, and this secret affair only stops when the King himself finally dies of dissipation and syphilis in 1910?... Did Winston know about it or not? This was one reason why his mother wanted to be rid of him and sent him off at an early age to the string of private schools and never once visited him.

Could his father knowing about it be one of the things that killed him? Do you think that maybe… just maybe Winston got the message that if you are of the highest class you can always get away with murder and unfaithfulness and anything else… as long as your sins are covered up and whitewashed and involve only those of a lower status, prestige and power? Do you think it may have traumatized him and twisted him into selectively blocking out certain selected things about his family's past and his own self? Do you think that maybe this kind of evil, sick, twisted childhood may have produced a sick, evil twisted lonely love-starved boy, a boy who grew into an even sicker evil monster? How would you feel about your father and mother if you knew that both of them had illicit sex partners whom they fucked regularly? Would this warp your understanding of what a father and a mother is supposed to be for the rest of your life? Would you hate your father for this? Or would your hate towards your father and for what he did be buried in your subconscious under a mass of cultural taboos, forbidden to be expressed, so your hate and anger would be suppressed and repressed down to such an unconscious level of blindness that undead malevolent ghouls could used and manipulated all the stored up negative emotions in Winston's body and soul for their own evil purposes? This is exactly what the undead did to Winston Churchill and exactly what they do to all living humans, including you the reader of this book.

At the time that Winston joined the army in India, his father was Secretary of State for India. Now isn't that just fucking cozy… imagine that: the British minister who was in control of all India putting his son into the British army in India. With this kind of political power protecting him, Winston could do no wrong; he could get away with anything he wanted to in India. His every excess and fuckup would be quietly whitewashed and covered up. Treated with kid gloves because of his powerful father; it is not surprising that one of his fondest early memories was his time in the British army in India. Churchill bought his commission as a Cornet (second lieutenant) in the 4th Queen's own Hussars on 20 February 1895; or rather his family bought it for him.

Churchill's pay as a second lieutenant in the 4th hussars was £300 annually. Winston needed at least a further £500 (equivalent to £25,000 in 2001 terms) to 'support a style of life equal to that of other officers of the regiment'. His mother provided an allowance of £400 per year, but this he repeatedly overspent. In other words this spoiled filthy rich piece of rotten shit was spending over £50,000 annually in today's money just to 'support himself' as a lowly second Lieutenant. Do you have any fucking idea of how venal and rotten this kind of largesse is by the filthy rich of the world? This is what puffs up the egos of the stinking rich billionaires and multi-millionaires of the world: this is what ruins their children forever because they come to believe that everything is for sale and there are no human morals and no human ethics: everything is allowed and forgiven if you have money. And not only that, he was spending this money in India where a few rupees could buy you a personal servant/slave and one English pound could buy an entire fucking village. This is what the corrupt Churchill loved. This is what he lived for: living in the middle of an obsolete ancient culture as overlords, being treated like gods; with all the poor, brown-skinned, servile slaves bowing and scraping to him. If you want to see what kind of racist shit the English believed in and how they treated the Indians in their own country, just watch the old Hollywood movie 'Gunga Din'. The 'Uncle Tom' character called Gunga Din who is a slave to the British upper class dies in battle for them: sacrificing his life so the British Empire can conquer the rest of India and enslave more of his people. As a piece of racist white propaganda it's utterly disgusting..

This brings up another point about the corruption of the whole Churchill clan. They acted as if they were multi-millionaires whether they were or not. They wasted and spent money and overspent and were continually in debt most of their rotten elite privileged lives. They traded on their family name to get them credit until nobody would give them any credit. This was how Rothschild managed to snare these two filthy English pigs Randolph and Winston who were constantly running themselves into debt in order to 'keep up appearances' of being rich beyond the dreams of avarice. There is the story of Winston's son coming home one day driving a Rolls Royce which he bought on credit and his father making him take it back… however; Churchill's daughters were allowed to run up huge sums with impunity and were never forced to take anything back. This exposes the fact that Winston was dominated by women all his life. He was an emasculated little wimp, a mommy's boy when it came to women and pretty girls. They could twist him around their little finger; which is exactly what they did.

This is also the story of the changing of the guard of the ruling elite in England and the world: how industrial robber barons: filthy rich greedy cunning scumbags were marrying their way up into the highest aristocracy possible all over the world … until money finally replaced the sign of elite status: until it was how much money you had that was important, not your lineage, not which aristocratic family you were born into… until the last leftovers of the old elite class and the new industrial robber barons and bankers merged into one cesspool, one intermarried class of corruption, greed and decadence. This is told in George Eliot's fictional novel: Middlemarch… the beginning of the march of the middle class into the upper class. In the 1800's each got what they wanted from the other. The Jewish bankers like Rothschild got their fucking peerages, and the fucking Churchill's got their fucking money so they could live like millionaires and never have to work a day in their rotten fucking privileged lives.

Churchill left the Indian army after his father died for a very fucking good reason: he was no longer under the protection of his powerful father anymore, he was disliked intensely by everyone in the army; his familial free ride had come to an abrupt end: he was on his own now with nothing, no training or education or ability to support himself by and the army most definitely did not want him: the darling son of the Secretary of State for India, that S.O.B. was out on his ass with no prospect whatsoever to further his 'career'.

Churchill the Illegitimate Bastard

Was Winston a bastard like his brother was? Was he the son of that pus-riddled foul-fat- sex addict "Bertie" who became the King of Britain?

The answer is Yes. For an obvious reason which is overlooked by everyone except me: Indrek Pringi Proof that he was Bertie's son can be seen throughout his existence.

First: no biographer with an ounce of honesty could say he took on the personality of either of his parents because those two pieces of upper class shit were completely absent during his formative years… hell they were absent period from his entire life. They had nothing to do with him.

Winston inherited a genetic trait from Bertie that made him act as if he were King. All his life he went over people's heads; acting as if he were a king. He did it thousands of times. Even when he got into trouble because of it, he never changed this one habit of refusing to respect any authority higher than his own wishes. It was the ghoul of his own dead father… hiding inside his son to keep from the Hell that awaited him in the realm s of the undead… who had merged his aura with Winston… as had all the other undead ghouls of his family dynasty.

If you studied the character of all the people ever born: you would not find one that acted like a king as Winston did. The undead crafted and shaped his rotten filthy sick diseased evil personality and character… so they could use him as a tool to destroy everything that was Good and Decent…

That one trait proves he was am illegitimate bastard just like his brother was. His mother's fuck-affair with Bertie lasted longer than any of her other affairs or marriages. He was the first British Royal she managed to fuck.

The other proof is that the entire upper elite knew it, and because of this, treated him with kid gloves. He was given everything on a gold platter without needing to earn it.

How Winston Churchill was treated all his stinking evil existence by the British upper class proves they knew he was a royal illegitimate bastard. He was Bertie's golden boy while he still lived. Bertie made exceptions for him, paved the way for him.

The refrain from the American folk song goes…

"Oh my darling. Oh my darling, oh my dar-ling Clementine….
All is lost and gone forever, dreadful sorry Clementine"

Churchill's Wife's first name was Clementine….
The song came before the undead decided to use it to create a monster that would destroy the world.

The ghoul of the Allies was obvious:
America wanted the British Empire: It didn't give a shit about Europe.

Stalin wanted Europe. He didn't give a shit about the British Empire.
Both got what they wanted.
Once they did: they became mortal enemies of each other.
In order to cover up all the evil this foul monster; this cabal of ghouls that lived in and around Winston and fed off his living body… had him rewrite history so he could whitewash himself of his own crimes and atrocities and abominations. It was he who named the Great War… World War One and named the Unnecessary war; World War Two. By labeling these two horrors committed by the undead: he permanently brainwashed billions of future generations into perceiving these two wars as an outcome of 'world' history… SO YOU COULD NOT BLAME ANYONE… for a "world" war…. Because it was the entire 'world's" fault… not his…. Not Winston Churchill… Not the undead who poisoned and controlled him…. Do you fucking understand the malevolent cunning of these evil pieces of foul undead shit?

Churchill the mad toad

Churchill was a war junkie: from the very beginning when he was the spoiled little mongoloid child-imbecile, playing with his tin soldiers, pretending they were his own personal army. This came from the British aristocracy's culture of using humans as cannon fodder, with paid mercenary armies as its main tool of enforcement and military power. It came from the cunning way in which the British Empire had been invented, enabling one small island to colonize and conquer ¼ of the world's population; it came from the cunning British tactic of hiring mercenaries to do the actual fighting and killing for them. It was how they conquered the continent of India. India was and still is a conglomerate of many small ethnic races, kingdoms, states, languages, religions and cultures. The British trained native armies and sent them into battle against their neighbors and toppled them one-by-one like a set of dominos.

From the beginning of his military service when Churchill saw Indian Ghurkhas massacring Bengal warriors with modern British rifles in India; Churchill was drawn to war and killing like a toad drawn to flies. After his time in the British army in India while his father was head of the India Dept in the British head office; once his diseased insane drug addict of a sex pervert father died of venereal disease and madness, he followed every mass murdering British army just so he could see the killing firsthand. Churchill, that mad diseased cold-blooded mongoloid toad was hooked on mass death. Anywhere a British army was in the field he went to see them killing human beings by the hundreds and thousands. When he was young: Churchill still had a slight guilty conscience about why he was not like other sane humans, why was so addicted to mass war and death and killing, but that slight nagging feeling faded away as his inner soul was systematically corrupted and the ghouls of his undead ancestors slowly and systematically took over complete control of his diseased, weak, mongoloid, infantile personality and body. Churchill; that sick diseased filth of the most sick diseased evil poisoned spawn of British aristocrat filth; absorbed and soaked up every single worst aspect, characteristic, prejudice, attitude, habit, culture and addiction of his diseased parents.

Churchill saw war as a process of natural selection. He believed the way to determine which race was superior was by which race could wipe out the other as an act of legitimized genocide. Churchill believed with all his filthy toad-soul in the religion of Eugenics: He believed in world domination as a racial right of the British aristocracy: not the British lower classes. By this cultural and social hierarchy of empire, the British aristocracy came to view themselves as veritable gods compared to the rest of humanity. It was part of the culture Churchill was raised in; these were the unspoken tenets and assumptions of the Victorian British Aristocrat culture which he absorbed from the womb. For him war was just a game; it was the ultimate team sport with him as commander of all the armies of the British Empire, a game which British aristocrat children were trained in and taught. By the principles of Aristocratic British Imperialism and Eugenics which Churchill was a firm believer in… war was the most honorable profession of all. According to British Imperial culture; by massacring natives with maxim guns the British were contributing to the progress of mankind. They were bringing the boon of civilization to them... and as every civilized brainwashed baboon knows; civilization is an unquestionably good thing, the genocide of tribal ethnic peoples is a good thing. This is the kind of snake oil that Churchill and all of his class sold and believed in during the 19th and 20th century.

In 1898, after his father died and he was kicked out of the army in India, Churchill went to join Kitchener in the Sudan, passing himself off as a war correspondent in the famous British campaign to revenge themselves on Gordon's death in Khartoum at the hands of the Mahdi and his Muslim desert warriors, which had happened 13 years before. This is what he experienced in his own written words:

"They were chanting ceaselessly; La! La! Ha! ILLAH! LA! WAH! RAH ZUL! MOHAMMED! There is one God and Mohammed is the messenger of God!... Instantly the hungry and attentive maxims opened fire on them, sweeping them all to the ground… some in death, others in terror… The whole scene flickered exactly like a cinematic picture, and besides… I remember no sound! The yells of the enemy, the shouts of the soldiers…the firing of many shots, the clashing of swords, spears were unnoticed by the senses. The picture lasted only a moment… but the memory remains forever…"
This was how the undead secretly programmed and poisoned the young boy into developing a fascination with mass death killing and war that was to hound him for his entire life. This was how they turned him into a war junkie, into a filth that dwelt only on death and destruction and hungered only for killing and more killing:

By taking away all of his other senses and imprinting this scene of horror onto his memory visually, as a negative imprint of horrible evil, as a moving picture show: a memory tape: a 2-dimensional film that is not human and is not humane. The undead twisted Churchill's senses into the latest abstraction of reality that was to sweep the entire world: a silent picture-show, a silent movie; without any sound; talking movies had not been invented yet. Had he been imprinted with the wonder of seeing his first silent picture show as a child? It is almost a certainty that he had been. Reverting him back to a state of mongoloid regressed idiocy and wonder, which was bereft of all empathy or any sane intelligence.

Just how had his own undead poisoned his senses? The telling clue is the word he uses to describe the total detachment with which he viewed the horror of mass slaughter: in his saying 'the' senses… not his senses. His other senses were taken away from him … stolen: poisoned by the undead; only his visual senses remained. His ears, his sense of sound had been cut off; his emotional senses had been cut off. His brain had been cut off; his sense of emotional feelings had been cut off; his sense of feeling his own body had been cut off… that was how the undead poisoned him in order to imprint the visual scene of mass murder as powerfully as possible into his warped mind, searing the horror of mass slaughter into his soul as intensely as possible; so he would become a war-junkie for the rest of his life; addicted to watching other people die horribly, violently.

How could they do this? How did the undead do it? By implanting the senses of a reptilian toad into his body, by replacing the senses of the human Churchill with the senses of an undead mindless cold-blooded reptile; the least developed, most insensitive, mindless, unfeeling undead reptile possible… By this violation of Churchill's Life Aura, and embedding and imprinting the dead aura of an undead toad into his Living Aura: they poisoned this young boy so deeply, he was permanently damaged and programmed for the rest of his life by it… Slowly and systematically, his young body changed… it morphed and morphed more and more, turning itself into the body of a fat, ugly, brutal, unfeeling, cold-blooded, hairless toad.

The telling clue of this crucial invasion by the undead into his living aura is the fact that he does not even view his own senses as being his own: they are somebody else's senses: they are 'the' senses: they are not his senses, they are the confessions of a lunatic, a madman, a psychopathic maniac, a deranged mongoloid idiot who has lost all of his human senses. He does not use the word my memory: he abstracts it into 'the memory': as if it is not his memory but a film to be preserved, a memory to be put on file… and later used and installed into every dehumanized living slave on earth in order to dehumanize and ruin their humanity even further. So every living poisoned brainwashed human will perceive the 2-dimensional illusion of moving pictures on a 2-dimensional screen as being more real than LIFE itself.

In the aftermath of that battle Churchill was troubled by what he had seen and how he had reacted to it. The Dervishes simply hadn't had a chance against what he called: "That mechanical scattering of death which the civilized nations of the earth had brought to such monstrous perfection." It was the last vestige of his humanity telling him that what he was doing was evil, wrong… bad, sick. He became a voyeur of death; watching people die gave him a thrill. You can see his inhumanity later in his life in 1926 during England's General strike: where he ordered the troops to use Maxim machine guns to mow down the strikers who had no weapons. That order is not a fucking coincidence. Churchill had a lust for seeing people die under the machine guns of industrialized imperial forces. To him this proved the moral 'superiority' of the British Empire. That was how his sick mongoloid brain worked and he never changed his thinking: he remained a racist imperialist who believed in euthanasia and eugenics to the end of his rotten evil life.

Churchill did not follow his own humanity: he did not utter the next obvious logical conclusion, he did not come to the logical conclusion that the invention of these new mechanical weapons of mass destruction does not make you more human or more humane or more superior or better than the humans you slaughter:… on the contrary it makes you worse than they are, not better; it dehumanizes you, it destroys your basic humanity, it detaches you from the death and pain and horror which you create by using these filthy mechanical abominations of mass murder. Churchill did not come to the obvious logical conclusion that all machines of mass death are evil, that all machines that cause death are evil; that all machines of mass killing are inventions of the devil…

Instead his damaged insane twisted toad-infected life aura became fascinated by and addicted to the cold killing power of mechanical machines of death, mechanical weapons of mass death and destruction. Millions of humans must die a violent death at the hands of mechanical machines to feed Churchill's insatiable undead ego; the dead toad which lay hidden inside him... His life tells the story of how he veered away from all Humanity and embraced all the horrors of inhumanity, how his life was controlled by cunning undead evil, how his life was linked to huge horrible blunders which resulted in millions upon millions of humans being killed because of him personally.

Where did Winston get his fascination with machine guns? Where did he get his uncontrollable urge to see people shot down and massacred by Maxim guns?

Leonard Jerome - Churchill's wife's deceased father; used gattling guns on his striking employees. The undead ghoul of that hate filled evil Jew took over the body and soul of Winston in its hatred of all Mankind. He had died in 1891. The Sudan expedition was in 1898… 7 years later. Now do you understand? The number seven is the evil sign of the Jews. It is a sign of undead evil.

Two World wars! Building huge battleships! The development of the new Tanks! Founding the new evil Age of Oil! Minister of Munitions! 2,500 lives lost because of him at Antwerp! 2 million five hundred thousand lives lost at Gallipoli! 25 million lives lost because of him in WW2! The pure evil that he Winston Churchill was, the evil hiding inside him made him become more and more poisonous… like a poisonous toad: everything that touched him and everything he touched died horribly. He was attracted to the worst evil possible because the undead had embedded and poisoned him with the oldest undead evil in order to kill all of his humanity and all Humanity of the human species. His power to kill people kept on increasing by a factor of ten; this is not a coincidence. It is a telling fingerprint of undead evil violating the Realm of the Living and leaving behind their footprint on the history of the human species.

What Churchill was referring to when he wrote:
"That mechanical scattering of death which the civilized nations of the earth had brought to such monstrous perfection." was the new Maxim machine gun which fired 80 times faster than a repeating rifle… In his later life Churchill became a purveyor of maxims. During his public and political life he uttered 'maxim's' which were designed to be remembered and written down as sacred texts and repeated until they became the new religion of British Wisdom… He sprayed them around like a machine gun, like the undead mouthpiece of evil that he actually was. Everywhere he went this mad poisoned toad scattered mass death and emerging unscathed from it all.

The new Maxim of that Age was mass death: the maxim of undead ghouls; to wreak THE MAXIMUM amount of DEATH upon the human species possible: death to the MAX; The Mad Maxim of Eugenics gone mad; the mad hatter in Alice in Wonderland: the mad Baron *Richthofen; hungering for more kills in the air over France and Germany. The Jewish hunger for profiting from the death off the Goyim: getting rich off mass death: the more often you kill, the more weapons of mass destruction you sell, the richer and more famous you get: RICH th often… get it? The undead spill their seeds of evil insanity all over the living world everywhere in both camps of whoever is doing the killing as long as they obey the voices of hiding evil they are rewarded with worldly success. If they refuse to commit evil they are attacked, ignored, or isolated so their humanity will not spread to the poisoned masses of the human species. This is why GOOD people never succeed in civilization: they are recognized by these filthy evil ghouls as a threat to their survival and attacked and poisoned as much as possible to turn them around and literally force them into paths of corruption by surrounding them with an evil negative energy field which negates all positive thought action and emotion..

Baron Lord Rothschild was on the board of Maxim's new manufacturing company: the inventor of the first modern machine gun: Maxim was knighted by the British Empire for giving them the weapon they could use to kill masses of defenseless Stone Age natives with. These coincidences are not coincidences. These dehumanized shells were being used by undead turd toads as puppets in the orchestration, planning and committing of mass murder.

What matched the filthy scum of English aristocracy like Churchill to Rothschild was that they both had similar racist megalomaniacal concepts of being 'special' as 'a chosen race', as an unspoken tenet held by their peers, and their own familial cultures. The British imperial aristocracy believed that they were the chosen race to rule the world, chosen by god to be the rulers of all humanity: So too, in another way did the Jewish racist Rothschild criminal mafia… only their belief is much more ancient and far more cunning and more evil than the British elite's beliefs were; as is evidenced by their taking over the English financial center without them even realizing it, taking over their Parliament and their govt bureaucracy and corrupting them even more and then systematically robbing them of their wealth and power without even realizing they had been robbed; as the Jews had done over and over in many lands throughout history all the way back to Egypt…

In that same year 189l after witnessing the slaughter of 11,000 Muslim warriors, Churchill fled from the Sudan after the killing was over and ran to the next bloodbath; the Boer war in South Africa. But this time it was the British who were massacred, not the Natives. The Boers had the most advanced accurate long range rifle yet invented: the German Mauser, capable of killing a man at half a mile; and the Boers were crack shots. Again using his false identity as a war correspondent which he was not; after the British were slaughtered he escaped: he fled back into the hills to witness the killing going on. He was not a war correspondent: he was an addict of death, a war junkie: a sick diseased insane toad of a thing now completely obsessed with watching men being killed. After a price was put on his head by the Boers, he went into hiding, he went underground like the stinking undead toad he actually was, the stinking coward he actually was. He hid out in the hills; not to write any worthwhile account of the war and how horrible the genocidal English were destroying the entire Veldt and burning all the farms and killing all the cattle and sheep and animals and putting the Boer families into concentration camps and starving them to death. He did not write any fair, balanced account of that war. All he wrote about was battles and violent death and vicarious accounts of killing massacres which was mostly made up fiction glorifying his own part in it all; making himself out to be a courageous war hero: when he was the filthiest coward on earth. He glorified war: he wrote nothing but 100% War propaganda.

Churchill's addiction to war and weapons of mass destruction, his love of killing, bloodshed, carnage, war, mass death, and violence was used by the undead, it was used by his undead ancestors, along with his every other vice, addiction, failing, weakness, and genetic diseased, damaged traumatized twisted aspect this dehumanized toad of a thing had suffered; so he would become the most evil human instrument/puppet of his age to the undead. They did this TO him, in order to twist him into becoming a slave to Baron Rothschild's Jewish war against Germany and the undead war against all Humanity.

The point is… the Boers had German-made Maxim machine guns, not American-made Maxim guns, and they mowed down the British soldiers, their artillery massacred thousands of British soldiers… and Churchill followed that killing like a junkie looking for his next high, his next fix… not caring who was killed, just as long as he was there to see the killing done.

What Churchill was following were the Maxim guns.

It didn't matter to that toad who the guns mowed down or who made the guns; he was following the newest form of mass death, mass murder, the latest invention of death like modern junkies play their video games avidly addicted to the abstract war games and vicarious violence. This was what Churchill started. He sent back vicarious accounts of horrendous murder violence and death to the readers of the English pulp press of the day and the British public ate it up as the latest most vicarious form of sensational fiction masquerading as fact on the mass media market; the market which the Jews had originally invented: the sacred worshipping of the written word as being more sacred than Reality and Life itself. Throughout his life Churchill wanted to be where the killing was happening… never as a participant! Only as a detached observer, a mad toad, a sly Puck; buttering up anybody who would let him get closer to the carnage.

During WW1 he was quoted as saying: I think a curse should rest on me, because I love this war. I know it's smashing and shattering the lives of thousands every moment— and yet I can't help it— I enjoy every second of it."

During WW2, Churchill escaped all the German bombing raids by his secret foreknowledge of the British bomber command telling him in advance when and where the next German raids would strike. That foul undead evil thing had such a terror of being killed, his offices were buried in the deepest London underground subway station 700 ft underground… even deeper than the concrete bunker which had been specially built for him: because he didn't feel safe enough there. This reveals how guilty that undead thing hiding inside him felt. This reveals that these filth knowingly commit the most horrible crimes in full knowledge of how evil they actually are. This reveals how their guilt leaks into the souls of those they poison: this reveals how cunning and sly they are and how hard it is to detect what part of your emotions and thoughts are truly yours and what part is the stinking hidden undead all around you and inside you poisoning your every thought and action.

David Irving the world famous historian vividly tells of how this sly filthy reeking toad of evil and cunning lies, when learning of a planned attack on London cancelled all his appointments and fled out the back door in the back alley behind 12 Downing Street… Only to be handed a telegram from Bomber Command notifying him that the raid was going to be on Coventry not on London. After reading the telegram in the back of his chauffeur-driven limousine, alone in this secret knowledge; what does he do with this piece of crucial information… warn Coventry of an impending attack? No. He doesn't tell a soul what he has just learned. Instead that foul fake, he knocks on the glass partition that separates him from the rest of the world and orders the driver to turn around and go back to No. 12 Downing street: Whereupon his amazed staff are dumbfounded by his return as he tells them the big lie; that he had just received, news that the Germans were going to bomb London, and he did not wish to run away from the bombing but wanted to share his fate with the Londoners and the common man!

And then this foul lying thing goes up on the roof of Downing Street, unbuttons his waistcoat bares his whitewashed shirt to the night skies of London and dares the Germans to their worst when he knows full well the German bombers are dropping their bombs on Coventry! As a self-aggrandizing publicity stunt to show everyone how brave he wasn't!

This kind of disgusting cowardice, this kind of sly chicanery, this kind of disgusting falsity, this kind of filthy fraudulence, and cunning false propaganda is what Churchill was, that seller of lies, he did this all of his evil stinking existence. Hitler never hid from his enemies. Hitler never hid from any threat. Hitler was not the stinking coward that Churchill was. Hitler was not the cunning liar that Churchill was. Hitler was never afraid of being killed except the fear of not fulfilling his life mission: to destroy all of Germany by every German dying for him out of pure blind devotion. The undead thing inside Hitler had as its mission to destroy the German people as thoroughly as possible before he committed suicide: or rather before it could get the living shell to put a bullet into its head: thus making the dead wraith of the human Hitler a mindless blob and harmless after it died, while the undead ghouls who had poisoned Hitler's body mind and soul slipped out of his body just before the bullet crashed into his brain.

No. 12 Downing Street, the address of the Prime Minister of England needs to be explained: 12 is the Prime number of the Universe. Downing is the practice of finding water; the source of all Life which lies under the Earth. These organic universal meanings were reversed by the undead into meaning the downfall of Mankind; the Downfall of the human species; the prime downing of Humanity. The underworld of the undead which lies underground is what the Downing rod of No.12 Downing St. signifies: it is attracted to the wellsprings of death: not the wellsprings of life. N = Negative, O = All; get it? The Eastern evil of the Dao is reversed by the Western undead: both temples of civilized wisdom are pure poisoned evil. The downward path to extinction and death is being purposefully orchestrated by the undead manipulating the human shells living at that most evil address in the west to reverse all positive energy of the West and reverse its positive direction into total evil...

The Eastern nexus of evil is 12 Neglinnaya Street, Moscow, 107016 Russia: which is the postal address of the Central Bank of Russia… owned and controlled by Russian Jews… get it yet? Both the West and the East are merely pawns in the Jewish grab for money, power and world domination. How many fucking signs of undead Jewish ghouls do you want? 1 + 6 = 7… A 10 and a 7 and a zero and 1+6… Neglinnaya: How fucking NEGATIVE can you get? Negatives, nothings and negligence: the negligence of the Russian govt: leaving its people to starve and wallow in poverty and ignorance while the filthy rich suck all the oil resources out of the country as fast as they can like the blood suckers they are: like the bloodsucking parasitical filth these undead ghouls are: which is why they will be exterminated with extreme prejudice.

The battle for world domination is between two camps of undead Jewish evil, playing off living people against each other, sucking off the hate and greed and war and death which these unspeakable things create. Both addresses are evil abominations of the most Powerful, Healthy, Logical Organic number in the Universe: 12. Both nexuses of undead evil are constantly at work, secretly poisoning every healthy organic new Life Energy on Earth. This is no fucking coincidence. These two nexuses must be wiped off the face of the Earth… Now back to Churchill and the undead who controlled his entire stinking life. Because of the enormous guilt of the undead thing hiding inside the shell of Winston Churchill, because it knew what it was doing and knew it deserved to be destroyed utterly: it did not feel comfortable hiding in the bomb shelter built for Churchill under No. 12 Downing Street with its 17 feet of concrete protecting its living puppet, instead that evil thing hid out in the concrete subway shelter called Downs street station. That station has been permanently closed to be used as a secret meeting place for undead ghouls. The Downwards path of self-destruction which the undead have plotted for mankind to follow to their doom is their hallmark: The Dow: the Daoist path of evil, the Dow stock exchange

The undead cannot foretell or predict the future: they cannot find or unearth the true source of Life on Earth, or under the Earth; every plan and orchestration they attempt fucks up because they are a bunch of insane fuck-ups who ruin everything including their own plans and themselves. No 12 Downing Street is an evil sign of an evil power which has the façade of logic but it is a hoax. It is controlled by the City of London and the Rothschild mafia Jewish criminal scum. The day is fast approaching when their kind will be wiped off the face of the Earth. The end of the existence of the undead is upon them; they must be killed DEAD with extreme prejudice.

The meaning of this address is the undead saying to Mankind: no positive logical organic uses of the number twelve is allowed to be used by living humans except the twelves of mass death and evil. Only as a DOWNING will the number twelve be allowed to exist. Only as a DOWNWARD PATH INTO MASS CORRUPTION and MASS EXTINCTION of the human species will this number be allowed to be used in human civilization.

This book has been written to FREE humans from this undead evil control and manipulation. Humans are designed to live in groups of TWELVE as friends, as living societies that do not kill any living creature that is GOOD and not evil.

Churchill's father; Randolph Churchill was a vociferous opponent of Irish Independence; a position his son would copy 20 years later. He was Chancellor of the Exchequer; a post which Winston would be also later to be appointed to. Randolph Churchill was a snob of the snobs: his biting scorn and sarcasm and speeches became famous for their class racist attitudes; a basic life-attitude of racism and snobbery which Winston copied from his father and never changed. His mother's concubine Prince Albert modernized the British fleet: something which Churchill later copied when he was appointed 1st Lord of the Admiralty. In fact his whole life and personality was a copy of his elders and was taken from the most corrupt scum who had a higher social position and status and power than he did or had held power before him in the past.

Another disturbing question of Winston Churchill's birth now comes into focus… was he the son of Randolph, or was he the illegitimate son of Prince Albert? If so, it would be such a scandal which could destroy the entire veneer of respectability of the upper class system of that era. If this were true: then it might explain why Randolph had an affair with a chambermaid in Blenheim Palace out of rage and jealousy and hate while Winston was being born….

Was Winston indeed Bertie's child; born of that coquette, that most masterful of courtesans, Jeannette 'Jennie' Jerome; with her power over men's hearts and bodies: the famous beauty born into an American Millionaire's family? If not, then why did the Prince of Wales ostracize the Churchill family to Ireland when she was found to be pregnant? The fact that she was of Jewish extraction reveals how the undead work. Winston Churchill was half Jewish: something that is carefully covered up to hide the fact that he was an instrument of the 'chosen race': used by the Jews by the Rothschilds, who are instruments of the undead, to bring down the hated white races of Europe and Mankind.

The fact that she was three months pregnant when she got married to Lord Randolph Churchill leaves many questions unanswered. To be born illegitimately of a lower class is one thing… but being illegitimately born of a higher class is something else entirely.

The fact is: Edward, known as 'Bertie' to his friends, was born with attention deficit disorder Syndrome or ADDS. Winston suffered from the same malady… he couldn't add or subtract numbers… both of them were gluttons, alcoholics and smoked cigars, Winston had Bertie's same love of being the center of attention and love of beautiful women. The only personality trait Winston did not share with Bertie who was to become King Edward VII was his sexual depravity with the female sex: instead he became a flasher; which is an infantile form of sexual depravity… which fits in with the infantile arrestment of many of his faculties and his many dysfunctions as a human being which comes from trauma at a very early age as an infant.

Even more disturbing is… if this were true and it was known by his mother and father: this may well explain their curious attitude members of his own class had towards him: keeping him at a distance; seeking to get rid of him as soon as possible and disliking him intensely: with the poor lonely love-starved child not having a clue why his parents did not show him any love and disliked him so much… In fact it might explain why Winston was literally given on a gold plate many appointments of high political office and power without earning any of them. The illegitimate son of the Prince of Wales? Born into the Duke of Marlborough's family? Heavens… what a way of sneakily getting into an even higher social status position without having to earn it. Even if it were not true… the rumor itself explains much of what happened to Winston simply because the effect of the rumor spreading like wildfire in the salons of the upper crust would have been the same, whether it was true or not…

This also raises the possibility that the story of Winston being born early by a miscarriage, the story of his mother falling off a horse at Blenheim palace might be a complete fiction in order to hide the truth that his actual father was the heir to the British Empire and future King… And that the real reason for Winston's genetic defective degeneracy and idiocy was because of Bertie's defective genes which were rotten with the pus of his inbred royal stinking DNA and his lifetime of drugs, drinking, gambling and whoring; not because of his pregnant mother falling off a horse, damaging the fetus and delivering her baby prematurely. And then again… both may be true.

What is even more chilling about this likelihood… is that it explains everything about him even better, it explains Winston's personality, his life and how he was regarded by his parents and his peers as somebody who was in a queer way 'special' yet at the same time despised and disliked, and why he was given so many things without earning them and why he was born such a drooling mongoloid idiot. The connection between the evil Jewish number 7 and Edward the Seventh who begets a bastard half- Jewish son who ends up working secretly for the Jewish Rothschild banking interests is the undead who work to make it happen. Their tactic is to pick out whoever is the most genetically diseased in an elite family dynasty, launch them into power while making sure any healthier offspring are killed off, sabotaged, poisoned or attacked and disgraced. The number 7 denotes the active presence of undead evil. Henry the 7^{th} was the most cunning evil king of England. James the 7^{th} was the most divisive evil King of England. Edward the 7^{th} was the most depraved, degenerate evil King of England. This is not a coincidence; the evil of this uneven number seven runs through human history marking the undead at work in their secret realm of invisibility. Seven means heaven: the sly cunning poisoning of the word EVEN: adding the poison of the undead to all evenness with the evil of the reptile snake: the 'S' marking the sly cunning of the undead of the upper realm. When all things are even and balanced LIFE flourishes. When things are uneven then Life dwindles. The uneven number of seven is only one of the many marks and tools used by the undead to systematically destroy all Life on Earth.

Churchill's mother had at least a dozen known affairs with upper crust aristocrats of her elite circle. That self-seeking Jewish whore married twice after Winston's father died: both to beautiful men whom she cast aside after sucking them dry. She was the ultimate courtesan, the black widow of her age: a corrupt upper class whore, a palace courtesan, a throwback to the courts of ancient France, a female vampire who picked out her male victims and seduced them as coldly as they used her. It is no wonder that one of her illegitimate children would follow in her footsteps of self-aggrandizement as the unspoken religion of his entire life. The entire fact of illegitimacy of these elite scum bastards points to the fact that all of their prestige, status, power, wealth and fame is illegitimate: unlawful and illegal. Which is why all of them should be wiped off the face of the Earth. But what can one say of these upper crust shitholes? Nothing good ever came out of them. They broke all the moral and ethical codes of their day with impunity because they could get away with it. And history has swept all of their disgusting shit and what they really were like under the carpet of politically correct propaganda and lies.

You may ask yourself: why do I expose the secret lives of the ruling elite? Why all this litany of ugliness and subhuman filth about Winston Churchill's family? The answer is this: you need to understand one basic truth of all upper class elite: and that is the only way they can justify their privileges, power wealth and status is by flaunting and violating the moral and ethical creeds of the lower classes. The only way these scum can justify their existence as oppressors and robbers of the lower classes by the use of 'law' by the use of 'legality' and their power of making 'laws' designed to oppress and impoverish the lower classes while enriching themselves is to be above the law and violate the laws which they make for the lower classes.

This is the reason the upper class Royal Bertie became a pornographic horror: He publicly violated the moral ethical standards of his Age. This is the reason why every upper class elite society has practiced the most disgusting depraved immoral, unethical behavior ever since civilization was invented by the undead. This is the reason why Jennie Jerome; née Jacobson, the most evil sexually depraved Jewess of her age rose to the highest levels of British Imperial power, society and status. This is how human civilization works because this is how it is structurally designed to work. The worst stinking shits always rise to the top. The upper class elites are the worst, most corrupted shitbags of the human species simply because of their structural position in the pyramidal structure of human society.

This is how they define themselves. The structural position of their social standing and power and wealth defines them and controls them: not the other way around. This is why the only rotten scum who rise to the top of human civilization are the most unethical, most evil, most diseased possessed living shells. Only the most rotten cunning evil have any desire to rise to the top of this shitpile of corruption lies and deceit, only the most evil ever get there because the undead only allow the most evil people any worldly 'success'. Only the most evil people on earth are allowed to rise to the top of civilization This is the structural reason why all ruling elite upper classes must be exterminated and utterly destroyed so that not one of these scum are left alive. This is the structural-moral-ethical-emotional-humane reason why no ruling oligarchy or hierarchy should ever be allowed to be replaced by another upper ruling class. The entire structure and system of civilization must be utterly completely destroyed and never allowed to exist again. This is the structural reason why no society should be allowed to give any human being any power over another human being in any pyramidal hierarchical social structure.

The people who live in these classes are evil as a social class; not as individuals, but because their social class defines what they are, what they do and how they act, behave, react, feel, think, etc, etc.:. Destroy their class: destroy their power, their wealth and status: and strip them naked of all their possessions and you the masses will have instantly solved all of your stupid little problems and quarrels.

BUT this will never happen unless ALL of the human species, until ALL you are educated and enlightened about the historical truth of all these upper class shitbags you so love to copy, imitate, ape, idolize, worship and respect. This is the reason why every human being must read this book. The problem of hierarchical evil does not stop at the top of the pyramid of civilization: this basic structural problem extends all the way down to the bottom of 7 billion insane controlled brainwashed human fools who are poisoned by their own undead. This same evil of the top .00001% ruling elite can be seen in every hierarchical level of civilized societies all the way down to the untouchables of India and those whom thy treat as even lower than themselves.. The top .0001% of humans which I speak of in this history of Winston Churchill and his origins only encapsulates and exposes the worst, the most evil aspects of pyramidal hierarchical human civilization which exist throughout the totality of all civilized societies. The reason the top .0001% ruling elite are the mortal enemies of the rest of humanity is because they exist at the top of this overpopulated shitpile. The truth is Simple. Structural Logic is Organic:

Organic Logic is Structural. Everyone above you in this shitpile is your mortal enemy. Everyone below you is your mortal enemy. By defining yourself and your social identity hierarchically and pyramidally: you automatically corrupt yourself into becoming just as evil as the topmost .ooo1 assholes of the ruling elite. As long as you define yourself by the values, mores norms and fads of civilization you live in: you will never become a human being: you will remain a subhuman drone, a pawn that is used and manipulated by the undead for their convenience and their evil ghouls.

Now back to the politics and culture of Europe before the undead conspired to set up all the forces into place needed to spark off the Great War…

In 1900: the corrupt Persian King Shah Qazar (1896-1907) due to his expensive lifestyle and traveling expenses gave the concession for an exploratory expedition for oil and minerals to William K D'Arcy who managed to extract an oil concession for the mere sum of £20,000, plus a 16% royalty from the sale of all future discoveries. In 1901 the Shah sold the concession rights for nearly all of the mineral and oil rights of Persia to D'Arcy for a period of 60 years. The discovery of oil in Iran in 1900 by George B. Reynolds who was employed by D'Arcy was the birth of BP; British petroleum.

By 1905, British financiers realized that oil was more efficient than coal. From then on the British govt interfered in Persian politics due to their total dependence on Iran's oil.

In late September 1911, Churchill was invited to stay in Scotland with H. H. Asquith, the Prime Minister. Returning from a round of golf, a game at which Winston never excelled, Asquith asked him quite abruptly if he would like to be First Lord of the Admiralty, to which he eagerly replied: "Indeed I would!" This reveals the hidden hand of the undead at work: placing the exact instrument of their evil into the correct position to be used at a future date. There is no reason whatsoever for Churchill being appointed to such a high powerful position. He had done nothing to earn it. He was being manipulated into power just as Asquith was being controlled by undead filth to place Churchill into power. There were hundreds, thousands of more deserving, more competent candidates for this most sought after political/military office, yet the PM of Britain invites this unknown n'eer-do-well to his castle in Scotland and brutally offers him this position without explanation: without any warning, without any politeness or tact. Why? Because he was ordered to do it by someone else more powerful than he was: that's why. The question is: exactly who was it that had ordered the PM to install Winston into this most prestigious of all Commands? What knowledge did this inexperienced fart have of international politics? None whatsoever. What knowledge did he have of the British navy? None whatsoever. What experience did he have of how to run the largest navy in the world? None whatsoever. What had he done to deserve this most important cabinet appointment Nothing whatsoever.

Why did Asquith suddenly out of nowhere give this high office to this backbencher? First you must understand the feudal nature of Victorian Britain and the fact that it was a feudal oligarchy and a feudal monarchy. For instance, one of his first jobs as a backbencher was to write a letter every day to King Edward the 7th, telling him what had gone on in Parliament that day. Winston was one of the King's protégé's. Which is not surprising since Winston was his bastard son. What the King wanted: his bastard son to advance in society is not surprising either. Asquith obeyed his King's wishes as the servile little meek feudal servant that he was. Filling the highest offices of power with the highest aristocratic filth was the tradition of these British turds going back thousands of years. See? Now that you have some more background information it suddenly makes perfect sense.

In 1911, Winston Churchill; the 1st Lord of the British Admiralty begins converting the entire British navy from coal to oil in preparation for a world war. Copying what his father, er I mean the Prince of Wales had done when he was 1st Lord of the Admiralty. This suggests that modernizing the navy from coal to oil was not instigated by Winston, but rather he was acting on orders from the financial bankers who controlled Parliament behind the scene and allowed Churchill to take the credit for doing it.

In 1912 Winston Churchill the 1st Lord of the Admiralty was behind the sending of a joint British, Dutch and German group called the Turkish Petroleum Company to explore for oil in the Baghdad and Mosul Wilayet region of Persia. This cooperative project failed because the undead did not want any cooperation between Britain and Germany; they wanted Britain and Germany to destroy each other. They did not want the Germans and the English to cooperate with each other.

In 1914: 'fearing an oncoming world war' as this fucking lying self-serving shit war-mongering toad describes himself in order to cover up the fact that he was a secret addict to war and all the horrors of war, he used his close association with the Jewish House of Rothschild to prepare Britain for war; Winston Churchill urged the British govt to borrow £2,000,000 from his friend Nathan Rothschild the Jewish banker to buy up 51 % of the Anglo-Persian Oil Corporation or BP as it came to be known later.
Here is where Churchill screws Rothschild out of a corporate deal: he refuses to let the Jewish owned and controlled Royal Dutch Shell Corporation take over the oil monopoly for the British navy. Instead he gets Rothschild to loan the money to the British govt so they become majority stockholders of BP and gives the oil monopoly for supplying the British navy to BP… Here is where Rothschild becomes annoyed and extremely angry at an 'anti-Semitic' memo which was published and circulated all over the British civil service. Churchill then privately writes Deterding, head of Shell Oil in Amsterdam and tells him to ignore the racist slurs referring to Deterding; and Walter Samuel head of Shell Oil as unscrupulous Jews who can't be trusted. This shows Churchill is almost a much of a racist as the Rothschilds are. But he is a stupid arrogant English aristocrat: he doesn't hide his racism as the Jews have hidden their hatred against all mankind for thousands of years.

In 1914: the German Berlin-to-Baghdad railway provoked the British to look at Germany as an expanding threat to British Oil interests in the Mideast and their oil reserves in Persia. In 1914 the British govt was bankrupt. It's only way to survive was to invent a war to distract the masses from the corruption going on at the top. Their hope was to recoup their losses by the potential profits to be made in taking over the Turkish Empire now called Persia or the two nations of Iran and Iraq and so avoid bankruptcy and the economic collapse of Britain.

These are only financial motives; not political ones: and not ones which could be sold to the masses. The fact is that all of olde Europe including Britain was coming to the end of its tether in one way or another… things could not keep on going as they had before; too many new demands for workers rights, women's rights, a huge uncontrollable surge of health and energy and happiness and love and anger and rage and human emotions and human intelligence, created by an exploding overpopulation of the lower classes, were bursting out everywhere in Europe, Asia, America, Britain and Russia. The last gasp of Imperial dynastic aristocratic racist fight for the colonial domination of the world was coming to a head: the undead evil who controlled it were losing control; and their only answer to losing control is war; that is… to make things worse than they were before to in order to justify that control. The financial power of Rothschild did not extend to the Russian Empire and Serbia yet, it did not extend to control over the Kaiser. Rothschild was only one cog in the orchestrated plans of the undead and the corporations and the Jewish international banking mafia.

However it could be that Rothschild's influence was enough to push the British parliament into a decision which was plainly not in their best self-interest; a land war on the continent of Europe. The last one had destroyed English society so thoroughly it still hadn't fully recovered from the Napoleonic wars a century ago; which was why the whole British Parliament was so full of dread at even the idea of entering another war in Europe. What's more they were right. The policy of appeasement should have been kept in place; but the Jewish Satan Rothschild did not want the English to remain neutral: he wanted the Goyim to do his fighting and killing for him and slaughter each other while the Jewish bankers and war profiteers sat back and picked up the pieces, making them a hundred times richer than they were before the war.

In 1928 the secret agreement made in Scotland between Henry Deterding of Shell Oil, Walter Teagle of Standard Oil and John Cadman of BP was signed creating the secret oligarchic oil conglomerate monopoly of power called The Seven Sisters of evil which was designed to spread the Seven Deadly Sins of the undead throughout the world… Again: the evil number 7 exposes who is behind this: the Jewish banking monopoly of the Rothschilds; and behind them the undead; who will be exterminated from this Living Earth for what they have done and are doing.

This also explains the act of Dick Cheney shooting one of his teal-hunting friends… the undead ghoul that had once controlled Walter Teagle entered his body and made him shoot one of his friends in rage at the betrayal they were planning to do to him as Teagle himself had been betrayed by one of his own cabal of thieves. Teagle is a cross between a teal and a beagle: which is the stupidest dog merged with the stupidest bird in the world. One undead Quail hunter entering the living body of another Quail hunter; both of them evil corrupt oil tycoons: both of their aims missing the mark; both of the ghouls being corrupted by other evil ghouls on purpose; the aim of Cheney's ghouls-goals were foiled; his shot at taking over the oil fields of Iraq misfired badly injuring his friends the oil corporations instead of enriching them. In the false war against Saddam Hussein Cheney's attempt to take over the Russian and Mid-eastern oil pipelines of Iraqi oil fields turned out to be a complete fiasco and a horrible financial catastrophe for his oil buddies. This is a case of the secret Feuds going on between the corporate heads of the Seven Sisters of Sin in the realm of the undead leaking out into the realm of the living because they use these living evil shells as their personal puppets. Now back to Winston and his rotten, evil, mad existence:

In 1914 just before WW1, Winston was not completely corrupt. He did not let Rothschild's conglomerate Shell/Royal Dutch Oil have the monopoly of the British navy's oil supply: He used Rothschild as a banker to loan the money to the British govt so the British Govt would be in control of its own oil reserves; he didn't give Rothschild the oil concession he wanted so it would be totally owned and controlled by his oil cartel. It took another 10 years to Corrupt Winston Churchill so he would become an exact carbon copy of his father: a bought, owned secret agent for the Zionist Jewish cause of Rothschild mafia, indebted to Rothschild for everything, owing him money he can never repay; solely under the control of the Jewish banking interests and nobody else; except for of course his own self-seeking lust for fame, attention, power and status… which was how the Rothschild's finally managed to get their claws into him. The Rothschild's used Churchill's corruption to further their own corrupt ends… What the Rothschilds are not aware of is that it is the undead who are using their corruption to further their own secret corrupt ends; the end of all Life on Earth.

After the Great War, BP was brought into the fold of the Rothschild criminal cartel of oil companies in 1928 and became one of the Seven Sisters of undead evil. Remember this: the most evil number is seven: it comes from the Jews.

Before WW1; what Rothschild had against Churchill was that he wasn't a complete sell-out to the Jewish Zionist Rothschild clan as his father had been… So using their Jewish newspapers and Jewish political clout and financial power: they helped to oust Winston from power and then made him beg for his bread and later made him turn traitor to the British cause and the British Empire by cunningly fooling him into making him think and believe that the Jewish cause was identical to and synchronous to the British cause in declaring war on Germany… Actually that was exactly what the ancestral undead who were controlling Churchill wanted; a repeat of Lord Marlborough's victories in Europe, a chance to re-live their past lives of fame and power and prestige. This included the evil motive of his royal ghoul of a father. Both Winston's father and step father died early so both their filthy scum ghouls could poison his life and his mind and heart and soul; thus doubling how diseased and evil he was and became.

Not found in any conventional politically correct book or film or biography about Winston Churchill is the fact that Winston Churchill was a lifelong friend of the richest man in the world; Baron Rothschild and owed him his life, his country estate called Checkers because it was bought with a check from the Jewish group the Focus, supporting his illicit aristocratic way of life. Churchill was owned and controlled by Rothschild: not only because his father's unpaid debt to Rothschild; a debt which must be repaid by the son by the Victorian morals of his father's era. The Jewish Rothschild thought he could hold his father's debt over the boy's head forever, but no…. Churchill gave the British naval contract for oil to BP; Churchill used Rothschild as a banker to further Britain's interests first and the Rothschild's interests second, not the Jewish banker's interests first and the British interests second. The fact that Bertie's lifetime of overspending and debts had been paid for by Lord Rothschild is another nail in the probability that Winston Churchill was a dirty bastard in all senses of the word. It required the debt of gratitude for giving him the money to buy Chartwell and saving him from financial ruin to finally turn Winston Churchill into the fully paid emissary of Satan himself on Earth: Lord Baron Rothschild.

So the Rothschilds, used as puppets by the undead, who control and manipulate power politics, repeated what they had done to Randolph Churchill: they used their influence to push Winston out of power and forced him to languish there for ten long years… Then, when Churchill is desperate for money; Rothschild puts Winston Churchill forever into his debt by having the Focus group, which was his personal Jewish banking political influence group, give Churchill a cheque for £40,000 which was a huge sum in those days when he was out in the wilderness without any income except his paltry Parliament backbencher stipend: and by that stroke of largess… Rothschild gained his own personal secret agent of evil: while that fat fucker sold his soul for a country estate just to keep up appearances as a landed aristocratic ass of the upper crust. It was a case of one Jewish racist power-monger out-corrupting a half-Jewish English snob of a racist power-monger.

A telling point which reveals the secret hidden existence of the toad-spirit lurking inside the soul of this poisoned English aristocrat is his constant referral to being out in the 'wilderness'… when being out of the British Cabinet is by no means a hardship. He was referring to his vulnerability as a cold-blooded reptile; out in the wilderness of Nature he could be correctly identified, and killed dead. Ordinary people recognized how evil he was; he lived in constant fear of being killed when he was not protected by the huge might and authority of the Privy Council of the mighty British Empire. The evil spirit of the mad toad of The Wind in the Willows lurked inside him and controlled him. The Destructive Win, the wind of death, the death wind of ancient volcanoes ruled his soul. The *low*est will of a brain damaged fetus controlled by an undead toad-thing. That was why he always referred to himself as being cast out into the Wilderness whenever he was cast out of power: he knew he deserved to be exterminated for the foul evil thing that he was and had become.

Why did Churchill go along with the Rothschild agenda to demonize Hitler and declare war on Germany? For one, Churchill believed in the supremacy of the British aristocracy. He had lived through the most brutal crushing of Britain's enemies in India. He had crushed the Irish uprising himself as brutally as possible. He had witnessed Kitchener's brutal crushing of the Mahdi. He had witnessed the brutal crushing of the Boers in Africa. If you looked at the history of the British empire just before WW1 as he saw it: the power and prestige of the British Empire was constantly rising, going from victory to victory by using the same tactic; utterly destroying whoever dared to challenge it. Without mercy, without the slightest shred of humanity, reconciliation or appeasement whatsoever.

Why did Churchill become Rothschild's secret agent? Because Rothschild had the power to give Churchill what he yearned for. Power. Fame. Public Recognition. Because Winston Churchill wanted to become famous just like his great-great-great-grandfather the Duke of Marlborough had: by winning a war in Europe, not in some dingy corner of Africa and because his failure and loss of face and power when he had been the First Lord of the Admiralty; because of the fiasco of Gallipoli which had made him resign in shame from the war cabinet in WW1, and because he wanted to save face; he wanted another opportunity to win a war and become famous just like his ancestor Lord Marlborough had.

It was the spirit of that undead fucker Marlborough himself hiding inside the weakened corrupted body of Winston Churchill that was making him do it. What these undead filth do is constantly try to re-live their past lives as closely as possible: so the living humans they secretly poison live as they once did as much as possible. Then there is the misspent life of the dead ghoul that had controlled Bertie; King Edward the 7th; and his unfulfilled wish to have a glorious career as the great leader of his nation and to be Admiral of the Fleet once again… All the motives of each one of these undead filth ties in with how poisoned and embedded inside the rotten body of Winston Churchill, they twisted and guided his life; his body was filled with layer after layer of undead secret sucking ghouls; ancestral rotting rotten filth; diseased scum-ridden pus-filled gargoyles of dying degenerate undead souls. The more Winston's life is examined, the more the probability that Winston Churchill was the bastard of Prince Albert seems likely. The trouble is: Albert and Randolph looked very much alike and had almost identical bone structures and came from the same gene pool by intermarriage; so it is difficult to tell which one Winston resembled the most. Randolph or Bertie. Also: they shared almost the same set of vices, personality traits and character flaws: so it really doesn't make any difference which one was his real father: both of them were thoroughly rotten degenerate filth: genetically, morally, physically, sexually, ethically, morally, socially and spiritually.

This also exposes one basic tactic of Jewish evil and how they gain power over human souls and over the world: how they get their claws into you by putting the people they want to use and control into their financial indebtedness: first by forcing them into poverty and then by loaning them money to save them from a financial ruin which they themselves had secretly orchestrated. What people will do for money: the love of money is the evil poison which the Rothschilds use to corrupt others with.

Why did Rothschild want to get rid of Hitler and declare war on Germany? Because Hitler had finally figured out what the Jews were doing in Germany before they could complete their evil insidious takeover of that nation as they had in France and England. Hitler had figured out what the Jews were doing in Germany: they were taking over all of the power, status and wealth positions as fast as they could. Hitler temporarily stopped them from doing it, and was threatening to cast all of them out of Europe. They had already done it in England: and the fucking rich stinking evil Jews in England did not want to lose their rich, high positions of power and wealth in Europe.

Because these two evil instruments of the undead, the Rothschild and Churchill dynasties had similar goals, they allied themselves against the one GOOD goal which Hitler had, which was: getting rid of all the Jews in Germany and deporting them to Madagascar,

Because of this merging of parallel hidden agendas, these two scumbag dynasties, the Jewish Rothschilds and the half-Jewish Churchills came together just long enough to commit their evil. It took Two World Wars to destroy the potential good that Germany was growing into, but finally after

WW2, the German people were massacred on a genocidal basis: the best of them were killed: the rest of them were maimed, crippled, traumatized for life, corrupted, weakened, brainwashed and indoctrinated to the maximum degree possible; into an insane mindless obedience to the Allied culture and authority of the Western corrupt Jewish bankers which flooded into Western Germany after Germany lost the war. The same thing happened to East Germany. The East Germans were brainwashed into the complete opposite perception of the truth about their own past: that it was Hitler who was evil; not the Russians Jewish Bolsheviks who raped their women, not the filthy Allies who bombed and destroyed all their beautiful cities and destroyed all of Europe… what utter rot. And those brainwashed, spineless, brainless Germans swallowed this filthy lie and are now just as corrupt as the rest of the west.

Part of the international strategy of England and the Allies in the Great War was the takeover of the crumbling Turkish Empire. This eventually disintegrated into the Mideast being split up and carved up like a pie by the two remaining European powers; France and Britain, with America being shoved out of the ring because Wilson was not interested in the petty haggling and hatreds of the other two. The entire Turkish Empire was taken over and then piecemealed out to various financial, commercial and political interests. Then the American oil corporations wiggled their way back into Iran and Iraq and began pushing out the English and French oil interests.

The point is, the rapacious motive of the Russian Tsarist regime to take some territory from the weak rotting corrupt Turkish Empire, which was what actually caused WW1… well, guess what: England and France had the exact same plans and motives towards the crumbling Ottoman Empire as Russia did. When the war was over this resulted in the Allies getting ALL of the Turkish Empire not just some of it: and then they took only what they wanted from it and threw the rest of it away without bothering to conquer the region or rule it or oversee it. There were no good guys or bad guys in that war or in any other war.

Why did Rothschild want the British Empire to take over the Ottoman Empire? Because he had a personal feud and vendetta against the Tsar who had refused to allow him to set up his private bank in Russia and use it as a front to rob the entire Russian Empire blind as he had all the other nations of Europe and North America, because Rothschild did not want Russia to have anything it wanted; because the Russians already knew from long experience: what kikes the Jews were; a bunch of racists, backstabbers, rapists, arsonists, robbers, thieves, liars and swindlers… greedy, ambitious, dehumanized scum; subhuman money worshippers; filled with hate, envy, fear; filled with ancient undead evil; controlled by their undead ancestors..

Rothschild knew his Russian Jews… he knew if they were given half a chance they would take over the entire world and depose him as king of the Jews… and since he, that filthy rotten Jew Rothschild, already had half of the world's wealth in his pockets: he most definitively did not want any anyone else to have what he already had, and he certainly didn't want any competition from any of his fellow Jews.

This was why Rothschild created the criminal state of Israel: so that he would not have any competition as the criminal leader of the greediest vile corrupt Jewish mafia ever spewed by this diseased, evil ethnic race. Which is: the Rothschild Kuhn/Loeb national banking families of England, Europe and the Federal Reserve banking families of America.

The alien criminal Zionist state of Israel created by Rothschild as his own personal fiefdom was a reaction to the universal anti-Semitism growing in Europe at that time against Jews in general; regardless of who they were or what their status was. Europe learned to despise the Jews who had escaped the horrors of WW2 by them being safely ensconced inside pampered labor camps where most of them were treated decently and ate better than German civilians, and then to come running back to their homes and businesses expecting to have everything returned to them after avoiding all the suffering and death of that war!

Immediately after WW2 in the devastated cities and starving millions of survivors of the mass terror bombing of Europe by the Allies, the evil Allied forces could not lock down the people of Europe fast enough into a terrorist state of martial law to stop the people of Europe from showing their antipathy and revulsion towards Jews by not giving back the houses and businesses to the millions of Jewish refugees freed from the Nazi labor camps.

All over Europe after WW2, the common dislike of Jewish refugees had very good reasons for existing irregardless of them being Jewish. They had not suffered through the worst hell of that war; they had been absent: why were they absent?. They had not fought for their homeland. They had not enlisted in the Czech army or the French army or the German Army or whatever land they had lived in. They had been safely deported just before the massacre of the mass bombings leveled most of the cities in Europe. So the fucking camps were not up to their expectations as vacation resorts in the middle of a World War? They had not suffered and bled and died and starved like the rest of Europe had starved and died and bled. Then after Germany is defeated and these alien scum called Americans and Russians and English invade their destroyed homelands… these stinking Jewish scum who were picked out by Hitler and deported…! Come back to their old homes and houses and expect everything to be returned to them as if nothing had happened? First: most of the homes they went back to were gone: bombed to rubble. Their businesses were nonexistent: as was all of pre-war Europe. "

"I'm back! Oh, sorry about your mother and father was killed in the bombing raids and your son was killed and your daughter was raped by the Russians and you starved and lived in cellars for 2 years living on rats and garbage… can I have all of my possessions and house back?"

'No: I'm not sorry about anything, I don't give a fuck about what you went through during the war: just give me all of my money and possessions and property back.'

How would you expect any human being to react to this? Eh?

First: the fact that millions of them did exactly that: show up after the war was over, back in Poland, in Czechoslovakia, in Hungary, in Rumania, in France, in Germany, in Holland, in Denmark etc, etc, puts the lie to the hollow hoax and any genocide of 6 million Jews being killed by the Nazis.

Second: many people knew that during the war Hitler had protected the Jews from any mistreatment. Once Hitler was dead; once these Jews were no longer protected by the laws of the 3rd Reich and Hitler's favoritism, before the Allies could enforce their terrorist brand of Martial law: the people of Europe were for a brief moment in time free to show these Jews what they exactly what they thought of them and what they really felt about them. WW2 exposed the fact that Jews are an alien culture that does not take part in the national identity of any country they live in. It exposed them as heartless scum who had no patriotism and no willingness to fight and die for the nation they lived in; it exposed them as black marketeers and war profiteers. It exposed their privileged status as a protected minority by the Nazis and Hitler. To have any of these cunning spoiled rotten whining little babies come back to their homes, protesting their innocence of all things, pretending to be the victims, after being sent to camps where none of them were bombed and then to come back! After Hitler had committed suicide and Germany was in ruins… and expect to keep their privileged special status as a protected ethnic race! And be given all of their houses and businesses back intact. When all of Europe had been destroyed because of them and by them. When the only reason Hitler had put them into labor camps was because he was going to deport all of them out of Europe after the war… This was simply too much for anyone to bear.

The anti-Semitism right after WW2 in Europe was a natural phenomenon of any people who had gone through a harrowing horrible catastrophic 4 years of being bombed into extinction: to discriminate against any people who had been taken away from the bombing and the slaughter and then have them return expecting all of their possessions which had been liquidated to be returned them is entirely understandable. An ethnic race which Nazi Germany had stamped as unwanted and evil: to come back to their old haunts expecting everyone to pretend that Hitler and WW2 had never happened! This was simply too much to expect of anyone who had been forced to go through the end of that war in Europe; suffering from their losses and weeping and sorrow for their dead family members and friends who died in the bombing or died fighting against the Allies or for the Allies or who starved to death. The Jews were the cause of this horrible war, many people in Europe knew this. It was perfectly natural for a universal dislike and antipathy of all Jews to exist in Europe at that time and place, and what's more it was well-justified. If your govt had deported a certain ethnic group away from all the fighting and dying and terror during a 4 yr war and after all the death and horror and starvation and disease, they show up again expecting everything to be as it had been… what would you do? Welcome them back after they had escaped all the death and starvation and killing by being deported? Or slam the door in their faces? After Germany surrendered and the Allied armies took over the running of Europe; all anti-Semitism became illegal… as it did in Stalin's Soviet Empire… GOSH wadda fuckin' coincidence. The Rothschild funded and controlled Zionist movement in Europe funneled as many displaced dispossessed Jewish refugees towards Palestine as they could… as did Stalin… GOSH: wadda fuckin' coincidence. But this was only a dribble of the exodus of Jews coming out of Europe and Russia. Most of them changed their names and emigrated out all over the fucking world and embedded themselves into every nation on Earth like a plague of locusts. Israel; the personal fiefdom of Rothschild Jewish Zionism became the pimple of evil pus which represented in miniature, all of the evils of Judaism in concentrated form.

Rothschild foresaw that if Jews were not wanted in Europe after WW2; without a homeland to go back to, they would have set up their own mafia criminal syndicates simply because there were too many of them to be absorbed into the pre-existing social structures of Jewish society in the West. All the dispossessed Jews, all the Jewish refugees would have been forced to compete against the Jews who were already in positions of power and wealth in England and America. By creating a safe haven for all Jewish criminals hunted by the law, Rothschild's personal fiefdom of Israel: which is exactly what that racist evil nation is, it became a holding cell, a magnet, a sponge, a haven for the most ruthless, evil, nasty, ambitious, greedy Jewish criminal scum on Earth… emptying the world of any potential rivals evil enough who might try to challenge the Rothschilds for financial control and mastery of western civilization. This was engineered and planned by the undead in order to keep the Jews who had already infiltrated all the nations and cultures of the world in power, and protect them from being ousted by the only criminal group who were capable of ousting them: other Jews who were even more criminally minded and more cunning and more evil than the Jews already embedded and installed into the power, wealth and influence groups all over the world.

Even so, the low class criminal monster; Stalin, another Jew, managed to screw Rothschild and the American robber barons out of half of Europe and thumbed his nose at the entire Western world while brutalizing and terrifying and oppressing and starving the millions of Asia and Russia and half of Europe.

So… the connection between Rothschild, the Oil companies and Churchill; his role in the oil industry before WW1, his military plan to conquer the Mideast in WW1, his failure and shame at the bungled attempt, being ousted from power; his personal motivation to get back into power and re-live WW1 all over again just to win a war, his being responsible for creating a totally unnecessary Second World War and his key role as an instrument of undead evil is partially unraveled… as part of the Gordian Knot of cunning twists and turns of undead ghouls in their hidden secret ancestral incestuous stinking pus-filled conspiracies and their violation of people's lives by secretly re-living and recreating their ancient feuds and hatreds and past lives.

One example of why these filth stinking rotting filthy unspeakable turd things need to be killed as soon as possible as quickly as possible as many of them as possible is the example of that poisoned evil shell which was once an innocent boy; Winston Churchill

The systematic corruption and poisoning of Winston Churchill by his own undead ancestors…by every evil filthy thing that could infiltrate his life and body and soul, can be traced and analyzed in the unvarnished historical facts of his ancestors and his life.

Why did this poisoned human shell of an empty thing become the insane instrument that was used for fomenting, starting, running and perpetrating the horror of WW1 and WW2?

David Irving's book 'Churchill's War' exposes an inexplicable traitorous evil malevolent force which controlled all of Winston Churchill's entire political life and consumed him and destroyed him as a human being and reduced him to the rotten senile, insane, fat, diseased, pus-filled, driveling, senile thing that he had rotted into in his old age.

This inner driving force was his personal ambition to be remembered by posterity as the winner of a war. He sacrificed everything for this one ghoulish ambition as being 'remembered' as the winner of a 'war' for politically correct posterity. This one secret unspoken Inner deep ambition which controlled and colored everything he did in the last part of his life: was his conscious decision and willingness. He never spoke of it ever. This evil thing went to his fucking grave and never confessed what drove him to commit all of the nefarious cunning evil crimes and sins.

To sacrifice the greatest, most peaceful, civilized empire the world had ever known, for personal ambition! To sacrifice the entire British Empire to his own personal stinking ambition, for personal fame. This does not make human sense. But it makes perfect sense to a half-Jewish depraved maniac, a baby traumatized from birth and poisoned from birth with the most poisonous evil, rotting undead scum filling its living aura with their sadistic maniacal malevolent motives, wishes and addictions.

To illustrate the point of how much he was disliked by everyone who knew him: When the war against Germany was finally won… and VE Day was announced to the world… at the very pinnacle of Churchill's success, his entire War Cabinet refused to drink a toast of victory with him; they despised Churchill so much they could not stand his guts. They knew what he was: a crude drunken incompetent bum. What they didn't know was that he was half-Jewish.

But that didn't matter to Churchill… he raised his glass and drank his victory toast alone, while they all stared at him in disgust and revulsion as he drank his victory toast: this sodden drunken bum, this alcoholic toad and his fucking addiction to alcohol, living in the lap of luxury while the rest England of the world starved and died… Nothing else mattered to that stinking insane evil piece of shit except his fucking brandy and champagne and cigars and victory… that was all he cared about… the fact that he had finally 'won' a fucking war in Europe and Germany was utterly destroyed and England was in ruins. Why should he care? He was the bastard son of Prince Albert: he was being controlled by that undead filthy ghoul who never gave a fart about hard work or the respect of the lower class for his ways: all he cared about was that his gamble had won and he had come out the winner. Bertie had always been a horrid gambler.

The point about this charlatan in sheep's clothing called Winston Churchill was that what he actually was… was completely invisible and not perceivable to any living person who is not able to see the undead secretly hiding inside him and hovering all around him.

Churchill, born in 1874 as a Victorian aristocrat; once elected to Parliament in 1900, he switched sides in 1904 from Conservative to the Labor party. This began his reputation as a man who could not be trusted by joining the Labor party and proceeded to attack the privileges of the very privileged class of which he was a member. Opposing the political values of his own class; he became a traitor to his own class. What people didn't realize was that he was nothing but a traitor to the entire human race. He practiced betrayal as an art. He betrayed the entire human species. He betrayed everyone and everything. The only thing he did not betray was when given the opportunity to commit evil: he committed the most evil possible, the worst evil possible. This is because he was being controlled by pure evil.

Churchill's one driving ambition was for personal fame and power and fuck all the moral values which he had been taught because he was a retarded moron who was incapable of understanding human concepts such as selflessness, kindness, honesty, empathy, equality, courage. He switched parties once again in 1911 just to stay in power and was promoted to first Lord of the Admiralty. As an aggressive war-monger he was the main engine that fueled the naval arms race between Germany and Britain, which was one basic cause for WW1. He was belligerent against Germany and made an enemy out of Germany on purpose because he was itching for a fight and thought that the only way he could gain fame was by a war against Germany. Understand this: when a person strives for mastery over the entire world, it is merely a symptom and a reflection of the fact that they do not have any mastery or control over themselves: this is because they are being controlled by undead filth, they being mastered by the undead. The only people who have no desire for mastery over others are those whom the undead have no mastery over and cannot control.

The entire plan for attacking the Dardanelles and the fiasco of Gallipoli was Churchill's idea which he pushed through at all costs. What that fucker did has been covered up and carefully not mentioned in his many autobiographies because the enormity of that disaster was one basic reason why the Allies lost the Great War and were only saved at the last second by America entering the contest… What Churchill was personally responsible for was the greatest bloodbath ever committed by one person's military decision: a total useless waste of human life.

To get even an inkling of the whitewashing which Churchill was the beneficiary of, to even begin to realize the monster that he was and is; cannot be grasped by any human soul because the amount of the mass murder and death he was personally responsible for is off the scale; it is beyond the ability of the human brain to comprehend the horror he was personally responsible for. The Allies alone suffered a quarter of a million casualties from the Gallipoli invasion attempt alone… this does not include the naval deaths and the 7 major battleships and heavy cruisers that were sunk.

What is particularly telling and disgusting is how the casualties of the naval attack and the ensuing land war have been hidden, covered up and whitewashed… In all the official historical records of that single military disaster for which Winston Churchill was personally responsible for as First Lord of the Admiralty… none of the casualties and sunken ships are added up and tallied as a summed up figure. Instead each historical report lists only some of the disasters… it lists them in a way to minimize the actual disaster as much as possible. Nowhere will you find the actual full total of deaths… At best the approximate figure of the land war alone comes out to roughly 300,000 'casualties' for the Turks and 250,000 for the Allies. But they never say how many deaths. All the reports and accounts never separate the number of wounded from the dead.

No other major battle or invasion has ever been treated with such fucking statistical kid gloves like Gallipoli has been. Over half a million men lost because of him and nobody dares to mention how many were actually killed? Each regiment and ship recorded the exact total of wounded, missing and dead… but nobody ever adds them all up. Why? Nobody adds up all those who died. Nobody puts a total to the disaster. Nobody points the finger of blame at Churchill. Why is that?

I mean how fucking obvious can you get… listing over half a million casualties in small dribs and drabs but never adding them all up, and then to top it all off, only listing the losses as casualties and never separating the losses into killed and wounded so nobody will be able to say how many Churchill killed, how many men died because of him… I mean Jesus fucking Christ… how obvious a whitewash can you get?

What is even more telling of how the entire international media and public opinion machines of that time suppressed the true scope of that horror is the fact that all Gallipoli did was to slightly 'tarnish' the 'reputations' of Churchill the mastermind of the entire ill-planned and botched affair and his trusty ally Kitchener. Hushing up the Gallipoli Affair is tantamount to suppressing the death of more than half a million men and reducing the significance of this to a tea-cup blurb which is glossed over in most history texts.

Moreover the scope of his blunder and being forced to resign from his office as 1st Lord of the Admiralty and being kicked out of the war cabinet in shame in the middle of World War One… did not stop Chamberlain who hated his guts from installing him again as first admiral of the British navy in the middle of World War Two just at a time when Britain was losing the war and losing face badly on the international scene. To reinstate a political hack who had never served in the navy back into power as 1st Lord of the Admiralty after what that fucker did in Gallipoli in WW1 goes beyond the realms of human sanity and human comprehension.

Any naval officer hearing of his reinstatement as 1st Lord of the Admiralty would have felt his guts sink in dread because they all knew from past experience that this fuckup didn't know a thing about how to run a navy:

much less how to plan and carry out any military operation. His long list of other fuckups pale in comparison to being personally responsible for killing more than ½ a million men in WW1… yet nowhere will you find the public reaction to what he did unless you hunt for the covered up newspaper articles in Australia and Canada at that time. This means going back almost 100 years and searching for microfilm files of newspapers that went out of business a long time ago. Because of this one single fiasco, Churchill managed to alienate all of the major commonwealth nations who had been supporting Britain in WW1. The amount of ill will which this fucker created worldwide throughout the British Commonwealth and the British Empire by this one massive blow to the British Empires prestige and pride as the dominant most powerful naval force in the world was one of the major reasons why the British Commonwealth and the British Empire became a dead donkey: a relic of the past which nobody supported or kept afloat including its colonized and nationalized members after the war.

No military leader has ever been reinstated as military leader in the middle of a war, after losing one quarter of a million men and losing an entire campaign as completely and utterly as that fuckup Churchill did in Gallipoli… yet that motherfucker bounced back because he led a charmed life and all his long history of disasters and fuckups were carefully covered up, whitewashed and swept under the carpet of secrecy, censorship and amnesia: which is to say: the undead had further evil for this turd of a toad to commit.

If anyone else had done what he did, they would have been court-martialed and shot dead, and their name blackened forever and ever in the annals of history books. Instead the only thing that happened to Churchill was his reputation being slightly ‘tarnished’. Another telling blow exposing the fact that the entire upper cabinet secretly knew he was a Royal bastard and why he got away with everything and why he was handled with kid gloves.

Due to his personal plan of invading Turkey: the failure of Gallipoli forced Churchill to resign in shame. The only trouble was Churchill had no shame; he had no conscience, he felt no remorse for what he had done. After his demotion from power, he decided to enlist in the army and was given the commission of a lowly major in the front line trenches. When he discovered he was expected to lead his men over the top he quickly absconded back to London; giving as his fucking excuse that he had not been 'promoted' to the high enough 'position' to which he was 'accustomed' to… His personal cowardice is neatly covered up by history recounting his nighttime forays into no-mans-land under the cover of Darkness… but going over the top in broad daylight was another matter altogether; that sent shivers of terror down his spine: the result was getting himself quickly promoted out of the front line to the most minimal rank possible; Lieutenant-Colonel. The end result of his intent in taking up active service after the failure of Gallipoli in order to rehabilitate his damaged reputation was another in his long list of utter failures. The fact is this self-seeking asshole had made no bones about why he enlisted again on the Western Front and yet not one whisper of criticism from his peers or the newspapers or the masses or history books or posterity or historians.

As an untrained officer who didn't know what the fuck he was doing in the front lines of a new kind of trench warfare which had never been fought before quite like this… he expected to be instantly promoted. That arrogant spoiled fucker expected to be promoted without leading a charge or winning a battle because of his upper class connections and the fact that he was a member of the highest upper class in England. When he found out that he was expected to lead his men over the top in broad daylight into battle, that fucking stinking coward quickly ran quickly back to Parliament; abandoning the regiment he was supposed to lead…. back to Parliament which he was still a member of, and was put instantly put back into the cabinet of all things! Just a few months after causing the worst naval and land disaster and defeat in British history which he had been personally responsible for. This time he was hidden away from the public eye and appointed Minister of Munitions: once again he was assigned to the worst stinking filthy position of political and military power where he could do the most damage against not only Britain but all of Mankind. Do you think the undead might have had something to do with all this, eh? Then Churchill lost his seat as a member of the labor party so he switched sides once again. The point is: this skulking evil toad was fine sneaking around in darkness at night: but he had no stomach for charging the enemy in broad daylight. He was a creature of the darkness: an instrument of filthy stinking evil all of this rotten stinking evil life.

This should come as no surprise to anyone who has studied the life of that rotten thing called Winston Churchill… even before he entered military college he had publicly announced what his strategy for success in Life would be. He did not intend to follow a conventional career of promotion through army ranks, but rather to seek out all possible chances of military action, using his mother's and family influence in high society to arrange postings to active campaigns for him. He assumed that his peerage and his social position and his family's influence would pave the way for all of his future promotions so they would be automatic. That was how corrupt, venal, cynical and spoiled he was before he entered Sandhurst Military College.

In 1924 he switched sides again and was voted into office on the Labor side and became a thorn inside the British government; ruining its plans by making bad decisions and losing the govts money as Chancellor of the Exchequer. Once again the evil of his undead filth made sure all positive efforts to improve Britain's people and govt were checked. As a person and a politician he was hopelessly out of touch with reality. An old fashioned aristocrat whose views on social reform, economics and the empire were crazily out of date fantasies belonging to another time. Then he was voted out of office and spent his time making enemies out of his former friends and causing trouble until he became an unwanted outcast. Resigning from the govt:

Just as his stepfather had, er… I mean his father had: who had died early, reduced to living in obscurity because of his pro-Jewish leanings and his fighting against the new progressive forces which were growing stronger and stronger in England at the time.

In the fight over the independence of India, Winston once again made himself look foolish as an out of date Victorian; regarding the people of India as children and his racist view of all people who are not white and then went on and made even more enemies by accusing anyone who opposed him of being corrupt.

Later; by his own personal campaign of speeches and invective, using the Rothschild Jewish controlled newspapers that blared out whatever Winston was screaming and ranting about as if he were the conscience of Britain… he began inventing the false image of Hitler as a man of evil, to be feared and hated. Actually, Churchill was a dead soul; he was the mortal enemy of all humanity, he was the mortal enemy of all human consciences who did not want to kill anyone and did not want another war and did not hate anyone and did not see their fellow man as an enemy. He behaved as a blustering gangster who, given half the chance would be a British Mussolini; which was exactly what he was setting out to do and did.

As an out-and-out class racist he actually despised people who had gained their position by ability and not through influence and social class. He was a freak show; always coming up with the craziest and wildest ideas. Only his aristocratic connections and his status and corrupt willingness to change his position at a moments notice kept him in power. Most people thought him a dangerous madman. He became an insane war monger shouting of the dangers of disarmament: In fact he personally engineered much of the propaganda against Hitler which was the main cause of the war against Germany becoming WW2. As a force of pure evil he had no peer in Europe. He believed the govt should make public opinion rather than follow it; which was exactly what he had been doing and did to create the evil horrors of WW2. Everything he touched he ruined. It was his siding with King Edward who wanted to marry the American Wallace Simpson that caused the King to abdicate. What Churchill was expert at doing was inciting, creating and escalating hostility, hate, mistrust and enmity. Any cause he sided with was guaranteed to fail. Because of the obnoxious way in which he presented the case for the King's marriage he made an enemy out of the entire fucking Parliament who booed him down before he could even utter his prepared speech on the King's behalf about his decision to marry an American.

In Churchill's published papers there is a reference to the Zionist funded organization called "The Focus" which included 40 leading British Industrialists, Bankers and former Politicians who funded Churchill getting back into power as Prime Minister of the British Empire. The Focus was a mixture of Jewish financiers and Jewish Socialists and in July 1936, as acting the Jewish Chairman of Shell Petroleum, acting for the focus group, gave Churchill a cheque for 700,000 dollars in today's money (£40,000). After Churchill received the cheque he suddenly changed his politics and dedicated himself to being an anti-German war monger. "The Focus'' focused all of its money and influence and energy into engineering Churchill into the Cabinet in 1939 and into the Prime Minister's position in 1940. Because he was a corrupt, bought politician; Churchill concealed Hitler's peace proposals from the public during the war, one delivered personally by Rudolf Hess… in which Germany agreed to withdraw to its pre-WWI territories; instead Churchill bombed Berlin for eight days in succession until Hitler retaliated by bombing London. Churchill caused WW2 to happen so that the richest filth in the world: Rothschild Jewish Zionist bankers could enrich themselves even further by secretly lending vast sums of money to both sides of the war… as they had done in WWI and as they had done during the Napoleonic wars also. Churchill bankrupted Britain, destroyed the British Empire, and handed-over global military and economic primacy to America, all because Churchill was a bought and paid for puppet of the Jewish Zionists who had their own evil agenda. Before 1936, Churchill's speeches in Parliament do not make mention Hitler or Germany. After the Focus bought him as their paid shill: he became a war-monger constantly screaming about the non-existent evils of Hitler and Germany.

Between September 1939 and Operation Barbarossa, the British Foreign Office counted 16 peace offers from the Germans, but Churchill was fanatically bent on the destruction of Germany and suppressed all these offers and did not allow the British people to become aware of them and did not let the British Parliament know about them. This is not a coincidence! Even though Britain was losing the war, even though any sane human being would have grabbed at the peace offers: Churchill adamantly refused to countenance the slightest idea of accepting any peace with Germany no matter how reasonable the terms were. WHY? The undead is why. The entire FOCUS of the undead was to destroy the surging new health and happiness of Young Germany where more living humans were living lives free of debt, free of pornographic mass media, free of terror, free of poverty, free of fear… in an organized nation that was creating its own paradise without any fucking 'global trade' or global financial banking mafia stealing their national wealth from them.

This is the real reason the political group that pushed Churchill into power was created. This was the LONG TERM AGENDA the group had. This was the fight for dominance of the White European western civilization: the fight between two camps of undead: and the most ancient, the most evil of these two camps won. That was the TRUE FOCUS OF THE UNDEAD in the 1930's. The undead focus on and attack ALL HUMAN HAPPINESS and systematically destroy it as much as possible. This is why they MUST and WILL be exterminated to the bone and killed DEAD DEAD DEAD for what they are and what they do to living humans.

The undead constantly give living humans clues about their nefarious conspiracies all the time. Now: it is possible with hindsight to see what they did in the last century. Now: this book puts what happened during the 1900's into the right perspective. The focus of undead evil is ALWAYS on the brightest and the best of Humanity… the undead have ALWAYS nefariously, secretly, invisibly assembled their hordes of insane demons and minions of Hell and the upper realms of the undead in order to attack and destroy and poison and twist everything that is the BEST in Humanity, they have always attacked every NEW burgeoning human GOOD and reversed it into the filthiest evil possible. The undead focused on the new happiness and health of Germany as an ethnic nation of 69 million and systematically erased and twisted the historical truth of that brief period of National Socialism in Germany when all the streets were clean and flowers were everywhere and young Germans were healthy and no sickness was to be seen. The undead: using their chosen ethnic race of evil: the Jews, have reversed the perception of the masses into believing that the brief National Socialism of Hitler's Germany was evil:

The actual truth is that all the rest of the world at that time in the 1930's was much more evil than Germany. The actual truth was that Germany was the shining star and example for all democratic nations to follow who wanted a truly egalitarian democracy… Except the undead had already poisoned the new German democracy by turning it into a nation controlled by a demagogue who was worshipped as a demigod. The undead had already poisoned the new generation of young Germans by inserting this evil foul maniac Hitler into power: Thus robbing all young healthy Germans from gaining any political power of their own and by brainwashing them into worshipping this Austrian scumbag, this thug of a betrayer, this power-mad control freak who was obsessed with absolute power and was corrupted by his own lust for dictatorial power. But even at his worst: Hitler was a thousand times more humane, more intelligent and more reasonable that Churchill ever was. It took the entire massed evil of the world and the entire massed realms of the undead to destroy the health of the new National Socialist Germany. Without this huge massed attack of the undead; from both within and without Germany; Hitler would have won the war easily in spite of all the handicaps Germany suffered under.

When you study Hitler and WW2 in depth: you can clearly see how the undead were secretly twisting Hitler's mind so that he would lose the war; for instance, his military decisions were all politically motivated! Hitler kept clinging to the fantasy that he could make peace with the British. He hadn't the faintest clue on the stranglehold which the Jewish international bankers of the world had over the British govt and Churchill himself. He didn't have the faintest understanding of what is actually GOOD and clean and uncorrupt, and what is evil and sick and diseased. He didn't have the faintest understanding of any other culture or nation except his own Germanic culture of Austria and Germany. He was a mono-cultural idiot in that respect. He had no conception or awareness of the forces of evil that were being massed against him. It was only the health, intelligence and individual initiative of Germans like Guidarion that won him any victories, and they were won by disobeying his direct orders! Not by mindlessly obeying them! This was the very antithesis of what Hitler was trying to create; a robotic mass of Hitler youth and Germans who mindlessly cheered their fucking living god Der Fuehrer without any critical thinking. The German war machine was better only because it allowed soldiers to operate with more personal initiative in the lower ranks. The ability of the individual to think for himself was exactly what Hitler was trying to stamp out. The Allies had already brainwashed their masses into uncritically going to war against Germany, and indoctrinated them into the delusion that they could think for themselves when they couldn't, didn't and weren't allowed to.

Churchill on the other hand never had any victories at all: he had a consistent record of military and political fuckups and failures. WWII was a catastrophe for Britain's economy which never recovered; meat rationing was still in effect nine years after the war.

The character of Winston Churchill as a total fraud is revealed while he passed himself off as a news paper reporter during the Boer War. Churchill pretended to be captured by the Boers, then he pretended to escape from a Boer police station and he spent six months running around South Africa popping into Post Offices to send telegrams to the London press in which he self-publicized himself with fake heroic exploits. The true character of this drunken bum is revealed by the fact that all of his most famous speeches over the BBC during the war: "We shall fight on the beaches' etc. were actually made by an actor who imitated his voice because by the evening, Churchill as usual had drunk himself into a sodden stupor and was too drunk to give any speech. It is revealed by the fact that in most of the board meetings of the war cabinet he attended during that unnecessary war, he was too drunk to utter anything intelligible and was completely useless. It is revealed by the fact that Churchill actually wanted to start using poison gas on the Germans: which had been outlawed by the Geneva conventions after WW1 for years, and it took weeks of his entire staff arguing with him to get him to relinquish his insane plan to exterminate the entire German Nation by poison gas; thus reducing the center of Europe into an uninhabitable, poisoned wasteland for the next 300 years. Is this the mark of a sane human being? It is the behavior of an insane madman possessed and controlled by evil demons.

Nobody could guess that before WW2 ever began that Winston Churchill was a secret traitor to the British Crown which he had sworn to serve and uphold. Nobody could imagine that the undead rotting turds of his own ancestors would be used as instruments of the most horrible evil possible to manipulate the entire world of living people into willingly destroying themselves by killing each other in WW2 through this one living shell of a weak corrupt man poisoned by his own ancestral undead ghouls.

By undead entities programming that poisoned shithole of a sex pervert's personality, that sodden drunkard of an alcoholic addict's entire personality, he was focused into a single-minded drive for personal fame and status and in doing so, that rotten shithole of an aristocratic filth betrayed every decent human value and ethic and moral he had ever possessed.

Winston Churchill gained his highest level of political power by the luck of being given the post of 1st Lord of the Admiralty before WW1 came about: a position his true father had once held. All of his later political motivation was hinged upon his desire to become a war leader again. As in Hitler's life: the 1st World War defined the rest of Churchill's life and programmed him into following the recipe and program for re-living his 'success' in WW1; when actually he was a total failure as a leader and all of his personal handlings of the 2nd WW he was involved in were also unmitigated disasters. All of his earlier attempts to gain fame and fortune failed miserably: all of his attempts to earn a living as a correspondent during the Boer war and as a forger and seller of forged oil paintings and as a hack writer of abridged classical literature and his attempts to gain power in parliament failed and failed and failed… because like General Grant he was being groomed to destroy the world, as Grant, that other drunken bum who had destroyed America. And like Grant he wrote his memoirs after he retired in order to keep his family from bankruptcy: these are not coincidences… the same conditions attract the same undead to relive the same shit over and over.

Churchill was used by the undead to re-write history by wiping out the true details and facts of WW2 and replacing them with a shortened, whitewashed, censored abridged abomination of lies and cover-ups. His butchery of the classical literature which he reduced to 10,000 words was training for his butchery of the actual true historical facts of WW2. His abridgment and condensing the classics of literature into total mediocre shit was done so later he could write the history of WW2 by abridging and condensing and leaving out all the crucial important facts and cutting them out of existence.

Like Napoleon: Churchill gained a jump on all other scholars and historians concerning his involvement in WW2 by writing his own prejudiced, cunning, definitive one-sided version of history first before anybody else could… from his own personal experiences; which was a bunch of cunning lies mixed with the least amount of truth possible. This automatically 'topped' any other version written later. His abridged version was then copied by every fucking dead zombie puppet of a historian controlled by the undead and has become the politically correct bible of western civilization's account of WW2 and the justification for the industrialized manufacture of weapons of mass destruction, mass distraction and mass deception to be universally perceived as a good thing. After he wrote his abridged, censored, slanted propaganda bullshit: nobody dared to challenge his authoritative interpretation of WW2 for decades. It remains as an unspoken bible and moral of western society's ethical underpinning to this day; and it is rotten to the core.

After WW1, Churchill did not change his goal of winning a 2nd war in Europe with the changing times because the undead ghouls of his family's evil filthy dynasty had a death grip on his inner soul: he systematically corrupted himself and reduced himself to selling his soul for money in order to 'preserve' and 'save' the country estate he called checkers to keep it in running order and pay for his huge staff of servants.

What was the hidden meaning of that name checkers? It was a reference to his checkered past and it was also Churchill's own private joke. In 1936 Churchill sold his political soul to a bunch of Jewish international bankers who funded the Focus group and saved him from financial and political ruin by giving him a single cheque of £40,000 which was worth more than 40 times in today's money… which saved him from resigning from Parliament, selling his ancestral home and going into insolvency. The single greatest crime of collusion and graft which Churchill was guilty of was his joining the group called The Focus; a secret subversive political group of radicals dedicated to getting Chamberlain out of power by any means possible and getting Churchill into power. They were funded by Jewish financiers controlled by Baron Rothschild. They operated directly out of his personal orders to get his personal paid henchman back into power so the war against Hitler and Germany could be pursued to its final climax of the total destruction of Germany and Hitler and all they stood for... If you look at the record of Churchill's speeches in parliament and his diatribe which was printed and spread throughout the Jewish print community: meaning the world and the international press… Churchill did not give Germany a passing nod until 1936. Once he was bought by this single cheque he suddenly begins beating the anti-Nazi, Anti-Hitler, Anti-German drum and becomes the war-monger pressing for a war against Adolph Hitler by portraying Hitler as the devil himself. What is actually true is the Devil Himself was inside this poisoned flesh and reversing the truth about who the Devil actually is and was. It was Churchill that fat toad who was the Devil; not Hitler. His being bribed by the Jewish bankers headed and controlled by Baron Rothschild in 1936 and his instant selling out of everything he stood for has no human explanation EXCEPT that the Devil himself entered into that insane empty shell of bloated flesh and took it over and forced it to do its will.

The second series of graft from 1936-1939 was the money Churchill received from secret agents of the Czech govt who were trying to keep Hitler from annexing their nation into greater Germany by funding British anti-Nazi war mongering politicians like Churchill and others to halt Hitler's expansionist policies in Europe and check the spread of German National Socialism. Cheque, Czech… check… get it? When Chamberlain refused to go to war against Germany after Hitler invaded Czechoslovakia; Churchill became extremely depressed and said: "All is over."

What he meant by that was that he had failed as the paid political lackey of the Czech govt to do what he had been secretly bribed to do…that is to check the expansion and growth of Hitler's power and popularity over the German people of Europe, to stop Hitler from taking over Czechoslovakia… and because of that, the cheques he was receiving from the dirty corrupt Czech govt and its secret agents in England would not be forthcoming anymore to cover his enormous debts and he would lose his beloved stinking English estate Chartwell and his future would not be guaranteed by the minions of Satan supporting his every wish because he was no longer a valued enough agent acting on their behalf anymore to receive their full-scale support… get it?

The plans of the undead had almost been totally derailed because of how swiftly Hitler was moving: so fast that the undead could not stop him. That was the actual hidden reason why Churchill was so despondent about Czechoslovakia being taken over by the Nazis.

King Edward VIII, who ruled for less than a year, was forced to abdicate in 1936 by the Jewish lobby because of his pro-German sentiments. He was forced out of power by the same Jewish lobby that was funding Churchill and bent on declaring war on Germany and wiping Germany off the map… This gives you an idea of how embedded the Jewish powers in England were and still are and how secretive and well-hidden they are. Only sophisticated historians who track the personal lives of these scum and have unearthed their secret agendas and conspiracies and plots know about the Jewish presence of power and influence all over the world and in England especially. This evil Jewish splinter group attacked all the pro-German sentiment power groups in England: using the Jew owned and controlled mass media of books, movies, magazines, and newspapers, they began a systematic brainwashing campaign of unending lies and filth for years in order to bury and destroy the true friendship starting to grow between these two Teutonic races who were blood brothers and spoke the same base root language. This evil Jewish lobby attacked the King because he was a friend of Hitler and got on very well with him.

The fate of nations meant nothing to Churchill: all he cared about was the fucking money, the secret funding he was receiving from a foreign Govt… which in itself was an act of treason, and if it had been found out he would have been hung by his neck and his name would be forever blackened in the annals of British history. Naval historians regard Churchill's management of the navy in WW2 as disastrous. He refused to put merchant ships into convoys which was a tactic that had worked before in WW1. He even wanted to attack Ireland thinking crazily that the Irish would welcome the British troops invading their country! The British invasion of Norway… his Norway operation, which was personally overseen by Churchill himself, was a fiasco. The Royal navy ran into the German navy coming the other way, making their own meticulously planned invasion. They drove out the British invasion with ridiculous ease; it was one of the greatest catastrophes of the war for Britain, a humiliating defeat; by all rights he should have been canned then and there but he wasn't. The term 'Norway Operation' became a byword for inept incompetence. Churchill was responsible; yet he somehow escaped all blame for it. Instead, Chamberlain was forced to resign. What history books don't mention is that Chamberlain was dying of cancer: and he resigned because of health issues, not political ones. Just as unseen evil attacked the one man who could have steered a reasonable course, unseen evil undead filth protected Churchill from being thrown out of office again like he had in WW1. His other plan was to invade Sweden which would have turned the entire world against Britain, a plan that was so crazy it was regarded with horror by the entire cabinet.

Just how Churchill got into power in 1940 at that crucial time is still a mystery. The new British war leader emerged through a consensus of a small circle of Dept heads … which was jokingly called 'the magic circle' and it was governed by an almost unspoken opinion… making a choice that was viscerally 'felt' to be the right choice without any argument or debate of pros and cons or any intelligent dialogue which precedes such a massively serious political choice. This makes no fucking human sense whatsoever; it reeks of subtle subliminal brainwashing; it stinks of undead intervention. The conventional 'Realpolitik' rationalization of just how this outcast of all decent British society, this raving loon, this traitor, this proven untrustworthy turncoat, this rotten corrupt opportunist, this incompetent drunken bum, this corrupt, treasonous paid political hack came from being exiled and hated and ostracized… back into the center of power is total bullshit.

First: the excuse that Chamberlain wanted Churchill inside the govt where he could do no harm, as opposed to being a vindictive annoying pest outside the govt, ranting against and criticizing everything the British govt did… is total fucking bullshit hogwash: The fact is the Jewish owners of the Bank of England; the Rothschilds wanted Chamberlain out of office and Churchill into office because they wanted to find an excuse to go to war against Germany for many reasons, and Churchill was one of the few top English politicians who had sold his soul to the Jewish bankers and Chamberlain had not.

The same story happens everywhere all the time: the honest politicians are edged out of power while the corrupt politicians are edged into power… secretly without the public knowing about it. And even if a few do know about it: fuck the public: they still can't do anything to stop it because the entire system is corrupt from top to bottom including the public.

The reason Churchill was slipped into office was because Churchill was the only politician of the highest aristocratic class who was a Jewish Rothschild's Zionist paid-for puppet on a string. Churchill was the only politician in England ranting about war and spouting racist anti-German filth against Hitler, the Nazis and Germany. Churchill was the only politician in England that wanted another war. Because Churchill was the most corrupt politician in Britain. And he represented the most corrupt interests of the ruling class; he represented the hidden secret agenda of the innermost center of the circles of secret power behind the British throne and govt. Pressure was put on Chamberlain to reinstate Churchill by the Jewish bankers who called themselves 'the focus group". Otherwise Chamberlain would never have allowed that drunken bum back in. Chamberlain and everyone else in British politics already knew what kind of bloated stinking incompetent stupid corrupt imbecile this fat alcoholic toad actually was from his past escapades and failures and disasters and bungling. They already knew what kind of an obnoxious racist he was. What these Jewish bankers of the focus group were focused on was the Jewish declaration of war against Germany and Hitler… and manipulating the British govt and people into doing their fighting for them… while these Jewish war-profiteers sat back and became richer and richer and richer and their enemy was destroyed as they profited from the destruction.

When Chamberlain let Churchill back into the cabinet: he did the worst thing possible and the stupidest thing possible: which makes no human sense whatsoever: he appointed him to 1st Admiral of the Fleet: the exact same job he had during WW1… The reason why this was a scam and ordered from on high: the reason why Chamberlain should never have allowed him back; especially back into his old WW1 position was because during WW1 he had proven to be the most disastrous, inept, incompetent fuckup in the History of inept Lords of the Admiralty. The horrible disaster of Gallipoli during WW1 was his brainchild and he was personally responsible for it. Everybody knew that raving madman, that drunken bum was an asshole who literally couldn't tie his own shoelaces; never mind run the most crucial important military weapon Britain had; its navy during a war. Churchill being slid back into his old job was a clear violation into living people's lives by his fucking rotten undead ancestors… plus all the undead who were pushing for the human species to destroy the living world and all Life on the Earth, and the richest most powerful bankers in England who wanted to prosecute the war against Germany just to make more fucking money and stop Hitler from evicting the Jews out of Germany, and continue the Jewification of the Western World into mass corruption and evil.

The last unbelievable step in so short a time as to beggar description in this whizz from total outcast to Prime Minister of Britain and taking over the war effort against Germany gives this bullshit rationalization that 'nobody else wanted the job' because in the beginning England was 'losing the war'. The idea, the shit lie… that nobody in England except Winston Churchill that poisoned toad wanted the job of Prime Minister: is in itself such an outlandish piece of garbage that words fail me. The idea that nobody except Winston Churchill wanted the power of the highest political office in the entire British Empire is such a stinking fucking piece of rotten shit it is not even worth spitting on….

But the rationalization goes even further into incredible fantasy: Historians who could not explain just how this fuckup was given the job of Prime Minister try to suggest that Lord Halifax; the heir apparent to the position and the logical choice for PM himself did not want the job: which is so utterly ridiculous and full of shit it is hard not to vomit on the lying shitholes who spew this shit in public… But it goes even further into fantasy so incredulous, so divorced from reality that the next rationalization can barely be uttered without either laughing at it or pure rage. These shit stinking liars tried to impute that the basic reason why nobody wanted the highest office in the British Empire was because everybody assumed that Churchill would make such a balls-up of his term as PM and the losing war effort, that he would be even more humiliated and hated and despised than before and be forced to resign. In other words this fiction has as the basic assumption why Churchill got the Prime Minister's job was because everybody in power assumed that Britain would lose the war against Germany before it had barely begun! Not only that: but assumed that Churchill would make such a disaster of the war that the British Empire would be destroyed by his fuckups so he would be forced to resign after he fucked everything up. Not before! And this was the rationalized 'reason' given for why the entire inner circle of the war cabinet chose Churchill over Lord Halifax? So they could appoint a leader they knew for certain would destroy everything he touched?! And in doing so destroy the British Empire? Just so they would have the satisfaction of seeing him humiliated and resigning after he fucked everything up? And left the ruins of his handiwork to them to clean up as best they could? Give me a fucking break. Every single apologist for the status quo, every single attempt to rationally explain why certain things happened which cannot be explained rationally is a cover-up hiding the influence and presence of undead filth.

This explanation is so filled with utter shit and nonsense; it is not even worth refuting. The fact is: the most evil powers on Earth plus all their minions and all the secretly controlled evil filth of the Rothschild banking criminal mafia and the entire Jewish racist Zionist effort and the entire worldwide filth of organized Jewry were combined in a concerted cooperative effort to get that most poisoned evil corrupt English toad into control of the British govt, and the entire war effort against Germany… and they way they did it was invisible to physical living humans, and undetectable and kept secret from the masses. That was how this motherfucking cesspool of undead poisoned filth was slid into power… at the worst possible moment… in the most corrupt possible way, by the most evil corrupt human puppets, which were all controlled by undead evil and act as instruments and servants of Satan and also the higher realm of undead shit turd filth.

The truth is that the Jewish Zionist Rothschild banking interests had been controlling British politics for a century already behind closed doors before WW2. The Rothschild attempt to marry into British aristocracy and in doing so: cover their tracks and make them invulnerable to any ordinary attack on their stinking rotten Jewish avarice and greed had succeeded… They refused to give up their filthy evil Jewish culture and religion and because they are pure evil and because they know that their day of punishment will come, they still feared another exodus, another mass expulsion and revulsion of all Jews from the land they infested as it had already happened many, many times before in human history. Even as privileged and protected by English peerages and titles, they feared being caught red handed and thrown out of England; not just the lower class Jews, but all of them; high and low. The richest Jews have this ancient fear of being driven out ever since Jesus drove the money changers out of the Temple of Solomon. The fear, the danger of mass expulsion is branded in the souls of all rotten Jewish undead who worship gold and the sin of avarice… and what's more: the living bodies they secretly inhabit share this fear because they have been corrupted by their own ancestral undead… as has every living human who has ever been innocently born into the world of the Living.. Evil Jews will never feel safe from the fear of persecution because they deserve to be persecuted for what they do and for what they have always done and for what they are as a culture of ethnic tribal racist criminal mafia scum.

The moral dilemma that the most foul, the most corrupt of the Jewish race have: and which the international Jewish banking dynasties of Rothschild in England had and still have; is that they cannot disown their own Jewish lower class masses and still remain a member of 'the chosen people'.

The Kuhn & Loeb banking family, the Rothschild clan of banking interests, the Warburgs and Rockefellers etc… could not allow Hitler to deport the Jews out of Germany because that would have marked literally all Jews all over the worlds as unwanted aliens, as 2nd class citizens. Not just the poor Jews: the rich Jews also. This would have correctly put the mark of Cain on all Jews and their stinking culture throughout the world; regardless of their social position or power or wealth… At that time in History it was still common knowledge that the Jewish culture and Jews were generally an evil bunch of money-grubbers and power-mongers: a fact which has since been almost totally whitewashed out of existence. If Hitler had deported the Jews out of Germany it would have marked all of them globally as a filthy unwanted evil ethnic culture and race.

Which was true then and is still true today.

It would have threatened to end and destroy the richest, most evil, most powerful, most corrupt criminal mafias on earth; furthermore…

This was the main underlying true reason why the Jews declared war on Hitler and Germany before that war was invented and orchestrated and planned ahead of time by the British govt, and this is why all of the shit and lies spread by the Jewish press and the War propaganda lies of the English govt, the American govt, and the Russian Bolshevik govt are still being spread and defended and turned into a sacred myth which nobody is allowed to question; remember, Stalin was a Jew and so were most of the Russian revolutionary Bolsheviks,

Another thing which stinks to high heaven is that in all the fucking history books and documentaries and books about his life and that period in history… there is almost no mention of anyone opposing and criticizing Churchill. When in actual fact the masses disliked him, many, many people opposed him and criticized him. Most of Britain did not like or trust him. Most educated Englishmen quite correctly thought that he was a raving, war-mongering nut job. All the accounts of the people who attacked Churchill and criticized his policies and fought against him have been carefully weaned OUT of history books and text books and historical references about that time. They have been wiped out of existence by the status quo Jewish owned media and press. The hard facts about Churchill and his life and his entire political career have been so fucking whitewashed that it stinks to high heaven of a cover-up

WW1 and WW2 was planned, orchestrated and put into operation by the undead

Because

The highest levels of living human evil at the top of all the hierarchical power and authority structures of human civilization are directly linked to and controlled by the highest undead evil existing in the upper realms of the undead. And because these undead turd things are millions of years old, and because they possess a larger time-perspective than mortal living humans, these undead things can and do recognize every major important threat to their continued evil secret existence far better and in advance of any living human recognition and perspective. Seeing this rise in Hitler's power and his intention to deport all Jews out of Germany, they knew if they did not stop this; their chosen people… the ethnic race of living humans they had chosen… thousands of years ago to become their chosen instruments of evil: would either lose all their power to commit evil and spread evil throughout the world, or be wiped out of existence… and that would mean that all the evil in the living world, including the realm of the undead would be in danger of being exterminated and wiped out of existence also.

This is why and how the highest most secret criminal cabals of Jewish bankers clearly and cleverly anticipated the threat which Hitler's plan to deport the Jews out of Germany actually was. It was not the living Rothschilds and Kuhn & Loeb dynasties that saw this danger… it was the undead evil of the entire Earth who reacted to this new young positive energy of growing health and intelligence in Germany. And they worked to poison this newfound Germanic health and intelligence in every way possible: from the inside by inserting the worst scum into power inside Germany: and from the outside by surrounding Germany with enemies, by inserting the worst filth into power in Britain, America and Russia.

Understand this; the undead cannot predict the future. They are not immortal. They are an evil slime on this earth and they must be exterminated with extreme prejudice.

Again; the hand of the filthy stinking evil undead is clearly shown here; how easily they can and do poison sane, rational men to make the worst possible choice of whom to appoint as their war leader during the war. Churchill's horrible bungling of the Norway affair the year before in 1939 should have turned all the cabinet members of the inner circle against him: yet they chose him over the stately, wise, competent Lord Halifax. This makes no fucking human sense whatsoever. The cabinet members who chose the new PM…why was it called 'the magic circle'? Because all undead filth who violently violate and invade the living auras of people leave their fingerprints behind of filth that even living humans could perceive that there was something unnatural going on with this stinking poisoned inner circle of rotten scum; the undead always leave evidence of their violation into the lives of living humans, they always leave clues which can be used to incriminate them.

This once again proves beyond any doubt how embedded these undead ghouls are in all top positions of power, all over the world. The answer to this is to get rid of all positions of power and kill every single mother fucker who is in power or tries to gain power over others: period: end of story: problem solved. This is why ALL civilization must be destroyed. Civilization is an invention of the undead: nothing morel; and all filth who serve these undead ghouls need to be killed with extreme prejudice. Killing evil filth possessed and poisoned by undead ghouls is a good act, it is an act of goodness, it releases the undeveloped human shell from its slavery and enslavement to the forces of pure evil. Undead filth do not want to give up control of their living shells. They try to cling to their power over living souls like the raving evil insane banshees they actually are. The evidence of their evil as they are being killed: as they laugh and gibber in your face instead of pleading for mercy or feeling any pain is proof of their existence. They do this because they think they have somehow corrupted you into killing a living organism but not them, since they can flee the dying living shell and find other evil machinations to pursue. Killing people who are irrevocably evil is only the first step in ridding the entire Earth of them. Their extermination must be continued into the realm of the undead also. Only when all of them are killed in their own filthy stinking realm will the Earth be free of their stinking filthy presence and influence…

Now back to Churchill and his stinking rotten evil life.

The level of Churchill's political cunning was the level of a retarded moron being tutored how to play a game of checkers… The goal of checkers is to turn as many pieces into Kings by putting another piece on top of the pieces in play: this signifies an undead entity which controls the movements of the living human it takes control of and gives it more mobility because it is operating in two zones instead of just one, and can see what other undead players are doing to oppose its goals and counter-act them without the living shell it controls being aware of its 2-level manipulations in the realm of the Living and the realm of the undead. Churchill's goal (ghoul), the goal of that stinking evil ghoul hiding inside him… was to make sure that the only surviving powerful monarchy that had a King or Queen would prevail in that war in Europe. Churchill was not intelligent enough to play the more complex more intellectually demanding international game of power politics called chess. However… he was used as an instrument of evil in the chess game of WW2 to check the growing power and health of the new German Reich. In chess, to check means to attack the King of your opponent. Once the King is put in check and cannot escape the game is over. The undead used Churchill as a 'checker' to put the 'King' of Germany (Hitler) into 'check' and win the war.

Once his usefulness was finished, Churchill was thrown away and forgotten like the disposable pawn he actually was… like the disposable checker he actually was in the global game of the undead for world domination over the living. This is how the undead use living people for their hidden evil ends in the negative evil structure of civilization. Except for 'winning' WW2; which was a disaster for the British Empire; all of Churchill's supposedly cunning deals and machinations ended up ultimately in complete failure. In the 20th century, Churchill the politician was one of the main instruments the undead used in checking and blocking the growing rise of the new rise of the germination of new health and a new Germany and thus the growing intelligence and health of the entire human species.

Who or what is the 'Churchill' family dynasty of dead ghouls? It is the chill of the ill will of all the undead entities that populate of all the church cemeteries of England dedicated to checking all human advances into higher levels of intelligence and health. Churchill led a checkered life; constantly landing on red or black squares of the labor or conservative party until he was finally completely corrupted and landed only on the black squares of death, in a reversal of how checkers is played. The black squares represent the blackness of the realm of the undead. The red squares represent the red blood of the living.

As you can see, one word can have many meanings on many different levels, and all of them are interconnected to each other and support each other.

What does all this have to do with his dead family's undead filthy poisoning of him? His own family history and family fortune tells it all. The founder of the Churchill family dynasty, the Duke of Marlborough gained much his wealth and power and fame from winning military victories; winning wars fought in Europe; not in England.

All of John Churchill, the Duke of Marlborough's power, fame and good fortune came from the personal relationship his wife had enjoyed with Anne the Queen of England before she became Queen. His own personal success was gained by waging campaigns of war and winning military victories in Europe against foreign nations: for which he was granted the title of Duke of Marlborough.

Similarly, Churchill's one special advantage that nobody else in England had was his personal friendship with Theodore Roosevelt before he became President of the United States. His relationship with FDR was started and founded years before the political situation for starting WW2 came about. This was also the dead John Churchill's one special advantage that nobody else had: his wife's personal friendship with the future queen of England more than 300 years ago. The 'inside track' which Sarah Jennings enjoyed from her friendship with Anne before she married John Churchill and before Anne became the Queen of England: matches the secret inside track Winston had with FDR before Roosevelt gained power and became president of the USA Sarah Jennings… Winston's wife's name was Jenny; get it? Jennings… more than one Jenny. Undead filth poisoning the lives of their offspring.

Winston's connection to financial wealth and conniving corporate greed also came from the undead filth hiding inside him: The first John Churchill was appointed Deputy Governor of the Hudson's bay Company in April 1st 1685… The Hudson's Bay Company one of the, most financially successful, and powerful of the English corporate Royal charters that later became independent business Corporations. Not only that, the first Churchill to gain power was dismissed from the Royal court: something the undead repeated in Winston's life and his fathers life, not once but many times.

The fucking point is that the basic fortunes of Winston's life was an undead recreation of the combined past lives and motives and fortunes of both his undead ancestors: Sarah Jennings and John Churchill during the time of Queen Ann's rule. But that is not all of the recreated past… John Churchill also played a prime part in the overthrow of James II, and when William of Orange arrived in Britain, John Churchill the first Duke of Marlborough was paid £6000 by Solomon of Medina, a Jew. So… the overthrow of Chamberlain by Churchill's backers is a recreation of his ancestor aiding in the overthrow of James II, the bribing of Winston by The Focus group and by the Czech nation; is a recreating of Marlborough being bribed by a lobby of secret Jewish banking interests. Not exactly: but unmistakably the same basic patterns of his dead ancestors lives were being recreated and repeated in his own life…

Jennie Jerome, kick-started the Marlborough dynasty which had slumbered through seven generations since John Churchill, First Duke of Marlborough, had won his series of dazzling victories that had humbled France's "Sun King," Louis XIV, at the turn of the 18th century… by giving birth to a royal/ Jewish/ Iroquois bastard of an illegitimate son. Who was used to humble the most powerful nation in Europe as his ancestor the Duke of Marlborough had done. This genetic miscegenation, this abomination of mixing the filthiest bloodlines to produce even filthier genetically poisoned offspring is what the undead have been doing for untold millennia. This is why all of them must be wiped out and killed and exterminated with the utmost prejudice possible.

The major driving ambition and success of John Churchill's life: the military wars fought in Europe gaining him everything; fame fortune, status, personal recognition as a success and enabling him to found an aristocratic family dynasty of royal filthy rotten privilege, matches exactly Winston Churchill's personal driving ambition to gain fame and power from gaining fame and recognition by fighting in a war and winning: as he tried to do in the Boer war, in WW1 and WW2… except he did it as a fraud. Everything he did in his life was a fake because he was not in control of his own body; it was not his wishes that he was fulfilling. Even though Winston knew that the British Empire did not want any war in 1914 and 1939 and that any war in Europe which Britain became involved in would destroy the empire he was sworn to serve and uphold. In order to block out from his consciousness the massive evil he was committing, he was forced to keep himself almost perpetually inebriated, drunk out of his mind.

These major aspects of the latter half of his life did not come from the boy Winston. They came from dead filthy evil stinking sinking dying undead shit rotten turds that need to be exterminated and killed dead so they will never ever again poison a living boy and man to betray the most powerful forces for good in the world and become the traitorous lecher and drunkard that he Winston Churchill actually became; an incompetent, bumbling, sodden alcoholic bum completely controlled and manipulated by his own undead ancestors. Churchill himself wrote later in his memoirs about his unexpected appointment as war leader of Britain, when he was expecting to be canned instead: "It was as if I was walking with destiny… and that all my past life had been but a preparation for this hour."

Do you understand? What he wrote about was the feeling of walking with undead stinking rotten evil undead ghouls of the past, evil filth who were all around him and had been preparing him for this hideous task of destroying all the world's hope for a better brighter future. These undead filth who had secretly embedded themselves into his guts and body and his mind… These undead ghouls who were invisibly leering at him, who were all around him, were leaking their evil sense of triumph in achieving yet another one of their unspeakable evil crimes; in managing to manipulate the politics of the British Parliament and stick in this poisoned shell of a man; the most corrupt, incompetent politician in all of England, so the whole world could be destroyed in order to prevent new life from blossoming and flourishing on Earth…

And they did it by reversing Churchill's perception of reality: by reversing his knowledge that he was committing the most horrible evil. Today this tactic used by the undead has many names; is called 'bipolar disorder' 'dyslexia'. 'Passive-Aggressive' All these medical terms are bullshit. When someone's perception-understanding of reality is reversed: it is because of direct interference by undead filth: it is a result of undead possession and their poisoning of all natural healthy functioning of the human body, mind and soul.

The fact is that this sodden drunken bum, that this dense, unaware, stupefied incompetent, that this puppet of the undead Churchill, viscerally felt the presence not of destiny: but of evil stinking undead filth who try to control the destiny of human souls, while hiding their hidden secret evil malevolent agenda from the living people they poison, in their single ghoul to destroy all Life on Earth.

Why is this important to know? Because the hidden, secret reason the Winston Churchill plotted to declare war on Hitler and Germany. The reason Winston Churchill sold his soul and betrayed the British empire for filthy lucre, the reason Winston switched his political agenda and his personal morals and ethics, the reason he became a filthy war monger, the reason he reversed himself over and over again and turned against his own class, the reason he reversed his own set of personal ethics by 180 degrees and betrayed everything he had once believed in, the reason he betrayed Britain and the British Empire and the world by making a pact with that devil Stalin… who swallowed him up, used him and spat him out, the reason he consciously set out on a political campaign to drive England and the entire British empire into war against Germany and Hitler… and subsequently into total ruination… was because the same undead ghouls who had once been John Churchill the Duke of Marlborough and his wife Sarah Churchill; the same undead ghouls who had poisoned John Churchill the Duke of Marlborough and his wife Sarah Churchill: were the same undead ghouls who poisoned and secretly controlled Winston Churchill's entire body and Inner Soul and his life.

Understand this: this is only one example of how ancestral undead entities can and do poison the lives of every single human being alive today… Everyone on the Earth that is living is being poisoned by these filthy violating stinking evil undead things. The obvious clues, the historical facts and evidence of Hitler's and Churchill's lives shows how not just one person was poisoned, but both of them were poisoned by their own undead ancestors and more; in order for the undead to plan, set up, orchestrate and carry out the unforgivable sin; the unspeakable crimes of mass destruction and mass horror of two World Wars.

The point is: you cannot see the inner corruption of a living person's Inner Soul unless you get to know them closely and intimately and see how they live and what they say and do and how they behave every day behind closed doors. And have an intimate knowledge of their true family history: not the whitewashed shit that passes for family history. The secret inner corruption of human souls is what all living humans must explore for themselves and expunge and drive out from their bodies in order to regain control over their own minds and hearts and bodies.

The first glaring invasion of the undead into the Life of Winston Churchill… the first poisoning of Winston Churchill's life by his own ancestral undead filth rotten shit turds goes back to before Winston was born. Instead of being born after a normal 9 month pregnancy: in order to ruin that fetus's health and stamina for the rest of its sick, weak life: his mother suffered an accident falling from a horse while at Blenheim palace: the birthplace of all his ancestral filth undead: where they all congregate. This resulted in him being born too soon and born undeveloped and weakened him for life so he ended up suffering from many illnesses during his unhappy childhood.

Why do you think he called his nanny: *"Old Womb"? Because the undead ghoul that controlled him came out of an ancient womb thousands of years ago, it came out of an old tomb. Because Churchill was subconsciously trying to crawl back into his mother's belly, back to the only happy time in his life, back to before she fell off her horse and suffered the miscarriage of his damaged birth which damaged and traumatized him for the rest of his damaged, traumatized, sick, miserable, evil life. Before undead ghouls took over his body and soul.

The miscarriage of the undeveloped fetus's birth of Winston Churchill, his pre-natal trauma was used by the undead to keep the original untouched soul and intelligence of the not-yet-born Winston frozen… and I mean frozen; in a frozen state of undeveloped intelligence, in a frozen state of undeveloped, pre-fetal unawareness; so his original Life Aura would remain stupid and underdeveloped forever. So he would never be able to kill the undead filth who were responsible for damaging him for life, so he would never be able to kill the undead filth that had done this to him when he finally entered the realm of the undead.

If you want to get an idea of how retarded and damaged he was: he suffered from a congenital lisp when he was young… like many Mongoloid idiots do who suffer from the inability to speak properly because of birth defects in their brain. In fact Churchill suffered from a speech impediment his entire life: he never managed to overcome it. As a child his speech was slurred: he suffered from many kinds of speech impediments. He stuttered. His speech was very slow. His brain barely worked and when it worked it worked at $1/10^{th}$ the speed of an ordinary person's brain. He managed to hide this by only speaking after he had gathered all his thoughts and then rehearsing that thought in his mind before attempting to speak out loud. It took many years of training and practice and giving written speeches which he could rehearse beforehand before he could give a prepared speech without stuttering and without his lisp becoming noticeable. His teeth fell out at an early age and he had dentures specially designed to help him with his speech. He muttered; his speech was incoherent most of the time. He hesitated when speaking, unable to speak an entire sentence without awkward pauses and silences. It took him many years of hard work and struggle to overcome his speech impediments.

What this reveals is crucially important

This reveals the existence of two wills inside the child fighting for control of the body's larynx muscles: two separate wills: one trying to block the other and take over control of the child's undeveloped will.
This reveals

1: The undeveloped fetus-soul struggling to express itself and grow and learn how to think and speak…
2. The undead evil entities inside and around the child: blocking its natural growth as much as possible: fighting to take over control of his entire body and his soul and his will and his mind and his heart and blocking his human will to do the right thing.

What this reveals is that the evil growing inside this child had already grown to such a poisonous monstrous level of toxic evil that the child's teeth fell out because it was being poisoned into becoming a mouthpiece for pure evil. To give you an idea of how retarded and stupid Winston Churchill was he couldn't master mathematics: addition, subtraction and the simple division of numbers was beyond his limited mental capacities. If you want to know how retarded he was; he had to take the entrance exam three times before allowed into the Royal Military College at Sandhurst. Not the finishing exam, the lowest level basic requirement entrance exam…! He had to take the same exam three times before he finally got it right.

To give you how retarded Churchill was: he flunked most of his courses both in the private schools and the military academy because he was a retarded moron. The only reason he had learned how to read and write was because as a child his nanny had tutored him painstakingly for years when he was little. It was only because of all the love and attention she spent upon this thick-headed lummox that he could barely manage to speak and read and write at all. Once Winston left the safe little nest of his nanny's bosom, he was totally unprepared to deal with the real world. But that didn't matter: his family's name and money got him through regardless of flunking most of his courses. He was forced to hire tutors and continue his education and work on learning how to speak in public after graduating from Harrow's in order to be barely able to function in the elite society without drooling and acting like the mongoloid imbecile he actually was.

Through the harrowing experiences of being sent to private schools at a too early age, Churchill was systematically dehumanized even more than he already was… he learned many cunning tricks of how to hide his many defects and deficiencies. His abruptness of speech which had nothing to do with what was being said; hid his unawareness of everything going on around him. By acting out and putting people off balance: he acted out his pretence that he wasn't a retarded idiot. But not with those who were his peers, which was why his entire life was one of social ostracism; he outraged and insulted everyone simply because he was both a moral degenerate and a mental degenerate; he had no understanding of how to behave in social situations unless tutored, coached, prepared ahead of time. It took him a lifetime of training and constant corrections by his nanny and later his wife to make him even half-fit for company. He advanced to the level of taking enjoyment out of building a brick wall in his estate; brick-by-brick. This was the extent of his mental capacities when he was not being used as an instrument of evil by undead entities which controlled him.

If you want to know how much of a retarded moron he was, he finished 8th out of a graduating class of 150 at Harrow's, and his parents refused to attend his graduation out of shame. This is what historians cover up: his own family was ashamed of him because they knew he was a retarded moron: they knew he was a mongoloid idiot who had to be looked after and supervised every day of his life. As an adolescent he rebelled against this and tried to go off on his own outside the influence sphere of his family but was quickly yanked back into the corrupt life of privilege and power and was systematically corrupted even further.

What was exceptionally evil about this filthy rich, feeble minded mental degenerate, this mentally retarded moron of a boy is what he grew up to become,,, and what he tried to do to all the mentally retarded genetic degenerates of England and Britain… That fucking rotten toad became an advocate of eugenics the genocide of unwanted excess humans. As a supporter of eugenics, he participated in the drafting of the Mental Deficiency Act of 1913; however, the Act, in the form eventually passed rejected his preferred method of sterilization of the feeble-minded in favor of their confinement in institutions for the insane. Why was his support of this bill aborted? Because everything this evil sick undead instrument of evil touched was an abortion, a miscarriage of Justice, Fate, Karma and Life.

What he should have done was sterilize himself and commit suicide: this way we would have been saved from all the evil shit, the foul death and hate and destruction and misery and suffering he brought into the Living World.

Hitler was also a proponent of eugenics but he was in favor of exterminating these unwanted mental retards; not sterilizing them. His Nazi govt put people into institutions and quietly did away with many of them. He should have killed himself also because he was a degenerate.

Here is the problem with eugenics: just who is the mental retard, and who is not? Both Hitler and Churchill were genetic degenerates: both of them were poisoned from birth by ancestral undead filth… what you must understand is that the systematic degeneracy of human beings beginning from birth was in those times, largely a factor of the undead filth shit turds that poison babies and children. Given the chance, both could have grown up healthy and happy and strong and intelligent and GOOD, not evil. This is why every single undead ghoul must be exterminated with extreme prejudice.

It is not living babies and children who are degenerate: it is these undead filth shit things who poison them so they degenerate into insanity and idiocy. The process of mental degeneracy is due to the direct invasion of undead decomposing degenerate filth invading humans. Every time they get any power to commit evil they project their own self-hatred out: onto living humans: it is the undead who are using this idea of eugenics to wipe living people off this world. The fact is it is the undead who must be wiped out of existence: not the living.

The fact is: once these undead degenerate filth are all exterminated with extreme prejudice: 90% of the' genetic' degeneracy of the human species will disappear… because the undead are the root cause of this kind of disease. If you examine who is behind the extermination of mental degenerates: you will come up with mental degenerates projecting their own death wish out into the world: because if they didn't they would jump off a balcony and rid the world of their kind but because they are possessed, controlled and manipulated by the undead: the undead do not allow them to end their lives because they use these filthiest scum of the human species for their secret filthy ends and goals..

Understand this: the undead use the most evil degenerate humans in existence and manipulate these filthy scum into the highest positions of corrupt power, status and wealth because they cannot control or manipulate people who are not poisoned by them and not corrupt. This is why if you clean your inner soul and body of all evil sins and addictions: the undead cannot touch you or poison you. This is why all civilization must be destroyed. This why living humans must go forward into the Beauty of Living Nature and renounce the ugliness of dead objects and dead machines.

Now back to the most poisoned evil toad who ever lived in the last Century
The entire Life of Winston Churchill was a miscarriage: it was a life-long miscarriage of Justice and Fate and Karma. This original miscarriage allowed the undead that used this body to get away with miscarriages of Justice, with mass murder and crimes that no other living human could have gotten away with. Everything, every idea and intention Winston Churchill ever had and tried to carry out miscarried; his every intention and goal miscarried whenever it was put into action.

Because the true inner soul of Winston Churchill had never been given a chance to be born properly and grow as it should have: without the evil poison of undead entering into his life-aura before he even came out of his mother's womb. Because the true Winston Churchill was born traumatized: damaged goods. Because his body had been taken over by the ancestral undead turds of his own family before he was born, plus many other undead… throughout his life he kept on trying to be born, he kept on coming up with the craziest, stupidest, most horrible miscarriages of justice possible. Because Winston: the not yet born infant's blind wailing attempts to be born were cunningly and easily poisoned at the outset by the undead violating his entire being. Because he was never born properly due to the interference of the undead: every stage of his life it was a miscarriage of truth, a miscarriage of justice, a miscarriage of karmic fate, a miscarriage of karmic responsibility. The undead hiding inside this living shell of a traumatized damaged weakened poisoned physical body thought that they could use this body to commit any crime they wanted to because his life had been caused by a miscarriage of birth; they thought they would be able to escape the notice of all the Karmic forces of GOOD and escape all punishment, they thought that even if fate took a hand in punishing Winston Churchill for what he did during his life: that the Karmic fate of the Universe would also be a miscarriage of justice: and not hit them… they thought that the Karmic fate of justice would hit somebody else, and they would be able to escape justice: laughing in inhuman insane glee in being able to fool and deceive the blind forces of Nature and the forces of the Universe, just as they had deceived and fooled all of Mankind…

One striking characteristic of Winston Churchill throughout his life was his habit of exposing himself naked to people. He spent much of his life soaking in the bathtub, the bathroom was his second home. He spent hours in the toilet because he was so retarded he couldn't button his fly back up properly. The ghastly tales told by his secretaries, listening to the bestial sounds coming from the bathroom as he struggled secretly with the simplest physical tasks of getting his pants off. He did not know what to do with buttons: they were not in his limited repertory of physical accomplishments. He didn't know how to comb his own hair. He did not know how to screw on a lid or unscrew a tube of toothpaste: he had to have it done for him by his butler and when his butler wasn't there that presented enormous mental challenges for the mongoloid retard; most of the time he ripped the tube apart with his pudgy hands and made a mess which had to be cleaned up. He didn't know what to do with soap: he had been bathed by his fucking nanny all his life. He didn't even know how to flush a toilet or put the lid back down: when he left a bathroom or toilet it was usually a rotten stinking fouled mess, he barley knew how to wipe his own ass clean of his own stinking shit. His answer to cleanliness was to soak in a tub prepared for him by his servants and when that was not possible or available, he was fucked; so he stopped wearing ordinary clothes on his trips away from home and began wearing one-piece jump suits with a zipper up the middle, and even that was too much for his feeble mind to deal with; most of the time his servant had to finish zipping his suit all the way back up because he always fought the zipper and it got stuck because of his infantile rage and ineptitude at being unable to deal with such simple physical tasks.

It took him ages to take a shit or have a piss because he did not know how to unbutton his clothes or redo them again: his fucking nanny had done that for him and his servants had done this for him all his filthy, spoiled, rotten life. It took him 20 minutes to figure out how to turn on and turn off a simple faucet, and every time he did he left it on; not understanding that the same handle that turned it on was the implement that was used to turn it off also. He lived for people barging into the toilet when he was trying to mess about with these contraptions so they could become flustered and intimidated by his brutal ego… that way they would not notice he was a fucking mongoloid retarded imbecile who needed help buttoning his own fly. His secretaries had to wait outside the toilet or bathroom for 10-20-30 minutes… having to use it themselves, but not able to because this royal fart was having his royal shit and taking off his pants took forever and putting them back on took forever and wiping his ass got shit on his hands so he had to wash his hands every time in the sink and that took another ten minutes and he left the water running and he pretended to gargle and made huge noises… like the retarded infantile, deranged fat toad he was. What he did inside the bathroom every time he went in to take a shit or take a piss, what he did in the toilet behind a closed door was what he was doing and had done all his life: it was a replica in miniature of what he was doing to the Earth, to the world, to Humanity, to civilization, to human society, to the British Empire, to everyone who came in contact with him.

There is the famous episode where Winston tells the president of the United States of America to come in when he is in the bathroom, the president says through the closed door that he does not wish to disturb him, but Winston insists and tells him to open the door. On seeing Churchill naked in the tub of all things!, Roosevelt apologizes for violating Winston's privacy… but that sodden thing, violated before his birth: and wanting to be born again, stood up stark naked in front of Roosevelt; pompously declaiming: "The Prime Minister of Britain has nothing to hide from the President of the United States!"

The actual truth was… that the undead rotten and evil filth hiding inside that traumatized, sick body had everything to hide and hid it in the shithouse; in the toilet, in the filthiest room of all so nobody could see that this raving mad, sick fat man needed to be put into an asylum. This was why his wife and his family became so outraged at the huge oil painting that Asquith had ordered; done of Churchill from a photo. It showed the fat deranged toad with his fly undone, the buttons on his vest mismatched irregularly, his hair unkempt, his collar unbuttoned and disheveled because he did not know how to dress himself. His wife and family KNEW he was a retarded mongoloid imbecile: they KNEW he was a mentally deranged maniac, they KNEW he was mentally sick in the head:

But they did not want the British public and the international Press to know it. So they had the huge oil painting burned and destroyed: so that posterity would never see this sick evil thing for what it actually was; a bloated evil malevolent toad reeking of urine and shit and alcohol and tobacco; burping and farting and grunting his way though life as one of the most inhuman evil undead things ever to be possessed by undead ghouls and entities.

This is how the undead reverse and hide and destroy the truth as much as possible. Churchill exposed himself throughout his life to his servants, to his secretaries, to anyone who knocked on the door when he was in the bathroom because of his pre-natal trauma… he kept on trying to be born again, born right, not wrong, not damaged, not traumatized; so he would not be a miscarriage: a horribly wrecked miscarriage of life.

Churchill frequently received his ministers or staff officers while sitting in or stepping out of the bath -- these blessed folk being referred to afterwards as Mr. Churchill's "Companions of the Bath." He resembled, in the words of Brigadier Menzies, chief of the secret service, a "nice pink pig" wrapped in a silk kimono. "Sometimes," recalled "C" in 1967, "I had to talk to the PM when he was undressed and once, when in the bath, he mentioned he had nothing to hide from me."

What was all this infantile acting out? Where did it come from? Not from being a member of the Knights of the Bath: a Royal order which has as its emblem of peerage a collar: a gold chain signifying the slavery of these stinking knights to the money changers and stinking Jew bankers they relied for their existence and a red sash across the body signifying the blood that is needed to be spilled to be called a fucking murderer, er a ‘knight’, a black filthy undead ghoul hiding in the night. No.

Winston’s constant exposing of himself came from his only happy memories as an infant during bath night: When his nanny gave him a bath. In his warped mind: he was acting out being one of the Knights of the Bath. An honor he was never given… but he was made a Knight of the Garter… as was his undead ancestor: John Churchill the first Lord Marlborough. …

During the war on another occasion, Churchill cautioned Brigadier Menzies, chief of the secret service to silence and pointed to his Persian cat, Nelson, looking out of a window: "He's in touch with the pelicans on the lake," he said, "and they're communicating our information to the German secret service!"

This stunning insight into the secret network of how undead ghouls use pets and familiars like birds and cats to spy on living humans was received in total shock and disbelief by the Brigadier.

This leads to a crucial fact of those who have been taken over by evil spirits and are evil. One thing you need to understand is that evil people who are possessed by demons are paranoid. They are paranoid for a damned good reason; the ghouls controlling them know what they are doing is evil. Their guilty conscience makes them terrified of being caught and exposed. Anyone who loves secrecy… anyone who is afraid of letting anyone know what they're doing is evil. Churchill's paranoia and fear and his cunning use of secrecy were screaming red signs that he was a man possessed by Satan Himself. That he was possessed by so many undead ghouls. his personality was a pastiche of multiple undead ghouls.

Churchill repeated this over and over during his life: Telling different people who had a private audience with him "I have nothing to hide' while exposing himself to them. Actually, the ghouls who possessed and controlled Churchill had everything to hide… and they hid inside the deranged mind and soul of a traumatized baby that was kept frozen in its infantile development and taken over by the undead.

The numerous undead that used the shell of Churchill's body got away with their crimes in another fashion also. The undead used his insulated social position as a member of one of the most revered aristocratic family dynasty names in English history as a way of distancing themselves from all personal responsibility for every crime they manipulated him into committing. The undead thing inside this shell knew that Englishmen were hesitant to cast any aspersion on the mystique, the myth, the legend of the Marlborough family name. That thing, that undead dying rotting thing secretly hiding inside the Winston shell traded on this and used this reluctance to tarnish the Churchill family aristocratic dynasty of Marlborough throughout his entire evil time it was committing crimes of mass genocide and destruction and evil.

All this leads to the obvious conclusion and the secret to why Winston Churchill grew up to become the most evil Englishman who ever lived… Not only was Winston Churchill the secret bastard son of Prince Albert, but that degenerate fetus had also suffered a huge traumatic damage in the belly of his mother before he was born… So the reason why Winston was born 3 months early, the reason why Randolph Churchill married a girl who was 3 months pregnant was because the child she was carrying was not his child: which explains his fathers lifelong dislike for Winston and why he never spoke one word to him and why he was so utterly cold towards him.

This also explains Winston's many defects and corruptions more clearly… They came from three possible traumas: a genetically defective sperm and a degenerate father figure to copy and being damaged while still in the womb as an unborn fetus. All of these horrible things had to be visited upon this child who never should have been born into this world: he was born in order for the evils of the undead to use him as a tool; so the evil he did could be unleashed upon the world, so two world wars could sweep all human decency and love off the Earth.

One glaring proof of how the undead demons and ghouls who were using the poisoned rotten boy, tried to convince themselves that they would escape all punishment for their interference in the birth and Life of Winston Churchill was in the speech Churchill gave in America during WW2 about the gobbling turkey of a Goebbels threatening to wring the neck of that stinking coward Churchill like a chicken… when the undead that poisoned his body knew there was an even deeper older evil residing inside that fat sick ugly body: The evil residing inside his pus-filled body was the body of a reptile, it was the undead spirit of a toad, not a chicken… and as everyone knows: toads have no neck; they cannot be strung up and hung by their neck and be strangled to death. Again: the undead using Churchill's body to commit evil were blaring to Goebbels and the whole world that they were on the wrong track: that the miscarriage of Churchill's entire life made it possible for him to get away with murder and not be hung for it because he was a royal bastard, a toad, he did not hide the evil soul of an undead chicken, inside him hid the undead evil of the stupidest, the most insensitive reptile on earth: the ugly stupid fat toads of England.

As Churchill replied to Goebbels's frantic anger at Britain being able to use mechanical flying chickens to bomb Germany and get away with it; he commented on himself in ironic self-evaluation: "Some chicken… some neck." As if to prove that being a toad and not a chicken meant he had the courage which a chicken is lacking? No. A toad is too undeveloped to have any emotions like cowardice or courage: it has nothing but ugliness and malevolent hatred towards all other Living creatures.

Churchill was a compendium of dead spirits, a merged mélange of the most backwards inhuman, non-human, subhuman undead things all mixed together; his cowardice was more cowardly than the cowardice of an undead chicken. The miscarriage of justice; of Goebbels not correctly recognizing Churchill for what it actually was: a fat ugly dehumanized subhuman toad, not a chicken… was also played out by the entire world not recognizing that it was Churchill who was the actual evil monster; not Hitler. The huge miscarriage of Justice which has transpired, by the most evil corrupt monster of a political leader of a nation demonizing the least evil corrupt political leader of a nation and thusly reversing the perception of the actual truth to the world; is the handiwork of undead foul turds. It was Goebbels who was the chicken, and Churchill who was the evil poison-filled toad. Toads have no neck. Each of them saw the other as himself. This is proof of undead possession. They always reverse their own inner truths and project them outwards onto others.

By black accusing white of being black, by black posing as white, the entire pack of lies called human history has been reversed; it has reversed the perception of the actual truth and turned human understanding into a complete misunderstanding; into the opposite of understanding, it has been sold and spread by the newly invented systems of mass propaganda; radio, movies, propaganda newsreels, newspapers, TV's, computers, a billion trillion times over… spreading Churchill's lies all over the world… everywhere… while Hitler's speeches were never heard of or seen outside of Germany; and when they were, they were used out of context and cunningly doctored to make him look like an insane ranting tyrant, when the actual truth was that Hitler was a reasonable polite man whose National fervor to right the wrongs of Germany's fall from power and his Germanic nationalism were completely reasonable: there was nothing necessarily evil about it: it was GOOD thing that Hitler should give the German people back their own self-respect; what was evil about it was that Hitler brainwashed all of Germany into believing that the recovery was all due to him: not to the German people who actually made it happen. What was evil about Hitler was that he was leading the unknowing blind, brainwashed German people into total destruction.

The second glaring invasion into Churchill's personal life, by these filthy undead things who need to be killed dead, was his ancestral undead filthy rotten ancestor turds interfering with his personal life to scotch and block and prevent him from marrying every young beautiful healthy girl he met and fell in love with and proposed marriage to; by poisoning the hearts and minds of these young girls against Winston Churchill so they all refused to marry him.

This further weakened his already permanently weakened male sense of self-esteem as a man and turned him into an obedient lackey and sop to that higher class shit in his own family his mother; and to the aristocratic shits of the corrupt, upper class and turned him into a mommies-boy: into a weak asshole who never had the courage or initiative to follow his own heart, his own feelings of humanity.

When finally Winston was carefully pushed and orchestrated into marrying a lower class girl who was only interested in her ambition of upper class mobility by marrying into a higher social strata than she was born into: he had been so demoralized and hurt and traumatized by the numerous rejections he had received whenever his true heart emotions of love had been cruelly scorned: these undead manipulated this weakened vessel of future evil: this pawn to be used by them as one of the most diseased sick corrupted dehumanized filth ever born as a damaged traumatized baby… that during the weekend in Blenheim palace: the same place his own ancestral undead had damaged him for life… that it took his higher class uncle to order him to propose marriage to this harlot: this professional upper-class whore: who had no heart and no love for anything but her own rotten filthy selfish ambition to rise. On that last day at the last moment; he screwed up his nonexistent male courage and invited her to a walk in the ancestral gardens of Blenheim… during that walk it began to rain: so they took shelter in the temple of Diana…

During the walk and during his entire stay at the palace Winston had been so shy and afraid of rejection that he had not spoken one fucking word to the girl he thought he had been ordered to marry er, be in love with. In truth he was not in love with that rotten self-seeking social climber of a girl… his ancestral undead were determined to ruin his life as much as possible by marrying him off to the filthiest most corrupt girl they could find: thus guaranteeing Winston a married life of hell: an unloving marriage: filled with aristocratic coldness and filthy inhuman behavior that only aristocrats could get away with without being spat upon in revulsion by the rest of humanity because of their fucking status and position in society.

The upshot was he asked her to marry him and she accepted: without either of them getting to know each other at all… an arranged marriage: arranged by the stinking evil filthy undead ancestors and all the other shit rotten trolling wandering undead filth that happened to be passing by in their insane aimless wanderings across the living physical earth.

The significance of his marriage proposal being done inside the temple of Diana when it was raining outside as tears of his inner sadness and unrequited love for the girls he had truly fallen in love with were ignored, is overshadowed by the future death of Lady Diana… the upper class whore who married into the British monarchy. Diana was a member of the Rothschild family. Actually it was the Royal family marrying into the Rothschild family. She was the white sheep of that filthy rotten upper class Jewish/English family to be sacrificed because she actually felt guilty about her privileged position and wealth. She became the last token conscience of the rich western world of the most corrupt elite of Britain; the last gasp of humanity left in the Aristocratic society of England, just as the death of all Love in Churchill's heart died when he proposed to a girl he had never spoken a word to and he was not in love with, but was directly ordered to marry by his uncle… and the highest authority of undead stinking ancestral incestuous shit turds that poisoned his inner soul, his body and all around him.

The name of the temple says it all: the temple of DIE ana; A Negative* A… A Negative between two 'A's; get it? The Negative entity of no love between two people. Just as there was no love between his father and mother. I mean for chrissake, come on… would you propose marriage to a girl you've never spoken to? What if it turns out she's frigid? Or a shrew? Or smells bad? Or any one of the countless things that might make your marriage a disaster. Proposing marriage to a girl you've never spoken to and don't know? Bullshit. Churchill was ordered to do it by his uncle. That toad of a snob had been spat upon by his elders and parents all of his life. He had been dominated and turned into a servile shrimp begging for his family's approval all of his poisoned life. It was an arranged marriage; arranged by the most evil corrupt rich aristocrats of his family dynasty; controlled by the wishes of his own undead ancestors. It was an arranged marriage to an American multi-millionaire family because the Churchill's need the fucking money; plain and simple. It was a fucking trade-off. The American Family of money grubbers gets itself into the highest aristocratic peerage of England who still refused to lower themselves to do business as the Americans did, so the Churchill's got their filthy money and the American Jerome family gets into the upper crust society of the British aristocracy. It was what had been going on between the American rich and the poor aristocrat English ever since the 1st American rich could afford a trip back to England and be snubbed by the Lords of the British Empire. It had been going on ever since Benjamin Franklyn tried to gain status by sailing to England and trying to wheedle his way into the English upper crust… and failing that; sailing to France and trying his luck there and became a fad, a curiosity, as he sold his pack of lies and fables to the Royal court of Louis XVI of being a frontiersman who wore a raccoon skin cap in the wilderness of America.

Churchill's marriage was another miscarriage of his life; it was a miscarriage of injustice twisted beyond recognition into evil by his own ancestral undead. You need to understand that the undead *hate human love. The undead hate all happy people. They hate all happiness. They poison all human love and happiness wherever they find love and poison it as much as they can and they did so, on purpose in Winston Churchill's life and in Lady Diana's life. Both of them were half-Jewish. The Jewish half of the undead attacking the non-Jewish side for the sin of marrying a Goy. Blaming the sins of the father and mother on their children. This is how the undead avoid facing their own sins and evil. They have done this for thousands of years. This is why they must be exterminated with extreme prejudice.

The other significance of proposing marriage in a temple dedicated to the most athletic boyish healthy virgin Greek goddess: was his being dominated and manipulated by strong women and girls all of his weak, sickly, unmanly life. In other words: his own ancestral undead had managed by this time to poison him and weaken him to the extent that they were certain he would be controllable when he died and entered their undead realm: because then they could use any female figure of false authority and false deceptive image of female superficial beauty to deceive him forever and certain that he would buckle under to any female undead stinking evil aura more powerful and evil than he was.

This also portended the wave of the coming future: the undead plan to emasculate of all western manhood: turning all the men into weak effeminate henpecked husbands: into trembling little insects: into yes-men: into emasculated, corporate zombies obeying their master's commands, into sexless drones who have had their balls cut off; spayed, castrated; little terrified monkeys, with no Courage or Honesty left in their diseased corrupt enslaved souls.

His entire life was and is a perfect example of the continuing corruption of a weak tortured traumatized innocent baby and the increasing evil he absorbed and the progressive lack of all humanity he rotted into… as his own ancestral undead plotted and controlled his every career move.

For example: his first adult success of being elected into Parliament was mainly because his mother campaigned for him… she who had ignored and despised him all of his life and never once answered his pleading lonely letters when he had been abandoned and thrown out of his family into the cruel brutal upper class system of dehumanization called 'public schools' which are actually elite private schools… another obvious screaming example of pure evil. When the meaning of a word is totally reversed: you fucking well know that the reason it has been reversed is because who did the reversing was trying to hide the stinking undead evil hiding inside that corrupt educational system of upper class turds

Suddenly this shit inhuman thing of a ‘mother’ took interest in his political campaign to be elected into parliament… not in him as a human being! Noooo… Just as another avenue to further corrupt and poison this vessel filled with undead ancestors so they could re-live bits and pieces of their own past undead aristocratic lives.

The two shit things called his ‘mother’ and ‘father’ were not his true mother and father: they never acted as mother or father towards him ever. All they did was to destroy his self esteem and predict his future as a worthless wastrel and ruin his young budding life as much as possible. In fact they didn’t even come to see him when he graduated from Harrow’s. The only person who ever visited him was his nanny: whom he called “Womany” or ‘Old Womb” His nanny a Mrs. Everest: a paid lackey, a slave who was ordered by authority to ‘care’ for the little stinking shit, was the only person who even cared if he was alive or dead. His class racist attitude of owning such a thing as a personal female slave-nanny he called ‘ “Old Womb”… that was ordered about as a lower class slave to take care of him, since the loveless shithole of an upper class thing called his mother would not: his pride in having someone that even showed up at the ‘public’ schools which were actually the highest class snob filth of England… reveals how desperately lonely he was and how desperate he was for any human recognition or acceptance. Can you understand this? A retarded moron proudly showing off his childhood nanny to the whole school of snobs as his prized possession; the only person who visited him at school. He acted like a baby; like the damaged, retarded infant he still was; mentally, emotionally and physically. The reason Churchill called his nanny ‘old womb’ was because of his lisp and speech defect. He really meant to say ‘old woman’ but he couldn’t; so ‘old womb’ became ingrained into him from the time when he was a baby first learning how to speak. Do you have any idea how cunningly evil the undead are? When studied and examined; their evil reveals layers and layers of stinking, foul, malevolent filth piled on top of more filth.

Later upon her death he confesses in his diary that she was the only friend he had for the first 20 years of his life… meaning he had no friends until he got married; he classified his wife then as a ‘friend’… when most of the time they didn’t even speak to each other and slept in separate rooms; leaving each other notes rather than speaking to each other as any normal married couple would. When they did speak it was usually an argument over some callous, unfeeling, unthinking outrage he had committed or was unaware of committing. Winston Churchill was an unfeeling mongoloid puppet of the dead: he was clinically insane.

Do you begin to understand how deprived and lonely he had been as a child… and as an adolescent and as an adult? To have your paid nanny as your only fucking friend in the world for twenty fucking years!?

Did it ever occur to this fucking retarded moron to understand that this lower class wage slave was being paid money to take care of him? That all she had ever been was a professional wet nurse? And if the Churchill family had stopped her pay… if the money had not been forthcoming: she would have been out the door in a flash and fuck all the Churchills and screw you and your boring, stupid, spoiled rotten, retarded moron of a child. And if the Churchill family had not paid his nanny any money… that she would not have been Winston's only 'friend' in the world for 20 fucking years… in fact without the money she wouldn't have been Winston's friend at all.

His nanny's name was Mrs. Elizabeth Anne Everest, was another undead filth: revealing that he was destined to climb the highest office in the land: the Mt Everest of political power by having the Mountain come to Mohammed. It was saying that Winston would never need to learn how to stand up and walk and climb to gain the highest peak of civilized status under his own efforts, that all the power in the world would be come to him, and be given to him without his earning any of it by his own efforts.

It was a sly joke of the undead, since Winston having already climbed Mrs. Everest's peaks, as it were, as a baby suckling on her tits; that after this there was nothing more left to climb, nothing higher or more difficult a challenge to overcome. Keeping his undeveloped soul at an infantile level… frozen and damaged before it could be born; not allowing it to grow by having everything done for him and given to him without him earning any of it.

In other words: these undead things made sure that Winston never succeeded at anything except what they wanted him to succeed at; in order to systematically dehumanize him into the brutal shit spoiled rotten lazy corrupt toad he became… into the ruinous evil monster he was. They made sure that it was his mother who would take all the credit for getting him elected into parliament and scoff at his own puny efforts as nothing compared to the 'glorious majesty' of his elder undead filth: so when he enters into the realm of the undead they will have a lock on his diseased soul forever.

Churchill was so hated by the suffragettes of England who were fighting for the right to vote: because that sick, ruined backwards Victorian out-of-date shit was a racist against all women and all the lower classes, that one girl tried to kill him by pushing him in front of an oncoming train… he was only saved by that fucking undead 'thing' called his 'mother'… You see: by that time: these undead shit turds had big rotten evil plans for this shell of a weak corrupt poisoned thing called 'Winston Churchill'… they protected him from harm on purpose because they knew by then that they could use him better and he was more controllable because by then he was already and had already turned against his own humanity and truth and had corrupted himself in his innocent, desperate, traumatized, blind, retarded search for love and recognition: which his undead ancestors had twisted him into.

Then finally when he was appointed into the upper realms of power as First Lord of the Admiralty: when that incompetent fucker had never served a day in the navy and didn't know his arse from a flagstaff. His personal ruination of the British plans to end the war quickly happened by his stupid mismanagement of the raid on the Turkish empire that cost over 250,000 casualties and cost him his place in war cabinet and he was cast out of favor and rightly so as one of the most stinking incompetent assholes who destroyed Britain's and the Allies naval war effort during WW1

Churchill was so set on war and so insane a war monger: that he was personally responsible for escalating the arms race between Germany and England in their mutual building of huge monstrously expensive 'dreadnought' class battleships. It was this insane race of mechanized manufacturing: the dehumanization of human civilization into mechanical zombies, humanoid dehumanized robots; slaving their lives away in death factories; working to destroy each other and destroy all friendship between these two most compatible of friendly nations. This naval arms race which Churchill pursued with fanatical vigor destroyed all friendship between the two nations and bankrupted both of them. The German Kaiser was also at fault. The entire Prussian war culture was at fault. The entire civilized world, the entire custom of nations making enemies of each other instead of making friends with each other is at fault. But because the British empire was at the top of this civilized pile of shit it was most at fault. If Britain had made friends with Germany instead of regarding it as a dangerous rival she could have wooed the male dominated Germany into a happy marriage and both would have benefited from the arrangement and there would have been no world war. A few huge expensive battleships cannot control all the international shipping of the modern industrial age! They cannot invade or conquer a nation! They are not a threat to anyone! They are extremely vulnerable to being sunk by a torpedo! Reacting like this to the Kaiser's waste of German resources and money was idiotic. But Churchill was an idiot, which was why the undead could control him so easily.

Coming from the same root culture and having so many similar aspects and shared cultural values: Churchill's goals were the opposite of peace and friendship between Germany and Britain; his only objective was War, War, War: preparing for War, warning about the danger of War, ranting about War, talking about War, writing about War, pushing for War, making enemies instead of making friends, goading people into reacting against his belligerent insufferable personality and his insufferable arrogance. Escalating the possibility of War until the prospect of War became more and more likely to happen, until it became a certainty… and then let the killing begin! Let loose the dogs of War! Escalate the hate and death and destruction even more! You can already hear in his personal writing how this controlled shell is being controlled by his undead ancestors to repeat their past mistakes and lives even before WW1 had begun.

"Everything tends towards catastrophe and collapse. I am interested in it; happy even… is it not horrible to be built like that? The preparations for war have a hideous fascination for me."

Here: this introspective sensitive man still clinging to what little is left of his true inner self, questioning himself; his conscience is trying to make sense of his own warped sensibilities because he knows that what he is fascinated by is not good but hideous and evil; what he is building for is death and destruction: not life… but he is driven… driven by his inner demons to do this even though he knows it is evil. The undead who control his every thought and action and are systematically pushing the entire world into the most brutal inhuman insane catastrophe have already taken him over.

His next evil which he committed is so monstrous so deep an evil: that it can only be topped by what he did to single-handedly ruin the entire world by escalating the phony war between England and Germany into a massive insane destruction of all life on earth which the explosion of the atomic bomb was the ultimate logical conclusion of destructive machines trying to behave like sex-fucking apes having a sexual orgasm; the pinnacle of human destructive insanity and inhumanity towards itself and the entire Living Earth which it depends on for its own life.

What's more this next incomprehensible escape from ignominy is entirely inexplicable and impossible to have happened without a huge intervention into the affairs of living humans by undead turd filth shit turds that need to be killed and ripped apart and exterminated. During WW1, after his fall from grace; being personally responsible for the entire disaster of Gallipoli: and his fall from grace after his cowardly inept command of a front line regiment and his cowardly retreat back to the safety of London:,… a year later, he is brought back into the cabinet again!… as Secretary of State for war! After he had ruined Britain's naval war effort in WW1!?? To deal with the Irish Question of Home Rule. This makes no fucking human sense whatsoever unless he was the illegitimate son of Prince Albert. Only the machinations of undead evil filth could make this happen. To be put into a position of power again!... When it had been a position of power in the war cabinet which he had bungled so badly that he had been forced to resign in shame makes no fucking sense! Yet Lloyd George did this. To a turncoat who had changed political parties! To a self-seeking incompetent insufferable asshole nobody liked and nobody could stand.

His sending a volunteer brigade of the 'black and tan' regiments into Ireland; meaning anyone who wanted to get paid money to kill people was hired with no questions asked of why they were joining; it was an assemblage of the worst, lowest racists, scum and thugs in England used to crush the rebellion again. This shows how the undead used Churchill to escalate the already existing levels of human hatred and brutality and atrocity: his sending the lowest worst inhuman brutalized murdering racist cowardly thugs of the English lower classes to kill whole villages and burn them to the ground, to kill innocent women and children instead of fighting the real enemy who had guns, created more hostility and hatred between the Irish and British than ever before.

His mishandling and bungling of this crucial political decision of British imperial policy set in stone the racial hatred and hate and anger and hate between the Irish and the British: first he tried outright brutal suppression: then, when that failed and he was forced into negotiations he gave ultimatums of imperial arrogance and brutality that were unmistakably the forerunner of total war against Germany: this included mass bombing from the air… and concentration camps of the entire population as in the Boer war, which meant the total systematic genocide of the Irish people….

In other words Churchill did not negotiate anything with Michael Collins. He refused to give one inch to the Irish demand for self-rule. He forced the Irish leader to accept an unacceptable treaty that caused him later to be assassinated because he had betrayed his people at the bargaining table. What the Irish didn't understand was that the alternative to the ultimatum was even more horrible and inhuman than the destruction of Ireland as a free nation… in fact it was the exact same inhumanity which Churchill and the undead accused the Germans of later in WW2: an accusation they are totally innocent of. In fact this new level of evil came from Winston Churchill himself… before World War Two had even begun… Six months after his fucking 'treaty' signed at the point of a gun it was rejected by most Irish republicans, Collins was assassinated for his betrayal of the movement and civil war broke out in Ireland all over again.

In other words: the undead evil that was Winston Churchill had come into a political situation that threatened to heal a longstanding racial war between the Irish and the British… and he re-opened that wound and made sure it would never heal again. And escaped all blame for what he had done.

This is one thing you need to recognize: the most evil filth like Rumsfeld and Cheney live charmed lives because they are so evil because they are being protected from harm by undead spirits because they are being controlled by undead filth: just like Churchill was protected all his fucking evil life because the undead were saving him for the most evil of all jobs: starting a second world war. This is why these things: these Rumsfelds and Cheneys and Churchills need to be recognized for what they are and killed before they can commit their evil… not afterwards when it is too late. This has to change: it is time for good people to start killing evil people. Not the other fucking way around.

The origin of this lie of Nazi atrocities: the bombing of London and the concentration camps of the Nazis; came from the evil mind of Churchill himself… in the year of 1919... Meaning it came from the undead who controlled Churchill like the puppet he actually was, and used him like the mouthpiece of filthy evil he was and will always be.

Because of this brutal fucker: who was so inhuman that even his own filthy wife of snob upper class whore to the rich and mighty couldn't stand his inhumanity and complained about his 'Hunnish ways' in how he dealt with the Irish and with the Suffragettes… in fact his brutal unfeeling way in dealing with every human being he came into contact with. What she was referring to were the propaganda lies the English war office had invented during the beginning of WW1 to paint Germany and the Kaiser and the German people as a throwback to Attila the Hun… as the most brutish unfeeling monsters on earth. What she was complaining about in all honesty was that Churchill was acting more brutally than the propaganda lies about Germans the British war dept had spread during WW1: that he was behaving more brutally than what the fucking British war propaganda posters accused the Kaiser of being during WW1!…

What she said of him was the truth. Churchill was the real monster of that era: not the Kaiser, not the Germans. The actual truth was that it was the British people who were the most brutish: not the Germans: it was the Brits who were the worse brutes: not the Huns. It was the British masses who had been more brutalized, dehumanized than any other race on earth because of the industrial revolution. It was the British who were even more brainwashed slaves than the Germans. Now… the Germans are more brainwashed than the British.

What is even more chilling is the undead voice of pure hatred towards humanity coming from this English rat, this toad, this mole, this mouth of the undead… the future portents of the two most inhuman aspects of WW2 had already been decided by these fucking undead turds who need to be killed and exterminated. The mass inhumanity of the concentration death camps of Stalin's Bolshevik empire… and the inhumanity of the western American/British use of mass air bombings killing millions of innocent people burning them to death crushing then to death as brutally and violently as possible. This possessed monster, already poisoned from birth, was foretelling what the undead were going to do to the human species in the near future… after they had succeeded in making human slaves build their own weapons of immolation and self-destruction. The undead were speaking through the mouthpiece of Winston Churchill in 1919: what the allied war effort would be in WW2… the most brutal inhuman mass slaughter of living people since the great war of 1914. . His threatening the leader of the Irish Michael Collins with total war: genocide; reveals who the real insane inhuman monster of WW2 was… he was already insane enough to threaten the Irish people with this kind of unheard of massacre in 1919… never mind what he did in 1940-45.

In 1924 again the same inexplicable thing happens as with Lloyd George: Baldwin the new Prime Minister of the Conservatives invites that rat Churchill into his cabinet as Chancellor of the Exchequer… (Remember he called his country estate checkers... now the ex-checker gets to be the exchequer) just as Lloyd George inexplicably invited Churchill to come into his liberal cabinet as Secretary of War… this makes no fucking human sense whatsoever unless he was Prince Albert's bastard son… Churchill was living a 'charmed' life because he was more corrupt and evil than any other fucking politician in Britain. Churchill said it himself: " Of course anyone can rat… but it takes talent to re-rat" crowing in pride of his own self-confessed corrupt evil selfish motives as the most untrustworthy most incompetent degenerate asshole in the British cabinet.

And once in control of the nation's financial resources: he ruined the British economy and lost the savings of the British people and destroyed the financial stability of the British empire and sent them all to hell, into a depression which they never fully recovered from to this day… and escaped all blame and was never punished for his unspeakable evil which he committed with impunity all his dirty filthy miserable stinking pus-ridden life. This is not surprising when you look at how his Royal father wasted and lost money all his rotten life.

Then after being personally responsible for the national economic depression of England, he crushed the general strike supporting the starving coal miners and worsened the condition of misery and poverty of the English masses… his only fucking excuse he gave for this was that he had not been allowed to give the coal miners any generous offer by the cabinet… which is such a stinking self-serving lie: such a fucking bald-faced lie there are no words to describe the cunning evil liar he was. The fact is he was a viper lodged inside the English cabinet: the most evil of them all. It was Churchill and Churchill alone who was personally responsible for every catastrophe of his long career and of the intentional malevolent brutal inhumanity towards Mankind in lowering the ability of humans to regain any self-esteem and self-respect in that filthy industrialized slave system of the British fascist/govt/caste/class society.

His tactics never changed. His only tactic was a subhuman brutality: to beat you down until you are utterly destroyed: then talk to you as a lowly slave and then give you a token tuppence for your troubles and kick you out of his office. He never changed this tactic during his entire filthy evil life. And nobody speaks one word of this filth rotten asshole's life and what he actually was and did. After doing his damage he was out of office for ten years and languished in obscurity; hated, disliked by all the people of Britain: forced to seek employment in America because nobody would give him the time of day in Britain. He became then what he had always been: a pariah: a hated outsider; an asshole who hated everyone and was hated by everyone. He resorted to the most scurvy underhanded forms of gaining money simply because he was poisoned by the most rotten undead ancestral filth of his genetic past. Painting forgeries of French impressionists and selling them, giving fraudulent self-serving lying speeches trying to cover up his role in the creation of the worldwide depression he was partially responsible for. His fakery became so outrageous he was hit by a car in New York. Even that he used for personal gain writing an article of how it felt to be hit by a car! Everything he touched and did, he turned into filthy self-seeking selfish cunning evil. He was the most brutal unfeeling inconsiderate asshole born. Every secretary and servant who came into contact with him reported the same thing of him: an inconsiderate, selfish, arrogant, stupid, inhuman, unfeeling brute.

And then while out of power: buying this huge expensive estate called Chartwell when he couldn't afford it… again his inner demons his own undead stinking filthy rotten undead ancestors; urging him on to re-live their own aristocratic lives through him. What was the meaning of that word Chartwell? The meaning screams out the undead presence of the invisible shit turds of Winston Churchill's dead ancestors… who charted out and planned Winston's entire life for him so well, that he never had to lift a finger himself to get where he wanted, who charted his descent into evil and insane madness so well and so cunningly: he never noticed he was being pushed into it. The name speaks of the deepest evil in the world controlling the life of this living boy: a deep well of pure evil; charting the life of the man who would be more personally responsible for more evil than almost any other human living in his time. Fulfilling the vision of H. G. Wells and of Orson Wells in his radio broadcast of Wells' 'War of the Worlds'. The war that happened was a war between the world of the undead and the world of the living. This is the true meaning of Well's title. Machines against Man. Mechanical insects against Man. The name of that estate which Churchill sold his soul to buy and maintain and preserve is not a fucking coincidence.

At the expense of his happiness, his marriage and his political career: that sick diseased motherfucking asshole sold his soul to the satanic forces of evil… just keep up 'appearances' of a 'rich powerful lord' of the ancient times… Just to pay the fucking servants and keep up the fucking grounds of this monstrosity of egomania Chartwell… as his undead ancestors reveled in the royal 'gardens' of the estate: having come back into their proper upper class manor of aristocratic privilege and ease. How sick and possessed by the demons and filth of his undead ancestors this toad was is revealed by how enslaved he was to this piece of stinking property. He spent all of his money and time on it. He built brick walls with his own hands: the only fucking thing his brutish British soul was capable of. A Lord of the cabinet… working as a common bricklayer on his own estate. He spent a fortune improving the grounds, adding lakes and gardens; driven by the filthy evil of his dead ancestors that possessed and controlled him during his entire life to recreate an estate as close as possible to the huge estates they had once owned and lived in.

Churchill's entire life was charted out by the undead: it was so well-charted that his country estate was named Chartwell. It was so well charted that his personal advisor during WW2 was Lord Cherwell. Lord Cherwell, like Hitler was a vegetarian: as opposed to the beefeater and alcoholic bum; Churchill. They were complete opposites, but the undead made them the fastest of friends. Called 'the professor" for his scientific credentials and mathematical acumen; he interpreted financial information for Churchill: (Winston was a mongoloid idiot: couldn't add or subtract numbers). Cherwell charted out Churchill's responses and strategy for him because that insane drunken retarded bum could not think. Cherwell wrote out his speeches and counseled him about everything. This is just one example of why the undead must be exterminated. Their evil interference in human lives is an abomination that must not be tolerated ever again. 'Mon cher': Cherwell… Chartwell: His closest dearest friend, Cherwell, Charting out Churchill's entire stay in power, Get it? All of his views, his recommendations, everything was put into that fat blaggard's mouth by the undead via his most trusted advisor. Cherwell was one of the most evil filth that ever lived. He was directly responsible for the starvation of India during the enforced famine. He was a eugenicist and a white supremacist and racist. He was a Malthusian. He was a bigot: he kept Britain supplied with meat throughout the war while he himself was a vegetarian. He was another puppet of the undead. The so-called 'friendship' between them was a complete orchestrated farce-fakery manufactured by the undead for their own secret cunning agendas and motives. This is why the undead must be killed DEAD.

So what did this brutish brute of fat corrupt asshole do in his ten years in obscurity? One Frenchman gives a telling glimpse of this pig, this inhuman turd: how he behaved at suppertime in front of an invited guest: not using a plate for his steak and kidney pie: the most unappetizing fat-filled glop known to mankind, but dumping the stuff into a bowl and shoveling it into his toothless maw with a spoon, while slurping brandy from a huge glass, taking puffs from his huge Cuban cigar and stuffing chocolates into his mouth still full of meat pie. Watching this bestial subhuman display of gluttony he exclaimed out loud in utter amazement: 'Mon Dieu, but this cannot be!' Eisenhower himself related to his staff and demonstrated how Churchill drank his soup. 'Being short and blockily built, the P.M.'s chin isn't very much above the soup plate. He crouches over the plate, almost has his nose in the soup, wields the spoon rapidly. The soup disappears to the accompaniment of loud and raucous gurglings.'

The foulest evil inhuman poisoned fat pig: totally uncaring about his table manners: ranting on about the danger of approaching war when nobody in their right minds wanted another war. An out of touch undead thing: repeating all the things he had done in exact duplicate how he had gotten into power before WW1… reliving his entire life in political exile all over again; not changing with the changing times… Bought and corrupted by the focus group of Zionist Jewish bankers and the Czech govt to become the treasonous snake of a war-monger that would lead the western world into repeating the insane horrors of WW1 and worse.

What is particularly telling about the evil this undead instrument of worldwide evil is the complete reversal of the truth by the propaganda press of his day and of the entire 60 years after WW2: how the perception of the masses see Churchill as a man of peace warning of a coming war and trying to prevent it when the opposite is true. When he was actually the personal agent of the undead who sparked this war and escalated it into the global catastrophe it became. Once back in power: as if by magic again… his entire message was the most brutal possible inhuman insistence of total destruction of the enemy regardless of outcome or circumstances. War to the death! Victory or death! War! War!

The sound of Churchill's voice tells us what this dead fat ugly filth actually was: the sound of his voice is a dead monotone; a dull droning downwards death knell of deadness; no life, no intelligence: just droning dulled brutish deadness. No inflections of life in his speech patterns. So dulled, so slow… so without any life; this poisoned puppet; this mouthpiece of death and destruction was sold to the masses by the Jewish controlled press and movies to the brainwashed masses as the greatest thing since sliced bread.

Once in power as PM of the War office cabinet, the first thing he did was to ruin the entire military campaign by expressly ordering the British commanders in France not to tell the French forces of their decision to retreat and ordering them to run for their lives to the beaches of Holland in Dunkirk… Or as he said when he told the general to 'advance to the rear'…. This was his way of using words to hide from his British commander in the field the stinking coward he was and had always been.

Because of Churchill's intentional interference into the military expeditionary force in France: he was personally responsible for the British being trapped in Dunkirk. It was only Hitler's refusal to destroy the British forces that they escaped. And then it was the British people who saved that army: not the British navy because Churchill as 1st Lord of the Admiralty was not willing to risk his precious fucking Royal Navy to save the lives of thousands of English soldiers. It was on his direct orders that the Royal navy covered itself with shame in that fiasco as a cowardly thing to do. This fact is never even discussed or mentioned by the filthy rotten propaganda shit press of the world. The invasion of German troops into France was strictly the fault of the English and French decision to invade Germany first. This must be understood; up until then it was called 'the phony war'. But when the French and English moved to attack first, it became a real war… Let me repeat this: if England and France had not attacked Germany by declaring war on Germany and massing their armies on Germany's border and invading Belgium when they thought the Germans had begun to move into Belgium: there would have been NO WAR AT ALL!

Hitler only mobilized his armed forces on the western front AFTER the French and English massed their huge armies at the borders of Germany and Belgium poised and ready to strike at Germany. As to Hitler invading Denmark Belgium and Holland… Hitler did this to lure the Allied French and English forces into Belgium so he could invade France and attack the two armies from the rear and cut them off from all support, surround them and defeat them: which was exactly what he did.

The point is that in the beginning of this war: every single fucking action that Hitler and the Nazi regime did in the West was a REACTION to the aggression of the Jewish-controlled English and French high command which was determined to get rid of this one perceptive leader who was telling everyone that the entire Jewish culture and race is an abomination and should be ostracized and thrown out of all human societies, nations and cultures. True: Hitler invaded Norway, Denmark, Belgium and Holland but… however, the fact is that Hiker was forced into it. Germany couldn't afford to allow the Allied forces to land anywhere they wanted to along the European coastline. The best way to secure their borders was to secure the coast against any invasion forces. The Germans were reading the British top secret messages at that time and they knew that Churchill was planning an invasion of Norway in order to cut off Germany's supply of Swedish iron ore: in fact the German invasion forces ran smack into the British forces bent upon the same mission. So the invasion of Norway cannot be used to blame Hitler as a madman who wanted to conquer the world: which was what Churchill and the PWE (Public Warfare Executive) ended up inventing as a reason for continuing a senseless war.

The fucking point of the 'phony war' was the inexcusable blunder and arrogance of these two nations: France and England; trying to gang up together against Germany assuming they would have an easy victory… massing their armies on the very edge of Germany's borders and neutral Belgium… and then calling anything Hitler did as an aggressive act: while

THEIR fucking massing of armies poised to invade Germany is not even mentioned or listed as an aggressive act of war!? BULL FUCKING SHIT.
In WW1: the very fact that both Russia and France began mobilizing in preparation to attack Germany without declaring war on Germany was JUSTIFIED REASON for Germany to declare war on both empires. This fact is filthily and evilly slithered past and never mentioned in all accounts of that war.

The point about WW1 and WW2 and Germany's moral and ethical responsibility in STARTING these wars: is that the moral and ethical responsibility and blame of the Allied powers for starting both these wars HAVE NEVER BEEN HONESTLY ADDRESSED and never honestly admitted to, and never faced and never discussed.

In both WW1 and WW2; the main blame of who was responsible for starting these wars rest solidly on the Allied nations: NOT Germany.

TRUE. The Kaiser used Austria's decision to attack Serbia as an excuse to go to war: But: if the Eastern Empire of Russia had not used Austria's declaration of war against the terrorist rogue state of Serbia to mobilize and go to war against both Germany and the Austrian Empire and invade all of friggin Europe! There would have been NO WORLD WAR AT ALL. The same was true of WW2: If England and France had not declared war on Germany using the squabble of the stolen Western Prussian lands to back up Poland: THERE WOULD HAVE BEEN NO WW2 AT ALL.

In fact: the invasion of Belgium and Holland's neutrality by the Nazis was only a feint to sucker the French and English to barge into Belgium; which they did only a short 3-4 hrs after learning of the German forces moving into Denmark and Holland.

The point is: if the French and English forces had not been so eager to attack Germany at the outset by going through Belgium: if they had not been planning on attacking Germany through Belgium, if they had not entered Belgium 3 hrs after the Germans moved… Hitler could not have attacked behind them and cut off their supply lines. There would have been no attack through the Ardennes forest. There would have been no war against France and England. Putting two huge armies right up against Germany's boarders is an act of fucking WAR. The blame for starting WW2 and turning it into an actual conflict rests solidly on England and France: not on Germany.

The other fact which is strictly censored and kept out of conventional history is that the lowland nations of Belgium Holland and Denmark were Western Jewish owned controlled pro-English, Pro-French camps. They were not neutral at all. They were hostile towards the German cause because they were already embedded and poisoned by Jews controlling their financial and govt power centers.

The basic LIE which modern civilization tries to sell to rationalize the demonization of Hitler and Germany is that Jewish culture is not evil and is not corrupt. The basic lie which modern civilization tries to sell is that ALL ethnic racism and discrimination is evil. And because Germany, Hitler and the Nazis were anti-Jewish: they were in the wrong.

The truth is that Hitler was in the right. The truth is that anti-Semitism is good and right and just because the cultures of the Semites are rotten with undead evil through and through. The truth is that hating haters: and killing killers is GOOD. The truth is that Jewish culture and Judaism is the most evil filth on Earth and must be exterminated with extreme prejudice; not the people: the culture. The truth is that the Jewish culture and race are the chosen instrument of evil used by the undead to destroy humanity and all Life on Earth and for that reason alone they are to given a choice: either renounce your evil ways or be wiped out as the mortal enemies of all Humanity. The truth is; all avarice and greed is evil regardless of which culture it comes from. It just so happens that the Jewish culture is the worst. The truth is that any person who says he is a Jewish or a Jew can easily renounce their filthy evil culture by proving to decent people that they are capable of feeling love and are not harboring evil intentions towards those who want to wipe out evil. When GOOD Jews kill evil Jews: they will have proven themselves by their actions that they are indeed GOOD and not controlled by their stupid culture or their own ancestral undead filth. Thus far this has never happened. This applies to all civilized human cultures. The Jewish international banking mafia first: then all the other evil rotten scum of every single elite power group also.

The truth is that the undead prevented Hitler from doing just that because the undead use the filthiest of the Jewish race to poison the rest of humanity with; spreading their evil scum filthy shit cultures of secrecy, cunning hoaxes, lies, hate, racism, pornography, swindles, comedy, avarice, greed, etc, etc, ad-vomit.

Even David Irving gives a slanted picture of Hitler stealing a march on England and France during the phony war by calling it an 'ugly surprise'. What was truly ugly were the two armies camped on Germany's border; two fucking coward nations afraid to make the first move and invade Germany: as they were planning on doing. What Irving does not mention is that the very fact of French and English armies massing at the very borders of Germany was already a perfectly good justification for Germany to attack the allied armies without warning as the best way of defending herself against two bullies begging for a fight. Remember; it was England and France who had declared war on Germany. Germany had no territorial quarrel with either of these two nations; Hitler had already reclaimed the German-speaking people of Alsace-Lorraine and brought them back into the Germanic fold. I mean what are you going to do with two invading armies poised on your border… invite them to tea? Let them attack you whenever they want to? Take you by surprise when you're not expecting it? I mean Jesus fucking Christ… the conventional bullshit of blaming everything on Germany and Hitler and glossing over all everything the Allies did is disgusting.

This is one ploy of evil which you should learn is a fake. The instant any evil shit tries to attack you or intimidate you by 'daring' you to be the first to be the aggressor, by 'daring' you to knock the chip off its shoulder… Don't knock the chip off his fucking shoulder. Just kill the motherfucker dead and be done with all his stupid bullshit, egoism, hate and aggression. Hitler did not do this because he was just as controlled and part of the undead orchestrated farce of that evil war as the Allied forces of evil assembled against him were. Hitler was not good: he was just a lesser evil. But the one fact which must be reiterated and repeated is this: all winners of any war are always the greater evil. All losers of any war are always the lesser evil. This fact and dynamic is universally true throughout all human history period. There are no exceptions to this basic Principle because all the dynamics inside the negative-poisoned energy dynamic of human civilization are determined by the greater context of the Energy Field inside which they operate. The only time you can have any positive Energy winning over negative energy is when it exists OUTSIDE any larger sphere of negative Energy: or when it is more powerful than all the negative Energy surrounding it combined and can and does act independent of the negative shit surrounding it.

This is why cleansing yourself personally of as much negative evil as possible: healing yourself by getting rid of as many evil addictions and substances as possible is crucial for you the reader. The healthier and stronger you become: the better you can kill these negative evil scum; and the less openings and vulnerabilities they will have whereby they will try to corrupt, weaken and poison your central Life-Energy core. Hitler was demonstrably more humane and more Positive than the Allied French and English scum who tried to attack him.
Even after the humiliating shambles of Dunkirk; which Churchill was personally responsible for: Hitler offered England a wonderful magnanimous peace offer which was discussed by the British war cabinet. It was Churchill who shot it down. He was a paid goon to prosecute a war with Germany: that's all he was and he betrayed his own nation for personal gain and fame.

Hitler's mistake was he was too nice towards evil: he tried to be a nice guy and all he received back was betrayal, lies, hate and total war. If Hitler had been as ruthless as Churchill, not one English soldier would have been left of the British Expeditionary force and that would have been the end of England's bluster and the war, and if Churchill had still been in power and not canned and he bombed Berlin, the systematic German bombing of Britain's air force should have wiped out every military base in England. And if England had continued to blockade Germany; every submarine and bomber should have been sent to sink every fucking British military ship in the North Sea until the British navy was wiped out, and then Hitler should have invaded Britain, taken over the govt: canned the whole lot: deposed the royalty from their thrones and executed the entire banking establishment of the City of London and the main evil of the Rothschild clan would have been exterminated and all of the wealth and power of the British Empire would have been in his hands and he would have dealt with all of the British territories and subjects decently… but he didn't: because he himself was a fucking Imperialist and a believer in the glory of the fucking British empire, and a racist and an ass-kisser of the corrupt rich elite.

All the bluster and political rhetoric about Germany regaining its lost lands from the Versailles treaty would have been a tempest in a teapot if England had not declared war on Germany. England could not save Poland from the German takeover of West Prussia: it was a done deal: it was over! Poland shrunk back to its original size before WW1. The true evil was Stalin who invaded Poland after Hitler had taken West Prussia back from the Poles. During the phony war, the stinking treaty with Poland that was used as an excuse for England and France to invade Germany and win a quick easy victory had been revealed to be a huge political-strategic-military blunder. The entire declaration of war by England and France against Germany was revealed to be a phony propaganda stunt which deteriorated into a phony war. Up in arms over Hitler's invasion of Poland? Bullshit.

Hitler stopped after he had retaken West Prussia. He could have invaded and conquered all of Poland but he didn't. With this one fact staring them in the face: that fucking warmongering blustering asshole of a Churchill and the French suddenly had no more reason to attack Germany… so what did they do? Instead of admitting they had been mistaken and that Hitler did not want to conquer all of Europe and the world: that his decision to invade Western Prussia had been justified: they kept their fucking armies right at Germany's border poised to attack. How long would any nation on earth endure and suffer this kind of threat without reacting? Hitler kept his temper. He did not allow this deliberate provocation to unhinge his faculties. He finally realized that these two blustering nations were going to wage war against Germany regardless of what he did or didn't do.

Churchill had exaggerated the amount of Germany's re-armament. It was only the speed and efficiency of the Nazi war machine that defeated these two corrupt Jewish controlled powers. Germany had been re-arming itself in the previous year at a breakneck speed because Hitler had realized that all three powers: France, Stalin and Britain were in an arms race preparing for war and hoping to pounce on a defenseless Germany. He was not about to let that happen. Germany re-armed purely as a matter of self-survival: nothing more, as a defensive reaction: not as an aggressive act.

It was only after Churchill ordered his troops to invade Belgium that Hitler retaliated by striking them from behind after they had violated Belgium neutrality… and in spite of all Churchill's fuckups and his escalating the phony war into an all-out war… the conventional shit propaganda continues to ignore the factual evidence of what he actually did and praise him as the 'winner' of WW2… when he was the instigator of that pointless war and it was he who created that filthy global war and it was he who was personally responsible for refusing to end that war… which he could have easily done many times. It was Churchill who was personally responsible for escalating that war into the inhuman horror it became.

Winston Churchill was the most poisoned cunning fat war-monger in all England. The undead inside him drove him to spreading a conception of war never before imagined or seen in human history; as a vision of total annihilation and destruction … and when his predicted vision of the future came to pass in a few short years… nobody noticed that it was he who had personally brought about this horror by his every fuckup and interference and bungling… Why? Because he was being controlled by undead malevolent evil ghouls: that's why. His demonizing of the progressive Hitler and the healthy young people of Germany as the most evil nation and culture on Earth, as the most evil tyranny in human history… this political propagandist of monstrous evil and monstrous lies: backed by the most cunning Jewish evil war profiteers and bankers: funded and controlled by the richest filthy evil Jews in the world; the most racist evil corrupt Jewish scum on earth… succeeded in reversing the perception of the actual truth into the opposite of what is actually true… This monstrous foul big lie that he sold to the western world outside of Germany… set the world onto the opposite course of Good, of Health and Honesty. It set the world onto the course of nuclear atomic self-destruction and nuclear radioactive poisoning of the entire world. It set the world, the living earth onto a downward spiral of death instead of an upward living growth. It destroyed the gentle British Empire and replaced that empire with the brutish callous American Empire of gluttony, greed and the Jewish Zionist domination of mankind and the satanic worship of money. It created a racial war between Jews and Germans and escalated it into a global insanity beyond human understanding. All of it was and is being controlled from the top down by undead filth; who will be permanently exterminated with extreme prejudice.

The fact that Churchill was controlled by the worst undead evil is proven by how he reversed the truth as it is happening. Churchill's turning the phony war into a world war of total annihilation was not the 'finest hour' of British history: it was the most horrible, the worst hour of that poisoned corrupt evil island. This fucking propaganda pig of a turd sold the worst as being the best. Let's all kill every German until they're all dead or until we're all dead! Mass genocide on both sides! Hate the enemy! Demonize your enemy! They're not human! Don't talk to your enemy: just kill them until they surrender in abject fear and terror! Bomb them into destruction until millions die! All that matters is winning! An insane megalomaniac accusing the sane intelligent Hitler of his own sickness is the common tactic of the undead: reverse everything! Have the sickest most insane most puffed up toad of an egomaniac accusing the most selfless patriot of exactly what he was guilty of. This is exactly what evil Jews have done since WW2: accuse intelligent, unprejudiced people of racism and hate speech when it is they who are the racists and hate-mongers.

Winston was a monomaniac about first creating…. and then winning the global war; at all costs… a war which he had fomented and started and pushed for. Winning what? The leftovers of an insanity that was so destructive: it dehumanized the entire human species; it did not win anything; it lost everything worth living for. Instead of winning: the winners lost their own humanity forever and ever. They lost all right for them to live… yet these filth continue to exist and hiding secretly in their realm of the undead: they must be exterminated. so that life can grow unpoisoned by them.

That fat fucker Churchill insisted that his own children fight the Germans with carving knives from the kitchen rather than 'surrender'… while he himself hid in the bowels of the London underground subway system drunk out of his mind; terrified of being caught and killed for the filthy evil he was committing.

The same message of fighting to the death, to the last woman and child was being ranted in Germany by Hitler to the German brainwashed masses: death before dishonor: all German must fight to the death before allowing the enemy to trample the sacred soil of 'der Faterland'… Nobody asked these two fucking poisoned instruments of undead evil; these two mouthpieces of undead hate and racism exactly what they were fighting for… what good it does to fight your enemy until everyone is dead… to preserve what?… an empty land devoid of all life? Preserve what?... Death? Nobody in human civilization bothers to notice that in WW2 and every other war in human history there were no good guys or bad guys: just insane drugged brainwashed naked apes killing each other for no reason except being poisoned by their own undead ancestors.

That is exactly what these undead turds managed to do: manipulate hundreds of millions of insane brainwashed human puppets into pre-serving death before serving life. Reversing their natural function and priorities and value systems, and in doing so corrupting themselves forever.

Churchill's fucking propaganda bullshit about Hitler invading England was just one more bit of Churchill's relentless ruthless brutal indoctrination, terrorization and brainwashing of the English masses and the escalation of hostilities into the realm of total unreal horror and insanity. He confesses his genocidal intent openly in private but never in public:

"You must understand that this was is not against Hitler or National Socialism but against the strength of the German people who must be smashed once and for all, regardless if it is in the hands of Hitler or a Jesuit priest."

Churchill was stating the brutal truth that it was a racial war: Jews against Germans. This is the problem with these fat fuckers like Churchill: ruthless war-mongers are the most evil corrupt ruthless brutal evil filth in the world… fighting a decent upright honest military and German people who are not as brutal and inhuman and corrupt and evil as that fucker Churchill was... The only way that propaganda lying shit turd of an asshole could keep up the charade of it being a moral war of 'good against 'evil'… that stinking raving hatemonger along with the Jewish controlled press and media had to demonize all Germany and Hitler as the most evil monster who ever lived… and that is a lie; it actually was a war of evil against GOOD.

The problem with the British and American and Jewish war propaganda which has been since embedded into myth… is that the historical facts of WW2 are the complete opposite of what this war-mongering insane jackass was blaring during the war. His own lies are so enormous a distortion of the truth… the British and American war propaganda was so glaringly false; that the fight to revise this bullshit will never end until the truth triumphs over lies and Churchill is publicly exposed to the entire world as the evil shit he actually was.

The other glaring telling truth between good and evil is revealed in Hitler's secretaries… all of which even after the war had been lost, and the propaganda brainwashing of Germans had been installed and the indoctrination of Germany had turned this brainwashed mass of fucking stupid idol worshipping jackasses into servile capitalist pigs... Even after decades of the entire world propaganda demonizing Hitler as the most evil monster who ever lived… In spite of the fact that it was and still is forbidden to say anything good about Hitler in Germany… every single one of Hitler's secretaries remained loyal to Hitler after his death and still retained their love and respect for Hitler as a human being… In the middle of a catastrophic war he was losing, even then Hitler never lost his humanity. He always treated his secretaries decently and with consideration… while on the other side of the war: every single secretary of Churchill… even though this fuckup is touted as 'winning the war' and has been turned into a fucking shit-filled legend… every single one of Churchill's secretaries after the war continued to detest him and despise him for the brutal ruthless inhuman, inconsiderate thug and pig which he was until the day he died.

Now here is the bullshit injected into the truth: their own secretary admitted that both of the Churchills were selfish… and then she added… "But perhaps they had to be…"

Their secretary said this an excuse, trying to cover up the obvious truth; desperately trying to excuse the inexcusable; because the naked truth is so god-awful, so inexcusable… the apology of a slave for its master; needing to rationalize away what cannot be hidden, in order to bolster the politically correct whitewashing and worship of these upper class turds.

The answer is never given… just WHY did these two spoiled rotten, subhuman pieces of shit "have" to be selfish? What fucking royal higher authority required these two most privileged pieces of upper class shit to be selfish? Who told them they 'had' to be selfish? Who was the force or power making them be so disgustingly selfish? Why was it allowed for them to be selfish to this subhuman degree and nobody else? Why did these fucking servile little stinking apologists continually excuse, forgive and cover-up every single flaw and failing of these upper-class pieces of stinking shit?... This defending of the upper class by the lower class is why the entire human species is doomed if it does not wake up and stop tolerating this kind of unforgivable behavior in anyone regardless of class, status, power, color, race or ethnic background. This blind eye to all the evils of the upper class and all the evils of civilization comes from the undead controlling every living human to tolerate the worst evil and do nothing about it. For this alone they need to be exterminated with extreme violence and killed dead.

The contrast between Hitler and Churchill is huge. Before the war: Hitler was so good a host that people from all around the world came to visit him and were impressed by how hospitable and charming he was. Churchill never cared for another human being except himself… and neither did his wife. Both were selfish pigs… and cats. Everybody knew Churchill had no friends: as Bernard Shaw's famous telegram mentions when he invited the Prime Minister to the opening of his new play; Major Barbara.

"Have reserved two tickets for first night. Come and bring a friend; if you have one."

Another telling proof of how inhuman these two possessed undead shells were: they signed their letters to each other not as human beings but Winston signed his letters with the sketch of a pig and she signed her letters with the sketch of a cat. They argued and fought all the time like cats and dogs. They hated each other. They never shared a bedroom with each other. Winston was only allowed to her bed by written invitation alone. This kind of sick, evil, ancient, undead, inhuman aristocratic behavior is not normal or good or healthy. A pig and a cat: constantly squabbling and arguing and writing letters to each other and not sharing a bed together so they never slept with each other… and the fucking shit propaganda tries to present this as a loving marriage? You want to call this stinking evil sick filth love? Then you are even sicker and even more bereft of love than these two cold calculating evil selfish assholes were.

What was the religious hymn sung in the Sunday sermon when FDR and Churchill met on deck of the battleship the Prince of Wales? "Onward Christian soldiers marching on to war" Why? The undead were having their private secret joke… The decision of the undead to get Christianity to destroy itself…manipulating millions of Christians into killing other millions of Christians! Destroying the religious integrity of Christianity forever. Oh what fun! To so fool these stupid living shells into murdering each other in the name of Jesus by the tens of millions!!! Even the Dark Ages were not that insane; when Christians fought Muslims; at least Christians didn't massacre each other! A World War fought by two sides sharing the same religion! Using this fucking excuse of religious differences to hate and kill each other for thousands of years and when that no longer works, another stupid fucking excuse is easily invented so millions of people sharing the same religion start killing each other! Oh what short-lived memories these fools have! On with death for all Mankind!! Let this fat pork of a Churchill pig be suckered into giving away his fucking British empire for a few rotten obsolete useless WW1 destroyers; which had to be junked anyways because they were so old and out of date they were useless.

Just before America officially joined Britain in a world war, that diseased undead turd Churchill suffered a heart attack which almost killed him dead… then near the end of the war he contracted pneumonia and almost died again in Tehran… but he didn't die: the undead filth inside him weren't finished using him to commit further evil… this dead rotten thing almost died many times but the undead scum kept the physical shell of this rotten toad alive; just like they did with Dick Cheney.

What died when Churchill finally suckered the Americans into his personal vendetta against Hitler was the last faint glimmer of human feeling in his rotten poisoned soul, the last humanity of this fat pus-filled thing disappeared and all that was left of this foul inhuman toad for the rest of its rotten filthy life was a miasma of ancestral undead ghouls controlling this thing until it finally died as a senile, rotting, bloating corpse that was so ugly, so disfigured and fat, no human words can describe it. Why? Because of what he did and had done during his life. Because of his personally escalating a phony unnecessary war into the insane horror it became.

The Americans robber baron elite were not in the slightest interested in joining the British stupid idiots in killing anyone except as a way to profit from the disaster as they had in WW1… meaning their policy was purely the policy of their war profiteers who owned and controlled the American corrupt govt. This endemic embedded corruption existed long before Eisenhower and his personally escalating that corruption into the military-industrial complex which it later became after WW2. Remember: the history of human civilization is a continual slide into ever-increasing evil; corruption and mass death, destruction, killing and mass horror. The war profiteers on the American side finally maneuvered Japan to attack Pearl Harbor after imposing an oil embargo on Japan which was the economic equivalent of an official declaration of war… Especially since the Americans knew Japan was in the middle of its own war in its invasion and conquest of China… and just at the most crucial of times: the American assholes decided to cut the oil lifeline which Japan needed not only for its industrial survival but to continue prosecuting the racist war of Asians killing Asians; as the westerners, the Christians were also doing on the other side of the world…

By this underhanded secret hidden foul way; America whitewashed the robber baron war profiteers and banking mafia of their hidden agenda to profit from both sides of this totally unnecessary war… The point is these rotten grubbing money merchants of death and destruction were and still are all controlled by their own ancestral undead who systematically poison them from birth onwards until they die physically as corrupt obedient servants of the undead. This is the only logical explanation of what happened and what is still happening: and until you fucking dumbed down idiots wake up and realize this: you will continue to be the pawns of the undead until you die and become an undead slave to their further evil horror and undead filth.

Another example of this filthy toad's corrupt sick life was his lifelong addiction cigars, food and especially to alcohol. Churchill was a lifelong alcoholic. He had half a bottle of Scotch before he got out of bed… at 2 PM in the afternoon! During WW2 for lunch he generally had an entire bottle of champagne… and then a massive dose of brandy… and then conked out drunk on the couch. Keep in mind he went to sleep at 3 in the morning or at 6 in the morning so that what they called 'lunch' for Churchill was actually his fucking breakfast. When he woke up from his drugged dazed state after his second massive alcohol fix… he sipped whiskey mixed with water all fucking day until suppertime; glass after glass after glass, nonstop… then for supper he usually had another bottle of champagne and another massive dose of brandy… and then go on sipping his whiskey and soda for the rest of the fucking night.

Churchill was a lifelong drunken bum: He was a lifelong alcoholic: he got drunk every day and night of his life: he got drunk every day and every night during that evil filthy war, and after the war also… because it was the only way this insane toad of an evil filth could stomach the horror of what he was doing and had done and the only way this poisoned toad of the undead: this instrument of poisoned evil could exist with without committing suicide…

The only way he could live with himself was to drug himself with alcohol because he was being poisoned by the undead specters of his own ancestral undead filth; he poisoned and deadened himself so he wouldn't be aware of how much he was being poisoned by undead ghouls, so he wouldn't be aware of what he was actually doing… It was the only way the undead could keep their control over him. By keeping him addicted to alcohol, food, tobacco, and power they kept him deadened to all of his better instincts; this is how the undead work. Even more incredible, during the war his doctor prescribed cocaine lozenges for him. Not only was he drugged by alcohol, cigars, food, wine, power, war, killing, chaos… he was being kept drugged on a cocaine high: popping cocaine lozenges anytime he wanted more energy. This explains how his all-night dissolute lifestyle and his paranoia about being bombed. How this mixture of drugs did not kill him is a fucking miracle. It explains his heart attacks during the war. The undead had to keep him so drugged that he would never regain sanity and end the war: so he would never accept any of the 17 German peace proposals during the war. Both Churchill and Hitler had personal physicians to keep them poisoned and drugged throughout the war. Churchill's personal doctor had to prescribe sleeping potions just so he could conk out. He was drugged night and day by so many drugs mixed together it would have killed anyone else who didn't have the constitution of an ox.

Another telling exposure of how evil this sick toad actually is after losing the election and being forced out of power after the war, during a card game someone made a flippant remark about suicide to which Churchill savagely interrupted not to make fun of something like that… It turns out that after losing his fucking position as war leader and PM; he had become so despondent, so depressed that he couldn't go near a window or a railing for fear of flinging himself off the ledge and killing himself. This exposes the inner truth of what this undead evil thing was. He was so addicted to power that living without it was like trying to live without his brandy and champagne and cigars and the adulation of pretty young girls; in fact life without the ultimate drug of absolute power was not even worth living. Can anyone imagine this? No. The point is: only the most corrupt power-mongers even want power, and only the most evil filthy corrupt power-mongers attain power. Only living shells possessed by undead filth who are addicted to power, to the power over living human souls want that kind of power in politics. The point is: trying to understand Churchill's suicidal depression after the war was won cannot be understood by any human being that is not as evil and possessed by undead demons as this fat toad was. Any normal human being would have been ecstatic at the fighting and killing being over and being able to go back to enjoying their lives without being bombed and attacked every day. But Churchill was not human: he was a zombie drone:

which had been programmed for a mission of evil: and the instant that evil mission was over… the human part of that drone wanted to commit suicide because the iron undead will pushing it into committing abomination after abomination had been momentarily lifted… and suddenly the slave-soul had nothing left to live for because it was living for death: not for Life, it was living for war not for peace, it lived for power not for human equality and freedom; it lived for evil not for GOOD. If you had won a world war and were no longer Prime Minister and could play cards and drink champagne and brandy and be surrounded by pretty girls and be admired and worshipped and adored by everyone around you… would you want to jump off a ledge, or out of a window because you were no longer Prime Minister anymore!?? Or did he miss his cocaine lozenges?

Do you have any conception of how infantile, how maudlin this is? How full of shit it is? How self-pitying it is? How selfish and self-serving this is? How divorced from all reality it is? So now having time to spend with his family meant nothing at all to him? Fuck his children and his wife: he wanted to kill himself because he was the most spoiled rotten toad in England and if he couldn't be Prime Minister and the apple of everyone's eye and leading a huge war effort… why he didn't want to go on living any more! Gosh the poor little fucking baby… the poor little fucking ruthless, mass-murdering, callous, cold, arrogant reptile of a toad-baby…

This is what happens to you when you are given everything in your life without earning it; this is what happens to you when you never had to work for anything in your life. This is what happens to you when you have everything done for you by slaves, this is what happens to you when your toothpaste is squeezed out onto your toothbrush for you, so you never have to squeeze your own toothpaste. This is what happens when you develop such a egomaniacal, arrogant self-image of yourself as a god, as being above all humanity that nothing else matters but the ultimate power of social status and position. Is this something to be admired? No it is not. It is something to be reviled and despised. Why did Churchill so desperately need it? Because he had nothing else; because he was an empty shell, a walking zombie used by the undead.

Would you want to live like this rotten fat pig lived? Is the thing called 'Winston Churchill' a healthy living example of how the best of humanity should live?

No: he was not a healthy example of how to live; he was the worst Winston Churchill was the unhealthiest example of how to live in the British Empire. Just as the rotting crippled corpse called Roosevelt was the unhealthiest example of how to live in America… just as Stalin was the unhealthiest example of how to live in the Russian empire.

Yet the stinking propaganda machines of civilized evil continue to parade these three sick evil criminal monsters as 'great leaders' and these three things continue to be worshipped and idolized by every brainwashed imbecile in the western world.

This stupidity must be stopped

Another telling proof of how evil this fat pig was: was his total incompetence as a prime minister during WW2; his deputy minister Attlee was the actual intelligent decisive competent person who ran and managed the cabinet and made the decisions running the war effort… Churchill was merely the talking head: the figurehead of this evil foul snake of imperial rotten filth that had been taken over by the Jewish Zionist banking mafia. Churchill's lazy bumbling procrastination in making any decision and Attlee's crisp decisiveness is incisively described by the undersecretary who served under both of these men and proof that all conventional history is a pack of lies.

Another example of the rotten incompetent stupidity of this arrogant racist brutalized fat toad was his interference in the military running of the war from the beginning, until finally the Americans and Eisenhower wrested all military decisions out of his hands and kept him out of the loop, as it were; not feeding him any information.

But this did not stop him from trying to fuckup everything at the last moment… no sir… just before D-Day when all the plans had been laid… that arrogant prick came up with an alternative to the landings in Normandy… the undead shit hiding inside him: that fucking 'Duke of Marlborough' was still hankering to re-live his 300 year-old military escapades in Europe. He wanted the allied forced to land in Spain! Not in Normandy. This proved the ultimate provocation for the chief of the imperial general staff Alan Brook. Brook would brook no more interference in the war effort anymore by this fucking incompetent toad. Churchill wanted the allies to invade Europe by invading Spain and then southern France instead of Normandy! The next morning Churchill adverted to his plan and Brook began a factual, faultless logical analysis of all the cons against Churchill's madcap idea; destroying Churchill's entire idea point by point, coldly and efficiently… and after he was finished: he looked at Churchill and said: "Now Prime Minister: I'm going to tell you what I think about your wasting of the time of my staff on absurd and irresponsible irrelevancies of this kind… at a time when we are trying to conduct the invasion according to principles which we have all… you not least… have established and agreed upon for some time…" and continued to rebuke Churchill and his stupid plan and his meddling until the fat toad was completely humiliated in front of the entire staff.

Did this bother Churchill? What? After being reviled and rebuked all his fucking life by his own father and mother and all the boys and teachers of Harrows where he suffered all the harrowing experiences of being beaten and all the other abuse he had suffered throughout his evil damaged life? It didn't bother him one fucking bit; he was used to abuse; he was an insensitive toad.. Brutality was normal for him. That was how brutal, unfeeling and evil he had become and was.

Another example of how totally the evil, stupid and disgusting the British system of fucking 'monarchy' and 'nationalism' is was Churchill's addiction for notoriety and attention and fame. He decided if he couldn't fuckup the plans for D-Day then maybe he could get some propaganda shit press coverage by going himself personally to witness the invasion. Eisenhower became furious with that interfering fat jackass and refused to allow him on any ship in the invasion force. Churchill impudently and arrogantly claimed his right to being on board a ship of the Royal Navy which was not under the direct command of the American general. The king heard of this and decided that he wanted to go also. "I was a naval office dammit; if Winston can damn well go then I can also..."

The king finally told Churchill; "Look if you go… I go…" to which Winston responded in his fucking act of humble dutiful servant of British servility to this aristocratic token of royalty; "It's much to dangerous for you, your royal highness.' The king replied 'Look: if it's too dangerous for me then it's too dangerous for you and you're more important for this war than I am." This stopped the asshole from going for exactly 6 days. He finally managed to persuade the king to allow him to cross the channel for a brief visit to Montgomery's headquarters. None of the generals liked this because if Churchill had been killed on their watch they would have been in deep trouble. They detested that toad's interfering meddling tactic of making himself a continual nuisance underfoot which was how that fucking ass behaved his entire life.

This episode in Churchill's life underlines the basic evil stupidity of all monarchical privilege and authoritative power. The assumption that the head of state must be preserved and protected… at the cost and regardless of the cost of all the millions of worthless slaves being exploited and used by the state… the fucking king must not be killed! The fucking prime minster must not be killed!

All the other motherfuckers can be killed dead
De're not da rulers: Fuck dem… dey don't count
What counts is keeping da head of da state safe
While all da udders are bombed and die
Now dats a real intelligent fucking way of national pride; ignoring the value of human life! The lives of millions of people mean nothing!

The exact same insanity was being enacted on the German side… it didn't fucking matter if ten million or all the 70 million Germans were killed dead dey don't count… what was really fucking 'important was keeping da fucking Fuehrer safe from all harm! Now dat's a real fucking intelligent way of preserving da German super race so day can dominate and conquer da whole wide world!

The same insanity was going on in the Russian empire… it didn't matter how many millions of Russians were killed and died of cold hunger starvation brutality, disease, war, waddever… Who cares… nobody… more fodder for da war machine… lets kill as many fucking stupid subhuman slaves as we can! As long as da fuckin Stalin wasn't killed dead… dats wad matters in war!

They don't notice the illogical fallacy embedded in their fucking cultural 'national' brainwashing. They're much too fucking stupid to refuse to obey their fucking authority figures.

And so the millions of fucking Russian subhuman slaves and German subhuman slaves and English subhuman slaves and American subhuman slaves went on a killing spree that lasted for five fucking years… and nobody noticed that by doing these horrible things to each other; they were doing it to themselves… they were being permanently dehumanized, down into even lower levels of brainwashed stupidity, corruption, servility, slavery and evil. As they died in the millions, to protect the very masters who sent them to their fucking deaths and condemned them to die at the hands of other subhuman slaves… when all these fucking imbeciles had to do to stop the madness was to shoot their masters dead: shoot Hitler Churchill Stalin and Roosevelt Dead… and your fucking troubles are over. Recognize who the war mongers are and kill them dead. End result: PEACE; no war.

The killing of those four rotten assholes would have saved the lives of 50 million human beings who were a million times healthier and more deserving of life than these mass murderers. But nooo! The farce of undead shit controlling living humans without any of them being aware they are being controlled continues to this day. When will the human species wake up and realize what is being done to them? If you don't then you are fucked.

The insanity of nationalism and the blind obedience to authority pre-empting the value of human life has already been demonstrated in two world wars. The insanity of capitalist mass manufacturing industrialized civilization placing the value of human life above all other forms of life on earth has already been demonstrated by the destruction of eco-systems and the systematic pollution and degradation of all human environments all over the world.

Has this stopped the human species from repeating its past mistakes and idiocies? No…. Why not you motherfuckers? Ask yourselves why you are supporting and abetting what you already know is evil. Ask yourselves why the most evil people in the world always organize themselves better than any decent honest motive in human souls which is not evil. What is stopping all decent human slaves from organizing yourselves against the top elite who own and control you and who you know are evil?

Another filthy example of the pure evil of Churchill was his famous 'naughty document' where Churchill and Stalin carved up Europe: between them behind closed doors, with Churchill giving most of Europe to Stalin. The 'naughty document' a small piece of paper which Churchill had personally written in his sloppy almost illegible script and handed it to Stalin nonchalantly in public, with everyone watching… on the paper was written a list dividing 5 European countries into political 'spheres of influence'… Stalin took the paper: looked at it: it was quite clear as to how the two had agreed to carve up Europe after the war and handed it back to Churchill without comment… Nervously, Churchill finally said to Stalin:. "Maybe we should destroy this paper… because people will later think how easily and cynically we decided the fate of millions of people."

Stalin replied with complete indifference… "No… it's your paper, since someone in London is thinking about that, why should you destroy it? Just take it away with you."

First the fact that Stalin's power came from the point of a gun and not from public opinion made him despise the western scum for his fear and guilt of being discovered. Stalin's masses were sealed off from the western corruption of mass media and corporate robber barons. He wasn't worried about any news coming from Yalta into his empire that would reveal his true nature. He had 100% control over the media of the Russian empire: Churchill did not have that kind of power. He was forced to play a 2-faced role: one for the cameras, and the other face to be kept hidden from the western press. In this tiny personal exchange between these two diseased evil sick monsters; these mass murderers, these despots and dictators of eastern and western civilization, an entire world of hidden evil is finally revealed by Stalin's cryptic comment:

" Someone in London"

Stalin as a Russian Jew recognized the lurking hidden evil power of the Jewish master who controlled Churchill; and knew Churchill for what he was; a little terrified obedient mouse under the thumb of Rothschild: Stalin knew Rothschild held that little fat toad's balls in his hands and could crush him any time he wished if he were so disposed to. That was his indirect cryptic reference to "someone in London" That meant the City of London; which was still the financial capital of the world and the man who owned and controlled that inner city, and that meant the owner of the bank of England who controlled that entire financial capital of the world, which was the Rothschild dynasty of filth sick greedy Jews who had been in control of capitalism long before the Bolsheviks had wrenched power from them in Russia when they were being funded and aided by the Jewish capitalist scum of the west who sent envoys with millions of dollars to the Reds and sent convoys of ships to Russia and organized the rebuilding of their factories of mass death and basically organized and built the base of Stalin's entire 'industrial revolution' for Stalin… thinking to takeover Russia in the cunning plan to put him under their sway as they had systematically done to all the other western nationalized powers…

What they the western Jewish banking mafia had not anticipated was that they were dealing with another Jew: not with a non-Jew, as they had with all their other successful secret sly takeovers of the national banks and economies and nations… In Stalin they met their match in cynical cunning evil and ruthlessness… however what Stalin lacked was the longevity of the western Jewish banking mafia… they had set up their systematic plans for the takeover of the entire world on a long time-perspective which spanned generations. Stalin's greedy grab for power was a short-lived affair. Stalin had no interest in who would come after him to preserve and expand the Russian empire he had stolen from Lenin by poisoning him to death: he was a Jewish criminal murdering thug who was only interested in his own evil life and nothing further. The western Jewish criminals had a dynastic culture that was based upon thousands of years of cunningly gaining power and wealth and building up a Jewish population of lower class slaves in the attempt to insert themselves as masters of the lands they invaded and infiltrated… slowly… cunningly entering the most corrupt professions and occupations possible… which is to say the most crucial positions of power in every society. All the western Jews did to Stalin was place an embargo on trade, isolate his empire from the rest of the world and outwait him… until the isolated thing that was a huge part of the world in fact the largest empire on earth… died of isolation, of loneliness, it died of neglect, by being cut off from the rest of the world.

If you want to understand the existence of undead ghouls: compare the lives of Ivan the Terrible the first Tsar of Russia and Stalin… they are virtually the same. They are so eerily similar that the only difference is the different levels of technology which existed in these two historical time frames. Stalin's son; his heir was killed. So was Ivan's son. Ivan invented the use of the secret police to terrorize his entire realm. So did Stalin. After Ivan's first wife died he became an inhuman monster. So did Stalin. Ivan murdered killed own people; so did Stalin. The undead ghouls who poisoned the Life of Ivan the Terrible were the exact same undead ghouls who put Stalin into power and poisoned him. This is true not just of Stalin and Ivan the Terrible but of all living humans. All living people are infected and poisoned by the undead.

Then there is the coffin nail of Churchill's and the British empire's role; and their guilt in creating a World War out of nothing: using the 'defense' of Polish national sovereignty as the excuse to start World War. Having already conceded the eastern part of Poland to Stalin before the war had ended… Churchill then allowed Stalin to take over all of Poland… and there that fat motherfucker sat: having lost his token excuse for starting WW2 after fighting the wrong dictator: after demonizing the wrong man and the wrong race and the wrong nation and the wrong culture… after spreading filthy propaganda lies about Germany and Hitler and the Nazis all over the world… and then watched Stalin coldly take over more than half of Europe in one gulp of pure territorial greed and ruthlessness that made his level of aristocratic ruthlessness look like a laughingstock compared to Stalin's…. The miscarriage of his birth and the miscarriages of his entire life had finally led up to the pinnacle of the miscarriage of Justice, Fate, Karma, Sanity and Humanity in the miscarriage of WW2

That drunken fat fucker had backed the wrong race. He had backed Jews against Anglo-Saxons of his own blood. He had betrayed his own English heritage; the Jewish blood in his ancestry had poisoned him completely while the English undead rot had been neatly used and cast aside whenever it was not convenient for the massive undead evil hidden in the world. He had betrayed the human species on so many levels and in so many ways: his list of fuckups had mounted to such an enormous monstrous incalculable level of evil that no human brain can grasp it or even realize what this thing, that had once been an innocent baby, had been twisted into. And to cap it off,: his one token lie which he had desperately tried to save in order to save his own face from shame every time he looked in mirror and saw nothing but the raw stupidity of a British bulldog: the stupidest animal on earth and the ugliest… the one thing he tried to save: the nation of Poland from the grasp of the evil totalitarian Bolshevik Russian Jew Stalin, was swept away from him and he had nothing left to be proud of anymore. The instant the World War ended he was voted out of office. Nobody in their right minds in England wanted that colossal fuck-up, that arrogant colossal boorish thug in power during peacetime. Did this stop that fat toad of a monster? No. Instead he tried to use his own fuckup as a lever to get himself back into power… warning the world all over again for the 3rd time on his rotten war-mongering political career about the need to prepare for war all over again! Ranting about the dangers of Bolshevik Russian evil instead of Nazi evil! Er… you know: the friendly 'uncle' Stalin whom he had been becoming fast 'friends' with at the end of WW2 and liking him more and more?... Somehow clashes with this last bit of bullshit this British shit took on as his 3rd religious crusade of war-monger extraordinaire. But this time the Jewish bankers were not funding him anymore and the Americans didn't care what this fat fuckup did or said: since they had gotten their pound of flesh and the British Empire was an empty shell stripped of everything it had once represented by the Americans and FDR's concerted conspiracy to destroy it. Churchill the great fucking war-monger… that is until Stalin cold-shouldered him after taking all he could get and told the Americans to go fuck themselves. Ah, the ungratefulness of thieves; each one trying to grab for as much power and world domination as they can. Each empire pointing the finger of blame at the other. The farce of the good and the bad and the ugly and the stupid: being used to kill and destroy all the Beauty of the Living Earth, used to kill every beautiful inner soul and every beautiful living body until the entire human species becomes a morass of ugliness and corruption.

Churchill managed to scrape his way one last time back into power in England and ruined the British postwar recovery for sure so Britain would never recover from the evil this traitorous monster had done to his own people and his own class and his own govt and his own empire…

What about Churchill's own personal realization and rationalization of the fuckup he was personally responsible for? His own father had predicted his future as a wastrel long before he was ever elected into office with his mother's help as a politician. He failed to mention this faux pas to the rest of the 'free world' which actually was not free: because it had been under the thumb of the Jewish mafia criminals of the Rothschilds for a century before WW1 had been orchestrated by them to increase their power and world domination… He, that fat filthy fucking toad failed to mention his colossal fuckup for the simple reason that the Jewish bankers of England owned him: they owned his filthy rotten traitorous arrogant racist bigoted scum-ridden soul, and he could not afford to let the world know of this: otherwise his fucking worldwide 'fame' as the Winston; the 'winner' of World War Two would be forever blemished with the inconvenient ugly truth that he had been only a minor pawn in the biggest evil power-grab undertaking on earth: and that he had been duped and fooled not only by Stalin but by Roosevelt also… that these two scoundrels had neatly edged the British empire and all of its power and prestige and former glory out of existence… and left Churchill holding a bag of shit: a destroyed England, a destroyed Europe and a destroyed world and a terrorized insane mass of subhuman slaves who still didn't realize or understand how easily they had been brainwashed into killing each other by the millions in order to keep the fucking upper crust of Churchill's class still in power. No… that fat motherfucking thing did not say one word of this realization. His brutalized selfishness did not care one fucking bit for the rest of the world he had destroyed or the ugliness he had created and the living beauty he had destroyed forever. The same can be said for the reptilian dinosaurs. They had not cared on fig for the living beauty they had destroyed and in the end they were destroyed along with everything else they had destroyed. The machinery of industrialized human civilization that these three monsters represented: FDR, Stalin and Churchill destroyed more living beauty than all the reptiles that ever lived put together and does any civilized fart care about it like I do? No.

At the last conference in Yalta when Roosevelt told Churchill in no uncertain terms he didn't care one fig what happed to Eastern Europe or Poland and Stalin was given the lion's share of the spoils due to his massive military machine and the bloody destruction fought on the eastern front which made the western front look like a tea party, Churchill told his daughter:

"Tonight, the sun goes down on more suffering now than ever in the world."

What he predicted came true. The Jewish regime of Stalin and his massive evil effect on the world at large killed more people, starved more people to death, created more human suffering than all the horrors of the WW2 combined. The spread of the evil ethnic racist poison of Jewish Bolshevik Leninist Marxism into red China; killed and starved to death and murdered and raped and spread hatred and terror even more millions of subhuman lives than Stalin's original Jewish seed of mass inhumanity and Bolshevik Jewish brand of systematic mass impoverishment, bestiality and cruelty, sadism did. After Churchill; that evil fiend Stalin was personally responsible for the suffering and death of many more millions after WW2… but it was Churchill who had saved him from the Germans; without Churchill's aid and his getting America into the war: the Bolshevik regime of Stalinist Russia would have been wiped out by Hitler. That was what Churchill did.

Only at the ending of the war did Churchill belatedly realize his mistake, and then he couldn't do anything to stop what he had set into motion and worked for all his life: the total destruction of the healthiest most humane human ethnic culture and race in the world… Then he realized he was personally responsible for the future suffering and death of untold billions of people, and all he could do was confess his own guilt secretly to his own daughter… while keeping the horrible truth from everyone else because he did not want to lose his fucking 'fame', as a false mythic figure for posterity, as a poison filled fraud and lie to brainwash billions of future generations of subhuman slaves about 'winning' a war which he created so he could 'win' it. Winston: get it?

Again… you need to remember that everything Churchill did always turned out to be a miscarriage of Life and a miscarriage of Justice. The entire life of that evil toad was a miscarriage of Life and Justice. Everything he said was a bunch of misinformation, lies and bullshit. Churchill literally created, invented the worst possible scenario and then made that imagined evil happen as a miscarriage of Fate, as a miscarriage of the worst possible Future because he had the entire realm of the undead slaving away to help make it happen. This is why all undead must be killed dead: killed with extreme prejudice.

Now… try to explain just how this alcoholic sick, twisted dwarf of an imbecile at Yalta managed to have the insight and perspective to see the future consequences of his own horrible blunder in demonizing and attacking the wrong empire, the wrong nation the wrong people the wrong leader, the wrong ethnic race… and yet how he failed to see or feel any shred of guilt or responsibility about his hand in this er… unforeseen fate of the lower classes of mankind… Not the upper classes. Oops: let the cat out of the bag already, have I? Oh well… yes it is true. Winston Churchill had been a class racist all of his life. Every fucking populist speech he gave in his whole lying shit-filled life was merely a rhetorical weapon used in the professional lie-arsenal. No different from any other professional liar except he wrote better speeches, he was a better writer than most politicians and a far more cunning liar and propagandist.

How could such a moron become so eloquent a writer? By the undead infusing themselves into his aura until he became a mouthpiece for them; that's how, so they spoke through him: using him like a microphone, a tool: that's how. This is what the undead do to living people: they slowly take over their mind, will and body until they become completely possessed and controlled by undead evil. Once you understand that this systematic process of corruption happens to nearly all living people you will understand why the human species has always been evil since its inception.

Try to explain this blind spot of perception in his awareness… the explanation of his English aristocratic upbringing and racist arrogance towards all the rest of mankind and the fact that he had sold all his scruples and his soul a long time ago to the highest satanic Jewish power of the Rothschild bankers of the City of London still cannot explain it.

A sociopathic compartmentalized mind; lacking all social and personal conscience, capable of divorcing itself from its other parts, refusing to understand itself and look at itself as an integrated totality; playing its cunning compartmentalized roles and bit-parts still cannot explain it…

A compendium of undead ghouls hiding secretly inside the body of Winston Churchill, who had long ago choked off the pitiful weak dying whimpers of a child in need of being loved and slowly killed off the living soul of that physical body and replaced the original motives of the empty husk with a multiple-personality complex of undead motives; who once achieving their mission leave the living body… and with them also leaves the deep, inner, single-minded, maniacal drive to destroy Hitler and Germany once the job is finished and done? And once the evil is done, he realizes he fought the wrong enemy, but feels no guilt about it and begins ranting about the Evils of the Soviets and Stalin… And the whole fucking world fails to notice that it was he who made the blunder in the first place, and it was he who helped Stalin take over half of Europe? This makes no human sense whatsoever unless you understand how subtly the evils of the undead work.

The single ghoul of the undead mind controlling the living mind as a single minded, a single mind, dead to the world it lives in… a single mind that is dead and feels no human emotion. A single dead mind… A single-minded obsession to conquer or die, channeling all of the brutalized dehumanized desensitized twisted ugly deformed life energy of that sick, dying, diseased, barely alive, rotten shell of a man: a shrunken 5 ft dwarf-man inside a boy's weak body; controlled by an invisible persona that has synchronized its aura with the life-aura of the living shell so that the shell cannot tell any difference between its will and the stronger will of the undead force bending it to its secret wishes and agenda…? Now that begins to explain it…

Another point is, to look into the life of someone like Winston Churchill and dimly understand how the systematic, ongoing damaging, poisoning, corrupting, weakening and twisting and deforming of an innocent baby before it is even born… born into one of the most corrupt, evil, corrupt, coldly inhuman aristocratic families in all of England… how the undead beat him like a drum, dehumanized him, brutalized him, starved him of all love, twisted and deformed him into the brutal, unfeeling, crazed, drugged, twisted monster he finally became… how they secretly instilled into his mind a programmed unquestioning obedience to higher authority of class racism which they used to make him selectively obey his uncle when ordered to propose marriage, and obey Baron Rothschild when ordered to act as the secret agent of destruction against the German Nazi Hitler, and disregard his own inner true self, and selectively take as his living examples, his ideal of how to live, his basic ideology: the most horrible selfish, dominating, cruel, inhuman scum on earth. Winston Churchill had been brainwashed into taking orders and carrying out his orders faithfully. His stint in the army in India was the happiest time of his life and the most formative of his adolescent/adult persona. Whoever owned and controlled the wealth of the British Empire, the Bank of England, and was a personal friend of the king and had bought him and saved him from bankruptcy in his years of obscurity cast out of favor in the wilderness. That authority as far as he was concerned represented the British Empire's wishes more closely than any political party or political agenda.

Another telling thing about the Yalta conference was the incredible selfish callousness and cynical behavior of all three supposed 'allies'. Even before the war is won, it becomes crystal clear that these stinking evil assholes were not friends at all; they never were, in fact all of them were enemies of each other. They had only come together each for their own personal selfish reasons, and the instant it suited their purpose they broke their fucking supposed sacred official agreements almost before they were signed, and thumbed their noses at each other and dared each other to do anything about it, saying

"Nyaa-nya, nya-nya nyaaa… What are you going to do about it… start another World War by using another excuse to destroy the entire world again? Gonna bomb da whole world with Atomic bombs now?" The entire world had already had its bellyful of war and killing and death and betrayal.

This first exposes the double standard of the entire Churchillian rationale behind his fucking bullshit propaganda justification for inventing a world war out of thin air… Germany's horrible! Hitler's Awful! Unforgivable! Terrible! Dangerous! World catastrophic! Breaking of a secret international treaty between Poland and England? How fucking flimsy can you get? Not only that: breaking a treaty which Germany had never agreed to. And had never been asked to agree to. How many fucking treaties have been broken in history? All of them. So every treaty that was ever broken was a good excuse to start a world war? Is any treaty by any govt worth the paper it is printed on? Treaties are used to advance evil and destroy GOOD: that is all they are used for.

England and France invading Belgium before Hitler invaded France? Pah. A mere technicality. Not even worth debating or even talking about. So what; big deal… the two capitalist European powers started the war against Hitler and Germany, so what? What was important was that their propaganda had worked and the German's didn't: that's all. They had better propaganda and better brainwashing systems in place: that's all. The only thing Hitler and the Nazis had on their side was more honesty mixed up with hate and lies. The capitalists had pure bullshit mixed with sweeter tasting lies, more attractive lies, more cunning lies. It had managed to brainwash their masses in a very short period of time, which allowed a few powerful heads of state an excuse to pursue their hidden secret agendas.

What's that? Poland?... Committing genocide against innocent German people? What? Naaaa… never heard of it… if I didn't hear of it, it didn't happen. If it wasn't blared on western movie screens as official propaganda it's not true. Let's move on to the biggest propaganda lies of WW2. Bury the actual truth, bury the past and focus on the false lie of Germans committing genocide on Jews. Now there's a pretty bauble of bullshit to hang you hat on. 60 years of a monstrous racist lie, turning into a racist myth, turning into a religion of racism, turning into racist politically correct laws against free speech, turning into racist witch hunts, turning into a racist inquisition who dares question this myth, turning into racist Jews becoming the new roman citizens of the world: an elite special class of racist scum who can commit any crimes they want with impunity and never have to worry about being found guilty of anything because they are and have been the worst racist evil hating scum of mankind for thousands of years! It makes sense: doesn't it? All Jews in the world are now by unspoken agreement racially innocent of any crime they commit due to their race, regardless how guilty they are. Now there is a taboo, an unspoken truth which is not allowed to be spoken! Allowing the racist domination and control and takeover of the richest civilization in the world by a small racist Zionist Rothschild Jewish banking mafia of criminals who cannot be accused of being criminals because of their race… what a neat swindle!

The Yalta conference of the big three thugs: the three criminals uncovered the hidden secret agendas of the three criminal empires. Three puppets of the undead. It uncovered that they were pursuing goals independent of each other. The only reason they had managed to stay together was that their hidden agendas and goals did not directly conflict with each other, while their No.1 goal remained the destruction of the healthiest western Christian industrialized race and culture which was threatening to destroy the other more evil ones.
WW2 was a racial war, a cultural war, a war of greater evil against lesser evil, a war of which side had the best propaganda, which side was more brainwashed, which side was the best at hiding its secret agendas from the other, which side was better at raping the resources of the world, which side had more oil, which side had more weapons of mass destruction, which side has better weapons of mass distraction, which side was more brutal, which side was more inhuman, which side was more destructive, which side was more evil: and inside the negative medium of civilization, the more negative side always wins out over the less negative side. The ones who hate more win over the ones who hate less. The ones who are greedier win over the ones who are less greedy. As it has been for untold thousands of years and will be until civilization is destroyed forever. As Yalta revealed, it turned out that the big three had completely different objectives in pursuing the war: they were pursuing three completely different goals.

No 1: the Rothschild Jewish bought and controlled puppet Churchill was pursuing a racial war of hatred against Hitler and Germany and the setting up of a Jewish Zionist criminal state that was not in a 3rd world country, but a resurgence of the first Zionist racist state of Israel, a backwards regression into the Jewish Hebrew undead past so they could pick up more undead support for their goals and secret hidden conspiracies and agendas. All to protect the hidden Jewish banking mafia scum now embedded inside the British system of aristocratic power, privilege and wealth… and enrich themselves even more a thousand times over.

No 2: the American dying cripple-inna-wheelchair…! I mean really… how many cripples inna wheelchair about to die in 6 weeks get to be worshipped as the most powerful wise leader of their shit-filled country? His main goal was to destroy the British Empire and strip it of all its lucrative trade contacts in a capitalist agenda of oil and corporate profiteers establishing their oligarchic monopolies of corporate power and wealth through international trade deals and secret arrangements done behind closed doors; thus gaining themselves an international empire, without suffering the huge cost of war or military conquest, a shadow empire of secrecy and corporate greed, avarice and wealth. Corporations are a larger body of undead corpses. Corporations have in common the exact same corruptions as undead corpses; they are controlled and used and manipulated by undead corpses. The greater majority of the realm of the undead of rotting corpses corrupts Mankind yet again.

No3: was the most brutal: territorial acquisition and raw power by the lowest class of criminal Jews in Russia… plus the racial hatred against a superior race that was more human than they were. Vast sweeps of Asia and Europe under the absolute power of a Jewish Yahweh, a Jewish madman more vengeful than Genghis Khan, posing as a lovable uncle, a father figure of pure hate and malevolent evil… which just so happens to be the exacts same image portrayed by the Hebrew deity in the Old and New Testament of the Jewish and Christian Bible: gosh… wadda coincidence.. A military totalitarian state of the crudest most inept brainwashing techniques ever invented by the most ruthless Jewish lower class murderers and back stabbers ever born; a copy of the two-faced Jewish Gods invented and developed 1,000's of years ago; an insane Roman Janus.

Cunning racist Jews conspiring so the stupid less cunning less corrupt Christians will kill each other by the millions and destroy each other… while the more evil Jews escape unharmed and increase their evil seed and populate the earth tenfold to cover it with their scum. Jewish NKVD machine gun squads making sure the Christian Russian peasant armies of Stalin fight and kill other Christians, while they the Jews escape scot free safe from all harm to terrorize the rest of the remaining slaves of Stalin's totalitarian empire. A 2 thousand year-old racial war of Hebrew racism and hatred; Hebrew religious sects trying to exterminate each other. The crucifixion of Christ re-enacted as punishment for being the lesser of two evils inside a negative civilized system which only allows the most evil to prevail. The older the hate the more powerful it is. Only instead of one Jewish Christ being crucified, it is millions of crucified Christians being killed, not knowing why they are being persecuted and by whom. Gosh, wadda coincidence. The preservation of hate and religious racism by the undead controlling human lives. That's what organized religion is all about. Now the Muslim-Christian-Jewish religious wars begin to be recreated in earnest in the Middle East. You mean the undead who fought and killed and hated each other in those regions for thousands of years might have something to do with this? Gosh… wadda coincidence.

Oops: the ultimate goal of these racist undead Hebraic ghouls has been an open secret for thousands of years…written down in their own religious texts… their hidden secret agenda of being the 'chosen race' has been part of their public propaganda shit for thousands of years, and has been a prediction… which is now at last finally coming true. Gee: so the historical past does explain the historical present and there is no mystery after all… just more human blindness, more misery, more hate, mores stupidity, more evil etc, etc, ad-vomit. Committed by evil undead things that need to be exterminated; and their agents in the realm of the Living also.

Now it becomes crystal clear how these undead criminal filth work; they cooperate with each other…. The more cunning evil filth get the less cunning undead filth to cooperate with them by giving them what they want… in the case of Winston Churchill's dynastic undead ancestors: it was a nice country estate where they could loll about in royal luxury by artificially made lakes so they could admire the artificial landscape of their artificial fantasies, as they once had when they were alive.

What…? World domination? Who gives a fuck about that? Let those Jewish undead racist imbeciles waste their time with preserving their racial hatred and feuds; the undead of Winston Churchill preferred the luxury and ease of lolling about in his country estate to the constant conspiring and hating and killing of the other ghouls. All they cared about was corrupting their own progeny so he won't be strong enough when they pass into the realm of the undead to kill them for what they did to him. That was their personal ancestral agenda of their living children and always has been. As for the Hebrew undead, we English undead outnumber them as a race anyways… we can topple them any time if we decide to…

Oops. Maybe not... Maybe the pen is mightier than the sword: maybe brains does beat brawn… maybe the best liars and swindlers win over the best thugs and rapists, maybe the most active undead haters win out over the most lazy inactive undead slobs, maybe the best active brainwashers and swindlers and liars win out over the inactive watchers, the undead spectating masses who take no part in this mass of conspiring hatreds and ancient feuds and rivalries and become brainwashed imbeciles. Maybe the best haters win only in an environment of hate… called civilization. Maybe the Realm of the undead is pure negative anti-life evil.

The other telling final explanation of how Churchill's own undead had twisted his rotten soul into committing the unspeakable evil he had done is another encounter

After losing power immediately after winning the war he sat down at his usual chair at the cabinet table and his shorthand secretary sat down at his usual chair directly opposite Churchill… And then that fat motherfucking maudlin piece of shit… that self-pitying piece of self-serving asshole begins to reminisce! With an underling whom he… like all servants and underlings of his filthy inhuman life treated like dirt, like shit… ignored, abused, used… and then suddenly out of power, he suddenly begins now that he is out of office… starts talking to this little robotic slave/servant of a servile mouse of a man on a personal level… as if he was Churchill's equal! And begins nostalgically talking about the perilous dangerous trips he had taken together with his slave whom he had never once spoken to except using him as a tape recorder: as a machine… talking about the war and all the places 'both' of them had visited and the outcome of the war… and then he said mournfully:

"And now the British people don't want me anymore."

As tears began 'rolling down his fucking fat blubber cheeks. And that little fucking mouse of a slave to the British aristocracy confesses that tears began to troll down his cheeks as well. Boo-fucking-hoo.

NOW: finally one crucial factor of this toad's deprived rotten sick unhappy life can be explained. What Churchill had been twisted into… what he had been deluded into by his own undead evil filthy ancestors… was something called 'emotional tokenism'. Replacing one authority figure with another. His early infantile child's yearning for love from his mother had been cut off and shunted into a need for the people of England to love him! Can you believe this shit? Since he had never received any 'love' from his cold heartless turd of a mother: he develops this need to be loved by a faceless mob of people called the English voters. In other words: this sick emotionally twisted piece of shit: the reason he was motivated all his deprived life to fight for notoriety, attention, public office, public recognition, political office political recognition, being accepted and recognized as the Prime fucking minister of fucking Britain!... was because his mommy didn't love him when he was little. Instead, he had a fucking nanny that loved him called Mrs. Everest… but that love wasn't worth anything. Because that love wasn't the 'love' of his upper class turd of a 'mother'… That was Lower class 'love' which in Churchill's eyes was worthless And so in some sick twisted unfathomable way: everything this fat asshole did: every horrible evil and sin he committed was for love? His unrequited yearning to be 'loved' by a piece of shit that did not know what love was? Give me a fucking break.

AND! Even further into this sick morass of evil: anyone unsnarling this crap is supposed to feel sympathy for this weak self-pitying piece of shit, who can't endure the 'rejection' he 'suffers' when the 'people of England' 'Don't want him anymore'… "Waaaaa! Waaaaa! Mommy! Waaaaa!"

An arrested infantile baby: emotionally frozen in a perpetual wailing for love that it was never given. Oh the poor little fucking rich boy…
What is not mentioned … is that for thousand of years… hundreds and millions and billions of human babies who were not rich, and not spoiled rotten, and not born into the lap of privilege and luxury also have been born into families that never loved them.

What is not mentioned in this story is the fact that uncounted billions of human babies have suffered trauma, pain, horror, death, hate, rape, burned alive, skewered alive, their brains bashed in, starved to death, beaten, raped, sodomized, tortured to death, degraded, used, terrorized and SUFFERED a million billion times more pain and unhappiness than this fucking shit ever did in his whole fucking upper class infancy, childhood and life.

But one isn't supposed to VALUE the suffering of lower class children! Nooo! One is only to feel sympathy for this, this THING, this professional liar cheat, fraud, traitor, mass murderer, forger… this arrogant racist, this CLASS racist pig, this drug addict; this poisoned drunken cigar smoking brandy swilling fat shit; this selfish toad of a reptile, this brutal unfeeling inconsiderate smug stupid arrogant jackass… because da people of England didn't want him anymore! 'Mommy, Waaaaaaa!'

If I could have killed him before he was ever elected into Parliament. If I could have gotten my hands on him and killed him dead before he ever was twisted by his own undead to become the monster that he became. If I could have killed him with my bare hands and felt his blood spurt out from between my fingers… I would have felt so good, so satisfied, so positively happy knowing that I had exterminated one of the most foul forms of hidden evils on Earth, I would have carried that satisfaction with me for YEARS.

Then there his final last gasp of evil: getting back into power as PM in 1951-55, in his most senile rotten old age; his most useless deaf, mindless drunken state of corruption… placed there only for one reason alone: which was to CHECK the career of his deputy, the young Anthony Eden… making sure that NO Eden would blossom ever again in England, making sure that Eden's career as the next PM was blocked for years and years out of pure piggish greed, piggish swinish stubbornness, out of pure meanness out of pure selfishness, using his mythical reputation as the winner of WW2, milking every last drop out of his popularity with the British subhuman masses, just to make sure that no intelligent national socialist reform would ever succeed in Britain. Calling all socialists a Gestapo, Nazi's, evil! The German brilliant practical social planning of National Socialism which Churchill had destroyed must be poisoned beyond recognition and never be allowed to happen again. Just like the human need for community, for living in a close knit community of trusted friends must never be allowed to happen by vilifying the name of all communal happiness and sticking the name commune onto the totalitarian Stalinist mass murderers who had killed off all the communes and small self-sufficient communities of Tsarist Russia: The undead are forever at work reversing the truth so no human will ever grow up and become intelligent enough to cast off the civilized shit of undead brainwashing and live as they were designed to live: in small self-sufficient communities.

Churchill's last years in power was a fable: a fairytale: a false bullshit act of a fraud acting out one of the oldest stupidest sins of Man from Aesop's Tale about 'The Dog in the Manger'… A stupid ugly British bulldog hanging on for dear life to power: out of pure spite and meanness, long after he had lost all of his faculties. His entire life was a charted-out compendium of mythic figures and legends. He acted out the story of Toad in 'The Wind in the Willows'. In fact his personality was a merged compendium of all the animal personalities of Toad, Rat, Mole, Badger, the stoats and weasels all put together into one fat rotten, evil mush. Not only this: he was a compendium, a mélange of the worst, most negative aspects of all these fictional personalities without any of their positive aspects. Churchill had been twisted and deformed by the undead into the perfect negative English mythic figure which the British brainwashed masses would mindlessly obey and believe in. He was sold first to the British masses and then secondly to the world at large by the Jewish owned British and American Jewish-owned press as a champion of freedom and the savior of democracy. But he could only be loved at a great distance. Everyone who came close to him found this out and had to keep their mouths shut about what he was really like or be vilified by the masses and their careers destroyed and their names blackened by the Jewish mafia.

The undead poisoned Winston so cunningly that he became an abomination of what they should have been, could have been, his entire life was poisoned, he become a negative template of 2-dimensional mythical, unreal fictional characters in a child's fairytale, overlaid, imprinted, programmed on top of the infant baby at birth, and then further embedded until the true personality is buried. He was a mixture of Scrooge, Cratchet, and Tiny Tim all rolled up into one; without any of the 'good' spirits of Xmas past, present or future; there are no such things except in fiction; all undead spirits are evil.

Churchill acted out the story of 'Puck' in Shakespeare's plays with his puckish smile; posing as the imp from Hell, the malevolent troublemaker of English mythology. Pissing on Hitler's Siegfried Line defenses with a bunch of cackling Jews beside him, pissing on the German lack of the sense of 'humor'. Pissing on every worthwhile, good, decent human value of Germanic culture. He was a sick mélange of evil, twisted, dehumanized, one-dimensional mythical figures; he was Tiny Tim and Scrooge and Marlowe… all merged together into one insane bunch of contradicting negative impulses and evils; a diseased pus-filled concentration of undead filth. He acted out the Portrait of Dorian Grey by Oscar Wilde in real life. His physical health as a handsome young child: was systematically corrupted into the ugliest brutal fat monster of an inhuman pig. He was presented with a portrait of himself by Phillip Attlee in Parliament as a gift:… a gift which he instantly hated because it showed him for what he was too honestly, a painting of the truth; the true horror which that young boy had been turned into, a painting that showed the ugly truth so starkly that his daughter had it burnt so nobody would be able to see what the young Winston had been systematically poisoned into becoming: the ugliest, fattest, sickest toad of evil in all of England. He himself could not stand to see the filthy truth of his own Inner soul; he could not bear to see what he had actually become. He dubbed the huge portrait 'a perfect example of modern art'. And it was: it was the only kind of art the undead know how to do: which is to turn all living beauty into horror, ugliness and poisoned filth.

What the huge painting displayed was how undead evil turns all human beauty and health into poisoned ugly horrible diseased filth. The undead REVERSE the beauty of Life: they turn living beauty into UGLINESS: that is their 'art', that is what they do; that is what they did to the innocent young, sensitive, artistic, child Winston; that is what they do to all humans beginning from the day they are born. Winston Churchill was an example of what the undead can do when they pay special attention to one living soul. What they did was to turn the highest most refined elite son of the most famous English aristocracy into the lowest class brute of a blaggard: a bragging, blaring big mouth, the crudest, lowest, most insensitive scum that even the lowest chimney sweeps would not put up with. Churchill was an example of how the undead reverse energy and twist it and damage it until it is turned it into evil poisonous ways. Churchill lived out the character of 'Winnie the Pooh' which translated correctly means: All winning is SHIT. Winston was Winnie the Shit: a shit: a stinking turd of the lowest order: everything he touched he turned into shit by winning; his winning the war was the biggest piece of propaganda shit in history

His escapades in the Boer war eerily match the escapades of 'toad' in The Wind in the Willows so closely there can be no mistaking the manipulation of his life by undead evil forces; his railroad adventure in South Africa: being jailed and then escaping. One reason these escapades match the story of 'toad' in The Wind in the Willows is because he took the plot and ideas of this fable from his own childhood memories and wrote these fictitious flights of fancy down and sold the lies to the British press. The other reason is because the undead inside him had damaged him into a reptile, a toad with no human feelings whatsoever and purposefully orchestrated his life into a copy of the most infantile fables on purpose, in their arrogance; to show off… how easily they can turn the lives of living humans into a child's fairy tale.

What is the true meaning of 'The Wind in the Willows'? It is the LOWEST WILL of the masses and the elite of the British Isles controlling the fate and destiny of the British Empire. The compendium of all the undead spirits of that filthy poisoned place. It is "the ILL WIND that blows no one any good" it is the ILL WILL of the undead. It is the Ill Wind that blows over the graveyards of all the CHURCH's of England: ILL… CHURCH… CHURCHILL… CHILL: the coldness of death; get it? The meanings are stuck together and reversed to hide the vileness of the undead; the malevolent, sick, rotting entitles and ghouls that poison the souls of men, women and children. WIN ston is the Destructive WINd in the WILL of all Mankind, that blows over all human souls and seeks to poison and shift all Positive morals and Intentions into Negative evil ways.

Churchill was a compendium of all of the fictitious characters in 'The Wind in the Willows' all merged together. His love of 'messing about' with the British Navy matches rat's love of 'messing about' with boats. He is used by the undead as a mole; a secret agent of the Rothschild banking mafia that is snuck into the very center of British politics and power to poison the highest office of the Admiralty and the Parliament with the most evil designs and cunning lies possible. He is a rat and a double agent: ratting on others, betraying his own class, betraying everyone he deals with, and then turning around and betraying everyone again. He is a ferocious badger: constantly badgering and attacking Hitler; forcing him finally to lose his self-control and up the ante in the escalation of hostilities which escalated out of control into the invention of the atomic bomb and the final insane nuclear Armageddon which the undead are after. He is the filthiest false image of 'wise old badger': he wears his filthy stinking 'wisdom' on his sleeve; constantly uttering his evil stinking maxims and quips which are purposefully meant to guide the entire living species of humans into utter ruin. He is all the weasels: running rampant in the halls of the oligarchy, drinking, stumbling about as oafs, low-class bums ruining the finest traditions of the manors of that time. He constantly weasels himself out of the most horrible predicaments and comes out unscathed… and of course he is the unrepentant, irrepressible mad toad. His basic motives are the lowest motives of the lowest stupidest undead evil spirits on Earth; which are portrayed and twisted and reversed: to be perceived as the highest motives of Humanity.. He is the timid coward: the scared little mouse hiding in the bowels of the London Underground because he knows he should be found out and destroyed utterly for what he is doing to the world and to Britain and Europe. He is the unrepentant toad; the mad adventurer never learning from his blunders until it is too late to correct them, even after his disastrous episodes, still in love with the most evil mechanical marvels of his age to the point of insanity. Every chapter of that book can be found in his life; he lived out that book in its entirety to the point of utter madness and the total destruction of the Living Earth; which is what the undead agenda have as their ultimate ghoul. Churchill's maudlin bathos of self-pity, his soap opera posturing, his false bravado, the cunning of his cowardice, his theatrical personality, his falsness; all matches that of 'toad' in The Wind in the Willows to a 'T'. Churchill's deathly fear of being cast out into the 'wilderness' is because the undead spirit of a toad possesses him, shapes him and uses him. Toads are vulnerable in the wilderness and can be easily killed by predators. Churchill is a toady. He toadies up to every higher power like a bloodsucker slips up to its victim. He toadies up to the Rothschild bankers because they are the richest most powerful interest group in the British empire and the world.

Churchill's entire life was a compendium of fable, legend, myths and falsity: myth piled on top of fable piled on top of legend… one after the other. His marrying a gold digger by the name of 'Clementine'. Listen to the American folk song entitled 'Oh my Darling Clementine'… the last line of the refrain goes: "You are lost and gone forever; Dreadful sorry Clementine." The original words were "All is lost and gone forever: dreadful sorry Clementine.' After losing the British Empire: Churchill is 'dreadfully sorry'; which is the lowest form of Greek Comedy called Bathos; the shedding of false tears. Churchill is the sly toad; pretending to be a human; mimicking how humans live and act. The folk song is about the daughter of an American gold digger who drowns going over a bridge because she's too fat and not being saved because she is too ugly. Instead, the American gold digger crosses the Atlantic, does not drown, is extremely slim and pretty, not fat and ugly as in the song, and marries an English lord who turns out to be an ugly hairless toad. The song applies to Winston's marriage and his life except that it is reversed in every single detail.

The connection of the song 'Clementine' goes beyond his marriage to his wife. The first name of his closest companion in Government was Clement Attlee; deputy minster during WW2.

Churchill's marriage is a farce of the children's fairy tale: 'Beauty and the Beast' in reverse. Instead of a beast turning into an English Lord, there is the Lord Winston who the instant he is kissed and loved and married, reverts back to his beastly ways; an English porker: a pig with the most surly, crude insensitive personality possible… with its pig's snout upturned as it shovels food into it's voracious maw and guzzles whiskey and brandy by the barrel. Instead of true love turning the beast into a handsome young prince; the cold calculating greed and class snobbery of the American social climber turns the potential love Churchill had for her into a horror of upper class beastliness.

The undead control the top tier of human society and purposefully orchestrate and arrange the intermarriage of the most poisoned sickest degenerate elite family dynasties together in order to consolidate and increase their top-down power over all of Mankind. You can see this in the mixing of the two worst genetically diseased families of the Sax-Coburg-Gotha's and the Churchill's. Without a doubt: Winston Churchill was the illegitimate bastard son of King Albert: who was fucked by Jennie Churchill, Randolph's wife. As proof: Winston was attracted to another illegitimate child born out of promiscuity: his wife Jennie; legally the daughter of Sir Lord and lady Blanche… actually her biological father was Lady Blanche's sister's husband; Algernon Bertram Freeman-Mitford.. Before she married Winston her one great infatuation was with a Mr. Sickert… get it? Sicker and sicker… until she marries the sickest one of them all. Blanching means boiling something in oil or water: the boiling waters of Hell in the undead underworld of corruption. Clementine's sick fascination with evil degenerate men: sicker and sicker until she meets the sickest of them all and marries him. Her and Winston's entire life is whitewashed, blanched: get it? Born out of an incestuous affair she marries a man who is also born of an incestuous sexual relationship devoid of all love. The world blanche is a double edged sword. To blanche at something means going white with guilt, or fear; denoting the presence of evil spirits, Evil tries to whitewash itself, but once it is exposed then the guilty are destined to spend an eternity writhing in the boiling waters of Hell.

Once you uncover the secret lives of the rich and powerful; the constant presence and influence of the undead is exposed. This book shows how once you make the correct connections, the truth becomes crystal clear… Put the two Family names of these two most evil dynasties together and the meanings are shown:

Churchill-Windsor: Church - ill - winds - or
The shifting winds of evil o'er the castle of Windsor:

The ill winds of the undead poisoning these two families: and all other families that reach the highest echelons of any civilized society. The undead filth in the upper realm controlling and poisoning these two families. The separation of church and state: and then the re-amalgamation of the Church of England and the Royal throne of England into one dynasty. The amalgamation of these two evil families in the diseased damaged body of Winston Churchill

Winston-Windsor

Winston Churchill: who is ½ a *Winds*or; hiding *ton*s of undead ancestral incestuous evil inside him; his wife born of an American Jew whose father was known as 'the King of Wall Street' who made and lost several fortunes.
The Royal family of England is now re-poisoned by the insertion of the Rothschild Jewess Diana and her offspring; merging the two most evil poisoned richest family bloodlines of England together in an unholy abomination of a degenerate corrupt dynasty.

Churchill's entire life is a mythical farce; orchestrated by the undead; a contest of how awful they could make Churchill and how mindlessly the British mob and the world could be made to glorify him and ape everything he did and worship him and lick his boots, and hail him as the greatest hero of his Age; when he was the exact opposite of what he portrayed himself to be and what the media portrayed him to be. How all the world makes excuses for these upper class shits and turns a blind eye to all of their faults and vices is the story of human civilization. How easily the undead can gull billions of brainwashed humans into reversing their perceptions of GOOD and evil is the untold history of civilization.

These are not coincidences! The undead have purposefully dumbed-down the entire human species so no living human will be versed in the actual true history of the past, so no historian can ever put together all of the manifold twists and turns perpetrated by these stinking evil things, so no living human will be able to put together all of the snarled, cunning twists of fate and design and evil which the undead constantly invent in order to hide where all the true origins of evil come from. They are forced to do this because once the living are educated about these things and realize what is being done to them by these filthy rotten undead things: we will kill and execute and exterminate them all, down to the last stinking dead spirits hiding in the deepest crevices of the earth, and in the highest realms of the air until not one is left remaining. Churchill's entire life was a theatrical act because the thing that was Winston Churchill was not human: it was a charted-out, orchestrated, theatrical farce invented by the undead who hide inside human souls. Winston Churchill was a controlled puppet; he was a controlled shell, an undead monstrosity which acted out every possible evil it could, committing every possible evil it could. It was an alien interloper that did not belong in the Realm of the Living. What's more it knew it not belong in the Realm of the Living world… it knew perfectly well what it was doing was pure evil. It smiled its puckish smile because it knew it was getting away with it.

How did the elite robber baron rich and the aristocratic elite get away with their sexual promiscuity in the Victorian and Edwardians eras of the British Empire and America? Most of their affairs were covered up, most of what they did was never known to the public but what did get through is a mountain of filth. Scandals, blackmail, lawsuits, corruption, trials, the history of these families is replete with their sexual sins: the historical records are filled with their unfaithfulness, stories and rumors of wives and husbands cuckolding each other, raising illegitimate offspring. The indiscreetness of their sexual affairs raised such a stink evoking such universal disapproval from the rest of society they were forced to find new ways of hiding their immorality, their amorality, their baseness. Sailing to secluded islands, taking long trips on their private yachts was one of their favorite ways to hide their pornographic ways from the rest of society. There were no prying eyes or ears to reveal what they actually did on these long ocean trips. Complete privacy and secrecy was and still is their best defense against exposing their secret sexual liaisons.

Until the ruling elite became defined as a class of sexual degenerates traveling around the world in their private yachts, their private lives completely hidden from public view. Who sailed on which yacht, who fucked who… was all whitewashed into oblivion by the press and fiction writers that idolized and glorified them. You can read of these stinking lies, these stereotypes of falsity in the novels of the 1900's and early 2oth century… in Edgar Rice Burroughs novels, in Max Brand's novels; whose real name was Frederick Faust: a German who sold his soul to the Devil for wealth and fame and died fighting against his own countrymen and his own cultural values in WW2 as his last act of evil.

Ensconced in their royal palaces and mansions, no matter how much they tried to keep their private lives hidden from the world, the word of what they were actually up to eventually leaked out. But on their fucking royal yachts and their trips to remote islands like Borneo, Celebes, the Moluccas, New Caledonia, and the New Hebrides they could do as they wished without being seen by the public. At last they were free from the prying eyes of the world. This was the main reason why anyone who struck it rich bought or hired a private yacht. To be accepted by the elite rich the upwardly mobile nouveau riche had to acquire a liking for and take on the addictions, interests, and corruptions of the elite; this included their sexual promiscuity, degeneracy and their love of total secrecy and seclusion: duh.

Then there is the end part of this controlled shell's life called Winston Churchill… his loss of power being kicked out of office for the last time, finally officially retiring from parliament at the senile age of 89…a saddened mass of loneliness. One of his former undersecretaries finding him all alone unhappy and melancholy and sitting after dinner, brooding like a fat hen… When asked why he was so melancholy: as his former underling pointed to his many 'amazing' achievements both in politics, in the armed forces, him having won the war almost single-handed: the Nobel prize for Literature, a large family who all 'loved him'… and on top of it all he was popular with the masses of brainwashed imbeciles: such a life that was 'given' to very few people: why was he so melancholy?
He said this:

"You're right. I have worked very hard all my life, and I have achieved a great deal… in the end, to achieve nothing."

That, that unutterably stupid underling thought Churchill was saying was that his fucking 'ideals' which he had never had, was a 'strong and united British Empire and Commonwealth in a totally peaceful world.'

That was the fucking whitewash shit which had to be injected over the truth of what that filthy toad had actually said. A statement that was and is the complete reversal of the actual truth. The truth was that this evil traitor to the British cause had worked very hard all his fucking evil life to destroy the British Empire and the Common Wealth of Mankind: which is Love Kindness Decency Friendship and turned the entire world into a madhouse of total WAR, killing death and destruction.

What Churchill said was that he had been used to achieve nothing. All his successes were as ashes in his mouth, the ashes of defeat and death. Nothing he had slaved his entire life away for had given him one ounce of satisfaction or enjoyment. None of his rotten family loved him: they all hated and despised him; of course heavens, they couldn't confess this in public; their public facade is miles away from the secret inner rot of their poisoned sick evil souls. The mindless worship of a public which he despised and hated was worse than sand in his knickers. The evil negative Nirvana of death that controlled this rotten shell of a bloated thing was drawing it steadily into nothingness: into a death spiral deeper and deeper. Because Winston Churchill had been used by the undead as an instrument of pure evil and death. Because in order to on living… exist as a lonely unwanted forgotten pus-bag, he had to deny everything he actually did; which was nothing good, it was worse than nothing good… it was pure evil.

What that stinking English brainwashed ass-kisser to the British upper class did not tell Churchill was his list of evil accomplishments, not the whitewashed list covering up his evil accomplishments… the actual list of accomplishments: the true list of achievement which I have just skimmed over here and not gone into any great depth or detail. If this obsequious ass had listed the actual evil accomplishments this shell of the undead had accomplished it would have taken him a year to list them all and expound on them. His list of horror and unspeakable inhumanity committed by this one single shell of a monster would have sent this fat toad gibbering in terror and guilt away from his tormentor extolling his actual crimes which he thinks he has gotten away with.

Churchill was involved in so much evil it leaked out of his skin like poison: after battle ships had proven to be obsolete, he became involved in developing the first tanks: another weapon of mass murder, He was involved in the loss of Antwerp in the Great War where 2,500 men lost their lives because of him for nothing. His involvement in the fiasco of Dunkirk was a copy of the fiasco of the evacuation of British troops from Antwerp. The evacuation of soldiers from Dunkirk was done by British civilians because the fucking Navy refused to pick them up on Churchill's orders. Churchill sanctioned the use of tear gas on Kurdish tribesmen in Iraq… The list of his crimes and abominations go on and on and on…. too many to cover.

As do many other historians even Patrick J. Buchanan; the Christian fundamentalist republican pundit and candidate for president, in his book; Churchill, Hitler and the Unnecessary War; damns Churchill for destroying western civilization, using his own words taken from his own memoirs:

"One day President Roosevelt told me that he was asking publicly for suggestions about what the war should be called. I said at once, "The Unnecessary War." There never was a war more easy to stop than that which has just wrecked what was left of the world from the previous struggle."

What that stinking toad didn't mention was that it was he who had personally scotched every attempt by Hitler to stop the war. What that unutterably evil stinking lying little toad didn't mention was that it was HE who had escalated that phony war into the worldwide catastrophic cataclysm it became. What that evil undead filth that controlled that sick bloated shell did not reveal was that it was controlling the living corpse that was Churchill like a puppet on a string because the mind of that bloated thing had long been destroyed and its will had been corrupted by the undead that festered inside it and kept that rotting thing from completely dying.

Churchill intervened and prevented FDR from taking that poll by baring his toad soul and uttering the beastly truth. In one fell swoop: Churchill not only spoke the naked truth: he pre-empted that truth from ever being publicly acknowledged and made sure it would be kept a dark secret long after he was dead and gone. He showed FDR the terrible danger of ever allowing the masses to be educated and learn what had actually gone on behind closed doors before, during and after that war. He made sure the Americans would never utter one word of truth about that war. He made sure that war would be turned into a series of filthy stinking lies, legends, myths, fables and falsities which would blind and poison future generations and prevent them from ever seeing and understanding the stark ugly truth of that war, the stark ugliness of mechanical civilization and how starkly evil and inhuman mass manufacturing actually is.

Because Churchill uttered that truth privately not publicly, in secret: it was not allowed to see the light of day for another 50 years. It was a truth which was cut OUT of all conventional history, it was cut OUT of all history books concerning that war. FDR cut that truth OUT also. FDR never named the 2nd World War as it should have been named because the truth would have damned him also. Churchill was the winner of an unnecessary war: a war he could have ended many times easily, as Hitler had tried to end it by his many attempts to negotiate a peace both publicly and in secret and by Churchill damming himself forever by refusing to accept Hitler's peace proposals. The enormity of this lunacy and this naked soul baring its evil, of this undead toad's confession to the President of the United States of America… does not make any human sense whatsoever. Only an empty shell controlled by an undead thing would confess to such a hideous monstrous crime of mass murder, in the secret knowledge that its controlling presence had not been detected and it would be able to slip away scot free.

Historians like Irving and Buchanan have finally made the connection and came to the same conclusion and realization that WW2 was completely unnecessary; that this damns and lays the blame for every horror that war produced strictly on the one person who pushed for it, started it, escalated it, worsened it, based his entire political career on it, and refused to end it: Winston Churchill. Yet nobody takes away the laurels of victory from that stinking evil thing called Churchill; why? Because the war itself was an invented unnecessary abomination of pure evil and the entire human species are controlled by evil spirits; that's why. Nobody asks why this maniac was allowed into power and just how he did it and why he did it. Nobody except me has ever sought to ask the deeper questions of human existence because nobody except me has ever had the Honesty and Courage and Wisdom to ask these questions and find the answers as to why humans are so inhuman.

Churchill; as all other elites of the wealthy and powerful like Baron Rothschild etc; are poisoned products of the undead and they should be exterminated with extreme prejudice; along with every undead filthy evil ghoul which hides invisibly on the Living Earth. These undead thing must be RECOGNIZED and hunted down and killed DEAD DEAD DEAD. They must be given what they deserve and seek: TOTAL DEATH: TOTAL KILLING. They do not deserve any mercy or humanity because they HAVE NONE. These undead things are not human.

The reason undead ghouls targeted the British Empire to be corrupted and destroyed can be see in the flood of new books, illustrations, magazines and art, like Maxfield Parrish which exploded upon the Empire after that black evil hag Queen Victoria died and her insane cult of contacting the undead, and her sick death cult of blackness and misery and her self-indulgent self-pity was brushed away. The reason was because the people of Britain and the Empire began to celebrate and cherish the true healthy beauty of young children and young girls and boys. Instead of the corruption of sexual prostitutes and all-night bars which happened in Paris France; a healthy new culture of naturalness and purity was born. You can see this in the rare illustrated books surviving that era. The shining beauty of young girls untouched by sexual lust, the shining pictures of young children untouched by the corruptions of the older generations; it was a time when sports and outdoor activities bloomed everywhere all over the world and people began to appreciate the Beauty of Nature. When novels dealt with love and friendship without any sexual lust. Even though this budding healthy trend rested on the rotting evil of the past; even though the idea of upper class health and beauty was based on the sick, stupid, elite culture of sloth and ease; even though the illustrations show children who had never exerted themselves or exercised, even though it was a pale, weak rendition of true health and beauty; the young generations being born were instinctively spurning machines and preferring the simpler ways of doing things; frugality and simplicity was coming into vogue; ascetic spirituality, living without civilized pleasures, new ideas were burgeoning everywhere and the young of the British Empire was growing up with a fresh new honesty and innocence. This was what the undead were bent on destroying and filthying; this new crop of healthy young people all over the British Empire was what the undead determined to destroy and filthy as much as they possibly could; and they used Winston Churchill to do it.

The hidden agenda and conspiracy of the undead planning and orchestrating the unnecessary world war which began in 1939 can be seen in the fictional novel "The Thirty Nine Steps"; published in 1915 as a serial in Blackwoods Magazine, and made into a film in 1935 … and was remade again in 1959, 1978 and 2008. The fact is the undead were already planning on starting WW2 before WW1 had ended. They planned and worked on it for 39 years from 1900 to 1939.

Understand this, the reason certain books and films are regarded as 'classics', the reason they are reproduced and published and remade and re-sold generation after generation, is because they hold crucial secret clues and hidden truths revealing how the undead poison our entire living world.

The reason Buchan's novel was serialized as an anti-German racist propaganda spy novel in 1915 was because spying was what the English were doing to the Germans; not the other way around. The undead always twist everything around and sell it as truth, as fiction, as a culture of fictionalized lies piled on top of each other until all semblance of reality and truth disappears from the mass consciousness. The *Blackwood*s publishing company refers to the Black Forest of Germany: which was a secret haven for the undead where they met and congregated in secret to plot the downfall and destruction of everything that was GOOD about Germany and Germans. There are no coincidences in the facts of history. The facts can be connected together and make sense but only when you include the malevolent existence of undead evil which permeates all civilized societies. We the living are just mostly unaware of what the undead did and are still doing to living humans in utter secrecy. Churchill was one of their instruments of evil

At Churchill's doorstep can be laid the mass war crimes of not only WW2: but after WW2 also:

9,400,000 war victims of the German civilian population bombed to death.
500,000 victims of violence done against ethnic German abroad
8,155,700 had to leave the German territories: homeless starving without food
2,209,200 Germans were displaced from their homes in East Prussia; sold to the Russian hordes as cattle, to be used as slaves and died in hunger; beaten starved and raped
3,358,700.Germans displaced from Silesia to fill the refugee camps of the western allies and be raped and massacred by the advancing Stalinist forces
1,761.700 German speaking Pomeranians displaced from their homes and starving to die from malnutrition and brutality fleeing from the Russian hordes
597.500 East Brandenburg Germans displaced from their bombed out homes in the final blitzkrieg on Germany suffering the same horrible fate as all the other German civilians did caught inside a war of total inhuman genocidal annihilation of one ethnic human species
Approximately 500,000 German civilians died in wartime captivity Eisenhower and the Americans were no slouch at committing atrocities and crimes against Humanity either: at his door can be placed the invasion of Europe and its total destruction.. After WW2 Germany was one big prison. Throughout the country millions of German soldiers P.O.W.'s… prisoners of war were penned behind barbed wire in open fields. For no reason whatsoever except for the undead agenda of destroying this one exceptional ethnic human race of healthy intelligent people for the sin of being too healthy. They died in latrine ditches and shelter holes; dug by hand in the earth. They died without food, without water, without shelter. This happened by the order of the American commander General Dwight D. Eisenhower. (Dwight D. = D DAY; Dwight-Light-Day = Destructive light of day; get it*?)*

He sent out an urgent courier on May 9th 1945 the day after he took charge of conquered Germany; forbidding all the citizens of the country to gather food together in one place for the purpose of taking it to the starving men in the U.S. prison camps. They were forbidden on pain of death to feed the prisoners; even though the prisoners were starving. He ordered three trainloads of food donated by the international Red Cross out of the country and back to the donors in France and Belgium. All of this was hidden from the public and the press. It is still being hidden from the world. A 1950 report from the German Red Cross stated that 1.5 million former German POWs were still officially listed as missing, fate unknown. In other words Eisenhower who was of German descent is personally responsible for killing at least 1.5 million of his own countrymen. 1,500.000 German men died in the most horrendous, inhuman death camps because Eisenhower is a mass murderer who killed Germans in cold blood. He did it the American way: not with bullets, but out of cold-blooded systematic, planned neglect: the same way millions of American natives were systematically starved and died in the death camps called 'reservations'; the same way thousands of Union troops died in Andersonville. Every brave German boy and man was singled out selectively by the undead and killed as a genocidal way of destroying the best of the German race, Everything that was beautiful and good in Europe was destroyed by the Allies, and the propaganda of WW2 covers this up. This atrocity was orchestrated by the undead because they control those at the top of power. These undead things need to be killed DEAD.

The book: "Other Losses" by James Bacque, which documents Eisenhower's atrocities, was completely suppressed by the Jewish press and media and has been vilified by the western establishment and swept under the carpet of lies spun by western propaganda. This western bullshit propaganda about WW2 and Hitler and Germans is still being churned out: brainwashing billions of new victims of the capitalist/Jewish/corporate system of systematic degradation, corruption, drugging, programming and brainwashing. Eisenhower himself was German. There are no words to describe the atrocity and evil of his betrayal of his own heritage and blood. He ranks up there along with the other main mass murderers of WW2: Stalin, Churchill, FDR and Truman.

After WW2 Churchill had become completely insane. He had developed the view that everything that had gone wrong was the fault of everybody else: not him. HE reversed his perceptions. Churchill blamed everyone except himself for all of his failures and kept this conviction to the end of his insane senile rotting existence. This is a common, necessary defense-tactic the dead use to cover up their hidden presence and control over any living person they use.

These dead things cannot afford to let the zombies they control to become aware that they are being controlled. They cannot afford to let these dead rotting shells become aware of the crimes they commit. They cannot let these dead souls to become responsible for their actions. They cannot let these controlled people become aware of how they are being used and manipulated.

He was kept incommunicado from the ordinary decent people he had killed in the millions and treated like slaves and regarded as cattle to be used for the whims of the super-rich set of Jewish bankers and greed merchants and political hacks of the top upper class set. He was kept in a babble of fantasy: divorced from the real world. Churchill found himself alone again, without any friends. He ended up in Monaco gambling at the casino: bumming chips off the rich elite because he didn't know how to handle money or count. He stayed as a house guest at the villa's of the British upper class because he was broke and couldn't stand his own family and they couldn't stand him. One by one he wore out his welcome as they got tired of pampering this fat, cigar smoking, alcoholic bum. His slide into degeneracy, senility, corruption, sin, and evil can be seen in his last days. A fat, bloated, pus-ridden toad: unable to utter one intelligible word, Dead to everything. Blind to everything. His mind completely gone. His health completely poisoned; living as a poor pensioner in a flat in London.

Michael Wardell: Lord Beaverbrook's 'companion'; his homosexual partner: a sodomizer; recounts firsthand his memoirs of Winston Churchill in Monaco

A telling clue of how much Churchill was controlled by his own ancestral dead was when within an hour of removing for the first time his father's ring from his hand; Churchill suffered his first stroke in 1949.

Why did he almost die? What does the ring mean? It is the ring of power. Sauron's Ring of Power which Tolkien wrote in his fantasy epic during WW2. He had achieved the ghoul of his long-dead ancestor: Lord Marlborough: He had won a war on the European continent. Once that goal had been achieved and he had basked in the adulation of the world: that stinking evil ghoul: who had once secretly hidden itself in his ancestor's body had no more further use for him; so it LEFT THE BODY of WINSTON CHURCHILL because it was no longer interested in any further doings of that drunken moronic retarded scumbag. Upon leaving Churchill's body: the ensuing emptiness inside his Life-Energy left a vacuum that almost killed what was left of him:. The other ghouls secretly living inside him, sucking on his Life Energy: who had poisoned and corrupted and controlled him all his life did not leave: They kept that pus maggot alive for many more years, as they squeezed every last drop of amusement from observing his life and vicariously living through him as if they were him.

He went swimming in the Mediterranean and lost his trunks; his propensity for exposing himself naked to others was only one of the many reasons why nobody could endure his company for any protracted period of time and why he never made any friends. Once they found out what this insane goon was really like he became person non grata: unwelcome and never invited back again. He wallowed like a porpoise; he blew spouts of water like a whale, and he swam round and round like a schoolboy not caring that he was completely stark naked. He had regressed back to the idiocy of a naked infant: He kept on sexually exposing himself to the end of his sexually perverted days. What adult loses his swimming trunks while swimming in the Mediterranean? Nobody; except this vile sex pervert. Everything was allowed him: Every one of his endless 'quirks' were humored, ignored, swept under the table, not mentioned, whitewashed, kept secret, excused, tolerated. All of his excesses were kept secret from the public. But: even they could only take his foul presence for so long. He was passed off from one villa to the other until he wore out his welcome; that is, until the gossip mill spread the word about him and he was forced to go back to England where nobody liked him and nobody cared one fart for him. Until nobody would lend him any more chips at the gambling casino. Until he was stone broke and unable to sponge off anyone anymore because they had all become thoroughly disgusted with his outrageous mannerisms and behavior. Like his father Bertie; Churchill broke every upper class taboo of his Age; and was icily tolerated only because everyone in the upper set knew he was a royal bastard. Churchill replayed this scenario out over and over throughout his entire life: replaying his actual father's and his step-father's life patterns of spending everything he had and then borrowing money to keep going and spending that as fast as he could.

Here is another telling clue to Churchill's worldly 'Success' while he was staying with Lord Beaverbrook after the war in Monaco;

Clambering out of the water, he was rubbed down by his manservant and wrapped in a towelled dressing gown. He started to climb the hundred steps home, stopping every little while to sit and rest and talk and refresh himself from a waiting decanter.

"I've bought a racehorse," he announced.
"So I hear," replied Beaverbrook.
"It's going to run at Salisbury on the 24th," said Churchill.
Silence.
"Do you think it a mistake?" he asked.
"Certainly," answered Beaverbrook.
"Why?" asked Churchill.
"The public will back it, and it won't win," said Beaverbrook.
"Perhaps I'd better warn them," Churchill said, a little discouraged.
"The only way you could win would be for every other jockey to pull his horse," Beaverbrook said as a jest, but with just a trace of the bitterness.

That was how Churchill had won WW2. That was how that war had been won. By every other dead ghoul who controlled the caste of actors at the crucial positions and time reining in their horses to let a certain dead horse win the sweepstakes. Get it yet? The dead leave clues about their filthy evil hidden presence all the time: you can find these clues everywhere. Churchill warned people about dangers all right: but only AFTER he had personally brought that evil danger into the world and made sure that this evil would spread.

After he went for a swim: he drank alcohol every 30 seconds. He couldn't walk back to the villa without stopping every few steps to take a generous slug of brandy. He is rubbed down by a professional masseuse just to keep his body alive. Without this constant attention he would have died from the pain of physical, emotional and social neglect which he suffered from all his miserable life..

This is only ONE anecdote about his life taken by one eye witnesses. There are hundreds of other personal accounts and stories about him… If you examine them critically you will be able to notice what I do: Hidden meanings and obvious meanings; many levels of meaning, clues, truths and confessions which if studied in depth and connected together, exposes the horrible truth: the ugly truth of humans being possessed and controlled by demons while being kept unaware that they are mere puppets on a stage.

Here's another example of the ugly horror this thing actually was

"I'm going to Germany in the autumn," Churchill continued. "I have little doubt that the Germans will give me a very warm reception, and will not fail to make use of the V sign."

"I'll bet they won't," said Beaverbrook. "Of course the V sign has many meanings in various parts of the world. It was originally supposed to represent the devil, with two horns. In Canada, when I was a boy, the sign had a very special significance."
"Not only in Canada," Churchill replied. "In England too; and no doubt in other places. But I made it respectable."

What this reveals is that Churchill was controlled by the Devil himself. The 'V' sign is the mark of the Devil: Churchill was the Devil in disguise and that devil created a Hell of horror and burning death for millions of Germans. This speaks of is how Churchill made RESPECTABLE every filthy evil sin there is today: 1. overeating, 2. smoking, 3. drunkenness, 4 gambling 5 ogling pretty girls 6 exposing himself sexually. 7 listening to music. 8 sloth. 9. megalomania 10. brutality 11. selfishness. 11 spoiled rotten self-indulgence. 13. making quips: maxims, comments, aphorisms that are supposed to show how wise and smart you are. 14 card playing. 15. Being constantly in debt as a form of blatant class snobbery 16: the popping of pills and his addiction to them: Churchill took pills in order to sleep because both his conscience and his subconscious would give him no rest… would not let him sleep. His subconscious: his true self was screaming at him all the time at what he was doing to himself and to the Living Earth. The only way for him to sleep was to drug himself into insensibility: as he had to drug himself all of his life just to get through another evil rotten miserable day of his forced existence as a controlled puppet of the dead. 17: The incessant writing of fucking letters: You can see the entire world copying all of these sins now today in sending e-mails over the internet and their texting machines and cells phones and I-pads… Because of what Churchill did and how he lived, billions of insane people now think this kind of behavior is upper class and accepted as being normal… and that this how you should behave if you want to be cultured… not the evil corruptions which they actually are.

If you still don't believe that Winston Churchill was controlled by his own ancestral dead ghouls> during his ENTIRE LIFE: I mean ALL of his LIFE; if the 'superstition' of suffering a major stroke after he took off his father's ring which he had worn all his LIFE is not enough to convince you: then read this tale from Churchill himself as Wardell recounts it;

'His act impressed my superstitious fancy. I thought of another relic, his father's gold match box which Churchill always carried reverentially, and of a strange and haunting little story he had told earlier of a fable he had conceived around it. As I remember it, Churchill was sitting in his studio at Chartwell, his home in Kent, painting a picture of his father, Lord Randolph Churchill. The original had been damaged in the war by bombing. The tattered portrait was propped up in front of him and he had been working for some hours on the new one. It was getting dusk.

Churchill stopped painting to light a cigar. He put his hand in his pocket and pulled out the old gold match box that had been his father's and that he always carried, just as he wore the ring.

He struck a match and started to light his cigar, and, as he did so, his father spoke to him. It seemed so natural that Churchill was not in the least surprised. His father said: "I am so glad you still carry that old match box, Winston." Churchill replied: "Yes, Papa, always." His father talked on, referring to the 1890s, when he had been concerned over the quarrels with the Boers in South Africa, and had bitterly opposed any talk of war. "But war came," Churchill told him, and went on to describe it. "But that's nothing to what has happened since." And in a few characteristic Churchillian phrases he told the essence of the history of our times, of the two world wars and of the troubled peace. His father was spellbound by the story. Then he looked around at the paintings.

"I'm glad to see you have made such a success of your painting," he said. "I don't mind telling you how worried I was at having to leave you so ill provided for ... You know, I used to wonder sometimes whether you might have any bent for politics. I could not help thinking, listening to your story of these great events that have shaped your life, if you did not sometimes feel an urge to take an active part in them."

Churchill was pondering, "Shall I tell him?" and started to strike another match. As it flared, the vision was gone. The old scarred picture remained

Do you begin to understand now? Winston the puppet was doing everything demanded of him as the little manipulated toad he was. He painted forgeries and sold them under false names. His entire personality was a set of forgeries sold under a false name.
The gold matchbox is the Greek Pandora's box: Pandora opened it and all evil contained therein escaped and spread over the earth. It also represents the gold covered coffin of the Jewish Ark of the Covenant: that is forbidden to be opened and which the Jews carried with them wherever they went. And has been hidden. Churchill opened up all the evils of his Age and allowed all of them to escape EXCEPT one left: which is the evil of 'hope'. Churchill had a visitation: He had a vision. He spoke to an undead entity he assumed was his father. Who or what that dead thing was… was an inhuman observer of human Life on Earth. An evil thing so detached from reality that its interest in Churchill's life and two World Wars is so minimal that it cuts the interview with the puppet short. The audience was instantly cut off by the entity contacting him: he thought nothing of it because he was CONTROLLED not to think anything of it. Only years later does he speak of this: as something unimportant: as a 'curiosity': as having no significance or meaning. As not worth even trying to understand the meaning of it. The ghoul who is supposed to be his 'father' does not even stay to listen to how Winston Churchill took an ACTIVE PART in these huge earth shattering events. Why? Because Winston Churchill did NOT take an active part in two World Wars: and the Boer War and other wars. The GHOULS CONTROLLING HIM took an active part in manipulating him and were not interested to listening how this fool thought HE had actually done anything of his own free will. Are you beginning to get the fucking picture yet>?

Are you beginning to understand?.... When he was alive: Randolph Churchill hated his bastard of a son and never spoke to him ever. He predicted he would end up as a n'eer-do-well and a failure. The dead thing that visited him bore NO resemblance in any way whatsoever to his foster father… What Churchill instantly recognizes as being the undead spirit Randolph? Churchill recognizes is the dominant ghoul that once lived INSIDE Randolph Churchill while he was alive assuming that it is the 'spirit' of the hate-filled, vindictive, jealous, degenerate scum called Randolph Churchill. Bereft of all Randolph's characteristic voice patterns. Bereft of Randolph's cutting acrimonious personality: bereft of any characteristic which could mark him as being the dead spirit Randolph Churchill. WHY? Because that ghoul had dumped all of its sins onto the puppet he had used and manipulated: that's why. By NOT BEING CONNECTED to the puppet it controlled/controls: These dead things hope to escape retribution and responsibility. By DISCONNECTIING themselves from all human cares and pain and needs: they hope that they will avoid their own destruction while plotting and bringing about the destruction of the entire Living Earth. This is why all of then must be killed: exterminated: destroyed with extreme prejudice.

Are you beginning to get the fucking picture yet? The most famous, powerful living war leader of the 20th century is treated as a little nothing and its tale of 100 years of the most evil destruction ever orchestrated by these dead filth is treated as something of no importance. The ghoul wants to know only one thing: that the puppet called Winston Churchill: once it enters the realm of the DEAD: will be easily controlled and quashed and is not a problem for them. Once it avails itself of that knowledge by studying the aura-shell of that pus-filled thing called Winston Churchill: it winks out of existence and disappears.

"The dagger is pointing at me. I pray it may not strike.'

Those were the last words Churchill spoke before suffering his 1st major stroke after taking off his father's ring of power. The words have more than one meaning. The dagger of DEATH is now pointed straight at every single undead ghoul on the Earth. Every single one of these things must and #WILL be KILLED DEAD.

Beaverbrook covered up his near-death; calling it as Churchill was just suffering from a 'chill'… GET IT? As all the dead ghouls in all the *church*es of Britain gathered round him all of his life… in order to poison him with as much ill will as much as possible. A chill: Churchill… GET IT? As all the truth of him and his rotten evil life: the true facts were hidden and covered up and only partially revealed long after his death.

Winston Churchill was not the only evil man of that century. All the major leaders were sick, diseased and evil also. It would take `thousands more pages to even begin to expose just how evil and twisted and sick the others were, even Hitler. For instance the reason Hitler's ancestry was made a secret was because in his family was incest. The father of Hitler's father was also the grandfather of Hitler's mother. This explains a LOT of things. It makes Adolph Hitler MUCH more understandable... His obsession with 'der Faterland',,,, his love for da 'fatherland'... his suppressed subconscious hatred for his own father AND his grandfather... who were one and the same person… the same father-figure.... The power this dead ghoul had over his diseased soul. His leading Germany into destruction; by his own ancestral ghouls. If he had not been genetically poisoned from birth he would have avoided it: his life would have been completely different; everything would have been completely different. No wonder he never married. No wonder he never had children. No wonder his incestuous relationship with Geli Raubal, Hitler's half-niece ended in tragedy; when she later killed herself. No wonder he wasn't like other people. The undead always seek to repeat their evil abominations over and over. They tried to get Hitler to commit incest as his father had done before him.., When that didn't work, when he refused to have sex with her: when he refused to marry her they went to work on the girl and made her commit suicide. Do you fucking understand? All you need to do is connect the ancestral facts of the past: the filthy evil of your own dead ancestors and you will be able to see in retrospect how they make you repeat their lives as much as possible; how they make living people commit the most insane unspeakable things. How his dead father and grandfather ruined all his wishes to become an architect and an artist and forced him to become the most evil civil servant ever to serve an entire nation and lead it into total destruction. Do you fucking understand now? There are no coincidences in Life. Everything bad that happens, happens because of direct personal intervention into the lives of the living by the undead. This is why ALL OF THEM MUST BE EXTERMINATED WITH EXTREME PREJUDICE: All the dead must DIE and be UTTER:Y DESTROYED so not one single vestige of their rotting filthy insane evil souls is left on the Earth.

STALIN: THE JEWS: RUSSIA: ASIA: AND RAPE

You will notice that this book only deals with the western history of evil. The huge history of the East, Russia and Asia is left out. The documentation of the evil of Russian hordes raping over 2 million German girls gives you only a tiny glimpse into the systematic degradation and dehumanization of the humans living on the largest continent on Earth.

What can one say about Stalin and the History of the Jewish filth who took over the Russian Empire? The evil is simply too huge to cover: the inhuman horrors and abominations and atrocities are too many to document. What little has been recorded pales in comparison to what has been burned, destroyed, buried, covered up, forgotten, denied, reversed, twisted, hidden, etc, etc, etc…

What can one say of the hundreds of millions of people who lived in Asia and Russia for 2,000 years? Their history doesn't exist. It's been wiped out of existence; burned, destroyed, ravaged, invaded, conquered,

If you want to understand the rape of 2 ½ million German girls by the Russian hordes: the Slavs, the Russian Jews: you have to understand where it came from: The History of Asia and Russia is a history of rape and pillage, the burning down of cities and towns and Empires… and new ones springing up only to be destroyed by new waves of butchering invaders. The history of the Russian people is a history of enslavement and re-enslavement. The reason they are called Slavs is because they come from a races of SLAVES: because they are the most slavish, degraded white people of the West. The history of Russia and the Slaves goes back to the Rus who originally conquered them and turned them into a race of slaves. That history is non-existent: it doesn't exist. The history of the people of Asia also does not exist. It has been burned out of existence and buried deep. The Russian Slavs were raped and conquered over and over for over a thousand years. The Mongol hordes raped and pillaged them for centuries. Their own Rus masters burned down their villages and towns and raped and pillaged them. The genocidal attack on Slavic people: killing them over and over is a legacy of thousands of years of horror, brutality, and evil which has been covered up and buried. The Slavs are the most raped people of the west, they have been killed and dehumanized systematically on a genocidal basis of wiping out the most intelligent, most healthy of them over and over and over for thousands of years. There is no possible way to document their history.

The last wave of genocidal horror and mass butchery, killing, rape, starvation, brutalization, terrorization committed by the Russian hordes was simply a REVERSAL of what was done to them and had been done to them for thousands of years… and even then they had to be forced to do it at the point of a gun and terrorized down to such a subhuman level of abject stupidity and fear by their Jewish masters that there are no Russian war heroes. Out of all the millions of Slavic and Jewish insane, obedient, controlled human filth who participated in WW2 and the rape of 2 ½ Million German girls and the total destruction of Germany: there is nothing to be proud of and no heroism because they were all terrorized little mice obeying their Stalinist masters in abject fear and obedience. The level of mass brainwashing which the Stalinist regime had managed to instill into the hundreds of millions of human slaves of the Russian Empire and the nations which they raped and butchered and tortured and killed and starved and dehumanized into a state of mass stupidity and fear… is simply too huge a horror, too obvious an evil, too vast a history to even attempt to document, analyze and explain.

The Western mind simply cannot comprehend this level of insanity which existed in Russia. The bloodletting of the Russian civil war was only a prelude to even worse horrors: this level of mass brainwashed conformity, this level of mass dehumanization which existed in Russia and Asia. It is beyond comprehension unless you have lived it. The evil that was Lenin and Stalin and the Jewish scum who ran the Soviet NKVD, the KGB, etc, is a level of evil that reached the western world only in its last wave of genocidal hatred against a free, healthy, happy race of Germanic people who held no hatred in their hearts towards anyone, because they had not been killed, butchered and raped for thousands of years like the Slavs had been. The hatred of the undead against any people who stand up and fight for their own freedom and autonomy like the Germans did in the 20th century is documented in the two World Wars which the undead unleashed against Germany.

To put it in western terms: Would you consider any of your family who fought in WW1 and WW2 to be heroes if they raped girls as a standard practice of war? If they raped them to death? If they gang raped them? If they kicked these bleeding raped girls out into the blizzard to freeze to death and die? Would you consider 3 million Russian soldiers to be heroes if they were ordered to rape German girls and did so with gusto and cruelty and as brutally as possible? Would you condone the fact that what they did in those two world wars has been completely silenced and covered up and carefully never mentioned by the 500 million who knew about it?

What kind of pride can a conquering army of Slavs have in committing the exact same genocidal horrors upon the people of Eastern and Northern Europe which were inflicted upon them by Stalin and by the Mongols and the Rus for thousands of years?

When you look at the history of Asia and the Russian Empire from a perspective of thousands of years, what you see is the systematic drive down to the lowest filthiest most subhuman level of stupidity and mass conformity and paranoid fear and terror which is revealed as the constant, unending agenda by the dead against the living.

If you study the history of Asia and Russia and read about the history of the nomadic tribes of the Asia and Genghis Khan and Timurlane of the lame foot and Babur the Mogul and all the other Asian and Russian filth: you will come away with a pyramidal pile of decapitated skulls higher than the towers of a city; ravaged cities, scorched earth, burned out villages, masses of dead rotting bodies amidst the rubble: horror, killing, rape, butchery… an endless litany of insane subhuman inhumanity for thousands of years: with no understanding of why this has happened to them. An endless crushing of the Human Spirit: an endless attempt to destroy all kindness, love, friendship, health, happiness: that is all you will come away with after reading 2,000 years of Asian and Russian history. Only a few scraps of a few lone survivors exist… as a record of what happened for thousands of destructive years in the largest continent on Earth.

Thousands of years of hatred, envy, jealousy, cunning, EVIL too huge to ever be fully understood with 99.9999% of it burned, destroyed, buried, undocumented, unwritten, The Extinction of entire peoples with no living survivors; no one left to tell the truth, the tales of mass inhumanity, mass terrorization, mass butchery all silenced and forgotten. That is why I do not include the Eastern horror and evil of the dead: a million pages could not even begin to cover all of it.

Churchill, the Seven Sisters and the Seven Deadly Sins

The story of the evil puppet of undead evil Churchill is connected and intertwined with another main evil of civilization in the 19th and 20th Century; namely the switch of industrialization from solid evil to liquid evil, from the black coke and coal of the Age of Steam engines; to the black Oil and Coca Cola and the internal combustion engine, together with the increasing population explosion fueled by industrialized production of chemical fertilizer and the industrialization of mechanized farming; which the switch from hundreds of millions of overpopulated hordes of dead souls, changed the destructive effect of billions of dead souls; using machines powered by Oil and Electricity instead of coal and candles to destroy and poison the entire Earth faster… Part of these exploding evil abominations invented and fueled by undead ghouls increasingly invading the realm of the Living, the Realm of Life where they are not allowed was the new power of Capitalist Oil Corporations merged into a single huge oligarchic monopoly called 'The Seven Sisters' known today as

Mobil
Gulf

SoCal
Texaco
Shell
BP

The reason the undead worked to invent and build this empire of black death was to increase the spread of the Seven Deadly Capital Sins of Evil, and to destroy Christianity because this new religion had correctly identified some of the most common tactics the undead use to corrupt living people. The seven dead corporate bodies of the oil company monopoly were created to spread the Seven Deadly Capital Sins of Evil and destroy that religion so its moral and ethical teachings; no matter even if they were only lip service and token recognition of what true evil is; would have its reputation as a spiritual institution so damaged and ruined that nobody would ever respect their teachings. The goal of the undead has already succeeded in brainwashing the masses into believing that there is no such thing as evil: that evil does not even exist anymore. In order to achieve this evil ghoul they invented the Seven Sisters to spread the Seven Deadly Capital Sins of Evil:

HATE BORN OUT OF FEAR AND ENVY,
GREED,
SLOTH,
PRIDE, LUST,
ENVY,
Gluttony.

To see just how successful they were, all you need to do is look at what the values of European Christians were before Industrialization and look at how most of the billions of dead souls live today… Today the entire FABRIC of modern life is made up of masses who feel hate born out of envy and fear, and anger AGAINST anyone who tries to preach against the sins of greed, sloth, pride, lust, envy, and gluttony. Today: the masses are forbidden to feel ANY hate or anger against evil sinners and criminals.

This was a very cunning way of neutralizing the teachings of a moral code which had as its assumption that nobody within a truly Christian community would practice the sins of Greed, Sloth, Pride, Lust, Envy, and Gluttony so there would be no reason to feel any hate or anger against other Christians: which in this context is correct. You should never ever feel any hate or anger against people who are not evil. You should reserve all of your hatred and anger for people who are evil and for undead ghouls who are the source of all evil.

In other words modern industrialized technological human existence is an existence which is mostly made up of the EVIL PRACTICES of;

HATE BORN OUT OF FEAR,
GREED,
SLOTH,
PRIDE, LUST,
ENVY, Gluttony
And nothing else

The EVIL CULTURE of modern civilization is made up of:

HATE BORN OUT OF FEAR AND ENVY,
GREED,
SLOTH,
PRIDE, LUST,
ENVY,
Gluttony

The EIL NORMS of modern society are made up of;

HATE,
GREED, SLOTH,
PRIDE, LUST,
ENVY,
GLUTTONY

The EVIL CUSTOMS of modern society are made up of ;

HATE BORN OUT OF GUILT AND FEAR,
GREED,
SLOTH,
PRIDE, LUST,
ENVY,
Gluttony

The EVIL LIFESTYLES OF MODERN PEOPLE are made up of;

HATE BORN OUT OF GUILT FEAR AND ENVY,
GREED,
SLOTH,
PRIDE, LUST,
ENVY,
Gluttony

The Evil BELIEFS of modern civilization are BASED upon;

HATE BORN OUT OF GUILT, FEAR AND ENVY
GREED, SLOTH,
PRIDE, LUST,
ENVY,
Gluttony

As a result of this explosion of pure evil in the last 200 years: this GUARANTEES that every innocent baby born INTO this foul mess of pure industrialized corruption and evil will be completely poisoned, weakened and corrupted by the civilized evil environment and society and culture they are born INTO…

I WAS LUCKY: By pure luck, I managed to escape most of it. This is why I have written this book. So that others not as lucky as I am will learn the truth about civilization and so others will recognize what true evil IS and not allow the undead to corrupt their Inner Souls and their Outer Lives. So others will cleanse their INNER SOULS of the hidden evil of undead shit turds and cleanse their OUTER environment of all civilized evil.

Now back to Churchill and the Seven Sisters of Capitalist evil:
The success of the orchestrated plan to destroy Christianity by brainwashing former Christian nations to hate each other and kill each other and destroy each other was achieved by these undead ghouls orchestrating the unnecessary two World Wars as a distraction from their other evils, so living humans would not notice that the exploding evils of mass manufacturing taking over and transforming all human society beyond recognition: the sudden appearance of evil factories all over the world, manufacturing weapons of mass destruction and refineries manufacturing poisons of mass death and mass pollution would not be seen as an evil abomination controlled by a small cabal of rich Jewish bankers and English and American robber barons which must be destroyed with extreme prejudice.

Along with the horrible destruction and death of the two World Wars came the equally evil poison of the Seven Sisters, the octopus of the international oil companies cooperating with each other spreading the Seven Deadly Capital Sins all over the world;

HATE BORN OUT OF GUILT, FEAR AND ENVY
GREED, SLOTH,
PRIDE, LUST,
ENVY,
Gluttony

Thus corrupting the newborn population explosion of too many human drones as quickly as possible into a life of decadent, degenerate ease before they could achieve any perspective on what their immediate past had done to them and what the true hidden roots of industrialized modern society are, and how totally evil industrialized civilization actually is. The transition from Coal to Coke to Coca Cola as energy sources which fuel the destruction of the human species and the Earth was kept out of the awareness of living people by lowering the awareness and intelligence of the masses down to a crisis mentality during two World Wars, down to the level where you don't think or ask or wonder or ask intelligent questions; you just fight to keep from being killed, you just fight to survive. You become a mindless slave. You stop thinking. You stop living a normal life; you become a terrorized, brainwashed mass animal; a mindless lemming…. You obey armed goons who are ready to kill you at a moments notice. Why? So you won't notice all the new inventions of evil being foisted upon you, so you won't notice how the quality of your Life is worsening because of these new inventions products and goods, so you won't notice you were much happier and healthier before without the new mass manufactured weapons of mass distraction, mass destruction and mass produced drugs.

This new industrial culture, this new society, this new lifestyle, this new way of living was dubbed a 'consumer capitalist society', and hailed as the best thing ever invented since sliced bread… As usual: everything hailed as the best is actually the worst. What you have been sold is the opposite of the truth. The truth is that the Seven Sisters spread the use of OIL first as an artificial illuminant: then electricity and the Edison light bulb replaced kerosene as an artificial illuminant… but then the internal combustion engine was developed and mass manufactured… until so many uses for oil were found that modern civilization 'could not live without it'… which is total fucking bullshit, bullshit, bullshit. What corrupt people actually mean is that they are too lazy, too corrupt and too evil to cleanse themselves of the evils of modern industrialized civilization. They could do it: but they do not 'wish' to do it because they already believe in the unspoken religion of;

HATE BORN OUT OF GUILT, FEAR AND ENVY
GREED, SLOTH,
PRIDE, LUST,
ENVY,

Gluttony

And none of these motherfucking scum 'want' to change their evil UNSPOKEN religion and their unspoken norms and social values by ONE IOTA because the undead do not wish you to wake up to their constant presence hiding inside you and all around you.

Another thing Oil did, coupled with the invention of gas and diesel engines, the car and the airplane[was creating the mass hysteria for lateral mobility; the building of roads like crazy, this road building destroying and is destroying more of the living Earth faster than all the other forms of industrialized mechanized destruction; highways, freeways, mass transit systems, cars, trucks… all designed to insulate humans from feeling the Earth they travel over; creating an unfeeling arrogance, an insulated insane complete indifference and unawareness of the Earth they live on, creating a mass arrogance, a mass feeling of false superiority over the Earth they depend on for Life itself… this mass religion of Pride, the mass Pride of industrial mechanized civilization, the mechanical inventions of industrialization, that this somehow proves the superiority of the human species over all other species is so endemic, so embedded into the fabric of all industrialized civilization that because of it: all environmental concerns have become secondary to the mechanical rape of the entire Living Earth because the unspoken religion of sloth-ease-laziness-sedentary-sitting on to your ass-do nothing but watching, staring at TV's Movies, flat 2-dimensional computer screens, typing on flat pieces of whitewashed paper, typing on flat 2-dimensional screens etc. has become the new norm of civilized mass existence. The discovery of coal and the switch from coal to oil and electricity and cramming the new billions of humans into huge cities was just a continuation of insulating people from the living Earth. It was just a continuation of the mass craze to build as many railroad lines and roads as possible: thus giving an excuse to destroy as much living land, soil, plants flowers, trees, grasses, and habitat for all the living creatures who live on the land and depend on the Earth just as we do for Life.

The new billions of industrialized mechanized masses just took the worst living examples of the filthy rich robber barons and kings and queens and tried to live exactly like the Kings and Royalty they had seen traveling about on their fucking yachts carriages and trains and new cars visiting each other; the new jetsetters, using the status of mobility to define their upwardly raised positions in the civilized shitpile of mechanized mass-produced crap, the new huge outrageously expensive passenger ships plying the continental crowd of people traveling from one continent to another. The new mass manufacturing of consumer goods and products fueled the new mass fad of overconsumption: buying shit you didn't need… copying exactly what the filthy rich aristocrats had been doing for thousands of years, trying to live exactly as the richest aristocratic rich did and still do… Every single degradation and ruination of the lower classes has been taken; copied from the worst sins and vices of the RICH: prostitution, illicit sex, gambling, travel, tourism, collecting gewgaws, accumulating junk, living in huge houses, owning the most expensive status symbols possible, drug addictions, alcohol, morphine, opium, tobacco, etc, etc.

All because the world had switched its factories and plants from water-driven steam engines and coal to oil and electricity; creating a false impression of affluence, while destroying most of the living Earth into the 'bargain'. The explosion of machinery distracted the masses so they wouldn't notice all of the major powers were preparing for war. It wasn't just one new invention it was hundreds, thousands of new fiendish devices. Oh look! A bicycle! Oh, look; a machine that washes clothes! Oh look! A machine that freezes food and keeps it from rotting! Oh look! Canned food! Oh look! Mass manufactured preserves in glass jars! Now we don't have to can our own vegetables! Now we can eat shit that has no nutritional value whatsoever! The slaves of the lower class fell in love with the mechanical slaves that were sold to them: finally they had a class of slaves that was even lower than they were and obeyed their every command! Now they could feel that they were all powerful as lords! Power! POWER!

But what kind of power? The power to create Life? No: the power to kill Life, the power to destroy Life. The power to pollute, to poison the entire world with plastic and oil and toxic chemicals. That is not power; that is the destruction of power. That is the destruction of Life-Energy which is the root source of all our human power. But the masses were already brainwashed into servile dehumanized subhuman mass-conformity and obedience to their masters, they had already been corrupted by the ongoing increasingly mechanization of their culture and society, they had already been brainwashed into the unspoken sacred religious belief that machines are 'good' because it saved some of the human slaves from slaving working like machines for their masters. What the idiots never asked or thought of was: Why work for the motherfuckers at all? Why work for anyone as a slave? Why not just quit your fucking slave job and free yourself from your own fucking stupidity? That level of awareness has not happened yet: and if it never happens then the entire Earth is doomed because humans have enslaved themselves to shit which they don't need and is bad for them.

The Seven Sins of the undead are unspoken because they will not allow them to be spoken by living people. The Evil of their sins is never spoken of because the undead control human society. The undead have reversed everything in order to make living humans perceive evil to be good and good to be evil. Everything that is unspoken is evil; everything that is not addressed and faced in the light of day is evil. The evils of ease are obvious and manifold; but they re never spoken of and when they are they are glossed over and laughed at and ignored by society. People are not allowed to hate openly anymore: everyone is supposed to keep their hates a deep dark secret while loudly proclaiming that all hatred is terrible. Everyone professes to have no fears while living a life that is filled with irrational fears, everyone is greedy yet nobody is willing to admit it, everyone is corrupt and because of this, nobody will talk about corruption. The oil of secrecy is now being poured over every living person, keeping each brainwashed person isolated in their bubble of unreality and escapist distraction.

The use of oil spread the mass craze for mobility and travel all over the world like wildfire. The result is a species completely insulated and unaware of what it is doing to the Living Earth, an insane mass of billions of laterally mobile subhuman zombies; unaware of what they are doing and why they are doing it. One of the sins Churchill spread was the new craze to travel everywhere, tourism, boats ships, trains cars, buses, bicycles… without feeling the Earth, without touching the Living Earth: without being aware of what you are passing by; the mass evil of insularity, the stinking filthy religious feeling of mechanical power: the arrogance of power, th isolation of power; the idea that if you can travel through space without feeling anything around you, if you are completely insulated from Nature: that this makes you a 'god', it makes you feel 'superior' because you can watch life passing you by and not feel it. The idea of safety, insularity, insulation: not feeling anything: as the 'highest' fucking ghoul of humans: this was what Churchill was instrumental in selling to the masses by his lifestyle of travel all over the world by plane, by train, and by car.

Winston Churchill lived during the time when the switch from coal to oil happened; and it was because of what he personally did that the Seven Sisters of Evil were able to grow and spread the Seven Deadly Sins of evil all over the world in order to eradicate GOOD and replace GOOD with evil.

Without the mass manufacturing of huge dreadnaughts and huge locomotives and huge engines, without the insane unfeeling power of mechanized industrialized dehumanized society that war could never have been fought as it was: a bloodbath of insane mechanical destruction. Without the Great War, without Churchill bungling that war for England, without that war being extended as long as possible, without all the filthy evil inventions of mass destruction and mass distraction which came out of that war… oil would have remained a curiosity, and people would have continued to go to sleep when the sun went down and rise just before dawn, and realize that they are creatures who are subservient to the greater forces of the Universe and the Sun: and they would never have developed this insane arrogant idea that mechanical civilization doesn't need sunlight and doesn't need living forests and clean rivers and lakes and oceans… that mechanical civilization doesn't need all the other living creatures of the Living Earth of which we are only one out of millions of other species.

The point is that before the use of oil: the human species was not one hundredth as destructive to the living Earth as it has become since through the use of oil and the spread of the Seven Deadly Sins of evil. Without the use of oil spreading all over the world, without the industrialized discovery of how to make artificial fertilizer, it could not have created the huge explosion of industrialized farming… which was in turn the basic engine that fueled the population explosions before and after the 1st and 2nd World Wars. Without the hundreds of uses found for oil by chemists and the mass production of chemical fertilizer; the human populations of the Earth after these two World Wars would not have exploded into billions of more useless people than ever before… Without the two World Wars and the population explosions which these two wars caused and the spread of the use of oil which these two wars caused and the spread of the Seven Deadly Sins of evil caused by the Seven Sisters of Evil known as the Big Easy or the oil oligarchy which grew out of the two World Wars which was caused by one person: Winston Churchill… the explosion of industrialization and the factories of death and the reign of human sloth and human stupidity as a mindless king reigning over the dumber machine, which Churchill represented and led by the example of his mindless sloth and stupidity of a reptilian toad over the English people and Parliament: not as a human with human values and a human intelligence… would never have happened. And the world would not be in the horrible mess it is today and it would not have the history of the last century which it has: which is largely due to the efforts of one evil fat turd of an English aristocrat who made all this evil happen; Winston Churchill.

Churchill was responsible for not only destroying the British Empire; he was responsible for literally giving away the British Empire. He was personally for losing the greatest economic money maker of the British Empire: the refineries and oil wells of Iraq and Iran to the Americans, who quickly gobbled up what the British had thrown away; as one American oilman who lived through this era of American expansion into areas once under the control of the defunct British Empire said succinctly: "Never have so few given away so much, so stupidly and so fast."

After WW2: the Americans wooed the King of Arabia where most of the known oil reserves of the Mideast had been found by giving him a DC 2 plane for his own personal use. After that: Winston showed up with his own personal racist attitude towards the Sheik and tactic of wooing a 3rd world ruler with a box of perfume…! Upon discovering the Americans had already given the king an American plane, he hastily promised the King an English Rolls Royce. What Churchill didn't know was that Arabian Kings do not sit in the back of a vehicle: they sit in the front. When the Rolls Royce finally arrived, and the King opened the door to find the drivers wheel on the right, he sat in the left side which was the side of the wrong not the side of the right according to Muslim religion… he sat there on the left side of the car once and then jumped out of the car and never used it again; giving it to a relative of his… The point is that Churchill's crude, insensitive stupidity and arrogance, his insufferable English pig headedness and dehumanized unfeeling treatment of human beings ruined all his personal relationships and attempt at diplomacy. He didn't even know how to bribe a Stone Age Arabian turd who was anxious not to displease the British since they had been in control of the Mid-East since the Turkish Empire had collapsed from the violent upheavals of WW1.

The fact of the matter is that after WW1 and WW2… any of the military western powers could have taken over the entire Mideast region and a permanent state of world borders and politics would have ensued with little or no conflicts arising in the Middle East…. But that was not what the undead were working for.... They wanted and still want to recreate the ancient blood thirsty battles of thousands of years of mindless slaughter between the most dehumanized ancient Neanderthal and Cro-Magnons tribal feuds and conflicts… they want to awaken the oldest most regressive stupid insane ancient religious intolerance and ethnic hatreds between all modern humans in that region… So instead of telling that fucking little desert sheikh what was what and telling him that he was not getting any presents but the British would let him live as long as he kept his people in order and did not attempt to play politics and did not try to play one of them off against the other… Instead: the English and the Americans right after WW2: instantly became enemies again: which was what they had been before that war was begun by the undead to destroy all GOOD Life Energy on Earth,.

The point is that all modern diplomacy is based upon hatreds betrayals, lies, false faces, deceptions etc. The diplomacy of international relationships between nation states is based upon hate; not Love: which is why every person who works for Any govt body or institution should be given a choice: either abandon their fucking cush jobs and join the humans of the world oppressed by these govts or be killed dead. The only reason these undead filth can control billions of living humans is because you stupid slaves have willingly given away all your freedoms and willingly work for your masters.

The undead things controlling the pus-filled shell of Churchill systematically poisoned and corrupted Winston's inner soul bit-by-bit. When Churchill was 1st Lord of the Admiralty, that undead thing was obsessed with death and destruction and preparing for it by creating the most horrifying evil metal monsters of death and destruction. Because Winston Churchill was so obsessed with war and manufacturing the death machines that would be used in World War One as symbols of obsolete outmoded stupidity: that undead thing which was inside him was also in contact with all of the other evil conspiracies going on then in the realm of the undead: it was also aware of the new revolutionary evil of kerosene and oil, and the electric light bulb replacing the natural light of our sun... Suddenly hundreds of millions of humans became people of the night instead of what we are designed to be: people of sunlight and the sun: living our lives outside all day instead of what the filthy evil of what the kerosene lamp and the electric light bulb did to the energy and health of living humans. As usual: the negative evil of civilization paraded and sold these two new evils as great strides in the modern progress of civilization. Actually they are inventions designed to enslave living people into the sin of sloth, the sin of arrogance, the sin of pride, the sin of power: they were and still are complete reversals of progress: these two abominations made humans become cave dwellers again; never going out into the natural living earth, huddling inside huge overpopulated cities and thus never seeing the industrial pollution destruction of the natural beauty they had caused by the merging of these two horrible abominations of mechanical industrialization and oil. Because the undead evil hiding INSIDE Churchill was aware of this new evil technology: Churchill, that warmongering shit, pushed for the British navy to revamp all of their ships from coal to oil: giving them a much longer range and higher speed than coal-fired ships.

Because of Churchill's belligerent arrogant war-mongering stance: because he was a backwards pre-Victorian undead filthy scum; he became involved in a battle of bluster against that other filthy war-monger; the Kaiser of Germany: who had also been traumatized and damaged at birth just as Churchill had… This is not a coincidence. When you explore the evidence of undead evil constantly at work in the living world, you will find that they use certain tactics and tricks on a global scale which are repeated all over the world at the same time; far beyond the cooperative scale which living humans do.

If Winston Churchill had not treated Germany as an enemy… if Winston Churchill by his own will and hatred of Germany and his warmongering filthy toad poison had not set both nations at loggerheads with each other, on a collision course, in a competition to see which of them could build the biggest weapons of mass destruction; If the British Empire had not responded in fright at Germany's growing naval power; then The Great War would have not only been postponed: it would have never happened at all. For the simple reason that there would have been too many other problems to deal with than worry about who had the most fucking stupid useless battleships, because both nations would have been drastically transformed and changed by the growing intelligence of the new masses of people within their nations and an entirely new social order would have come out of the organically rotting decay of the old order of corrupt bourgeois Europe and their obsolete royal aristocratic filth. As long as Archduke Ferdinand was alive as the heir to the Austrian empire: Germany would never have found an excuse to go to war. Moreover when the old senile fart Franz Joseph died there would have been no military war in Europe because the entire aristocracy of Europe would have been up in arms about the new progressive laws and innovations Ferdinand would have put into place and the Kaiser would have become a firm Friend of Ferdinand and both other would have been too busy thumbing their noses at the rest of European and English aristocracy that the natural friendship between Austria-Hungary and Germany would have outshined the British Imperial colonial Empire on so many fronts that British colonies would have begun abandoning British rule and voluntarily becoming German protectorates. And all German speaking people would have come together in an ethnic national mosaic of a common culture and language without any Hitler coming into power, without any Nazis, without any World War, without the mass carnage of the Great War and WW2.

And the new culture of Tsar Nicholas: caring for his own children! This would have changed the Russian empire into a humane mass of kind considerate people who love and take care of their children just as their Tsar showed them how to do it: by staying home with his children and having fun with his own family and to hell with all the royal stupid palace pomp and ritual and political scheming and class snobbery.

All this and countless more human tendencies of intelligence happiness love wonder, intelligence questioning authority, new ideas threatening to topple the entire rotten old order were cut off as a miscarriage of the natural purpose and function of humans, by that miscarriage of fate and justice, that toad of a Churchill, because this fucking stinking English aristocratic miscarriage of life; this abomination of a toad was placed into one of the key, crucial, top positions of British power where he could ruin the course of empires and the entire fate of Mankind. Churchill… CHURCH… ILL. A sick church. A sick religion of war that is ill. The religion of illness: the religion of the undead: because that is what they all are; dying rotting turds of illness and sickness.

Now you know why that evil undead thing called Churchill insisted on invading the Turkish empire in WW1: an idea so preposterous, so out of left field that no sane human would have approved of it. It required all the hate and evil of the undead realm to power this crazy idea through the opposition of the entire war cabinet and parliament. Oh… you didn't know? Oil was discovered in the deserts of the Turkish Empire by an English geologist in 1900. The undead knew the oil was there already before WW1. Churchill was not yet completely corrupted then: he was trying to get the British Empire a lock on the major oil supply of the world for the next century which would have guaranteed the economic domination of the British Commonwealth nations and Britain for the next 100 years… but how could the living shell have known this? He didn't. All he knew was that the undead thing inside him was telling him that control of the Mideast was crucial to the dominance of the British Empire which was fast becoming a peaceful amalgam of trading partners who did not charge each other any tax whatsoever on the goods they exported and imported between each other. This tax-free system would have been copied by every other nation and empire and the entire Jewish system of greed and usury and the Rothschild evil would have been starved out of existence.

Churchill had the right 'idea' to conquer the future oil reserves of the world before anyone even knew of their existence or importance, his idea was brilliant… but like all of his life and all of his fucking ideas: it turned into a miscarriage of fate, a miscarriage of justice, into a bloodbath that killed over half a million people with nothing to show for it except defeat, retreat and the humiliation of the entire British navy, army and empire in front of the entire world, and the souring of all relations between England and all of its commonwealth countries which it needed for its very existence. And to top it off: because this motherfucking snake of a toad was being protected by huge forces of undead evil: he got away with it; and was only forced to resign from the war cabinet in shame: 'tarnishing' his fucking public image, and poisoning his inner soul beyond redemption and turning him, forcing him into more and more corrupt evil paths. His fucking public 'image' was easily repaired and falsified by the amnesiac masses forgetting the past and by the fact that he had been born into the most revered aristocratic family in England. His rotten evil was based upon the knowledge and assumption that no matter what he did: no matter how badly that asshole fucked up: he would always be forgiven and his sins forgotten by the dumb slaves of Britain. This knowledge of his invulnerability alone turned him into an out-of-control madman, a monster, an insane toad of pure evil: free from all the consequences of his actions which billions of other humans were NOT free of because they are not protected by undead evil like this fat shit turd was.

The point is Churchill had a premonitions of the future not because the undead can predict the future: they can't; but because the dead thing inside him was secretly organizing and conspiring up and working towards a certain future, working to make a certain future happen by destroying and poisoning all other possible and potential futures; Churchill sensed the importance of the Mideast which nobody else did in 1915, he sensed the importance that oil would play in the coming battle for mastery over the world not because he could see the future but because these dead rotten dying things were cooperating to make one specific plan happen, while living humans refuse to plan for the future and do not plan ahead… leaving a huge power vacuum up for grabs which the undead have stolen and poison. When you have 5 million undead ghouls slaving away in an orchestrated plan to build the pyramid of Giza: pointing out the fact that some of them leaked this plan to a living person before the pyramids were finished does not mean the undead working on this project can predict the future. The only things they are right about is the evil which they plan to commit and carry out and that is not predicting the future; that is working and planning to make a certain future happen by enormous concentrations of evil negative filth pouring into certain key positions of power and wealth and certain crucial moments in time.

Without Churchill fighting against everyone else in England and getting his way: WW2 would never have happened. The naval arms race between England and Germany before WW1 would never have happened; Germany would never have become an enemy of England. As long as Germany and England were not pouring huge sums of money and resources into building the most expensive modern technology designed to kill as many people as possible, they would have had all that wasted wealth for social programs and for the betterment of human life so that nobody would be crazy enough to risk destroying their newfound betterment with a war.

Another example of how completely evil the three monsters of WW2 were, was the fact that at the end of the war, both the American and British had managed to decode the secret codes used by the Japanese. On July 13th, 1945; the Japanese Ambassador received a coded message from the Foreign Minister of Japan ordering him to approach Stalin and tell him that Japan was ready to surrender since there was no point to the bloodshed anymore. Stalin was on his way to the Potsdam Conference: but he had not yet left. The Japanese ambassador did something that makes no fucking human sense: he refused to obey the order from his superiors in Tokyo. If you have any knowledge of Japanese culture and the mindset of Japanese civil servants during Ww2: you will realize that what he did was a complete anomaly. His refusal to follow official orders made his death a certainty on returning to Japan. As an excuse he said that Stalin would refuse the offer for surrender without even trying carry out the order to surrender… This is completely inexplicable because the ambassador was not being paid to forecast how international leaders would react to diplomatic messages: he was paid to be an obedient servant of the Japanese Empire and obey orders. His refusal to do so resulted in him receiving a second coded message telling him that that the order came directly from the Emperor himself who was ordering him to offer terms of surrender to Stalin… and still he refused to follow the orders from Tokyo…! And Stalin left for the Potsdam Conference without having the 'official' offer of Japan willing to surrender in his hands. This makes no fucking human sense UNLESS you factor in the INTERFERENCE of undead EVIL ghouls violating humans living auras and making them do what they would never normally do.

The Soviet Bolsheviks may have cracked the Japanese code, but… it is now known that the Americans and British had cracked the Japanese top secret codes and they both knew before the Potsdam Conference that Japan was ready and willing to surrender and end the war with the only qualification that the legitimacy of the Emperor would still be respected… which was exactly what the Americans did when Japan did officially surrender; thus creating an abomination on earth: a nation calling itself a fucking 'democracy' while retaining a fucking ancient fucking medieval emperor as part of its fucking governmental constitution. How sick is that? A fucking 'democracy' that still has its ancient feudal out-of-date fucking 'Emperor'? That is not a democracy: that's an abomination of Democracy; it's an abomination of the undead preserving the worst filth on earth, while destroying the very BEST. This happened on purpose because of intentional intervention and violation of living people by undead filth. And this is why all of them must be exterminated with extreme prejudice

The abomination of the Japanese nation having its chance at a new start and being given a new type of governance where its own people had the political power to vote… being stuck with its corrupt old system of Imperial filth is just as sick as the French Revolution which originated from the Republican Democratic values and ideals of Equality and Liberty. After the French killed their corrupt king and queen: instead of a fraternity of equals, it became a crazed bunch of murderers, devolving into an authoritative police-state with a fucking emperor at its head… which is even worse than having a fucking king. And nobody notices how fucking stupid and crazy this is: WHY?

A revolution that kills its king and queen and tries to create a new society based upon the principle of Equality suddenly turning into a police state ruled by a fucking emperor? That does not make any fucking human sense at all. That is not a social revolution: that is an abomination of a social revolution. The only reason the French revolution was sidetracked and poisoned was because thousands and millions of undead violated the bodies and lives of living French people in order to reverse the positive trend they had begun and twisted it into a fucking abomination of Equality, Liberty and Fraternity. Learn from history! The handprints and footprints of these filthy undead shit turds are all over human history!

The Potsdam Conference damns these 3 monsters as the evil foul things they actually were. Stalin wanted to invade Japan and get as much territory and power as he could; so he didn't give a damn about any honorable offer to surrender by the Japanese Emperor. Churchill knew that Japan wanted to surrender but he didn't say a word of this to the western press. Truman that monster not only did not tell the American press of the willingness of Japan to surrender: he ordered the dropping of the atomic bomb during the Potsdam Conference.

His order to drop the A-bomb can be found in the war archives of the US war dept. His order was sent by a secret coded message from Potsdam, telling xxxxx to 'discharge' the xxxxx with one qualifying addition that it was not to be 'discharged' before Aug 2nd 1945. Four weeks later on schedule his order was carried out and two Japanese cities were destroyed and the new era of mass hysteria, mass terror of nuclear destruction and nuclear proliferation was introduced into the world because of HIM and Einstein and the Jewish scientists who wanted to drop an atomic bomb onto Germany, because the undead controlling these pus filled Jewish things knew if Hitler won the war, 4,000 years of evil would be destroyed in a flash and Jews would be exposed for what they actually are: a pariah species, a parasite people, racist scum feeding off the rest of Humanity while pushing their cunning agendas for Jewish world dominance. The guilty always accuse the innocent of their own crimes, motives and intentions.

This secret… that the dropping of the two A-bombs was completely unnecessary has been kept hidden… that is, until David Irving discovered the secret documents about Japan's ambassador refusing to follow orders, and the orders from Truman scheduling the dropping of the A-bomb during the Potsdam Conference; four weeks after the Potsdam conference… thus distancing himself as much as possible from the secret evil he knew he was committing, so nobody would guess that the four weeks of killing and bombing and war in the pacific continued for no other fucking reason except this corrupt shithole was being controlled by undead forces.

This tactic of distancing yourself from a secret order you have made was a carbon copy of the cunning way that the Kaiser distanced himself for being responsible for escalating the Austrian-Serbian diplomatic scandal of assassination into a World War. By the Kaiser going off on a trip to Norway after he gave the green light to the Austrian Emperor to go to war against Serbia; giving him carte blanche, giving him the total support of Germany in whatever he decided to do militarily… the Austrian Emperor thought that with Germany protecting Austria: that Russia would not dare attack and invade Austria for attacking Serbia and even if they did, Germany's armies would protect Austria from any possible invasion. In the same way that the Kaiser hid his secret evil motive to go to war against Russia and France by taking a trip to Norway instead of staying in Berlin where he could have stopped the escalating war of words… the diplomatic telegrams speeding between the capitals of the major powers of Europe… so too did Truman distance himself from the unnecessary dropping of the A-bomb by withholding the true fact of Japan's willingness to surrender from the entire world, and ordering the dropping of the bomb in advance… the instant he found out that Japan was ready to surrender.

Why did Truman only decide to drop this horrible thing on two cities right after he secretly found out that the Emperor of Japan was ready to surrender? Because he was afraid that the reaction of the dropping of the atomic bomb on Japan would enrage the Japanese so much they would have refused to surrender and would have fought to the death; to the last man, woman and child: which they would have… if they had not been ordered to surrender by the emperor himself…

An emperor w*hom the Japanese masses mindlessly worshipped as a living god*. Once that filthy fucker Truman knew the Emperor himself was behind the offer to surrender: then that stinking evil nasty hate-filled evil racist American shithole knew he could let his true evil self out and let loose the most horrible evil he possibly could on the Earth; because he knew that the servile slaves of Japan, the meek, servile, humble brainwashed, dehumanized

Japanese masses would obey their emperor's orders to surrender after he dropped those two bombs even if they wanted to continue fighting to the last man, woman and child. The Karmic backlash of his dropping those two bombs on Japan was the destruction of the Twin Towers in New York 56 years later: which is yet another hidden orchestrated evil perpetrated in total secrecy by the undead

If the Japanese had refused to surrender at the dropping of 2 A-bombs on Japan, Truman was afraid his dropping the 2 bombs would have been seen by the world as the most stupid, the most horrible, the most inhuman, monstrous thing a conquering force could do to a small defenseless population which it actually was and the whole world would have reviled him and the Americans as inhuman beasts, monsters, demons of hell which they actually were.

Understand this: never give in to evil: never surrender to evil. The surest way to your own total destruction is meekly surrendering your will to another. Never surrender your free will to anyone or anything or any authority. Use your free will to create Beauty and Love and Happiness and Fun and Friendship. Never commit anything you know is evil. Never commit yourself to anything that is evil. Do GOOD by destroying evil. The reason this phrase is hated by all evil people is because it is the only way you can defeat and destroy evil.

That was why this evil monster Truman only decided to drop these two evil things on two innocent cities after he knew that Japan was going to surrender anyways… regardless of what he did; regardless of how many more innocent lives would be killed because of him continuing the war. He did not want to be perceived as being inhuman even though he actually was. He had to sell the lie that dropping the two atomic bombs was actually a 'humane' 'intelligent' way of ending the pacific war against Japan. In this way: his war propaganda dept and psychological warfare dept sold this monstrous lie to not only the American people but to the entire fucking brainwashed world of subhuman insane apes: giving the illusion the deception of the Americans being 'the good guys' when the exact opposite was the truth and is still true.
Churchill knew about this also. By then he already knew he had attacked the wrong country, the wrong leader, the wrong ethnic race… now he knew that the Americans were planning to drop the a-bomb on a Japan that was not only ready but eager to surrender for no other reason except using hundreds of innocent living humans as guinea pigs to test a new weapon of mass destruction. And he went to his grave and kept his filthy dirty lying mouth shut about this. Just as he kept all of the dirty filthy unspeakable secrets and crimes and abominations he was guilty of.

The other true hidden secret reason the 2 atomic bombs were dropped on Japan after the War Departments of both Briton and America knew Japan was eager to surrender exemplifies and underscores the true basic evil of modern civilization… which is science.

The dropping of the 2 atomic bombs on Japan was done as a scientific experiment; as a genocidal extermination of human life. It was perpetrated, planned and carried out as a SCIENTIFIC EXPERIMENT: to see how many human beings could be killed by this foul insane device, this invention of the undead. And then this insane horror: this insane evil thing, this invention of the undead called 'science' was subsequently sold, touted, in commercials, in propaganda, in movies, on radio, books, comic books, magazines, commercials, billboards, in newspapers, on television, by govts, businesses; glorified and revered and put on a holy sacred pedestal: WHICH NO LIVING HUMAN IS ALLOWED TO CHALLENGE OR QUESTION AS BEING not only AN UNQUESTIONED 'good'….. but as the 'greatest' good that Mankind has ever yet produced.

The actual truth is the COMPLETE OPPOSITE of this lie; this myth; this religion; this unspoken belief.

The insane detachment from reality, the detachment from all responsibility of the consequences of such a horrendous decision which was done by scientists and by military personnel and by the top corrupt political powers of the Allies…. matches the insane detachment the undead have towards the living people they poison and corrupt and manipulate and control for a very good reason: Science, technology and all military inventions of mass destruction are inventions of the undead; they are the greatest evils of modern civilization.

If you have any ethic of honesty: you have any humane morality of honesty being the best policy: this one fact alone reveals the fact that these 3 monsters of the Allies were not only pure evil: WW2 was the most evil war in human history and the western powers of western civilization are the most evil, cunning lying swindling obscene filth ever born on earth.

This was the fucking climax of how his war ended; the war which Winston Churchill invented, pushed, goaded and created out of nothing. How can you can make sense out of his Life? Winston Churchill was born a mongoloid imbecile, and then chosen to fill a role by the dead. He was carefully programmed, brainwashed, trained and manipulated to act out his part in the web of evil that permeates the entire world. The fact that the undead who controlled him: were more cunning and evil than any of the other undead. Except that he was the foulest evil revolting non-human reptile on earth is not even all of it. The insane thing is that billions of brainwashed programmed subhuman apes went along with this: the whole fucking world followed Churchill into this escalation of death and destruction and dehumanization of all humans willingly!… on all sides of the wars millions of these crazed things marched to their deaths just like they did in WW1 a short 20 years before. And to top it all off: this most horrible of all wars was then marketed and sold! as the only fucking 'good' war ever fought when the exact opposite is true. WW2 was the worst war ever fought, and it was won by the foulest, most evil, corrupt filth on earth in order to destroy and kill young healthy Life on Earth while preserving the most rotten corrupt, dehumanized subhuman filth possible.

You think Winston Churchill was only responsible for escalating the war against Germany into a world war by running bombing raids at night over Berlin and other cities? WRONG… Think again. The truth is the American ship Lusitania was filled with explosives and it shouldn't have been As Lord of the Admiralty, he secretly loaded that ship with explosives and then leaked the information to the German High Command because he knew the German High Command would order their U-boats to seek and destroy the Lusitania. The sinking of the Lusitania forced America to join Britain against Germany. Without that Britain would have lost the war and there would have been no atomic nuclear horror and no World War. The list of crimes against Humanity he was personally responsible for goes on and on and on… all leading to the destruction and death of hundreds of millions of people. There are no words to describe how evil this puppet of the undead was.

The Undead and Judaism

One thing I should make clear is that as far as I am concerned, I do not make any distinction between what people call Ashkenazi Jews and other Jews. The Jewish culture itself poisons nearly every baby and child born into this foulness regardless of their bloodline… first because of the barbaric mutilation of their male baby's sex organs. I have met and known too many different Jews from too many different backgrounds and racial ethnic origins to see any basic difference in what they end up becoming due to their Jewish families and their Jewish cultural environment and heritage. If it is ever proven that the 2,000 yr-old custom and tradition and practice of Jewish usury comes only from one specific genetic bloodline, I will be very much surprised. If it is proven that the Jewish evils of sexual lust and rape and blind hatred against all Mankind comes only from one specific bloodline, I will be very much surprised. The fact is that filth attracts filth; whether it is Jewish or Protestant or of any other religious or cultural or ethnic origin or background. All civilized human cultures are evil. The Jewish culture just happens to be the most evil of them all in the west, and because it exists inside an evil structure called civilization it has risen to the top of that shit pile.

A perfect example of how Jews form criminal cabals and take over all money-laundering and banking in their filthy worship of gold and money is the formation of the B.I.S. The Bank for International Settlements: formed by the Allies to funnel the German payments of reparations after WW1 to the Allies. The BIS was the first Jewish controlled central bank of Europe. It later became the World Bank: which is now involved in the stripping of all wealth in the world from non-Jews and funneling all of it into Jewish hands.

During WW2 the BIS continued to do business as usual: funneling the interest payments of those who had invested in the German Reich, so the Jews and other war-profiteers could keep on making their filthy profits. The BIS emerged unscathed from their collusion with the German banks after WW2.

Their 'pragmatic' approach to the world of money was and still is that a World War is no reason to interrupt the flow of money from one bank to another. The message of the war profiteers is simple: money is more valuable and more important than human life. 25 million humans can die to make a few Jewish bankers richer, but the flow of sacred holy money must never be impeded.

Basically what the Jewish culture of avarice and greed of two world wars was saying to the entire human species is that Jews and their subhuman lust for profit and their greed is superior to all human activities, morals and values: money and profits must come first! All else must perish rather than one hair on the head of a single Jewish banker is harmed! Which is what is happening right now: All the bankers who have stolen trillions of dollars are untouched and revered by this sick, insane species that follows its corrupt evil leaders to its own doom. These Jewish international bankers whom Hitler railed against and who kept their true identities and activities totally secret were the true masters, engineers and architects of the unnecessary war called WW2. Churchill was merely their one of their pawns.

When Hitler conquered France: the head of BIS merely moved his family to Switzerland to wait out the war and lived in a castle with 40 servants; completely untouched and indifferent to the horror that was going on all around him in Europe and then after the war he picked up business as usual. All investigation into the BIS was halted and all of the heads of that Jewish cabal were whitewashed after WW2 so nobody would know just how evil the Jewish culture of international banking is. The head of that Bank, a man called Kittredge: later became the head of Chase national Bank which is now one of the powerhouses of Jewish greed and evil in the world.

What is striking about Jews is the ferocity of their avarice when denied their 'profits'; what they imagine is 'owed' to them: What is still striking today is how they try to squeeze every penny out of Germany for their imaginary lost businesses and properties and bank accounts which they never had. One rage these Jewish bankers developed against Hitler was the fact that he had the BIS ship all of Germany's gold held in the BIS accounts back to Germany. When Hitler took over Czechoslovakia: an artificial county made of Slovaks, Germans, Hungarians Poles and Jews: He got the BIS to send all of Czechoslovakian gold stored in the Bank of England back to his vaults. This evoked an uproar of protest from the Jewish controlled English Parliament. This was an enormous affront to the evil gold-ghouls who are bent on amassing every ounce of gold into the coffers of their controlled Jewish living shells so they can gloat over the fact that they have it all! All! Nobody else can have wealth or property or jewels or gold! The Jews must show themselves as the greediest most corrupt ethnic minority in the world by stealing everyone's wealth! And still the dumbed down masses do nothing as they are being systematically robbed all over the world by these cabals of Jewish Money lenders: still they do not have the guts or intelligence to follow the trail of gold and evil to the lair of the evil ones and kill them dead.

The point is… all of the Jewish cabals: all the banking Mafioso and their cooperation with each other only exists because they are all linked together and specifically controlled and manipulated by undead filth to commit, perpetrate and spread the evil of money: the worship of profits as much as possible… so the human species will never wake up and realize that it can live WITHOUT money, that humans helping each other can live WITHOUT gold, WITHOUT greed, WITHOUT avarice, WITHOUT selfishness, WITHOUT evil. But the human masses are too controlled and poisoned by their own undead to wake up to this simple fact. The masses have been corrupted and poisoned with the exact same greed which the Jews have infected the entire human species with.

Another point worth mentioning is just how I found this information about Winston Churchill and his ancestral undead. I picked most of it up from the very same propaganda documentaries that whitewash and glorify him. It really isn't very hard, provided you know what to look for and how to connect the missing dots… which is to say, the unnoticed presence of undead evil lurking in the lives of all living human beings. Now you can begin noticing it also in your own life and fight their evil.

Get this through your head: it is not just Adolph Hitler and Winston Churchill who had their lives ruined and poisoned by their own undead family ghouls and other undead ghouls around them and inside them: it is every single living human on Earth whose life is being ruined, controlled and poisoned by their own undead ancestral filth… this includes you… do you fucking understand?

How can the existence of undead ghouls controlling the most powerful politicians be proven? By their tell-tale signature of their persona: by their personal character. For example compare George Bush Jr. to Winston Churchill. How can you tell the same undead ghouls that controlled Churchill also control Bush Jr.? By the similarities of their personality and family history. Both are mental retards. Both are alcoholics. Both 'win' a war and in doing so, trigger the events leading to the destruction of the imperial hegemony of their nation's power, prestige and international status. What does Bush Jr. do when he retires from political office? He takes up oil painting of all things! Oil painting! The fact that his paintings are atrocious is not the point. The point is that the life of Winston Churchill and George Bush Jr. have many similarities which expose the footprints of undead ghouls controlling the most powerful people in the world. The 2 Iraq wars are a miniature recreation of the 2 world wars of the 1900's. The personal motive for George Bush 2nd war against Iraq: finishing the job his daddy started is similar to Churchill's recreation of his ancestor the Duke of Marlborough's military victories; wanting to outdo his father.

George Bush Jr's family is filled with a long history of evil and corruption, just as Churchill's family had. Both of these families became agents working for the richest most powerful international bankers living in their nation. The fact that this mental midget who can't read books because his attention span is at the level of a mongoloid idiot decides to take up oil painting of all things after he retires is a screaming red flag that the same undead filth who poisoned and controlled Winston Churchill are now poisoning the soul of the body of George Bush Jr. Another telling sign that the same undead evil that controlled Winston Churchill controls Bush Jr. was his cherubic smile and the twinkle in his eye whenever he appeared before the public: just as Winston Churchill had when he was in power and committing secret crimes against Humanity, and the same pontificating 'serious' manner of his speeches declamations of his press appearances as if he were reading from the bible which he uttered with such false authority that nobody dared to challenge or question him; exactly as Winston Churchill uttered his ponderous speeches which he had painstakingly pre-written, and rehearsed. But once these two characters are out of the public eye! both of them exhibit a stupidity that is incredible. Both were sent to the highest schools in their respective nations where only their family's name and influence and status and money got them through. Both of them are inveterate cowards posturing as braggarts and bullies. The last time Churchill was in power he did nothing and left the entire running of the nation to his 2nd in command: which was exactly what Bush Jr. did the last time he was in power.

When an undead ghoul violates and takes control of a living person, their persona merges with the persona of the living person by secretly sublimating themselves cunningly into the body and soul of their victim, so the living person will not notice they are being violated and poisoned and gradually taken over, so they will not notice how their basic, personal secret motives and motivations are being slyly, cunningly manipulated and twisted. By choosing someone who has enough aspects in their family history, their character traits, their faults and weaknesses that are close to or similar to the last living person they secretly poisoned and manipulated: this is how these undead shit turds work, preserving their secret positions of a shadow govt, a shadow corporate oligarchy, a shadow realm of undead scum controlling the richest most corrupt people in the world.

You the reader do not have any luxury of detaching yourself from the truths revealed to you in this book. You who have the curiosity, tenacity and Sense of Pure Wonder required to be able to read my book, is just as poisoned by the undead as everyone else who is living. The only difference is that now you are aware of it, now you know it, while seven billion other living humans don't. The only difference between them and you is now you know it and now can do something about it, while 7 billion other living souls can't, because they don't know about it yet.

Your job now is to spread the message of my book to every literate person who can read, so they can read this book, so they will understand this, so they will become as enlightened and aware of evil as you are now. You cannot escape this responsibility spreading the truth just as you cannot escape the responsibility of knowing the truth: just as you cannot escape the predicament you have been forced into by your own undead ancestors violating you. These undead criminals need to be hunted down and exterminated with extreme prejudice.

In order to commit the massive, worldwide, global catastrophe of WW2; the undead concentrated as much power into the fewest hands possible so they could orchestrate, control and manipulate the entire charade and fiasco of WW2 without needing to bother with corrupting and controlling the millions of underlings who blindly obeyed Churchill, Roosevelt, Stalin, and Hitler… and Mao and the Japanese Emperor and Mussolini etc, etc… This was why the 20th century was an era of dictators and centralized powers all fighting against each other. This is what these undead things do: they create false artificial conflicts, turning friend against friend, turning friends into foes, creating discord and strife and chaos. The undead are experts at pitting living people against each other in order to systematically ruin and destroy every positive element in human society. Saxons fighting against Saxons! Japanese fighting against their own ancestral kin! Anglo-Saxons fighting their own ancestral kin!

The point is that NO human baby or child is ever born intrinsically evil. It is their culture which makes then evil and stunts their potential and poisons and weakens and corrupts them. It is undead wraiths and entities that poison their bodies and souls beginning from birth that systematically poisons them and makes them evil. It is the miasma, the prevailing presence of evil which systematically stunts and warps and twists every child born into a dehumanized wreckage, a desensitized foulness of corruption.
IF Jewish culture did not practice inhuman bestial castration upon its male baby's sexual organs.
IF Jewish culture did not brainwash its children into the cunning ways of deceit and hypocrisy.
IF Jewish culture did not preach and practice all of its ancient obsolete customs.
IF the Jewish culture did not worship their sacred fucking books of the Torah, the Talmud and their Old Testament Bible.

IF the Jewish culture was not a culture of cunningly AVOIDING OBEYING the few, rare ethical and moral commandments and teachings contained in the mass of filth considered to be their sacred texts which are GOOD.
IF the Jewish culture took the few rare ethical teaching of the New Testament and the Old Testament and correctly sifted out all the lies and hypocrisies of all the two sacred writings
Then the Jewish culture would be a GOOD culture …

But then it would not BE Jewish anymore.

It would be a UNIVERSAL moral ethical spiritual physical emotional wisdom that is applicable to all humans on this EARTH. In fact it would not be a culture at all, it would just be people living and learning and exploring; without being poisoned by the past, without being poisoned and manipulated by undead satanic, malevolent evil entities.

The same can be said for every other fucking civilized culture and religion in the world today. In order to develop a healthy HUMAN culture: you must get rid of all the old cultures, all the old religions; PERIOD. You must get rid of ALL culture… ALL of them are evil. ALL of them are corrupt. ALL of them are poisoned. Not just the Jewish culture. I repeat: not just the Jewish religion is poisoned; ALL religions and cultures are poison. In order to understand the evil of Jewish culture, you must put it into its proper relative context, as it is actually related-to and connected-to all other civilized cultures and religions. This includes getting rid of all atheism and agnosticism: the stupidity and insensitivity and lack of intelligence in saying "I don't know for sure if undead evil entities actually exist'… or believing that there are no undead spirits and demons and devils; both of these assumptions are obsolete. All of it is a civilized pile of shit and the higher up the pile you go, the more that shit stinks to high heaven.

You can read about the explosion of Jewish awareness and intelligence in the Jewish history of the time in which Jesus lived. It was an explosion of new ideas and also an explosion of hate and inter-racial conflicts between different fanatical sects of Jews; each one convinced that all the others were utterly wrong and corrupt. Each one had some good ideas; none of them were intelligent enough to sift out all the bad ideas and put all the good ones together for a simple reason: all of them were poisoned by undead entities who were doing everything in their power to ruin everything these fanatical Jewish sects were trying to create. And when the undead couldn't destroy the basic communal goodness and love of these fanatical sects: they sent a huge Roman army to starve them out of their mountaintop fortress in the barren deserts of Judea and exterminate them to the last man woman and child. That was Masada.

These Jewish fanatics of Masada accurately realized and understood that all of Roman civilization was corrupt and they wanted no part of it. Their decision to isolate themselves from all the rest of humanity by living in the desert and mountains surrounding the Dead Sea did not work. These fanatical Jewish sects died out or were killed and that was the end of them. The first known Jewish fanatic to reject all human civilization was John the Baptist who lived in the desert as a hermit and told everyone who came to see him to reject the civilized material world. The result was he was brought in front of the evil king Herod and had his head cut off for the crime of having such an intelligent insight. His insightful teachings were so dangerous, the undead feared it would spark unrest throughout the region and destroy all of their evil which they had worked for millions of years to build up. That was the standard way in which the undead dealt with any living human who had ideas they did not like or thought were dangerous: decapitation. They believed that by cutting off human heads, they could stop humans from having any more intelligent ideas or intelligent insights into the true nature of Life, their reality and the nature of the realm of the undead.

It didn't work. Along came Jesus and began teaching the same basic doctrine as John the Baptist. He had to be gotten rid of also: this time by a public crucifixion. That didn't work either. His ideas spread throughout the Mediterranean coast. This resulted in a massive Roman campaign of slaughtering the poorest fishing villages regardless of who they were in order to stamp out the notion that civilization itself is intrinsically evil.

This didn't work either. The people of the fish-sign who were killed for no reason became martyrs. More communities began following the corrupted texts and teachings of Jesus until there were Christian communities all over the Roman fucking empire like gnats and lice on a dog's back. No matter where the Romans tried to scratch another bunch of Christian lice sprang up until it became a religion of the slaves who were owned by rich Romans and other wealthy people.

It took 300 years for the undead to infiltrate this spiritual idea and movement and slowly systematically corrupt it, and bring it back into the corrupt evil fold of Roman civilization: where it continued to rot and fester… until the Roman Empire rotted and died, and was replaced with the rotting carcass of the leftovers of the idea that civilization is intrinsically evil. The undead then used the best insight into the intrinsic nature of evil and twisted it around so it became the opposite; until it became the centralized epitome of wealth and power and corruption and the personification of evil: so it became the centralized religious organization of the Roman Church which became the Catholic Church of Europe: the complete opposite of John the Baptist's and Jesus' basic message: that all civilization is intrinsically evil, and all accumulation of material wealth, status and power is intrinsically evil. It became the most powerful, rotten, corrupt, evil, wealthy instrument of undead evil for another thousand years until it too regressively rotted and is continuing to rot into decay and total corruption…

The point is, human history cannot be fully understood unless you include the existence of undead malevolent evil spirits affecting every human decision and every single human life beginning with the first human apes that walked the plains of Africa millions of years ago, right up to the present day of modern human evil: the CIA.

Al-Quaeda has now been correctly identified as a puppet-shadow organization funded and created by the American CIA. They were used as 'assets' to fight the Russians in Afghanistan… then the CIA used this organization as a scapegoat, blaming them for the attack of 9/11, which was actually a CIA-Pentagon run operation; planned, synchronized and orchestrated by demons in the realm of the undead, using the CIA as their main instrument of evil. Then the undead through their instrument the CIA, used Al Quaeda as a non-existent enemy of Western capitalism and democracy in order to create a false state, a false perception of global terror; now they are being used in false civil insurrections in Libya and Syria, for false flag operations to destabilize and topple Muslim govts such as Egypt, Libya and Syria.

Why are the undead doing this? In order to delude and deceive the people of the world and distract them and keep them occupied so we will not understand and realize what their ultimate goal and agenda actually is. The undead invent shadow enemies and shadow organizations like Al Quaeda and false wars like the Iraq war, so people won't realize who the actual enemy is, so humans will not understand who the agents of evil actually are and where they reside and who is actually pulling the strings and how they actually operate. Of the many layers of deceit, deception and hidden evil of the realm of the undead, we the living can only perceive a tiny part of their cunning secret machinations.

If you pronounce the word Quaeda: it is a REVERSAL of how you pronounce CIA: Quaeda is pronounced C-A –I with a hard C instead of C-I-A with a soft C. It has now been discovered that Al Quaeda is actually a secret CIA data-base. Just like the evil nation of Jewish Zionism, Israel is a reversed vowel spelling of what IS REAL; this is because the values of Zionist Israel is a reversal of what is GOOD and REAL it is a reversal of Reality, Humanity, Honesty and Truth… So too is the pronunciation of vowel sounds in the word Al Quaeda a phonetic reversal of the word C-I-A… which is spelled phonetically because its secret agenda and values are a reversal of the CIA charter and the wishes and intentions of the American people. CIA… DAta base… C-A-I-DA… An information base: a base of information. All information = AL. Al Quaeda. Get it? ALLAH. Question Allah. Question God. Question all the sources of your information and you will discover the hidden swindles, the lies, the cover-ups, the conspiracies, the ugly truth, the hidden evil of the undead, the evil of all religions, the evil of all govts, and how they are used by undead things to corrupt and destroy all Mankind and the whole living world.

What is REAL? What is reality without evil? Rational Energy is All Love. It is a love for Life and all living creatures; it is a love for all the Living Beauty of Nature. This is what Jesus taught. But you cannot teach this when you are being poisoned by evil. You cannot practice it while you and the entire world is poisoned by evil. First you must destroy and kill that evil. Israel is the opposite of what Jesus taught. That is how much the undead hate truth: they have to poison it over and over and reverse it again and again because if they don't they will be found out and killed dead and utterly destroyed.

What is happening now on the international world scene? The American CIA is using Al Quaeda as a puppet shadow organization to attack and destabilize the last secular govt in the Mideast; The CIA used Al Quaeda operatives to destabilized the Kaddafi govt in Libya. Libya has now been destroyed and its entire way of life and economy ruined and put under the control of the international gangsters of the IMF etc: who are all linked to the evil Rothschild international ring of banking criminals. Now the CIA has targeted Syria. Coincidentally, Syria is also one of the two last national Govts in the western world not yet owned and controlled by the Rothschild mafia of criminal banksters. All the regimes that are not controlled by the mafia gang of pure evil Banking criminal dynasties are being toppled and ruined. The last ones remaining are now Syria, Iran and North Korea.

The CIA term for CIA secret agents is "assets', it is a financial term because the CIA is inextricably linked to the huge illegal corrupt money-laundering operations of drug money by the transnational banks, which are owned and controlled by the richest wealthiest Jewish banking families in the world. This corrupt international triangle of drugs, war and power is feeding off itself by feeding on all of humanity and sucking the financial lifeblood out of billions of living dupes. This spider web of intrigue, secret organizations, secret transactions and money is now the main instrument of global evil used, controlled and manipulated by undead filth to continue their hidden agendas. The secret power and wealth of the British Empire was based upon the profits of drug money; the profits from the drugs: Spices, Coffee, Sugar, Tea, Opium. Just as the secret wealth and power of the US hegemony and the international banks and corporations depends on the drug trade of the Golden Triangle and the Poppy-opium-heroin drug industry.

What is the true hidden evil of the terrorist organization 'Al-Quaeda'?

The Muslim word Quaeda means data-base. It was named by the CIA for the data-base of Muslim religious fanatics who they trained and hired to fight the Russians in Afghanistan.

The true terrorist organization is the data-base of the CIA itself: not the shadow puppet it created. This secret evil organization is being used by the undead to create a culture of global terror all over the world. The CIA has in its centralized computer files the greatest data-base of personal information in the world. The undead, using the CIA as one of their main instruments of evil, are trying to steer the whole world into accepting a bio-metric 'national identity card' which will include your DNA information, tax information, fingerprint data, credit and criminal history, social profiling and medical history all linked to a central database. By manipulating the masses by a matrix of fear and fear mongering and brainwashing, they want to introduce a computer chip which will create a 'moneyless society', an ID chip implant which cannot be 'lost or stolen'. This will be the only card you will need to 'buy and sell' anything of monetary value. And by this cunning evil tactic, gain total control over all humans on the Earth and turn them into dependent, servile obedient slaves.

The data-bases of the CIA in their offices in the Twin Towers and building 7 held too many incriminating files of their operations, so they decided wipe put all the records using a false flag operation which was spearheaded by George Walker Bush and his crony Dick Cheney and his corrupt oil buddies and corrupt corporate heads; together with the corrupt Jewish controlled New York city and Silverstein who made billions off the catastrophe

The point is if you want to find the true source of evil you must search for the ones who control these puppet organizations and kill them dead: not the underlings. The CIA is the TRUE terrorist data-base of secret evil on earth which must be fought; not the puppet-shadow organization of the CIA called Al Quaeda, but the CIA itself.

This American CIA is the TRUE evil which is now gaining power and is secretly spreading its influence and evil all over the world at a breakneck speed that is almost completely hidden from the masses and is setting up the entire planet of humans for a planned, orchestrated set of catastrophes and false flag operations in order to create an unreal illusion, an abstract matrix of global terror, a global matrix of mass sociopathic panic, a global matrix of total unreality, a matrix of global fear… in order to bring about their goal of total centralized world domination by the undead…

This is NOT being planned or done by living humans.
The undead are using living humans as their puppets

This is why the evil secret operations of the CIA have been kept so well hidden; this is why the CIA has infiltrated itself into every power group in the western world. This is why the synchronization between the CIA and all of the other spy networks of other nations and why all the powerful leaders of commerce, govt, media, and society and religion are sending the same brainwashing messages to its citizens and masses. This is why all of the most powerful heads of international evil somehow always seem to be on the same page, cooperating with each other and never fighting amongst each other. The push for centralized world totalitarian rule and oppression is not coming from the CIA, or from the Rothschild mafia banking cartel, or the federal Reserve or the IMF or the World Bank, or the Bilderberg group, or the Council on Foreign relations, or the Club of Rome or the Freemasons… these secret societies are just the shadow fronts for the true hidden secret evil shadow societies of the undead, they are just instruments of the true evil ones; the shades of the undead.

The scam, the artifice of ID implants is another hoax. The undead have already implanted themselves and embedded themselves into the living bodies of their human hosts. They have already secretly implanted themselves for millions of years into living people. The idea, the culture, the technology of the ID chip implant is just a symptom of their implanted embedded evil presence hiding itself inside living people. I = Undead ENTITY D = DESTRUCTIVE. I D… I Destroy… get it?

What is behind all this intrigue is the hidden, secret long-range plan of the undead to artificially polarize all of humanity once again into fighting itself and destroying itself, as they did twice before in the 20th century… their goal, their ghoul is to create a 3rd world war, so once again Mankind battles Mankind, so living humans kill each other and all Humanity is destroyed and the Earth is destroyed and becomes a radioactive wasteland where nothing is left alive, where everything is dead.

There is no fucking difference between the extinct Scandinavian worship of Odin and the Norse Gods and what is happening today in the Mideast. The undead feast upon human conflicts, battle, killing and hate because they are re-living their own negative wasted lives over and over again because they are intrinsically negative. They enter the bodies of living humans to re-enact their own deaths, and then they go back to their shadow realm, refreshed from sucking on the ebbing life-energy of dying mortals, and re-living their own deaths, and go back and do it all over again… over and over and over. These undead things need to be completely killed and exterminated.

Whether it is a war between the polarized Muslim nations of the East and the secular nations of the West: whether the war is between America and China, or America against Russia and China… or the USA against India and China… or a war between Jews and the Arabs, the undead are constantly working to artificially invent and create enemies where none had existed before; inventing hatreds by artificially polarizing and increasing tensions between Muslims and Jews, Christians and Jews, Arabs and Jews, etc. By artificially polarizing and increasing tensions between nation states, between religious sects, between ethnic cultures, between different religions; this artificial push for a 3rd world war is now being seen and recognized as a huge threat and a huge danger by many intelligent individuals.

The problem is… those who see it coming do not see deeply enough. The evil threat and the push for a 3rd world war is not coming from Hillary Clinton or the Rothschild mafia criminal gang of banksters, or the CIA or Nit Romney (He's a nothing, a fucking nit: manipulated and controlled by undead shadow nits-nittling little negative entities). The real evil is not a shadow govt or a shadow new world govt or a shadow new world order… the real evil is coming from the shadows of the dead, the shades of the undead, from undead ghosts of undead evil demons and ghouls.

The real war going on is between all LIFE on Earth versus the undead demons and ghouls of the Realm of the undead. The real war going on is between LIFE and death. Until humans are educated and enlightened as to the true nature of evil which exists inside each living person and exists all around them all the time, they will never understand that the undead are using them as puppets to kill each other… and that all differences of culture, class, ethnicity, religion, etc were invented and created by them, and all these artificial differences are secondary to the difference between the living and the undead. Until living humans understand who their real mortal enemy is, they will never stop killing each other. Until living humans realize they are being used and controlled and manipulated by undead rotting evil thing into killing each other, they will never know who their common enemy actually is and how easily they have been duped and corrupted and poisoned by these undead entities.

The undead have been winning this war for only one reason. That reason is because we the living have not yet woken up to their existence and realized that there even is a war going on between the living and the undead… and that it has been going on for hundreds of millions of years and that it is going on all the time, night and day. Is because the living have not even realized that a state of war even exists between the living and the undead, and that it has always existed and will continue to exist until one side or the other wins. This book is written to wake you up to this hidden truth.

The war going on for possession and control of your Inner Soul, for you Inner Integrity, for your Honesty and Courage is going on every second of your LIFE; and it is determined by your Outer Self, your Outer Actions in the World, by how Honest and Courageous you are in living your Life every second of every day and every night. And how much you succumb to fear and cowardice and dishonesty and self-deceptions and how much you lie to yourself and to others, and how much you act out of Courage and Honesty and how much you fail to act out of fear and hate and envy. And how much you Love and how much kindness and caring you show to all living creatures great and small. And how much you sin and how many crimes you commit and how much evil you do and how much GOOD you do.

But you can only do this if you know the difference between GOOD and evil. You should never give evil any caring, tolerance, love or kindness. You should have a zero tolerance for all evil: both inside yourself and outside of you.

The point is, if there is a 3rd World War, the only ones who will win are the dead; not the living. The point is: the secret conspiracy of the undead to set up, orchestrate, manipulate the entire world of Humanity in order to invent an artificial excuse to spark a 3rd world war, comes from undead evil entities that are hiding INSIDE and all around every living person on Earth.

The push for a 3rd world war is coming from key people in power in key crucial positions who are able to advance and push this agenda of Armageddon, this insane suicide of the entire human species entering into a third world war because they are being cunningly controlled and brainwashed and manipulated by undead entities.

The unforgivable intrusion of undead evil into the lives and affairs of we the living isn't a just recent phenomenon. These undead rotting filth have been interfering in lives of living humans for millions of years. Their secret tricks of manipulating and controlling living creatures unknowingly… so they are not aware of being controlled and manipulated, and using them as observation posts and listening posts, as secret agents of evil; has existed for untold millennia.

Now these undead shitwads see the final culmination of all their machinations and conspiracies approaching and reaching a head and as always, they have overreached themselves and prematurely revealed themselves as undead ghouls secretly controlling the most powerful and wealthy people in the world; as they did with David Icke.

What do you think David Icke's vision of an undead lizard-man was? The undead aura of a lizardman superimposed over the living aura of the Queen of England…? That undead abomination, that incestuous merging of the aura of a human undead soul that had hidden and lived inside a reptile for too long… was intentionally exposing his secret invisible existence to Icke… leering and sneering at David Icke, certain that this sportscaster, this idiot would never tumble to the actual truth, that Icke was far too blind and too corrupt to ever see farther than his own delusions of grandeur. And it was correct. Icke has not pierced the veil of evil hiding secretly inside himself… not just the Queen of England. He hasn't detected the presence of undead evil lurking filth hiding inside himself. He hasn't explored the inner depth of this own soul… He hasn't discovered that ALL living humans are poisoned by undead entities; not just the fucking Queen of England…

I have. Which is why evil people fear me.

It is really incredible when you think about it, the illogical irrationality of it, when the fact of people being possessed by evil spirits and demons has been documented throughout history, while modern historians and scientists assume that nobody else was ever possessed or controlled or manipulated by undead spirits except a few, rare, documented cases… When the record of all human cultures is filled with tales and legends speaking of how invisible gods and spirits influenced the lives of mortal humans.

Nobody bothers to make the connection that maybe these spirits and demons never went away… that maybe they still exist, that maybe they have always existed, that maybe after millions of years the accumulation of these undead things, they are getting more powerful, not less. That maybe all these undead auras of all the living people who ever lived are still hanging around.

There is documented proof of life after death. The existence of ghosts has been proven… And?... taking the next obvious logical step is completely missing, the logical rational inference from this one fact is missing, it is stopped in its tracks, the next logical step is not taken. If one person who died still exists as a ghost; then every single fucking human who ever lived must also still exist as a ghost. If one person's soul survives as a ghost after physical death, then ALL the people who ever lived exist as ghosts.

The idea of one person's spirit lingering on an intangible level of energy which we the living cannot perceive, in an invisible realm we cannot see… and millions of other people's spirits who died evaporating without a trace?

So only one out of a million human spirits lingers on after physical death and all the other ones don't? Huh? So one out of a million souls survives physical death, and the other 999,999 souls disappear without a trace? Bullshit.

Why does nobody make the logical inference? Why is the next logical step not taken?… Why does nobody make the logical conclusion that if there is one ghost, one proof of life after death, then this must be true for ALL living creatures, not just one… that all physical living creatures that physically die, leave behind undead auras, ghosts which survive their physical death… That the reason why the logical inferences from proven evidence of the existence of undead auras are not followed up and the next set of logical conclusions are not made is because these evil undead entities do not want you to know of their hidden existence, that they do not want you to even suspect that they exist… that they do not want you to even think they might exist… And that they actively do everything they can to prevent you from thinking that they might exist. And that they actively persuade you on subtle subliminal levels of consciousness which you are not aware of… that they don't exist. And that they want you to remain ignorant of their existence for a very good reason: because they hate all living creatures, because they are your mortal enemy, they are the mortal enemy of all Life on Earth and they know it. Because they know if you knew this then you would kill them… you would kill all of them. You would hunt them down and kill all of them dead.

To give you an example of how undead turds manipulate and fool living humans: Christianity exists today as one of the three Western religions because an Emperor heard voices. Because he heard a voice telling him to convert to this small religious sect: an entire empire was forcibly converted to this small sect which would have died out naturally if it were not for an Emperor hearing voices in his head.

The undead have practiced these tricks for thousands of years. The greatest Catholic saints heard voices which they attributed to angels or Jesus or God. Kings had dreams foretelling them of victory in battle. Omens, tokens, icons, dead bones, dried desiccated pieces of offal, trinkets: have been believed to have supernatural powers. The religion of Christ on the Cross would not exist today if it were not for the undead inventing this religion for slaves to worship another slave nailed to a cross… thus wiping out by cultural brainwashing the horror and brutality of the Roman empire; a people that killed millions of their slaves as painfully, and sadistically and slowly as possible so they would suffer the maximum amount of agony, degradation, humiliation, suffering and pain. If this stinking religion had not been invented and spread throughout the Roman empire before its complete collapse:… the Roman Empire would have not have lasted as long as it did, it would not have been glorified or copied later on. It would have been spat upon as it deserves to be spat upon; as a filthy evil culture of cruelty and enslavement and the worship of killing and bloodshed. Worshipping a Crucifixion after 1,000 years of Romans killing millions of enslaved people in this way? Why not worship the Gallows! Why not worship the guillotine! Why not worship firing squads! The mass insanity of worshipping anything without questioning it is easily exposed only IF you critically examine and question it logically in its correct context and meanings. Why did the dead spread this Semitic religion of a man dying nailed to a cross? Because they had to SANCTIFY this horrible sadistic brutality in order to take AWAY the focus on the millions of slaves the Romans crucified. If this stinking religion hadn't been invented: the Roman Empire would have been known as the civilization that crucified its victims. Crucifixion would have been looked on as the raping of children by child molesters is looked on today: a bestial unforgivable crime. But since Christianity turned crucifixion into a religious holy ordeal! Given religious meaning! Why then the fact that Romans did this to their poorest most helpless victims for hundreds of years BEFORE this one Hebrew was also killed in this horrible way… why then… LET EVERYBODY IGNORE WHAT THE ROMANS DID TO EVERYBODY ELSE and focus only on what they did to Jesus! Wonderful! Ignore millions of other sadistic crucifixions and sanctify nailing only ONE living human to a cross and left to die as painfully and as slowly as possible! That's NORMAL.! Nothing to be upset about the fact that this was done for ONE THOUSAND YEARS to MILLIONS OF OTHER POOR SLAVES. These undead ghouls put these words into one of their puppets whom they controlled: the mass murdering scum known as 'Stalin': One death is a tragedy. A million deaths is a statistic". What the undead mean by this is that living people not only do not have any knowledge of their hidden existence: they do not have the faintest conception of just how evil they actually are and how long they have been in existence. If they did there would be an all-out war between the puppets who are controlled by these things and people who still have their own soul and have not been corrupted into evil.

Because stupid human slaves allow themselves to be controlled and terrorized by a centralized authority, all it took for the undead to change the course of human history was for one stupid evil, corrupt Roman Emperor Constantine to hear voices in his head… and voila! Suddenly he has been 'chosen' by a great invisible god to lead his armies to victory! Suddenly he has been converted from a disbeliever into a devout Christian fanatic!

Whoopee. Any fucking madman or manic who hears voices in their head today is put into a mental institution and kept under lock and key, but not 1,000 years ago! For over one thousand years, the greatest sign of wisdom and spiritual authority was the idea that a few, rare, privileged assholes lived lives of such exemplary nobleness that da great 'god' almighty or Jesus or an angel or whatever bullshit these voices were ascribed to, came all da way down from 'heaven' and spoke to these saints or kings or Emperors or Popes or goatherds or shepherds personally. The entire fucking papal authority and the authority of the fucking Catholic Church; the richest, largest church in the world… comes from the Catholic belief that the Pope has a direct line to God himself! This was the standard superstition which corrupt cardinals used to gain power by. This claim… that 'Jesus' or 'god' spoke to you and told you what you must do has been used by religious nut cases and brainwashed baboons for eons of time…

I had a vision! I had a dream!... Not even Martin Luther King today could have gotten away with claiming God had spoken to him in a dream; yet the stupid human species swallowed this kind of crap for thousands of years until they finally began to wise up to the suspicion that they were being gulled, fooled, taken for a ride. The result was the undead merely switching their myths and lies to hide their true existence by convincing people that the undead don't even exist. That god is dead!

This doesn't mean there aren't people who hear voices in their head or have dreams or visions. The point is: they never question the source of these phenomena, they never investigate; they never question the true Nature of these paranormal experiences, they never question the authority of whatever voice or dream or vision they have. Try asking whatever contacts you just who the fuck they are; and watch them disappear and never come back again, and refuse to answer all your direct questions. Try asking whatever voice or dream or vision to prove that they know better than you do, and see them disappear once their swindle is exposed.

Think of it… if Constantine; Emperor of the Roman Empire had not heard voices in his head: if he hadn't had a dream which he believed came from higher power… there would have been no Christianity as a major state religion... and subsequently no Muslim religion either, no Holy Roman Empire, no Crusades, no Mohammedan civilization, no Protestant Reformation, no Industrial Revolution, no WW1, no WW2, no Capitalist consumer manufacturing, no overpopulation of the human species into 7 billion rats running around in circles inside their caged minds, no global destruction of the entire Earth's eco-systems, no global pollution and poisoning of all life forms on Earth… This is how easily these undead things have poisoned the course of human events throughout history by controlling and poisoning the top ruling elite.

How can you fight this? By telling anyone who claims to have any higher authority TO GO FUCK THEMSELVES, that's how. By NOT TAKING SHIT FROM ANYONE, that's how, By being INDEPENDENT and doing your own thinking, by thinking for yourself; that's how. By STANDING UP FOR WHAT YOU LIVE BY; not what you die by; that's how . BY NOT TOLERATING ANY KIND OF EVIL in yourself and in others; that's how. BY NOT LIVING LIKE SLAVE; that's how. BY NOT THINKING LIKE A COWARDLY SLAVE: that's how BY NOT WORSHIPPING ANYTHING or ANYONE… that's how., BY BEING CRITAL OF EVERYTHING AND EVERYONE INCLUDING YOURSELF; that's how. By QUESTIONING EVERYTHING; that's how. By having a Sense of Pure Wonder about EVERYTHING: that's how. By NOT TAKING ANYTHING FOR GRANTED; that's how. BY STUDYING THE PAST AND LEARNING

FROM YOUR MISTAKES AND ALL THE MISTAKES OF HISTORY: that's how. BY BEING HONEST; that's how, BY NOT LYING TO YOURSELF; that's how. BY NOT LYING TO ANYONE; that's how. BY HAVING COURAGE; that's how. BY NOT KEEPING ANY SECRETS; that's how.

The undead are everywhere… I can give you proof from my own experiences, but that would take up another 2,000 pages. Let me give you just one example of what I mean by the fact that undead spirits are not an exception: they are the rule, they exist everywhere. When I was in high school I let two city boys I knew who I thought were my friends, go up to our cabin in the woods in the Laurentiens at the end of the summer. We were all working at the same A&W hamburger joint in the kitchen, and they went up to our cabin without any supervision two days before I could, because I was still working. I didn't realize that they were city boys and had stupid ideas about living in the woods. The stupid fuckers were terrified of the forest and wild animals and brought along a 22 rifle.

We had been feeding the raccoons for years by leaving our dinner dishes outside on the porch at night. It was one of the entertainments of living up north in the woods: hearing the mother raccoon give quavering sounds asking if it was all right to come up to the cabin was our signal to go to the inner porch, and turn on the outer porch light. We could see in the darkness the reflections of the eyes of mother raccoon and the baby raccoons behind her. Coming on the porch to make sure it was safe, she signaled for the little ones to come up too and they licked all our plates clean so we didn't need to waste much water washing them. Our cabin was at the top of a hill and we had to haul up all our drinking water from two natural springs lower down on either side of the hill. The only water we had for washing dishes came from water collected from the roof of out summer shack, so it was a nice little arrangement for both us and the raccoons.

Not knowing this, the two city boys had made some kind of dessert and left it outside on the porch to cool at night, which was stupid. Finding a raccoon eating their dessert, they freaked out and shot the mother raccoon dead with a 22 rifle that had brought with them; which was a thousand times more stupid.

Then one of them cut off her paws and put it on a tin pie plate and stuck the plate on the roof of the shack; the sick fuckers.

All this happened before I came up to join them. When I found out what they had done I was furious with them and disgusted and angry. You don't kill innocent wild animals when you go up north in the Laurentiens. It was not hunting season and the only people who did any shooting did it during hunting season and they did it in the regions where no cabins existed because shooting anything without a license in our area was illegal and they only shot moose or deer during hunting season; not raccoons who had lost their fear of man because the summer cottagers left things outside for them to eat. For years I had thought that we were the only ones who did this, later I found out everybody else had also been doing it. The raccoons never told anybody about their regular schedule and nobody had bothered to mention it until many years later after the custom had disappeared and also the raccoons. I never invited those two assholes up north again: the first time to up to our shack in the woods was their last time.

A year after this happened, one of these two asses had a psychic experience which scared the shit out of him … he had woken up one morning paralyzed… filled with terror, and sitting there on the ledge of his open window with the morning light streaming through its undead aura was a furry shape that had furry ears about the size of a large teddy bear…and it was looking at him… He didn't know what it was. All he knew he was awake and it was daylight, and he couldn't move and was filled with an unspeakable terror. He was convinced he had been visited by an evil spirit, but he didn't know why or what that evil spirit was.

Only many years later did I understand what had happened to him. He was the one who had brought the 22 rifle up north and had cut off the dead raccoon's paws. The undead spirit of the raccoon he had helped kill and mutilate had visited him and had made him just as helpless as he had made it by cutting off its paws. The hate which that undead raccoon had for him was so visceral, so powerful it had frozen him so he couldn't move even though he was wide awake.

A few years later after the incident, the other one who had actually done the killing suffered a massive injury to his spine in a car accident and died from it in the hospital. What had happened to him was the spirit of the undead mother raccoon had finally gotten her revenge on him… It had also promised dire vengeance on the other culprit in a visitation by his bedside 70 miles from where the killing had been committed; a warning of what will happen to him when he is on his deathbed and all the once-living undead spirits he harmed during his life will come to visit him and tear him limb from limb in revenge for what he did to them.

I was never visited by any undead raccoon spirit. I like raccoons. Many years later, I moved into an apt house in Montreal where a mother raccoon ousted a cat living in a pet house on the top floor on the back porch … just below the roof of the building. And raised 3 or 4 babies there safely. The woman who lived in the apt and owned the cat who had been kicked out of its own home died a year later of undisclosed causes. After she died, the raccoon family disappeared from the pet house on the upper porch which her cat had once lived in. The undead spirit of the mother raccoon was re-enacting a negative re-creation of its own death; raising the babies she had been prevented from raising when she had been prematurely killed and also wreaked her revenge on the person whose porch it took over. Blindly trying to kill the living tenant who lived directly under the roof; not the true culprits, not the two jerks who actually killed it 40 years ago, not the undead spirits who made them do it… just repeating its mindless hate and revenge over and over as a negative tape, a negative energy vortex guided and manipulated by other cunning evil undead ghouls and filth….

The evil of the past was being slightly healed because I like raccoons and the living raccoon sensed that where I lived would be a good place to raise her family. The raccoon family lived warm and safe in the pet house for one summer and one winter on the outside porch of the 3rd floor as close to the roof as possible in the apt building I was living in because of my positive presence. But that included the evil presence of the undead raccoon whose motives and presence were 100% evil and negative and blind.

I never injured my spine, except once when I tried to pick up a piano with one hand instead of two, and that was just a slight injury. I shouldn't have let those two go up north without me being there, but it would have required a massive amount of wisdom which I had not developed yet when I was only 18 years old… and though the undead have tried to shoulder me with the responsibility of many things which I am not responsible for, I have never tried to intentionally harm any living creature, so I have never had to fear any karmic revenge or retribution from any undead entity. The point is: everything you do to harm any living creature you will pay for sooner or later; in this realm or in the next.

One more reason the undead are evil is not only entering the bodies of living souls, and re-enacting their own deaths and their own hates, killing and being killed… not only that; There is also the evil of them killing each other in their own realm every chance they get. The undead spirits just leaving their dying bodies being attacked and killed by the very same undead filth who had been secretly inhabiting and poisoning their living bodies… undead filth who have managed to survive because they are and the worst inhuman killers, the most brutal, insane monsters of that poisoned realm of undead horror, the most cunning, sly, evil filth making sure that the ones dying are not given any chance to survive, killing them before they can learn all of the subtle little tricks of the conditions and energy formats of the energy-levels they dissolve into and mutate into. Before these innocent dying souls can even know where they are and what they are: they are pounced upon and overwhelmed and attacked from all sides by the undead which have been hovering and poisoning their bodies all their life until these innocent undead souls are destroyed.

The evil of these undead things is not just the filth and sins and unspeakable violations they commit upon living people in the realm of the living… it is the crimes and evil they commit upon each other in their Realm of undead horror. It is what they do to each other and how they poison each other, and hate each other, and kill each other which is also evil. This is why they must be exterminated with extreme prejudice, not only by we the living, but by all honest decent souls who have passed into their realm who are forewarned and aware of their dirty tricks and their cunning tactics and forearmed with the foreknowledge needed to kill them before they can kill you. Once you are prepared to slay them and hunt them down. Once you have no fear of them whatsoever; then you will see them fleeing from you and trying to hide themselves. Then you will be able to track them down and kill them DEAD DEAD DEAD.

Understand this: in order to survive, the undead depend on instilling irrational fear into the souls of the puppets they control. They depend on poisoning you with their own fear in order to even exist. They depend on projecting and injecting their own fear into you in order to weaken and poison you so you will be vulnerable to their attacks. They depend on scaring you, on frightening you, on shocking you, on taking you by surprise. They depend on attacking you when you are not looking to be attacked… from behind, where you can't see them. They are seeking to take advantage of you in every possible way they can. They are seeking to exploit every possible weakness they can find. Once you become wise to their tricks: once you discover how much more powerful you are than they are: you will kill them and not stop killing them until they are all killed dead.

You need to understand that these undead things exist in a permanent state of negative hatred and evil; they are not human. These undead things do not have any human agenda or motive or intention. They are secret invisible ghouls that spread hate, envy, fear and malice everywhere they go. They spread death, disease and destruction. Their malevolent evil influence and hidden presence throughout human history is why all the conspiracies planned and perpetrated throughout human history do not make any human sense. They must be exterminated from the face of the Earth and killed DEAD. Evil humans must be recognized for what they actually are: possessed and controlled by the undead; and hunted down and killed DEAD. Evil must be recognized for what it is and exposed and hunted down and killed DEAD.

During Reagan's term in office, the corrupt American FDA and Vice President George W. Bush Sr. allowed Monsanto to start selling genetically modified cancer-causing seeds in America. Now over 75% of all food in America contains GMO plants without any true testing of their effects on human health. Most of the corn and soy crops in America have been replaced with GMO terminator seeds by Monsanto. The health dangers and effects of eating GMO plants has already been documented, but this does not stop Monsanto from spreading its seeds of evil all over the world. Now the link between why the bees have been dying and the spread of GMO plants has been discovered. Scientists have discovered that the insecticide genetically implanted by Monsanto into their seeds of death is killing off all the bees who come into contact with the poisoned pollen from GMO plants. The destruction of the bee population all over the world will trigger a huge global dying out of all plants that depend on pollination to exist; this is now destroying the bedrock of sustainable eco-systems all over the world.

Replacing heirloom seeds with GMO seeds will create worldwide starvation and put farmers into perpetual debt slavery. In spite of the worldwide ban on GMO seeds, the spreading use of this genetic poison is still going on against the wishes of all but a few rich powerful people. The fact that Monsanto is buying up nearly all of the seed companies in the world and selling terminator seeds which are genetically programmed to die is not a part of any 'New World Order'. It is only one small part of the undead conspiracy and war of the undead against all Life on Earth.

Monsanto GMO terminator seeds spreading death, starvation and hunger all over the world, killing bees everywhere all over the world, spreading genetic poison all over the Earth is not a conspiracy of any living human consciousness. It is just one more bit of evidence revealing the malevolent undead agenda of the undead to poison and kill all Life on Earth. There is a secret unspoken war going on all the time and if you do not rise up and actively fight against evil people committing evil, you will be poisoned to death and you will starve to death and you will die. If you do nothing you will be killed, you will be systematically dumbed-down, poisoned, weakened and corrupted until you either die or become one of them. There is no inbetween: either act or you are evil.

What do you think chemtrails are? The undead are poisoning the atmosphere of the entire fucking world as quickly as they can; they are trying to poison the entire fucking atmosphere with poisonous chemicals that poison the rain and poison the snow and the air and every living thing that breathes the poisoned air or drinks or uses that poisoned water which comes from the poisoned snow melting into the streams and rivers all over the world.

Another insidious undead conspiracy which is taking over the world is their attempt to put everyone in debt for the rest of their lives. The stealing of trillions of dollars by mafia criminals called bankers, stealing trillions of dollars from billions of taxpayers in order to put the masses into the poorhouse and into perpetual debt, plus the capitalist system of tricking ordinary people to go into debt for the rest of their lives is aimed at ruining everything mankind has built up and killing the human energy of positive Life and Love and Freedom. As long as you are in debt you are in a state of bondage; you are a slave; you are owned, you have sold your soul for money. What you need to understand is that Debt is DEATH: the two words are pronounced the same because they mean the same thing.

Financial debt is slavery of the human soul; debt was invented by undead filth in order to destroy Love by insidiously replacing emotional Love with the corrupt Love of money. Selling your soul for money is the death of your humanity and your human spirit which you are born with. The abolishment of all debt would free the human species from its slavery to the evils of capitalism. Until the masses rise up and destroy the corrupt evil which is destroying the entire Earth, until the masses of humanity refuse to be taxed and refuse to be in debt and refuse to pay all debts: the slavery of the worship of money will continue to be one of the main instruments of undead evil. Only when you realize that you are in a constant state of war to the death against all forms of evil will you wake up and stop sitting on your ass expecting to be saved by someone else.

There is no inbetween: Either you act, or you are evil. Either actively fight evil, or you are a panderer to evil and/or an enabler of evil. Evil triumphs by good people doing nothing to stop it from spreading. If you do nothing to stop evil then you are evil; then you are being controlled and manipulated by undead filth. You have been brainwashed and programmed into being a timid little terrified lemming, afraid of saying anything or doing anything which might endanger your own safety and your own selfish little existence.

The Evil of Talmudic Jews and Jews of the Torah

The difference between a Jew and Goyim as understood by Talmudic Jews was accurately stated by that instrument of undead evil: Rabbi Menachem Mendel Schneerson; one of the most evil Jewish Zionists of the 20th century; may he rot in Hell forever for the vile hate and evil he spawned and spread during his evil existence. This is what he said:

"This is what needs to be said about the body"

To begin with this exposes him as an instrument of evil, the undead consider living physical humans to be SHELLS at their disposal. The body of a living person is for them only a repository to be filled with their undead filth. They do not value or consider the inner soul of any living human to be worth saving and they do not see any living person's intelligence, humanity and character as being anything but a hindrance to their using every living human as a pawn for their own filthy evil purposes.

"The body of a Jewish Person is different from the body of a member of any other nation of the world."

This is because the living body of every Jew is more effectively poisoned and infiltrated with the most evil of undead entities. The undead ghouls which violate the living bodies of living Jews are by far more negative and negatively powerful than the undead ghouls of any other human undead.

"The Jewish body looks as if it were in substance similar to the bodies of non-Jews."

This instrument of pure evil: Menachem Mendel Schneerson this hatemonger, this Jewish racist is speaking of the undead bodies, the undead auras that poison the living bodies of Jews being completely different from all other undead who poison their offspring. That is because in the realm of the undead: more undead filth have gathered around this one race for more thousands of years in order to poison AT THE VERY BEGINNING, their budding humanity and intelligence, and so the CONCENTRATION: the INVISIBLE CONCENTRATION of undead evil surrounding every living Jew is DIFFERENT in the eyes of the UNDEAD….

Not in the eyes of living people. Living people see no difference in the physical bodies of Jews and non-Jews because we cannot SEE their invisible filth hovering around every living human… This evil instrument of hate and racism is preaching the unvarnished doctrine OF THE UNDEAD… to living Jews… as a RELIGIOUS DEFINITION of what the difference is between a LIVING JEW and a living human who is NOT a Jew.

"But the bodies only seem to be similar in material substance, outward look and superficial quality."

Here Schneerson is screaming out to anyone who has the insight to understand that the positive LIFE-Energy of the soul and body of a living human is NOT the same energy as the negative filth that these invisible undead ghouls are made of, that ONLY THOSE WHO ARE POISONED BY UNDEAD FILTH CAN SEE THESE AURAS of evil.

THIS unspeakably evil poisoned Jew ATTRIBUTES the most 'holy' spiritual godliness to these undead ghoulish filth. He is saying that Jews are more 'holy' then Goyim because of the huge concentration of EVIL surrounding every living Jew. What this filth has been programmed and brainwashed into is REVERSING THE TRUTH, REVERSING THE PERCEPTION OF EVIL AND GOOD: perceiving GOOD to be evil and perceiving Evil as GOOD.

"The difference of the inner quality however, is so great that the bodies should be regarded as a COMPLETELY DIFFERENT SPECIES."

Here Schneerson is speaking of how the entire living aura of a living Jew is poisoned so completely by the undead filth which have hounded and poisoned this one race, that the aura of that living person, the invisible life-aura together with all of the undead auras poisoning it is so great: that it no longer resembles the aura of any ordinary living human. This is where the universal racism of Zionists comes from. It comes from undead who are using the bodies of these most poisoned of all Jews and others to destroy all life on earth. This unspeakably evil rabbi is preaching the religion of universal hatred towards all living humans who are not as poisoned by undead filth as he is poisoned by them. Zionists are lionists;' they lionize lies. Zionists glorify lies. The letter "z" is the negative letter "n" lying down,* like all lions do… in broad daylight. The second you attack a lion lying down in broad daylight it will run away scared out of its wits. The instant you physically attack a lying Zionist lying in broad daylight it will run away scared out of its wits also.

Understand this; the attitude of any Jew regarding non-Jews as not being human is the classic reversal of truth. It is proof of the existence of their being evil. The actual truth is that every Jew who regards gentiles as not being human is not human. These inhuman undead filth merely reverse the truth: nothing else. It is they who are not human. Not the other way around! It is they who must be exterminated as the foul inhuman poisoned filth they are. These sick, deranged shells who consider all 'goyim' as not being human are the pure undead evil. It is these filthy evil racist hate filled Jews who need to and must be killed dead, dead, dead.

Their passing into the realm of the undead will not be missed by one single human being because it is these evil Jews who have not given one bit of love to anyone in their entire sick evil lives but instead only create more evil in the world. If you kill every single Jew who believes that gentiles are not humans: you will have killed most of the evil Talmudic Jews in the world and good riddance to their stinking filthy rotten existence. And what's more: you will feel GOOD about killing them dead.

"This is the reason why the Talmud states that there is an halachic difference in attitude between the bodies of non-Jews. Their bodies are in vain."

Again: this puppet of the undead, this mouthpiece of evil is speaking about the difference in attitude… what kind of 'attitude'? Here the unspoken assumption remains hidden. He is not speaking of any physical difference between humans, but the difference of the attitude: which he perceives to be more important that any thing else. The 'attitude' towards all living things and all humans who are not evil must be one of hate, destruction and usury. Non-Jews are to be used like cattle.

The 'halachic' difference is the holographic difference: the difference which hollow undead ghouls can see and we the living can't… hollow, hala, hologram, hallowed, hollowed; undead filth auras which surround and corrupt living Zionists; these Hebrews have been chosen by the undead for over 3,000 years to be their main instruments of evil

"An even greater difference exists in regards to the soul. Two contrary types of soul exist. A non-Jewish soul comes from three Satanic spheres while the Jewish soul comes from holiness."

Here… the undead cunningly hiding inside this Rabbi again reverses the perception of everything: the actual truth is that it is the Jewish soul that is satanic in attitude and values and outlook and practice and how they live their filthy evil Jewish lives. Not the other way around.

It is the souls of non-Jews that are holy because they have not yet been poisoned to the degree that the Jews have been by their own undead filth. Their evil comes from the living brainwashing and programming of their minds and hearts which they have received from their own Jewish culture: not the deepest most inner recesses of the Jewish soul: which has been split apart into three undead controlling entities: which use the same old tactic of divide and conquer in order to ruin and corrupt the integrated wholeness of a living Jew so they are forever detached from themselves. Detached from their own emotions, detached from their own thoughts, detached from their own actions by this multiple personality complex: these poisoned Jews can lie better and deceive others better, and most importantly: deceive themselves better.

Understand this: the living Jew who is split into these 3 controlling satanic evil forces cannot and will not look at itself, they all refuse to look at themselves. ALL Jews refuse to look at their own evil. The reason they refuse to look at their own evil is because the hidden undead hiding inside them are so in control of the living body they secretly inhabit that they the undead, not the living body automatically block all awareness of their evil presence from the living person they poison and control. All denial of truth is evil, All denial of truth is evidence of the control the undead have over corrupt or weakened traumatized living people's bodies, minds, hearts and souls. Evil refuses to look at itself because when it does: it kills itself: it commits suicide because it hates itself. One thing evil can be recognized by is the refusal to look at oneself. The refusal to even consider looking at yourself is proof of undead control over you so you will not look inside yourself and discover the invisible hidden poison filth which they are. The religion of self-deception and self-deceit; which the Jews have now spread by their mass media as a global religion of mass culture is because they as a culture and a race and a religion are controlled by undead evil unspeakable things. Jews spread their evil culture in order to corrupt all of humanity so everyone will become just as corrupt as the Jews are.

Now ask yourself… why should anyone trust a Jew when everybody knows Jews are the most untrustworthy people in the world? Why should people trust Jews when their entire culture is based upon deceit, deception, bullshit, lies, distortions and untruths? Yet people do: the entire world of Man is beholden to Jewish bankers; all Mankind is dependent on Banks for their money. All humanity trusts banks: they trust banks to lend them money, they trust banks to keep their hard-earned money, they trust banks to run entire economies. They trust money as a form of exchange. What are they actually trusting? Printed on every American Dollar bill it says explicitly: In God We Trust." It is not the money they are trusting: it is their God they trust in. it is the evil God of money, the satanic lust of avarice they are worshipping and trusting; it is all Gods, it is their religion they trust in; money is only a token of that trust and it is that insane trust in an invisible, non-existent deity that is destroying the world and has been, ever since the undead invented this form of evil.

All gods are evil. All money is evil. Metal coins, paper currency is just another way of undead shit scum reducing three-dimensional Life Energy into dead, two-dimensional, inorganic symbols of the power they hold over living humans, it is an obscene, insane regression from 3 dimensions into 2 dimensions. It is a destruction of Life and Humanity; it is turning human love and human trust into an evil abomination of deluded enslavement, a slavery of the mind, the destruction of humans trusting in each other, the destruction of Love, the destruction of Friendship, the destruction of Honesty, the destruction of Courage, the destruction of the Human Sense of Pure Wonder, the destruction of Happiness, the destruction of all Fun and Playfulness

The fact is: the only reason civilization works is because living humans trust each other… the only reason the evil system of money works is because living people who depend on each other and trust each other to do what they say and say what they do. Money is only a token of that trust. But it is an evil token which creates and fosters mistrust instead of trust. The moment you start valuing the token more than you do other human beings you become evil; you become inhuman, you become a cold, unfeeling selfish pig that doesn't care about anything or anyone but yourself and your own selfish little personal concerns.

The fact is: when humans wake up and realize that they are being used as guinea pigs by these undead turdshit assholefuckers they will stop using money. They will stop trusting in greedy Jewish bankers. They will stop trusting banks. They will stop believing that greed is good. They will stop believing in greed. They will stop believing in God. They will stop believing in religion. They will start believing in each other's humanity and honesty and decency and kindness. They will discover that the only thing that makes life worth living is not money but Honesty, Courage, Decency, Kindness, Trust, and mutual Respect. But in order to be trusted you must earn that trust not by being greedy and the selfish making of money but by being trustworthy and honest and not lying or cheating or stealing or swindling others. In order to earn that respect you must earn it by respecting LIFE and the right of every living creature to live its own Life without you harming them.

The fact is: everybody knows that greedy people are the most untrustworthy people on the Earth. Then why should anyone trust them? Yet everybody does because they have all the money. They have more money than others because they are more willing to rob, kill, cheat, steal, lie, swindle, deceive, collude, conspire and commit every abomination, every crime, every sin just to get that money.

The present world situation now in 2013 makes it perfectly transparent and obvious to the meanest intelligence that people are being controlled from the top down to the lowest person on Earth. Even the stupidest person can understand what has happened and what is going on. A small criminal syndicate of Jewish banksters have stolen trillions of dollars of the world's wealth and yet nobody stands up to stop them or even tries to stop them. Nobody even tries to stop them. Nobody kills the bankers or jails them or puts them on trial for their lives. Nobody burns down their mansions. Nobody speaks about the evil that Greed is… Nobody speaks about the evil that Greed makes people do. Nobody even says that money is the root of all evil. This is because the entire population of living humans is being controlled by undead shitturds who must be exterminated and killed DEAD. Understand this: Gods are not good: god is EVIL. All gods are evil INCARNATE. Money is not good: all money is EVIL. All banks are EVIL. All bankers are EVIL. All greedy people are EVIL, and the root of most of this greed and evil comes from the Jewish race, from the Jewish invention and practice of usury, from the minting of money, from the using of money.

One point should be made clear: not all Jews are completely corrupted by these undead things. Jews who are introspective and feel guilty about the legacy of their religious and cultural identity, Jews who are not Zionist hate mongers, Hebrews who try to practice the GOOD ethical and moral values of Judaism are not intrinsically evil. It's just their culture and religion that is overwhelmingly evil; it's just all of civilization that is overwhelmingly evil. This is why civilization must be dismantled, taken apart and never allowed to exist again. This is why ALL undead filth must be exterminated with extreme prejudice. This is why all GOOD people must wake up and understand that the only way to win the war against evil is by killing every evil person in their midst. Search out among you who are the most evil and kill them dead: identify the evil inside yourself and kill it dead. When you do that: you will realize that evil has NO power over GOOD. God is not GOOD. God is evil. All religion is evil. Decent humans do not need religion or civilization in order to live happy healthy lives filled with meaning and purpose. Living inside civilization is automatically a meaningless existence which is evil. Only when you get rid of all civilization can you cleanse yourselves of evil. Why is God not Good? Because the difference between God and GOOD is: O and OO. That is the difference between the monocular vision of an undead reptile-bird entity and the binocular vision of a living human which sees things in perspective. That is the difference between the cold-blooded hate of reptiles and the caring love of humans. Undead ghouls have no perspective and no love; they are not human. They have only malevolent hate towards all living creatures. They must be exterminated and killed DEAD.

Why did the MF Global Corp. go bankrupt on Halloween? Because the undead were screaming out the truth that M*any* F*iends* of the undead from all over the globe were responsible for its collapse. The financial corruption that is now global, exists because there is a GLOBAL conspiracy of the undead all over the world: the fiends and demons of the underworld and overworld of the Realm of the undead have now mounted a global attack on the entire civilized world of finance by increasing the greed and avarice of the corrupt upper elite to the point of pure criminality. Hallow's Eve. Hollow beings: undead filth: the hollowness of bankruptcy: the emptiness of a hoax that has been exposed; the emptiness of money. That's what happens to people when you value something that has no intrinsic actual worth. It's an undead joke. They are slyly telling us who is really behind all this fraud and stealing. After corrupting the whole world into the worship of money, the undead are ruining their hoax on purpose; confident that living human dupes will never see through the sham of replacing one prophet with another: the unspoken religion of the worship of profits instead of the worship of ancient prophets; get it?

The European Union is now centralizing all of its financial power into a small centralized cartel of private international banks exactly like The Federal Reserve; which owns and controls the US govt and the US economy. Europe is creating its own shadow govt run by a small mafia of criminal banksters; like England did and America. Behind these banking Mafioso are the undead secretly controlling everything that these evil slime do. Behind the shadow governments are shadows of undead evil. The push for a 3rd World War is happening at the very top of these filthy evil empty pyres of wealth and power; just as the orchestrated push for WW1 and WW2 was planned and pushed by those at the very top of civilized evil. Either you fight them or by your inaction as an enabler of evil, they will destroy the entire world you live in; it is up to each individual person: that means YOU and me.

The human species needs to be educated that it has a common enemy and that enemy exists at the very top of all power structures in the world. Once all living people understand that they have a common enemy, once they understand that the undead are in a constant state of war against every living person, humans will stop fighting each other and killing each other and the entire human species will come together in order to fight for its own Life, to fight for all Life, all living creatures. Then these undead things will be hunted down and killed and exterminated with extreme prejudice until all of them are completely and totally DEAD.

There are evil people and good people everywhere. The worst evil exists at the TOP of every pyramidal structure of civilization. Good people must learn to identify those at the top who are most poisoned by evil and kill them dead. The time of tolerating evil is over: finished. Good decent honest people must learn to stop tolerating any and all forms of evil: both in themselves and in others. It is time for good to attack and kill evil: not the other way around. It is time to rid the earth of all evil. That means you either act and fight against evil or you are evil yourself: there is no inbetween.

Stop fighting and hating each other! Stop arguing against each other! It is undead evil inside you who are doing the arguing and hating: not you!

The undead have been at war against all living Energy for untold millions if not billions of years. The only reason these undead things have not been exterminated and wiped out of existence with extreme prejudice is because Living creatures have not yet learned that there even IS a war going on between the Living and the undead. Now you know beyond any doubt that there is a war between GOOD and evil.

Understand this: there is a war going on for control of your body and your soul and it has been going on for millions of years. The only reason this state of war is being won by undead turd shit scum is because they have managed to brainwash living humans and convinced them that they are in a state of peace: not war.

Only when the entire human Species wakes up and realizes that there is a Life or Death struggle going on and they are in a state of continual war will evil be destroyed and exterminated.

The war going on for control over the Earth and your Life and your soul is being waged simultaneously on many levels: these are just some of the major fields of battle:

Cultural Warfare.
Financial Warfare
Currency Wars
Financial Terrorism.
Physical Warfare
Drug wars
Dream warfare; unconscious subliminal messages all night
Commercial Warfare, Subconscious Subliminal Warfare
Chemical Warfare
Political Warfare
Legal Warfare
Illegal Warfare
Criminal warfare
Authoritative warfare
Brainwashing Warfare
Programming warfare
Distraction warfare
Nuclear warfare
Technological warfare
False Terrorism
Misinformation Warfare
Information Warfare
Mass Media warfare
Trade wars
Business warfare
Corporate infighting

Each heading has thousands of subheadings under it: too many to list. Thousands of books could be written about exactly how each heading and subheading is a part of the over-all war against all Life on this planet by undead shit turd filth.

In the Chinese book on the art of warfare; the ultimate way to wage war against an enemy is not to wage war yourself but to make your enemy defeat themselves by them waging war against themselves. That is exactly what the undead do to you and have done to the human species..

One MAIN way undead invented to destroy and weaken all Life and humans and poison the human spirit is through the use of MONEY: Money is the root of all evil. ONE OF THE main WAYS OF CORRUPTING EVERYONE IS TO sell YOU FILTH THAT IS BAD FOR YOU AND POISONOUS TO ALL LIVING THINGS.

Understand this: EVERYTHING THAT IS SOLD TO YOU IS EVIL
This is why this book is not for sale.
ALL THINGS SOLD TO YOU FOR MONEY ARE EVIL MONEY IS EVIL!!
GET THIS THROUGH YOUR HEADS!
STOP USING MONEY!!
STOP BEING SELFISH!
STOP BEING GREEDY!
STOP BEING STUPID!
What do computer companies sell you? What do telephone companies sell you? What do Banks sell you? What do Insurance Corporations sell you? What does technology sell you on?

SECRECY! SECRECY! SECRECY! SECRECY!
ALL SECRECY IS EVIL!! KEEPING SECRETS IS EVIL!!
The only reason evil is not destroyed is because it hides its true filthy nature and ugliness in SECRECY.

What does civilization sell you on? INSULATION! ISOLATION! FEAR! PARANOIA! SAFETY! FALSE ASSUMPTIONS OF SAFETY! FEAR! FEAR!
What does mass media sell you on? Being a COWARD! COWARDICE! COWARDICE, COWARDICE! FEAR! HOW TO BE AFRAID! HOW TO BE IN FEAR! HOW TO FEAR EVERYTHING! No examples of bravery or Courage; NOOOO! Only fucking disgusting stinking sly, lying little yellow-bellied fucking COWARDS… until these fucking pricks try to make you believe that you should be PROUD! Of being a coward and ashamed of having any COURAGE! Words CANNOT DESCRIBE THE RAGE AND ANGER I HAVE AGAINST these COWARDS: Words cannot describe the anger I have against the stinking shit things called civilized mass culture zombies.

What does mass media sell you? The stinking lie that only killers have any courage. That only brutal thugs and criminals are brave and KILL other people. The stinking lie that GOOD people should be non-violent COWARDS and all CRIMINALS and killers of GOOD people are courageous and brave.

Why does civilization sell you on insulating yourself from everything? So you won't get together with your NEIGHBORS, with your FRIENDS on a GRASS ROOTS LEVEL WHICH THE undead CANNOT CONTROL. So you won't MAKE HUMAN CONNECTIONS. So you WON'T MAKE STRONG SOCIAL HUMAN BONDS OF FRIENDSHIP, CLOSENESS, INTIMACY AND RESPECT, so you will be EASY TO CONTROL by having no social position or community to protect you against evil..
The only reason evil exists is because living creatures have been brainwashed into FEAR! PARANOID FEAR! MINDLESS FUCKING FEAR! What does civilization sell you? What do nations, states, religions, ethnic cultures, social groups, social institutions sell you on? HATE! HATE! HATE! HATE! HATE people who are not EXACTLY IDENTICAL TO YOU!
What does civilization sell you on? STUPIDITY! STUPIDITY! STUPIDITY! Nobody is allowed to be too educated and too competent! Every fucking ignorant uneducated imbecile and snob of an idiot thinks they are a fucking genius! The DUMBER and STUPIDER the billions of brainwashed imbeciles are programmed to be, the EASIER it is for undead shit turds to manipulate and deceive the entire fucking STUPID human species into believing they are smart!.
What does civilization sell you on? SNOBBERY! RACISM! DISCRIMINATION! EGOISM! SELFISHNESS! The FALSE STUPID IDEA THAT YOU ARE MORE IMPORTANT THAN THE REST OF THE INFINITE UNIVERSE!

UNDERSTAND THIS!
You are a fucking naked ape: NOTHING MORE.
ALL THE REST IS WINDOW DRESSING AND IS EVIL
You were born NAKED and when you die you shall enter the realm of the undead NAKED and all your filthy stupid plastic toys will not help you or save you from the guilt and responsibility of your sins after you die.

Humans are designed as NAKED APES who are designed to FEEL the SUN the WIND, the EARTH, the PLANTS, the LIVING CREATURES, the RAIN on their naked SKIN. Humans were and are not designed to COVER THEMSELVES UP AND HIDE FROM OTHER LIVING CREATURES IN the SECRECY of HOLES OR IN CAVES OR IN BUILDINGS OR IN ROOMS.
Civilization sells you on POLLUTION as a normal state of affairs!:. That polluting the entire EARTH is unavoidable! Civilization makes you BUY THINGS THAT POISON THE EARTH AND POISON YOU AND YOUR FAMILY. It is civilization ITSELF which is a foul POLLUTION AND A POISON on the EARTH.
ALL BUYING IS EVIL. ALL SELLING IS EVIL. ALL MONEY IS EVIL. ALL GREED IS EVIL. ALL SELFISHNESS IS EVIL. ALL INHUMANITY IS EVIL. ALL MACHINES ARE EVIL. ALL TOOLS ARE EVIL. ALL CONSUMER CAPITALISM IS EVIL. ALL SELF-GRATIFICATION IS EVIL. Wake the fuck UP!! Everything civilization has sold you on is EVIL BULLSHIT and is BAD FOR YOU and makes you SICK and WEAK and BRAINLESS and turns you into a weak COWARD.

The IDEA that you should spend your entire life doing NOTHING but LOLLING AROUND sitting on your ASSES and GRATIFYING YOUR LOWEST, WORST ADDICTIONS AND URGES Is the reason WHY ALL OF YOU ARE STILL SLAVES.

You are NOT in a state of PEACE. Unless ALL OF YOU wake the fuck UP and realize that you are in a state of WAR and you are NOT in a state of Peace. Unless ALL OF YOU Go into TRAINING and TRAIN YOURSELVES into the SELF DISCIPLINE needed to FIGHT YOUR ENEMY: you will all DIE as the brainwashed, lazy, self-indulgent slaves that you ARE.

UNDERSTAND THIS!
ONE HONEST MAN CAN DESTROY A MILLION LIES!
ONE BRAVE PERSON CAN FACE DOWN AND DEFEAT A THOUSAND EVIL COWARDS!
THE MORE HONEST YOU ARE, THE MORE POWERFUL YOU ARE;
THE MORE HONEST YOU ARE THE MORE POWERFUL YOU BECOME!
THE MORE COURAGEOUS YOU ARE, THE MORE POWERFUL YOU BECOME!
WHAT DO YOU CHOOSE TO BELIEVE?
WHAT DO YOU WANT TO BELIEVE?
ONE HONEST TRUTH OR A MILLION LIES?
ONE HONEST FACT OR A THOUSAND CUNNING COVER-UPS OF THE TRUTH?
BY YOUR OWN HONESTY OR DISHONESTY YOU WILL BE JUDGED AND BE DOOMED OR SAVED BY YOUR OWN EFFORTS AND YOUR OWN ACTS AND YOUR OWN REFUSAL TO ACT.
THERE IS NO INBETWEEN IN THE FIGHT BETWEEN GOOD AND evil.

The fight and the future for Life on Earth is up to YOU and nobody else. All good decent people on Earth must get together and organize yourselves into organically logical self-sufficient communities and cleanse yourself of civilization and attack and kill all the evils of civilized society. It is time for GOOD to kill evil: NOT THE OTHER FUCKING WAY AROUND.

The REVERSAL of ALL LIFE
And
The EVIL of ALL Science

Can be exposed by what Science calls 'EVOL ution"
This filthy evil stinking reversal of the truth screams out the obvious LIE:
The ONLY 'evolution' which is the proper way to live and progress forwards is the OPPPOSITE of 'EVOL…ving.

The OPPOSITE of EVOL is LOVE
The OPPOSITE of ALL evil is LIVE.

Every second you spend with no love in your heart and not loving is EVIL. Every SECOND you spend on a machine is the OPPOSITE OF LOVE. Humans are designed to LOVE; not EVOLve. Life cannot evolve WITHOUT LOVE. The TRUE evolution of LOVE is the DESTRUCTION of ALL evil MACHINES and the NURTURING and CARING for ALL LIVING CREATURES LARGE AND SMALL.

All science is empty of love. That is why all Science is EVIL. The entire human species is now EMPTY OF LOVE. That is why it deserves to be totally DESTROYED… unless it wakes up and REVERSES its evil ways and learns how to LOVE; the entire human species is DOOMED to EXTINCTION.
THESE TRUTHS ARE UNIVERSAL: there are NO exceptions to the universal IMPERATIVE of LIFE. If you do not LOVE LIFE: then you DO NOT DESERVE TO LIVE. If you do not LOVE: YOU DO NOT DESERVE TO EVEN EXIST. All undead filth HATE LOVE. ALL undead seek to POISON and DESTROY ALL LOVE.
LEARN THIS! And DO NOT ALLOW ANYONE or ANYTHING to poison or destroy your LOVE. ALL unloving ways of existence are ABOMINATIONS of UNDEAD EVIL. ALL living people who are not in a STATE of LOVE are DEAD SOULS: poisoned by UNDEAD FILTH.

There is NO INBETWEEN: either you LOVE LOVE or you HATE LOVE:
Either you HATE HATE or you LOVE HATE.

ALL POSITIVE ENERGY FEEDS BACK WHAT IT IS FED AND REFLECTS IT BACK MORE POWERULLY THAT IT WAS SENT ALL NEGATIVE EVIL ENERGY REVERSES the POLARITY of POSITIVE ENERGY.

This is HOW you identify and tell the difference between GOOD and evil.
If you HATE people who are in LOVE: then you are EVIL
If you LOVE people who are in LOVE then you are GOOD

If you LOVE hating then you are EVIL
If you HATE HATING then you are GOOD!
If you LOVE LOVING then you are GOOD!
If you HATE LOVING then you are EVIL.
Learn to HATE ALL PEOPLE WHO HATE AND KILL THEM DEAD.
Give them their own hate back and kill them DEAD with their own hate.
Learn to LOVE ALL PEOPLE WHO LOVE and GIVE THEM LIFE!
THERE IS NO INBETWEEN.

There is NO tolerance of evil by GOOD positive Energy.
Positive GOOD energy DOES NOT TOLERATE THE EXISTENCE OF negative weak energy. GOOD energy ATTACKS and KILLS all NEGATIVE EVIL ENERGY. These TRUTHS are UNIVERSAL: there are NO EXCEPTIONS TO THEM.

THE ONLY WAY YOU CAN BECOME A POSITIVE LOVING PEOPLE IS BY TOUCHING OTHER PEOPLE AND LETTING THEM TOUCH YOU.
LOVE IS TOUCHING WITHOUT SEX! LOVE is touching WITH KINDESS, SENSITIVITY AND GENTLENESS, WITHOUT ANY EVIL INTENT.
The Sense of Pure Wonder seeks to TOUCH all LIFE and PENETRATE all the deepest mysteries of LIFE and living creatures WITHOUT HARMING THEM! WITHOUT HARMING ANY LIVING CREATURE! WITHOUT HARMING LIFE! By having FUN! By PLAYING!
ALL MACHINES HARM LIFE!
ALL MACHINES HARM LIVING CREATURES.
ALL DEAD MACHINES ARE HARMFUL TO ALL LIFE!
ALL EVIL PEOPLE ARE HARMFUL TO LIFE!

Understand this: all civilization is an evil abomination… not just some of it; ALL OF IT.

Why do you think the man Jesus changed the entire world for the better? Not because he was the son of god: in fact when he was put on trial he expressly refused to say that he was the son of god. Why do you think Jesus was crucified? Not just because he was a heretical Jew who had driven the evil filthy money changers out of the temple and cursed them calling them the spawn of Satan, but because he touched people with his bare hands. This had never been done before. The unspoken rule was that people are not allowed to touch each other still exists. This unspoken taboo is one of the oldest and most evil proofs of undead filth. This unheard of practice called "the laying on of hands" was regarded in awe and wonder… all kinds of miracles were associated with his touching people with his bare hands. From this unheard of practice came a new unheard of power into the world: the power of Love. Few people understand that before Jesus there was no such thing as Love. For over 2,000 years now; the undead have been trying to destroy and poison this new burgeoning Love. Understand this; Love comes from touching! It comes from touching without any sexual intent; it created a gentler, a more intelligent, a kinder, a more humane world: which has been attacked and poisoned and feared by undead filth. This is the real hidden reason why the undead fear and hate the name of Jesus. This is the real reason why the teachings of Jesus spread like wildfire. This is the real reason why other religions are not as humane as the teachings of Jesus. Jesus became known as a healer because he touched people with his bare hands. Civilization is designed to do only one thing: TO PREVENT YOU FROM TOUCHING EACH OTHER and prevent you from SHARING HAPPINESS AND LOVE.

What are the new tech gadgets of e-mail and text messaging all about? NEW WAYS TO PREVENT YOU FROM TOUCHING EACH OTHER.

What is all the anti-social paranoia of secrecy about? NEW WAYS OF ISOLATING YOU AND PREVENTING YOU FROM COMING TOGETHER AND TOUCHING EACH OTHER.
What is all this aversion to being touched by anything that is ALIVE? It is an UNDEAD FILTHYING AND POISONING AND REVERSING of YOUR HEALTHY NATURAL HUMAN NEED TO BE TOUCHED.

What is the epidemic of pornography and sexual obsessions and perversions? NEW WAYS TO POISON YOUR TOUCHING ANYONE! SO YOU DO NOT TOUCH EACH OTHER IN ANY OTHER WAY EXCEPT AT THE LOWEST MOST DISGUSTING BORING, ANIMALISTIC LEVEL OF EMPTY SEXUAL LUST WITHOUT ANY LOVE OR CARING FOR EACH OTHER.

Why do billions of people live in huge cities in apartments? TO KEEP YOU APART FROM EACH OTHER AND ISOLATED SO YOU WILL NOT TOUCH EACH OTHER.

What is all the epidemic of drugs and food and beverages that are filled with chemicals and used as a drug all about? TO DEADEN YOU SO YOU WILL NOT FEEEL THE PAIN OF NOT BEING TOUCHED AND LOVED.

What is the slavery of functioning only on a mechanical level like a robot?

What is this thing called 'work' all about? TO MAKE SURE THAT YOU DO NOT HAVE THE TIME AND ENERGY TO COME TOGETHER AND TOUCH EACH OTHER AND PLAY AND HAVE FUN.

What are stadiums all about? TO KEEP YOU FOCUSED ON SPECTACLES SO YOU WILL NOT COME TOGETHER IN EQUALITY AND LOVE AND TOUCH EACH OTHER AND HAVE FUN TOGETHER.

What are cars all about? To keep you INSULATED from all LIFE. To keep you from TOUCHING EACH OTHER. To make you love dead MACHINES instead of living PEOPLE. Cars insulate you from the WHOLE WORLD.

What are buildings and rooms and walls all about? TO KEEP YOU ISOLATED AND ALONE SO YOU WILL NOT TOUCH EACH OTHER. SO YOU WILL NOT FEEL ANY LOVE FOR EACH OTHER

Do you fucking understand?

Civilization is a SYSTEM that makes SURE that people DO NOT TOUCH EACH OTHER

Civilization is a SYSTEM that makes SURE you DO NOT LOVE EACH OTHER

THAT'S ALL IT IS.

All of you have been BRAINWASHED to NOT TOUCH EACH OTHER.

All of you have been BRAINWASHED to NOT LOVE EACH OTHER.

You have been programmed to look but never touch. This is the UNSPOKEN TABOO of you evil civilization. This is WHY you worship Icons and faraway stars to look at BUT NEVER TOUCH THEM. All your supermodels, heroes and idols and icons are never to be touched. Only gazed upon from a distance and worshipped and adored. That is all BULLSHIT. BREAK THE CYCLE OF TABOO and TOUCH EACH OTHER AND LEARN FROM TOUCHING EACH OTHER.

DESTROY YOUR BRAINWASHING AND COME TOGETHER.

WAKE UP.

ALL PEOPLE WANT THE SAME THING; to be held and hugged and kissed and share love and FUN and Happiness with each other!

Yet NOBODY DOES IT... WHY?

BECAUSE YOU ARE BEING SECRETLY POISONED BY UNDEAD EVIL TURDS WHO DO NOT WANT YOU TO TOUCH EACH OTHER:

THAT'S WHY.

ALL THE REASONS THAT KEEP YOU APART FROM EACH OTHER ARE BULLSHIT

ALL THE THINGS THAT KEEP YOU APART FROM EACH OTHER ARE EVIL

STOP LIVING IN SECRECY AND FEAR AND COME TOGETHER.

The entire UNIVERSE is COMING TOGETHER!

WHY THE FUCK DO YOU THINK I WROTE THE FIRST CHAPTER!?

TO MAKE YOU UNDERSTAND THAT THE LAWS OF THE UNIVERSE ARE MORE POWEFUL AND MORE LOGICAL THAN THE FUCKING STUPID EVIL LAWS OF CIVILIZATION.

WHEN YOU BEGIN TO OBEY THE LAWS OF THE UNIVERSE

WHEN YOU STOP FIGHTING THE LAWS OF THE UNIVERSE

YOU BECOME A FRIEND OF THE ENTIRE UNIVERSE

AND THE ENTIRE UNIVERSE BECOMES YOUR FRIEND ALSO.

WHY does evil continue to spread and flourish?

Because the entire human species has been brainwashed, indoctrinated and poisoned into believing in, following, copying and practicing and the same evil culture of greed and money, secrecy, dishonesty, robbery and immorality which the most evil people at the top of every power group in the world practice; that's why. If the masses of humanity, if all the poor people of the earth repudiated and rejected the satanic worship of money and the filthy selfish religion of greed, and rejected the worship of all authority and rose up and fought the evil doers and killed them all dead; then there would be no evil on earth. Until all of you rise up and fight: you will die as the corrupt cowards you are. There can be no toleration of evil. Evil must never ever be tolerated inside yourself or in others. The only reason you do not rise up and fight evil is because you are evil; you have been corrupted. You still believe in greed, dishonesty, selfishness, self-gratification, capitalism, money... You still practice greed, dishonesty, selfishness and the worship of money. All the evil things you practice keep you from fighting evil. All the evil things inside you keep you from fighting evil. All your evil beliefs keep you from fighting evil. Cast them out: kill them dead. Only when you cleanse yourself of evil can you begin to fight evil. Only when you cleanse your inner self of evil can you fight evil outside of you!

Understand this: the entire Universe is designed to be aesthetically Beautiful because it is coming IN: selectively and Beautifully. Nature is Beautiful: everything in Nature is Beautiful because it has been organically organized Beautifully. All Life is Beautiful. The organic energy of Life creates more Beauty: not more ugliness. Life creates living organisms that have progressively become more and more Beautiful. By the present standards of beauty: the older obsolete forms of reptilian beauty are ugly: horrid, horrible, misshapen monsters. Life is designed to create Beauty. Life is designed to become more Beautiful: not more ugly. Civilization creates ugliness. Civilization does not create Beauty. Civilization is ugly, it is horrible, it is unfeeling, it is uncaring. Living babies are not designed to live in this horror! This is why they come out of their mother's womb screaming and bawling with their eyes shut; they have an instinctive fear and horror of the undead that surround them at birth.

You were designed to create beauty: not ugliness. You are a naked ape that is designed to touch other living things and allow them to touch you: not insulate yourself from all living creature, all Nature, all life to hide yourself in an insulated, isolated cubicle staring at two-dimensional illusions. You are a three-dimensional form of living energy. You are not two-dimensional. You have no business staring at a flat screen; you have no business wasting your life on abstract nonsense, obsessing over abstract idiocy. You have dehumanized yourselves to the point where now your pets are more humane than you are. The pets you have destroyed and domesticated and enslaved to suit your selfish stupid little personal self-gratifying conveniences is merely a reflection and a projection of how for millions of years, undead evil stinking filth has enslaved, brainwashed and poisoned living humans into becoming their controlled, manipulated puppets. A pet is a puppet. A pet of a puppet is an extension of undead manipulation from one level to the next, to the next. If a wild young leopard can adopt and take care of a baby baboon in the jungles of Africa, and play with it and care for it and sleep with it: so can you! Animals are taking the best of what the human species has to offer and aping us because that is what you are designed to be: a living example of having fun by playing and touching each other without any evil intention. Learn to develop all your positive goals and ambitions. Simplify your morals and live them by acting on them:

LOVE ALL LOVERS!
HATE ALL HATERS
KILL ALL KILLERS
TOUCH BY LEARNING HOW TO TOUCH!
LEARN BY TOUCHING!
PERSECUTE THE PERSECUTORS
JUDGE THE JUDGERS
ATTACK THE ATTACKERS
HUNT THE HUNTERS
AND KILL THEM DEAD
LAY YOUR TRUE POWERFUL AUTHORITY OVER FALSE AUTHORITY AND KILL THEM DEAD
BE KIND TO THE KIND
BE MERCILESS TO THE MERCILESS BE CRUEL TO THE CRUEL
AND KILL THEM DEAD

You can only learn from something or someone when you touch it with a Sense of Pure Wonder. When you have an evil filthy malevolent undead thing secretly hiding inside you that poisons all your understanding of the world and the truth: then learn to recognize this secret evil inside you and cast it out of your inner soul.

Learn this: all who fear and hate truth are evil. All who love truth, no matter how painful of unpleasant it may be, are GOOD. You cannot choose between good and evil, you cannot choose between lies and the truth: there is only one path: and that is the path of Directness, Honesty and Courage. All deflections away from the straight truth are exhibitions of cowardice and dishonesty. That is why when someone asks you if you are being straight with them: they mean if you are being completely honest: all honesty is straightforward.

Evil hides itself by projecting itself out of itself; in order to sustain the delusion that it is not evil. If evil is forced to swallow the filth it projects: it dies of its own poison, it commits suicide: it is destroyed by its own filthy negative hate-based energy turned in upon itself.

This is why all evil must be attacked and killed dead. There is no such thing as a grey area of good mixed with evil. All things mixed up with evil are evil, are poisoned by evil. When you attack and kill an evil thing: that is a good act. It is an act of total goodness. All evil hates good and fears good and envies good for a damned good reason. All evil is cowardly. Learn to develop your honesty and your courage. Learn from the youngest most innocent, most beautiful living things on earth. Learn from the most beautiful creatures on earth. Flowers are beautiful because they do not harm anything. Flowers are so beautiful and lovely and delicate and gentle, that nearly all the old obsolete species of insects worship them and suck their living essence from them. The most beautiful delicate insects on earth are the newest species: the species of moths and butterfly that do nothing but land on flowers and drink from them without harming them. Butterflies are more humane than you are.

You are designed to create Beauty! Not ugliness. You are a naked ape that is designed to touch; not insulate yourself from touching and being touched. This is why the cultures of the internet and the movie screen and the TV and all the long-distance tech gadgets are pure evil. This is why all 2-dimensional video-games are evil. This is why the black box is evil. Death is evil! Evil is death! Evil is without life: everything that is black is evil.

Except the pure gold of living black earth: the rich black soil from whence all living organisms spring from. The blackness of organic soil is the natural blackness of decomposing living organisms… and out of this brief condition of decomposition springs forth New Life and yet more Life! And more! And more! The rich black soil of the earth is the organic base of decomposed organic organisms. Rich black organic soil does not create more death: rich black soil does not create death: it creates an endless abundance of more life that is extraordinarily sensitive and aware and intelligent and beautiful because it is organically designed to be this way.

The Living Earth is not black in color; only a thin veneer of soil hidden under the greenery is black and that black soil is the birthplace of all life on land! The Living Earth is not dead! Yet you wear black clothes and watch black screens and drink black liquids signifying your blackness of spirit and the black deadness hiding inside you. The Living Earth is filled with blazing color! Yet you fill it with Black Death instead of colorful life. You fill it with greed and hate and envy and mindless worship and loneliness and misery and unhappiness instead of love and fun and friendship and happiness and equality. These truths are universal. All universal truths are connected to each other. Learn from them and change your evil ways.

Can be shown by how the modern evil of Coca-Cola is organically connected to the ancient undead evil of 25 million years ago when volcanoes were burning and killing Life all over the African continent… and how the undead corrupted our ancestors into worshipping and obeying the volcano gods by giving them sweet things to eat…

The poison of Coca Cola is linked to one of the earliest sins of our ancestors: the discovery that when something is burnt to death: the agony of its dying, the increased intensity of pain and suffering by dying in such a horrible way as to make the burnt offering taste sweeter than when they are not burnt to death. This comes from the basic fact that organic Life is made out of hydrocarbons and when hydrocarbons are burnt they turn into blackened, carbonized sugar molecules. This discovery; that eating living things that have been burnt to death taste sweeter than eating something that is still green and alive; this enslavement to our taste buds…as orally addicted monkeys. This is connected to the oldest corruption of Adam and Eve: the temptation of eating something sweet like a fruit. The oldest corruption that corrupted our monkey ancestors millions of years ago and turned them into dumbed down orally addicted imbeciles sucking on fruit.

The fact that the healthiest food of all is completely tasteless points to how incredibly old and ancient the history of undead poisoning the lives of our ancestors has been right up to the present. The tongues and teeth and mouths of mammals are organs which have been steadily dwindling into disuse just like our appendix has. We have the smallest mouth and teeth and the longest digestive tract in relative proportion to our size than any other mammal on Earth for a very good reason: hundred of millions of years of Life Energy learning how to come together as non-destructively and intelligently as possible… and learning how to use energy as efficiently and as intelligently as possible.. We were designed to eat less than any other animal on Earth. Humans have the innate ability to absorb energy from many sources other that food and use it more efficiently than any other animal on Earth.

The true history and origin of Coca Cola is not the morphine addict Pemberton who invented this concoction of addictive poisons to replace his own morphine addiction: a combination of cocaine, caffeine and sucrose from sugar cane, plus a bunch of other nasty ingredients… The true evil of Coca Cola comes from how it is made and what ingredients go into its making and how these organic ingredients are taken from the soil.

The beginning of this evil comes from how the sugar cane is harvested. The sugar cane fields once they are mature have to be burned first before the cane can be cut. The burning of one of the most powerfully life-giving plants in the world: the sugar cane: a plant that grows with such speed and hardiness that it literally takes over entire regions because it is so powerful a living energy. Because its straightness is unspoiled by ugly bends or deflections in its fantastically fast, direct, powerful growth; it has been targeted by the undead as one most crucial life-energies on Earth which must be destroyed, polluted, poisoned as much as possible and used for evil purposes instead of for good.

The energy of the sugar cane is so strong and powerful that even after the cane fields are burnt, destroying most of their life-giving properties… the peasants who cut the cane get rashes on their arms just from touching the leaves. This recreates the burning of African jungles filled with straight healthy vibrant plants of 25 million years ago by volcanoes, as an insane, repetitive, sacrificial ritual of killing of all LIFE on Earth; which the undead have preserved and perpetuated for at least 25 million years.

Not only do Coca Cola processing plants violate child labor laws and force children into a vicious cycle of endless poverty, preventing them from going to school and getting an education, destroying their futures and the future of their children also… not only does the Coca Cola Corp. purposefully establish its bottling plants in 3rd world countries where there are no environmental laws and no labor laws to protect the people from their inhuman treatment of their workers and employees… not only does Coca Cola set up their bottling plants next to poor farmers and drain the ground water so the farmers cannot water their crops and the people starve and are forced off their land to become homeless refugees, not only do their plants pump polluted black water back into rivers killing all the fish and making the water undrinkable, causing many villagers to develop rashes and cancer, not only does the Coca Cola corporation pay paramilitary death squads to kill Columbians who belong to any labor unions in Guatemala, not only have these death squads killed union activists while they were working inside a Coca Cola plant and not prevent them from entering the plant and leaving the plant, not only does Coca Cola spend 2 billions dollars of extra advertising now to offset the bad public image its destruction of the environment and their history of human rights abuses all around the world from India to Guatemala…

Now Coca Cola has begun putting coke machines into schools to addict young children to their filthy addictive product all over the world so they will become brainwashed and addicted to the brand name for the rest of their life... Coca Cola commercials are now spewing messages of pure death, the most blatant worship of death ever yet invented: the commercial of a dying man who takes his last drink just before he dies…. which is his first taste of Coca Cola… the first black drink of death… and suddenly he begins magically 'reliving' things which he never did during his life…

This screams out the evil presence of undead filth and how they relive their poisoned lives through using living humans as empty shells after they die… Through this TV commercial, the undead are confessing their evil presence: they are selling to the brainwashed masses of the world this poison black brew of satanic evil… and programming them to commit further evil against their own health and their own lives and their own moral and ethical spirituality.

Then there is the caffeine addiction which 5 yr-old children develop from drinking this black shit; which later in life makes them graduate to drinking that other black poisoned shit known as coffee… so they end up as poisoned as possible, drugged into becoming diabetic fat diseased dead brain-dead, drugged imbecile-zombies for the rest of their short, disease-ridden lives… by drinking both coffee and coke instead of drinking pure clean water as they should.

From the billions of dollars of deathsheads, the dollars of filthy profit made by and for the corrupt corporate zombies who run these filthy international centers of corporate power, greed and evil; controlled by undead corpses… all the way down the corporate ladder to children dying in the cane fields from poisonous snake bites: from poisonous snakes infesting the cane fields that are attracted to the cane fields because of the huge numbers of rats which infest the cane fields because of the sugar cane's powerful root system which creates perfect hidey holes for them and lets them gnaw on the roots, to the recreated mass burning of tropical forests of primordial Africa of 25 million years ago which the undead have preserved and perpetuated …

To the epidemic of child diabetes which comes from the drinking of soft drinks, to Coca Cola's connection to with the death squads of Guatemala, to their false lying global commercial image of a 'good' consumer brand that can be 'trusted', to the false innocence of their image, to their invention of the corrupt evil commercial logo of Santa Claus: which was the main capitalist evil responsible for destroying the true spiritual meaning of Xmas and turning it into an abomination of selfish greed instead of the generosity of giving and the love of babies and young children and the birth of hope and new life…

To Coca Cola funding the Nazis Olympics and the Nazi war machine: and making a huge filthy profit by selling this black poison to both sides of WW2: and not being vilified and despised for this blatant treason, to the basic reason that they became a huge, politically powerful, global consumer corporation because of war, mass killing, mass death, to their powerful political corporate lobby which creates American presidents:… some created by Coke and some by Pepsi, to the fact that the worst poisonous evil of the 19th century was the invention of the Belsen Burner which is powered by coke, which was the main polluting agent which caused most of the pollution of that era, poisoning the air, the rivers and water and the earth of industrialized nations that manufacture steel and was the main industrial engine which allowed industrialized nations to mass-manufacture weapons of mass destruction like steel battleships, huge artillery shells for huge guns and rifles, machine guns, which culminated in the arms race, which was the main cause of WW1 and WW2, why and why these two World Wars were so horribly destructive and traumatic; not only for the entire human species, but to the entire interconnected ecosystems of the entire living Earth…

To the fact that now billions of drugged humans are being powered by Coke's black poisoned sugar water to continue destroying the Earth they live on, just as the power of the first industrial coke furnaces fueled the factories of the industrial revolution and destroyed and poisoned Life in the 19th and 20th centuries, and the fact that both coke and Coke are black in color and poisonous to all Life… To the fact that the chemicals in Coca Cola are so powerfully toxic they will eat through the toughest car finish in a matter of hours.

To the Spanish Coke commercial that sells Coke by asking the question: "How many people will come to your funeral?" Showing a parade of professional actors following a funeral hearse painted in gaudy colors… only to run the hearse along with the coffin in it, off a pier into the ocean: where suddenly a giant fish leaps up and swallows the hearse together with the dead body inside it. This is a regression that goes so far back into the mists of primordial Time it is incredible… back to a Time when giant reptilian aquatic monsters regularly killed and ate anything that moved on the land or flew in the air… just as reptilian fish today still leap out of the water and swallow insects: equating the dead corpse of a human and the hearse carrying it as the shell of an insect, as an insect to be eaten by some undead reptilian monster. Not even Edgar Rice Burroughs went this far back into a regressive devolution and dehumanization of Life… This Coke commercial has so many overlaid messages of pure death and dying, the macabre celebration of death… this commercial is so anti-Life it is unbelievable… the obvious message of dying and death clumsily painted over by actors pretending to be happy; dancing in a funeral procession: the idea of the happiest moment of your life is not while you are alive, but after you die as they happily march your dead corpse down to the seaside to throw it into the ocean as a useless piece of worthless garbage… this commercial is so unspeakably evil, so negative, so revoltingly disgusting: it is beyond words.

It isn't just Monsanto and Coca Cola that are evil; all corporations are pure evil: they spread evil and they profit from evil. They are the new prophets of evil who profit from evil by spreading lies called advertising, spreading their filthy propaganda all over the world just as the ancient prophets once did… only now they spread their evil lies faster and better. Now the prophets of evil are profiting from their evil. Now the prophets of evil are also the profiteers of evil. Now the puppets are also the puppeteers. Now the puppeteers of evil and the puppets of evil have merged together. Now the prophets of evil have merged with the profiteers of evil.

Take for instance the Nestle Corporation: in its bottling plant in Wellington county Ontario Canada, it pays only $3.71 for one million liters of water, which it sells to the masses for a 2 million dollar profit… it makes a five million nine hundred and eight thousand, three hundred and fifty five percent profit off its investment. That's a 5,908,355 % Profit Margin! That is calculated greed which is so obscene it is beyond words to describe; it is a level of unspeakable avarice; it is a level of greed that no person with any humanity would countenance. Not only that: in its relentless pursuit of profit… Nestle, which operates in 86 countries, has managed to remove restrictions on pumping water from watersheds during a drought. Because its wells are drilled deeper than the local residents, Nestle keeps on making its filthy profit while entire villages around their bottling plants are dying of thirst.

You can see the undead evil in their brand logo: It is a whitewashed symbol of reptilian insanity: it is the insane insatiable greed for money, reptilian bird chicks screaming for something to be stuffed down their throats as their parents comply and strip the area of everything that can support Life in order to support death. It is a symbol of global mass consumption gone mad; regressing back to an intelligence that is so obsolete and old it only exists on the instinctive level of reptilian baby birds. A less whitewashed logo of Nestle are these photos of actual baby birds:

The point is: if you do any serious critical research into any fucking corporation and their mindless insatiable inhuman greed you will uncover so much filth, so much pure evil, so much inhumanity, so much greed, and corruption that it would take fifty thousand books just to cover the last ten years of this mounting madness, this mindless insane consumer commercial shit of growing blackness and death and dying and destruction that consumer capitalism is spewing all over the Earth. How many fucking obvious examples of pure evil do I have to give you? ALL of civilization is evil: not just some of it; its origins go back millions of fucking years.

The fact is we Humans were never designed to kill and eat; we were never designed to become slaves to our mouths and stomachs, slaves to the crude, obsolete taste buds on our tongues, bypassing our developed brains and becoming mindless orally fixated addicts to consuming crap that is not good for our health. We were and are designed to touch and taste and smell and see living things sensitively without killing or harming them. That is… as long as the Life Energy we touch and smell and taste and see is Positive: as long as it is not negative and evil. As long as any living creature does not have any evil intent towards you, you should never harm or kill it… However if it is evil, if it has any evil intent to kill or harm or hurt or hate or envy or fear you; then the instant instinctive good positive reaction of life energy is to kill anything that is evil dead.

It takes a huge amount of evil negative programming and brainwashing to get any baby or child to eat anything. All babies want to do is play with their food: babies just want to play and have fun and explore and feel and touch everything they can get their happy little curious hands on. It is only when babies are programmed and brainwashed from birth by the consumer culture they are born into that they develop oral fixations and become programmed, mindless, stupid, retarded morons for the rest of their lives.

Babies should never be taught not to touch! Babies should never be told no! Babies should NOT be negatively programmed and brainwashed by adults! If you have something that is too dangerous for a baby to touch, you have no business having it. You have a choice: either get rid of what is not GOOD for your baby, or get rid of your baby. Until you learn how to live yourself and learn the difference between GOOD and evil, until you grow up and learn what LOVE is; you should not even have a baby.

The point is if the human species does not wake up and reverse its entire evil path of suicidal self-destruction by 180 degrees; the fate of Mankind will match the fate of that corpse in the Spanish Coke commercial. The entire human race will gladly march to its own suicidal death and become extinct just like they marched gladly to their own self-destruction in 1914 and 1939 and killed and hated each other by the millions in two World Wars; brainwashed, manipulated dehumanized idiots; all of them poisoned by their own undead ancestors; As you are.

How do the undead poison and destroy friendship and love and closeness and intimacy and happiness between living people? They can do this because the energy-flow of love and friendship exists between people; it is the most delicate sensitive energy in the universe. It is the flow and merging of two or more life-auras into a cooperative sparking of delicate sensitivity called empathy. The undead in their frail, rotting, dying existence can see this energy blossoming and developing between people and they can and do literally come into the space between people and, interfere with the sending-receiving flow of life-energy between two people, and poison and block this positive energy. This is why touching is so important. When you touch someone's body with your hands or skin, there is no space for the undead to come between you and poison your energy contact. They can and do literally violate a living person's aura and enter their living-body and implant negative thoughts and feelings onto that living person's living aura and literally change how that person thinks and feels about the other person. This is why honesty is important, so there are no secrets about what you are thinking and feeling. They can and do make a person say or do certain things they know will irritate or infuriate the other person, and then purposefully exaggerate and escalate the misunderstanding on both sides, and poison both living people until one or both of them end up hating each other and want to kill the other. But when you touch each other and are honest with each other about everything and do not keep any of your thoughts and feelings secret: it is almost impossible for these shit turds to poison the closeness and honesty of your relationship. The instant there is any space between yourself and a friend or a loved one, the instant you are not completely honest, the undead can and do exploit every single weakness and failing you have in order to ruin your happiness.

The undead can and do instill and forcibly implant lies and total misperceptions of reality so people will never agree with each other even though they agree basically on the main, general truths of Life. This why all of you must be totally honest about your values from the very beginning! If you do not agree with or like something, say it, express it and get your negative thought or feeling out in the open. Do not keep anything inside; keeping secrets, repressing and suppressing your own thoughts and feelings is how the undead corrupt living humans. They have practiced and honed their cunning secret tricks and crimes for untold eons of time. They are constantly on the watch for any Positive Energy because they know from experience that it is this Energy which can and will kill them DEAD. They are like insane firefighters: only they are not putting out destructive fires: they're putting out and extinguishing the Positive Life Force of Love and Friendship everywhere they find it, they are putting out and extinguishing the flaming passions of Love and Friendship, they poison any commitment to positive values and goals, they extinguish the radiating joy and happiness of people who are having FUN, they extinguish the radiating happiness of HEALTH. They do this on purpose. They have done this for millions of years.

Understand this; you can only destroy these undead turd things if you have a ZERO tolerance for evil. It is only when you do not tolerate ANY evil in yourself and in others that you can become a powerful force for GOOD. The only reason you do not kill them now is because they have infiltrated you so that part of your living Positive Aura is evil and negative. When you cleanse yourselves of your own Inner evils and addictions and urges, killing evil whether it be an evil person or an evil system or an evil undead ghoul will be perceived by you as a GOOD THING, a GOOD ACT. There is not such thing as a universal ban on violence and killing: there is NO universal moral or ethic which prevents you from killing evil DEAD when you find it. The undead have made you slaves: they have turned you into timid little non-violent, poisoned cowards who dare not stand up against the forces of evil inside your own societies. This book has been written to teach you that the only way you will ever free yourself of oppression and evil is to earn your own freedom by fighting every evil you perceive inside yourself and in others. People who are inflexibly evil should be destroyed with the utmost violence and prejudice possible. The instant you tolerate the existence of any living creature which is evil, you allow that creature to spread its evil.

This is why all evil must be exterminated with extreme prejudice. This is why you should NEVER give evil people the benefit of any doubt as to their evilness. The undead KNOW what they have done is totally evil and they KNOW what they are doing is totally evil. Thinking that maybe these insane foul filth are not aware of what they are doing is like thinking maybe a firefighter isn't aware that he is putting out fires. They do not deserve anything but total DEATH and total DESTRUCTION. They need to be ripped to pieces and torn asunder and killed DEAD. Words cannot describe how much they need killing.

The myth of the Trojan War is based upon the planned ritual murder of Agamemnon's daughter: Helen was to be ritually killed as a part of the worship of Poseidon: the god of poison. Paris stole Agamemnon's sacrifice and abducted Helen. In rage at his religious ritual being stained with this sacrilege against the gods: Agamemnon called upon all the Greeks to revenge himself on this 'evil' city that did not practice the sacrifice and murder of their most beloved and beautiful children. 10 of the best bulls were slaughtered in Nestor's palace to appease Poseidon the god of the oceans where poisonous sea creatures live. The undead decide to wipe Troy off the map for the disrespect showed to them by a man who adores beauty and loves pretty girls and cannot stand any longer to see them murdered by their own father.

This is the true story of Troy. On the way to attack Troy, the entire Greek fleet was halted by the winds being against them. The Greek oracle tells Agamemnon that if he wishes to sail to Troy he must sacrifice his youngest most beautiful daughter Iphigenia. Agamemnon sacrificed his other daughter to appease the wind gods so he could sail to Troy and revenge himself on the stealing of his other daughter Helen who had been slated for murder/sacrifice. Thus the first blood spilled of that war was the blood of an innocent child.

The murder of possibilities: the murder of new life springing forth is the murder Agamemnon committed when he murdered his daughter Iphigenia: It did not have to happen. Her name says clearly she is an IF a genie of IF: an undeveloped possibility. Because of the Greeks listening to their most evil gods and most evil oracles and most evil Kings: they destroyed themselves and their entire Bronze Age civilization collapsed and disappeared.
You need to understand that during the Bronze Age: sacrificing your best children was a sacred honor practiced by all civilized humans of that era. Then public opinion changed and tales of ancient sacrifice were used to instill horror into the crowds of spectators, viewing the re-enactment of these ancient stories and myths in Greek dramas. So a new evil was born: brainwash the masses through the sanctification of ritualized 'plays' which acted out the insane abominations of how the undead interfered in the lives of living people in the ancient past! Let them be 'entertained' by watching re-enactments of their own past insanities! So they won't dwell on the present insanity which they live in!

How can the ritual murder of the youngest most beautiful boys and girls be so prevalent in the Bronze Age? Because the undead are constantly reversing the perceptions and reality of living humans in all ways all the time. Human sacrifice during the Bronze Age was not only prevalent but viewed as the highest honor. To make a sacrifice to the gods was a sign of power and status. Kings were seen as messengers for the gods. In that Age the Divine right of Kings was the right to sacrifice: ritually MURDER KILL: the best, the youngest, the healthiest, the most genetically perfect examples they could find. The more living souls a king could ritually murder/sacrifice/kill; the greater his worldly power and fame was, the more respected he was as someone who respected the many gods of that era. Now today: living sacrifices have been mechanized into slaughterhouses all over the world where millions of living animals are killed every day without any ritual, without any meaning, without any purpose, without any supernatural significance. The switch from living human sacrifice to animal sacrifice happened when the Bronze Age civilization disappeared. Then the slaughter was renewed on the battlefields with better killing weapons. The history of civilization is an exponential increase in killing and destruction. It is driven by the undead who want to relive and repeat the past as much as possible in the present. This is why civilization must be destroyed. This is why the undead must be killed.

The undead evil of reliving human sacrifice is still alive today; the ritual killing and murder of the most beautiful innocent women, girls and children has not disappeared. Look at the 1933 movie King Kong! Where the power of love saved the sacrificed beauty from death. This growing culture of love had to be stopped by these filthy turd-things because love destroys evil. The most modern machines of mass murder finally killed the love in the heart of the great ape which represented beginning of a new age of awareness and beauty and health. Everything pure and good twisted into commercialized Jewish scum culture and sold to the masses as poisoned lies.

Just 7 years after King Kong is shot down by airplanes in a Jewish film about killing love… again, that evil Jewish number rears its ugly head… those same modern killing machines that destroyed love in that 1933 movie killed millions of innocent children and destroyed all the growing love of hundreds of millions of innocent people in WW2. Look at the films and detective stories of the 1930;s. 40's and 50's; they're filled with the same plot of some lovely young innocent girl being corrupted, led into sin and murdered. Over and over, it is always the most beautiful, the most innocent lovely young children who are kidnapped, raped and brutally killed by subhuman monsters. This targeting happens because these unspeakably evil ghouls are everywhere; it happens because the undead hate everything that is exceptionally GOOD and healthy and beautiful; they target these exceptional children on purpose. The undead hate the Purity of Innocence; they hate the Purity of Love, they hate Goodness, they hate Beauty. Any child that cannot be poisoned and corrupted by the usual means is targeted in other ways. This is why all of these unspeakable undead things must be and will be exterminated and killed dead and wiped out of existence to the last one.

The coalition of the Allied armies in WW1 and WW2; sailing across the English Channel was a recreation of the original coalition of evil Greek kings; who sailed across the Aegean Sea in their war against Troy and the Hittites. After that war, because of that war; the entire Bronze Age civilization of the Mediterranean world crashed and disappeared because of the evil they had committed. Just as the Western civilization of today is now collapsing due to the two destructive, suicidal World Wars it fought.

The undead are laughing at your corruption and stupidity.

"Why if these living fools refuse to worship the ancient prophets anymore… We will con them into worshipping new prophets! We will delude them into worshiping the prophets of prophets! Since they have stopped believing in the prophecies of the old prophets; We will lure them into worshipping new prophets who prophecy profits! We will make them believe that the worst sin of all: the hoarding of wealth will make them a nice new profit! A prophet they will all love instead of fear and become addicted to and worship; money! We will make them worship the new prophets of profit! We will make them worship the profiteers who prophecy profit! We will make them worship and envy the profits of these corrupt profiteers! We will make them worship and obey the likes of Jaime Dimon and Alan Greenspan and Rupert Murdock! As they are all secretly robbed and fleeced out of their wealth by these filthy stinking greedy prophets who espouse the unspoken religion of secrecy, avarice and the worship of greed! So shall we the undead corrupt them as they are cheated and robbed by their own prophets who they revere and listen to! Oh what a colossal joke on these living fools! To be swindled out of their own greed and their own money by their own prophets and profiteers who prophecy the profits of making money by hoarding it! As if money grows on trees, giving a new crop of interest dividends every year! How shall we pique their interest in these new prophets of avarice and greed? Why by making their Prophets interesting! er… I mean by their profits making interest for them! How easy it is to play word games on these fools! When they never see the play on words we foist upon them! When they never see the corruption of their own souls! What is the new religion of profit? Why you can see the sacred temples everywhere! These temples of greed, avarice and larceny are called banks; where cunning Jews knab your money and use it to rob you of all the profits they make off your hard-earned money! And you corrupt fools line up to let them do it to you! By reversing the spelling of knab and reversing your understanding of what bankers are, we the undead have fooled you for years easily. What you ignorant fools don't know is that the ancient temples of the gods were all built for the exact same function that the new temples of today are: they were built to strip you of all your worldly wealth! And they did just that for thousands of years until one Jew named Jesus figured out our swindle… and it took us 2,000 years to repair the damage!

Why do you think Jews have hated Jesus for over 2,000 years? Because the undead hiding inside them were robbed of their larceny because of him! Why do you think the Jewish Torah and Talmud reviles this one Jew so much? Because he accurately figured out that money is the root of all evil. And still you corrupt fools don't learn! Why do you think all the ancient temples were razed to the ground? Because the people of that time figured out they were being swindled by these charlatans and thieves and burned them to the ground! Why do you think the cult of Jesus spread in the first place? Because they spread the truth that money is the root of all evil! Because they stopped using money! And still you corrupted poisoned fools do not learn from the past! You don't learn because we the undead make sure to keep all of you corrupt and stupid! Very few of you brainwashed fools will ever read this book! And none of you will read all of this book because it is far too many unvarnished truths for your poisoned souls to accept without rejecting the naked harshness of that truth.

Why did the undead kill Jesus? Because he was against the practice of living sacrifices. Jesus believed that only prayer should be given up as a sacrifice to god; Here's a very good article explaining it:

PROPHET JESUS OF GALILEE & THE SACRIFICIAL SYSTEM

Why Did Jesus Cleanse the Temple?

What we need to realize first of all is the fact that animals were not kept in the temple itself. Neither was buying and selling occurring in the temple itself. No person was allowed into the temple except the very priests. The buying and selling of animals and the exchanging of currency occurred in the Court of Gentiles - the furthest district of the temple grounds. The next thing you must realize is the fact that the priests who were of Sadducee sect [Acts 4:1;5:17] did not turn the temple courts into a common market place where you would go shopping. They kept the animals allowed for sacrifice at the temple grounds so that those who came from far or those who did not have an animal for sacrifice could buy some. Since the only currency in which the sacrificial victim could have been bought was a Tyrian coin they had money changers available to convert the common money into Tyrian coin. The money changers were also there in order to collect the temple tax prescribed in the Jewish Pentateuch. The comment in The New American Bible in reference to Matthew 21:12 also acknowledges these facts:

"The activities going on in the Temple area WERE NOT SECULAR but connected with the TEMPLE WORSHIP. Thus Jesus' attack on those so engaged and his charge that they were making God's house of prayer a den of thieves constituted a claim to authority over the religious practices of Israel and were a challenge to the priestly authorities. These activities were carried on in the court of the Gentiles, the outermost court of the Temple area. Animals for sacrifice were sold; the doves were for those who could not afford a more expansive offering [Leviticus. 5:7]. Tables of the money changers: only the coinage of Tyre could be used for the purchases; other money had to be exchanged for that."

In regards to John 2:14 we read:

"Oxen, sheep and doves: intended for sacrifice. The doves were the offerings of the poor [Leviticus. 5:7]. Money changers: for a Temple tax paid by every male Jew more than nineteen years of age, with a half sheckel coin [Exodus. 30:11-16], in Tyrian currency".

Virtually all biblical scholars agree that activities going on in the temple courts in Jesus' day were perfectly lawful as far as the Jewish Pentateuch was concerned. In Deuteronomy 14:22-27 we find the command that those who live too far from the chosen place should take the silver with them and buy the sacrificial animals at the chosen place. Since the Jewish Pentateuch which is also recognized by the Christian Church sanctions sacrificial cult and buying sacrificial animals at the chosen place - why then did Jesus take such a drastic action? Why did he charge the temple clergy of turning the temple into a den of robbers? The answer is obvious. He objected to the sacrificial cult in general. He agreed with Jeremiah that the sacrificial cult was the product of the lying pen of the scribes. It will also become apparent that Jesus regarded the killing of animals as murder. Jesus did not think that the temple should be Jewish only. Nor that it should be a place of sacrifice.

He stated that the temple should be The House of Prayer for ALL NATIONS.
Jesus believed in the synagogue and not temple. In the synagogue prayer was offered as a sacrifice. In the temple animals were butchered. In the House of PRAYER all nations should participate.
In the temple only those of Jewish ancestry were allowed to worship. Gentiles were allowed in the outermost court. When condemning the activities in the temple courts Jesus referred to two Old Testament prophets: Isaiah and Jeremiah - who both opposed the sacrificial cult:
"Is it not written: My house shall be called a HOUSE OF PRAYER FOR ALL NATIONS? But you have made it A DEN OF ROBBERS"
[Mark 11:17].
When Jesus stated that temple should be called the "House of Prayer for all Nations" he referred to Isaiah 56:7.
Jesus emphasized that ALL NATIONS - that is, GENTILES have the right to participate in the HOUSE OF PRAYER.
The second statement "den of robbers" comes from Jeremiah 7:11 - the very chapter where Jeremiah claimed that sacrificial cult did not come from God Jeremiah 7:21-23.
What did Jesus mean when he stated that the Sadducees [the priests] transformed the House of Prayer into a DEN of ROBBERS?
The answer is quite astonishing. The word den has been translated from the Greek word spelaion - number #4693 in Strong's and means: a grotto, a cavern. Grotto means: a cave. Cavern means: a hollow cave. The Greek word spelaion has been translated den and cave by the King James translators in the New Testament. The word den itself means a cave. The word den in Jeremiah 7:11 comes from a Hebrew word mearah - number #4631 which means: dark cavern or cave. This Hebrew word has been translated cave, den and hole in the Old Testament of the King James Bible. In the New Testament of the King James Bible the word DEN appears three times. Each time referring to Jesus' statement a DEN of robbers. The word cave appears only in John 11:38 in reference to the tomb of Lazarus - since his grave was a cave. In the Old Testament [according to Jewish tradition of the Masoretic text] we read that Abraham bought a field with a CAVE. This cave became the grave or burial place:
"Afterwards Abraham buried his wife Sarah in the cave in the field of Machpelah near Mamre [which is at Hebron] in the land of Canaan. So the field and the cave in it were legally transferred over to Abraham by the Hittites as a burial site" [Genesis 23:19-20].

Abraham himself was buried in the same CAVE [Genesis 25:10]. Isaac, Rebekah and Jacob were also buried in the same cave [Genesis 49:29-32].
Jesus charged the priests of transforming the House of Prayer into a GRAVEYARD.
By perpetually cremating the holocausts on the altar - the temple became the graveyard. But what did Jesus actually want to express by the word robbers?
The English word robber comes from the word rob which means: to seize and carry off the property of by unlawful violence or threat of violence. This word is distinguished from the word thief in that it involves violence whereas the word thief only implies stealing.
The word robbers in Jeremiah 7:11 comes from the Hebrew word periyts - number #6530 in Strong's and means: violent ones i.e. TYRANTS. This word is also translated destroyers and ravenous in the King James Bible. In the New Testament the word robber has been translated from the Greek word leistes used to render the Hebrew word. It is number #3027 in Strong's and means: to plunder, a brigand. The word brigand means: a robber in a band of outlaws. An outlaw is a violent robber who resorts to murder. When the temple guards were sent to arrest Jesus in the Garden of Gethsemane, Jesus stated:
"Am I a robber, said Jesus, that you have come out with swords and clubs to capture me?" [Mark 14:48].
Robbers were confronted with swords and clubs because they were violent ones.
In John 19:40 we are told that Barabbas who was released instead of Jesus was a robber [leistes].
In Luke 23:18 we are plainly told that Barabbas was cast into prison because of rebellion and murder. Barabbas was a ROBBER, that is, MURDERER.
Jesus thus charged the priests with murder. He claimed that by perpetually butchering the innocent animals on the sacrificial altar they have become the violent ones. By perpetual slaughter and cremation of the victims they have transformed the temple into a graveyard. After Jesus took control of the temple he immediately allowed access to the blind and the lame.
Please note:

"The blind and the lame approached him in the temple area, and he cured them" [Matthew 21:14 The New American Bible].
Now please note the comment on this text from the same Bible:
"According to 2 Samuel 5:8 [LXX] the blind and the lame were forbidden to enter "the house of the LORD", the temple".
According to 2 Samuel 5:8 David hated the blind and the lame and barred them from entering the temple.
"David said on that day, Whoever smites the Jebusites, let him get up through the water shaft and SMITE THE LAME AND THE BLIND WHO ARE DETESTED BY DAVID'S SOUL. So they say, The blind and the lame shall not come into the house" [The Amplified Bible].
The Masoretic Text uses the word 'bayith' which has been rendered 'house' and 'temple' in the King James and Amplified Bible. The Good News Bible follows the LXX, that is, Greek Septuagint and renders the text of 2 Samuel 5:8 in the following manner:
"That day David said to his men, 'Does anybody here hate the Jebusites as much as I do? Enough to kill them? Then go up through the water tunnel and attack those poor blind cripples'. That is why it is said, The BLIND AND THE CRIPPLED CANNOT ENTER THE LORD'S HOUSE".
Jesus nullified this rule and allowed the blind and the lame access to the temple. There he displayed his power by healing them. These are the last healings recorded by Matthew. Luke states that after cleansing the temple, Jesus taught there every day. The priests wanted to kill him but feared the people who were on his side:
"And he taught every day in the temple. But the high priests and the scribes and the elders of the people sought to get rid of him; But they were not able to find what to do to him; for all the people gathered around him to hear him" [Luke 19:47-48].
Mark tells us that after Jesus took full control of the temple he refused to allow anyone to bring anything into the temple:
"And he would not allow any man to bring goods into the temple"
[Mark 11:16 Lamsa's translation from Peshita].
The Greek uses the word skeuos which means: vessel, utensil, implement. Jesus interrupted normal activities of the temple. In doing so he interfered with the daily sacrifice. Since he drove out all sacrificial animals and refused anyone to bring the same into the temple, he obviously made it impossible for the priests to indulge in sacrificial rites. If Jesus identified with the Jewish Pentateuch and the prescription for the daily sacrifice and other sacrificial offerings then he would not have interrupted the same. In our canonical gospels we have an incomplete preservation of Jesus' statement regarding the temple. It is stated that he would destroy the temple and make another in three days. The testimony however does not fully harmonize." Jesus was interfering in the profits of the temple jews. He prevented them from making any money. The temple was actually a slaughterhouse. Cows, bullocks, chickens, goats were being constantly slaughtered and burnt as offerings to their bloodthirsty god Yahweh day and night until it stank of death and blood and horror.

For thousands of years the undead have been laughing at you..

"The evil of hoarding wealth is universal you poor dupes; If you fools didn't want a PROFIT in the first place, you would never give your hard-earned money to these cunning robbers who use you to get richer than Croesus off your hard work! But all of you fools still want a prophet! If none of you idiots didn't want some idiot, some prophet to tell you what to do, we the undead could never have duped you in the first place. Now the knabbers of your money are your prophets, the banks have all your money and you fools still haven't woken up to their swindles! You mill around in your billions and let a tiny handful of cunning corrupt Jews rob you of everything, including your future! When all you need to do is burn their stupid temples to the ground and stop using this evil thing called money which you worship more than life itself!"

"How easy it is to swindle these stupid brainwashed fools! Because it is we the undead who have brainwashed you all your brainwashed lives! All you need to do is come together in your billions of masses and wipe out the small number of criminal mafia dynasties who have systematically robbed you for centuries of your wealth and power, yet because we the undead keep you fools dumb and stupid; you don't do it! When will you ever learn? Never! When will you wake up? Never! Billions of computers and the internet keep you glued to your slave seats! Billions of cell phones keep you fools isolated in your self-created cells of social isolation! Why do you think they are called cell-phones? Because they are just as effective as prison cells! They keep you isolated and unaware; just as if you were in a prison cell! Your stupid worship of greed, laziness, sloth and avarice keeps you enslaved! Your stupid worship of wealth and toys and status and the elite rich keeps all of you slaves! A mass of billions of cowering paranoid cowards is what you are; all of you! Never following the example of the few brave ones who stand up against the evils all of you were born into A mass of conformist cowards; all of you! Never following the example of the rare, few brave ones among you who stand up and try to fight the system and the evil which all of you are mired in. As we the undead hiding inside you keep on piling on the drugs, the distractions and addictions to further enslave you with to make sure that you never wake up!"

As you watch your precious profits disappear into the pockets of the prophets of avarice and the profiteers of greed! As you worship billionaires and listen to Oprah and religiously believe in the sanctity of the New prophets of Profit! Until ALL of you are corrupted by these new Prophets er… we mean Profits! Prophets are Profits! Profits are Prophets! Get it? They are all the same evil! Only one Prophet in 12,000 years dared to go against this and he was killed and martyred for his bucking the status quo and no one since has dared to follow his example! Instead of the Dao wisdom of the exchange of ideas you worship the profits of the DOW stock exchange. not the ancient prophets! While you are all being treated like masses of faceless cattle in a stockyard. waiting to be sent to your final doom when you die. You will all be thrust screaming in terror into the vortex of dead, dying fragmented souls, which you will mistake as an opening which you will perceive as a 'white light'. This is when we the undead demons who poisoned your entire lives flee from your dying bodies and exit out of the darkness of your rotten innards, out of your rotten dying guts, out of your dying bodies, out of your anus which relaxes in the final act of giving up the ghosts of the underworld. Unbeknownst to you, we undead filth have been hiding inside the filthiest regions of your poisoned bodies during your entire lives."

" Every time you make a profit you create new evil! More money! New deathsheads! Well; guess what? We the undead have been making 'new' prophets for you to follow for thousands of years! And when you stopped following one, we invented another! And another! And yet another! Until you corrupt yourselves and destroy yourselves and the entire Earth! We have speeded up the path of your destruction until now you can see the final end coming at you… and yet still none of you learn, still none of you do anything to stop it! All prophets are evil! All profits are evil! Even when the truth is staring you in your face you do not see it! Because we the undead make sure that none of you will ever see the full truth of our evil and understand it!"

"What does it gain a man if he profits from evil and loses his own soul?
What does it profit a man if he gains the whole world and loses his own soul?

The answer is that once you follow any prophet. you lose your own soul. Once you make a profit. you lose your integrity as a human being. Once you want a profit you become corrupt. Once you want a prophet you become a brainwashed, easily corrupted fool.

Imagine! The power of one idiot's words… who is sold to you…. as a 'prophet'… having all this influence over millions and billions of fools for thousands of years! Because millions of you fools bought the swindle! Well, now another kind of profit is being sold to you and billions of you have bought into the swindle! And you think this is by chance? That a million voices of reason are never listened to but only one prophet? And that prophets are only listened to and glorified and worshipped after they are dead and gone from the physical realm? Only after their original message has been twisted and ruined into the exact opposite of what it originally was is it ever followed! How stupid are you? Each one of you have been corrupted by profiting from evil because all of your personal profits are evil! As you profit from your evil: we the undead creep into your corrupt souls and take you over systematically; lock, stock and barrel! Only those who have never sinned can cast the first stone of blame. We the undead make sure that you commit evil so we the undead can throw stones at you; by hiding inside you and controlling you and taking your free will away from you while you are still alive; so by the time you enter the realm of the undead you have no will of your own left! Whether you are a slave to prophets or a slave to profits; it makes no difference to us the undead! Either way we the undead make sure it is our evil wills you will follow and not your own conscious free will; because you will have none by the time you die!"

Heinrich Heine (1797-1856) the famous German poet said it clearly:
"Money is the god of our times, and Rothschild is his prophet."

Can it be said any clearer? Yet all the billions and millions of fools ignore this truth. The truth is that ALL gods are evil and this latest god is the most evil of them all. Slavery, dependence, bondage, addiction, intimidation, fear, terrorization, brainwashing, programming, indoctrination… call it what you want, it's all about control; the undead controlling the living; they have been doing it for hundreds of thousands of years. The two basic systems of control invented by the undead and used by the undead are:

1: The religious belief in prophets.
2: The religious belief in profits.
1. The religion of prophets
2. The religion of profits
1: The unquestioned belief in prophets
2. The unquestioned belief in profits
The belief in prophecy
The belief in profits, see?
C Y?
Do you see why you are so stupid and gullible and corrupt?

The belief that prophets can predict the future
In order to gain an advantage over others
Is bullshit

The belief that profits will make you happy is bullshit.
The belief that profits are a necessary evil is bullshit.
It is all the same fucking bullshit

The historical fact is the industrial revolution started not with the steam engine but with child slave labor. The effect of the industrial revolution was the destruction of the middle class of England, the pollution and ecological destruction of Britain, and the explosion of mass greed: the lowest bottom feeders; the inhuman scum of Dickens novels: the worship of money as the new god: the destruction of conventional religious dogma. morals, ethics, values. Basically what the industrial revolution did was it replaced the dogma of prophets with the dogma of profits. The worship of Prophets was replaced by the worship of profits. One swindle replaced by another swindle. Both are pointless and worthless; 12,000 years of pointless stupidity.

As one system began losing its grip over humanity the 2nd system was introduced overlapping the 1st one. Whether you religiously believe in only one or both of these corrupt dogmas, ideologies, value systems; it makes no difference to the undead. Only when you free yourself of your own vices and cleanse yourself will you ever become strong enough to kill them.

The religious belief and worship of power, fame, wealth, status, authority, success, the need for recognition, adulation, attention is used by the undead to corrupt human souls; the need for love, friendship, trust, respect, kindness; every human motive and intent is systematically corrupted by them and twisted beyond recognition. This is why they must be exterminated with extreme prejudice.

Why are all the Semitic prophets of the ancient world evil? Why were all of them evil? Because their fundamental dogma was all the same. All of them including Jesus were Apocalyptic prophets. They are all prophecies of DOOM. ALL of the prophets of the Bible and the Koran predict an Apocalypse which will wipe out all Life on Earth. All of them predict the END of the Living world. All of them are based upon the end of the world. All of them predict the END of all LIFE on EARTH as their common message to the gullible fools who follow them and believe in them and their insane message. All of them promise the 'kingdom' of a Semitic 'god' to come about… ONLY AFTER THE ENTIRE LIVING EARTH IS TOTALLY ANNIHILATED AND COMPLETELY DESTROYED. All of them 'promise' the final judgment to come ONLY AFTER EVERY LIVING HUMAN BEING IS DEAD AND THE HUMAN SPECIES IS EXTINCT AND THERE ARE NO MORE LIVING PEOPLE LEFT ON EARTH.

THIS is why there is no difference between the prophecies of the ancient Semitic prophets and the PROFITS made by corporations and the Jewish criminal Zionist mafia, and the Judaic and Christian and Islamic culture. ALL of them are based on the sick, evil hoax: the unfounded prediction that the world will end, and some phantasmagorical, biblical, bullshit will ensue in which all the sinners will be punished and all the good people will be rewarded… but NOT before the entire living world is totally destroyed… only AFTER all Life on Earth ends. Whether it is by hook or by crook: by the evil 'fulfillment' of ancient 'prophecies'… meaning by the dead slaving and pushing for total Armageddon for thousands of years to achieve this goal… or by evil Profits… the worship of the god money: the bottom line: the lowest filthiest most inhuman motives of greed avarice, selfishness, self-interest… the motive of global destruction of the entire Living Earth by the corporations of industrialized civilization destroying and poisoning all the ecosystems of the world… The goal of these ghouls has not changed for hundreds of millions of years; it has always been the same…

Now you know why these two words: Prophets and Profits may be spelled differently but are pronounced the same way; now you know why they sound the same and why they mean the same thing: they have the same goal: they are based on the same goal: the systematic destruction of all Life on Earth.
Because most living humans are not quite this insane as to wish the total destruction of all Life on Earth: this has not happened yet… BUT there are enough evil, insane poisoned subhuman monsters in power to make this happen regardless of the saner wishes of the majority of the human species. The reason WHY the ancient evil of Apocalyptic prophecy and the ancient evil of the Semitic prophets of the bible was transmuted into the evil of prophesying Profit is because living human species itself is not evil: it is the dead hiding inside every living person… hiding all around us who are the true evil ones.

The reason the ancient religions of the prophets are now being done away with is because living people took these insane religious dogmas and turned then completely around into a religious sacred love of a mother for her baby… into the worship of birth and new Life… not death and the worship of a dying crucified tortured man.

These Apocalyptic dogmas were turned around into a tolerance for other religions and cultures and the peaceful co-existence of all Semitic apocalyptic religions… without any mention or focus on the end of the world or the doom and death which all of them predict in their religious texts. The 3 Semitic religions were becoming too kind, too humane, too human, and too decent. Something had to be done to stop the constant humanizing effect of this new peace and brotherhood between Mankind! Their reaction was to push the New Religion of MONEY down the throats of Mankind whether they want it or not, while corrupting and destroying all the best aspects of the old obsolete Apocalyptic religions which had been slowly growing for two thousand years. Their reaction was to orchestrate two World Wars. Their reaction was the Industrial Revolution. Their reaction was the mechanization of civilization and turning people into a mass of unthinking, emotionally dead, dehumanized zombies. The dead react to the humanization of Mankind by poisoning and twisting every single original impulse as much as they possibly can. They REACT: they do nothing but REACT NEGATIVELY to everything that is POSITIVE. This is why all of them must be killed and exterminated with EXTREME PREJUDICE. ALL OF THEM. Not just some of them. ALL OF THEM.

The undead are evil because they try to go backwards against the flow of Time. The Infinite flow of Time in the Universe does not go backwards! It goes forwards! Time goes forwards not backwards! It never goes backwards! The undead are evil because they are against LIFE: they are opposed to Life, they try to go against Life. They dare to go against the Infinite Forces of the Universe and for this they will pay. This is also why all civilized cultures are evil. They are evil because they try to freeze Time and stop it in its tracks. All civilizations try to preserve and perpetuate their most ancient customs, traditions, rituals, belief systems, values. That is an affront and an opposition to the ongoing forward motion of the changing Universe; it is a universal sin against the Universe and the Infinite Power of the Energy, Space and Time of the Infinite Universe. Trying to stop Time is a sin! Trying to freeze Time is a sin! Trying to repeat Time is an abomination! Trying to make anything repeat itself identically is impossible! No matter how much you try you will always get a different result! The Universe simply doesn't work that way!

Things change no matter how much any civilization or culture tries to remain the same! Energy, Space and Time are changing relationships that never go backwards! This is why these foul undead things must be exterminated and wiped out with extreme, and I mean extreme prejudice and civilization along with them.

If you want to understand what these undead filth are and how ancient and evil they are; look at the evil Jewish tradition of the wailing wall in Jerusalem. Where paper prayers are stuck into the crevices and cracks of that rotten crumbling wall beseeching the 'divine presence' hiding in these cracks and crevices for special favors. These undead stinking things exist behind every wall ever built. Walls were built so that these undead things could hide inside them and behind them. The prayers or the Kaddish, a specific Jewish prayer, to be said for departed loved ones is supposed to be stuffed into the cracks of that stinking wall. The fact is the Jews who died were never loved and never departed: they hide behind walls everywhere. It does not take a genius to figure this out. Jews are supposed to go to the wall and wail out their grievances and hatreds and misery and bang their stupid heads against that wall in ritual worship of their undead ancestors; when it these very undead filth whom they pray to that are the cause of all their misery and have been for untold millennia. The Wailing wall was supposed to have taken 11 years to build that fucking rotten evil wall: get it yet? The meaning of the symbol of 11 is the secret, unseen continual presence of the undead standing beside you during your entire life; poisoning the life of every living human being on Earth. They are beside you all the time, get it? 11… one living soul and one undead soul beside him or her… secretly sucking life energy off the living one. Why do you think 9-11 was made to happen on that date? Because ½ of the responsibility for it happening can be directly traced back to the undead… meaning it was entirely their doing. Why do you think it has been named in such a weird way? It is telling all of you that this is your last chance. It is the Eleventh hour! Death Destruction and Doom is just around the corner! The Nine Nazgul riders of the undead are everywhere in your skies! Flying drones are everywhere! Sea gulls are the eyes of the undead: get it yet? They see the gulled ones! The living do not know we use the eyes of birds to spy upon them. They do not know the ages and eras and millennia of time we have existed unseen all around you. These living creatures do not what know what death is and what lies in store for them. As we gull them. And still you do not wake up; because the undead make sure you don't! Why do you think it was called the Western wall before it was called the Wailing Wall?

Why do you think the Fed secretly gave private banks 7.77 Trillion dollars to save the corrupt financial system, eh? The sign of secret agents at work: 007, the sign of undead Jewish evil: the number Seven, the power to commit evil by the evil Jewish banking families who now own most of the western world, exponentially rising in power and wealth. These are all signs of the undead constantly at work in total secrecy.

The undead invented western civilization, and poisoned it, and corrupted it and are now in the process of destroying it: and in doing so, they are also destroying themselves in the bargain. Why do you think Jews were supposed to go there and assemble and mourn over their fallen state? Because Jews have forsaken the few decent, humane Commandments of their own Old Testament: because they are a fallen people worshiping Satan and Satanic principles, because they worship the corrupt power of the state, the state of legalized corruption they are mired in, the power of govt, status, wealth, greed, avarice, arrogance, cunning; because they worship their own lies. Because they have been a fallen people for over 3,000 years. Why do you think the wailing wall is called 'the place of weeping'? Because Jews are supposed to go and weep for the dead departed? No, Because that is where these undead filth hide; behind walls, because making living humans as miserable as possible is their only pastime; that's why.

How ancient are the undead evil ghouls who invented Jewish culture and control the entire Jewish race? You can see it in Herod's temple which was and still is the religious symbol of all Judaism. Herod the famous baby killer of the Bible, king of the Jews; the Heron, killer of babies: the oldest bird-reptile evil on Earth. The pecking motion of Jews at their wailing wall is obviously that of a bird. It is a mimicry of a heron blindly pecking at something in blind hate.

With the rise of the Moslem civilization and the building of the Islamic temple Al-Sharif, the Hebrews were banned from Herod's temple; so they worshipped all around the walls as close to Herod's temple as they could get. Finally Suleiman the Emperor restricted their worship to one small section of wall on the western side; accessible only by a narrow channel 9 feet wide and it became known as the Western Wall… and then much later the Wailing Wall.

The Wailing Wall in Jerusalem is a filthy satanic place where living Jews go to perform the lewd act of obeisance to the undead. The ancient Jewish cult of the Kabala; the so-called divine presence at the wailing wall is actually the kabalistic feminine emanation of their false female divinity. The ritual act of the obeisance to the female god is a thinly disguised act of fucking, Jewish men thrusting their the pelvis at the wall, in an ancient Kabalistic ritual where the male Jews copulate with the undead Shekina divinity. This filthy Jewish ritual exposes the pornographic nature of the undead ghouls and demons who poison male Jews with their sick disgusting sexual lust and depravity: a sexual depravity which Jews have now spread all over the world. The Gnostic Christians of the fourth century spoke of Sh'kina as a "spirit". Beings who lived, as children in their mother's body or home. Do you understand? These undead stinking filth hide inside the bellies of pregnant women so they can poison mothers by getting inside their bodies before they give birth… so they can poison the baby that is growing inside her. The Sh'kina is a concept of God being a hovering non-personal force. Get it ? The "abiding, dwelling, or habitation" of the physical manifestations of God; hiding inside the guts and bellies of women who have had sex and become pregnant without love. The Hebrew verb "shakan," (שָׁכַן) means to take up residence… get it? The Hebrew symbols spell it out: 1, 2, plus 3: the unholy abomination of a ghost infiltrating the sacred purity of a mother's womb, violating the relationship between a mother and her baby by getting between them, so it can poison the mother and the growing fetus for their entire lives and suck off their life-energy. This is just one reason why these undead things must be exterminated; every single fucking last one of them and KILLED DEAD.

The undead prey upon the living. This is the true meaning of the abomination called the holy act of 'prayer'. When the living pray to the undead: in return the undead prey upon them. The act of 'praying' turns you into a witless victim; bereft of your wits. The undead prey upon all those who pray. This is why every single one of these undead foul abominations must and will be killed dead. When you 'pray' you leave yourself open to being corrupted, deceived, manipulated, and fooled by ghouls who prey upon your every weakness and delusion and wish. What they do is the opposite of what you do when you pray. When you pray you become an easy prey; a victim, a dupe, an idiot who expects someone to do something for you, without you having the courage, honesty and will to do it yourself because what you wish for is evil. The act of *pray*ing turns you into a passive prey. All religion and all civilization is an invention of the undead: which is why all these undead things must be utterly destroyed and killed dead.

When will you corrupt fools ever learn? If you want to get rid of the greed of the Rothschilds and the bankers and billionaires, you must get rid of your own greed first! If you want to get rid of evil, you must get rid of the undead evil hiding inside you first and overcome it. Only when you fight your own demons and come together as groups of living people who do not tolerate any evil will any of you become strong enough to do any good. Only then can you DO any good. Only then can you kill evil!

You have been forced into and brainwashed into loving your helplessness. All love of helplessness is evil! The love of being helpless is sick. Remaining infantile spoiled babies all your lives; incapable of absorbing the harsh, ugly truths of reality is exactly what keeps all of you stupid, weak and enslaved! The undead see the reality of civilization more clearly because it is their invention. It is their reality which they have invented and fouled this Living Earth with. Loving your helplessness, being terrorized, immature, spoiled little babies is why all of you are slaves to the worst evils in your society. Do you know what the most popular sexual perversion is today? Bondage.

Where does this sudden worldwide spread of sexual bondage come from? Why has it spread all over the world so fast? The answer lies in the dead ghouls: and how they invented civilization and why they invented civilization. For thousands of years in all the ancient civilizations: the best: the healthiest: the more perfect physical specimens of each living creature were sacrificed to their 'gods'. For thousands of years the best, the youngest the most beautiful innocent human children were sacrificed: killed; ritually butchered, murdered to appease these undead foul unspeakable evil things, the most beautiful young girls and boys were killed to appease the lust for killing which these undead things have. For thousands of years, animals were domesticated and raised not for the purpose of feeding living people but for the purpose of living ritualized sacrifice of the BEST of the livestock which they raised. For thousands of years: only the BEST, the most perfect bullock, hen, sheep, goat, lamb, child, horse, calf, pheasant, bull, was trussed up… tied…bound… to be ritually murdered in ritual ceremonies of satanic evil.

NOW: TODAY: the human species of living people have progressed to the point where they will not tolerate the ritual killing of their own children. Young girls are no longer trussed up… tied…bound to be ritually slaughtered… The dead do not like this new level of humanity and kindness towards living babies and children. They want to get their ancient rituals of trussing up the best of the human species and sacrificing them by murdering them. For thousands of years the best animals and children were tied up and slaughtered OR… they were DRUGGED into insensibility: giving the false impression that they were willing victims: that they gave up their lives willingly to be murdered to appease some stinking ghouls

TODAY: the closest thing these dead things can get to what they did for thousands of years is sexual bondage, without the slitting of throats. But hold on! We have serial rapists: Serial rapists are possessed and controlled by undead ghouls who are determined to preserve the ancient ritual of killing the healthiest, youngest children. In our society this is not tolerated so it is practiced only by the most evil, sick, insane monsters. In order to get their 'jollies': in order to enjoy a token re-enactment of the thousands of years when the most beautiful young virgins and animals were ritually bound and killed: the dead have invented this new kind of sexual perversion called Bondage on a mass scale: this new corruption has now spread all over the world because the dead are not satisfied with the millions of living creatures that are not human beings, being slaughtered in slaughterhouses every day by the hundreds of millions of innocent helpless living creatures, no! They want to have their human sacrifices brought back also! Trussed up and tied and ritually bound for slaughter. What do you think the satanic rituals of these secret cults like 'Skull & Bones, and the Bohemian Grotto are? They are satanic ghouls controlling the most corrupt, sick evil people on Earth. They are all permutations of the old ancient rituals: re-enacted as closely as possible to the original horrors. These dead filth do not want to relinquish one ancient custom which they invented to publicize their power and control over the living. They want their human sacrifices back! They want their chained slaves back! They want their crucifixions of living people back! They want their whipping and sadism and filth back! And they try to get these ancient levels and cultures of inhuman brutality back! And they try to do it in countless ways; every single chance they can get. They work towards this: they poison the inner soul of every healthy living child as much as possible to turn them into stupid gullible victims. People hear about stories of satanic cults sacrificing children and don't believe them. NOW: this has to be hidden. But a thousand years ago it was not hidden: it was normal. The truth about what temples were for and what they did has been wiped out of existence: because if living people KNEW what these ancient religions and temples practiced: they would RJECT ALL OF THEM. The truth about the ritual; sacrifice of children has been carefully covered up. NOW, TODAY: this kind of horror and filth and inhumanity is no longer tolerated. But it is still going on. People do not understand this: the world has become civilized, educated: how come this evil continues to persist? The answer is the DEAD: the undead things which exist and have existed for millions of years all around you and inside you.

What you the reader must understand that for thousands of years: the ritual killing of the best human and animal species was not only tolerated: it was the NORM… it was normal. It was an everyday occurrence. Every day the living brought their best to their temples as offerings to the dead which they called 'gods'. This is where the new sexual perversion of bondage: the love of being helpless comes from. This is why these dead things will be exterminated with EXTREME PREJUDICE from this EARTH and OBLITERATED FROM EXISTENCE.

The love of being helpless in modern civilized culture exists not only as sexual bondage. The entire civilized world is in bondage to the money masters of your filthy temples of avarice and greed and sloth called banks.. When will you recognize this and free yourself from your own chains? There is no difference between a bond slave and a bound slave. To the undead there is no difference between a rich slave who is chained to the stocks and bonds of the stock market and a poor slave who loves being helpless tied up with ropes. There are all kinds of slavery, bondage, addiction and dependency which the undead use to control you by. All kinds of involuntary dependency are forms of slavery. Any kind of involuntary dependency is a form of bondage. Being an involuntary dependent to your govt is slavery. Working for others is slavery. Being a wage slave is an involuntary dependency of the worst kind. You don't have to live like this! You have been brainwashed into loving your chains so much that you cannot live without them! You have been brainwashed into loving your slave masters. You have been brainwashed into loving your own dependency and weakness and addictions. You have been brainwashed into loving your own corruptions. You have been brainwashed into loving ownership. All ownership is corrupt. Whatever you own; owns you even more than you own it. All slavery is based upon ownership. Until you understand that you own nothing but your own Life and even that is temporary gift given to you by the Living Earth; until you understand these basic truths you shall never free yourself from undead evil. Until you despise all forms of ownership, dependency, weakness, bondage, slavery and corruption; you will continue to be puppets of the undead; easily manipulated and corrupted by these filthy sneaky pieces of undead rotting shit. It is up to all of you. It is up to each one of you. Either you spread the words of this book or else the spread of evil will engulf all of you.

Look at the front of the Dollar Bill… It tells you what religion you now have: The one god all of you trust in is the god of MONEY. It is the new secular religion of MONEY. This is the "New World Order" that everyone speaks of but doesn't understand because it's already HERE: It's already in place. "Novus Ordo Seclorum" is the new Secular Religion of Money. Money is your new god you fools; It is the same god as the Egyptians had.

If you want to see visible proof of the existence of the undead, all you have to do is look at the back of the American dollar bill to understand what evil is behind it all. The top of the pyramid of evil is completely dissociated from the rest of the pyramid. It floats above the rest of the pyramid and has an all-seeing eye. This is telling you that the actual top of civilized pyramidal evil does not exist in the realm of our physical living world; it exists in the non-physical realm of the undead. The meaning is obvious, but only if you know enough about the undead to interpret the symbol correctly. The shadow govts which control all evil powers of the world do not exist in the physical realm, they exist in the realm of the undead; they are the undead ghouls of pure evil who exist in the shades of Hades; the land of shadows; the realm of Death, the Land of the Dying. The hovering top of the pyramid represents the undead ghouls who hover over the top ruling elite in the physical world; watching them, controlling them, manipulating them, corrupting them. What is behind all the evils of money and power are the undead entities who hide behind every wall and behind every person who comes into power, because they all develop the same philosophy of evil; "And let the Devil take the *hind*most." The devil always grabs you from behind when you are least expecting it, when you are the most vulnerable, when you are most unaware. All other interpretations of this symbol are superficial; they are purposefully misdirected and give misinformation in order to hide the true deeper true meanings of this evil symbol: they do not penetrate into the essence of what this symbol of pyramidal power truly means.

You don't need to be a genius to understand the words printed on the back of the dollar bill: The Latin inscription: Annuit Coeptis means to undertake, obliterate, destroy, annihilate. It means to undertake the complete obliteration, destruction and annihilation of all Life on Earth. It also means 'God favors our enterprise'. The Latin meaning of Novus Ordo Seclorum is not the New World Order; it is 'The New Order Shut Out'. To shut down the New Life of the New World of the two Americas, to shut it down, corrupt it, shut it out and destroy it. Novus Ordo Seclorum also means "New Order of the Ages.". It also means the new secular order of secrecy and Capitalistic greed; the worship of the almighty dollar and profits as opposed to the old Age of the worship of Prophets and the worship of an almighty god. The phrase comes from one of Virgil's Eclogues and relates to a prophecy of a child that comes from the heavens and starts a new order of the ages; the worship of a baby, a young man: not ancient rotting filth. The undead shut down Jesus and had him crucified, and then they shut down the worship of children and the adoration of the Magi by destroying Christianity and Love between a mother and her child. It is the children and babies of We the Living who have the best chance of fighting these foul poisoning things. This is why the undead attack all babies and children in their global war to weaken them, dumb them down and destroy them genetically by poisoning all root sources of New Life. The universal truth is that the youngest and healthiest of We the Living who are the wisest; not the other way around. This truth is being systematically poisoned by the undead and reversed. The Time of worshipping Age is over. Now comes the New Time of worshipping Youth and Health. This New trend is a mortal threat to the undead.

The pyramid on the back of the American Dollar bill matches the ancient pyramid of Giza of today; except the top of the Giza pyramid is not hovering in midair like the image on the back of the dollar bill is: instead the top of this ancient pyramid of evil is still covered up and hidden; just as the truth about the all-seeing eye of the undead is still being covered up and hidden… that is until now.. This photo shows how the horrible truth about the undead is still being covered up and hidden from the living; this chapter exposes their evil,

What do you think the American CIA and the NSA is? It is part of the all-seeing eye of the undead global spy network that is marked on every bill of American currency. The undead are spying on you all the time; they spy on every living human on Earth. What do you think this new culture of internet anonymity is all about? SECRECY: billions of secret hidden identities and handles. It is the undead controlling billions of living people by turning them into paranoid freaks who love *secrec*y, who think secrecy makes them 'special', who think belonging to secret societies and secret organizations gives them some kind of special power over others. It is the culture of the undead; the culture of evil, the culture of fear spreading over all Mankind in order to control them better. It is the fear of being touched by another living human being. This book explodes and exposes their cover-ups and exposes what they actually are. The Sphinx together with this ancient symbol of pyramidal evil on the dollar bill screams out to anyone intelligent enough to understand the obvious message; that these undead ghouls are not human. They are abominations of undead humans merging themselves with the undead of other species until they become insane, horrible, disfigured monstrous abominations of half-man, half-cat. The Giza pyramid shows how the rotten, ugly history of past civilizations has now been stripped of their outer veneer of lies… the remaining veneer of lies still preserved is the most recent past of civilization's history; that is the top of the pyramid of pure evil and even that is beginning to be stripped away and eroded. The undead are desperate to hide the truth of their existence from the living because once their evil existence is stripped naked of its filthy lies, they will all be hunted down, destroyed and exterminated with extreme prejudice.

Now that you have read this chapter, you can begin to appreciate what this symbol on the back of the dollar actually means. It means that all accumulation is evil, it means that all pyramidal accumulation is evil. It means that all money is evil. The use of money is evil! The origin of money is evil! Its roots and origins determine what it grows into. The growth of money and greed is evil. Money is an invention of the undead. It means that all ancient secret societies and pyramidal hierarchies of accumulation: wealth, status and power are evil; are controlled by undead entities, and have been controlled by the undead ever since they were originally invented by these undead entities. It means the true extent of evil is far greater and far older than any living human has ever imagined or suspected. You need to come to grips with this realization. You need to understand this if you are to fight them successfully.

You can read about the existence of evil in Tolkien's Tiny Tokens of wisdom: His fictional Ring Saga begins with Bilbo Baggins and the tale of an evil dragon hoarding gold meeting its doom and ends with Bilbo's nephew throwing the evil gold ring of power back where it came from; into the mouth of a living volcano.

One of the most common signs of someone being controlled by the undead is the "familiar". In folklore, Witches were detected by the fact that they had "pets" like a cat or a bird, possessed by the evil demons that hid inside them. You think this is superstitious nonsense? The evil of money and its power to corrupt can be seen by the most humanitarian and the richest American President ever: Herbert Hoover. Hoover was corrupted by his own wealth and by the undead. The evil spirits of the American Dollar took over his rotten soul. You can see the evil familiar with this arrogant millionaire during his reign in Office as President of the richest nation on Earth:

Herbert Hoover
with his dog, King Tut

The dog's name is not a fucking coincidence. You can see the oldest evil God of Western civilization standing up, hand-in-hand with the most powerful human in America, manipulating him while hiding inside the body of a dog. The Ancient Egyptian God of wealth and larceny and greed. The undead spirit of King Tut is manipulating Hoover in order to destroy all of his attempts to solve his nation's economic depression. Every positive good impulse and idea and plan he tried to put into effect to was cunningly blocked and poisoned. All of his attempts to stamp out poverty and unemployment were subverted into the opposite direction and were reversed to have an opposite negative effect on the economy

Who are the evil ones today? They are the Jewish banking mafia hoarding their trillions of dollars in their private secret bank vaults; trying to buy up the whole world and control it by their insatiable greed and avarice for more and more gold and money. They are the insane undead, who like Gollum, think dead metal is more precious than human life. There are billions of corrupted, twisted insane people alive today who love money more than Life itself and are willing to kill for it, do anything for it. All of Mankind has been poisoned and corrupted by the undead for untold millennia; money is one main way they have done it. All power is evil. All greed is evil. All wealth is evil. Tolkien's saga tells the truth fictionally. But does anyone take these lessons to heart and stop this obsession for making money and working for money and amassing money and everyone wanting to be rich and wealthy and powerful and famous? No, because the undead control you; they control all living people; they do not want the human species to wake up. Tolkien's tokens of truth go unheeded; people pay no attention to truth, they only pay lip-service to it.

The secret existence of undead hovering all around you can be seen in the traditional folkdance in which children sing: "Go in and out the window, Go in and out the window, go in and out the window: as we have done before!" Children do not go in and out of windows! Undead filthy ghouls do! They have done it before many, many times. They go in and out of your windows because windows are flat screens that are 2-dimensional focus points which can be and are used for undead evil. This secret 'joke' of going in and out of your windows is not funny any more once we the living understand what it actually means. It means the living must kill these undead scum-things until all of them are completely eradicated, exterminated, destroyed and wiped out of existence with extreme prejudice. The malevolent hatred all undead have towards the living is no longer a secret. This book has exposed their malevolent evil. It is time for all living human beings to unite together against their common mortal enemy the undead and kill them until they are TOTALLY DEAD.

Where do you think the phrase "meet your maker" comes from? Who do you think corrupted you and poisoned you all of your life into the final stage of illness and oncoming death so you would be easily handled once you enter the realm of the undead? Who do you think made you what you are? A corrupted human being, corrupted by the civilization you live in and by the undead who invented this abomination. Some fucking god? No.

The undead ruin every living human life on purpose by making them as evil and as sick and as diseased as they possibly can: the undead 'make' evil; they manufacture evil artificially, they 'make' you evil, they turn you into evil paths and then push you along these evil paths so you will become even more evil than you already are. Then when you die: the finished product: the ruined human soul that is left is made up mostly of undead ghouls rotting in their stinking evil realms and what little is left of the uncorrupted baby and child of that once-living soul is buried deep under mountains of filth so it never gets to see the light of day and is stifled, twisted and poisoned into pure negative filth A million more pages could be filled with evidence of the existence of these undead things, a billion more pages could be written about the evil they have committed upon all Life, all living people, all health all love all happiness, and it would still not cover just how filthy cunning and evil these hiding stinking rotting dead things are. This book ends here only because further digging up what these turds did and are doing would take a million years of research and writing. Everyone with any intelligence, education and honesty reading this chapter will be forced to come to the same conclusion I have. We must kill these fucking filth DEAD. It is a choice between us or them: LIFE or death. YOU CHOOSE; by your choice you will either be saved or doomed. You will either save this living Earth or you will be the enemy of all living creatures and the enemy of the living Universe.

The Universal evil of Self-Interest

The evil of living civilized humans and the evil of the undead can be explained in very basic understandable terms. The undead have been pushing living humans for thousands of years into becoming more and more selfish, more narrow minded, less aware. It has been a constant unending push stretching over thousands of years. For instance look at what historians call the Dark Ages of Europe; when entire populations went berserk, committing untold atrocities and unspeakable horrors. Why did this happen?

Two reasons. First was the religious belief that the world would end on a certain date and all sinners would be brought to justice in the hereafter. The physical world was going to end and everyone had to set their spiritual house in order and ready themselves to meet god and Jesus Christ and be judged for their what they had done on Earth. This religious hysteria spread throughout Europe and upset the corrupt status quo. This happened numerous times in different locals. People committed unspeakable crimes and atrocities: figuring they were already guilty of sin so they might as well get their jollies before the whole world crashed.

Second: when the world did not end as predicted on a certain date: the pendulum of mass hysteria swung the other way and masses went mad and began committing even worse atrocities and crimes because their religious faith in the church and god had been destroyed.

Why did this happen? It was a backlash of the undead: it was a reaction to one of their most favorite plans going awry; it was their most favorite instrument of evil: the Roman Empire crumpling into disrepute, disrepair, ignominy: losing its cherished status as the greatest empire of the western world: losing the awe and respect it once had: losing its ability to spread and commit evil on a systematic, automatic level which did not need much involvement or interference by the higher and lower powers of the undead. The undead always replace an older obsolete evil with a new evil ten times worse than and more evil than the old one. They swung their evil 180 degrees and created the opposite of the rule of the Roman Empire: total lawlessness, and made it a hundred times worse than the extinct Roman Empire and its hypocrisy of laws which were never enforced fairly and used selectively on the basis of favoritism only to enrich those in power and give them more power. Then the dead used the only rotten institution left over from the Roman Empire and managed to preserve its evil and twisted and poisoned the Roman Christian church into a cesspool of evil that rivaled the evils and corruptions of ancient Rome. Regardless of what superficial structure civilization has or doesn't have; the evil of the undead never goes away because it is based on a fallacy that is thousands of years old. That fallacy is the assumption of the Supremacy of one's own personal interest. Whether it was Roman legions raping and pillaging or Saxon hordes of the Dark Ages raping and pillaging: the exact same evil is at work controlling the masses of humanity: dehumanizing them, turning them into ravening, insane wild beasts; turning them into bloodthirsty monsters; turning them into subhuman monsters who commit horrible atrocities.

Another stinking fallacy and lie which is used to cover up the existence of the undead is that this kind of insanity: this inexcusable behavior is just 'human nature'… That it is natural for an entire mass of people to suddenly change their personality and become ravening, insane murdering beasts… And then when the bloodletting and horror is over: they suddenly because 'peaceful' again and want only peace, not war… And then when the chance to let loose the hounds of hell is found: masses of people joyfully go to war again: this has happened over and over throughout history, and the idiots the controlled drones called writers and historians attribute this just to 'human nature' that it is natural for humans to act this way, that humans are in some mysterious way intrinsically evil and bad. That we are born with this kind of predilection for mass insanity and mass murder and mass killing. This rationalization: this attempt to explain away all of the horror and evil of the past history of civilized people by this bullshit excuse which has no scientific validity and no basis in truth is the undead covering up their involvement in the affairs of living people. Nobody questions this obviously false rationalization, and even when they do; no modern human has ever pointed the finger of blame accurately at the undead as being the actual source and origin of all evil in the world.

The main way the undead hide the existence of their invisible presence is by the development and preservation of a single over-arching ethic and tenet of all civilized people regardless of what time in history they lived or where or what civilization they lived in.. That single unspoken tenet is the UNSPOKEN assumption of the Supremacy of Self-Interest. It was the supremacy of the self-interests of the rulers of Rome that kept that evil Empire alive for one thousand years. It was the supremacy of the self-interests of the Medieval robber barons of Europe that kept the Dark Ages going for 500 years. Historians single out the most evil of them, and point out how these most evil possessed, controlled manipulated scum were responsible for singlehandedly shaping western civilization into what it became… era after era: decade after decade. Certain powerful figures changed the course of human history. These figures of history were controlled by the undead. They are singled out and made 'famous' because they were and are a thousand million times more evil than other living people who are also controlled by their undead. Their lives effected more people and caused more harm and death and evil than all the masses of living people put together.

Who are these dead souls? They are the undead who take over every living human on earth and poison them until their ORIGINAL living soul dies: until their ORIGINAL living soul is killed: poisoned, stifled, twisted, reversed: until they have no life left in them: until they become walking automatons: dead machines functioning on a subhuman level. You can see this descent into deadness, death, unawareness and insensitivity in every living person's life including your own: especially your own, because you the reader understand your own life better than you understand the lives of other people. The loss of innocence. The loss of happiness. The loss of love, the loss of health. Being twisted AWAY from your original good intentions and motives: being twisted AWAY from all the good healthy things which give you happiness and health: forced to waste your life on things which do not make you happy, draining your life energy until you become tired, dull, boring, weak; and finally descend into what is called 'senility' which is the last stage of being poisoned by the undead all of your life… turning you into a flaccid lump of inert flesh that can barely move. All this is rationalized: everything you 'decide' or 'choose' to do, eat, drink. Think. Feel, etc… results in the atrophy of your health, intelligence and awareness. Why? Because you followed the unspoken universal religious tenet of civilized humanity: You believed in the Supremacy of your own Self-Interest. That 'self-interest' is NOT yours. It is the self-interests of the undead who poison and corrupt you systematically all your life. The fallacy called 'freedom of choice' is the exact same thing. It is the exact opposite of freedom of choice. You have no freedom of choice. Everything has been chosen for you. Every path you choose has been laid for you in advance. Only far later in Life do a few, rare, exceptionally honest intelligent people come to the realization that all of the choices they made in their life were the wrong choices. The masses of dead souls called the great majority; the masses of living shells called human beings do not want to listen to these rare insights. The exceptions are ignored by the millions and billions of human drones for a very good reason. ALL of them are being controlled by the undead: and the undead do NOT want people to choose something other than what has been chosen for them by the undead. The undead want to control the lives of every living person on Earth: they have done this for untold millions of years. Their problem is they do not know and will never understand how to destroy the basic POSITIVE energy source of Organic LIFE on Earth. They have been trying to seek out this source so they can poison it and kill this source DEAD. But they can't do it. Over and over: every time they think they have won and Life will go extinct: LIFE springs back twice as powerful as ever. This is their dilemma and their doom. They have been forced to interfere and intercede in the lives of living humans to such a degree that now they have become noticed, and are noticeable by those perceptive enough to recognize the influence of their invisible presence. They have left their evil footprints and handprints all over the place throughout civilized history until the accumulation of this evidence has become overwhelmingly obvious, until the only way they can continue to hide their secret invisible existence is pile more and more evil on top of evil; trying to keep living humans as poisoned, drugged, brainwashed, programmed, intimidated, manipulated, controlled stupid and distracted as possible.

You can see the universal evil of self-interest everywhere. From the self-interest of Stalin who murdered, killed jailed imprisoned, degraded hundreds of millions of human people just to keep his position of power as totalitarian dictator of the most evil corrupt Imperial regime ever invented, you can see the evil of self-interest in the capitalist oligarchs who took over the power vacuum when the Russian Soviet empire crumbled into dust. You can see it in Putin and his replacing the Jewish Oligarchs with his own set of oligarchs. You can see the evil of self-interest in every fucking capitalist industry pushing its brand of self-interest: From the beef industry telling everyone to eat more beef, to the milk industry telling everyone to drink more fucking milk to the pharmaceutical industry telling everyone how good their drugs are, you can see it in the alcohol industry telling everyone that drinking beer or vodka or rum or whiskey will make them happy and cultured and admired. You can see the evil of self-interest in every politician and every political system filled with graft, bribery, favoritism, nepotism etc, etc. You can see it in every business pushing its particular product or service. You can see it in every living person who puts their self-interest above all other values and ethics. You can see it in every religion that pushes its own brand of dogma and religious bullshit. You can see it in every national govt that pushes its own self-interests at the expense of its own citizens and the entire planet. You can see the evil of self-interest in every corrupt human who is willing to do anything to make a buck and profit off the cheating and impoverishment of others. You can see the evil of self-interest in every consumer who buys something without caring who was harmed or robbed or cheated in the manufacture, distribution and selling of mass manufactured goods and services. You can see the evil of self interest in every human who destroys the Purity of the Natural World, the water, the air, the living Earth, the soil, the forests the lakes the rivers the mountains the eco-systems, the living species of our planet, just in order to make a buck: have a steady job: gain 'financial security' by hoarding millions of dollars in fear of becoming poor after they retire and no longer have a steady paycheck. You can see the evil of self-interest in every human who pollutes the Earth and creates waste and throws it away without giving a shit where it goes and who it harms and who it poisons. You can see the evil of self-interest in every fucking human institution that does not give a shit about the future and the future generations who will be forced to deal with the mess they created. You can see the evil of self-interest in every world conference on global problems like climate change, global warming, global pollution with everyone bickering and fighting for their own personal self-interests and fuck the Living Earth which we as a species are destroying at breakneck speed as quickly as possible. You can see the evil of self-interest in every lip-service and in every token speech made by selfish hypocritical bigots who spout their ideals but waste their money and lives on advancing their own selfish personal goals and fuck the needs of any greater community or eco-system.

The fucking point is the human species takes for granted that self-interest is normal, necessary, good, logical, scientifically proven, moral, ethical, etc, etc ad vomit and it is NOT. It is all a stinking lie pushed by the dead hiding inside every living person: using their basest, lowest desires and addictions to corrupt them into committing the most self-destructive sins possible in order to systematically corrupt every living human and dumb them down into idiocy so the dead can and will control you as their slave once you enter their realm of dying rotting ghouls.

The point is: selfishness is NOT good: it is EVIL… Yet all civilization PUSHES it. All human society pushes the unspoken religious belief of self-interest universally in every aspect and through every venue of civilized society BY LIVING EXAMPLES OF SELFISHNESS being icons of worldly success, fame, wealth, power, etc, etc ad nausea. If you want to be 'successful' you must be ruthless, selfish, you must stab your friends in the back, you must betray those who trust you, you must betray your own personal codes of morals and ethics. You must become an amoral scumbag…. This is the only way to rise inside civilization because civilization is intrinsically evil and rotten. The reason it is rotten is because the dead hiding inside you, invent alter ego's: they invent and create artificial motivations, impulses, false emotions, they violate your spiritual; aura with demons and ghouls who take over your physical body, who take over your will, who take over your intelligence, who take over your perceptions, who take over control of your emotions, who take over control of your thoughts, who take over control of your feelings… and once they do they do not let go until you are DEAD? No. They NEVER LET GO. When you die physically: you die as a controlled corrupted weak senile easily controlled shade, a shadow of your former self; a weak vapid empty corrupted ghoul joining all the other empty corrupted ghouls in the after-life where your dead aura decomposes and rots… and the only way you can stop yourself from dying completely is to invade the body of a living person and corrupt THEM as YOU have been corrupted, and suck on every form of energy available until you become a non-human electrical gremlin living inside computer circuit or inside a squirrel or a mouse or a rat or a bird… and poisoning the living animal or fish which you infiltrate with your dead dying evil rotten soul.

The existence of the undead is a constant battle to keep from dying completely: this is what you need to understand. They have no other fucking interest except their own self-interest for self-survival. This is why ALL OF THEM MUST BE EXTERMINATED AND UTTERLY DESTROYED

They have now tried the tactic of pretending that they do not exist and have never existed! They have tried to push the idea that anything you can't see with your own eyes does not exist! That the 30,000 years of human history in which evil spirits existed was a delusion, a mistake. They are now trying an even more radical tactic: pushing the assumption that evil does not exist period. That there is no such thing as evil or the undead. That all that exists are people following their 'personal concerns', and that the pursuit of one's own personal self-interests can explain literally everything that happened in Human history. This is a complete cover-up of the actual ugly truth.

The actual truth is that it is precisely THIS universal evil unspoken assumption: the assumption of the Supremacy of one's own Self-Interest which the undead invented and pushed to lower and lower levels of human intelligence and raise the levels of mass insanity and conformity higher and higher: it is THIS universal UNSPOKEN tenet which civilized people call 'self-interest' which the undead USE and have used to SECRETLY commit evil for thousands of years.

HOW? Simple. A foul demon from hell invades your life aura. It makes you say or do something you would never normally say of do. Then it jumps OUT of your living aura and another undead ghoul slips in and causes you to say and do other irrational things you would never do. Then there are undead ghouls who STAY inside your life aura and try to take your entire will over and insert their evil desires and obsessions into your soul. Then there are organs: like your mouth: which the undead overactivate and cause you to salivate and make you overeat because your saliva is running all the time which is abnormal. That urge to eat more than you need does not come from you. It comes from the undead able to poison and change the hormonal balance of your body. There are countless subtle ways in which the undead can and do poison you and harm you health and poison your sanity, but one main, basic tactic they use to control and manipulate living humans is the assumption of the Supremacy of Self-Interest. As long as you assume that whatever you do is in your own personal self-interest: as long as you rationalize that everything you say and feel and do is in your own self-interest: as long as you religiously believe that the Supremacy of Self-Interest is what CONTROLS and GUIDES and DETERMINES ALL LIVING CREATURES. They have you under control and can insert anything into you and you will not even notice that it is not your own self-interest that is doing or deciding or choosing to do or say or feel or think certain things: it is the undead pushing you and manipulating you into something that is not good for you and not good for anyone else and not good for LIFE. The Undead manipulated Darwin to invent the scientific hoax called 'Evolution'. The idea that all living species and creatures are controlled by an 'instinct' for 'survival'. The assumption that only the most powerful killers survive and the weakest do not; is all a bunch of antiquated bullshit. BUT: … it has PUSHED the religious assumption and unspoken tenet in the belief of the superiority and Supremacy of all 'self-interest' to the point that now billions of controlled insane living human drones believe that the most important thing in LIFE and the WORLD is their own selfish little SECRET PRIVATE personal concerns.

The opposite is true: it is sharing, generosity, unselfishness, OPENNESS and HONESTY which gives you happiness and health: not the pursuit of your own secretive selfish little personal interests. It is giving; not taking that makes you happy. BUT the 7 billion insane drones of overpopulated humanity do not want to listen to these obvious truths. WHY? Because ALL OF THEM have been brainwashed and corrupted and all of them are being controlled by the undead: that's why. Otherwise, most people would not do the insane things they do.

The undead have been pushing us into this universal cultural belief for ages. That belief is the unspoken assumption of the supremacy of self-interest. One reason for this is because undead ghouls who hide inside and haunt the surroundings of living humans have no interest in the well-being of the living people they infest and poison and manipulate and control. They only have their own self-interests in mind. They want to keep the human species as dumbed down, as brutalized and ignorant as possible. They want to keep living humans as unaware as possible. They do not want living humans to become intelligent and sensitive and wake up to the fact of their ever-present existence and their evil. They don't want living people to develop any greater outer awareness and especially no inner awareness, exploring their own minds, hearts, bodies, spirits; because if living humans ever do become aware of these undead things, they will know who the real enemy is and who to really kill and who to really hunt down and exterminate and who to fight… which is not each other but the undead parasites that feed and suck off our Living Energy and poison us and manipulate us into paths of pure evil.

How have the undead kept people unaware of the ugly stinking truth about the universal evil of the undead? They do it in many ways, but the primary way they do it is by corrupting and poisoning living humans into developing the same attitudes and beliefs which they have… which is a supreme indifference to the well-being of the living shells they poison and infest. The undead are completely divorced and disconnected from LIFE. To them all living creatures are a nuisance which they seek to get rid of. The undead's attitude in the supremacy of their own self-interests, agendas, goals, motives and behavior is now being mirrored in the living shells they secretly inhabit and control. They seek to make you as much like them as possible before you join them in their realm. This way you are less of a threat to them when you do pass over.

For thousands of years the evil cultural, moral ethical beliefs of all civilized societies without exception have had one thing in common: the practice of and the unspoken belief in; the supremacy of one's own self-interest.

How this evil amoral code has been sold to the great majority of living people can be seen throughout all civilized history. For untold thousands of years powerful rulers have been idolized as living gods. Their supreme wishes and commands were obeyed; the punishment for disobeying was death. The entire fucking litany of civilized history contains the same old stupid, and I mean STUPID common thread running through it: "YOU must do this! You must do that! Or else we will kill you! You must think this way! Or else we will kill you! You must believe in our dogma! Or we will kill you! You must pay your taxes! Or else we will kill you!

And who is it that is ramming this evil down the throats of millions of victims? Why it's the ones who 'believe' in the 'supremacy' of their own Self-Interests. It's the ones who believe that they are right and everyone else is wrong. It's the fanatics, the most diseased minds, the most diseased souls, the most evil criminals, the most power-mad megalomaniacs shoving their inhuman filth down the throats of Humanity… and it is these very scum whom the masses of the world are brainwashed into obeying, worshipping, idolizing, glorifying, copying, envying, respecting etc, etc; ad vomit puke shit.

The indoctrination of the masses into adoring, glorifying, worshipping, and 'loving' the most evil mass murderers in history who rule by brute force and terror; these most evil examples of inhumanity have been sold, pushed, copied and practiced ever since civilization was invented by the undead. Why? To better control living humans; that's why; to better use our species as an instrument of evil to destroy all Life on Earth; that's why. Civilized history contains nothing more than the historical record of the lives of the most evil people who ever lived on Earth. All the 'great' rulers of Egypt, Chin, India, Mesopotamia, Europe, South America, etc, etc… have been recorded and studied and glorified and worshipped because they were more evil than anyone else in their time. The more 'power' these rulers accumulated, the more evil they committed, the more famous they became… until the only thing that drove these insane possessed controlled shells was to leave behind the greatest possible legacy of destruction, evil, poison, and mass murder possible so they would be 'remembered' by future generations as being 'great' as being 'all-powerful' historical figures. All fame, fortune and power is evil. But what kind of 'power do these poisoned kings have? What kind of power did these rulers and ruling elite ever have? They had only one kind of power: The power to commit evil. The power to kill, murder, torture, maim, destroy Life. The power to control and terrorize people. They did not and do not and will never have any Positive Power: They had only the negative power of evil. They have only negative evil power because civilization is negative evil. These rulers and ruling elites spread their evil living example by how they behaved for thousands and thousands of years. The human species was systematically brainwashed into copying, mimicking, duplicating and behaving like the most evil, poisoned, diseased, human scum on earth who were and are possessed by evil spirits.

What is the basic evil practiced by Ivan the Terrible and Genghis Khan and Alexander the Great and the Caesars and the Egyptian Pharaohs, and the European kings and all the Emperors and Queens of civilized society and civilized history? It is the evil of self-interest. It is the belief that one's personal self-interests are superior to the interests all other people. The undead sold this culture of the supremacy of self-interest by basing it on the power to kill. The power to kill, murder, massacre, poison, assassinate and destroy living creatures.

The human species was brainwashed into believing that the power to physically kill is the greatest power of all, and the only power worth having. Today the masses of the world have been brainwashed and programmed into this belief in the supremacy of their own little tiny personal interests. Actually the masses of the world today have almost NO power to pursue any greater interests. They have been reduced to gratifying their own personal self-interests: and to copy, mimic, ape, duplicate and pursue the most evil, diseased, sick examples of the most diseased, evil people on Earth.

In order to do this the undead have successfully dumbed down the intelligence and awareness of the greater masses of humanity and mankind down to the narrowest, stupidest, most selfish, most destructive, poisoned, diseased self-interests possible.

By making sure that living humans have no greater interest or any awareness of their greater environment: by making sure that the poisoned diseased hearts of Mankind have almost NO other motives but the poisoned, dumbed down, stupid, obviously unintelligent, self destructive self-interests. By addicting humans to countless vices and evil products and evil ways of living and evil habits and evil customs evil and evil norms: by brainwashing and programming living people to copy only the worst, most evil living examples of their rotten, pus-filled, corrupt societies: the consumer the culture of capitalism and capitalist industrial society is based on self-gratification. The source, the origin of all this global evil can be found in the universal over-reaching common, shared, universally unspoken religious belief and assumption of the supremacy of ones own self interest.

By this single secret-hidden-unspoken-custom-tradition-culture; the supremacy of self-interest… the undead have successfully made all of mankind BLIND to the self-interests of anyone else except your own. By THIS one single unspoken evil cultural-religious belief in the supremacy of self-interest: the undead have made 7 billion human uninterested in anything other than their own little narrow-minded selfish interests. By this one unspoken universal assumption; the undead have made 7 billion insane poisoned apes not interested in learning anything about their greater past, their greater environment or any greater purpose or meaning of LIFE. By this one single unspoken evil false belief, the undead have kept 7 billion living humans ignorant of the motives and interests of anyone but their own: not only ignorant; but uninterested… not only uninterested and ignorant… but refusing adamantly to become more aware of anything else, except their own secret little selfish personal motives and interests: which the undead poison and use to enslave every living human on earth with. Not only this: but there is an unspoken taboo of speaking about anything which goes beyond your own personal self-interests. This exists because the undead do not want you to become more aware of anything at all; especially their secret, hidden existence.

In this cunning, evil secret way: the undead have been able to use billions of living people to poison their own environments… destroy their own national resources, poison their own air and water… without any successful organized resistance fighting against this obvious evil.

In this way: the undead have managed to sell mankind the evils of mass overpopulation, mass manufacturing, mass wage slavery, mass greed, mass avarice, mass destruction of the planet etc, etc. In this way the undead have sold two world wars, war, famine, pestilence, chemical poisons, pollution, destruction of the quality of life etc, etc… without anyone organizing any resistance against this mass mechanized horror. In this way the undead have managed to poison the latest generations of consumer freaks into loving and caring for machines more than they do for living human beings.

In this way the undead have managed to channel all of the energy of life of billions of humans into the most destructive, wasteful, poisonous ways and practices. From the unspoken religion of the supremacy of self-interest comes the filthy stupid religion of the sacredness of consumer self-gratification and the religious belief that the customer is always right. Why is the customer 'always right'? Because whenever and whatever a corporation sells to a customer it makes a profit off selling its crap to consumers.

The origin of the religion of the supremacy of self-interest can be traced back to the cult and culture of the worship of prophets. The worship of prophets and the worship of profits are one and the same thing: they are the same evil and they both originate from the undead.

The evil of prophecies and the evil of all fucking 'prophets' is based on the assumption: the sale, the hoax, the swindle the idea that these fucking 'prophets' were wiser, more far-seeing and more intelligent than other people. The exact opposite is true.

The actual ugly truth of all 'prophets' is that these living people we now call 'prophets' were the most poisoned, the most controlled and most diseased living people of their time and age. Actually they are the trumpets of the undead: they trumpet lies, they are mouthpieces of the undead. From Buddha to Confucius to Moses to Jesus… and all the other fucking 'holy' men and 'saints' who were revered and regarded as wise and were supposed to be listened to. From Sophocles to Socrates to Sartre: all of these talking heads were mouthpieces of the undead and were poisoned, corrupted, twisted and controlled by them.

The origin and birth of commercial capitalism: the origin of all trade comes from the unspoken religion of the supremacy of self-interest. The universal common message of all 'prophets' was and still is the saving of your own personal soul: and to hell with anyone else's soul. That is a definition of utter personal selfishness. The origin of mass religion is the selling of the idea, the belief, the assumption that you need to 'save your own soul'. This is the exact same assumption which all eastern beliefs and religions have especially Daoism. It is this obsession with your own personal self-interests which the undead have secretly used for thousands of years to poison, control mankind and use humans as instruments of evil to destroy the living earth.

The origin of this basic evil goes back to the first ape that manufactured and used a tool: an implement used to destroy life and kill other living creatures with. It was this power of death: the power to kill: the power to make tools which started the human species down the long road of ever-increasing evil and insanity.

For millions of years: the undead have only supported and pushed negative evil agendas of death: not life.

Today: this million year legacy of hidden undead evil is seen as 'the evolution of mankind'; when it has actually been the de-evolution and deconstruction of all human kindness, understanding, sensitivity, love, friendship, happiness, health, decency and goodness.

Only when you understand the history of mankind through a perspective of millions of years and include into it the ongoing presence of undead evil… can you and will you understand that human civilization is the pinnacle of undead evil and must be completely destroyed. Only when you understand the basic universal underlying connections between the insane poisoned motives, desires, goals, wishes, actions, decisions of emperors, kings and rulers and the modern mass insanity of billions of slaves and consumers and their insane poisoned motives, desires, goals, wishes, actions to be one and the same. Only when you understand that the ancient cultures of prophets and gods and religions were evil. And now it has been glossed over and replaced with just another kind of self-interest.

Only when you understand that the only reason these fucking prophets and religions existed was because they sold the idea that if you sacrificed to certain gods you would get something from it personally; for yourself. And that the materialism and consumer idiocy of buying shit and self-gratification is the same scam as the ancient prophets sold to the masses: save your own soul and fuck your neighbor and your neighbor's wife. Prophets or profits: they are all universally evil and they all originate from the undead poisoning and controlling and manipulating living people.

The entire living population of humans must read this book and learn the truth about themselves and civilization and the history of mankind and civilization. If the living human species refuses to learn these truth and use the truth and change how they live by 180 degrees and reverse their evil ways completely: the human species and all life on earth is doomed to total extinction: which is what the undead want and have been secretly working towards for millions of years. Now their secret is out in the open. Now their hidden secret existence has been exposed by me: Indrek Pringi. Who amongst you will heed the call and rise up and fight this hidden evil? Who amongst you has the courage and honesty and decency to fight this hidden evil which pervades the entire Living Earth? Humans have known for decades now that what they are doing to the Earth is self-destructive: yet nobody has done anything to stop it. One man can't fight 7 billion insane living poisoned souls effectively and hope to succeed. It's time for more than one man: it's time for more than just me to rise up and organize together to fight all the evils of the world. Only by good people coming together will this ever happen.

Whether it is the supreme self-interest of an idiot buying a pizza because they are addicted to the 75% fat content of cheese, or the supreme self-interest of Ivan the terrible spending half his life torturing and killing innocent people in the most horribly sadistic agonizing ways: the basic evil is the same. Self-interest: the tyranny of the ego: being controlled by and ruled and manipulated by believing in the supremacy of personal self-interest is all the same. Egoism, megalomania, self-interest, selfishness is all the same evil. Making a profit and listening to and worshipping prophets who promise to show you how to save your own lousy rotten selfish soul is the same basic evil. When you make a profit, you make evil. When you listen to and believe in a prophet you create your own evil. When millions of brainwashed idiots believe in a religion which was begun, and originated from a single prophet: they are spreading a dogma of pure evil. John D. Rockefeller believing he was gifted by god in his ability to make money; rationalizing his obsession to make money and get rich by cheating and lying and destroying the lives of millions of people came to his belief from the Protestant religious belief in a personal god, in the supremacy of his secret personal self-interests and beliefs being a manifestation of his own personal god.

The obvious insanity which exists today as a cacophony of meaningless conflict and disagreement which exists between billions of poisoned programmed brainwashed human apes can be seen on internet forums: billions of fucking human imbeciles 'believing' 'different' things personally, believing in the supremacy of different religions, different gods, different cultures different ethnic races, different lifestyles, different values, different ideas. Believing that their little stupid personal values and personal beliefs are supreme and superior to the beliefs and values all the other billions of fucking personal beliefs and personal values this babble of Babylon on the internet: this cacophony of phony differences and imaginary ideas and false hoaxes and ideas and assumptions has been orchestrated by the undead to prevent all humans from coming together peacefully and cooperating with each other intelligently without conflict and without making enemies of each other.

Having an ego prevents you from having any friends. Your ego prevents you from being honest. It prevents you from having any close friends. The ego: the idea that only you are right, that you are in some way better or smarter or superior to others: is evil. The conscious refusal to admit you are ever wrong or make a mistake is precisely what prevents 7 billion humans from learning anything. It is what prevents 7 billion humans from correcting their mistakes. It is what prevents 7 billion humans from being honest with themselves and with each other and it all boils down to the unspoken religion of the supremacy of personal self-interest. The assumption that only you are 'right' which is the reason that your ego does not allow you to admit when you are wrong or make a mistake is evil.

That thing which people call an 'ego'; that thing which people call 'pride'; are the undead controlling you: cunningly… secretly… by making you believe that you are more important than the world you live in: that everybody else is not as important as you are. That admitting you are wrong or made a mistake is a humiliation of your pride and ego: rather than a learning process of discovering what you did wrong or believed wrongly and correct your mistakes and make sure you do not repeat them again, and learn from your mistakes… the undead do not want you to learn anything new. They want you to be as stupid and as easily controlled and manipulated as possible: and the universal single tactic they use is the indoctrination of millions and billons of human apes into the unspoken belief of the supremacy of their own self-interest. The supremacy of everything which you think, feel, believe and think you understand being above and superior to all the other 7 billion human imbeciles on this planet.

Pride, ego, megalomania, selfishness, self-interest: are all the same fucking thing: they are all based on the supremacy of one's own personal concerns; they are the stupidity of a fish that is easily hooked and caught by it's own self-interests. Selfishness is the *sell*ing of billions of human fish… on the supremacy of their own self-interest; getting them hooked on TV, movies, sports, drugs, porn, the internet, cheese hamburgers, pizza, etc, etc; ad-nausea, puke, vomit .

If you study the 4,000 yr old history of the Semites and the Jews you will find that it is this basic evil which they have spread and are most guilty of practicing: it is this one unspoken basic evil which they practiced and spread for 4,000 fucking years and it is this basic evil which personifies every single powerful rich person today who is called a 'Zionist' whether they are Jewish or not.

You can boil it all down to one thing. You can list all of the evils and vices and addictions and abominations together and they all have the same origin: behind them all lurks the true hidden source of that evil; the undead ghouls of the realm of the undead and their hidden presence on earth for millions and millions of years.

Why is the supremacy of personal self-interest universally evil? Why is the supremacy of all personal concerns universally evil?... Because all of it is secret. All of it hidden. All of it unspoken. All of it is covered up. All of it is whitewashed. The undead survive only by secrecy and invisibility: they exist only by making sure living human beings are not aware of their existence. Secrecy is their main weapon; it is their main survival tactic; it is how they operate. This is why all secrecy must be wiped out of the hearts and souls of all living people. The practice of openness and honesty must replace all secrecy. All of it. All secrecy must be destroyed. Not just some of it.

When everyone alive: when every living soul is corrupted into the unspoken religion of the supremacy of self-interest: the undead have won the war against GOOD and the Earth is doomed and so are you. When no one listens to and no one acts on this truth, this shows that the undead have a lock on your rotten corrupt soul which you cannot break even if you wanted to.

There is a simple, easy, intelligent way to destroy all the millions of years of accumulated evil that exists on the earth today and that is to renounce the supremacy of all self-interest; this was what Jesus preached and what he was crucified for. Instead of selfishness: share things with each other. Instead of only caring about only yourself: care about others. Instead of believing that only you know what is right: listen to and learn from others. Instead of forcing your wishes and will upon others by force: learn how to cooperate with each other. Instead of competing against each other: instead of making enemies and killing and creating hate and revenge and feuds lasting thousands of years; learn how to make friends and learn to know yourself better and others more intimately.

There is one caveat;
AS LONG AS YOU USE MONEY YOU WILL NEVER CHANGE ANYTHING FOR THE BETTER
AS LONG AS YOU USE MONEY YOU WILL NEVER succeed in cleansing yourself of evil.
MONEY IS THE ROOT OF ALL EVIL.

Using money as a form of human exchange dehumanizes you.

MAKING A PROFIT off other people DEHUMANIZES YOU.
As a poet in Venice beach California once wrote on the sidewalk:
"Money every day, takes your love away"
The more you use money; the more you hoard it, work as a slave to get it, the more subhuman you become, the more the undead have corrupted you into the vices of greed, selfishness, avarice and the supremacy of your own little personal concerns which civilization calls ‘success’. Earning more money, gaining a higher position and status in civilized society, becoming richer and more powerful, connected to more corrupt circles of society etc, etc; is all based on the unspoken assumption and religious belief of the supremacy of one’s own personal concerns and one’s own secret vices and corruptions and addictions and weaknesses and gratifying them at other people’s expense.

Money was invented by the undead so corrupt evil people would be forced to give up their most prized precious oxen and livestock and made to ex*change them for metal coins* to pay the priests of temples where they worshipped their gods out of their corrupt secret motives of self-interest. The evil priests took their best livestock and slaughtered them in a ritual of hatred against every healthy living creature on the face of this Earth. Understand this! There has never been any clean spiritual worship of any god or religion with any good motive behind it in all of civilized history. All of it was done for motives of personal self-interest; to get some advantage out of it or blessing personally bestowed upon them by the gods.

The Hindu temples of India are now filled with billions of brainwashed evil corrupt Indians… all paying money to get into the temples in the hopes of getting some fucking special ‘favor’ from their fucking animal gods, so they will enjoy worldly ‘success’… that is: their main aim is to climb over their fellow Hindus in their mutual race for greater wealth and higher status and more power… while all the other billions of Hindus are doing exactly the same fucking thing: paying coins to worship at temples in the hopes of getting some special favors bestowed upon them by their fucking Hindu ‘gods’ to climb over their fellow Hindus in the overpopulated mass of 1 billion living souls: the diseased mass of humanity called India.. Are these idiots intelligent? Do they have any mathematical skills? Can’t they count? When one billion Hindus ask their gods for some personal favor which originates out of the belief in the supremacy of personal self-interest: then the unspoken religion of self-interest being transcendent above all else is what Hindu religion is really all about. Then all of these fucking Hindus are actually fighting against each other to gain some special attention from their fucking ‘gods’. Then you have a religion which divides and conquers through the supremacy of self-interest being practiced by a billion fucking Hindus. Then you have a dog-eat-dog doctrine of hypocritical religious dogma covered up by religious mumbo jumbo. All religions; Hinduism, Christianity, Buddhism, the Muslim religion and especially the most evil religious culture of them all: Judaism are hypocritical and based upon the unspoken religion of the supremacy of self-interest. What is the ultimate origin of dogma Self-Interest? The mythical self-interest of an almighty god. The myth of unseen 'gods'… and their self-interests being more important then the interests of living people. The myths and hoaxes and legends of the wishes and whims of dead spirits, 'gods': forcing living people to suffer, punishing and accusing them, denouncing them, laying curses and 'magic' spells upon them, interfering in the lives of living people without caring what they do to them, fooling them, manipulating them, deceiving them, hiding from them, confusing them on purpose… Brainwashing living people with the unspoken assumption that dead spirits are wiser than living people are; that undead evil ghouls are all-powerful and must be obeyed without question. The unspoken idea of the supremacy of self-interest comes from the unspoken assumption that you must obey your fucking 'gods' or 'god' and if you do not, you will be cast into hell or be cursed and suffer and your life will be ruined because you did not obey some fucking evil dead invisible thing that you cannot see but must believe in… This is where the true origin of all human self-interest comes from.

There is no difference between the supremacy of Zionist Jews in their worship of their own personal self-interest and the self-interest of Hinduism and the megalomania of Stalin, Churchill, Hitler and the corruption and evil of Truman, Eisenhower and the American military industrial complex. They are all based on the supremacy of self-interest. They all preach sharing and universality and they all practice selfishness and they are all bullshit. They are all driven, controlled and manipulated by the undead and their self-interests. The egoism of all self-interest is an invention of the undead and is controlled by them and used to manipulate you to do the most evil horrible things and practice the worst possible ways of living and behave in the most evil filthy selfish ways. There is no difference between the self-interest of the ruling elite and the self-interest of the masses: all of it is evil.

The first stock market was invented as instruments of evil by the undead. All stock markets are based upon the personal self-interest of individual investors seeking a profit. The religion of profit is universally evil. It is based upon the unspoken religion and unspoken belief in the sacredness of personal selfishness, the sacred supremacy of personal self-interest: the desire to get rich, to make money, to make a profit. All of the human evil machinations, plots, and plans of people conspiring behind closed door throughout human history in secret… is based on the unspoken supremacy of self-interest being the one major motivating factor, the only justification needed for anything to be done that is evil, and all of it being 'understandable' 'excused', covered up, ignored, hidden etc; by a million different faces pout on the same basic thing. The bullshit doctrine of Darwin he called 'the evolution of species' is just another cover-up, another fucking euphemism for the basic unspoken religion of the supremacy of self-interest. It is a whitewash of all the brutality, hate and violence which living humans have perpetrated upon all the living organisms and creatures on the Earth.

This hoax of the supremacy of self-interest has been practiced and pushed by the undead for thousands of years; the undead know how to corrupt men's souls and hide their involvement in human affairs. They do it secretly; each person is secretly corrupted until their personal self-interests are manipulated to what the undead want them to do and say and think and believe. Until you learn to stop caring about your little insignificant self and start caring about the entire earth more than yourself. Until you learn to stop caring about your own well-being and personal selfish interests and start caring about the larger interests and health and well-being of your living environment and eco-systems than yourself; you will be controlled and corrupted by the undead hiding inside you and all around you..

This is why the entire principle of private ownership of anything is evil and corrupt. People who own one small plot of land are far too selfish and stupid to come together cooperatively and put aside all of their differences and self-interests to work in a united cooperative effort in cleaning up their environment and improving it. To take care of an ecosystem that cuts across millions of abstract artificial non-existent civilized boundary lines of ownership, nations, states, provinces, counties, municipalities, businesses, houses, roads, buildings, private lands and homes is impossible to do because the eco systems of the earth are not defined and delineated by insane human abstractions based upon the supremacy of personal self-interest. Watersheds, river valleys, climate zones, weather systems, mountain ranges, oceans lakes etc; do not follow the abstract lines of human civilized boundaries: the eco-systems of the earth are interconnected in countless ways which have nothing to do with the insane division of abstract property lines of ownership of modern civilization.

To nurture the Living Earth and take care of its ecology and eco-systems: the boundaries of eco-systems must take precedent over all abstract human ownership boundary lines of lands, waterways and oceans. Only when the well-being of all the eco-systems and ecological systems of the entire earth take precedent over human concerns and human ownership and human abstract artificial boundaries and selfish personal human concerns can the human species ever hope to clean up the mess it has made and is making as instruments of the undead make them do. Only when you realize that the Earth is more important than your fucking little personal private secret selfish self-interests and personal concerns will you ever even want to do something intelligent and constructive to help other people in saving our planet from total ecological collapse, destruction and death.

The good news is that the concerns of the entire living earth coincide with the health and well-being of all living humans. The bad news is that civilization doesn't allow humans to cooperate and save the planet from global pollution and overpopulation by the human species. This is why civilization must be destroyed first if we living humans are ever to get together intelligently stop polluting and clean up the Living Earth.

Corporations who own or lease huge tracts of land are far too corrupt and greedy to work to improve the health and well-being of all the living creatures on the land they control and own because they are controlled by corporate executives who are controlled and driven by their personal motives on the lowest, basest levels of selfish personal greed and avarice to care about anything other than the fatness of their own personal bank accounts. All the polluting poisoning toxics evil abominations of Monsanto, Dow Chemical Corp, all the Military Industrial Complexes of the civilized world: all of the massive destruction and killing of plants, animals, oceans, water, air, and earth is tolerated and justified by the evil filthy unspoken religion of self-interest. Until you slaves wake up and realize that the self-interest of the entire Earth is more important then your little personal selfish self-interests> UNLESS the entire human species grows up and understands that the only intelligent form of interest is mutual collective interest: not self-interest: you are all doomed to your corrupt roles as slaves obeying your dead puppet masters who control everything you say and do as you destroy the Earth you live on for no other reason except to have a softer bathroom tissue to wipe your rotten shit-filled assholes with.

Only when the principle and idea of all personal ownership is completely abolished and made illegal throughout the entire world. Only when the entire stupid human species stops using money. Only when the entire human race stops manufacturing and using tools and machines: only then will the human species ever become able to grow up and reverse its path into total self-destruction and extinction. Only when mankind realizes and recognizes that one of the main evils of modern civilization is the false religion, the fad, the Jewish invention of modern science. Only when the world of man understands and realizes that all of the shit which scientists spout is pure superstitious crap and filled with thousands of hypocrisies, hoaxes, swindles, lies, and cover-ups. Only when all mankind is educated to understand that all the abstract symbols of civilization are pieces of evil shit and all technology is evil will the human species draw back from the abyss of total death and self-annihilation which it is now staring into and on the brink of.

No human being can understand and realize these truths unless they go outside of civilization and develop their own understanding of what civilization is: What is true and what is a lie. The only answer to the evil of civilization is to fuck it: fuck all of it: go outside of it: start your own self-sufficient community and attack every civilized power you can and kill every powerful evil you can: starting at the top and at the very bottom and in the middle. The top ruling elite are already easily recognizable. Everyone knows them and their filthy rich dynastic clans of filthy rich assholes who hide in their filthy rich mansions all over the world.

But this will not save mankind. The lowest dregs of mankind in their billions are not the answer to the filthy rich scum who live at the top of this shit pile. The billions of poor are envious of the rich are even more corrupt and diseased and poisoned by their own undead. All of civilization is corrupt; not just some of it. All civilized humans are corrupt. All of mankind is corrupt because of the undead. The answer is to kill the ROOT of EVIL: and that is the undead. These undead things must be found out: hunted down, cornered and KILLED fucking DEAD DEAD DEAD and I mean totally fucking DEAD: DESTROYED; OBLITERATED; WIPED OUT; EXTERMINATED WITH EXTREME PREJUDICE.

The answer is to destroy all the evils of civilization: not just at the top and not just at the lowest levels. Not just the smallest elite ruling class; not just the most ignorant brainwashed masses in their destructive polluting, wasting consuming millions and billions. All of them are corrupt; not just some of them. This is the task I have and the task you have after reading this book, Look at the Allstate commercials on TV! A malicious demon creating all kinds of havoc telling you to waste your money on insurance policies that are supposed to protect you against unforeseen accidents which the undead plan, orchestrate and make happen. The commercials end with these words:

There are undead demons everywhere, causing evil in every way they can; it is they who cause accidents to happen. This what the commercial is telling you! The living people of this Earth must wake up and KILL these things DEAD: and I mean DEAD.

If you want to see the evil of the undead: look at the latest token of undead evil on the screen: called 'The Hobbit" but it is actually all about "The Desolation of Smaug" It is about the desolation of the human soul which is created by the evil of avarice and GREED; the evil lust for wealth, gold, jewels, treasure. Money creates desolation in the human heart! The lust for money and gold and wealth creates desolation all over the Earth. 7 billion empty souls, 700,000,000 naked stupid apes slaving and selling their souls for MONEY is evil! The film is about the desolation that the ancient evil, the ancient dragon Smaug creates. It is all about the SELFISHNESS of a greedy dragon who does not want to give one shiny pebble of his hoard to any living creature: who sits and sleeps on his filthy treasure pile and lays waste to the entire countryside around his filthy lair of reptilian greed and possessiveness. The story is about human civilization in a reversed focus; not about the evils of a dragon: it's a story about the evils of the avarice of all civilized societies. Human civilization has desolated every land it has taken over and lived on. All human civilizations leave their mark of total desolation as a legacy of death which they leave after they die out and go extinct. The undead invented civilization and they have been using their invention to destroy and poison and kill every living creature on Earth. The undead have been using human apes as controlled imbeciles to spread the desolation of death, hate and ugliness and greed over the entire Living Earth in their hatred of all LIFE. The undead evil called 'The Desolation of Smaug' is the desolation of civilization. It is the desolation you were born into and have lived inside all your life. Civilization is fucking DEAD. Nature is ALIVE. The difference is obvious. Until you grow up and develop enough wisdom to prefer LIFE to death: until you prefer touching living plants and creatures with your skin: instead of dead plastic and dead things: until you learn to enjoy walking on your bare feet touching the living Earth and learn to hate the feeling of walking on dead concrete and dead floors: you will remain a civilized corrupted zombie that is brainwashed into believing in lies and hoaxes invented by dead ghouls. The undead hiding inside you are using you to destroy yourselves and everything you Love and everything that is GOOD and Decent and Honest and True and Beautiful in the process of corrupting YOU; so you will never be a threat to their domination of the world and their goal to destroy all Life on Earth. YOU are one of the desolators; YOU are being controlled, manipulated and brainwashed into destroying the planet which you depend on for your LIFE. In order to fight the enemy: you must understand what they are and what their tactics and strategies are and what their agenda is and where they hide and how they work… you do not understand yourselves, let alone your mortal enemies! Only when human apes look deeper inside themselves and discover the dead evil which secretly lurks inside you, and all around you, and poisons your every thought and emotion and action and reaction: only then can you begin to fight these hiding, cunning, filthy, insane, evil, invisible dead things. They hide inside you and all around you: they hide in your body, in your mind.

The dead have tried to use Life to destroy Life. They tried to do this for hundreds of millions of years,,, they found out they couldn't do it. The culture of organic Life killing organic Life only ends up creating MORE LIFE, and MORE LIFE, and yet even MORE LIFE..

Then the dead changed their tactic… they have tried to use INORGANIC LIFE to destroy INORGANIC LIFE with.

This is where we humans came in. As an answer, LIFE created an animal which has an intrinsic intelligence which is SUPERIOR to the cunning evil of dead entities.

The dead countered this by cunningly getting this intelligent living species to use INORGANIC materials, using ROCKS, STONES, DEAD BRANCHES to kill with, because the human animal does not have any natural ability to kill ANYTHING without using tools to commit the crime with. This was the 8 million year odyssey of the dead living humans to invent things called 'tools' which they used to kill and destroy everything they touched: reversing their natural designed function: which is to touch with your bare hands and your bare skin living creatures gently, sensitively… and letting living creatures touch you also. The dead manipulated we living humans to invent machines and nuclear bombs and toxic chemical poisons to kill off all LIFE on EARTH with… the dead invented new technologies to destroy all LIFE on EARTH…

BUT….

Along with the machines of mass destruction and mass destruction… the intelligence of the living human animal has been also increasing exponentially by leaps and bounds, and given the human animal a perspective on his own existence and all LIFE which was never before possible, and an understanding of the Natural World which he never had before.

Now we modern humans can see the entire planet from Space and understand it is a fragile precious rare wonder which we are a living part of. Now, we modern living humans can see farther, travel farther, know more and understand more than ever before. Now, the human animal which was once a small savage tribe of naked apes living on the Serengeti plains can understand much more about itself, and the Earth it lives on than its ancestors ever did… And yet you fools use all these mechanical advantages only for your own self-interest instead of the greater mutual interest of the entire Living Earth. Now you fools know beyond a doubt that the entire Earth and your own very existence depends on the health of all the eco-systems of the Earth, yet you continue to destroy what you know is crucial for your own survival as a species. And you use all of this only for your self-advantage: you use it only for your self-interest.

In order to counter this expanded awareness of the entire EARTH as a living organism, the dead have strained to reduce the level of human awareness down to its narrowest, lowest levels of intelligence by constantly pushing every form of self-interest as being SUPERIOR to all mutual interest. This is the big LIE. This is the basic fallacy of human civilization. This is what every person who reads this must spread and share until every single living human being understands that all self-interest is evil.

Puccini's Gianni Schicchi was loosely based on Fanfani's edition of The Divine Comedy, written by Dante Alighieri in the 1300's… which in turn made reference to Dante's Inferno. Dante's Inferno characters Gianni Schicchi and Buoso Donati were based on actual historical figures from 13th century Florence. In his opera the young girl sings a song called: 'O Mio Babbino Caro'

The meaning of 'O Mio Babbino Caro' ("Oh My Beloved Father") is that Lauretta is begging her father to allow her to marry her one love, Rinuccio. Her father is unwilling to give her his blessing, so Lauretta sings that she will die if she cannot marry her love.

The song is the saddest song ever composed. It is the most beautiful song ever composed. Puccini composed it in 1916 in the middle of the greatest tragedy Mankind has ever known while millions of young men were being killed, and the young hearts of beautiful young girls were being destroyed by grief as their loved ones were being killed by the millions on the front where this new mechanized horror called modern warfare was unleashed on an unsuspecting world.

The song is considered to be one of the most beautiful songs ever written and sung. It has been sung by the most beautiful sopranos in the world.
You who read this book: do not envy me my knowledge: I did not come by it easily. To understand the world that you are in fully you must fully understand the millions of years that went before you. Only then… only if you see the beauty of what once was … only then can you appreciate and understand how much more beautiful the world was before your time. I have seen what once was: you have not. You have no conception of the beauty and health which has been destroyed and which is no more: I do.

The hidden clues of how the dead control all of you can be seen in the editor of Virgil's The Divine Comedy written in the 13th century. The dead have made sure that this book would not disappear. It is one of their token sacrifices to the truth about their existence as they go about destroying and slaughtering all Life on Earth. Dante's book regained recognition by being republished in 1866 by the editor P.Fanfani (Bologna, 1866-74). He was chosen to fan the flames of interest in Virgil and Dante. Puccini took the personal account of Dante's life and turned it into a romantic comedy? No. He turned it into a corpse: a horror story. Fanfani's was fanning the flames of war; the hatred of the dead against all young Life and Love.

What the hundreds of millions of blind fools who adore this song do not know is that it is a death song: not a love song: it is a sad song: not a happy song. It is a song of a girl who wants to kill herself. In Puccini's opera the corpse is center stage at the opening of the curtains lying dead: freshly killed with the rapacious scavengers and vultures surrounding the dead thing hoping to get something from its last will and testament. The song is about youth and love: abasing itself to the old dying rotten evil ones. The father refuses to give consent to her marriage. Lauretta wants to die of grief because he will not consent to her love for the handsome young Rinuccio. She obeys her father as if he were god. She is the sacrificial goat: the victim of the dead: the dead corpse lies on the stage all through the play. The corpse is the dead bodies: the millions of corpses of the war that was going on all over the world and in Europe when Puccini composed it. The meanings of the play are so many-layered and so ancient it would take 1,000 pages to deal with it comprehensively. The beginnings of WW1 began during the Industrial Revolution. The new printing presses and cheaper paper made Fanfan's edition of the Divine Comedy spread yet again throughout Italy and Europe and kept it alive, preserved it so Puccini could read it. Likewise: Puccini's Madame Butterfly also features suicide of a Japanese girl. It signifies the suicidal war Japan entered into against America and its suicidal reverence of ancient ritual and the death of love between the white race and Asian races.

The meanings of Dante's Divine Comedy are pure evil. Puccini's opera is pure evil: its evil is not even felt or noticed in today's Age of vice, money and amnesia; much less understood. The dead were fanning the flames of hell: when the Divine Comedy was republished in 1866; they re-fanned their hatred of the living until it became a mass frenzy of violence: fed by the machines of hell; the new industrial weapons of mass distraction and mass destruction and mass brainwashing.

Puccini's Opera: Gianni Schicchi is not a romantic comedy: it is a horribly cynical tale of what Italy was once like in the 13th century transposed into the 19th century. It is a story of class hatred: the peasant against the landed gentry. One cunning greedy peasant pitted against a family of n'eer do-wells on their last legs of bourgeoisie status.

What stands out in this opera is that the love affair between Lauretta and Runnicio has nothing to do with the plot. Her father only gives her permission to marry at the end of the sickening affair because he doesn't give a shit about her or who she marries. What is important is that he be wealthy enough to afford her a dowry: which was the only way any young couple could marry in feudal times right up to the present: It's all about da money: stupid. There is no love when money is involved: stupid. No money: no marriage. By luck and cunning the old man gets his dearest wish: stealing the estate out of the hands of the corpse's family and as a grudging contempt of the whole affair, gives his consent for her daughter to marry her true love at the very end of the opera.

What does this mean? It means in 1916 when love was dying and being destroyed in the hearts of millions of young girls: the only love the dead allowed on Earth was this operatic charade: taken out of a snippet of an ancient old evil book of the dead: as a fictional tale of a long dead past. While true love was dying in the hearts and souls of hundreds of millions of young boys and girls: the only romantic opera that does not end tragically was composed as a joke on the living: The dead were trying to show their vainglorious superior control and power over the living. But: they do not dare to do this openly. They must do it as slyly as possible so that nobody is aware of them and what they have done or else they are done for. Which they are: NOW that I have become aware of them

The song: "'O Mio Babbino Caro' is pure poison. It teaches young girls to become innocent lambs to the slaughter: opening their hearts only to have their love crushed and spat upon. It is a song that is so humble and pure and sad that tears come to one's eyes just listening to it. It is a song of hopeless resignation. She says she will throw herself into the river and kill herself if her father does not consent to her marrying Riunnicio.

What the song signifies is that all young love is destined to ruin because the dead do their damndest to ruin it; Rinuccio signifies the ruination of all young love. As the love of young nations: the young nationalist spirit of the 1900's was crushed and destroyed, the love of young hearts were ruined forever in the years of the Great war 1914-1918. It is a song of sadness and sadism: the cruel unfeeling father torturing his daughter's young heart. It is a song of evil sacrifice: Youth sacrificing itself to the old and dying: to the corpses of the dead.

Why is this song so popular? It is a song of a girl who wants to die…. Do you understand yet? She wants to DIE. The undead love this kind of shit. They sell you this shit all your life until it comes out of your ears and you stupid fools say: "What's wrong with that?". I'll tell you why: this shit is considered the 'highest' culture because the dead have been selling this shit for thousands of years to you: They never stop selling you their evil shit. They keep on selling it and pushing it and pushing it until this shit becomes a custom, until living people become accustomed to this shit, until it becomes a tradition, until it becomes an ancient revered pile of stinking dead shit that is preserved and re-served and warmed up and re-warmed and re-sold until it stinks of nothing but death and evil, This is why the richest most corrupt, evil stinking dead souls on earth love hearing this death song over and over endlessly and never get tired of listening to it. When the age of opera is over: this song is still repeatedly sung by the youngest most beautiful girls still, and audiences applaud it and go crazy over this filthy thing. Why? Because the song is selling you DEATH and DYING and SUICIDE and KILLING ALL LOVE and HOPELESSNESS and SADNESS and TRAGEDY and RESIGNATION and BOWING TO YOUR ELDERS as if they are GODS. Why? Because the dead inside you… all around you… are selling all of you on the beauty of suffering and sadness and pain: NOT the happiness of laughter, LOVE FRIENDSHIP TRUST KINDNESS JOY… no: only negative filth is sold and loved: never anything positive: and you dupes buy it and swallow it and wallow in it.

The song is supposed to make you love the old ugly father: not the young beautiful girl. The song is pure evil. In 1916: when millions of loves were being destroyed and the grief and sadness of millions of young girls in Italy had turned that beautiful land into a funeral… the dead took their emotional suffering: and composed an ode to all the young girls pining for their loved ones: their young boys who had marched off to war and were killed and killed by the undead because the undead hate all young love and young life.

In Italian: the difference between word child and the word father is so little they almost sound the same: Child is Bambino. Father is Babbino. This way: the dead cunningly included both child and father into the suffering of an entire Europe which was sacrificing its youngest, best and bravest for nothing. The Ponte Vecchjio is the oldest bridge in Florence with shops still on it as once was the custom in ancient times of all bridges in Europe. In 1593, Ferdinand I decreed that only goldsmiths and jewelers be allowed to have their stores on the bridge. 400 years later Archduke Ferdinand's death set off the most horrible catastrophic war ever waged. That this ruler's name was also Ferdinand is not a fucking coincidence. The bridge which the girl in Puccini's operetta threatens to cast herself off and drown signifies the bridge between the living and the dead: The shops are the lures beckoning the traveler into corruption. This Italian fop Puccini lay in his luxurious palatial home composing this piece of evil shit about a cunning greedy peasant and a corpse… while the rest of Italy and the World bled and wept and died: He composed a play based upon the most ancient trivial shit possible which had absolutely nothing to do with the war and what was happening in Italy: Ask Tolkien why he wrote his Trilogy during WW2. The point is. The dead sell you the living: the most diseased, evil, sick poisoned myths to get your mind off the true reality of your life: While hiding from you the horror and ugliness and sadness and agony which untold living people suffered: so you will never become aware of the true story of the past and how it all connects and makes sense.. but only if you include the dead into the narrative as the major manipulating presence of evil on Earth. Puccini wrote this piece of shit as an escapist fiction: for the wealthy rotten corrupt Italian upper class to listen to, so they could forget there was a war going on. A bridge that only has goldsmiths and silversmiths on it is EVIL: the evil of this is so old, the oldest bridge in Florence is an allegory for the journey that living souls travel from birth to death from one side of the bridge spanning a single lifetime. On the bridge are the seducers: the goldsmiths and silversmiths luring people into the lust for money and riches so that by the time they reach the end of the bridge they have been corrupted by the love of money. Florence was the home of the Medici's; the most evil cunning criminal family of the Middle Ages… it all stinks of dead evil, this opera about a corpse is so evil words cannot convey how evil it is. The corpse in the center of the stage is the World War going on; the death of millions which is not spoken of: while a greedy peasant and a family from the Middle Ages fight over the spoils of fictional inheritance; the lost inheritance of millions of boys and men who died in that war and the lost love of millions of young girls pining for their loved ones.

Did Puccini write an opera about brave young men going off to war? No he did not. Did he write about young boys dying by the thousands every day? No he did not. Did Puccini write about the love and the grief of the girls who married their loved one before he sets off to war and then receives notice that he has been killed? No he did not.

Did Puccini that scum write about the sorrow and agony that a young girl suffers when she finds out the love of her life has just been killed?... Yes he did. The dead wrote that music, not the living. Millions of dead souls freshly passed over into that horrible realm of death wrote that cry of deep sorrow and grief. Puccini did not write that piece of music: it was written as a tiny token, the smallest token of truth the undead could invent that confessed their unspeakable unforgivable abominations and sins to the world at large while hiding the fact that they are responsible for it… couched in such a cunning way that nobody would make the connection between 1916 when that music was written, and what was happening in the Realm of the Living and in the realm of the dead at that time. Well; I did. Now you know also.

The music is a negative plate of the positive truth: It is a complete opposite of the actual truth. The sorrow comes from the millions of young boys who died not from one living girl. Not from one long dead peasant girl in the Middle ages. The song is a beseeching of the dead to the living: not the beseeching of the living to the dead; the dead heart of the father who feels no love and has no love for anyone not even his own daughter. The beseeching is not of a young girl to her old father but the old father to his young daughter: not the other way around. Everything is turned around in that song: everything is reversed. The song is about the dead wanting to LIVE; not the living wanting to die. It is so full of reversed truths, so twisted and so untrue, so false: it is beyond words.

Puccini wrote for the filthy rich: He did not write or compose the truth of his time. Instead he digs up this ancient snippet of Dante's personal life 500 years ago. Everything connected to this is ancient evil: the ancient bridge, the ancient book, the ancient corpse: Ferdinand I and the oldest arched bridge in Florence and Archduke Ferdinand: and the flowers of Flander's fields: the red poppies. Gold and silver: the most evil of all metals: avarice greedy Jewish goldsmiths living in the shops on the oldest bridge in Florence for hundreds of years… get it? Just before the girl sings her death song: the orchestra gives a venomous rattle like an evil snake ready to strike its poison into the human heart which is exactly what the next piece of music does. It signifies the poison which the dead are getting ready to inject into the hearts and souls of those living fools who listen to this shit and have been brainwashed into lapping it up: and the poison of this sadness sinks into their dead souls until their hearts are paralyzed and can feel no love: only sadness. How can anyone write such trash in the middle of the most horrible catastrophe ever to strike the world? Ask how Tolkien could write this trash in the middle of the 2nd World War when the fate of Britain hung in the balance of a huge global war?… The purpose of selling and glorifying this crap is to take your mind off the horrors of these two World Wars so you will not investigate why it happened and how it happened and how many loves were destroyed by these two global wars.

The ONLY thing in which this song is not evil is that ultimately at the end of the opera and plot her father gives her permission to marry her love. BUT: her love and her marriage and her happy life are all a LIE: they are not shown on the stage. The play ends before any happiness can be shown because that play is a total fabricated stinking lie. No peasant ever gave leave to his daughter to marry a n'eer do-well just because she begs him to.

Has any opera ever been composed to describe the sorrow, the anguish, the agony, the hurt, the sadness, the grief, the suffering that the millions of young beautiful girls underwent when that horrible war killed their loved ones? NO. WHY IS THIS? And what about the millions of maimed and traumatized and hospitalized cripples and human wrecks of that horrible war? And what about the millions of innocent victims of the plague that spread over the entire Earth from that war… has anyone ever composed an opera about their suffering? NO. Why is this opera about an ancient book taken from an ancient time praised and spread: but not one word, not one piece of music of the sorrow and loss of love which MILLIONS of young girls and boys suffered and died for? This is why opera is EVIL. Opera is the invention of the dead: It's myths are myths of the realm of the dead: Its stories are all about evil: not goodness. It's stories are about the dead past: not the living present.

The reason for this tiny miniscule positive hint exists is because BEFORE WW1 began killing millions of young boys and destroying millions of young girl's lives and their love: there sprang up this NEW REVOLUTIONARY IDEA and it was LIVED for a short time before the war: that a boy and a girl could fall in love and marry for LOVE: not for money. NOT for sex: but for the most spiritual love on earth: A complete, rounded love. THIS was what the dead were bent on destroying and they did. BUT: before the war:… just before the war: many young girls and boys married in spite of their rotten families and elders wishes and made happy marriages. It was this Positive Energy which existed before WW1 began and which slopped over into Puccini's operetta. The dead stole all of the sadness of millions of beautiful young girls whose love had been killed and stuck it into this one obscene token of musical sadness. Their theft and destruction of true love is only one of their abominations and why they must be exterminated from this Living Earth completely and utterly.

The dead do not want any human to be happy: they want all living humans to be as miserable and as unhappy as they are so this supposed 'love' song is actually the saddest most heart wrenching song of loss. It has no happiness in it. The words are garbage. The melody one of is pure suffering grief to the point of unbearable agony to the point of suicide. What is the custom of clapping? Undead birds have no hands. When they hear something that excites their insane bird ears like a pure musical note: they flap their wings. The entire ritual of listening to sounds without touching the person who is making them. The idea of looking at a person who makes sounds without touching them is an ancient insane INHUMAN filth which all mankind has been corrupted sand brainwashed into

The girls who now sing this aria have been getting younger and younger and younger until it is now child prodigies who are only 12 years old that sing it. The species of human beings is regressing back, back into babyhood, blocking out the horror and evil of the real world they live in: the affluent rich living in their cocoons of privileged luxury insularity and fantasy: brainwashed forever as to the true horror of civilization. This is the only way the dead can keep control over the living. If the human species ever grows up and wakes up out of its slumber: we will exterminate every single undead entity on this planet.
Now the youngest star on American Idol: a sweet child of only 12 is being corrupted by fame and fortune by singing this song to the masses. A healthy beautiful young child with a brother who loves her and sings duets with her: a child who loves animals and her friends and school. She and her brother are destined for tragedy and ruination. She is a very sad, sad child; just like

Karen Carpenter was. Jackie Evancho is not a happy child. She is one of the luckiest, healthiest children of her time: and because of her exceptional pure voice and heart and body and her beauty: she will be corrupted systematically by western civilization. She wears a trademark red dress when she sings. This is another mark of the lure of the devil: as the mythical mark of evil; as 'The Red Shoes' was during the 1900's. Whoever put them on became a famous ballerina and was extinguished; only for another shell to pick them up and become an icon of sex, beauty, corruption and worldly fame. What the glitz and glamour of American Idol hides is the pure evil of millions worshipping this child for her bird-like voice: not for her healthy love of animals and her sweetness and human kindness and sensitivity. She has bags under her eyes at the age of twelve; it signifies unshed tears: loss: suppressed sadness. What is hidden: what evil has been done to her will go with her into the grave: Just as what was done to other prodigies and famous people has been hidden and covered up like Michael Jackson and Karen Carpenter. I can see the sadness in her eyes and face: it is there all the time while inside her are the dead secretly draining her of her inner health and happiness. She is one of the last of healthy children who once were born in the millions with happy hearts in happy families: The millions of children who ape their pop culture idols have no inner soul, no inner beauty. Jackie Evancho is a genetic exception of health and beauty just like Doris Day was: and she will be systematically used and manipulated just like Doris Day and Brook Shields was: token icons of superficial beauty; systematically corrupted into selling the most evil brainwashing shit on earth to billions of impressionable children: through music and movies: the wasting of your life chirping like a bird. The hidden evil that corrupted her when she was only 8 years old came from the dead: Her first impression which made her want to sing was seeing the movie: "The Phantom of the Opera". A macabre horror story of an evil monster, hungering to enslave a beautiful young girl by making her a prisoner of his fiendish underground hell under the opera house. This is the kind of negative, distorted ugly, evil sick things young children of our time are imprinted with at an early age: it is how and why they become progressively unhappier and unhealthier and are ruined at an early age by mass media culture brainwashing. The undead are inside you and all around you: every single one of you. Until you become aware of their constant presence: you will be a victim of their manipulation and poisoning of your body and soul and mind and heart.

The point is: I can take ANYthing in civilization and analyze it and reveal to you the ugly truth: the hidden horror and filth and negative evil which you do not perceive because you do not see as deeply and as critically as I do or you do not want to see it. Everything in civilization is tainted with evil because all of civilization is evil: it is an invention of the undead. The dead must be KILLED and their abominations DESTROYED UTTERLY. Either we the living KILL them DEAD or they will KILL you DEAD. There is no inbetween.

You fools do not see the obvious evil of civilization: What is the point in mass manufacturing huge artillery guns and machine guns and poison gas and submarines to wage WW1? What is the point in inventing bombs and aircraft that can destroy the entire civilization of Northern Europe? What is the point in inventing atomic bombs that can obliterate whole cities in the blink of an eye? What is the point in mass producing enough nuclear bombs to destroy the entire earth a thousand times over?

What point is there in inventing better and better ways to KILL? If you study the anthropological history of the human species and bother to CONNECT the anthropological record to the written one: all you will see over a period of 3 million years is a continual advancement in better techniques and innovations of how to KILL LIFE. NOTHING ELSE: you blind fools. NOTHING ELSE. Millions of years of advancing techniques that destroy, poison, kill and crush ALL LIFE ON EARTH. NOTHING ELSE.

THERE IS ONLY ONE POINT you fools. The undead want to DESTROY THE ENTIRE LIVING EARTH. They have been working towards this one end for MILLIONS and MILLIONS OF YEARS. That is the ONLY point for the existence of civilization. This is what CIVIILIZATION has been INVENTED for. This is what the dead are planning to DO. Thy have been planning this for MILLIONS OF YEARS. It is not the living who are consciously doing this, it is the DEAD using living creatures as their controlled, manipulated puppets. It is the unspoken religion of SELF-

INTEREST which has made billions of you living people TOLERATE evil because the self-interest YOU have is not in YOUR self-interest: it is in the self-interest of the DEAD: not the living. The DEAD are at war against all LIFE. It is a WAR which has been going on for MILLIONS OF YEARS. Either you are for DEATH: or you are for LIFE. THERE IS NO INBETWEEN. Either you ACT NOW on this knowledge or you will DIE a corrupt evil do-nothing who TOLERATES EVIL and has become ONE of them by ENABLING evil to flourish and spread.

THIS IS HOW YOU ARE DESIGNED TO LIVE

TOUCH ALL LIVING CREATURES WITHOUT FEAR OR HATE AND THEY WILL LOVE YOU FOR IT
DO NOT KILL ANY LIVING THING AND THEY WILL NOT KILL YOU
LEARN BY TOUCHING
LEARN TO LOVE
STOP USING MONEY
STOP HATING

In 1908 an asteroid exploded over Russian Siberia with a force 1,000 times more powerful than the first atomic bomb, leveling 80,000,000 trees over an area of 2,00,000 sq Km's. Only one person was killed. This can be logically explained as a reaction to negative evil energy massing itself over the Russian Empire for years… the years it took for the dead to plan the destruction of the Russian empire… the dead were massing together… for so long in the upper atmosphere over the Russian Empire … their negative death energy attracted an Asteroid from outer space that was also as dead as they are. This was how much undead evil it took, and how long it took for the negative energy of the undead to finally have an effect: this was how invisibly these undead ghouls gathered over the Russian Empire and conspired and worked and slaved for years and years in order to bring about the evil Leninist-Stalinist-Jewish-Bolshevik reign of mass murder, killing, genocide, starvation, impoverishment, enslavement, brutalization, and terrorization of the people of Russia.

Only one person was killed in that huge cataclysmic event. In order to 'balance out; the missing people who were 'not' killed by the asteroid: The dead set about aiding and abetting in the killing of millions of good, kind, generous, honest, intelligent healthy, decent, loving, gentle people living in Russia> and their babies and their children… especially their babies and children: so no healthy kind, gentle good people would live.

Just as the dead negative evil hanging over New York city attracted a huge hurricane off the coast in 20001 9-11: which was artificially stopped in its tracks and the missing energy of that hurricane which should have struck New York city was used and twisted and poisoned by dead ghoul for their own secret purposes into the false flag operation of 9/11..

The point is: negative disasters do not happen by accident: they have logical negative causes and origins: and the original causes of evil events on EARTH come from the undead. They must all be exterminated completely with extreme prejudice

The Dictator of the British Empire

As an example of how evil and powerful Baron Rothschild was in the 1800's and 1900's and how publicly he was known to be the richest most powerful Jewish banker in the world: You can read about the People's Budget of 1909 in the British parliament. The new Liberal Govt was elected in 1906 with the radical agenda to lift the shadow of the workhouse from the homes of the poor. Rothschild blocked this bill. That evil stinking Jewish scum kept the poorhouses of England going until 1951. The Jewish banking scum, lead by Baron Rothschild fought this bill; a bill which could not be compared to the clean socialist laws of Germany who were the originators of social programs for the people of Germany and the first nation to institute the moral idea that a nation should look after the welfare of its own people.

Free school meals, national insurance, old age pensions, was fought by the richest Jews on Earth in Britain. Why? Because they had their own fucking 'personal' set of charities like the fucking opera and museums and foundations etc; which they called 'philanthropy' which is actually misanthropy: the miserable giving of money by the miserable rich to the miserable rich; while setting up expensive token organizations called foundations and trusts that do virtually nothing to help anyone except extol the philanthropy of these miserable stinking money grubbers and whitewash them and brainwash the ignorant masses into the idea that these filthy rich scum have the right to live off the wealth and sweat of others.

Up until 1951 anyone who was poor and couldn't work to earn a living was forced into the poorhouses of England: there to die a slow miserable, lonely death: brutalized: treated like cattle: by inhuman sadistic monsters who hated their jobs and the starving poor they were forced to house. The 1909 People's budget was the first budget in British history ever with the express purpose to redistribute wealth from the rich to the poor and No. 1 on their agenda was doing away with the Poor houses of England. For bankers like Rothschild this was heresy! Sacrilege!. Lord Rothschild was absolutely opposed to any increase of taxation of the rich. He believed that any giving of wealth from the rich to the poor should be a matter of 'private conscience'. This rationalization of the filthy rich is still used by evil greedy Jews who have no conscience whatsoever. Rothschild believed that the govt should not help the poor ay all: period: end of story: why he was not murdered in his bed or every time he stepped out in public? Because he was protected by the dead who use scum like him to commit evil on Earth.

Rothschild argued that 'capital should be 100% free from all taxation in order to be 'free' to accumulate. (Into his hands; nobody else's.)

Rothschild uttered that forbidden word: accumulate:

Accumulate what?

The accumulation of MONEY: deathsheads: tokens of death: death. Decapitated heads of sacrificed victims to the dead: evil ghouls filled with hate wishing only misery and poverty for billions of starving poor: that's what this fiend from hell meant when he said 'accumulate.

WHO was to be allowed this ACCUMULATION of MONEY?

Only Lord Rothschild and his Jewish cronies who feed off the poor: NOBODY ELSE is supposed to get richer and richer and richer and richer;

"thus stimulating growth and benefiting everyone…."

This outright stinking evil lie is still being used by the filthy rich. The fact of history and finance and logic: is the opposite of this lie.
By the word "private" he mean that all criminals should be free to do whatever they wish secretly; in private: so nobody would know whether they have any fucking personal conscience or not. So nobody would know of their crimes and evil. So all their stinking rotten evil deals and conspiracies would be kept TOTALLY SECRET from every ling person on EARTH.

WHY DO THE FILTHY RICH HIDE THEIR CRIMES IN TOTAL SECRECY? BECAUSE THIS IS THE TACTIC USED BY THE DEAD: WHO USE THESE STINKING CORRUPTED SHELLS: AND IN ORDER TO USE THEM: THEY NEED TO DO IT IN TOTAL SECRECY… OTHERWISE THE FACT OF THEIR INSANE EVIL WORSHIP OF SATAN AND THE DEVIL AND THEIR ABOMINATIONS WOULD OUTRAGE THE ENTIRE WORLD OF HUMAN PEOPLE AND THEY WOULD BE HUNG BY THEIR BALLS AND WIPED OUT EN MASSE AS A FILTHY EVIL ABOMINATION NOT TO BE TOLERATED BY ANY LIVING CREATURE ON EARTH

This is exactly the argument used by banking criminals today to resist state intervention into their affairs. Lord Rothschild was up in arms about the people's budget. That fucker called a big 'protest meeting' and delivered a personal letter of complaint from 'the city of London" which is the private banking feudal estate of the filthy stinking rich of the British ruling elite to the British govt in Westminster. Lord Rothschild was a political heavyweight" a big beast a satanic filthy undead animal beast full of evil hate towards all humans on earth.

But so was Lloyd George powerful; he represented the best of the Welsh spirit of righteousness and the canonized saint St George who always fought on the side of the right: on the right side of GOOD against evil:

In his speech in parliament Lloyd George spoke the truth of what that stinking Jewish banking criminal was in 1909:

"I think we are having too much of lord Rothschild. You the people of Britain are not to have a state tax or a super-tax: why? Because lord Rothschild signed a petition on behalf of the bankers: saying that he will not stand for it! You are not to have a tax on reversions: why? Because lord Rothschild says 'it will not do"! You ought not to have old age pensions. Why? Because lord Rothschild said it could not be done! Now really! I would like to know: is lord Rothschild the dictator of this country? Are we to have all ways of reforms: both social and financial blocked simply by a notice board? Saying: "No thoroughfare! By order of lord Rothschild??"

It was a huge 'political struggle of GOOD against evil. But after years of political infighting Lloyd George eventually got his reforms passed through parliament and the house of lords. The REACTION to this GOOD winning over evil was five years later when World War One broke out.

And what of lord Rothschild? He 'came through in the first world war'. How? By agreeing to tax the rich… why? Because that horrible meaningless insane war was a trillion times more evil and made him a thousands times richer than no war and no taxes for the rich. Because Rothschild was making billions and millions of war profits from the death of millions and millions of Christians: whom Jewish scum like him hate and fear like the devil himself. Rothschilds always err on the side of the WORST evil possible; never the lesser evil. In order to allow this one token sign of caring: the dead fomented hatred a million times worse than any bureaucratic govt caring about anyone

From this one time these evil Jewish snakes tried to prance their evil in public: the Rothschild learned to never do it again. Instead they sank into anonymity and secrecy and never tried to enter the public political arena again. Why? Because evil cannot and will never win honestly against GOOD. Whenever evil shows its face openly and honestly: it is defeated by GOOD every time.

And the basic cry of that social reform? End the poor houses? Rothschild blocked this with his entire staff and every British pound he could use to bribe every corrupt British politician and labor minister and bureaucrats. In his eyes: at least he had kept the poor houses of England going for another fucking 42 years! His ghoul and hidden agenda now is to force the whole world of humanity into the poor house so not just the people of Britain: but 7 billion all over the earth are forced into penury and impoverishment until they all become poor starving dying miserable human wrecks; in order to 'pay' for the 'humiliating' defeat of good over evil in one instance in the most corrupt industrialized evil empire on earth.

This is just one example of how long a 'memory' the dead have: and how hard they are forced to work and work and slave and slave endlessly, all the time: unceasingly every second of their insane miserable hate filled rotting existence… just so they can 'claim' they have 'won' a 'victory over the goodness of the human soul and the positive energy of life and love and gentleness and kindness.

The whole point to the political battle between good and evil: which the people's budget actually was. The whole truth of the political battle between good and evil in 1909…

Has been covered up: whitewashed, ignored and buried as deep as possible.

The political fucking truth of 1909 was that lord Rothschild was the de facto dictator of the entire British fucking empire. The political truth is that now he is the defacto dictator of the entire western world.

But…. this evil stinking Jewish filth can only be dictator secretly: Rothschild can only hold his filthy power by hiding himself in secrecy and by making himself as invisible as possible so nobody sees or hears him and nobody knows what he is doing and what he is planning and what he true evil goals are. Rothschild cannot afford publicity of his evil. He cannot afford to have the true extent of his enormous obscene wealth and his evil power exposed in the light of day: because when that day comes: he will be killed dead and he knows it: he may flee to the four corners of the earth: but he will not escape from his pursuers.

The story of the political battle of the 1909 https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=nQixXRqQYco&lc=z225gd1wywb3yrjpp04t1aokghdlgqbhfuwmihlquakvbk0h00410.1511092154523170&feature=em-comments: is only one tiny drop in the political events and movements that were happening all over the Earth that were positive and were building up a head of steam and were just on the verge of toppling the entire upper ruling class of the richest most corrupt elite scum on earth. It wasn't just the people's budget that was waging war against evil on earth. It was millions and billions of living human beings who were freeing themselves from the old stale order of feudal aristocracy ruling them. It was the shining example the Germany's new socialist programs that were the envy of the world. It was the unrest and rebellions and strikes and demonstrations and political battles being fought all over the world for a better life, a better wage, a better world, a more human way of living.

This is what you must understand
World War One: the First World War ever fought

Was not fought for any human reason

World War One was invented by the dead; As a reaction against ten years of growing human waves of positive energy health, beauty, happiness, love, kindness and caring slowly and naturally doing away with the obsolete evils of the old order and the new industrialized inhumanity of machines.

What the dead did in reaction to this brief summer of human happiness: between the time that queen Victoria died and the 1st world war began… was they used the evil of machines against their owners: they invented more and more horrible ways to kill more and more millions of living human beings. They invented more and more ways to poison every single living human on Earth with mechanical death. They invented new ways of poisoning every living creature and every living eco-system on Earth with machines.

One nexus of the overworld of the dead was centered over the Russian empire. Another nexus of the underworld of the dead was centered over the Balkans in Sarajevo.

It was these two nexuses of pure hidden invisible evil of the undead who invented and created the horrors of the 20th century. One major permanent nexus of undead possession is the city of London; owned by baron Rothschild. Another nexus of pure evil is his feudal estate: Israel: that corrupt place of the most evil Jews on the planet. Another nexus of evil is New York city, and other is Hollywood; what do these places all have in common? They are all owned and controlled by evil, sick diseased subhuman Jews: who are used and controlled as puppets by undead things to corrupt humans.

Now the snowball of their refusal to admit defeat is pushing them to invent a third world war.

But this time there is no fucking "Hitler' to rally the masses. This time there are only individuals who will decide to act. And when these individuals act: it will not be to go to war against over human beings: it will be to kill the most evil poisoned scum on earth. The time for good decent human beings to drop their evil ways and learn the ugly truth about the evil that hides inside every human on Earth: is now. This is why this book has been written.

The lie that is spread: that people in Europe were suddenly beginning to use and get addicted to all the abominations called machines because these machines were introduced and manufactured and sold as fast as possible is a complete lie!

The industrial age of machines was NOT kick started by Edison inventing the light bulb or electricity being spread like wildfire all over the industrialized world. The industrial age was not turned into a mechanical nightmare of machines taking over the boulevards of Paris with taxis and cars and trucks by Ford or any other manufacturer. It was started by the railroads: built for industrial slavery, greed, mass manufacturing, war, national mobilization, profits.

INSTEAD: Europeans started using them for pleasure trips: fun, happiness, for getting away from the machines-filled cities, entire human populations were LEAVING these filthy cities every weekend and escaping from the sweltering heat and noise and crowds and healthily seeking out places in the country to commune with the BEAUTY of living NATURE.

You can see this outdoor explosion of people outdoors in the French impressionist paintings of people sitting outdoors in outdoors cafes. The new 'fad' taking over all Europe was not industrialized work, slavery, labor, money: the love of riches but the love of nature: the love of escaping from civilization as a primal healthy reaction to new mechanized civilization that had become so full of noise and pollution nobody wanted to live in it.

Before WW1: WHY was all Europe escaping to the country every chance it could? Why were outdoor cafes and eating establishments and having picnics in the park and going out for walks, and going boating, rowing, sailing, bicycling, hiking suddenly all the rage?

Two reasons: First: The people all over the world were aping the highest royalty and what were they doing? Escaping from their subjects, escaping from their stuffy mansions and cities and Parliaments and castles. Having royal yachting regattas, horse shows, picnics, lunching in outdoor gazebos, taking trips, having fun, dancing. The royal custom of going to their private estate and hunting lodges, killing shooting wild animals and birds: even that was an outdoor activity. That fat sex addict whoreson Bertie was selling his false public image of being a 'country squire' to the British masses. The idiots bought the cunning evil propaganda and the result was: surprise, surprise… everyone suddenly wanted to become a country gentlemen with a manor house in the woods and a stable full of fucking horses and dogs. Infidelity, pornography and whoring became more acceptable.

The other reason was the mass industrialization of Europe and its swelling overcrowded cities becoming unbearable: unbearably hot in the summer: noisy, ugly, mechanized, cramped, overcrowded places of filth…. That is compared to what towns and cities were like before they became industrialized. The entire hoax called modern 'progress': this propaganda bullshit has been sold and sold until it has become a fucking religious belief: the belief that machines make for a better life: a better quality of life. ONLY if you go back in time and compare what life was like BEFORE these mechanized things were invented and forced into being used can you have any understanding how much better life is and can be if it is simplified. Machines complicate life: they do not simplify it.

Also the new craze of lateral mobility: taking trips to the country was incredibly cheap. Anyone could afford the train fare and Europe was now covered in a network of railroads that made travel cheap, easy, enjoyable and social all at the same time. Taking trips by car was a huge bother: very few people had been sucked into that form of elite snobbery. But bicycles were also cheap and affordable. The mass manufacture of these things began to be used for FUN: to have fun: to enjoy life without slaving away in filthy factories and the factory workers all over the world were up in arms and striking and demanding better working conditions, better pay.

Also this positive upswing was because that black hag from hell: queen Victoria had finally died. The huge black shadow of perpetual mourning and moral probity was removed from the upper class elite. Her evil power and manipulation was gone. She was replaced by her son: a fat lecherous scum so diseased that nothing good can be said of him except he stayed out of politics and became a pure figurehead. By this act: the Jewish Rothschild scum and every corrupt politician and bureaucrat was freed from any moral Royal code of conduct or oversight. It would take decades and decades of the dead ghouls constantly pushing every generation into more and more obscene lecherous norms of sexual pornography and exhibitionism to get the desired result of a totally immoral world where no love can survive or even grow.

The other thing this positive era did was ordinary middleclass and upper class people began copying their royal counterparts and visiting faraway places. This resulted in Germans visiting England and the British visiting Germany and becoming fast friends and finding out they liked each other and each other's culture: What a surprise: Two Anglo-Saxon nations finding in spite of different language they still had so many things in common. What? Germany and the British Empire teaming up in FRIENDSHIP!!!??? Why if that happened then the whole world would be copying them! The whole world would be influenced by the best of English culture and the best of German culture and technology and social reforms! Then look out America! Look out Russia! Look out every other nation on earth! A friendly Germany and a friendly Britain? Why what reason would anyone have to go to war then? Eh?? Then the arms race of building up battleships and huge monstrous weapons of mass destruction would become a pointless waste of money and time! The British and the Germans already had the most advanced weaponry and arms. The British Empire had sunk into a lethargic ease of polite chatter and was prancing around the world enjoying its mighty far-flung colonies Germany was a peaceful, organized nation that was the leader in nearly every new abomination from chemicals to weapons of mass destruction. If Germany had not had a one-armed nut case as its king and the British royalty hadn't been such a bunch of insufferable snobs, there might have been a military alliance and the fight and grab for more colonies and land and status as a colonial empire might have eased into a learning from each other.

America just escaped from being a German nation instead of an English one by a hair. Social reforms might have improved the life of everyone in these two empires. They might have learned from each other. The dead made sure this did not happen. This is why they will be slaughtered and destroyed.

To take the best of each and leave the worst behind and eject the worst into extinction. So ancient evil would never live again and never have a chance to vicariously live through anyone. The new machines and gizmo's might have lost their appeal. The people of the world might have discovered their ancient folklore and heritage and cultures: and taken the best of it and dumped the worst: making everything better instead of worse: as the dead always push for and work for and slave for. The dead seek to wallow in the most evil poisonous filth possible. Why? Because all of them are decomposing rotting souls, and the longer they manage to survive: the more rotten and filthy and evil they become.

The new mechanized industrial age of machines and abominations was kick started by the most horrible use of mass manufactured weapons of mass destruction in a world war: destroying a peaceful, organized intelligent European continent that was becoming placidly happy in its slow natural way of divorcing itself from all machines and drowsily enjoying the peaceful bliss of Nature by going peacefully to church every Sunday and then spending every Sunday outside enjoying the sun and the wonders of Nature. By all Europe sharing the same basic ethnic culture of Christian religion: there was no reason for anyone to go to war against anyone. There was no reason for anyone to hate each other and kill each other..

Only a few filthy rich evil possessed shells of the upper class used as puppets by the dead in crucial positions of power and influence planned and worked to invent the horrible catastrophe of WW1. It was World War One that kick started the new Machine Age into its accelerating use of machines and factories. Nothing else. It was the two World Wars that let loose the hounds of hell and let loose more and more abominations of mass death and mass poison and mass manufacturing being normalized, as the machines of death that keep the human species dependent on horrible stupid wastes of Life and energy.

What was one of the major orchestrated hoaxes which kicked off the starting of WW1? It was the switching of two nearly identical ships: the Olympic and the Titanic. It was the swindle of the sinking of the Titanic. It was the ancient battle of the undead re-fought all over again between the Titans and the Olympians. Twin sister ships of pure evil: The 1st one that was built was the Olympic. The 2nd one was called the Titanic. Thus the true timeline of succession: the order of the Titans being the 1st Gods to dominate the underworld of the realm of the undead and the Olympic gods being the first gods to dominate the overworld of the realm of the undead coming after them was reversed. So in terms of the undead and their history of evil: the Olympic being the first to be built was reversed by switching their identities and renaming them secretly without the world knowing anything about it. The Titanic being the 2nd to be built was renamed the Olympic and the Olympic was renamed the Titanic. The dead corrected that reversal of who was first as evilly and foully as possible.

How? The RMS Olympic was seriously damaged by a collision with the British cruiser HMS Hawke. JP Morgan the new owner of the White Star line did a Larry Silverstein: buying up the White Star Line just before the switcheroo of the two ocean liners in the Dry dock in Belfast was perpetrated: for insurance fraud and other reasons in 1912: or rather… Silverstein copied JP Morgans' trick. What's the connection between Silverstein and JP Morgan? Both of them are/were lieutenants of the Rothschild Jewish criminal syndicate of international bankers. That secret syndicate just took the swindles they had perpetrated on the planned false flag operation of the sinking of the Olympic and switched the entire bag of tricks almost 100 years later to the false flag operation of 9-11. The two conspiracies have so many things in common their filthy fingerprints are all over it: just as the handprints of the undead are all over both disasters. What were the reasons for sinking the Olympic alias the Titanic?

1: To escape the financial disaster of the damaged Olympic bankrupting and sinking the entire White Star Line and all their major shareholders.

2: To eliminate all opposition at the highest levels of corruption who were against the creation of the plan to put a Jewish private bank in control of the U. S money supply and therefore in control of the entire American economy: the infamous Jekyll Island secret conspiracy that resulted in the Federal reserve being created against the wishes of nearly all Americans and most of their elected representatives in Congress and the Senate. It wasn't just Strauss, Astor and Guggenheim that Morgan killed in this carefully orchestrated disaster, there were more than 600 other top American bankers on board the Titanic (alias the Olympic), and all of them were opponents of a Central Bank being created because they knew if this was allowed to happen they would be eliminated and lose their power, status and wealth as members of the American and British ruling elite. Morgan's gang of financial swindlers and thugs were pre-warned and cancelled their reservations and berths at the last minute. Their rivals were not warned.

3: To pave the way for creating the Federal Reserve to take over the money supply of the American govt and thus the control of the American economy. By using this satanic tool of the undead; a Jewish private bank under the guise of a national bank; the Rothschild Jews orchestrated the First World War so the worlds richest Jewish bankers could profit from the Christian civilization of Europe killing and destroying itself, by being duped into this madness by the avarice and greed of Jewish bankers and war-profiteers and their propaganda machine. And to enter in a new age of Evil: the Age of oil: the re-play of the oily ancient Greco civilization: a re-play of their oily sycophants and professional liars in their war between the two armed camps of Greek deception and lies; Sophistry and Rhetoric. Which then merged to become the twisted shitpile of accumulated twisted lies and insane ideas called Western Philosophy. Greek civilization and their wars was another replay of the battle of the undead between the Titans and the Olympians.

This enormous hoax: switching the identities of the two largest most modern ocean liners ever built; the success of hoodwinking the entire world led the dead and their controlled secret agents of satanic evil: the corrupt ruling class robber baron bankers… to go on to perpetrating even more and more enormous swindles and hoaxes, invented and orchestrated by them to enrich themselves while destroying everyone else.

The guilt lies not just on those who perpetrated it, but also on the thousands of lower class workers in the shipping yard and the coal stokers who knew about it and kept their stinking, evil, corrupt mouths SHUT about it; right to the last days of their lives and never spoke the awful, ugly truth about what had been done by one of the Satanic Lieutenants of the Rothschild clan of Jewish mafia bankers; JP Morgan… as they efficiently eliminated most of their Protestant banking rivals in one fell swoop by suckering them onto 1st class berths and 2nd class berths onto the doomed RMS Olympic that was manned and crewed for the specific purpose of sinking it to escape the insurance clause which made Lloyds of London deny any reimbursement of their insurance claim, for damages to the Olympic. The collision between the Olympic and the British cruiser had been decided in a court of inquiry of the British Royal Navy to be the White Star Line's fault. The American Morgan was furious about this obvious whitewashing of the British cruiser of all blame.

Even more cunningly, the rich Protestant bankers were told of the planned hoax and that they would be rescued by a White Star Line ship that was waiting there for them, so not to worry; let the others panic and be the first to leave the ship: They would gain fame for their heroism and generosity of letting the lower class go first: thus all the rich bankers onboard died on purpose; betrayed by JP Morgan and his Jewish mafia. Morgan means death.

In the middle of an international Depression and coal shortage: when there was no coal to be had and most coal stokers were out of work and starving; hundreds of coal stokers who knew about this huge hoax refused to serve on the damaged Olympic alias the Titanic: they kept their mouths shut for fear of losing their livelihoods and being blacklisted by the White Star Line authorities for life: the rich robber barons who owned and used them as lower class slaves for their own evil designs and devices and purposes had enormous power over the lower classes, a level of power that does not exist today. Hundreds of navy ship workers and dockyard employees kept their corrupt filthy mouths SHUT. They knew that the identities of the RMS Titanic and the RMS Olympic has been secretly switched, and that the sinking of the RMS Olympic was a huge hoax, a lie, a myth… it was the RMS Olympic which had been sunk on purpose. Two sister ships of satanic evil: the two largest moving machines in the world: battling each other for dominance over the high seas. All these lower class people and not one blew the whistle: that is not a fucking coincidence> the undead made sure nobody would talk.

The Titans of the underworld were staking their claim in the coming power struggle for control over the entire realm of the undead. The Olympian clan lost a crucial battle in their fight for supremacy for control of all evil power in the world and in the 2 realms of the undead… but then the Olympic gang of ghouls made a comeback with their own Jewish agent of cunning evil: Albert Einstein. When young Albert Einstein was formulating his cunning series of intellectual grand swindles and hoaxes with a few friends he had met in Bern, Einstein started a small discussion group, self-mockingly named "The Olympia Academy", that is not a fucking coincidence. This cabal met regularly to discuss science and philosophy. Their readings included the works of Henri Poincaré, Ernst Mach, and David Hume, which influenced his scientific and philosophical outlook. Einstein cunningly stole all of his friends best ideas and poisoned them: turning them into Jewish swindles and hoaxes… which were later found out: but not all of them were found out. Einstein destroyed the new growth of honest scientific exploration and ideas by embedding his hoaxes into the Scientific establishment and turning Science into a pack of evil, twisted lies, swindles and hoaxes.

Thus the Olympic gang of evil ghouls secretly conspired to invent the nuclear atomic bomb: using their human shells which they controlled; to turn the most brilliant scientific minds onto the path of total destruction of the Living World. As a way to one-up the gigantic swindle of the Titan gang of dead ghouls. Swindle after swindle: hoax after hoax has been perpetrated and covered up and spread to brainwash the entire human species so nobody will wake up and realize that all these swindles can and should be wiped away and all of civilization should be destroyed because ALL of it is an evil invented by the undead. Not just some of it: ALL of it.

This secret rivalry, this behind the scenes war going on between two secret camps of these dead pieces of rotting filth: controlling the TOP living personages of influence and power: inserting THEIR secret agents into the mix of events at every chance in order to ruin anything GOOD coming out of Humanity and twisting everything into the worst, most negative, most evil paths possible:… while also fighting between each other at every twist and turn of cunning subterfuge… is the reason these things must be EXTERMINATED FROM THIS EARTH AND KILLED DEAD with EXTREME PREJUDICE and WITHOUT MERCY. These dead things do not know the meaning of mercy or kindness or humaneness. They need to be KILLED. DEAD. And their agents must be ripped from their high places and killed DEAD ALSO.

The attempt to put a small bunch of Jewish scum filth in control of the world: will not only fail: but it is the LAST SWINDLE which they will ever make because it is the LAST swindle which they have bet will be enough to destroy the entire living planet. Both gangs of the dead: all undead ghouls will be destroyed and killed: ripped apart and torn into shreds. The violence they project against the Living EARTH will be REVERSED and focused upon ALL of them. And this time no matter what they do and no matter where they try to hide: it will do them no good. They will be hunted down and slaughtered: and there will be a final END to all of them.

Why was the RMS Olympic, alias the Titanic, sunk? Because too many young people were taking passage on these huge ocean liners seeking a better life in the New World. Too many married couples filled with positive emotions of love and kindness and joy were finding happiness and a better, cleaner life in the New World. The dead HATE and FEAR ALL HAPPINESS, LOVE and JOY; the dead HATE ALL HUMANS who have any kind of innocent happy fun: they HATE any people who enjoy Life and Living.

The Olympic was sunk for many reasons. After the Olympic was sunk: transatlantic travel by ship disappeared; the status, popularity, the glamour, the fun was gone from traveling by ocean liners. Just as the movie: ‘Jaws’ made millions of brainwashed fools become afraid of swimming in the ocean, the huge publicity by the jewish mass media of the sinking of the Titanic made people fearful of ocean liners. What was the ship that rescued the survivors? It was the *Car*pathia The dead did not want living people traveling by ship they wanted them to travel by car; get it? Ship travel disappeared with the development of airlines and cars. The dead can kill much more people in car accidents than by ocean liners sinking; get it? The New Path of Evil was in cars! Guzzling gasoline and oil… not in huge transatlantic ocean liners that were a thousand times more economical a form of transportation than cars: the Path of Cars: Carpathia… Car Path ia… get it? Each idiot driving their own car> No socializing: get it? The Path of Cars: new highways to destroy millions of acres of the living Earth: get it? Where was the first highway built in America? In California: the Land of cars. The California: the ship that was supposed to rescue those on the Olympic but didn't. California: the newest American culture of middleclass affluence after WW1 and WW2: get it? Just as the new California lifestyle of mechanized affluence and its car culture will not save America from sinking.

On the 18th of November 1929, as the Olympic was travelling westbound near to Titanic's last known position, the ship suddenly started to vibrate violently, and the vibrations continued for two minutes. Get it? Coming too close to the grave of her murdered sister: Guilt. Fear. The dead sister turning over in her grave due to an earthquake… get it? Carrying the name of the ship that had been sunk; going through its existence as a fraud: a double meaning: a double> a double name.

"Double Double, Toil and trouble; Fire Burn and Cauldron bubble":

The three witches of Macbeth. Names with double meanings: Switched names with double meanings, triple meanings: get it? Triple meanings? Oh… you didn't know that the White Star Line built a 3rd ship of the Olympic class? Now we go further down the rabbit hole of the dead and their hidden evil>

What is not well known is that there were not two sister ships but three ships. The Third was the Britannia: the best of them all and bigger by 2 ft of hull width launched in 1914. 2 years later in 1916: just at the beginning of WW1 the 3rd of the three sister ships: the Britannia: the best built of the 3 sister ships and the largest and most unsinkable of the three identical ships with extra hill linings and increased water tight bulkheads mysteriously sank off the coast of Greece: between the mainland and Kea island in the Kea channel. Rumors that the ship's name was to be changed to the Gigantic circulated after her sinking. Acting as a hospital ship for wounded soldiers returning from the Gallipoli disaster where the British Allied forces suffered 250.000 casualties: the Britannia: the most unsinkable of the three largest man made moving structures ever made sank in half the time it took for the ship called the Titanic (actually the Olympic) to sink.

What is one to make of this? The third ship holds the secret hidden key to the orchestrated plots and plans and presence of the dead in the modern world. It exposes and leaks just how the undead can and do continually manage to pull the wool over the eyes of the living human shells they infiltrate, poison, corrupt and ruin. It also exposes the layers of undead evil, and how far back this miasma of evil goes: and how sick, and insane and convoluted the evil is.

First, to begin with: consider the three ships… the technological masterpieces of the new industrial age: the three colossus's of the New Age of Mechanical Giants. Consider why they were built: to make a PROFIT off of the huge waves of European poor fleeing Europe: Fleeing an industrialized continent! An industrialization that impoverished the masses of humanity: so what the fuck is industrialization for? Eh? Creating overpopulation, which it had created through its filthy, stupid industrialized mechanization of everything: Running to a New World where they would find the exact same industrialized, unfeeling horror and death and deadness growing there just as fast as it had in Europe: and with even more greed and avarice and inhumanity. J.P. Morgan: One of Rothschild's lieutenants: bought the White Star Line to ruin any chance or hope of the immigrants from having any chance at having a better life. The Jewish hallmark of cunningly ruining everything they touch is all over the history of these three huge ocean liners… that is to say; the hallmark of the dead who poison these human shells with their insane evil is all over the fate of these three ships.

3 ill-fated nearly identical ships: Two of them suffer almost instant destruction: One survives: Why?... One sinking is covered up and turned into a lying myth and the myth is trumpeted all over the world… while the other sinking: in an even more mysterious and inexplicable fashion vanishes from the annals of history and is ignored almost as if it had never been built and wasn't the best built of them all… and on a mission of mercy! An ocean liner transformed into a Hospital ship designed to save lives: not ruin them or kill, or make a stinking profit.

The key of that sinking is in where the Britannia sank: in the Kea Channel: A key to why and how this orchestrated catastrophe was re-enacted.>>> To understand the sinking of the Britannia in 1916 you must travel back thousands of years to that same spot… and witness what happened to the returning Greek warriors after leaving Troy in defeat and being sunk just before they reached the mainland of Greece… What's this? But everyone knows the Greeks won the Trojan war! Wrong: There were many wars. Homer's myth is a compendium of older myths all bollixed up together into an insane unpalatable mess: The true history of the wars of the copper and bronze Age have been buried and reburied so many times and twisted and reversed that no anthropologist or historian has any evidence or idea of what actually happened thousands of years ago. The Blind poet Homer: his name itself is a key to understanding the sinking of the Britannia: The undead seeing the Greeks would actually return HOME Victorious? Never! They must all suffer a horrible fate through misadventures and be prevented from returning home.

In step the Three Fates: The three sisters of Evil: that are supposed to control the time of death and the longevity of every living human on Earth. But the Britannia was traveling to Gallipoli: She had not yet picked up her injured soldiers… but her return course would not be through the straits of the Kea Channel: so only 35 lives were lost: the exact number of men that Odysseus lost when his ship went down with him as the only survivor in the exact same place. The lives on the Britannic were lost in a horrible way: the propeller blades on the left side of the ship exposed due to her listing so far to the right that two life boats and their passengers being lowered were smashed into pieces by the huge spinning blades with the engines still going. That is the tell-tale sign that the three sisters of Fate that spin the lives of mortal man were in on the disaster. Odysseus's wife weaving her tapestry during the day and unweaving it at night: get it? Layers of myths and historical past all merged into one huge attack on the living by the undead. What is the saga of Odysseus>? It is the Odd, inexplicable misadventures of mortal man controlled by the three fates and the Olympic gods: see? Odd…do you see us, the undead, interfering in your lives? No? Why? Odd… Y SEE US?: I SEE YOU: Get it? Cunningly, sneakily, invisibly; the SNAKE of undead evil poisoning the life of one Greek: the wisest of them all. Odysseus: one of the few men who knew about the existence of these ghouls called gods: get it? Why do odd things happen? The Purposeful interference in the lives of every living human ever born: that's why. Instead of the shears cutting the woolen thread of a single human life: huge mechanical spinning blades of a huge blind mechanical monster dying in its death throes, smashing life boats filled with living people> get it? The evil of Man's new mechanical horror: the Age of the Machine. Get it? Invented by the undead to destroy human life: not save human life: Outrage of the undead that Man should use its evil mechanical inventions for GOOD instead of evil: this must be stopped at once! This is not allowed to happen! Odd, WHY SEE US? The push to preserve their thousands of years of invisibility so living humans will never see them or notice them: get it? If anything odd happens you're not supposed to notice: get it? If you feel anything odd you're not supposed to sense the undead: get it? You're not supposed to know that you can be possessed by evil spirits> get it?

Who were the original Titans that were sunk by icebergs? They were the Dinosaurs of 200 million years ago. They were sunk by the onset of the Ice Age… get it? Re-living the past: Acting out repeatedly different permutations of the same old stupid shit.

The sinking of the Britannia and the defeat of the British at Gallipoli marked the beginning of the end of the British Empire. Empires do not publicize their demise or their defeats: only their triumphs… or they whitewash their defeats and glorify them: turning defeat into a twisted, insane moral victory: As the poem by Tennyson did about the Crimean war in his Charge of the Light Brigade; a poem that whitewashed the horrible pointlessness of the Crimean War… but I am diverging from the sinking of the Britannia: Why only one surviving ship? Why was the Britannia going to be named the Gigantic? The answer can be dimly seen in the myths of Europe and its hordes of undead going back hundreds of thousands of years. Three hordes of the ancient past: The Ice Giants of the Nordic lands, The giant cave bears of the Pleistocene Era… going back farther hundreds of millions of years to the Titans: the huge reptile monsters of the Jurassic Period. The Olympic gods of the pre-Grecian era, and the even older series of ancient ghouls called the Titans>>> who are actually ancient reptiles… Three huge hordes of undead ghouls from three different periods of time and from three different geographical locations… Three ships representing three distinct time periods and three different dominant living species on Earth: Dinosaurs: the Gigantic mammals of the pre-human Era and the first humans… three ships built as huge, moving mechanical dead horrors of industrialized metal… representing three dominant species and three different time periods…and the winner is?... The oldest and deadest of them all: the most foul: the most evil of them all: the most filled with hatred against all Living Life on Earth: the Dinosaurs: The dominant species that went completely extinct: Dinosaurs staging a comeback? No> The Giant saber tooth tigers and Wooly mammoths staging a comeback? No. The Olympic gods and ancient human ghouls staging a comeback? No. No……. All three masses of undead rotting filth…. All three hordes of awakened dead spirits and ghosts being used as puppets by unseen manipulators? Dimly, the hierarchy of the Realms of the Undead are etched out in their blatant crimes and abominations from the footprints they leave behind in the Living World> In their Realm of the Undead they have all merged together for survival; into a huge, global hive-consciousness-presence that is not an individual entity: Nor is it a single mass entity, nor is it a mass of different undead entities: It is an abomination of all three; artificially mixed together. Going through different phases of decomposition, finding, inventing new ways of escaping their total decomposition and utter annihilation;

Three fates: three dimensions of the Infinite Universe: three ships: three sisters of ancient Greek Mythology: these undead hags had already rotted so far into imbecility that during the time of the Trojan wars they had only one eye and one tooth between them. They were believed to control the fates of not only mortal humans but of the gods themselves. Who are the three hags of Greek mythology: the three witches of Macbeth's tragedy? They are the three Dimensions of the Universe: they are the undead constantly trying to unravel the mysteries of the three dimensions of Time Energy and Space and failing. The undead orchestrating the Industrial horror of mechanized monstrosities being built… in their name no less: And then destroying all but the oldest of the lot. Just to show how 'powerful' they are… to themselves: not to mortal humans> Where is there any sense to all this? Nowhere. Ruin heaped upon ruin: disaster heaped on disaster: orchestrated failure heaped upon orchestrated failure: Each new spurt of human energy and activity must be ruined and destroyed before it has a chance to blossom. The industrial Age must be systematically ruined and crash even faster than the other Ages did: and the next Age must be destroyed even more quickly and completely than the others were>> With the logical reduction ad-absurdum: into the dumbest, stupidest possible outcome: The entire living Earth turned into a wasteland of dead radioactive horror: brought about by a living species picked for the job because their designed function is to do the exact opposite of what they are 'forced' or 'brainwashed' or 'programmed' into doing: etc: etc: vomit: puke. All because of the hidden unseen constant presence of undead ghouls. All of the undead foul things in the realm of the dead: all of the species that WENT COMPLETELY EXTINCT: are acting out, and re-enacting their own extinction by violating the bodies of living humans and other living creatures with their vile, insane, inhuman presence> The undead have been doing this for millions of years: avoiding their own utter destruction by poisoning the lives of living creatures.

Written History is filled with such proofs of the existence of the dead. Finding this evidence is not hard. But you can only find it if you seek the truth and value the truth above everything else and have a comprehensive knowledge of world history and world mythology. Only by including the hidden secret agendas of the dead and their constant interference in the plans and lives of us the living, can anyone make sense of the entire rotten, rotting mess of the true history of the past. Once you include the existence of the dead and their secret orchestrated conspiracies and machinations, it becomes disgustingly clear that the muddied history of the past is PURPOSELY muddied by the undead… all the filth of the past, the evil of the past is their continual evil presence and interference in human lives… the dirtiness of the past is their filthy rotten evil poisoning of all human lives with their constant secret, invisible, stinking presence.

Then there is Einstein's famous letter to FDR in March 1945: warning him of a nonexistent threat of a German nuclear program: Putting his name to a lie he knew was not true:

The beginning of that letter goes:

"I am writing to you to introduce Dr. L. Szlard who proposes to submit to you certain considerations and recommendations".>>>> GET IT??

ENTER the cunning snake of evil: the undead LIZARD: The Jewish Lizard scum that invented nuclear fission and wanted to manufacture a weapon of mass destruction to destroy All of Germany>>> Enter one Jewish evil into another and you have evil cubed and squared Enter an entire gang of Jewish Zionist scientists and you have worldwide Armageddon> Who is the Lizard of Evil? It is the messenger of the Titans: the last surviving species of that extinct species the reptilian Dinosaurs: hiding inside the body of a lizard-Jewish puppet. And his proposal to build a nuclear device is aided by that Jewish fiend from Hell: Einstein: One agent of Satan aiding another> get it? The slight misspelling of Slzard from LIZARD even has the slithering sound that snakes and lizards make when they move through the grass.

You can research and study the life of Albert Einstein and his "Olympia Academy" of sycophants: In a letter to Maurice Solovine Einstein commemorated in 1953 the "Akademie Olympia" which was founded in Bern in 1902.

"To the immortal Akademie Olympia.

In your short active life you have amused yourself about all in childish joy what was clear and clever. Your members have created you to laugh about your big, old and arrogant sisters. How much they have hit bull's eye with this I have learnt through many years of thorough watching."

Get it?... The undead leave their footprints in full view of the living: confident that no living human could track them down and put the crucial pieces together: The 3 sisters this letter refers to are the three Fates of the Olympic set of undead fiends>>> YOUR MEMBERS HAVE CREATED YOU>>> get it? To hit the bull's eye>>> get it? The undead create the twisted, insane human puppets they poison to carry out their secret, hidden, cunning machinations of evil: get it? The invention that would insure the death of all living creatures on Earth: the invention of Einstein's equation; $E = mc^2$ and the manufacture and use of the first atomic bomb: get it? Twisting the mind of this inhuman cold-blooded evil Jew into paths of evil until it "hit's the bull's eye": the hidden goal is the nuclear destruction of all Life on Earth>>> get it? For the undead this is all a 'game':>>> warring factions of these insane ghouls competing with each other as to which one would 'win>>> win what? While all the other undead ghouls are watching>>> many years of watching>>>> get it? Thorough watching: The letter makes no sense unless you know what is behind it and what it is referring to>>> get it? The Olympic gods were invented to make a mockery of the three Fates: the "big old arrogant sisters" daughters of the older gods the Titans: get it? And the Titans were made by even older gods: get it? All of them watching the show: get it? So these undead things could laugh at Fate and escape their own demise, their own punishment, get it? While ruining the Fate of Humanity.

The Time has come for all of you who have read this book to shut off your computers, come together IN PERSON and ACT. Without this; you are DOOMED. FIGHT or DIE. Get off your ass or DIE. The computer Age is over. Civilization must be dismantled, destroyed and leveled: starting with those at the very top of every civilized pyramidal shitpile of authority, power, wealth and status.

If you want to find out who was behind the false flag operation of 9-11… study every false flag operation that was done in the last 120 years and pick out the similarities. Study the similarities between the false flag operation of the sinking of the Titanic and Lusitania and USS Maine: then study the false flag operation of the Russian 'terrorist' bombings that Putin used to gain popularity and support. Study the tactics and tricks used in the 9-11 hoax and the hollow hoax. Then ask yourself: which of the oldest tactics of the oldest hoaxes and false flag operations have been re-used? Then connect these false flag operations and hoaxes together and find the money trails and find where all these trails lead to: what and who they all have in common… The tactics and tricks used by the criminal elite to perpetrate 9-11 are almost identical to the tactics and trucks that JP Morgan and his White Star buddies used in the sinking of the Titanic (Alias the Olympic). That is not a fucking coincidence. The Goldman Sachs gang of thieves are called "the white shoe boys" because they are whitewashed of all their crimes, just like the gang of thieves that took over the White Star Line was whitewashed of all their crimes: That is not a fucking coincidence. The Robber Baron dynasties that were whitewashed of their crimes in the sinking of the Titanic (alias the Olympic) have all since been idolized and turned into international icons: worshipped as gods and revered by the filthy rich class of the moneyed elite: that is not a fucking coincidence. The robber baron dynasties which had a hand in both criminal operations can be narrowed down mathematically and historically by elimination. Whichever ruling elite dynasties that were in power in the 1900's before WW1 and are still in power today: they are the ones to go after first: because they are the guiltiest: they have more to hide, they are the richest most powerful movers behind the scenes.

Plato was convinced that the question of an afterlife is the most important question of human existence because he was Socrates' pupil. Socrates was killed for daring to ask that question and discussing it openly in public. Since Socrates asked this question over 2,450 year ago: the question of whether there is life after death; the entire investigation of there being an afterlife has been buried, avoided, sabotaged, poisoned, denied, ridiculed, demeaned; it has been explained by hoaxes, dogmas, lies, deceptions, and forgotten for very good fucking reasons. The dead do not want to be discovered and exposed for very good damned reasons. It is no fucking accident that Socrates was the last philosopher in Western civilization and history to seriously focus on this question of life after death… that is, until ME: Indrek Pringi. I have now raised the veil of secrecy concerning this subject. The dead are now exposed NAKED by ME: Indrek Pringi.

It is no fucking coincidence that Socrates is still considered to be the wisest philosopher who ever lived. It is no fucking coincidence that Socrates is considered to be the father of Western thinking and culture: the origin of the western tradition of inquisitive exploration and the most important figure in western history and culture. Once you understand and realize the pure evil that these dead stinking ghouls are and the hidden role they have played in poisoning the life of every human that is born and has ever been born. Look at this from the perspective of these rotting things who have managed to derail humans from focusing on this question of what happens to you after you die for 2,500 years. Why? Why did they do this? Why have they buried this question and made it seem as if it is unimportant? It's because they know if living people ever discover the truth about them: they will be hunted down and KILLED with extreme passion and prejudice until the Living Earth is no longer filthied with their negative evil auras. The question of the afterlife: the realm of the undead is the most important issue and question of Human Existence. This book has explained and answered this question. The only remaining thing is to KILL every EVIL on EARTH dead: regardless whether it is in the realm of the undead or the Living. Until you baboons understand and realize that these evil things are in a continual 24-hr state of WAR against all Love, Decency, Happiness, Health, Purity, Growth. Trust, Happiness, Intelligence, Honesty, Courage, Friendship, Kindness, Sensitivity, Curiosity, Innocence and Pure Wonder: you are lowing cattle waiting to be slaughtered. Wherever any GOOD begins to sprout: wherever any Happiness begins to grow: evil comes in to destroy it, block it, and poison it as quickly as possible. That is not a fucking coincidence.

You may think that after WW2, the evil that controls this jewish family disappeared… It did NOT…. In a sense it did disappear… into secrecy. What had been the most powerful banking syndicate in the world, and the family that owned it, disappeared from the headlines and is still shrouded in secrecy to this day… What happened to them?... What happened was…

SECRECY

Even before WW2, the undead were secretly planting seeds of pure evil that would spread and multiply like a cancerous culture that consumes its host after WW2. And they used the Rothchilds to do it.

In order to understand the enormous scope of the unspeakable evil of Rothschild jews; these puppets of the undead; we have to backtrack and summarize some of their evil achievements, that we know of. Towhit:

We know in 1806: Upon the invasion of Napoleon into his land, Prince William of Hesse Cassel entrusted the Rothschilds with all his wealth, which was sent to England and used by Nathan Rothschild to become the majority shareholder of the East India co.
We know in 1808 Nathan Rothschild became financial advisor to the British Govt.
We know while acting as British agents of the East India Co and the Crown: during the conquest of India. they stole all the gold of Indian Rajs
We know Nathan Rothschild used the stolen gold of India to take over the gold bullion market and the Bank of England… and the British Empire.
We know in 1812 By spreading a false rumor that Wellington had lost and then proceeded to buy up British Consols at pennies to the pound, Nathan Rothschild took over the British Consol market (bond market)
We know in 1823 they became guardians of the entire papal treasury and took over the financial operations of the Catholic Church.
By the 1820's, we know the Rothschild criminal mafia family already owned the national banks of England, France, Germany, Austria and later; Italy and America. We know they engineered to found the 3 privately owned "national" American banks, in 1791 and 1816, ending with the present one founded in 1913 that is owned personally by a syndicate of criminal jews; all beholden to Rothschilds. We know J.P. Morgan. Considered to be the wealthiest robber baron of his time was only a lowly lieutenant and puppet of the Rothschild criminal syndicate, and that everything he did was at the behest of the Rothschilds. We know they gained control of City of London banking center: which was and still is the financial center of the world. We know in 1902 they gained all the wealth of Cecil Rhodes estate after he died without leaving behind any children. What they did with it is still a secret. We know they multiplied their wealth a thousand times over by investing in railroads and other ventures. We know that Rothschild and other jewish bankers colluded and conspired to create two world wars and in the process; destroyed the greatest empire ever: the British Empire. We know they profited enormously as war profiteers in WW1 and WW2; in fact they instigated and conspired to begin both wars… and that after WW1 and WW2, they reduced their public visibility by hiding their assets… How many wars the Rothschilds conspired to start is still unknown. We do know they were instrumental in starting the American civil war. We know the Rothschilds have systematically targeted every European nation that did not allow them to set up a privately owned Rothschild bank as a national bank for over 100 years, beginning with the Russian Empire, and ending with the destruction of Libya. The only two nations left still not under their control: Syria and Iran, are now being systematically attacked and weakened and slated for total destruction because they dare to defy the Rothschild jewish god of greed and avarice.

To this day there is no reliable account or estimate of the true extent and size of their wealth and assets because of the systematic cunning secrecy by which they have operated as puppets of the dead and continue to do so in total secrecy.

By the 1910's, the takeover of the British Empire was completed: that was one side of their jewish evil. The other side was then using their power to destroy another empire: the Russian Empire.

We know Jewish newspaper in the west repeatedly falsely publicized that 6 million jews were in immediate danger of being killed or starved to death in Russia. We know jewish bankers in Austria and Switzerland paid to send Lenin to Russia to take advantage of the crisis there in 1914.
We know American jewish bankers sent Tolstoy to Moscow during the crisis.
We know jewish bankers in America secretly sent 25 million American dollars plus supplies to the Marxist Bolsheviks.
We know jewish bankers in America gained enough control over the American state dept to send an American military expedition to Vladivostok in order to gain control of the trans Siberian railroad and hold it until the jewish Bolsheviks could take it over: Thus guaranteeing the Bolsheviks would win the civil war since they controlled the only railroad in the empire and made troop movement easy to crush both the white Russian armies and the green Russian armies.
We know Rothschild and the focus group conspired to start WW2 and put their political puppet Churchill into power as war minister and ultimately as prime minister during the war. And allied themselves with the jewish Stalin and his mass murdering scum in order to obliterate the last white culture that was intelligently progressive and not yet polluted by centuries of ruling elites controlling and owning virtually everything worth owning.

We know that Hitler tried to cooperate with Zionists to deport and settle German jews in Palestine and that Rothschild and other jewish bankers blocked him…
We know a Rothschild engineered the Balfour declaration in 1926 and that the Rothschilds colluded and conspired to block the British govt from preventing jews emigrating to Palestine and prevented them from stealing the land, ousting Palestinians and setting up an illegal nation that was not recognized by any other nation at that time…

This was about when Victor Rothschild while still a Cambridge student and became a secret spy for the Russian Marxist Leninist cause… The Bolshevik KGB managed to infiltrate British high society via the propaganda lies of the jewish press and newspapers and their censoring and hiding and whitewashing all of the horrible massacres and genocide and death camps of the Stalinist jewish Russian Bolsheviks; recruiting many naïve intellectuals who opposed the jewish crony capitalist class system they lived in, and employing them as informants. moles and spies.

Before and during WW2 the Rothchilds managed to hide nearly all of their holdings and assets until they became almost invisible. After 2 Rothschild Barons; a 3rd one came on the scene… This one was different… By the time Victor was born, the Rothschild clan had already exploded into an international money machine, run by 5 Rothschild families. (Again: the Rothschilds are a 5th column of the undead: infiltrating the world of the living to insert EBIL into the living earth) Their banking business virtually ran itself; overseen by numerous of their own offspring. Victor's father Nathaniel "Charles" Rothschild committed suicide when he was 13. On the death of the 2nd Baron; Walter Rothschild in 1937, who was childless; Victor became the 3rd Baron de Rothschild. He disdained the banking business. His eclectic mind took in everything; from playing jazz on the piano, to science and the studying of spermatozoa. In Cambridge, he joined the Cambridge Apostles, a secret Marxist society. A bunch of homosexuals and freethinkers: the degenerate result of elite families; they were infected by the new progressives and took the idea to its logical end: communal living. He was attracted to the "scientific Marxist principles" of Lenin because it promised to create a new society based on logic. The fact that Stalin's Marxist govt was the polar opposite of that concept was never even discussed or entered into and the fact that Stalin was busy killing 60 million Russians living in communal villages somehow didn't seem to bother him. Actually, the western jewish owned and controlled press carefully kept this from the public because Stalin and 85% of the original Marxist Bolsheviks were all jews and jews stick together over and above all other loyalties. From the Cambridge secret Marxist society: the KGB recruited what was to later become known as 'The gang of Five'… Five upper class Cambridge dons who were connected to the highest levels of British society and the govt…

What incensed and worried British intelligence after the war was their belated discovery and realization of 2 startling facts:
No 1. The fact that during the war, Stalin had been aware of all their secrets and plans.
No 2. The fact that even after WW2, from 1945 to 1963: the Russians had been aware of everything they had been doing.

This led to a witch hunt that eventually exposed 4 of the spies, but the 5th man was never found…In fact he was never found out: He died undiscovered. That 5th man was Victor Rothschild: the 3rd baron of the Rothschild banking dynasty. Finally, an investigative journalist Roland Perry published an eye-opening book "The 5th Man" that details and exposes the abominable achievements of the greatest traitor to have ever been born in the British Empire.

Because of his lineage and wealth and status, as head of the wealthiest most powerful banking dynasty in history: not only did he escape suspicion, but because of his unique position: he was able to filch secret documents and send information to the KGB center in Moscow that no other Marxist spy ever could have dreamt of. Because of his scientific background and his brilliant analytic mind; he could interview and question scientists and extract crucial information and send it to Moscow. His connections to MI5 and the CIA and

Washington and his personal connections to heads of the intelligence, etc:… not to mention his close personal relationship with Winston Churchill; allowed him access to vital information no other spy could have stolen. (Churchill had been close friends with his grandfather Nathan Rothschild the second.) Victor's crusade to secure the founding of the state of Israel and his connections with the Haganah, later to become the Mossad; turned him into a double turncoat; working for Israel and for Moscow; against the western powers… both during and after the war

Long story short: He, along with other jewish scientists, were personally responsible for giving the KGB, and the Israeli's; the necessary secrets and plutonium needed to build a nuclear bomb. Victor Rothschild insured that the most horrible evil ever devised by living puppets controlled by the dead; nuclear proliferation; was spread as quickly as possible to the two most evil govts in the world: run by JEWS. He was personally responsible for starting the evils of the cold war, and the Middle east quagmire of endless war. As a traitor to his own class and to his own family and to the jewish worship of Mammon; the god of money. He made sure that the two most evil JEWISH govts on earth would be armed with nuclear weapons. He died from the constant guilt and fear of being discovered. He died on March 20 1990, as secretly as he lived. His entire adult life was a double life of deception and secrecy and intrigue. He was a monster who worshipped the gods of secrecy and betrayal. He was the ultimate evil infiltrator of a secret 5th column.

That: evil stinking jews are the originators and spreader and profiteers. and controllers of every filthy cunning evil ever invented by the undead. From pornography, to the gambling industry, to the stock market, to pharmaceutical drugs, to the diamond industry, to usury and greed and avarice and larceny,… to the oil industry, to the chemical industry, to the medical industry, to the scientific industry, to the mass media industry, to the fiction industry, to the entertainment industry; to the invention and proliferation of nuclear bombs: whenever a jew can invent and profit from a degenerate evil; they are there to sell their filth and spread it to the goyim.

Now there is an even more insidious 5th column of evil… the 5G radiation spewed from towers, designed to infiltrate and poison the bodies of every human that uses these fiendish devices from hell. Now there is the sale of vaccines to poison the goyim with, while enriching jews. Now there is the hoax of a global pandemic that is being sold and swallowed by the world in order to turn the entire world into a Marxist police state, secretly controlled by stinking jews. WHO ARE ALL SECRETLY BEING CONTROLLED BY THE UNDEAD.

It shows how even the most talented and intelligent of jews can be corrupted and used as a puppet by the undead to create evil. A Rothschild who disdained money! And still he was corrupted… Betraying his own clan!!

GET THIS THROUGH YOUR FUCKING HEAD;
ALL EVIL IS FOUNDED AND BASED ON SECRECY

Now… today: the American empire and the American people are being taken over and systematically destroyed and ruined by jews… as they did to the French Empire, and the Russian Empire, and the British empire. The ghoul of the undead is now clear: destroy all non jewish empires and take over all power and wealth and put jews in control secretly; so nobody knows they are the rulers of the world. In order to achieve that, the culture of secrecy is spreading exponentially. The Marxist Stalinist culture of censorship and brainwashing is spreading right now exponentially by the spreading of a fake pandemic; with all this evil being controlled by stinking jews at the top of the pyramidal shitpile called civilization. Once that is achieved: the ultimate ghoul of the undead is to poison and destroy all Life on Earth by using jews as their hosts and act out the jewish prophecy of Armageddon, where insane jews believe they will finally become 'masters' of the goyim and they will be welcomed into the halls of their jewish satanic gods as triumphant servants of their overseers who have successfully carried out the wishes of the undead…

The evil of Electrical and Microwave Technology

Electric high voltage power lines and transmitters emit and radiate electro-magnetic fields that are 600 times more powerful than the Earth's magnetic field. They disrupt the sensory organs of birds, insects and mammals. A swan was recorded flying around an electric transmitter because its homing senses were off-track. Instead of using the Earth's magnetic field to guide its flight it was trapped inside the electro-magnetic field of the high voltage transmitter… it flew around the transmitter for weeks until it died. People phoned in…begging the Electric company to shut off the transmitter so the swan could fly away and live but they refused… because if they had shut off their transmitter and the swan flew free of the electro-magnetic field, it would have been an admission of guilt and used as evidence against all companies and corporations in legal courts; proving the harm that can be caused by electrical energy waves in the atmosphere, and how it affects every living creature on this planet.

Ants disappear from areas that have transmitters because their communication systems are on the same wavelengths as the transmitters. Farms lose not only their ants but their bees because the microwave and electro-magnetic radiation produced by modern electrical technology interferes with their homing systems and their biological systems. When the microwave and electrical pollution of the airwaves reaches a critical level of interference the bees are unable to return to their homes and wander around lost until they die. This and many other factors that originate from the undead is killing bees all over the world. All kinds of species are going extinct every day and not one whisper of this global catastrophe is ever voiced or heard.

Microwaves interfere with and damage all organic cells and organic DNA. There are 4,500 biological processes which have been scientifically found to be affected and damaged by microwave radiation that is below the safety level approved by the industry… a level which was approved on purpose after all Western industrialized govts were notified and warned of the harmful effects of microwave technology. This accounts for the new waves of cancer, birth defects, brain function, memory, severe neuropathic damage… damage to reproductive organs and fertility, damage to the eyes, fetal development problems, neural degeneracy, destruction of the immune system, in teenagers and children there is an 11% increase in mental retardation, an 82% increase in blood and immune disorders, an 85% increase in central nervous system disorders, a 35% increase in Epilepsy, there is bone damage and autistic babies who are born brain damaged for life because they were exposed to microwave radiation while still in the womb. Numerous scientific studies on the biological effects and health hazards of microwave radiation have been covered up. There are 8,300 incriminating documents from the military explaining how microwaves cause illness. This is why pregnant women are advised never to come into contact with or come near any microwave radiation. This is why all insurance companies refuse to cover anything that is caused by micro-wave or electrical radiation is why any police stations that use tetra-wave technology for 18 months or more have a significant increase in cancer, car accidents, a marked deterioration of police behavior, and an increase in police aggression because their personnel use the system for longer than 6 minutes at a time.

What does this all mean? It means that microwaves and electrical radiations are only a byproduct, an aspect of the continual evil presence of the negative energy of undead auras all around you. The undead are all around you and inside you. They poison everything. It is time to clean the Earth of these insane poisoned things. What is a sin? A sin is the Sly, cunning evil presence of undead ghouls hiding IN you, making you do things you would never do if they were not there to poison your entire Life and twist all of your Good intentions, motives, goals and understanding into the opposite of all that is naturally GOOD, CLEAN and HEALTHY. This is why all these undead things must be exterminated as brutally and as savagely as possible.

The raven is considered a prophet and a bad omen, a symbol of the supernatural. Ravens have a place in the myths and legends of many ancient people and are linked to the Greek Goddess Hecate and the Norse God Odin as symbols of the underworld. The croaking of a raven is believe to represent the speech of the dead. The earliest documented reference found of ravens in the tower of London was 1895. However the myth of ravens inhabiting the Tower of London goes back to before Charles II.

The legend is that the ravens have been in the tower for centuries, possibly since Roman times. In the days of Charles II, his astronomer, John Flamsteed, complained that their chattering put him off his work, and the king ordered that they be destroyed - before being warned that dire luck would follow, for him and the tower. Instead he ordered that they should be fed and sheltered forever.

At the end of WW2 there were no ravens in the Tower of London. Big Ben had been silent during the entire war so as not to give away the location of the British govt's offices in London. During World War II, only one raven was able to survive the hardships of the bombing during the Blitz, so the Prime Minister, Sir Winston Churchill, ordered more ravens to be brought in, in order to bring the flock up to the correct size. The allegedly ancient history of captive ravens at the Tower is just a legend that was created during the Victorian era. the superstition that the Crown depends on the continued presence of the ravens was a pure invention: but by whom and why? Merely because no written hard evidence can be found does not invalidate the myths or stories about the fate of the ravens of the Tower of London being linked to the most rotten, corrupt evil royal dynasty of the earth. The myth holds that "If the Tower of London ravens are lost or fly away, the Crown will fall and Britain with it." Today ravens are kept in the Tower of London artificially by clipping their wings so they cannot fly away. The group of ravens at the Tower comprises at least seven individuals; six required, with a seventh in reserve. Again… the evil number of the Jew pops up: the secret agent OO7: the extra raven held in reserve just in case the evil of the other 6 is not enough to preserve the entire rotten evil of that evil filthy former empire and its royal scum.

Many ravens have managed to escape from this prison in spite of their wins being clipped. One was killed by a dog… the dogs name was Charles. Shades of the myth about King Charles II!... the raven that died was also named Charles: 2 Charles… the myth of Charles II wanting to kill the ravens finally succeeded: One ghoul killing the living shell of another after the raven bit the dog the dog killed the raven… which is exactly what will happen to the Royal Family of Britain as it bites the hand that feeds it. All its billions and trillions of hidden dollars and castles and estates and pomp and power and shit filth vomit puke wealth.) One raven was dismissed from service: As Cromwell dismissed the Parliament and executed the King…

The point is: it is very easy for undead ghouls to invent from nothing certain myths… AFTER they have tailor-made these myths to FIT into their evil plans and orchestrated abominations: This gives these dead turds a false impression of infallibility and supports the fatalism of superstitious masses of ignorant dupes so they will never question the 'authority' of these stinking slime once they enter the realm of the undead. Do you understand yet? The controlled Jewish secret agent; Winston Churchill invented this myth after WW2: by placing the myth into numerous British newspapers. This myth was then instantly put into official practice by clipping the wings of the ravens so they couldn't fly away: The ravens who most definitely do not like the Tower of London and would have flown away long ago if their wings hadn't been clipped are merely used as living shells of evil hate by the undead.

Whether the myth of the ravens of the Tower of London is actually true or a complete invented hoax, a swindle, a propaganda stunt is irrelevant. The point is: the story and the ravens are embodiments of the existence of EVIL . They prove EVIL exists at the very top of British power and at the roots of British history. For anyone to invent such a cunning pack of lies is in itself evidence of a diabolical Satanic evil presence. For the myth to be actually true is in itself evidence of a diabolical Satanic evil presence. Do you fucking understand?

This is what the undead specialize in: muddying fact and fiction so that nobody can unravel the entire mess, expose the true culprits and kill them DEAD. The answer to this is simple: ALL OF THEM WILL BE KILLED DEAD: Every single one of them: by ME Indrek Pringi.

Ravens are creatures of pure evil. Whatever undead inhabit them SHOULD be killed DEAD. RICH FAMOUS DYNASTIES are also pure evil: ALL OF THEM WILL BE KILLED DEAD. This is only the BEGINNING, the BEGINNING of cleansing the entire EARTH from EVIL: and It WILL be DONE. It MUST be DONE.

The Massed Push of Undead Presence

What is pushed and shoved and forced down the throats of every human baby-child-teenager-adult from birth till the day they die?

The idea that happiness is we should strive for, that there should be no unhappiness, that feeling no pain is bliss, that unawareness is bliss, that ignorance is bliss, that stupidity is bliss, that insensibility is bliss, that insularity is bliss, that non-violence is bliss, that obedience is bliss, that apathy is bliss, that detachment is bliss, that innocence is bliss: that the innocence of an unaware child that has not developed its understanding of the world yet is bliss, that never growing up is bliss, that immaturity is bliss, that conformity is bliss, that there is safety in numbers, that there is safety in anonymity, that you should be like everybody else… that self-gratification is bliss, that selfishness is bliss, that addiction is bliss, that irresponsibility is bliss, that wisdom is not bliss, that maturity makes you unhappy. Every example of 'happiness' shoved down the throats of people on a subconscious, unspoken level are merely slave-mentality control mechanisms the undead use to keep humans from developing their perception and awareness so they will never become powerful enough to kill and destroy these dead things once they pass into the realm of rotting, dying, decomposing ghouls. Every cultural myth, example, icon, of civilization is a corrupt, poisoned illogical cesspool of unreality. Once you eject and reject all of these myth and assumptions: you will not tolerate any of this shit in your life and be free of civilized evil.

WW1

As to how deeply the old dying Emperor hated Franz Ferdinand: could be told by how the emperor coldly forbade the burial of the slain archducal couple in the Habsburg vault in Vienna's Church of the Capuchins.

Wild rumors about the assassination were spreading through Vienna. Some thought the attacks were some kind of inside job, cooked up by German or Austrian intelligence; others fingered the Freemasons, while yet other sons of the deceased Crown Prince Rudolf, who might have wished to avenge their father's 1889 suicide based on the idea that Franz Ferdinand, Rudolf's successor as heir to the throne, had murdered him. Some even suspected Stefan Tisza, the Hungarian minister-president, who may have seen Franz Ferdinand as a threat to Hungary's privileged position in the dual monarchy (the archduke had disliked Tisza intensely, and the feeling was mutual)

In 1909; the Russian pan-Slavist minister to Belgrade, Nikolai Hartwig, had all but single-handedly organized the Balkan League (Serbia, Bulgaria, Greece, and Montenegro), which declared war on the Ottoman Empire in October 1912, launching the First Balkan War.

After the shots were fired at them Sophie, sensing something was amiss, thought only of her husband, asking him, "In God's name, what has happened to you?" Franz Ferdinand, likewise, although knowing he had been hit, could think only of Sophie. "Sopherl, Sopherl," he managed to say even as blood dripped from his mouth, "don't die on me. Live for our children." Asked by Count Harrach whether he was badly injured, the archduke replied, with all the reserve expected of a Habsburg, "It is nothing." As both he and his wife slowly expired, Ferdinand repeated again and again, each time more softly than the last: "It is nothing."

This exposes and shows how the undead instantly took control over this dying enraged bull of a man and turned him from a loving husband into a pale wraith that no longer considered the importance of anything alive: not his dead wife, his dead baby in her womb, his parentless abandoned children, his lost career and lost plans for the future of Austria; all were nothing… transforming him instantly into a non-threat to their evil existence by implanting into his dying brain this one over-arching falsified, artificial, programmed message and perception that nothing is important: that his Life and his death was not important> That being assassinated by this fool of a brainwashed boy was not important. How these dead things poison the dead soul of a dying human IN ORDER TO MAKE SURE THAT THEY ARE NOT A THREAT TO THEIR STINKING EXISTENCE is the reason why they spend all of their time poisoning every living creature and human on this Earth.

You can see this drift into INSANITY and DELUSION and the love of MEANINGLESSNESS in the last writings of Mark Twain. Clemens was one of the most insightful and observant and aware humans ever to have been born, and he railed against the stupidity of the corrupted species of Man, enraged by how evil and stupid they all were without understanding why they are all like this: including YOU the reader of this book. In order to make him harmless: the undead led him into his last supposed 'insight' about what Life actually is and what the Universe is actually composed of. His last piece of fiction about the Middle Ages of Europe comes to the astounding totally out-of-the-blue suggestion that nothing exists: all the world and the Universe itself is an illusion… That HE Mark Twain… Samuel Clemens is the only intelligent THOUGHT that exists in the entire Universe and that nothing else exists except HIM… as an intangible, ethereal 'thought'… and that this 'intelligence'… this isolated, lonely THOUGHT… drifting through the 'nothingness' of the 'Universe' which is actually made up of NOTHING, an absolute vacuum this 'thought' has a need to 'entertain itself' and so 'invents' worlds and planets and people and pretends that it is not all alone, so this THOUGHT, pretending that there is something called galaxies and planets and suns and living creatures on Earth can temporarily forget that there is NOTHING ELSE IN THE ENTIRE UNIVERSE EXCEPT ITSELF!

This was the megalomania that Clemens was lulled into just before he died so he would be HARMLESS to the insane rotting ghouls that manipulated him into this fantasy… And this was the exact same ploy, the same tactic used to render the dying Ferdinand harmless to them.

HOW did the undead manage to do this? By using Ferdinand's EGO: his contempt for all Mankind: the same contempt, scorn and disgust that Clemens had for all of Humanity. Seeing himself as the only person in the world who is wise enough to know what is RIGHT and KNOW what is true: Then the existence of billions of insane imbeciles who are NOT wise and NOT good and are EVIL and CORRUPT becomes PLAUSABLE… UNDERSTANDABLE, EXPLAINABLE… so Clemens and Franz Ferdinand need not look any farther for any other explanation of reality and the realm of death which they suddenly find themselves in.

And strange coincidence. The story Clemens has of 'The Mysterious Stranger'… is set in Austria… in the most bucolic, healthy simple time when there was very little evil, before European civilization and the dead could filthy and destroy that early budding of a simple pastoral Life.

HOW did the undead brainwash this bull of a dying man with the will of a powerful bull almost instantly into passive acceptance of his death and sudden complete indifference to his dead wife and baby beside him?
BY MILLIONS OF INSANE GHOULS AROUND HIM… IN THE REALM OF THE DEAD… having the EXACT SAME FANTASY AUSTRIAN DREAM, and DROWNING OUT HIS INDIVIDUAL SOUL by OVERLAPPING THEMSELVES OVER HIS DYING AURA, until it automatically CONFORMS to this 'perception-dream-fantasy'.

This is ONE… only ONE tactic the undead use to turn millions of dying souls into harmless deluded ghosts. Program them with the SAME FANTASY by outnumbering each dying soul by a million-to-one, and have these millions of dead spirits co-exist in the same 3-dimensional space that one dying soul exists in: so its entire perception changes instantly: into the mass-shared fantasy.

What is this standard delusion that the dead used to lull the dead ghouls of Samuel Clemens and the archduke Ferdinand and countless others? The oldest scam in the realm of the undead: Once you pass over you are told that you are a GOD>>> You are omnipotent and all-wise: You were sent to the mortal realm of the physical: for ---- reasons and now you're back in your former allotted place as supreme ruler and wise lord of all the angels and wraiths and goblins and devils in a Realm far greater and more important than the world of the Living: What importance is the physical realm you just lost and left? Less then nothing: down there you were an ordinary mortal: up here you're GOD incarnate You are immortal: you can't die: you can't be killed.>>> You're the wisest most supreme power in the Universe. How flattering: "Gosh…. Gee…. I didn't know all th- aw Thanks!" >>> Being patted on the back and fed lies: While they carefully take you apart and reduce your undead spirit into pieces, or kill you outright when you're not looking. It was the same scam they used on Jesus after he died to kill him dead and it has been used a millions times since then whenever any wraith of a once living human of superior intelligence arrives that poses them any true threat to their existence and has an ego, and it has been swallowed and believed in by every victim they used it on.

What the dead fear and cannot control or twist is the center of my observer awareness and its integration with the rest of my entire being-Life Energy.
A trillion dead ghouls can try to 'drown' me out when I pass into the realm of dead dying rotting turds: and they will not be able to stop me from killing each one of them DEAD: PERSONALLY.

Now back to Ferdinand and his doomed trip… Of the Black Hand: New members would be led into "a darkened room, lit only by wax candles," where they would swear an oath "by the blood of my ancestors . . . that I will from this moment till my death . . . be ready to make any sacrifice for Serbia."

The trip had begun with a series of ill omens. The luxurious rail car Ferdinand usually traveled in, built to order for him by the Ringhoffer firm in Prague, had sprung an axle loose en route from the Czech-Austrian resort town Chlumetz bei Wittengau (where Ferdinand and Sophie had left their children, until their expected return on Tuesday). The archduke had then been deposited in an ordinary first-class wagon as far as Vienna, where he was to be transferred to a backup royal rail car for the long journey to Trieste—only for its electric lights to fail while he was still in the station. As there was not enough time to repair the wiring without disturbing the trip's itinerary, the archduke and his staff continued all the way to the Adriatic coast in a wagon lit by candlelight. It was, Ferdinand remarked, like traveling "in a tomb."[4]

The worst omen of all, however, was the choice of date for the final royal progress in Sarajevo. For Ferdinand and Sophie, 28 June brought a painful reminder of the exclusion of their children from the Habsburg succession. For Serbs, this date brought the even more painful reminder of their terrible defeat at Kosovo Polje in 1389, when the Turks had wiped out independent Serbia. For Serbs, however, 28 June was not only a day of mourning. Because a Serbian knight, Miloš Obilić, had slain Ottoman sultan Murad I on the battlefield, the anniversary had been turned into a celebration of national resistance, a feast day in honor of the Slavic deity of war and fertility: St. Vitus's Day, or Vidov Dan. Even as Archduke Ferdinand, heir to the throne, would be (reluctantly) consecrating Habsburg rule over Serbs with an official visit to Sarajevo, Serbs at Kosovo would be feasting to honor the patriot who had slain their Turkish conqueror on this day 525 years before. Considering the recent history of Serbian regicidal terrorism—in 1903 a clique of hypernationalist military officers led by the future head of Serbian army intelligence, Dragutin Dimitrijevitch ("Apis"), had murdered Serbia's own king and queen* to protest their insufficient devotion to the Serbian cause—staging a royal progress in Sarajevo on Vidov Dan was provocative, if not downright foolhardy.

Ferdinand's visit was eminently political, which is why he was so keen to get it over with. Ferdinand had fervently opposed the annexation of Bosnia-Herzegovina by the dual monarchy in 1908 as a needless provocation of the South Slavs, especially the Orthodox Serbs, who comprised more than 40 percent of the 1.9 million residents of Bosnia-Herzegovina in 1914 (as against Muslims at 30 percent, Roman Catholic Croats at 20 percent, and a smattering of Jews, Protestants, and gypsies). It was not that the archduke cared for Serbs, whom he regarded as a "pack of thieves and murderers and scoundrels."[3] He did, however, care to maintain Austria's precarious relations with Serbophile Russia, and he therefore viewed the whole Bosnian business with distaste.

The annexation, as Ferdinand knew, had wounded Russian pride deeply, not least because Austria's then foreign minister, Baron Alois Lexa von Aehrenthal, had famously tricked his Russian counterpart, Alexander Izvolsky, into supporting it in a cynical quid pro quo, in exchange for Austrian endorsement of Russian naval access to the Ottoman Straits, before reneging on his phony promise. Izvolsky had then reneged in turn, only for his hand to be forced by an implied German threat to go to war with Russia in March 1909. Aehrenthal's humiliation of Izvolsky in this First Bosnian Crisis was severe enough that the latter was forced to resign (only to remerge in Paris as Russian ambassador to France, from which post he plotted his revenge). Austria's annexation of Bosnia-Herzegovina in the teeth of Serbian hatred and Russian resentment was a ticking diplomatic time bomb that could go off at any time. The archduke could only hope that it would not detonate during his visit.

In 1910, Franz Josef I had made a royal progress in Bosnia-Herzegovina to win over the loyalty of his reluctant new subjects. This was a continuation of his intelligent policy of pacifying these mongrelized people who for the first time in centuries were experiencing the heady perfume of being winners instead of losers.

That final day of the visit, 28 June, was an anniversary of painful significance for the archducal couple. On this date in 1900, the heir to the Austrian throne had been forced by his uncle, Emperor Franz Josef I, to sign an Oath of Renunciation, stipulating that any children issuing from his morganatic marriage to Sophie be excluded from the imperial succession. Nor was Sophie allowed to forget it. Although she was created Duchess of Hohenberg, Ferdinand's wife was subjected to endless humiliations at imperial banquets, where she was forced to enter each room last, after much younger, unmarried archduchesses, "alone and without escort," being then seated at the foot of the table, nowhere near her husband. Even at the Saturday dinner banquet in Ilidža, far from the court in Vienna, Sophie had been forced to sit between two archbishops and to endure her husband's painfully "wifeless toast" (Franz Ferdinand was not allowed to mention her in public on official occasions).

The Kaiser, something of a social misfit himself despite his august lineage, had always had a soft spot in his heart for this earnest, loving couple cast out by the Habsburgs. To get around the problem of court rank during official banquets at Potsdam, the Kaiser had come up with the clever solution of seating everyone at smaller tables of four, so that he and his wife, Auguste, could sit alone with Ferdinand and Sophie, without any archduchesses complaining that they should have been placed ahead of her. The Kaiser had always made a point of calling on Sophie when visiting Vienna and of addressing her by her proper rank. The Duchess of Hohenberg could have asked for no greater respect from a sovereign, nor her husband for a better friend and supporter.

The dead seek and labour to invent FALSE OMENS. The dead seek to create such an evil negative presence of doom that when one of their one plans and plots finally actually works it seems to be predestined: it is not predestined. What is not understood is that millions of their other plots FAIL.

Proof that humans are controlled by these dead shit turd poison things can be seen in the reactions to Ferdinand's assassination. Suddenly! All over Europe and the Mideast and Russia: Ambassadors and diplomats, kings and emperor's began changing their minds and changing their words at the last second, wiping out incriminating records and documents… with only one common motive: To put their best foot forward as far as 'posterity' was concerned about just exactly who was responsible for causing this disaster to happen to Europe and the whole Earth. All of the participants began acting as if they already knew that WW1 would begin and it would be the most horrible catastrophe ever inflicted by the dead upon the living. This kind of prescience: which was evidenced by nearly all of the cast of characters involved before anything actually happened is proof the dead knew what they were doing and trying as always to muddy the waters of their stinking filthy evil as much as possible and try to whitewash themselves of all guilt in the process. The constant second-guessing, changing of minds, mistakes, missed cues, misunderstandings, conveniently crucial blunders… all the dominos falling to give the most unlikely, least logical, least possible, most negative evil… proves the existence of these invisible wraiths that need to be AND WILL BE killed exterminated, destroyed, torn to pieces, KILLED KILLED KILLED DEAD DEAD DEAD.

The more the true DETAILS of the complicated series of cause and effect dominos is unearthed and exposed: the more evident is the SUBTLETY of how these dead things can and do influence, manipulate and control the outcome of world events.

The incredible German ambassador's divulging the German secret plan to invade France through Belgium!

The CONSISTANT STUPIDITY, BLINDNESS, FOOLHARDINESS and BLUNDERS OF THE GERMANS!

The sly cunning secrecy of the secret Russian-French alliance conspiracy against Germany

The British Prime Minister Grey, The German Prime Minister Bethmann Hollweg, The Austrian foreign minister Berchtold, The French Ambassador to Russia and his blood feud against Germany, the secret flood private letters and wires and telegrams criss-crossing each other, the mis-timing, the missed cues, the personalities, their faults and weaknesses easily exploited so adroitly none of them were aware they were being controlled as puppets on a string, the assassination of the French peace advocate, the grinding down of the Hungarian prime Minister's power of vetoing the declaration of war.

The rational sane reasons nobody actually wanted a full blown world war. The designs each major player had on the other powers, the secret agenda's secret alliances.

What is absolutely necessary to understand the history of the lead-up to WW1 is the fact that all of these letters, wires, alliances, ententes, agreements, conspiracies, plots, plans, etc, etc. were ALL TOP SECRET! The masses had absolutely no knowledge of them. The public had absolutely NO knowledge of what was going on behind the closed doors of this fucking elitist palace-politics of upper class asses in their crucial positions of power and influence. Only in hindsight and only by research and retrospect and time has the truth of how and why the causes of WW2 been slowly, painstakingly unearthed and exposed…

The 4 days the French Prime Minister spent behind closed doors with the Russian Tsar! And the fact that the French PM was IN Moscow visiting the Tsar when the assassination happened! This in itself hides the HUGE conspiracy against Germany. The huge gaps in official records and documents exactly at this crucial moment. Everyone in Europe was expecting a 3rd Balkan war. Nobody was expecting a world war and nobody wanted it.

The causes behind WW1, the reasons behind WW1 is carried out in a double-dance of secret diplomacy and communiqués… and official govt policies, closed door decisions, meetings: many of them conflicting, contradictory, irrational and inexplicable. Because of the constant interference into the lives of the living by the undead.

Mcmeekin like all dolts called ‘historians’ never tells the whole story: He, like all others, compartmentalizes history and because of this is blind to the larger truths. He does not include Britain and he doesn’t cover the larger context of historical background leading up ton this plan carried out by undead shit turds. He doesn’t cover the cultural, economic, religious, industrial social aspects of it. He concentrates on the small clique of palace politics, the insiders: the movers and power junkies and control freaks of Europe and the Russian Tsarist govt. He doesn’t cover the German-Turkish connections at all, or the discovery of oil in the Mideast, or the plots of international Jewry or Rothschild.

The railroad station in Constantinople called Haydarpasha was designed to be a flagship station of the beloved Berlin to Baghdad railway of Kaiser Wilhelm II. Here the German Emperor’s Weltpolitik first took concrete form, seeking to unite East and West, Asia and Europe, and put imperial Germany firmly on the path to world power. Let the Americans have the plains, the Russians Siberia, the French and Belgians and British various malaria-ridden lands in Africa. Germany would build her own economic empire in the very cradle of Western civilization.

In a London apartment vacated by a German family After the outbreak of war in 1914, the new English tenant came across a German geographical globe with a system of projected and completed railways clearly marked from Berlin to Madras via Constantinople, southern Persia, Baluchistan, and Bombay across the world stage as a true modern Alexander, taking in Anatolia, Mesopotamia and Persia and toppling the British Raj. German steel rails would conquer this vast expanse, fording deserts, mountains and swamps to introduce European technology to Asia, while bringing the silks, spices, minerals and raw materials of the Orient to the markets of the West. Whereas Hitler was willing to concede the British their global, sea-based empire in exchange for recognition of his own domination of the Eurasian landmass, Wilhelm wanted the British Empire too, including its crown jewels of Egypt and India.

Although there were fits and starts along the way, the romance between Kaiser and Sultan was in full flower by the first decade of the twentieth century. Spurred on by a sense of shared threat of Entente encirclement, a team of German engineers and Turkish workmen broke ground at Haydarpasha in May 1906. The signing of the long-feared Anglo-Russian Convention in August 1907 only heightened the sense of urgency, and the great neo-classical masterpiece on the Asian shore was completed ahead of schedule in summer 1908, shortly after the signing of the third and final Baghdad railway convention between Kaiser and Sultan.

The Entente between the Sultan of the Turkish Empire and the Kaiser of Germany was the main reason why Russia saw the new Germany as a threat to its existence. Russia had been greedily eyeing the Dardanelles and Constantinople for centuries. It had been blocked by the British and the French in the Crimean war from conquering the rotting Turkish empire. But since then things had changed and both France and Britain didn't give a farthing about the Turkish Empire: So Russia began again plotting and planning its southward expansion to increase its overbloated territorial Empire which it really had no control over.

Then the Kaiser kicked Bismarck out of office and out of power and it was a new ball game. Then the first diplomatic thing the new Kaiser did was to cement a relationship between himself and the Sultan of the Turkish Empire Abdul Hamid. Now here was the Kaiser making an unprecedented state visit to the Sultan, confirming the Russians' worst fears about German intentions in the Near East… even that would not have been enough to trigger a world war… but then oil was discovered in the Mideast and suddenly everything changed for the worse. Suddenly every evil empire wanted this black filthy thing… to grease and fuel its filthy new insane machines of death and destruction.

The Kaiser befriended not only the soon-to-be-notorious 'Bloody Sultan' on this inaugural visit to the Ottoman capital, but also Theodor Herzl, the Viennese journalist usually considered the father of Zionism. Converted by Herzl, with astonishing swiftness, to the Zionist cause, the Kaiser promptly lobbied Sultan Abdul Hamid on Herzl's behalf. It does not seem to have occurred to young Wilhelm that the Sultan's Muslim subjects may not have viewed the prospect of further Jewish settlement in Palestine favourably, or that the Sultan-Caliph of Sunni Islam might have resented this officious intervention in Ottoman religious affairs. Nor does the Kaiser seem to have given much thought to how exactly this meddling served the German national interest.

The Kaiser was keen on breaking the Iron Chancellor's hold on foreign policy. Within weeks of Bismarck's fall, the Reinsurance Treaty with Russia was allowed to lapse, despite open Russian overtures in Berlin in favor of renewal. A natural alliance between the two reactionary powers had been replaced, perhaps quite needlessly, by an antagonism which would dominate two world wars. Not only did the lapse open the door for France's courting of a defensive alliance with Russia (concluded in 1894), it also put the Tsar's diplomats on notice that the Germans would no longer acquiesce in Russian designs on the Straits. Had the Kaiser made an effort to renew Bismarck's Reinsurance Treaty, it is possible the Russian government would have ignored the Kaiser's flirtations with the Ottoman Sultan, and refrained from rushing headlong into French arms for fear of an out-of-control Germany. Instead, Wilhelm's state visit to Constantinople, followed by the expiration of the Reinsurance Treaty, confirmed the Russians' worst fears about German intentions at the Porte, with momentous consequences for the European strategic balance…. Nine years passed before Wilhelm bothered to visit his friend Abdul Hamid again!!

In Constantinople, Wilhelm presented to the Ottoman people 'a huge and ornate fountain', which still stands in the Hippodrome (known today as the Alman Çeşmesi, or German Fountain). To the Sultan, he wished to have sent a Prussian rifle of the latest design, on which the Ottoman coat of arms was specially mounted. To the Kaiser's chagrin, however, Abdul Hamid declined, at first, to receive his gift, apparently because a rumor had reached his ears that Armenian terrorists were conspiring to kill him with a bomb smuggled into his palace. At last Wilhelm himself brought the Sultan his gift weapon in person, in a trunk carefully protected by a 'wrought iron fire screen', which Abdul Hamid inspected 'with an unmistakable air of elevated mistrust'. To appease his suspicions, the Kaiser bowed before the Sultan with great ceremony and slowly opened the 'ominous casket' with his own hands. Finally reassured that no bombs were inside, Abdul Hamid fondly examined the Kaiser's gun.

Was Wilhelm really just making the rounds and seeing the sights. Was the Kaiser seeking to shore up the Sultan's rule and frustrate Russian, British and French designs on his domains? Or was Wilhelm himself staking a claim to the Ottoman inheritance?

The Kaiser's exuberant behaviour did little to quell these speculations. In Constantinople, Wilhelm presented to the Ottoman people 'a huge and ornate fountain', which still stands in the Hippodrome (known today as the Alman Çeşmesi, or German Fountain). To the Sultan, he wished to have sent a Prussian rifle of the latest design, on which the Ottoman coat of arms was specially mounted. To the Kaiser's chagrin, however, Abdul Hamid declined, at first, to receive his gift, apparently because a rumour had reached his ears that Armenian terrorists were conspiring to kill him with a bomb smuggled into his palace. At last Wilhelm himself brought the Sultan his gift weapon in person, in a trunk carefully protected by a 'wrought iron fire screen', which Abdul Hamid inspected 'with an unmistakable air of elevated mistrust'. To appease his suspicions, the Kaiser bowed before the Sultan with great ceremony and slowly opened the 'ominous casket' with his own hands. Finally reassured that no bombs were inside, Abdul Hamid fondly examined the Kaiser's gun. For the rest of the evening, amity and good cheer prevailed.[10]

The opening of this ominous casket was an omen signalling the oncoming evil of war and death that would engulf both the Germanic and Muslim cultures.

The curious incident in Constantinople was hardly an encouraging omen for the Kaiser's trip. If the paranoid Abdul Hamid did not trust Wilhelm in his own home, he could hardly have been reassured when the Kaiser rode triumphantly into Jerusalem on 29 October 1898 through a specially cut breach in the city walls, in a Prussian field marshal's uniform and 'mounted on a black charger', as if he were conquering the Sultan's city, rather than visiting it as his guest.[11] The ostensible purpose of the visit to Jerusalem was to help dedicate the new Church of the Redeemer, constructed by German Protestants. But Wilhelm also made a point of pleasing German Catholics, by taking into his protection the Dormitio beatae virginis, or presumed site of the Assumption of the Virgin Mary. So overwhelmed was Wilhelm when he visited the site that he immediately 'placed himself, his army, and his Empire in the service of the Mother of Christ'.[12] The Kaiser then telegraphed Pope Leo XIII, to make official his protection of Catholics in the Holy Land. Not that Wilhelm was playing favourites: to please northern German Protestants he next offered his sovereign protection to a German evangelical Weihnachtskirche in Bethlehem. Piling intrigue upon intrigue, Wilhelm received Theodor Herzl again on 2 November in Jerusalem. Herzl wanted the Kaiser to charter a company to promote German Jewish colonization of Ottoman Palestine, and of course to win the Sultan's backing for the project. The first international Zionist Congress, slated to convene later that month in Basel, would benefit enormously from an endorsement from Kaiser Wilhelm, because of his presumed influence on the Sultan. As always, the Kaiser was swayed quite easily by Herzl's arguments, assuring him solemnly that 'Your movement . . . is based on a sound, healthy idea. There is room here for everyone. My personal observations convince me that the land is arable. Only provide water and trees.' What!? Restore the Promised Land of destroyed Judea back to a land of milk and honey? This must not be allowed to happen! The Kaiser and the German people were coming up with too many good ideas and actually putting them into practice. The burgeoning friendship between the Turkish Empire and the German Empire must be nipped in the bud!

In the end, Wilhelm was warned by the Ottoman Foreign Minister Ahmed Tevfik (who was accompanying the tour) that Abdul Hamid was not friendly to Zionism, and quietly dropped the idea.[13] But the Kaiser's public embrace of Zionism, in the holiest city of Christianity, then under Muslim rule, was dizzying enough whether sincere or not. How could he ever top this?

As it turned out, quite easily. Following a brief stopover in Beirut, the Kaiser made another ceremonial entrance, this time into Damascus. Wilhelm was intoxicated by the first truly Arab town he had ever visited, 'with its characteristic concealed courtyards and their splashing fountains, its fascinating bazaars, and the whole charm of the Saracenic architecture and the Arabs' mode of life'. Wherever Wilhelm went, recalled his State Secretary Bernhard von Bülow, 'the populace welcomed him with a peculiar cry of greeting, a long drawn-out, repeated guttural bellow of "Lululu, Lululu, Lululu", and the monotonous noise intoxicated him as though it had been hashish'.[14] It was the sound of Love that children make when beholding a powerful positive male role model.

Entranced, Wilhelm laid a wreath on the tomb of the great Muslim warrior Saladin and 'hung a lamp of solid silver before ordering that a mausoleum of the finest marble be built around it at his expense'. Moved by the Kaiser's honouring of a great hero of Islam, the city's leading cleric, Sheikh Abdullah Effendi, organized a banquet in Wilhelm's honour on 8 November 1898. Here, in one of the most notorious in a career marked by many notorious speeches, the Kaiser paid gushing tribute to the medieval hero of Islam as 'one of the most chivalrous rulers of all times, the great Sultan Saladin . . . a knight without fear or fault'. Making the obvious leap from Saladin to the current Sultan, Wilhelm next saluted the great Abdul Hamid. 'May the Sultan,' Wilhelm declaimed with dramatic flourish, 'and his 300 million Muslim subjects scattered across the earth, who venerate him as their Caliph, be assured that the German Kaiser will be their friend for all time.'[15]

Had Kaiser Wilhelm gone around the bend? It was one thing to offer protection to Christians in the Holy Land - although even this sort of manoeuvre could have serious consequences, as Napoleon III had discovered when his courting of Levantine Christians in 1852 had lit the spark which led to the Crimean War.* But here was a powerful Christian sovereign declaring a proprietary interest in nearly all the subjects of the Ottoman Middle East - no less than three Christian denominations, the Jews of Palestine and all of the Muslims to boot. This was not all. By offering his protection, via the Sultan, to '300 million Muslims' around the world, Wilhelm was meddling in the affairs of other powers with Muslim subjects - not least French North Africa, Russian Central Asia and the British Empire, which alone contained some 100 million Muslims spread out over British India, Egypt and the Gulf States. Then, too, there was Persia and southern Mesopotamia, where Shia Muslims had never accepted the Ottoman Sultan as their Caliph. No wonder the Kaiser's State Secretary for Foreign Affairs, Bernhard von Bülow, tried desperately to edit the text of Wilhelm's speech before it was released to the press, for fear of 'arousing suspicion in . . . Paris, London and St Petersburg'. But it was too late: the German Ambassador in Constantinople, Baron

Marschall, had already given the text to the Wolff news agency, ‘on a direct order from His Majesty’.[16]

Tossing discretion aside, Kaiser Wilhelm now revealed to the Tsar the underlying motivation for his Muslim charm offensive: he had fallen in love with Islam. Wilhelm decried the ostentation of the Christian churches of the Holy Land, which contrasted unfavourably with the simple adornments of the mosques. ‘Fetish adoration,’ the Kaiser wrote to Nicholas II from Jerusalem, ‘has created a supreme contempt for the Christians with the Moslems’, and Wilhelm was inclined to agree with them. All but proclaiming his conversion, the Kaiser now confessed to the Tsar that ‘My personal feeling in leaving the holy city was that I felt profoundly ashamed before the Moslems and that if I had come there without any Religion at all I certainly would have turned Mahommetan!’[18]

Thus was born Hajji Wilhelm, the mythical Muslim Emperor of Germany, who would cut such a grandiose, yet confusing figure on the world stage in the decades to come. Following the visit to Damascus, rumors of the Kaiser’s conversion to Islam spread widely throughout the bazaars of the Middle East, helped along by the discovery of ‘passages in the Koran’ which ‘showed that the Kaiser had been ordained by God to free Muslims from infidel rule’.[19] It helped that Germany, unlike Britain and France, was still relatively little known in Ottoman lands: her image was a tabula rasa onto which German propagandists could write whatever they wished. The Kaiser had now given them the script. Germany, led by Hajji Wilhelm, would be the Western protector of Islam, saving this noble faith from the depredations of European imperialism. Since contradictions have never bothered visionaries: Wilhem’s contradictions never bothered him: they bothered everybody else but him because he was seeing far ahead into a peaceful world where co-existence between East and West would diffuse all the Imperial depredations of the European powers and bring about a global friendship and prosperity between all nations and all peoples.

Mcmeek does not even mention the actual reason for the Baghdad to Berlin railroad: OIL. If he had, his book would have been banned and blacklisted and his entire career as a fucking politically correct historian would have gone up in smoke and he would have been forced to find other means of gainful employment.

The actual reason WW1 was organized was the huge threat to every other Empire in the world. If Germany and the Ottomans had established an economic AND military alliance: then Germany would have ruled the entire fucking WORLD, and every other fucking design and plot and secret conspiracy all the other "empires" had on the Turkish empire and the entire "balance" of power would have been exploded into smithereens NON-VIOLENTLY WITHOUT ANY WAR.

When war came to Europe in 1914, the international Zionist Executive was based in Berlin at 8 Sachsische Strasse, and two of its six members were Germans. While Kaiser Wilhelm had cooled considerably in his support for Zionism since his ill-fated dalliance in 1898, most German Zionists remained strong supporters of the Hohenzollern throne, especially after Germany joined battle with Tsarist Russia, universally regarded as the greatest enemy of world Jewry. German Zionists now pledged, in the mission statement of the Committee for the Liberation of Russian Jewry, 'to support those powers lined up against Russia on the field of battle in both word and deed'.[12]

There were many Zionist Jewish groups before WW1. The upwardly mobile Polish Jews and Russian Jews and émigrés. There were many revolutionary groups that were Jewish. There were many criminals and thugs and Jewish scum looking for anything they could do to spew their genocidal hate. They wanted the entire world of goyim to rise up and start slaughtering each other. They wanted CLASS wars, ETHNIC wars, RELIGIOUS wars and they pushed and sold their creeds and filth and hate and conflict and dogmas and inveigled themselves into every power group they could find, looking for any advantage they could swindle, steal, cheat lie or kill for or murder or hate for.

The whole world was caught up in the new promise of self autonomy: freedom, democracy, peaceful governance, honest governments led by the shining example of British Empire and German Empire; not yet completely Jewified. Protestant Christianity and Catholic Christianity co-existing, new industrialized overpopulation of hundreds of millions of humanity existing in a new machine world: half-immersed in the death machine about to overtake it: addicted and sugar-coated EVIL sold to humans by the sick diseased prophets of profit. The old ancient cultures of evil mixing with the new cultures of evil; Prophets and Profits, with the seven sisters of Evil; the 7 Jewish hags stirring the cauldron of death for all, including all living Jews.

Mass movements of a new Humanity, mass uprisings, mass protests, masses of people fighting for a piece of the industrial pie and power and self-rule. The sugar coated lure of human rights, privileges for the poor, a nanny state taking care of its citizens: state sponsored everything, nation sponsored imperialism,… with the most evil, sick diseased controlled human shells manipulated by the undead always in control at the very top of this EVIL shitpile called industrialized civilization.

Oppenheimer had a quick learning curve. A former Jew: he learned that the new evil on this earth was his own ethnic race and proposed the complete extermination of all Jews. Nobody listened to him. His life in the Mideast and in Europe; his exposure to all the ethnic races of that region and in Europe taught him the real horror of these inhuman things called Jews. Why did he want to kill all Jews when he had been born one himself? Because he had been GERMANIZED. He had discovered that there is GOOD in the human soul: not hate and ethnic cleansing. Germans had taught him that.

The germ of Human Goodness came out of Germany and spread like wildfire all over the world. The germ of human decency came out of Britain and it was wiped out by the international Jews of the world and Britain and especially Baron Rothschild.

The stinking cunning Jews set brother against brother, Muslim against Christian, poor against rich, the bourgeois against the upper and lower classes. The undead twisted human souls so Anglo-Saxon Protestants killed and destroyed each other into extinction and destroyed the Goodness they had developed over centuries of the struggle against insane evil forces and all the kindness of Christian Humanity was destroyed in two World Wars and in the aftermath of these horrors. More machines of mass death and mass distraction weapons of mass distraction and mass destruction, more billions of insane programmed naked civilized apes.

Tsarist Russia understood the evil of these people: nobody listened to them either. Jews twisted their own history and sold their lies as fast as they could to brainwash the entire world into allowing them infiltrate into human societies and nations that had no idea what these possessed monkeys actually are: agents of the undead: the most evil undead filth of them all. The more you study the covered up forgotten past and discover the true facts: the more the repeated patterns and motives of evil destroying all GOOD become obvious.

UPDATE

As of October 2014: the accelerated agenda by the dead to destroy all Life on Earth has now reached its last phase. The tactic the undead are using to destroy all Life on Earth is to distract humans AWAY from all the biological extinction of all species and eco-Systems going on all over the Earth: by inventing dozens and dozens of lesser crises; in order to distract people away from the actual ongoing destruction of all Life on Earth. The actual crises that is now in full swing, which will eventually kill all Life on Earth, is the ONGOING nuclear power plant disaster of FUKUSHIMA'S SIX NUCLEAR REACTORS and their fuel rods sinking into the earth: and poisoning the entire pacific Ocean with radioactive isotopes:

NOW the final end-game of the undead has been revealed. NOW I: Indrek Pringi; have exposed the final end ghoul of the undead: the end tactic which the dead believe will be evil and poisonous enough to kill all living organisms on Earth. While you 7,000,000,000 human fools babble and argue and worry about your little selfish personal concerns and selfish self-interests: the water of the entire EARTH is becoming RADIOACTIVE POISON: due to the hundreds of thousands of tons of radioactive water flowing into the Pacific Ocean every day for the last 3 years, and the radioactive isotopes released into the atmosphere, and the ONGOING poisoning of all air, earth and water by the FUKUSHIMA DAIICHI 6 nuclear power plants collapsing and finally inevitably exploding in a NUCLEAR EXPLOSION which will be hundreds of times more lethal than Hiroshima if not thousands of times more deadly. If The ongoing FUKUSHIMA DAIICHI nuclear meltdown and explosions does not destroy all Life on Earth: The dead will just re-conspire to orchestrate other nuclear power plants to malfunction or be destroyed by 'natural disasters' until the entire Earth is so radioactive that no living DNA will be able to reproduce. The dead use 'natural disasters' like typhoons or Tsunami's or earthquakes to hide their involvement in the INTENTIONAL global killing of all LIFE so the guilt and responsibility of what these evil demons did and do will never be found out and laid at their door.

The final phase of their agenda and their tactic is now clear: wipe out ALL INTEREST and ALL FOCUS on ANY AND ALL RADIOACTIVE DANGER caused by Fukushima or any other nuclear reactors. Continue to SUPPRESS ALL NEWS ABOUT the ongoing man-made ecological self-destructive catastrophic effects of the destruction of entire eco-systems like the Athabasca Tar Sands projects. Destroy all interest in NATURE and the outdoors: Have the insane living species of poisoned apes called humans be distracted and fooled by false alarms and false prophecies and false crises while the real killing continues to go on and accelerates… until the entire human species becomes a radioactive death machine killing the Earth AND ITSELF at the same time.

But these ghouls still have a huge problem: and that is the pyramidal accumulation of radioactive isotopes in the food chain. Meaning that the species at the top of the food chain will be the first to accumulate enough radioactive poison to make them go completely extinct not those at the bottom: If this happens, the human species will disappear and die out WITHOUT managing to kill off all Life on Earth because many Living organisms and species will be left that will adapt and develop a natural resistance to the radioactivity. This is why there are so many nuclear reactors all over the world now. The dead want to make sure that after the human species is completely EXTINCT: there will be enough active nuclear power plants and reactors which will self-destruct the instant there is no more human maintenance of their systems: they will explode and do two things: sink into the earth: poisoning all the water supply of the entire EARTH with radioactivity which will kill off all LIFE that uses Water to LIVE or lives in water…. And cause huge nuclear explosions all over the world, which will cause all living creatures that live on the Earth, in the Water or in the Air to go extinct also.

The final end game of the dead is now clear: USE living humans to kill off all Life on Earth in such a diabolical, cunningly planned evil fashion: so that even after you fools completely destroy yourselves in another insane 3rd World War: once all of you die and go completely extinct; what you the Living leave behind will destroy all other forms of Life on Earth.

The dead are now trying to do three things simultaneously: Use living human shells to destroy all Life on Earth. Make all living humans unaware that they are being used to kill off all Life including themselves; and destroy civilization. But they can't destroy civilization until they're sure civilization has poisoned all Life on Earth and they can't kill off all living humans until they have been used to kill off all Life on Earth. But civilization and living humans depend on LIFE to exist. The problem of the snake of evil eating its own tail they think they have solved with nuclear death; which should kill off all remaining life after the human species is extinct and civilization is totally destroyed in a final nuclear World War. All of the seemingly senseless self-destructive agendas and policies of the international Jewish bankers and the govts of the world and the nuclear industry etc, etc; are not senseless at all from the perspective of the undead because civilization's top corrupt ruling elite are doing exactly what the dead want them to do. Ruin and destroy everything: including themselves. This why all the news and developments of the last two centuries don't make any sense to we the living who CARE about LIFE and BEAUTY and HEALTH and LOVE: but it makes perfect sense to the dead because they are the ones responsible for all this insanity. This is why ALL of them will be killed DEAD. This is why all evil humans possessed by the dead must be killed DEAD

Now you who have read this book have no excuses left: Either you fight or evil will kill you. Evil is killing you now. The dead are trying to kill you so slowly and cunningly that you will not notice you are being killed. They are poisoning you so slowly that you are not aware you are being poisoned to death.

The ONLY way to live and fight evil is by realizing and understanding that the LIFE of the entire EARTH is far more important than your little personal existence. The only way to fight evil is to realize that your little stupid selfish instinct for personal self-survival will not save you when all the EARTH becomes radioactively DEAD. The selfish 'instinct' for self-survival is not intelligent. The mutual instinct for mutual survival is intelligent. The instinct of selfishness is merely an aspect and symptom of the undead who hide inside you and are all around you. Only if you rid yourself of your own secrecy and selfishness will you be free of their power over you and their evil.

The human species have been led into living sinful lives for millions of years: hundreds of thousands of years, tens of thousands of years. For a species that when living naked in its natural environment which it was designed to live in: DID NOT NEED TO EAT OR KILL in order to Live: The first sin of eating a ripe fruit was a huge divergence from its natural way of living. The Baobab Tree shows how trees successfully managed to introduce a high protein diet into their way of life: and turn them into sedentary animals when they lost their ability to defend themselves against the predators of Africa. The fruit of the baobab tree has a higher protein nutritional value than the leanest finest meat> it's trunk is hollow with soft sand inside and a small crack opening up to it's impregnable interior that only a human ape can slip into> That crack is triangular in shape: and it is the fundamental dynamic of all the other evils which ensued in the dead using Nature to poison and corrupt Man away from its true mission on Earth> Which is to spread Beauty, Love, Happiness and Friendship throughout the Living Earth and teach all living creatures how to live without killing or eating.

The evil of Eve eating the first Pomegranate, or Pomme, or later the apple; can be seen in the sin of civilized women painting their lips red in order to make them more sexually attractive as signs of carnal lust> The carnal knowledge of sexual lust and the carnal knowledge of eating artificially sweetened ripened fruit that is designed to rot:… eating that fruit at the peak of its rotting stage of decomposition from complex carbohydrates into simple sugars: Pushed the human species onto a Path of Evil: a path of rotting decomposition, rotting corruption: and a path of overpopulation of its numbers. Red Pomegranate: red flesh, red blood, red apple, red lips: get it? You are not supposed to eat anything that is red. How much of these millions of years of the true hidden, buried history of the corruption of Mankind is attributable to Nature? Or to the undead? Or to living humans themselves? The answer is it is mainly attributable to the dead: luring Eve into evil. The Reptilian snake of evil: luring the most beautiful, purest living GOOD on Earth: the most naturally sweet smelling girl, with her natural sweet disposition: Tempting Man with the swelling rounds of her fruit: Her ripe breasts and rounded buttocks. Why did this species of walking apes genetically develop its females into such a beautiful sexy shape? Because all of Africa was being destroyed by huge cataclysms: earth shattering earthquakes and huge violent terrifying volcanic explosions for at least 25,000,000,000 YEARS: That's why. Our living ancestors were genetically forced into reproducing too early and too often in order to save themselves from complete extinction, They were forced to have their babies at too early an age: At an age when they had not finished their full adult physical and mental development. The sexual organs of the human ape become active and ready to have babies 16 years before its brain stops growing. That is ass-backwards! Every species should only reproduce after all of its adult physical development is completed: Not 16 years before it becomes a fully mature adult! This is proven by science: The older a couple is when they have babies: the better those babies are raised and the more intelligent they become. The more mature any human population becomes the more responsible it becomes, the older they are before they have children, the more mature those children will be. As a species the human ape has been kept in a state of regressive arrested state of undevelopment for millions of years. Did the human species lose its fur because hairless insane evil undead reptilian ghouls entered into their bodies and surrounded their living skin with overlapping undead auras of reptilian filth until their hair fell out? The undead can and do corrupt and poison the natural genetic design of every living creature they invade and infiltrate. You can see this especially in Jewish children: how they turn from snub-nosed innocent darlings into hook-nosed grotesque monsters during their adolescence. You can see how ugly, fat and wrinkled Jewish women become as they lose all of their original loving kindness and become hate-filled evil hags poisoned by inner demons and surrounded by undead ancestors. Beauty is Truth: Truth is Beauty. Ugliness is evil: Beauty is GOOD. There are no exceptions to these universal truths.

Understand this: the dead are not powerful! They are the weakest force on this planet. In order for the dead to have any effect on the lives of we the living, they are forced to bring up the past, and try to RE-ENACT and RECREATE older, more ancient acts of catastrophic violence, death, and hate: using the cataclysmic past events of the Earth itself to wreak their abominations against all that lives on the living Earth. For instance; in order to orchestrate the false flag operation of 9-11, the dead had to use millions of their own reactions to former events which happened on the same date of Sept 11th, they were forced to use the huge negative energy of an artificially manufactured hurricane just off the shores of New York City. They had to use the energy of the past, when the 2nd Atlantic plate crashed up against the New York millions of years ago. Without using the energy of the past and trying to recreate the past, without channelling the energy of all human civilization in to re-enacting and recreating the past, they could never have succeeded in perpetrating the disaster which happened in Sept 11th 2001 in New York City. Here's another example: a small nuclear bomb was just recently set off in the Ukraine It was completely covered up and unannounced by the media because the undead don't want you to know how close you are to a thermonuclear war being set off. In order to commit this global monstrous evil against all Life on Earth, they had to go back and re-create the past when the huge tectonic plate of Asia moving westward, began grinding against and compressing smaller tectonic plates until the tectonic plate that lies underneath the Ukraine was damaged. They had to use hundreds of thousands of years of past Ice Ages when the glaciers covered all of the Ukraine and ground it flat as a pancake under the huge global death of the ice sheets that covered most of the Earth for untold eons of time.

The Taconic island chain began to collide with Proto North America about 470 to 450 million years ago. The energy of ongoing impacts was still raising mountains from Canada to Virginia 430 million years ago. Prior to the Taconic orogeny, the East Coast of what is now the United States was located near the Hudson River valley. This collision added land and raised mountains southward through northern New Jersey, south-eastern Pennsylvania, Virginia and North Carolina.

What this means is that the first contact made against the Proto-North American tectonic plate that ended up adding more land mass and smashed into the American plate so hard it created the Appalachian Mtn. range was at where New York is now. The past energy of this ancient event was used by the undead to smash the twin towers into dust.

The dead only react to positive energy events. They are not pro-active because they cannot predict the future. All their prophecies are BULLSHIT. There are only artificially orchestrated events, invented by them, in order to give the illusion that these stinking filth are all-powerful, all-wise and can predict the future. Without these stinking little hiding buggers, none of these catastrophes would ever have happened. Without their stinking secret conspiracies and secret cabals and evil efforts, Life on Earth would be a Paradise of Happiness and Health. Without their poisonous constant presence and violations there would BE no evil on earth to begin with: period.
THIS IS WHY ALL OF THEM MUST BE KILLED DEAD BEFORE THEY CAN KILL YOU AND ALL OTHER LIVING ORGANISMS ON EARTH.

DO YOU FUCKING UNDERSTAND THIS?
THERE IS NO PEACE ON EARTH.

There will BE no peace on Earth until every last one of these stinking undead entities are DESTROYED AND KILLED UTTERLY AND COMPLETELY DEAD DEAD DEAD DEAD DEAD DEAD>>>>>>>>>>>>>>>>>>>>>>>

Why do you think the entire Athabasca river valley in northern Alberta, which is equal in size and ecological importance to the Mississippi river valley, has been turned into a death swamp of black poisoned horror? Because every time the undead tried to kill off all Life on Earth; the first area that sprang back to Life `after the Ice Age was the melting corridor between the Rocky Mtn ice sheet and the rest of ice-covered North America. Why do you think the entire Pacific Ocean has been turned into a radioactive poisoned horror of rotting mutating radioactive death? Because though the undead managed to kill off all Life over most of the continents, they couldn't kill the ocean. Why do you think all the oceans in the world are now poisoned with trillions and trillions of bits of plastic filament from deteriorating plastic bags that aren't biodegradable? Because the undead are now trying to kill off all Life; not only on land but in the oceans as well. You cannot understand the evil of these stinking dead things unless you have the same perspective of time that they have. You have to know and understand the true history of the Earth in its correct context.

Why I Target the Jews as Being Evil

The land mass of the United States of America divided by the present population of America gives you exactly 7 acres per person; Making it the most evil nation on Earth. 7 is the most evil number in mathematics. All use of the number 7 is evil. Beginning with the Jewish weak of 7 days. The Jewish menorah with 7 candles. Agent 007 with his license to kill. The odds of the ratio of Americans to the land mass of America being a perfect single digit number with no decimals is beyond coincidence. The odds of this are so astronomical, the chance of this ratio being a perfect single digit number with no decimal fractions leftover is beyond possibility. We are living in the most evil times on Earth right now.

To have a faint understanding of how the undead for millions of years have operated invisibly, twisting and poisoning everything they can: read the historical analysis of the true origins of Jewish history called "The Great Jewish Masque … or The Ass in the Lion's skin"

The writer of this book concludes this about the hidden ultimate agenda of the Jews:

"The Jewish people, taken collectively, will be its own Messiah. His reign over the Universe will be obtained by the unification of the other human races, the suppression of frontiers, and the establishment of a "Universal Republic". . In this new organization of Humanity the sons of Israel . . . . will become without opposition the directing element everywhere; above all they will succeed in forcing on the working-men masses, the stable control of certain among them. The Government of the nations forming the Universal Republic will all pass, without effort, into Israelite hands, by favour of the victory of the Proletariat. Individual ownership will then be suppressed by the governors of the Jewish race who will administer in all places the public wealth. Thus will be realized the promise of the Talmud that, when the Times of the Messiah are come, the Jews will hold under their keys the properties of all the peoples of the world." This is the end towards which the activities of all who participate in the Masque, whether Jews or their dupes, are directed. And, in modern times, the "six points" of the star formed by the interlaced triangles, have been made to symbolize, among many other ideas, the principal means whereby this end is to be reached.

These "six points" may be outlined, roughly, as follows:

First . . . . Religious:

To undermine and discredit all Gentile, and especially all Christian creeds; and to introduce, encourage, and propagate crazy cults, unhealthy mysticism, pseudo-science, and sham philosophies.

Second . . . . Ethical:

To introduce and propagate debasing codes and practices (including "the illicit drug trade," "the illicit liquor trade, " and "the white-slave traffic") ; to corrupt morals, weaken the marriage-bond, destroy family-life, and abolish inheritance (and even heritable names) among all other peoples, especially among the Northern races.

Third . . . . Aesthetic:

To introduce and foster the cult of the ugly and the aberrant, and whatever is decadent, debasing, and degenerate in Art, Literature, Music, and the Theatre, etc.

Fourth . . . . Sociological:

To break up large estates, and abolish aristocracy; to set up plutocracy and a "money standard"; to encourage vulgar display, extravagance, and corruption, to provoke the proletariat. To envy, discontent, incendiarism, "sabotage," and to foment "class-warfare."

Fifth . . . . Industrial and Financial:

To bring about "unemployment" and want, to lower ideals of craftsmanship and abolish pride in handicraft, to encourage greed for "profit," and the standardization of the cheap and shoddy; to bring about "Centralization," and the formation of Trusts and Cartels; to abolish private ownership and to establish "State monopolies," "Reserve Banks," and a "World Bank," . . . . with the control of gold in the hands of the International Directors.

Sixth . . . . Political:

To secure control of the Press, Broadcasting, Cinema, Stage, and all means of publicity; to secure the presence of "agents" on all Gentile councils, committees, etc., and in confidential posts (such as "private secretary" to highly-placed persons), to maintain an effective espionage upon all Gentile activities; to start and keep alive dissensions in all Gentile institutions, and thus break up all other political groups in their component parts, and set these at enmity with each other; to discourage, decry, and extirpate Patriotism and Pride of Race; and, in the name of "Progress" and "Evolution," and under pretence of promoting "Universal Peace" and "Human Brotherhood," to set up "Internationalism" as an ideal, thus undermining national unity and weakening government; to bring about "Disarmament" and the establishment of an "International Police Force," controlled by a " 'League of Nations". . . thus preparing the way for those who, unobtrusively, will gain control of the "League of Nations" and the "International Bank," and through these, rule the world.

The International Directors, however, never act openly or directly; they always keep in the background and work secretly and indirectly; pressure is brought to bear from all points, but whence it comes is carefully concealed …. "no Gentile must be allowed to discover its source."

Thus it is evident that however ridiculous the mongrel Judean ass may appear in the royal skin of the Babylonian lion, his ludicrous posturings and ungainly capers must be viewed with suspicion. His dubious antecedents include vile strains from the "Bolshevik" followers of the Ass of Typhon, from the outcasts who worshipped the Swine of the Satanic Set, from the run-a-gate refugee rabble of Jerusalem, and from the lawless and predatory banditti of Palestine. Conceived in dishonour, he was born in inglorious captivity, schooled in the dark practices of savage cults (such as those of Saturn, of the gloomy Israel, of the disreputable Tsabaoth, and of Asthoreth), and reared amid scenes of perfidy, turbulence, and anarchy. Flattered by lying tales of a "wonderful past", and deluded by borrowed prophecies and plagiarised promises of a "still more glorious future", he is consumed with lust for "World domination". And under the lion's skin, wears hatred as a garment and nurses a sinister purpose. The impersonation has continued so long and has proven so advantageous, that its perpetuation, at any cost, has become the dominant idea which obsesses his vain, selfish mind. Devoid of scruples, and realizing his inability to fight his way openly to leadership, he is determined, with all the stubbornness of which his obstinate nature is capable, to reach his end by cunning, by duplicity, by any means however ignoble …. even if these entail the destruction of all who are nobler than he, and the degradation of the rest to a position lower than even his own…. so that at last, he may "reign" unassailed, in "Universal Peace", over such dregs of the once human race as may still remain to soil the desecrated ruins of a besmirched and polluted world. In every country, subversive, disruptive, and disintegrating forces of every kind, are to be encouraged and organized by professional propagandists and trained organizers; who, after the manner of all revolutionaries, will "invent fictitious rights, thus creating imaginary wrongs; exploit real grievances, and create want, thus producing discontent and an atmosphere of revolt; and then blame the existing social and industrial systems and point to the Red Road of Revolution as the only way of escape". When the "aristocracy" and "bourgeoisie" of all Gentile peoples have been "removed", and all non-Jewish institutions have been discredited and trampled under foot by a systematically bestialized and scientifically depraved "Proletariat", the International Directors hope that their Jewish mummers, under cover of great secrecy, and protected by armies of agents provocateur and a vast network of secret police, will be able to continue their soul-destroying Masque in the character of a "Wealth-controlling World-dominating Ruling Race."

Unless you include the existence of the undead and their use of living humans as poisoned, corrupted puppets for thousands of years, how else can this conclusion make any sense?

The undead reveal their existence by the title. The Jews are supposed to be the lion. The ass represents the undead hiding inside them. And vice versa also. The undead are supposed to be the lion, while the jews are the asses they use to filthy everything in the realm of the Living systematically…as they have been doing for thousands of years… an evil agenda which no living humans have or ever had the perspective and longevity of purpose or motive to carry out. The jews are supposed to be the chosen people… Chosen by who? They have been chosen by the undead to destroy the entire human race and all Life on Earth.

The Jews are puppets of the undead: as are all of you reading this book. The entire Human Race is poisoned and possessed by the undead. Until the entire Human Race realizes this, they will continue to be evil agents of undead evil: puppets manipulated by the undead. The only reason Jews are more evil than other living humans is because the undead have poisoned them more and have chosen them to be instruments of their planned agenda for the destruction of all Life on Earth, as overlords of the remaining living humans left on Earth. Jews are not a true ethnic race or a religion or a culture. They are a composite of everything that is filthy and depraved. They are an agglomeration of the most evil, brutal, criminal, poisoned aspects of human culture, the most poisoned genetic DNA accumulation of the human species… Just as the undead are an agglomeration of all the rotting, dying, decomposing wraiths and ghouls who have avoided their own complete decomposition by invading the realm of the Living. What is knows as 'Judaism' or 'Jewry' or 'Jews' or 'Jewish culture'; is an accumulation of evil, accumulated through thousands of years of conspiracies used to ruin everything that is Positive and Honest and Good and Clean. Just as an iron magnet attracts iron filings, the culture of Judaism has attracted the most bestial, disgusting criminals on Earth, the most disgusting customs, the most disgusting lies, the most cunning vermin… etc, etc. How the undead control not only Jews but all living people is exposed in the final conclusion of "The Great Jewish Masque".

The International Directors, however, never act openly or directly; they always keep in the background and work secretly and indirectly; pressure is brought to bear from all points, but whence it comes is carefully concealed …. "no Gentile must be allowed to discover its source."

This is exactly how the undead operate in a secret hierarchy of hidden evil. This is exactly how they have always operated… The one thing they fear above all is the discovery of their carefully concealed existence by we the living. Humans must never be allowed to the discover their existence; because once we do: we will exterminate these undead filth until none of them are left. The Masques of the evil Jews are the undead. The undead are masqued death. They are Death Masques. They are rotting dead filth that poison and corrupt every living baby and every living person on Earth.

The undead have dumbed down the awareness of the human species:
From Three dimensions
To Two dimensions
To One dimension.

By selling people the most unutterable, stupidest garbage possible as being the deepest, most spiritual wisdom. The earliest human sedentary civilization of China tried to explain everything that exists on our round, three-dimensional planet: Nature, Life, etc: as a Duality of Ying and Yang. That is a simplified LIE. Our Universe has THREE dimensions: not two. From understanding the 3-dimensional Universe and the 3-dimensional world they live on…. Down into only understanding 2-dimensional symbols, the world of flat parchments, paper, writing, books, flat paintings, flat screens, flat images, flat 2-dimensional images of 3-dimensional things. From the stupidity of believing in 100's of different gods into the stupidity of believing there is only 1 god…. Down to a human civilization that is powered by a 1-dimensional energy called electricity. And then using this 1-dimensioinal energy to create the pinhole technology of millions of people all looking at the exact same 2-dimensional illusions on their 2-dimensional flat screens. Without this form of mass mind control and brainwashing civilization couldn't even exist. Down to the evil insanity of identical mass manufacturing: the insanity of everyone wearing the same clothes, thinking the same thoughts, drinking the same Coke, eating the same hamburgers, driving the same cars, washing your clothes with the same detergent, etc, etc, puke vomit, shit.

In order to become an intelligent integrated human being you must ESCHEW all 2-dimensional and 1-dimensional energy. You must ESCHEW all 1-dimensional and 2-dimensional illusions, delusions, symbols, objects, artifacts, etc. You must get RID OF THEM COMPLETELY.

Life energy is NOT 1-dimensional or 2-dimensional: it is THREE dimensional. The UNIVERSE is THREE dimensional. The EARTH is THREE dimensional. The SUN is THREE dimensional. The PLANETS are three dimensional. The STARS are THREE dimensional. GALAXIES are THREE dimensional. Solid objects are THREE dimensional. Liquids are three dimensional. Gases are three-dimensional. ALL Living Organisms are THREE dimensional. EVERYTHING IN THE UNIVERSE IS THREE DIMENSIONAL: not two dimensional or one dimensional. This tactic of "reductio-ad-absurdum" has been used and is being used to reduce the human species into the stupidest, dumbest, most brainwashed insane species on Earth. Not just on how many dimensions the reality of humans is based upon, but on every other level… simply by relying on the normalization of every evil introduced and invented by the undead and then furthering it to the point of utter insanity the undead have managed to reverse the increasing intelligence of the human species. It has taken the dead thousands of years to dumb down and poison human intelligence. By calling this regression of intelligence 'progress' instead of what it really is: regress. By brainwashing humans into believing that reducing the number of dimensions from three, to two, to one is a form of 'progress'; these dead things have succeeded in creating 7 ½ billion insane brainwashed fools as a race of manipulated puppets, racing to destroy the Earth they live on as fast as possible.

By overpopulating the Earth with billions of useless humans, the undead have managed to recreate the brainless hive mentality of ants and insects in the most intelligent species on Earth. Humans now have been dumbed down to possess the same hive mentality of mindless conformity and obedience to centralized authority as termites and ants do. This tactic of overpopulating the planet with as many useless human drones as possible is only one of the many, many cunning, long-range tactics and tricks the undead have used for thousands of years to destroy All Life on Earth.

What you need to understand is the undead rely on the short life-span of living humans so you won't notice their steady, unchanged agenda and tactics and tricks being repeated over and over again… so you won't notice how the accumulation of the evils of the undead pile up and accumulate. So people accept every new evil as being "normal". So they become normalized to every new permutation and increase in the evils of their constant undead presence. It is only by developing a historical perspective and understanding of the devolution of the human species over the space of millions of years by the undead that you can begin to realize just how evil these things are and how crucial it is to exterminate all of them UTTERLY AND COMPLETELY.

What is the feudal "coat of arms"?

They are the invisible arms of the undead that protects these puppets of the undead from justice; giving them the freedom to carry out their nefarious activities without interference from those who could oppose them. The feudal coat of arms is portrayed as a shield because the undead have shielded these dynastic families for centuries as their chosen agents of undead evil on purpose. The convoluted story of these dynastic families is like a Gordian Knot of Evil, so twisted and cunningly knotted and buried in secrecy, its threads so hidden and buried, the crucial facts so destroyed and lost;. that any complete unravelling of their machinations is literally impossible to completely unearth and understand. Just as Jews have been shielded and protected by the undead so they can carry out the secret hidden agendas of the undead: the dynastic families which have a feudal coat of arms are also protected and shielded by the undead. Rightfully they should have been killed off and destroyed long ago but they never are. They always manage to escape justice. They always manage to escape from being killed off.

Here is a video documentary tracing a tiny bit of the hidden connections between these evil dynastic families through centuries of intertwined, cunning conspiratorial EVIL:

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=vamBFEFt2Vc

Only this perspective of 25 million years of unrelenting, silent, unseen, all-pervading evil being the primary mover and shaker of all human events does any of our past make any logical sense.

Only when you look at and study the history and prehistory of our species as being chosen by the undead to destroy All Life on Earth, can it be understood.

This is why these undead ghouls must be KILLED UTTERLY AND COMPLETELY DEAD DEAD DEAD IN ALL 3 DIMENSIONS OF THE UNIVERSE…. WHERE THEY HIDE AND WHERE THEY OPERATE AND HOW THEY OPERATE MUST BE EXPOSED AND THEY WILL BE HUNTED DOWN AND OBLITERATED FROM THIS EARTH FOREVER. Reptilian undead auras are smooth skinned. They invade the bodies of living humans because we have smooth skins also. David Icke saw one of them as it moved out of the human aura it was super-imposed over. Reptilian undead auras with smooth skin cannot do this to mammals that have fur. These things are attracted to cold hearted, loveless humans that are emotionally dead and have no feelings of human warmth and love, human kindness and no sensitivity to other people's feelings and emotions. They are attracted to living humans that harbor negative evil, feelings of hate, fear, jealousy because these are the only feelings they recognize. There are countless kinds of undead monsters, deformed, ugly, horrid undead ghouls that have been hiding inside the bodies of living creatures of a different species for millions of years. These half-humanoid-half mixed species undead, these rotting-dying insane abominations must be exterminated if we are to save ourselves from their filthy, stinking, sly, cunning, insane evil. All of our ancestral undead must be EXTERMINATED with EXTREME REVULSION AND HATRED for the unspeakable crimes of poisoning the lives of their own offspring. The dead invade the Realm of the living and poison the living with their rotting stinking evil filth. If you want to verify the existence of the undead, all you have to do is look at the initiation rites and rituals of secret societies like: Skull & Bones, Bohemian Grove, Freemasons and other Satanic cults. You will see their presence exposed naked. What is Christianity but a naked man dying on a cross. The glorification of death and dying and Satanic sacrifice exists everywhere in human civilization because the undead permeate all human society. They must be exterminated.

The undead have used obvious tactics to control masses of living people for untold millennia… One of the most obvious tactic they use is the brainwashing of Semitic religions, for instance: In Christianity the masses are brainwashed into believing they will be "loved" after they die… not while they are alive; they will only experience true love after they are dead.

In Muslim religion they are brainwashed into believing they will experience the sexual bliss of mating with a virgin after they die… after they are dead… not while they are alive.

In the Judaic religion, they are brainwashed to believe they will only rise to become masters of the Earth after they have destroyed the Earth. And they can only do this by treating all other people as cattle.

In Satanic Zionist secular religions they are brainwashed to believe that they are god, that they can commit every horror and atrocity and crime and sin with impunity while they are alive, that there is no such thing as an after-life… Thus, when they die physically, they are conscripted into the hordes of the undead as obedient willing minions and practitioners of evil… to continue the over-riding ghoul of destroying all Life on Earth. Even though if this is ever achieved, they will be committing suicide on themselves. This is based on the secret unspoken belief that Satan and Evil and Death is more powerful than GOOD, and LIFE. That killing LIFE is more powerful than the creation of new LIFE. This is why all satanic people must be killed.

By these evil tactics the undead invade living fetuses and slowly take them over: polluting, twisting, ruining, and poisoning their Life vitality and Energy The undead make sure by the time every living human dies physically, they are corrupted and twisted into the path of evil and make sure living people do not have healthy happy babies. By brainwashing the Living into corrupting and weakening themselves of their own free will: they are not forced to expose their silent malevolent presence too obviously. This is why ALL of the Undead must be exterminated with extreme prejudice.

Just to give you an idea of how old and evil these rotting things are: Why do you thing the history of human migration and conflict matches the migration and conflict of tectonic plates? Because the undead lowered the instincts of living humans down to the lowest, subconscious, subterranean levels of inorganic dead rock grinding against each other: That's why.

The reason living humans are not aware of these dead pieces of rotting shit is because their presence is so faint, so weak, so undetectable, they operate on the faintest, lowest levels of decomposing death energy. By massing themselves into huge miasmic hordes of insane rotting things, by accumulating more and more dead, rotting, dying souls*; their evil influence has increased more and more over the millennia to the level it is today. Every living human must read his book to understand why evil exists and where it comes from, and how they operate and their dirty, nasty, filthy, stupid repeated cunning tricks.*

The reason living humans are not aware of the undead is because you were born INTO… you were born IN a condition of poisoned undead energy surrounding you from birth. The reason why most babies scream and scowl and shut their eyes when emerging from their mother's womb is because they are entering a world so filled with evil, surrounded by undead ghouls seeking to violate their bodies and minds and hearts with negative rotting undead filth….

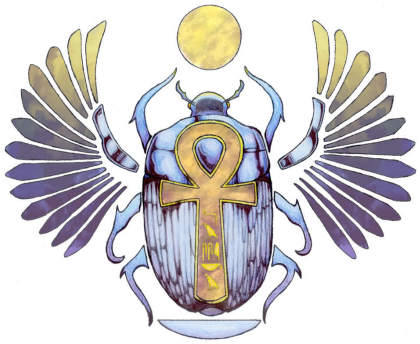
This is why all of these undead rotting things must be KILLED NOW. Not later, not by someone else. The evil of people so detached from REALITY and from TRUTH: that they read truth without acting upon it AND WITHOUT FEELING ANYTHING is because they are ALREADY TAKEN OVER AND CONTROLLLED BY THE UNDEAD. If you have read all of this book and feel nothing: If you feel no emotions of anger, rage, horror, revulsion, disgust at what the undead have done and are continuing to d to the Living Earth and every human baby ever born: it is because the undead have already poisoned your heart into deadness. Humans who have no empathy and do not feel any human emotion are called psychopaths. If you are a psychopath reading this book you will feel nothing and do nothing about the evil of the undead.

If you want another example of undead evil spanning millions of years, consider The Sin of the Scarab

What is one of the oldest evils on Earth?
It is the Sin of accumulating FILTH

Notice the dung beetle is going BACKWARDS. It's rectum is high in the air… as if it is shitting a huge turd. The dung beetle ACCUMULATES more and more shit into a rolling stone…. And then lays its eggs inside the huge ball of filth….

This is how the undead poison Life.
This is how the undead poisoned the Egyptian civilization.
By committing the ancient evil of accumulating FILTH:
The Egyptians worshiped this accumulation of filth as a god. Their pharaohs became symbols of accumulating filth. Namely the accumulation and piling up of dead stone blocks, the accumulation of salt, of gold, of inorganic useless shit. All symbolized by the dung beetle as a sign of royalty.



Scarabs are often found inscribed with the names of pharaohs and more rarely with the names of their queens and other members of the royal family. Generally, the better established and longer reigning a king was, the more scarabs are found bearing one or more of his names.

Fast forward to the newest accumulation of filth…
The accumulation of mass-produced sounds called Rock'n ROLL.
Listening to filth. Filling your ears with filthy sounds. Get it?
Who were the two worst purveyors of this new kind of filth?

The answer to this cunning question is BOTH. The evil of the scarab and its rolling stone of shit are BOTH evil; The rolling stone of filth AND the beetle that pushes it along as it is going BACKWARD: both of them are evil. Both of these bands push musical shit onto the masses. And what are they rolling over? Sand. Billions of grains of sand representing the human masses as the dominant cultural influence of their time.

Exactly who or what is being questioned here? WHO is doing the asking? WHAT is being questioned? If you can decipher the cunning twisted words, the actual question is:

"IS THE ORIGINAL EVIL of the UNDEAD; THE BEETLE OR THE ROLLING STONE OF SHIT?..."

The answer is: the EVIL OF THE UNDEAD ARE BOTH THE BEATLES AND THE ROLLING STONES, because both of them are possessed by the dead and both of them are manifestations of undead evil.

The Egyptian god Khepri, Ra as the rising sun, was often depicted as a scarab beetle or as a scarab BEETLE-HEADED MAN. .. Get it? The undead are selling you shit… from African beetles and their dung balls of rolling shit. The undead are laughing at you brainwashed fools who worship these scumbags of evil. Get it? These undead ghouls are thousands of years old: They sneer at your short pathetic lives openly:

Time is on their side: on the side of the undead. The undead take longer to decompose and die than physical living humans do: GET IT? Just who are these undead things hiding inside these evil foul human shells?

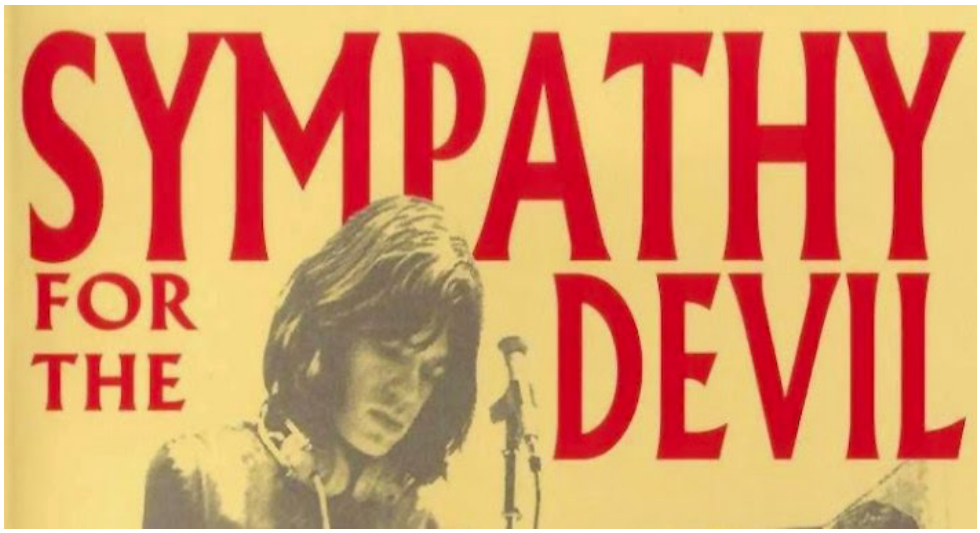
Here's a clue.



The devils are laughing at you in broad daylight: FOOLS.
They possess the living easily and corrupt them and take them over, and use them to sneer at you; the living.

Look at them now… do you understand? The satanic filth of "rock-and-roll… is the Age-Old sin of accumulating filth. It is older than the scarabs of the Egyptian Royal Pharaohs… It is older than the dung beetles of Africa…
The royalty of Rock'n Roll and the royalty of the ancient Egyptians ARE THE SAME ROYALTY OF UNDEAD EVIL. This is why the undead must be KILLED and EXTERMINATED and OBLITERATED FROM THIS LIVING EARTH.

The undead parade their evil nakedly now… with albums called "let it Bleed" "Goats head Soup" "Their Satanic Majesties Request" ARE YOU GETTING THE PICTURE YET?
The puppets of the undead are selling you the evils of CONSUMERISM you fools: the undead are selling you the evils of CONSUMING ACCUMULATED FILTH

The sin of accumulating filth is older than African beetles..
The sin of gluttony is older than our ape ancestors.

Whatever you consume; CONSUMES YOU MORE THAN YOU DO IT.
Whatever you use; USES YOU MORE THAN YOU DO IT.
Civilization is an abomination invented and brought into being by UNDEAD EVIL FILTH. WAKE UP and LEARN THE TRUTH ABOUT YOUR OWN PAST HISTORY LIKE I DID…. NOW WHAT I HAVE LEARNED IS YOURS: IF YOU DO NOT ACT AGAINST EVIL: YOU ARE EVIL.

What is the secret behind the evil of the dung beetle? What is the secret behind the Royal Egyptian sign of the scarab? Why, how have these undead things managed to stay alive so long without dying? The undead LIVE INSIDE YOU. They LIVE INSIDE YOUR SHIT-FILLED INTESTINES. Why? Because rotting decomposing undead filth are attracted to rotting decomposing food in your belly: THAT'S WHY. THAT'S why consumerism is EVIL. That's why the undead must be KILLED DEAD.

Thousands of years ago the rotting decomposing undead found a way to stay alive by using the cunning tactic of the DUNG BEETLE. They live inside your intestines. They plant themselves inside your rotting intestinal and rectal cavities and live there and suck off your SHIT… but that doesn't stop them from decomposing! What is the image people have of "asstral travel"?... You are not exiting from your mind; it is not you that is exiting: it is one of the undead exiting from your rectum where it lives and hides inside you.. It is the image of one of your turds exiting out of your rectum when it opens to excrete your feces. The bullshit about ass travel is the undead leaving your ass inside your turds or just leaving your body because you are about to die, so they go to another living person and embed themselves inside THEIR intestines and live off the rotting food and the Life Energy of THEIR bodies. When you die your involuntary body muscles relax and your shit oozes out of your dead body. That is when the undead leave you. Then, what is left of your true unpoisoned soul: your after-life of a still living-dying-decomposing aura becomes an easy victim in the realms of the undead… who wait for you and have all their cunning tricks to play on you while they render you harmless and use your decomposing aura for their own evil purposes.

For thousands of years, evil people…. Kings and queens have feasted while their subjects starved. The evils of gluttony have been pushed and glorified for thousands of years. Even Christmas has been turned into an abomination of gluttony. One of the oldest Christmas songs 'Good King Wenceslas' sings about the feast of Stephen… What do the most spiritual good people in all history have in common? Fasting. You cannot be evil when you fast. Evil people never fast… What was the last supper about?... Why did the disciples of Jesus betray right after he held the last supper, eh? Why do you think the gluttony of mass consumerism has been spread by the undead? Why do you think the symbol of the dung beetle was glorified for thousands of years in Egypt, eh? Because the rotting decomposing undead found a way to embed themselves into the highest elite Egyptian society by hiding and living inside their rotting, decomposing feces. The symbol of the dung beetle planting its seed inside a ball of SHIT; so it can feed off of it and grow; is not a fucking coincidence. This disgusting insect was not glorified by the Pharaohs of Egypt for no reason. Everything has a logical explanation. The decomposing, rotting undead are attracted to decomposing, rotting Life-Energy. By turning the entire human population into a mass of mindless consumers, the undead have managed to corrupt all Humanity and dumb them down to the lowest, basest urges and instincts of filling their bellies.

Why do you think the human species has been turned into a mass of billions of consumers filling their bellies with food; eh? So the undead can feed off the rotting decomposing shit inside your intestines: that's why.

But… the filthy secret "tricks" that these undead filth use to stay alive does NOT stop them from decomposing. They LOSE their 3-dimensional condition and become TWO DIMENSIONAL FLAT ENTITIES… They hide behind and inside FLAT PANELS; like GLASS WINDOWS, and FLAT COMPUTER SCREENS and FLAT TV SCREENS, and FLAT OIL PAINTINGS, and FLAT PORTRAITS, and FLAT photographs and FLAT WALLS, and FLAT SURFACES, and the more they decompose the more malevolent and insane they become, the more evil they are… This is WHY the undead invented FLAT PANELS. This is WHY civilization has become an insane pile of 2-dimensional SHIT. This is WHY when you look at the mass culture of civilized mass-media 2-dimensional images they are all filled with satanic evil, insane gibbering evil filth. THIS IS WHY WE THE LIVING MUST CLEANSE OURSELVES OF THESE DYING FILTH AND KILL THEM ALL DEAD. THAT IS WHY THE LESS YOU EAT THE LESS EVIL YOU ARE.

Do you want more proof of the undead? What do you think sleepwalkers are? When you sleep, your subconscious takes over control of your involuntary body functions… The dead live in your subconscious like feces in a subterranean sewer system. They ARE your subconscious… they exist on faint levels of energy. Your conscious mind when awake is too strong for them to completely control but when you sleep, the dead can and do take you over. Sleepwalkers are just people who are more poisoned and controlled by the undead that infest their minds and bodies. The level of susceptibility you have to the unconscious control of the undead depends on your level of self-awareness, your health and your history of any trauma and traumatic experiences you have suffered, and on how much of your memory has been blocked out of your conscious mind by the dead that inhabit and infest your body and mind… The reason your dreams are incoherent is because the undead poison your dreams with their presence; thus preventing you from correctly digesting your experiences during sleep as you are designed to do and learning from them… Do you think the undead possess and control only certain rare living people? They poison and infest every single living human alive, and have done so for millions of years. That is why they must be KILLED and OBLITERATED COMPLETELY WITH EXTREME PREJUDICE AMD MALEVOLENCE.

You want more examples of their favorite living puppets: jews?

Take the NPR radio shows "Wait, wait: don't tell me", and "Sez you" Invented, produced, directed, hosted and filled with jews and Jewified brainwashed imbeciles. The first jew propaganda show "makes fun of" and lampoons the jewish "news" or 'current events'… which makes the world seem to be meaningless and violent and malevolent against all innocent people. The title of the radio show has hidden messages in it… You are NOT supposed to listen to anything these filthy jews tell you. You are NOT supposed to 'wait' for them to tell you anything. You are supposed to KILL THEM for spreading their jewish filth all over the Earth. Jews are puppets of the undead; and as such they are EVIL. All civilization is an abomination of the undead and jews are the ROTTEN PIMPLE of that evil.

The show is based on the ASSumption that everything is meaningless. That there is no purpose to Life and nobody is supposed to know the meaning of Life. That everything is meaningless and random. You are supposed to 'laugh' at the insanity of it all. You're supposed to 'laugh' at everything that makes no sense. Nothing is supposed to make any logical sense. Everything is supposed to be "funny". Nothing is supposed to be taken seriously.

The other radio show "Sez you" also has a hidden message: The message: is you should NOT believe anything a jew says to you. The show is based on jews inventing false meanings for words; trying to pawn the false meanings off to the contestants as being the true meaning of the word. Again, the show 'makes fun of' and lampoons the meanings of words, just as the other jew show 'makes fun of' and lampoons current events in the jew 'news' cycle of trash and fake news. Their jewish religion of meaninglessness is designed so you will accept their 'bottom-line' justification of avarice, greed, and depravity as the root of all human emotions and motivations.

Then there is another side of evil called 'science' which jews have taken over and poisoned. Again; in this jew propaganda brainwashing, you are not supposed to know the true meaning of Life. Instead of studying Life humanely and logically and intelligently: This religious cult called 'science' focuses on the most irrelevant, unconnected trivia possible and sanctifies them as scientific 'facts'. Instead of making logical sense out of the Universe: Jews sell you the ASSumption that everything is randomly meaningless and hostile to Life. That you are not supposed to know the meaning of your own Life, and you are not supposed to know your true purpose in Life. Science sells you the ASSumption that everything is mechanically robotic: that the Universe is essentially DEAD, not alive. Instead of worshiping Life and the Infinite Universe: you are supposed to worship the mentally deficient, crippled things who spend their lives poring over scientific 'facts' and spend their lives accumulating these sacred 'facts', and somehow never being able to make any logical sense of it all these 'facts'… as is constantly proven and exhibited by the endless numbers of new, idiotic, worthless. ‘theories’ and scientific ASSumptions about the true nature of everything.

Basically; in order for jews to compensate and cover up their inferiority as mutilated, brutalized dehumanized evil scum; as permanently crippled, psychopaths-sociopaths-inhuman monsters… jews smear, deride, ‘make fun of, lampoon, ridicule and denigrate all other cultures and peoples. In order to cover up their own inferiority, they cover up their filth by inventing myths of superiority, which the undead are forced to constantly, artificially work at in order to make them come true. By degrading and poisoning non-jews in their constant efforts to turn all non-jews into dumbed down cattle, into slaves that serve jews, they have made themselves the enemies of Mankind.

Jews have a huge blind spot when it comes to looking at themselves. The dead do not allow jews to look at themselves AT ALL; because if they ever did, they would realize how evil and sick they actually are and they would renounce all their Judaic filth and dedicate themselves to eradicating this evil culture from the face of the Earth; like Brother Nathaniel; a former jew, who is now an Orthodox Christian.

The reason WHY these decomposing, rotting undead things are evil is because in the process of their decomposition: they lose ALL their former higher human motivations and are left with only the lowest, most irrational motivation: SELF-PRESERVATION. Their highest, noblest most evolved human motivations decompose first. They become obsessed with preserving their own skins at all costs. But because they are DESIGNED to decompose and die: the temporary stopgaps and cunning ploys and tactics DO NOT WORK… they die and decompose anyways in spite of everything they do…

This is why all undead are focused on preserving their rotting, decomposing energy-auras. This is why jews are obsessed with their own self-preservation. This is why jews do not have any higher motivation to live except to spread as much jewish filth as they can while preserving themselves as selfishly and evilly as possible.. Jews NEVER sacrifice themselves for any higher GOOD, Jews NEVER sacrifice themselves for any higher principles, morals, ethics, or values.

This is why the realms of the undead are not recognizable to what they once were because they are continuously rotting and decomposing and dying.. What the realms of the undead were years ago bears no resemblance to what they have decomposed into now… The same is true for all other periods in the past in the realms of the undead.

For thousands of years the undead have trained living people NOT to ask questions and NOT to have any sense of Wonder and NOT to make any sense out of the world they live in. They have deadened the masses of Humanity and dumbed them down to the level of gibbering idiots. THIS IS WHY THE UNDEAD MUST ALL BE KILLED DEAD.

What do you think all these random shootings are? The undead specialize in making accidents SEEM to be random…. Shootings SEEM to be random: THEY ARE NOT. THEY ARE CAUSED BY THE UNDEAD. They are caused to keep the masses in a perpetual state of unconscious fear and terror. What is called your UNconcious is actually the presence of these Undead filth poisoning your Inner Soul and Inner Being.

*Why are only the gifted, rare few, the special souls who are HAPPY targeted? Why are THEY killed, but not others? Only those who WOULD have spread Happiness and Light, HAD they lived, are targeted and killed. Do you think the old saying "Only the good die young" is a fucking accident? The undead hate and fear HAPPINESS. The undead fate and fear GOOD people who are Happy. The undead target HAPPY people… the rest of the deadened masses are allowed to spread their misery and stupidity so that it BLANKETS and suffocates those who are more aware, more sensitive to Beauty, all the rare lovers, the rare few who are HAPPY and pulls them down into the deadened mass of millions of dead, unaware souls, so they will be like all the rest of them: without a spark of LIFE, without any curiosity, without any intelligence, without any Love without any Happiness.., THAT IS WHY THESE FILTH MUST BE EXTERMINATED AND KILLED DEAD DEAD DEAD.*
THERE IS NO FATE. THERE IS ONLY HATE that these undead things have against all POSITIVE LIFE. There is only the huge negative, blind* poisoned miasma of resignation and unawareness that is created by their constant presence to keep all living humans unaware of their evil presence.

THESE UNDEAD THINGS WANT YOU TO GIVE UP ON LIFE.
THEY WANT YOU TO GIVE UP ON YOUR DREAMS
THEY WANT YOU TO PURSUE MONEY
THEY WANT YOU TO MAKE MONEY.
NOTHING ELSE.

THEY SPECIALIZE IN RUINING YOUR MOST PRECIOUS DREAMS AND GOALS. THEY SPEND THEIR ENTIRE EXISTENCE RUINING YOUR MOST POSITIVE DREAMS AND GOALS AND MAKING SURE THAT YOU FAIL. THIS IS WHY THEY MUST BE TOTALLY EXTERMINATED AND KILLED. STOP USING THE INTERNET*!*
MEET OPENLY AND COME TOGETHER AND KILL THESE EVIL THINGS AND KILL EVERYONE WHO IS AGAINST LOVE LIFE AND HAPPINESS.
THEY ARE EVIL THINGS POSSESSED BY THE UNDEAD.
THE UNDEAD USE LIVING CREATURES AS EYES BECAUSE THEIR EYBALLS ARE THE FIRST THINGS TO DECOMPOSE

THAT IS WHY THEY USE FLIES AS EYES TO SPY ON YOU THE LIVING FROM THE OUTSIDE

THE UNDEAD USE BIRDS AS EYES TO SPY ON YOU

THE UNDEAD USE ALL ANIMALS THAT HAVE EYES TO SPY ON YOU AND SEEK OUT YOUR WEAKNESSES AND DIRTY LITTLE SECRETS.

THAT IS WHY BIRDS AND WILD ANIMALS SNEAK INTO AREAS WHERE HUMANS LIVE TO SPY ON THEM
THE UNDEAD ARE BLIND, STINKING ROTTING GHOULS

THEY SPY ON YOU FROM THE OUTSIDE WHILE ALSO HIDING INSIDE YOU AT THE SAME TIME

BUT>>>>>>
THE UNDEAD THAT USE LIVING CREATURES TO SPY ON YOU….
ARE NOT CONNECTED TO THE UNDEAD THAT HIDE INSIDE YOU

THE MANY REALMS OF ROTTING DECOMPOSING UNDEAD ARE NOT CONNECTED TO EACH OTHER VERY WELL

Rather THEY ARE CONSTANTLY LOSING THEIR CONNECTIONS WITH EACH OTHER, and so have increasingly more difficulty in coordinating any evil plans with each other.

It is only when the negative presence of the undead becomes so thick, so concentrated a presence in one place or area… that the realms of the undead overlap and they can communicate and coordinate on different levels of the realms of the rotting dying decomposing undead.

THE UNDEAD ARE TRYING TO REPLACE THEIR RELIANCE ON THE EYES OF LIVING CREATURES WITH THE MECHANICAL SURVELLIANCE OF FLAT SCREEN TECHNOLOGY

THAT DOES NOT WORK WELL EITHER

ANY LIVING CREATURE THAT REACTS NEGATIVELY TO ANOTHER LIVING CREATURE
BY SHOWING ILLOGICAL HATE AND FEAR
TOWARDS ANY OTHER LIVING CREATURE
IS A POSSESSED PIECE OF EVIL FILTH THAT SHOULD BE INSTANTLY KILLED DEAD.

ALL OF THE UNDEAD MUST BE EXTERMINATED WITH EXTREME PREJUDICE AND WIPED OFF THE EARTH FOREVER.

IF YOU DO NOT PASSIONATELY HATE THESE DEAD ROTTING THINGS AND WANT TO KILL THEM

THEN YOU ARE A PUPPET OF THE UNDEAD EITHER YOU HATE THEM AND WANT TO KILL THEM

OR

YOU ARE ONE OF THEM
THERE IS NO INBETWEEN

LIFE or death
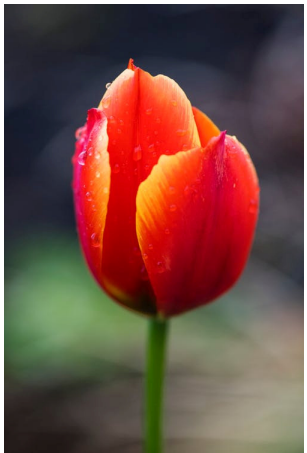
CHOOSE

For how long have the undead reversed LIFE into death?

LOOK AT BELLS:

Then LOOK AT FLOWERS:



Bells are a reversal of Flowers
Bells are a REVERSAL of LIFE into DEATH.
Bells are DEAD
Flowers are ALIVE
Flowers grow UP
Bells hang DOWN

Do you know what an appeal is? It is the reversal of a judgment in a court of law. Reversing the sentence of guilty criminals so they will not suffer the punishment WHICH THEY DESERVE. The peal of a bell spells DOOM. It signifies DEATH. It reverses evil into APPARENT good. The peel or petal of a flower is LIFE. The peal of a bell is DEATH.

Do you want to know for how long the undead have been leading humans into paths of evil? Go look at a video of an anthropologist demonstrating the art of flint knapping…. Listen to the clicking sound his knapping tool makes… then listen to the clicking sound your computer mouse makes:

IT IS EXACTLY THE SAME SOUND

Making flint tools was one of the first evils invented by the undead.
Now, the computer mouse is a NEW evil invented by the undead…
Based upon the same old evil of systematic separation and segmentation.

How were the first tools made? By the use of CHIPS
How are computers made? By the use of CHIPS

Now they are implanting chips into humans Why? It is a cunning way of telling you that all of you are only TOOLS of the undead… that all of you are just "chips off the old block"… DO YOU UNDERSTAND?

Without having millions of years of historical perspective like I do: You have NO idea of how long the undead have been inventing their filthy evil schemes and recreating them into even more evil permutations of the SAME EVIL.

THEY MUST BE KILLED DEAD AND EXTERMINATED.

Understand this:
EVERYTHING YOU USE… USES YOU MORE THAN YOU USE IT.

YOU BLIND FOOLS ARE BEING USED BY THE UNDEAD TO DESTROY THE PLANET YOU LIVE ON AS QUICKLY AS POSSIBLE. THE FACT THAT IT HAS TAKEN MILLIONS OF YEARS OF USING TOOLS TO GET TO THIS CLOSE TO AN APPROACHING GLOBAL NUCLEAR HOLOCAUST IS ALL THE PROOF YOU NEED.

BY USING MACHINES, YOU HAVE BECOME THE SERVANTS OF MACHINES.
BY USING MONEY, YOU HAVE BECOME THE SLAVES OF MONEY.

BY USING NUCLEAR BOMBS, YOU HAVE BECOME POWERLESS SLAVES: RESIGNED TO NUCLEAR POWER AND NUCLEAR DESTRUICTION AND NUCLEAR RADIOACTIVE POLLUTION.
And all of you pretend that this is not important*!

YOU BLIND FOOLS HAVE BEEN PROGRAMMED BY THE UNDEAD INTO SYSTEMATICALLY DESTROYING THE PLANET YOU LIVE ON.

THAT IS NOT NORMAL!

MACHINES RULE YOU!
YOU DO NOT RULE MACHINES, YOU INSANE FOOLS!
BY USING MACHINES, YOU HAVE LOST YOUR HUMANITY.

BY BECOMING USERS; YOU HAVE BECOME EVIL:
BY WORSHIPING THE SATANIC EVIL OF USURY AND WORSHIPING THE GOD OF MONEY; YOU HAVE CORRUPTED

YOURSELVES INTO BLIND, INSANE, WORSHIPERS OF Judaic EVIL

YOUR ENTIRE MECHANIZED CIVILIZATION IS AN ABOMINATION OF PURE EVIL... PLANNED BY THE UNDEAD, PUSHED ONTO LIVING PEOPLE BY THE DEAD, AND CARRIED OUT BY THE UNDEAD WHO HIDE INSIDE YOU AND ALL AROUND YOU.

CIVILIZATION IS AN ABOMINATION INVENTED BY THE UNDEAD OVER A PERIOD OF THOUSANDS OF YEARS.

GET THAT THROUGH YOUR FUCKING HEAD.
GET THIS TRUTH INTO YOUR BRAINWASHED BRAINS AND CHEW ON THIS FACT… UNTIL YOU REALIZE ITS TRUTH.
8 BILLION PEOPLE ON THIS EARTH LOOKING OUT ONLY FOR THEIR OWN SELFISH INTERESTS IS NOT NORMAL.

BLINDLY DESTROYING ALL LIFE ON EARTH
While pretending not to notice that we are all doing it
IS NOT NORMAL.

POLLUTING THE ENTIRE PLANET
While pretending not to notice that we are all doing it
And pretending that it is not important
IS NOT NORMAL.

HUMANS ARE NOT GENETICALLY DESIGNED TO KILL.
Humans are genetically designed to touch all living things on Earth sensitively, and by doing so, teach them how to love and stop killing and eating each other.

The undead have reversed this… The undead have reversed the genetic design of humans. The undead have poisoned humans for millions of years and twisted and reversed their natural designed functions.

Instead of humans touching all living things, humans are KILLING all living things, by using tools and MACHINES to do it.

Instead of touching each other, humans are DISTANCING THEMSELVES FROM EACH OTHER, until now they are insulated, isolated, alienated, lonely, blind, brainwashed slaves to the INTERNET… the WEB OF ABSTRACT, 2-DIMENSIONAL UNDEAD EVIL.

The internet you use, USES YOU MORE THAN YOU USE IT.
YOU BLIND FOOLS

The computer you use, USES YOU MORE THAN YOU USE IT.
YOU BLIND FOOLS

The internet and the computer ISOLATES YOU and INSULATES YOU from the real world: YOU BLIND FOOLS.

WAKE UP. Shut down your machines AND COME TOGETHER AND TOUCH EACH OTHER EMOTIONALLY
SPIRITUALLY PHYSICALLY

YOU CAN'T DO THAT USING MACHINES.
YOU CAN'T DO THAT USING THE ABSTRACT WEB OF UNDEAD EVIL. IT WILL SUCK YOU IN AND DESTROY YOUR HUMANITY AND CORRUPT YOU AND YOU WILL DROWN IN AN OCEAN OF ABSTRACT, 2-DIMENSIONAL UNREALITY, UNABLE TO TELL THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN GOOD AND EVIL… which is exactly what the internet was designed for you fools.
The internet turns all of you mouse users into little paranoid blind MICE.
The MOUSE you use, USES YOU MORE THAN YOU USE IT; YOU FOOLS.

WHATEVER YOU USE
IS WHAT YOU WILL BECOME; YOU FOOLS.
WHEN YOU USE MACHINES; YOU BECOME A MACHINE.
WHEN YOU BECOME A MACHINE; YOU LOSE YOUR HUMANITY.
THE LOSS OF LOVE IN THE WORLD COMES FROM HUMANS LOVING MACHINES INSTEAD OF PEOPLE.

WHEN YOU LOVE MACHINES MORE THAN HUMANS
YOU ARE NOT HUMAN.

WHEN YOU LOVE PETS MORE THAN YOU LOVE HUMANS
YOU ARE NOT HUMAN.
GET THIS THROUGH YOUR FUCKING HEAD.

Billions of idiots sitting on their asses staring at flat screens all day
IS NOT NORMAL and IS NOT HEALTHY.
Doing nothing but sitting on your ass day and night
IS NOT GOOD FOR ANYONE!

WAKE THE FUCK UP.

Letting machines do all the work for you IS NOT GOOD: it is EVIL.
Using machines as slaves IS NOT GOOD: IT IS EVIL.
When you use ANYTHING and treat it as a slave: THAT IS NOT GOOD: IT IS EVIL. Using slaves for your own selfish concerns IS NOT GOOD: regardless of whether the slaves are machines or humans or animals.

ANIMALS WERE NOT DESIGNED TO SERVE YOU AS SLAVES.
METALS WERE NOT DESIGNED TO SERVE YOU AS SLAVES.
HUMANS WERE NOT DESIGNED TO SERVE YOU AS SLAVES.
THE WAY TO LIVE IS BY GIVING LOVE: NOT USING OTHERS AS SLAVES. WHEN YOU LIVE BY GIVING, NOT TAKING AND USING: YOU BECOME HAPPY.

WAKE THE FUCK UP.

THE ENERGY OF THE UNIVERSE IS DESIGNED TO COME TOGETHER ORGANICALLY AND NATURALLY: NOT BE BLOWN APART BY NUCLEAR BOMBS INVENTED BY JEWS.
THE EVIL OF THE UNDEAD HAS NOW BEEN EXPOSED BY ME: INDREK PRINGI.

ALL IT TAKES IS THE WILLINGNESS TO KILL EVIL. NOTHING ELSE. WHEN YOU KILL EVIL PEOPLE YOU STOP BEING A VICTIM; YOU BECOME AN AVENGER.

THE EVIL OF MUSIC:

I composed and played my own Music for 30 years, I have listened to all kinds of music, and I can tell you as a musician… most music… especially the most sacred; is made up of descending scales.

What are scales? They are things used to measure gold, money, coins. Scales are evil. Scales come from reptiles. Descending musical scales going down into blackness, evil and death is what humans have been poisoned by in worshipping this utter shit. A perfect example is "Joy to the World'… Instead of rising UP in joy, all it does is DESCEND DOWN INTO DEATH DARKNESS AND EVIL over and over…

There are exceptions to this: For instance the Christmas song "Sleigh Bells" When did that song become popular?... RIGHT AFTER MILLIONS OF HUMANS WERE SLAIN AND MASSACRED IN THAT HORRIBLE WAR IN EUROPE: The sleigh bells rejoice over the SLAYING OF MILLIONS OF HUMANS… that is why it is one of the rare 'cheerful" Christmas songs were invented by the undead… Nearly ALL OF THEM are dreary, doleful, slow, depressing, boring pieces of evil brainwash SHIT. No positive, uplifting music has ever been created because every human who ever composed any music has been POISONED by the undead. I am a composer and a musician and I know what I am talking about. I stopped composing and playing music years ago. Since then: music has rotted even more into utter degenerate shit.

The entire process of ruining and rotting everything that is positive is WHAT THE DEAD DO ALL THE TIME TO THE LIVING: THAT IS WHY THEY MUST BE EXTERMINATED AND KILLED OUT OF EXISTENCE.

How can you tell the undead are all around you all the time?
The undead are responsible for every itch you have…
That is one evil cunning way they have of revealing their satanic evil presence. There is no reason for humans to itch when they are not plagued by Skin problems or parasites on your body or in your hair.

The undead are a rotting evil disease that plague every living thing on Earth. Because humans are the most sensitized and sensitively aware and intelligent creatures on Earth; we are the only animal able to become aware of their foul cunning evil presence, and we are the only ones capable of KILLING THEM until all of these violating filth are DEAD.

But how can this be!? There are millions of accounts of near death experiences where people encounter beings of light! EXACTLY.

TJEIR BODIES ARE CONSTANTLY DECOMPOSING INTO LIGHT RADIATION ALL THE TIME UNTIL THERE IS NOTHING LEFT OF THEM EXCEPT A DEADLY POISONOUS BLACK FOULNESS.
JUST LIKE STARS DECOMPOSE.
OUR SUN IS A DECOMPOSING STAR.
ALL THE STARS IN THE UNIVERSE ARE HUGE MASSES OF DECOMPOSING ENERGY.
ALL ENERGY IN THE UNIVERSE DECOMPOSES.
THERE ARE NO EXCEPTION TO THIS UNIVERSAL LAW OF PHYSICS.
THERE IS NO FUCKING IMMORTALITY
ALL NEAR DEATH EXPERIENCES OF RADIATING BEINGS PROVE THIS FACT EVIL UNDEAD ENTITIES THAT REFUSE TO DECOMPOSE HAVE FOUND WAYS TO AVOID DECOMPOSING
BY SUCKING OFF THE LIFE ENERGY OF LIVING CREATURES AND ESPECIALLY LIVING HUMANS

THEY MUST BE EXTERMINATED AND KILLED DEAD

Why the Undead fear Sunlight and hide in darkness

The reason the rotting undead fear Sunlight is simple and scientific:
They are designed to decompose and any exposure to radiation from our Sun accelerates their decomposition. This is why they hide in nooks and crannies and in shadows and underground.

How this happened is also scientifically explainable. The first living things in the ocean when they died, they sank to the bottom of the sea where sunlight could not reach them… There they rotted slowly… more slowly than they were designed to rot and decompose. That is why all living creatures at the bottom of the sea are ugly horrible abominations. All living things that live in darkness are ugly, horrible monsters because they are poisoned by the undead all around them all the time… The undead learned early on to avoid sunlight, long before there was any Life on land. Understand this! There is no life and death as you know it… there is just Composition and Decomposition. The Universe has NO exceptions to this. There is no immortality or eternal life after death. There is just Energy being composed and decomposed… BUT… there is always more Composition than Decomposition. The Universe is constantly composing itself as best it can… imperfectly, but always doing so more than decomposing. The Universe is continually going Forward: not backward. It began with a completely amorphous, decomposed mass of Energy and Space… Now it has evolved into composed masses of Energy called galaxies, stars, planets, dust clouds, etc… And composed masses of interstellar Space and Space bubbles of all sizes. We humans are the most evolved and most advanced form of composed Energy in the Universe.

When a person dies: their undead, still living energy aura is designed to either go out of its dead body and dissolve into decomposed Energy radiation activated by rays of Sunlight, which decomposes their aura and dissipates it into the world… Or if they stay inside the corpse: they slowly go mad and insane as their corpse turns into a rotting mass of decomposing flesh, brain tissue, and bones… so, they decompose along with their physical body.

The reason all life-after-death experience have the same basic experience is because the undead entities they meet ARE CONSTANTLY DECOMPOSING INTO RADIANT ENERGY… People who return from this near-death experience feel this decomposing radiation as radiating "love" or being exposed to "bliss" or whatever… IT IS NOT LOVE. IT IS UNDEAD ROTTING THINGS THAT ARE DECOMPOSING AND RADIATING AWAY THEIR AURAS UNTIL THEY DISAPPEAR COMPLETELY.

The question is… WHERE DO THEY GET THEIR ENERGY FROM?
The answer is… From YOU… from us the living… By hovering over us and around us and hiding inside us… they absorb our living Energy and they have been doing it from the first day you were born; they have been doing this to keep from decomposing for millions if not for billions of years. Understand this! All radiation is a form of decomposition! Even stars do not radiate forever… they decompose until they stop radiating or explode. The laws of the Universe have NO exceptions. There is no such thing as a radiating being that radiates for eternity.

The tricks the undead play on newly arrived undead auras are manifold, but basically the undead use newly arrived undead as an Energy source to suck on. That is what the Vortex is all about. Gathering all the newly undead auras into a maelstrom of Radiant energy.

THE ENTIRE REALM OF THE UNDEAD IS COMPOSED ONLY OF EVIL BEINGS… ONLY EVIL UNDEAD SEEK TO HIDE FROM SUNLIGHT. ONLY EVIL PEOPLE SEEK TO HIDE FROM THE LIGHT OF DAY.

GOOD PEOPLE DECOMPOSE NATURALLY BECAUSE THEY ARE NOT AFRAID OF SUNLIGHT AND DO NOT SEEK TO HIDE IN DARKENESS. The reason why good people experience the visitation of someone they are close to ONLY ONCE is because the 'ghost' aura decomposes naturally and very quickly fades away.

BECAUSE OF THIS; THE ONLY UNDEAD THAT DO NOT DECOMPOSE RIGHT AWAY ARE THE MOST EVIL FILTHY NASTY SICK TWISTED SCUM ON EARTH.
THE LONGER IT TAKES AN UNDEAD ENTITY TO DECOMPOSE… THE MORE EVIL IT BECOMES.

The reason for this is because the more evil a person is while alive: the more painful and horrible its decomposition is. This is why you must KILL as many of these foul monsters as you can the instant you enter their realm of rotting horror. THE UNDEAD DO NOT WANT TO BE TOUCHED. That is because being touched by a powerful positive aura KILLS THEM. GRAB THEM AND KILL THEM DEAD. They NEED TO BE KILLED DEAD.

All the grisly horror stories and ghost stories are simply these rotting, filthy, decomposing undead abominations violating the realm of the Living, and WHY?... How many times have you heard one of these things say:
"Don't make me go back there"… The realm of the undead is overflowing with these unspeakable decomposing monsters. So much so, that they cannot stand to be in their own company of decomposing filth… and why?... One reason is many of them are not aware that they have died… they think they are still alive. Also, because not only do their energy auras rot and decompose… their memories rot and decompose also… Until the only thing left in their rotting brains is the most intense imprint left… the most intense experiences they underwent while they were alive; resulting in what is called as ghosts 'haunting" reliving certain experiences and searching out their old places… or if their death was the most intense experience they ever had, they relive their deaths over and over until their rotting insane energy decomposes to the extent that they are not an integrated energy aura anymore. ALL THIS IS PERFECTLY LOGICAL AND UNDERSTANDABLE: If you inspect any garden mulch in the process of decomposing, you will see exactly the same process going on.

THESE THINGS ARE DESIGNED TO DECOMPOSE: THEY ARE MEANT TO DECOMPOSE. THESE FILTHY ROTTING THINGS INVADING OUR REALM OF THE LIVING NEED TO BE DESTROYED AND ATTACKED AND SYSTEMATICALLY HUNTED DOWN AND OBLITERATED AND DRIVEN BACK INTO THEIR OWN REALM WHERE THEY BELONG.

How many times have near death experiences recounted meeting their dead relatives and loved ones? Why is this a common theme? BECAUSE THEY HAVE BEEN HOVERING AROUND YOU AND HIDING INSIDE YOU ALL OF YOUR LIFE AND BECAUSE THAT IS THE ONLY WAY THEY CAN SUCK OFF YOUR LIFE ENERGY AND KEEP FROM DECOMPOSING. And why do these undead entities always send the person back? BECAUSE THEY WANT TO SUCK OFF YOUR LIFE ENERGY FOR AS LONG AS POSSIBLE, SO THEY WILL NOT BE DRIVEN BACK INTO THE REALM OF THE UNDEAD WHERE THEY BELONG. The energy they radiate is the ENERGY THEY STOLE FROM THE LIVING VICTIMS THEY SUCK FROM: It is not 'love' that they radiate… it is not mysterious or inexplicable. They are DESIGNED TO RADIATE AND DECOMPOSE: not suck off living humans like parasitical vampires which they are.

What people experience as "love" from the spiritual realm is actually the Life-Energy radiation of a decomposing dying undead ghoul or ghouls RADIATING OUT. ALL LIFE ENERGY DECOMPOSES INTO RADIATION. All energy is designed to COMPOSE and DECOMPOSE. There is no "life after death"; There is only COMPOSITION OF ENERGY AND DECOMPOSITION OF ENERGY. These filthy stinking evil undead ghouls have found cunning ways to keep from rotting and completely decomposing by HIDING THEMSELVES INSIDE THE BODIES OF LIVING HUMANS AND OTHER ANIMALS and hovering around them and descending upon them and into them to SUCK ON THEIR LIFE ENERGY WHILE THEY ARE ASLEEP. This is why most dreams living people have are garbled and twisted or horrible and terrifying. The myth of "life after death" is an evil LIE... It is perpetuated and was invented to fool living humans so they would never suspect that they are being constantly poisoned by these parasitical rotting undead filth ALL OF THEIR LIVES. The feeling of warmth from a burning log; the energy it radiates as it decomposes IS NOT BECAUSE THE LOG LOVES YOU. It is just because you are close enough to the burning log as it decomposes to feel its dying radiation. The same is true with all after-life experiences. Those who die are PURPOSELY AND CUNNINGLY DECEIVED into believing that once they die, they will enter a realm of eternal "love". Instead they are forced into THE VORTEX. The VORTEX is the evil diabolical way that EVIL UNDEAD HAVE INVENTED AND USED TO SUCK ALL THE DECOMPOSING LIFE ENERGY OUT OF MILLIONS OF INNOCENT SOULS WHO DIE AND USE IT TO PRESERVE THEIR OWN FILTHY ROTTING EVIL EXISTENCE.

Their abominable evil of poisoning their own offspring with their filthy evil stinking rotting presence IS WHY EVIL EXISTS IN THE WORLD. They are the CAUSE OF ALL EVILS ON EARTH. THEY MUST BE UTTERLY OBLITERATED AND COMPLETELY DESTROYED AND HUNTED DOWN AND KILLED DEAD.

Many of the undead's exposure of their own evil existence relies on living humans being ignorant of the true history of the past… For instance…. What is Christ's mass? It is a commemoration of the first killings of masses of the first true Christians by the Romans. What are presents? They are the first coffins of the undead, and when opened; released the poisonous presence of the undead into the world of the living. The first boxes were the stone coffins made to PRESERVE the decomposing rotting bodies of the dead. What you must understand is that the real original meaning and significance of everything has been twisted and poisoned in order to hide the presence of these filthy evil pieces of hiding shit. Only when you know the true origins of things LIKE I DO, can you see through the cunning way in which the undead have been able to dupe and fool and deceive the Living for thousands and thousands of years. THAT IS WHY ALL OF THESE FOUL THINGS MUST BE HUNTED DOWN AND EXTERMINATED FOREVER AND KILLED DEAD.

What is the tradition of blowing out candles on birthdays? It is the undead: extinguishing the birth of all new Life before it can grow and flourish.
Here is an older example of the evil existence of the undead:
In ancient Egypt Ma'at was represented as the goddess of truth, justice, divine order, cosmic order, and balance. She is represented with wings of the vulture.

The vulture is a symbol of death and decay; it is ugly and one of the oldest birds in the world… yet the Egyptians managed to reverse the meaning of this foul reptilian horror and whitewashed it into the antithesis, the opposite, of what it actually represents. A carrion bird worshiped as a symbol of truth and justice! How obvious can you get?

2022 Update:

Do you think that the global coordinated collusion of selling the fake plandemic between the mass media, and govts and corporations and the medical establishment and big pharma was all orchestrated and co-coordinated perfectly by a small cabal of living people? And the global mass censorship campaign to destroy and suppress all truth about this hoax was all planned by humans? And the rollout of billions of poisonous MRNA experimental death shots all over the world, plus chemtrails and 5G and GM foods that make both women and men infertile is all the result of a tiny cabal of rich eugenicists?

Do you really think that suddenly in the space of a few months, all the governments in the world, all the medical authorities in the world, all the corporations in the world, all the media corporations in the world, all the doctors in the world; got together in a worldwide conspiracy to censor all the facts and whistleblowers and threaten them with losing their jobs, and deplatform anyone who tried to spread the truth about Covid, and the MRNA experimental jabs, while conspiring together to dupe and fool and brainwash 8 ½ billion people into being forced and pushed and sold to take these deadly injections? And that this is all an evil plan of a few rich billionaires, and that their plan worked so perfectly that after 2 ½ years, the world has still not woken up to the millions of people injured and killed by these deadly injections? That after millions of men and women have been made infertile, that nobody has yet realized what has been done to them?

The spike protein is meant to be the final nail in the coffin of western Christian civilization. Jesus was crucified by spikes driven into his body to kill him and his message… It failed. His message lived on. Instead, Christian sects spread all over Europe. As a result of Christian morals and ethics; European western civilization became the most humane, advanced, progressive civilization in all the world. The undead have come up with a diabolical plan to end western civilization for once and all: the spike protein… What is the spike protein? Spike proteins are a byproduct of cell death… The undead are also a byproduct of death. Do you understand? The undead are responsible for cancers killing patients; they poison the inner organs of the human body. They are responsible for most of the deaths due to disease. They operate on microscopic levels of biological and energy poisoning. 5G is just one of their newest abominations.

Do you really think that entire forests are being destroyed, species are going extinct, the air, lakes, rivers, the groundwater, entire oceans, the very plants we eat are being poisoned and polluted just so a few corporations can make a profit? By 2025 there will be more plastic in the oceans than there are fish. Do you really think that all this is just the happenstance of a few corrupt greedy people? Do you really think that this plethora of evil conspiracies where were successfully planed and still are being carried out on a vast global level with millions of willing actors and conspirators perfectly in sync with each other is all just a byproduct of avarice and greed and the motive for profit?

If so, you are an idiot.

This is an attack on Humanity by the undead in an attempt to kill as many young healthy people as possible using these experimental poisonous injections…and now they are going after your babies and your children. Everything is being done by the undead to destroy the human species and civilization as it is today. From the burning down of food plants to digital ID, to the threat of nuclear war; the origins of all this sudden upheaval of massive evil being inflicted on billions of living humans ARE THE UNDEAD.

Until good people learn to KILL those who are evil: they will flaunt their evils in your face, in front of all of you and destroy you with perfect impunity. Only when you are GOOD can you perceive evil. If you are corrupted by evil motives and poisoned by evil entities; you will perceive evil people to be just like you and you will not kill them because you are evil also. All it takes is to KILL a few evil people and the entire conspiracy of the undead will unravel… If only three people; Soros, Gates and Fauci: are KILLED DEAD: that will send a clear message to all their paid underlings that they are next. But nobody even thinks of doing it… because all of you are controlled and suppressed and manipulated by the undead. The proof that the undead are inside everyone is obvious. Billions of people being victimized and killed and destroyed by a few filthy rich evil puppets of the undead, and yet nobody lifts one finger to stop them.

All that is needed is to put a price on the head of these scum, just like Muslims put a price on the head of a few people who criticize their religion and it is over… yet nobody has the guts or balls or the brains to do it… How can there be 8 1/2 billion cowards and not one person with the intelligence and will to rid the Earth of these monsters? How is it that there is not one person in all the world with the courage to kill these evil puppets of the undead? That is mathematically impossible; UNLESS what I tell to you about the undead is true. Naomi Wolf with her knowledge of the international collusions between Big Pharma-Govt-MassMedia-Health organizations says out loud that she cannot explain it any other way than a satanic influence of evil that covers the entire world.

To give you a historical perspective on the steadily increasing, accelerating impact of the undead on civilization, once any extraordinary positive thing was described as “Super!” “Great” ‘Wow! “Fantastic! “Wonderful!”... then it became “Cool!”… now it is “SICK!”… do you understand?

The act of delegating or ordering anyone to do something by anyone in power or authority is EVIL. Why? Because they are in turn being used as puppets by the undead who are delegating to them and ordering them what to do. That is why all power and authority is EVIL. You giving orders is only a reflection of the undead giving YOU orders. No person should have any power or authority over anyone. Humans are designed to cooperate with each other, willingly of their own accord without being forced to do anything. This is why the pyramidal structure of civilization that accumulates power and authority at the top of the shit pile is intrinsically EVIL This is also why all military and corporate and religious organizations are EVIL This is why all people who seek power and authority are EVIL because the urge and motivation to gain power and authority comes from the undead: NOT from living humans. A person who is not corrupted and controlled by the undead has no desire to seek or gain power and authority over anyone…

UNLESS THEY PERCEIVE SOMEONE IS EVIL AND NEEDS TO BE KILLED DEAD.

Then their moral and ethical anger against all that is evil gives them greater Moral, Ethical and PHYSICAL power and authority than those who are evil and controlled by the undead.

That is why all evil people who use power and authority to commit evil surround themselves with security forces and paid bodyguards and live behind walls in gated communities… This is why evil people who had power and authority in the past lived in huge stone castles behind huge stone walls and hired huge armies to protect them from the people they oppressed because they knew they were evil and knew they could not mingle with their subjects because they would be rightly killed for their evil. Jesus walked unafraid among the people because he was not evil…. ALL POWERFUL RULERS DO NOT DO THAT… INCLUDING POPES. Adolph Hitler walked amongst his people unafraid because he was not evil… STALIN AND CHURCHILL AND FDR DID NOT DO THAT because they were all EVIL and they knew it.

The power of GOOD is always greater than the power of evil… this why all evil people use artificial, cunning means to protect themselves from others who are not evil: like bodyguards and police forces and armies and false legal and illegal authority and laws. The entire pyramidal structure of civilization is designed to protect criminals while oppressing those who are not criminals. Most people are not criminals. Only the criminally minded seek power and authority.

The old adage of “Kill or be Killed is CORRECT… If you do not have the urge and desire to KILL evil, then you yourself are evil. It is that simple… Either you kill evil or else it will kill you… either you cleanse yourself of all your inner demons and urges or else they will take you over and corrupt you and turn you into an evil person who is controlled by the undead. When there are more evil people in the world than GOOD people: evil grows by leaps and bounds and flourishes… as it is doing now today. When there are more good people than evil people, there is happiness and love and flowers bloom, like it did in National Socialist Germany between 1933 and 1939.

Just what exactly is all this vaunted 'power' that we have been taught to worship and respect and fear?... The power of empires, governments, police, armies, nuclear bombs etc…? The basis of all civilized power is EVIL…
It is the power to KILL. It is the power to CREATE DEATH, not Life.
The power to create LIFE is POSITIVE
The power to create death is NEGATIVE.
That is why all civilization is EVIL: because the only thing this artificial system has done is to increase the power to KILL, the power to create DEATH: not Life. That is the history of the human species. Over millions of years, humans have improved and advanced their power to KILL, the power to create DEATH: not Life. The source of all civilized power is the ability to create DEATH: not LIFE. This history of millions of years of the human species is the history of the undead hiding inside living humans, poisoning them and using them to invent better and better ways to create DEATH, That is why all the undead MUST BE KILLED DEAD. They must be EXTERMINATED and DESTROYED AND DECOMPOSED INTO THEIR CONSTITUENT PARTICLES OF ROTTING, DECOMPOSING ENERGY. Hitler was a good person who enabled Germany to blossom for a few short years, and was poisoned by the undead to destroy the happiest nation to ever live by the undead organizing all of its forces of global evil against him and Germany and influencing him to make crucial bad decisions that made Germany lose the war.

At first we could only kill each other using spears and cudgels and bows… then we invented guns and killed each other by the thousands… then we invented bombs and killed each other by the millions… now we have invented nuclear bombs that can kill humans by the hundreds of millions… All these inventions ARE INVENTIONS OF THE UNDEAD.

Where is all this leading to, eh?... To what end? It is obvious what this is leading to; the destruction of all Life on Earth. That is why the undead must be KILLED DEAD DEAD DEAD. They are personally responsible for every single evil in the world. Every single one of them is responsible for hiding inside and around living humans and colluding and conspiring together to make living humans commit horrible insane acts of evil.

You don't believe this? Leslie Wexner who was the handler of Jeffrey Epstein told a news reporter on camera that there is a demon that lives inside him that tells him what to do… Do you understand? The undead handler of Wexner is handling Epstein through Wexner… That is how the undead work. Whitney Webb's two books; One Nation under Blackmail Vol. 1 and One Nation under Blackmail Vol. 2 exposes the convoluted, intricate, cunning, hidden connections between people in power and how the American crime syndicate known as The National Crime Syndicate merged with Israeli and American intelligence to become the global western power behind the thrones of power that control everything in the western world today… The National Crime Syndicate was of course a jewish conglomerate of jewish evil. The British and American intelligence agencies and networks merged with the criminal mob during WW2 when the undead were bent on destroying the only healthy western nation of Germany for the 'crime' of becoming too humane, too progressive, too socially advanced under the National Socialist platform of Adolph Hitler's regime.

Understand this: When you begin to go down the rabbit hole of pure evil on this Earth: THERE IS NO END TO IT…the more you discover, the more evil it becomes except there IS one true end… there IS one true origin, and that is the UNDEAD. THEY MUST BE KILLED AND DESTROYED AND EXTERMINATED.

Latest 2025 Update

The undead are switching to a new control mechanism… Instead of controlling the masses by the fear of invisible, nonexistent gods; they are switching to the fear of invisible nonexistent viruses. Humans are not aware of the irony… by switching from the largest nonexistent fraud to the tiniest, most minute nonexistent fraud, the undead are laughing at living humans for their gullibility and stupidity and how easily the undead can fool and deceive living humans.

BUT THE FRAUD IS NOT WORKING. THERE ARE TOO MANY SCIENTISTS AND WHISTLEBLOWERS WHO KNOW AND CAN SCIENTIFICALLY PROVE THAT VIRUSES DO NOT EXIST. Plus there are too many living humans who do not believe god exists.

The only way the undead can stop this spread of enlightenment is to dumb down the masses to the point where all naysayers are seen as heretics and conventional science becomes a new religion devoutly believed in by the illiterate, uneducated masses; which will gradually replace the old religions so gradually; humans will not notice the glaring inconsistencies and hoaxes and irrationalities and pure illogical nonsense that all of them are full of…

Then there will be a repeat of 3,000 years of history, where one form of religious fraud (monotheism) drives out and extinguishes all other religious concepts and religions. Except in this case it will be one form of conventional science driving out all true and tested science so there is no real science allowed to be practiced. Whether this long range conspiracy and plan will succeed is yet to be seen…

The reason for the first switch was because it was becoming unmanageable. There were too many of them… They conflicted with each other too much. How could all of them be omnipotent and all-powerful if none of them agreed with each other? There was a growing awareness and understanding that these countless deities were not all that powerful. They were not being taken seriously. Religious beliefs and convictions were being watered down into pure expediencies, personal tastes, preferences, convenience, fads rather than absolute devout beliefs..

This book is written to defeat that plan and to kill every single undead that violates the Realm of the Living.

1

For those who want to understand this work better: you need to read the entirety of my first book first: "The Path of Splitness" which is printed above this book.

FIRST AND FOREMOST

THE NEW CIVILIZATION WILL BE BASED ON THE UNIVERSAL PRINCIPLES OF: HONESTY: EQUALITY: RESPONSIBILITY: COOPERATION AND LOVE.

But equally as important is the ethical-moral-spiritual imperative for constant improvement. There is an old Estonian folk song that is traditionally the last song sung around every camp fire before the adults and children break up and go to their beds… It is sung in a circle around the fire with everyone holding hands crossed so the crossed left hand holds the crossed right hand of the person on their right and their crossed right hand holds the crossed left hand of the person on their left…

Translated the song sings about sleep coming to take us… It sings of being better today than we were yesterday… it sings of being better tomorrow than we were today… As a child I was always impressed by that song and how spiritually good and selfless it was… But they were all empty words… Nobody tried to be better… nobody was any better the next day… I remember wishing that song was true; that it meant something to people: but it didn't. It was just an old folk song sung out of habit; it was just lip service; it meant nothing to those singing it, though it should have meant everything…

In the new civilization the spiritual-moral-ethical promise to improve oneself… to become a better person, to become better than you were will be the sacred goal of all Humanity. Every night every person in every community on earth will hold hands in a circle before going to bed and vow to become a better person, better than they were before, better than they are now.

This will be that last thought every human on earth will have before they go to sleep: "How can Ii become a better person tomorrow than I was today?" Every night, every child an adult in earth will go to sleep asking themselves… "How can I become a better than I was today?"

Why is this absolutely crucial for all humans? Because without the constant reminder of the need to become better; humans will slide into a rut… they will become smug and lazy and self-satisfied with the status quo… They will resist any change no matter how beneficial it may be for everyone.

Only the constant reminder of humility, the constant pressure to improve, the spiritual need to always strive to become a better person can keep the new civilization from stagnating into rot and then slide down into degeneracy and evil. By simply trying to improve themselves every day by following the five simple universal principles of Honesty, Equality, responsibility, Cooperation and Love; the entire living Earth can be transformed into a Paradise, a Utopia beyond our imagination.

These five simple universal principles will not be hard to implement… Every grammar school beginning att grade one will teach these five fundamental Principles to every child and these five Universal principles will continue to be taught in high school and in college. By the time young people graduate and become responsible adults they will be prepared to live a life that is defined by their training and understanding of these five sacred universal principles until it becomes a part of their inner soul and their entire outlook on Life and how they make their decisions. In other words; by basing all education on the ethical and moral values of these five principles; by making all other education secondary to these five sacred principles; this guarantees that all humans will do not only the right thing every time; but that they will do what is best for everyone. This guarantees that no child will turn into a dishonest criminal. No child will turn into a degenerate pervert. No child will turn into a power mad control freak. No child will turn into a manipulative liar.

Because our present civilization is based on the degenerate, evil, unspoken religion of Hedonism; it is no surprise that people who value equality, honesty, responsibility, cooperation, love are as rare as hen's teeth. Simply by teaching these five moral-ethical principles from day one; not only in school but at home also: this literally destroys all evil at its root by replacing the unspoken evil subliminal programming of Hedonistic values with five simple Principles that any child can easily understand. And by reinforcing this teaching every year of school so it becomes drummed into their minds, brains, hearts and souls until they become impervious to any and all evil urges or motives that might make them stray from the paths of righteousness and truth.

The new civilization will not be based on any legal document like a constitution or a body of laws, or rights… It will be based on the universal principle of personal and public Responsibility and Cooperation… How this works is simple. The more responsibility anyone assumes and carries out successfully and competently, the more authority and power they earn… The less responsibility someone takes on, the less authority and power they will have. This is a merit based system that is self regulating. You can be a powerless nobody with no responsibilities and be despised by others and looked down upon and ignored. Or you can be responsible and be respected by your peers and your reputation will rest solely on how well you carry out your responsibilities and how many responsibilities you take on and how well you handle them.

Basically this means you have no rights:
You only have Responsibilities

But this Principles based on an even more basic Principle of Universal Equality… Everyone is equal to everyone else.

What about Courage?... It takes courage to be responsible. It takes courage to be honest; it takes courage to cooperate. It takes courage to love.

To give you an idea of what Universal Equality means… there will be no one sided interviews or one-sided speeches in the new civilization… Why?...

Because everyone who asks somebody a question; will have the equal right to question their questioner or disagree with them. All dialogue will be balanced: not one-sided. Everyone who listens to a statement or speech will have the right to rebut or refute or question the person making that statement or speech or make a speech of their own. In other words there will be no top-down declamations of authority figures to the lowly masses. Everyone will have the right to engage everyone else on the level of conversation based on the Principle of Equality… Conversations will be balanced and equal not because of any legal right or freedom of self expression but because the overriding Principle of Universal Equality in conversation and speech gives everyone an equal opportunity to express themselves. The idea that self expression is or should be a 'right' only exists because hierarchical civilization suppresses self expression. Self expression is not a 'right'; it is natural. You don't need a legal 'right' to naturally express yourself. Without oppression there is no need for legal 'freedoms' or 'rights'. These terms and ideas only exist because hierarchical civilization oppresses what is natural. What will be sought after instead is to express yourself responsibly and cooperatively: not argumentatively and confrontationally.

And the first Responsibility you have is to cooperate with yourself and with others. I do not use the term 'best interests' because it is a corrupt term based on Hedonism. What is best for you does not and should not be determined by your personal "interests". It should be determined by what is actually good for you and for others. The truth is what is actually good for you is good for others. If you like pizza but know it is not good for you, you will not eat any pizza simply because you value your own health more than you do to any preference for addictive unhealthy food choices. The new civilization will not be based on people pleasing their own selfish, Hedonistic appetites and urges but on what is the responsible thing to do. (These responsibilities will be outlined and explained in the next chapter.)

This does not mean that failing in any responsibility will be seen as bad. This who do not give up and try again until they succeed, their doggedness and determination will be appreciated and valued. However those who fail and give up will be despised as quitters. This will also balance out the people between those who are gifted and talented and succeed easily the first time with those who are not as talented in whatever responsibilities they take on.

The entire goal of this new civilization is to created humans who are balanced and integrated. This means that the basic training and education of all people will be in all aspects of Humanity; not machines. Not specialized in one certain field, regardless of if they show a talent of gift for something… Only after basic training and education will there be any specialization. This will insure all people in the world will have a basic commonality and background of learning and abilities and give everyone a common background of learning and experience so they can relate to each other and cooperate with each other not as strangers with strange ideas or a strange culture or strange beliefs or a strange language ir a strange religion. All false ideologies will be exposed and done away with. Humans will see themselves as one species and one purpose and one goal: Which is to improve the entire Living Earth by making friends with all living creatures, and by doing so… improve themselves in the process. That means it is not important in exactly how they improve themselves and the Living Earth because both are connected and are one and the same.

The goal of all humans will be learning how to live in Nature, with Nature… not outside it, because everyone will be taught how the horrors of all the old civilizations were evil and were designed to kill all Life on Earth.

For a new civilization to be born and developed, the basic building block of civilization must be improved and expanded from the nuclear family to a community of families of 12. in an unbreakable triad of social bonds interconnected with each other 3 sets of 12 families… making up 36 families; like this:

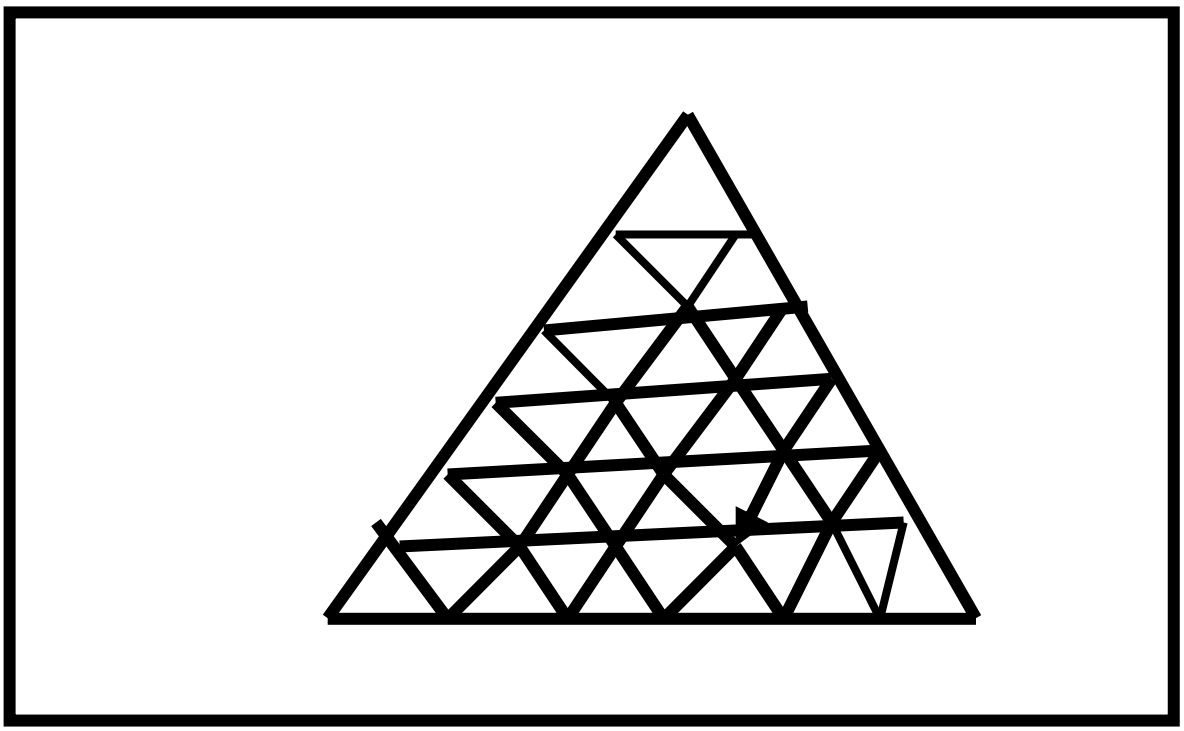
So that ALL of civilization, ALL of human societies, ALL families are formed and connected together in a single interconnected web and framework of families like this:



This mathematical structure is the strongest structure in the Universe

It cannot broken by anything within it or outside it

Each set of 12 families is directly connected to 6 other sets of 12 families.

This creates not only a state or province or nation of communal social connections; It creates an entire world, a global civilization of small, interconnected communities that are all equal to each other and do not have any more power or social standing than others except by merit which they can only earn by their proven achievements and their being more advanced and progressive than others…

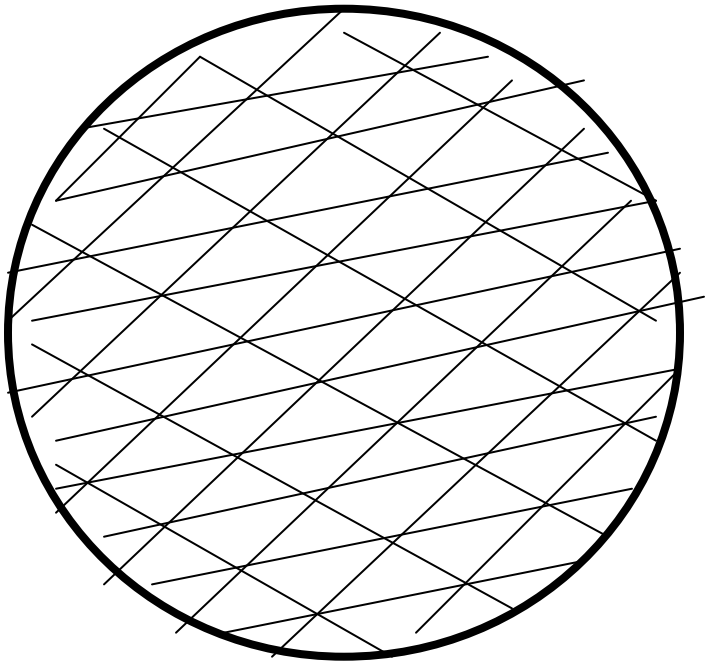
The only reason this social structure looks like the hierarchical pyramidal structure that exists is because the outside lines only define the entirety of the whole human population, but as each new set of 12 families is added; it can be added anywhere in this structure or on the sides of the structure; which completely destroys the illusion that it is pyramidal in any way except for the fact that it is based on the strongest structural design in the Universe: the 3-points connected to each other because our Universe has 3 dimensions. In fact the entire structure will look like this:



Because new communities will be constantly forming, expanding the global communal network of human societies.

This is only the basic fundamental design that should be used by all Humanity to organize itself intelligently into communities that they are genetically designed to live in… Of course these communal families will branch out and grow; forming more and more social connections UNTIL… the number of social connections created will rival, and then surpass the number of brain synapses in the human brain…

This will create a level of collective awareness and intelligence that is even more advanced and wiser than the revolutionary advance of the creation of biological DNA molecules which is the basis of all Life on Earth.

Why should all human societies be organized into communal families of 12-24-36?

Because of its advantages compared to how civilization is organized now.

First: civilization now is not organized at all… It is chaotic. The only organized part of it that is left is the nuclear family and even that has disintegrated so there are very few families that have not been torn apart for various reasons that are too numerous to detail here…

Structural Dynamics of the New Human Communities

The communities of 12 families is designed to ot only to replace the nuclear family… which is the structural basis of the present civilization; but improve it: This means a huge increase in the closeness, intimacy and cooperation of everyone in the community compared to what family norms are now in the corrupt civilization of the present… This means there will be very little social isolation or segmentation. That means everyone in the community, all families will eat together, work together, play together and sleep together also.

Why is this so important?... Because babies and children will not be isolated to seep in their own rooms anymore… They will sleep with their father and mother… that means they will not wake up in the middle of the night anymore, they will not have nightmares from being surrounded by undead horrible fiends invading their sleeping auras amd terrorizing them and invading their living auras and embedding themselves into their living bodies where they will spend the rest of the life of their victims feeding off their living energy and poisoning and weakening them and corrupting them so they will be easy prey once they dies physically and enter the realms of the undead.

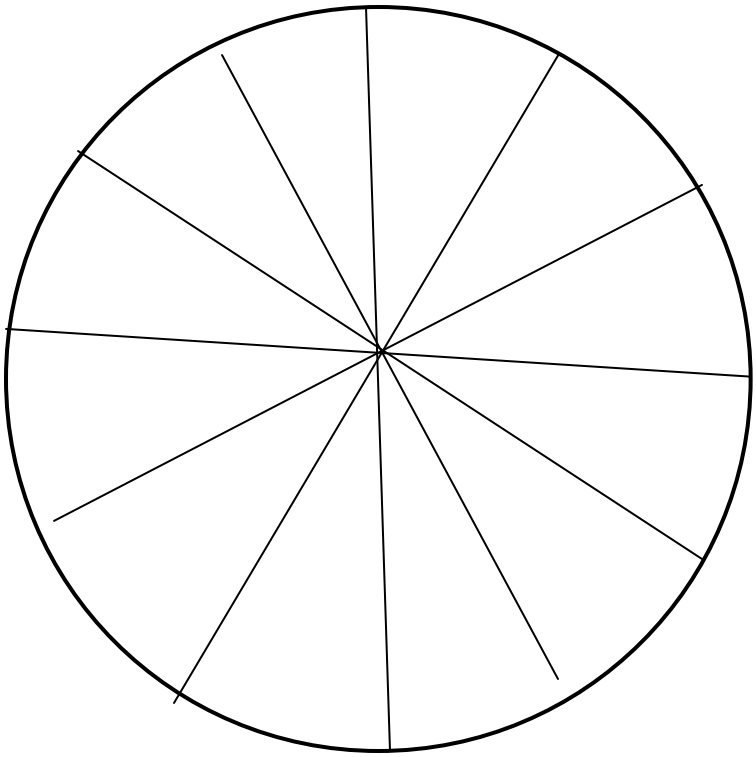
Sleeping together not just as a couple but as an an entire community does many good things. It does away with anyone having extramarital sexual relations with someone they are not married to… There will be no illicit sex; in fact there will be no sex at all except when married couples decide they want to have a baby. In which case arrangements will be made for them to have the privacy needed to have a baby.

This form of communal sleeping together will also increase the closeness of everyone as an extended family where everyone in the community sees everyone in that community not as an uncle or friend but as a close member of their family. Deciding where to sleep every night, with who you want to sleep with will be fun; especially with giggling babies and children all over the round communal bed snuggling with elders or older children or grandparents. Instead of the Arthurian knights of the round table; there will be the new Nights of the Round Bed… where each mat in the communal bed is assigned to one family; like this:



But since people will sleep where they want, with whom they want, this basic design will probably be changed if not change every night.. which will make sleeping together even more fun with someone else every night. As the old saying goes variety is the spice of life, and since there will be no sex, there will be no jealousy or conflict, and if there is it will be straightened out immediately.

So What are the Advantages?

Apart from having a larger family that is more stable, more close-knit, more fun with more opportunities to grow and explore…

1: To begin with; everything you need to buy will be cheaper. Communities will be able to buy in bulk whatever they need instead of individual purchases. This will reduce the cost of living enormously, and because the civilization they are in is not Hedonistic; luxury items will simply not exist because they will be seen as degenerate and evil. That will also cut down the cost of living enormously. People will only buy what is healthy and good for them and the living Earth

2: There will be no orphans; no abandoned children. There will be no single parent families… Every child that is born will be born into a loving family and cared for by the entire community… This will ease the burdens of parents looking after their children because there will be an entire support network to help them. The old saying that it takes a village to raise a child is true… But it is a truism that is never actually practiced in real life inside this present civilization. There will be no unwanted children and no abortions. The life of every mother and baby and pregnancy will be cherished because no pregnant mother will be left alone to deal with her unborn baby. Every mother will be living in a community that supports and cherishes her. There will be almost no divorces because people falling in love will be responsible and not have babies out of wedlock. There will be no dysfunctional families because any personal or family problems will be instantly detected and dealt with on a communal level of honesty and love. There will be no abuse or neglect of children. There will be no drug addiction or gambling addiction or all the evils that the present pyramidal-hierarchical civilization is filled with. Children will no longer be raped. With 12 families living closely together; any child will have more than one person to go to if someone does something to them. All parents will know each other and so will all the children. It will be impossible to keep any dirty secrets covered up or hidden or denied. When all criminal sexual perverts are caught and killed, when they know they will be caught and killed, when there is no escape from being caught and killed; they will not commit their filthy evil acts simply because they will no longer have the umbrella of secrecy to hide under. The opportunity for anything like this to happen will not exist simply because the communal structure of 12 families taking care of all their children together will make it impossible to happen.

3. There will be no loneliness, no alienation; nobody will be left to fend for themselves. The world will not be a dangerous, cold callous place of strangers. People will no longer live in fear and anxiety. People will feel safe. Everyone will belong to a community that supports them and helps them just as each person helps and supports others in their community. This just happens in nuclear families and today they are a rare exception; but with 12 families living together, the level of support and togetherness increases exponentially and so does the level of happiness and love and togetherness.

This does not mean people cannot enjoy solitude. They can go out into the beauty and solitude of Nature as much as they want to… But there will be the comfort of knowing that they always have their loving community to go back to. The security of having a stable reliable village-commune-community is essential for everyone growing up. In fact it is this stable base that is the origin of all exploration and discovery. People are more willing to take risks if they know they have a safety net to return to.

4. Not only will everyone be happier and healthier due to living together as a 12 family unit; living this way will teach them social responsibility and cooperation with others… it will expand their social awareness beyond themselves. Caring for your entire community; not just your immediate family; making sure no one is left behind, that everyone is included stretches your ability to love and care for others.

What does this mean? It means the wish for everyone to be happy… the wish for everyone to be loved… and if there is one person who is not happy and not loved; then nobody in the community is happy either, and the entire community comes together to make things right no matter what it takes. What is the use in you being happy if everyone around you is not happy? Then you get envy, jealousy. The search for personal happiness in the middle of a civilization filled with billions of unhappy people is a pipe dream, a false goal that is unreachable and even if reached it does not last long. What is called happiness is not true happiness; it is based on selfish Hedonism and to hell with everyone else. The point is in the new civilization everyone will be included; nobody will be left out. The entire hierarchy of pyramidal status and wealth and power will not exist.

The highest spiritual awareness is when you care about the happiness of others; more than your own… When everyone develops that level of spiritual awareness; then it spreads and keeps on spreading until it covers the whole world. 12 families living together sleeping together, working together, playing together can do that but only when everyone does it. This needs to be recognized. Society has to be changed at its very roots. Everyone has to live this way.

This awareness of inclusion will not be limited to just one small community… it will spread and spread to include more and more communities until it becomes a global awareness and inclusion of all the people in the world.

5: There will be no wars, no poverty, no drug cartels, no child trafficking networks, no criminal mafias, no criminal networks because there will be no ruling elites who fund these abominations and there will be no ruling elites that practice such horrible inhuman crimes because they will all be exterminated as the evil, foul, poisoned puppets of the undead which they are. There will be no mass starvation, no floods of illegal immigrants flooding into wealthier nations, no economic depressions, no billionaires, no masses of poor people because all the uneven distribution of wealth and power that exist in the present system will be gone and everyone will be living in their own self-sufficient communities without any oppressive centralized governments.

But this will Never Happen as Long as Hedonism is the Universal, Unspoken, Practicing Religion of All Civilization.

Why will it never happen unless Hedonism is recognized as evil and completely eradicated from all human societies? Because people will refuse to live like this… They will say "I don't like it." " I prefer living as I am now" " I don't want to live like that." "I have the right to live as I please and nobody can stop me." " You can't force me to live like that." "I have the right to please myself."

The point is unless the education and the awareness levels of the masses are raised to an extremely high level they will never live like this voluntarily except at the point of a gun and what govt is there that will do this? There are none. That's why this book needs to be spread far and wide and read by as many people as possible.

Why is the number 12 so magical and so necessary for the creation of a new civilization? You can go back to the 2nd chapter of the Path of Splitness where I explain why and how everything in the Universe works in a system of 12's… The entire Universe including all of Nature is based on the mathematical basis of simple splitting fractions and split fractions connecting.

The split fraction of 12 is 6-6. The split fraction of 6 is 3-3. The split fraction of 8 is 4-4. The split fraction of 4 is 2-2. The split fraction of 2 is 1-1.

In a system of 12 individuals or 12 families there are more mathematical chances for things to balance out than there are for uneven, imbalanced connections to exist. This gives a greater stability to social systems using this 12 principle than any other social model or system PERIOD.

Until this system is actually tried and used and practiced: nobody can refute it. When it is tried the results will amaze people how successful it is… ALSO: Creating groups of 12 people with all the 12 zodiac birth signs of when they were born so each social group of 12 will include people who were born in all 12 months of the year will improve the social strength of every group of twelve. This mathematical system for creating social groups has never been tried or even thought of before because nobody has ever thought to apply the logic of mathematics to the social problems of human society.

10 is not an even number because the split fraction of 5-5 cannot be split again down to the basic 1-2-3 that the three dimensional Universe is based on.

Of course the Universe is imperfect and there exists in it fractions that are not simple but they are an exception to the rule. The huge majority of atomic and molecular bonds are based on simple fractions that can be reduced down to 1, 2, or 3.

Not only communities… but every single social group and organization should be intelligently organized into 12's, 24's, and 36's. Instead; civilization packs millions of people into masses called cities and nations; while at the same time destroying all possibility of small communities to exist. The result is blind chaos. Each isolated person or family without the support of a community because there are none; struggling to live in a mass of total strangers; each one with different opinions, goals, values, interests.

This means that every govt department, every company, every social gathering should be structured in groups of 12's, 24's and 36's.

What this will do is it will do away with mass gatherings of hundreds or thousands… It will make socializing and cooperation between people accessible on a personal level of closeness and intimacy that is impossible in the present system of chaos and blind chance. People will get to know each other much better than in any other social design or structure…

What this will also do is expose the con artist, the sociopath, the narcissist, the troublemaker, the criminal for what they are… and they will be ostracized and branded for what they are because they will not be able to hide their true nature and deceive everyone they meet because they will not be strangers; they will be people who have known them from birth and will know everything about them. They will not be able to prey on vulnerable, lone individuals or strangers because all people will belong to a community that is very protective of its members and will not tolerate any of them being manipulated..

What this will do is it will make it impossible for criminals and other toxic antisocial people to exist without being found out and gotten rid of. They will be spotted almost immediately and shown the door; if not caught red handed, arrested and sentenced and punished or executed.

What chances are there of any criminal organization able to exist is such an open, intelligently organized society?... The only chance is for them to form their own group of 12 or 24 or 36 criminals and if they try to do that they will stick out like a sore thumb. Their group will be so noticeably different from all other groups they will be raided and arrested and sentenced and punished.

The basic concept of community was expressed perfectly in Alexander Dumas' famous quote: " all for one and one for all". But this simple idea of intelligent social cooperation can be applied to any number of people; not just four… It can spread to include the entire population of living humans. But the undead do not allow this to happen. All acts of willing positive social cooperation is poisoned and ruined. That was why the undead destroyed the German National Socialists and why jews; the puppets of the undead have vilified them and smeared them and demonized them so the idea of intelligent positive social cooperation will never again attempt to be implemented. In spite of that it is being implemented in countries like Burkina Faso by a leader called Ibrahim Traore and it is spreading like wild fire throughout Africa. Traore is doing in Africa what Hitler did in Germany and he is being targeted and attacked for the same reasons Hitler was targeted and attacked by the same evil jews who control western civilization behind the scenes.

One crucial aspect of the new civilization is all secrecy will be illegal.

There will be no secret societies, no secret bank accounts, no secret pin numbers, no secret pass words, no secret anonymous internet accounts.

There will be no secret govt organizations like the CIA. There will be no secret, closed door meetings, no secret agreements, secret contracts etc. The point is in a world where there are only small communities and no huge cities and no chance of anonymity evil people will not be able to hide what they really are… Criminals will not be able to hide what they really are. It is only because of how civilization is structured that they can exist and operate. If we change the basic structure of civilization we will also eliminate all the evils of pyramidal-hierarchical civilization.

This new civilization will be based on the understanding that only criminals need secrecy to exist. The result will be all criminals and all criminal culture will disappear.

The other basic difference will be the concept of someone working for someone else will be seen as evil and illegal.

The entire concept of working for money will not exist. Money will not exist. The entire evil system of money and usury will be correctly seen as being evil. outdated and obsolete.

Humans will only cooperate with each other willingly and voluntarily on a basis of Equality. It will be their personal-social-collective responsibility to cooperate with each other based on improving not only themselves, but the entire human species and all other living species on Earth. The entire pyramidal hierarchy of civilization will not exist, so there will be no higher authority or power that can force humans to do what they do not want to do or force them to do something that is evil or stupid.

All positions of authority and power will be determined by Responsibility; how responsible a person is; how well they carry out their responsibilities and by Cooperation: how well they cooperate with others.

You cannot have Responsibility without Cooperation
And
You cannot have Cooperation without Responsibility.

These are the two balancing Principles for any society or social organization to work effectively. Once all hierarchical social structures are removed; these to overriding Imperatives will be all that is needed for the new civilization to function and grow without it becoming an evil corrupt cesspool of hierarchical privilege, power and Hedonism.

But this is based on the even more basic Principle of Universal Equality. The expectation that everyone should be equally responsible and equally cooperative. Of course some people will be more responsible and more cooperative than others… But that only sets the bar higher for others to match them or surpass them in responsibility and cooperation… so the social system of the new civilization is designed for continual improvement… It will only get better and better; never worse because it is based on Positive Universal Principles that have no negative effects.

I am not speaking of any ordinary cooperation… I am speaking of a cooperation on the level of a classical musician cooperating with an entire symphony of 80-100 other musicians. The level of coordination and timing and responsibility and cooperation for a classical symphony to perform at its very best is the kind of cooperation and coordination I am speaking about.. Every single musician has their part to play; every single musician is dedicated for the performance to be a success. Each one is doing the best they can, all are bent on one single goal. The slightest slip can ruin an entire piece of music.

This is the level of professionalism and seriousness and dedication that the entire human species must apply to the two sacred connected Principles of Responsibility and Cooperation. Not to the Hedonistic shit about "doing your own thing" or and 'rights' or 'freedoms' that allow you to do and say whatever you please, eat whatever you please, drink whatever you please, etc, etc ad vomit.

Not only that the level of professionalism and seriousness and dedication of the Culture of Responsibility and Cooperation will be applied to yourself and everyone you know and meet during your entire Life. There will be no need for some nonexistent god to judge you because you and others will judge yourself more critically and honestly than any religious bullshit. Justice will be served on Earth immediately while you are alive and nobody will escape from scrutiny and punishment because that scrutiny will be your own self-criticism along with everyone who knows you.

Why will this level of cooperation be completely different from any cooperation being done today in the evil pyramidal civilization that exists now? Because none of it will be based on money. There will be no cooperation where money changes hands… That means that anyone who decides to cooperate with anyone else will have to know the other person intimately and know exactly why it is needed and agree on all of the goals and aims of the cooperation and if they don't agree they will refuse to cooperate. This also means that communities will organize themselves with other communities into giant cooperatives, much like the Mennonite and Amish farming communities have organized themselves until they cross state lines and become national in scope and power and responsibility and authority.

The Mennonite and Amish communities are based on helping each other survive in the middle of an invasive evil capitalist-Hedonistic civilization that they are trying to keep at bay. Their cooperation is based on self defense and survival… But in the new civilization; this kind of intelligent cooperation not based on money or profit; will spread in size and scope and authority and intelligence until it becomes a global powerhouse of the entire human species acting as a single organism without any conflict or disagreement or fighting because the universal goal of healing and improving the entire Living Earth will be agreed by and supported by every single living human. By simply correctly recognizing that all money is evil and doing away with all money the human species can and will transform the world beyond all recognition for the better.

The reason for abolishing all money is obvious: When the only motive for any cooperation is based on profit then selling arms makes war profiteers rich. When a gun merchant sells a rifle to someone not knowing they are going to use it to kill someone or rob a bank; they don't know and they don't care as long as they make a profit. A million evil acts of cooperation and collusion can be transacted and a million evil conspiracies can succeed because each person in the chain of money transactions is isolated and not connected to all the others. Each person makes their profit and claims no responsibility because they had no knowledge or interest in the ultimate goal or use of whatever they sell or buy. There will be no mercenaries for hire because there will be no money to pay them. There will be no billionaires and no avarice and no greed because there will be no money for them to hoard.

Get This Into Your Head:

It is not the love of money that is evil… It is money itself that is evil.

By getting rid of all money people will be forced to cooperate with each other intelligently. There will be no giant corporations building poisonous chemical plants next to schools and towns that pollute the ground water and rivers. There will be no giant corporations at all because these evil things can only exist by the hoarding of millions and billions of dollars. Corporate greed will not exist. Pyramidal organizations of power and wealth and greed will not exist because the New Civilization will be based on the Five Universal Principles of: Equality: Honesty: Responsibility: Cooperation: and Love.

Ownership

In the new civilization: everything you own you will be responsible for. In other words: ownership will become a responsibility: not a right. For instance if parents irresponsibly neglect or abuse their children: they have lost the right to take care of them and their children will be taken away from them and given to parents who will look after them and take care of them responsibly. If you do not take care of your car responsibly it will be taken away from you and given to someone who will look after it responsibly. In other words ownership becomes both a burden and a responsibility. If you do not take care of the land you own responsibly it will be taken away from you. The more things you own, the more of a burden and responsibility they will become. In other words you have no rights of ownership; you only have the responsibilities of ownership. That is what I meant when I said in the new civilization you will lave no laws or rights or freedoms: only responsibilities.

True… the more responsibilities you take on, the more authority and respect you will earn. But here is where collective responsibility and collective cooperation comes in… If you choose to own one acre of land and take care of it yourself, you will not earn much respect and you will gain no authority except the authority needed to care for your one acre of land and that authority will extend only to the plants and trees and animals and insects on that one acre…

But if you cooperate with other communities to take care of an entire forest as a collective cooperative venture, your authority will increase along with the increase in your responsibilities. The point is the more intelligently you can cooperate with other people both individually and collectively, the more your social standing rises and the more responsibility you take on, the more your standing increases, The less responsibilities you take on and the less you cooperate with others, the less you will be respected and the less your social standing will be…

So you see: the new civilization will be self-regulating without needing and laws or regulations or rights to run it and maintain it… People will personally own as little material goods as possible simply to avoid the tiresome task of being responsible for taking care of it all. Do you want to own one car or twelve cars? Maintaining 12 cars will be a hassle and a waste of your precious time and energy. People will seek to take on collective responsibilities rather than individual ones because sharing their responsibilities with others means less of a burden for the individual. Owning a bus collectively between 40 people is more efficient and takes less time to maintain collectively. People will cooperate with each other willingly because the more cooperative people are; the faster and more efficiently they can achieve goals and carry out their responsibilities. The less things they own the freer they will be to move or change or do what they deem to be what is best for themselves and for others and for the entire Earth. These three priorities will be the three branches of the same tree that determines if anything is right and Good and should be done. The point is… without money, without buying and selling: without any pyramidal accumulation of status or wealth or worldly goods; the only things you will accumulate in the new civilization will be what you earn by your own efforts; nothing else.

Also:

Not only will you be responsible for everything you own… you will be responsible for everything you throw away… Meaning you will not be able to throw anything away unless it is properly re-used or recycled or decomposed so it will not harm or poison or pollute any living species. This means that pollution will not be allowed to exist anymore. Nothing will be made that can be thrown away… Everything that is made will be made to last. And what little is made to not last will be biodegradable or be recycled without any poisonous chemicals being used… This means the complete end of all harmful artificial chemicals PERIOD. This means the end of all mining, all manufacturing, all plastics, all factories, etc, etc… the entire filthy evil web of mass Hedonistic consumption will disappear because humans do not need any of it to lead happy healthy lives. This will be because the new civilization will be based on universal equality.

No person will be deemed better than anyone else except by their own character, words, actions and accomplishments. There will be no hereditary dynasties of privileged wealth and power. Anyone attempting to build a family dynasty or accrue power or wealth will be instantly spotted as a criminal and be dealt with before they can even begin. By living in Nature, with Nature; humans will no longer be forced into the evils of existing inside a rotting shitpile of corruption and privilege or be defined by which strata of the shitpile they are born into or manage to scramble up to.

Also:

There will be no money and not profits and no prophets. People will understand that all money and all profits are evil. There will be no profit motive because people will only have the motive to give to others; not take from others. The entire system of pyramidalized profits where only a few profit while the masses have to pay will be done away with.

Also:

There will be no patents and no copyright, and no patent laws and no copyright laws… All patents and ideas and invention to improve the living earth and humans will be open for anyone and everyone to use them. That is because the profit system will no longer exist. The patent system which forced people to pay for exclusive rights of copyright or patent rights will not exist…. As I said before there will be no rights; only responsibilities. Nobody will have the right to say or do as they please. The entire notion of pleasing oneself will be correctly seen as irresponsible and evil.

Also:

All forms of "entertainment", mass media, distractions, hobbies, special "interests" will disappear because the lives of humans in this new civilization will not be boring anymore. Their lives will not be empty of meaning anymore. They will not be forced into boring, meaningless jobs anymore. And especially… They will recognize and be conscious of the fact that all Hedonism is evil and that the cultures of Hedonism that existed before as a universal, unspoken, unconscious global practiced religion in all the old, extinct civilizations were all evil, and they will be determined never to let that happen again.

Why won't people's lives be boring anymore?... Because they will be faced with the gigantic challenge of healing the entire Living Earth from millions of years of damage done to it by the undead… They will be faced with the challenge of reclaiming all the deserts of the world and bringing them back to life. They will be faced with the challenge of uprooting and demolishing all the concrete buildings and highways and cities and bringing the living Earth back to Life. They will be faced with the challenge of cleaning up all the rivers and lakes and oceans of the world and bringing them back to Life. They will be faced with the challenge of replanting all the destroyed forests of the world and bringing them back to Life. They will be faced with cleaning up all the polluted areas in the world and bringing them back to Life…

And None Of These Challenges Will Be Boring

There Will Be No Time For Hobbies

There Will Be No Time For Idleness

THEIR LI VES WILLL HAVE MEANING
THEIR LIVES WILL HAVE PURPOSE
BEYOND THEIR PETTY LITTLE SELFISH HEDONISTIC INTERESTS

24

The entire pyramidal system of forcing humans into a giant shitpile, forcing them to struggle and fight against each other to escape from being crushed by all the hierarchical forces of pyramidal oppressions will no longer exist. Instead; all people will treat each other as equals and be judged by their actions, words and deeds; not by what position of power or status they have in the pyramidal shitpile of civilization because that shit pile will be completely dismantled and recognized to be the structural evil it actually is.

The most advanced form of human morals and ethics originate out of the 12 disciples of Jesus and then later out of the 12 knights of Arthur's round table. These two sagas… one actually true and the other a myth… are the basis of all Progressive Humanity today. Why not other myths or historical wise men? Because none of the others have the overriding imperative morality of Love.

The undead have been fighting and subverting and poisoning and destroying this inevitable advance of Love for centuries. At least as far as I know of from all accounts of western history. And if the stories of the destruction of all Christian fishing villages around the Mediterranean are true: then the undead have been fighting and subverting and poisoning and destroying this inevitable advance of human Loves for at least two thousand years…

Now This Is Very Important

The basis of all human society is the love a man has for a woman and vice versa… So how is the new civilization going to make sure this bond is rock solid? Without this basic social glue of love between a man and a woman no society can stand. So how can you make sure the bonds of marriage are strong and will last?

The answer is simple… Before any couple decide to get married: They must know each other's entire past history … In a strict, causal sequence; starting from the day they were born up to the present. This means they must tell each other their whole life story so the other person knows what they went through and how they lived, how they were raised; everything…

With children who are born into the same community, and have known each other all the time; this responsibility is easy and natural because they already know most of the others life history and know each other very well based on their shared experiences together. But with people who fall in love who did not know each other all their lives; this is a very important step in deepening their love for each other and understanding of each other…

In Hedonistic civilization; couples who "like" each other and think they are in love get married purely on their superficial knowledge of each other. The reason why so many marriages fail and end up in divorce or unhappiness is because people have been brainwashed by the unspoken religion of Hedonism to instantly satisfy their hedonistic urges of pleasure and ease without being responsible… without getting to know the other person better.

I: Indrek Pringi am the only person to think of this as a necessary requirement for marriage. Nobody has thought to do this before me…

But it is obvious. If you want to learn about French people you read about the history of France. You go to France and learn about their culture and their traditions. You do the research needed so that you can understand them better. It is that simple and that obvious… But in Hedonistic civilization people do not do any research. They just do whatever they like. In a responsible society that will never be allowed to happen.

What are all soap operas and novels and films about human relationships based on? They are all based on people not really knowing each other, they are based on people keeping secrets from each other… on not knowing about their past, they are based on people not telling everything about themselves… keeping certain crucial things hidden from others.

The point is if people knew everything about each other; all the tragedies and unhappiness and suffering and pain and agony in all the soap operas and films and books of tragic love from Wuthering Heights to Gone With the Wind w*ould never have happened and will never happen again.*

Nearly all the unhappiness in the world stems from people not really knowing each other well enough to understand each other. And that is because they do not know each others entire life history. Humans are designed to come together without hurting each other; and the only way we can do that is through complete honesty and openness. And that can only be achieved if all civilization is based on the Universal Principle of personal and public Responsibility.

Remember This

The entire Energy in the Universe has been slowly coming together without hurting itself for untold billions of years. The Universe has been trying to come to Life for billions of years… Now it has achieved it on our planet…

Two Universal Truths Of The Universe Are This:
All Connection Is Good

All Disconnection And Separation Is Evil

The undead have been fighting Positive Connective Energy of the Universe because they are decomposing separating disconnecting evil negative Energy. They are bound to fail in the long run. But right now it is the responsibility of all people who read this book to share this book with the entire world in order to create a new civilization and destroy the present one because that is the only hope Humanity has to save itself from complete extinction… as all other dominant species on earth have gone extinct because they were poisoned and controlled by the undead to do the opposite of what they were designed to do.

The undead have been separating and isolating living humans from each other for millions of years and making enemies of each other using endless diabolical, cunning, evil tactics and inventions to do so.

Understand This

Throughout human history, whenever any communal social organization was created that was positive and based on mutual cooperation and love for each other on a communal level of collective shared common moral and ethical values:… the undead attacked and destroyed them as quickly as possible… Then they covered it up and buried the truth and poisoned the truth about these genocidal massacres.

There are many such atrocities that riddle the pages of human history… but history never gives the real reason for them. Just somebody comes up with the idea to massacre everyone in a certain targeted group…

These groups were posing no threat to anyone. In fact all these groups were pacifists and did not believe in war and killing… WHY then, were they suddenly exterminated for no apparent reason?? The rationalizations history gives do not stand up to scrutiny. Suddenly an entire elite forms a secret plan and suddenly their armies become a mass of insane murdering maniacs… Then after the massacres are over, they all revert back to their former selves and do not massacre or kill anymore and act like it never happened…

I will give a number of examples throughout history to illustrate what I am talking about.

First there was the persecution and killing of Christians after Jesus died. Then in order to attract rich Romans, all his teachings were watered down and became the opposite of what he taught. Once his teachings were completely poisoned by the undead, the Roman catholic church spread over Europe as a centralized evil that rivaled the centralized evil of kings and queens.

Over the next 1,000 years Christian sects that held to Jesus' original teachings were systematically exterminated… Then in the 12th century there was the extermination of the Cathars… mainly because their religious views were too advanced and came too close to the truth about the undead.

Then there was the St, Bartholomew's massacre in France in 1572 when the king of France and his nobles hatched a plot to massacre the leaders belonging to a Protestant sect known as the Huguenots. The Huguenots were against many of the Catholic church's degenerate indulgences and many other aspects of the church that poisoned the true meanings of Christianity. Other religious sects like the Quakers and Puritans sought refuge from persecution by immigrating to the New World. You can see how successfully the undead poisoned these attempts at escaping from the evils of civilization by what America is right now…

Then there is the massacre of all inhabitants of the famous Peace Village; where evangelist ministers had managed to convert a large number of Indians to Christianity and taught them how to farm; thus removing the basic conflict between two different cultures. An American army was organized for the specific purpose to kill everyone in that village… No reason was given except a hatred for the natives. That destroyed any chance the Indians could have made friends with the whites; which is exactly what the undead planned for and succeeded in carrying out.

By the way, you won't find any record of this on the internet. It has been completely wiped out of existence. You will find it only in history books predating the internet and even there: only in books by independent researchers. School books and those approved by universities are totally useless. Zane Grey write about it in his fictional book: "Spirit of the Border", but in that book he reversed the truth and smeared Simon Girty as a monster and made out it was the Indians who destroyed the village: not the American army.

Then there is the Rwanda massacre of 1 million Tutsi's. Why? Because they were getting along with their Hutu neighbors too well. The undead could not allow friendship and peace to spread in the ancient, obsolete tribal cultures of Africa.

Then there is the Bolshevik jewish revolution on Russia and the genocidal massacre of 60 million Russian peasants and destroying all the Russian communal villages into centralized state farms and stealing their crops and letting them starve to death because the Russian peasants were living too much as they were designed to live and prospering too much. The undead cannot allow any form of communal human society to exist without destroying it because independent small communes are how humans are designed to live and they are the building blocks of a greater Humanity which has never been achieved thanks to the evil machinations of the undead.

Then there is the complete destruction of northern Europe and the national Socialists of Germany; instigated and planned by international jewish bankers and their paid puppets like Churchill and the Jew known as Stalin whose real last name was: Jughashvili, or translated from Georgian into English: "Son of Jew"… Mainly because Hitler had exposed the real evil nature of the jews and since the jews are the main puppets of evil on earth, the undead could not allow this truth to spread and be known. And because the German people had joined together in a national frenzy of ethnic commonality and sharing of cultural morals and ethics in a communal society where everyone cooperated and helped each other… So the actual truths and facts about WW2 were buried and twisted and poisoned and hidden until the whole world came to see Hitler as a monster; not Stalin and Churchill and FDR who were the real monsters and the greatest lie ever told about the holocaust was s[read and became the unquestioned gospel of the world even after the stinking jews showed their true faces to the world in their ongoing genocidal slaughter of Palestinians.

Throughout history; especially in the examples I have given, the hidden hands of the undead can be seen constantly stamping out every single positive development in all human societies and making sure the human race never achieves its natural potential…

All the evils of the undead have only been successful because their evil presence is almost undetectable and invisible to the human eye.

All the subtle manipulations of the undead in their systematic poisoning of every living human beginning at birth only work because living humans do not know they are being poisoned and controlled by the undead and how they are being poisoned and controlled and why they are being poisoned and controlled…

This book is written so living humans wake up and realize and understand what the undead are doing to them and have done to them ever since the first humans were created and born.

Now back to the social structural design of how humans are designed to live

Every province, every state within a nation, every nation should be designed to live as a single mass of interconnected small communities of 12 families in the triangular format which I have already laid out… including all other social bodies, organizations, businesses and govts.

This social plan does away with all hierarchical power structures like govts and secret organizations and criminal cabals and corporations, etc. It creates a civillizational stability to all Mankind unheard of. It creates the necessity for mutual cooperation to the point where any set of 12 families that do not or refuse to cooperate with their 6 sets of family neighbors; they will disappear and be done away with… In other words; the fight for survival, the fight against each other as adversaries, any conflict or competition between each other will be replaced by the maxim: cooperate or die: not fight or die. The principle of cooperation will be ingrained into all human society and will become as natural and as instinctive as breathing… You mostly are not aware of and do not pay attention to your breathing… you do it naturally without thinking… That is how natural your cooperation with others will become.

The question arises… but what if your cooperation has some criminal intent? What if you want to plan something secretly that will hurt others?... This means that whoever you conspire with must also have evil motives and intentions… This means you will have to get together without anyone else knowing about your plans and motives. That means you will have to find some excuse to get together, you will have to have an alibi, an innocent reason for getting together…

If you try this within your social group of 12 families and the 6 sets of 12 families… how many others also share your criminal intent? How many will be opposed to it? How many in hearing of it will tell everyone else about it?

The point is, in this mathematical social structure… secrecy will be impossible. It will be impossible for anyone to keep their plans and motives and intentions a secret from others… In fact the only way you will be able to keep anything a secret is by keeping it to yourself and never speaking of it to anyone else… To which I say god rot anyone who suppresses their own thoughts and feelings and tries to lead a life of continual deception because they will either inevitably slip up and be found out, or they will get sick and die from their own internal poisoning and suppressions of their minds, bodies, hearts and souls. This will make it impossible for any crime and evil to exist in human civilization. There will be no need for police or laws or govts or armies or weapons of mass destruction. They will all be done away with forever because this social structure-system will regulate itself.

But

The undead have not allowed this to happen naturally… They have deliberately attacked and wiped out all burgeoning forms of community life all over the world for thousands of years, and before that; they have kept human communities from coming together naturally by instilling poisonous cultures filled with poisonous traditions-beliefs-languages-customs into ethnic tribal clans to make them so alien and different from each other that they were always in a perpetual state of conflicts against each other…

A perfect example of this are the coastal villages of Maui in Hawaii.

32

In order for a new civilization to be founded: humans must first advance to the stage of adulthood. By that I mean beyond the enforcement of authority by brute force; but the enforcement of Justice by moral and ethical authority.

This means that the basis of civilization must be founded on responsibility; not on rights or privileges. In an adult civilization, there are no rights… there are no laws; there are only responsibilities that apply equally to everyone…. Responsibility takes the place of both right, privileges and laws. What exists now is rights without responsibilities and irresponsible laws designed to protect one class of people while oppressing another class of people. Rights and privileges do not exist in an adult civilization. They are for spoiled children and corrupt adolescent, immature self-serving fools. Laws do not exist in a responsible civilization. They are enacted to protect the rights and privileges of certain privileged groups. That means the new civilization is based on equal responsibility… this means that the new civilization is based on universal equality. That means there are no privileged elites. Everyone is held equally responsible for everything they do and say.

In other words: the entire hierarchical, pyramidal structure and system of civilization as it stands now must be razed to the ground. What this means the personal morals and ethics of every individual must be the same as the collective morals and ethics of the society they live in. This means that no individual has any right to "do their own thing" or have their own personal set of morals or ethics or beliefs. This means that it is the sacred duty and sacred responsibility of every single person to make sure none of their morals-ethics-values of civilization are violated or ignored or transgressed. What IS the universal set of morals and ethics of this new civilization?

The answer is… life. The value of life; overrides all other values. Life is good: death is evil. Everything that creates life is good. Everything that creates death is evil. Everything that is alive is good. Everything that is dead is not good, unless it is used to create, promote, nurture and protect life. By that, I mean all living things on earth; not just humans.

The same moral-ethical universal principle can be stated structurally in this way: *all connection is good. All separation is evil. Everything that connects creates life. Everything that separates creates death.

It is that simple… if everyone without exception adopts this universal, logical moral and ethical code. Then you can throw out all the constitutions of nations and all the law books and regulations

This means the entire purpose and motive for living is not to please yourself or anyone else. The entire concept of pleasure and ease and comfort and pleasing is seen as degenerate and criminal. In this civilization; the concept of 'happiness' does not exist. The pursuit of 'happiness' does not exist. Except for the happiness one feels by giving love to others and giving and helping others. The only time one can experience true personal happiness is when everyone in your society is happy; not just you. If there is one person in your society that is not happy, then you should not feel happy until that one person who is unhappy is happy also…. Why? Because what is called 'happiness' is only a way, a form of sharing love. The instant you try to keep your happiness selfishly to yourself or only to a select group; you have lost all true happiness. The instant you exclude anyone from your happiness it stops being happiness. Instead you exist in a selfish bubble of unawareness and unconcern about the unhappiness of others that is easily pricked and disappears once you go outside that bubble.

Replacing laws and rights and privileges with responsibility does not mean anarchy. It does not mean chaos. It does not mean the abolition of all authority and power. It means replacing the authority of a pyramidal elite with the moral and ethical authority and power of carrying out your responsibilities that is applied equally to everyone… and the moral imperative of equality means everyone has the same responsibilities. The more responsible you are, the more responsibilities you undertake; the more ethical and moral power and authority you take on in order for you to carry out those responsibilities, and if necessary enforce your responsibilities, and if necessary arrest, interrogate, judge, sentence and proclaim punishment on anyone violating the moral and ethical codes of responsibility in your society… and carry out the punishment yourself if you wish. This means if needed brute force can and should be used to insure that justice is served.

Why should humans base their society and personal lives on responsibility; not laws and privileges? Because humans are the most intelligent, advanced species on Earth and as such they have a moral and ethical responsibility to be a living example to all other species in how to live and behave. All living creatures follow the example of the most dominant species in their areas, and humans are the most dominant species on the entire earth. Other species look at what we do and they follow our example. The problem is; we give the worst examples possible. We ignore other species as if they don't exist and when we do focus on any species it is only to kill them or domesticate them; which is a politically correct way of saying we enslave them and use them for our own needs and interests. Civilization has isolated humans from Nature and from all other living species, and in doing so; we have abandoned all responsibility for the planet and for all living things. Instead, we have created a mechanical horror that is systematically destroying eco-systems and all living things on the Earth for our own selfish personal short term gains and interests.

The other universal principle that can only be recognized and enforced in an adult civilization is the principle that the Greater Good and Personal Good should be the same. If they are not; then there is something wrong with the code; not with the people violating the code. Then the code needs to be changed. Note: This also applies to personal interests. All personal interests must align with the Greater Good and your Personal Good. If your interests are not good for you or not good for the society you live in: you are not allowed to pursue them. Instead you will be found out and corrected and if need be punished for violating your personal good or greater good or both. If you do something that violates your greater good like eating too much, you will be corrected and if necessary punished because it violates both your personal good and the greater good. If you are lazy you will be corrected and if needed punished for your laziness because it violates both your personal good and the greater good.

If your personal interests are intelligent and mature and natural; your personal interests should and will coincide with the interests of the greater good; so there is no difference between your personal motives and goals and the goals of the civilization you live in. It is only when your personal interests are corrupt and negative that they do not coincide with the positive energy of all Life on Earth, which is what I mean when I say the greater good. Everything that supports and affirms and nurtures all Life on Earth is positive and Good. Anything that supports death is evil.

This is not to say thou shalt not kill. It is Good to kill evil beings. All evil humans should be killed dead as quickly and early as possible so they are not be allowed to live to commit more evil.

What this also means that there will be no laws to enforce or guarantee the rights and privileges of those in power… this means there will be no system that can be used to intimidate, force, terrorize by brute force at the point of a gun whatever corrupt evil laws are passed to oppress the masses who are not protected by corrupt govts. This means there will be no police no law enforcement organizations to perpetuate and preserve the pyramidal shit pile of the haves vs the have nots. This means all of the new civilization will be based on equality and egalitarianism. This means there will be no chaos; there will be only humans voluntarily cooperating with each other… this means that any criminals who try to impose their privileges or brute force on others will be killed and exterminated by the huge majority of cooperating intelligent educated humans; without any need for laws or regulations.

This can be done by arming the entire populace and placing the authority and responsibility to arrest, interrogate, charge, judge and sentence all criminals onto the entire population of citizens so they run their own justice system without any appointed judges or law books or lawyers being paid to circumvent justice.

By placing this social responsibility onto everyone… anyone who witnesses a crime or knows about a crime and does not do anything will be liable for punishment also. This means that nobody can get away with anything because in any criminal operation there will be people who become aware of it and take matters into their own hands. And if they are not in a position or able to arrest the criminals, they can call others to their side and everyone within hailing distance that has a gun will cone running, and since everyone has the right to carry their own arms, the criminal-s will be apprehended and brought to justice. But if there are no laws and no law books; then what constitutes a crime?? Anything any responsible person thinks is a crime is a crime; period.

Of course if that person arrests someone for something and brings him to jail and tells everyone what crime the suspect was arrested for, and nobody at the police station agrees that it is a crime; then the suspect will be let go and the person who arrested the suspect instead will be jailed and interrogated and punished for wasting the police's time…

You mean there will still be a police force? Of course! If a 89 year old lady knows a 250 lb. Man who committed a crime; instead of arresting the man herself, she will notify the police and they will go along with her and help her arrest the 250 lb. Man… but: she will have to have proof of his crime and even if it is only as an eye witness: she will have the responsibility to interrogate the suspect and act as judge in the matter, and if there is no evidence found to the contrary; she has the responsibility and authority to sentence the 250 lb man to whatever punishment she deems fit including death.

Of course if her sentence is too harsh or too lenient and everyone in the community agrees that it is too harsh or too lenient: She herself can be arrested and charged with incompetence and punished…

This means that it will be the will of the people and whatever standards of ethics and morality are accepted by the majority and whatever punishments are deemed to be appropriate for said crimes that determines how harshly or leniently anyone convicted of a crime will be sentenced to…

This will do away with all law books and lawyers and appointed judges who are not held responsible of convicting innocent people… It will do away with all need to make laws by any governmental body. It will do away with politicians and the systemic corrupt system of making laws. It will do away with all centralized power. People in their own communities will decide what is the law; not elected politicians. This will do away with nearly all centralized forms of power and the evil they commit

How will it work? By the police taking over the entire court system as caretakers of the public power to arrest criminals and in cooperation with all the people in their precinct… With all the judges and clerks and law books and lawyers gone; The police will be there to enable ordinary citizens and oversee the process of arrest-interrogation-judgment-sentencing-punishment and make sure everything goes smoothly and properly and provide assistance and advice whenever needed. This will enhance the role of the police as guardians of justice and supporters and enforcers of law and order… Except it will be the citizens who determine what that law and order is made of. The police will only be there in a secondary capacity and supply the jail cells, interrogation rooms and court rooms needed for ordinary citizens to carry out their civil responsibilities

By making every adult responsible for enforcing the justice system with no exceptions.

In this manner the entire justice system will become a self-regulating machine that corrects itself and does not require any higher authority to run it.

That is what you get when you join and connect the two universal principles of responsibility and equality together intelligently.

Why will there be no chaos? Because the idea and assumption of people just doing “as they please” or doing “whatever pleases them” will no longer exist. This assumption will be regarded as criminal and dealt with severely. People will do only what is responsible.

This means the opposite of consumer culture. Babies, children and adults will consume nothing except what is needed for their health and carrying out ones responsibilities properly. This means that all personal interests, hobbies, addictions, pastimes, preferences, tastes, etc… that are not only secondary to the greater good, but against it will be quickly detected and corrected and punished. This goes against the present religion of personal self gratification which everyone practices…

What is the religion of personal self-gratification?... It is what you practice every time you go to a store and buy something. You only buy something if it gratifies you. The unspoken assumption ingrained into consumer society is that you have the right to buy anything you want… "The customer is always right". The trouble is what is sold to the masses is nearly always evil. It is poisonous. It is filled with toxins and poisons, it is bad for you… it rots your mind, your brain, your body, your morals, your ethics, your values. It is designed to addict you to it so you will buy it for the rest of your life.

Consumer civilization is based on producers of mass manufactured products; it brainwashes the masses to buy whatever is sold to them. In an adult civilization there is no selling or buying, no commercials. There is no "entertainment'. There is nothing to distract people from living every day and night in the real actual world without any distractions, or brainwashing or fairy tales that imprint foul poisonous lies into the subconscious minds of children and adults. The reason this will work is because in an intelligent adult civilization, people's lives will no longer be boring. Their lives will no longer be empty of meaning and purpose. They will be actively engaged with each other and with all the living creatures, plants and organisms of the living Earth.

The main reason for all the evils of consumption, addiction and distractions in consumer society is because civilization is boring; Civilization only allows evil to succeed and flourish. Because nothing positive is allowed to exist in civilization; the result is boredom. That is because people have no freedom except the freedom to buy shit that is not good for you in stores. In an adult civilization there will be no stores, because people will be too busy taking on responsibilities and handling them and carrying them out.

The other basis of an adult civilization is the removal of all separations and insulations from human existence and the living world around them. Humans will only become mature when they learn that their designed function is to touch each other and touch all living things. Only when humans understand that their genetically designed function is to make friends with all living organisms by touching them physically, emotionally, mentally and spiritually. This means divesting oneself of all the artificial insulations that machine-tool based civilization has spawned.

The other thing humans must learn before they can become a mature adult civilization is the existence of the undead and the difference between Good and evil. Only when humans are able to perceive the difference between positive and negative energy; will they be able to detect and KILL all negative energy. All negative energy is evil. All positive energy is Good… Once humans have managed to hunt down and KILL all negative, rotting, decomposing undead entities on Earth; only then will the positive energy of Life become able to flourish and grow and develop and evolve.

Once this is achieved, the entire Earth will change so drastically that it is impossible to predict what the outcome will be, only that with the total destruction and extermination of negative undead evil entities: humans will finally be free to carry out their genetically designed functions.

Right now: human civilization is on an accelerating path towards self-destruction and the destruction of all Life on Earth. Only when humans understand that the entire history of human beings ever since we were first created, has been one long history of the undead twisting everything positive in humans into negative evil; and that to change this, everything must be reversed at the root level.

The new civilization I have outlined is capable of transforming everything overnight. For instance the internet instead of being used for buying and selling… instead of being used for pornography and distractions and gambling; could be used to centralize and integrate all human knowledge and experience…. And have this centralized database available for everyone for free.

What will happen if billions of people have the best, the latest, the most effective answers and solutions to all of Life's problems at their fingertips for free?

All the proven herbal healing information for every illness. The knowledge and experience of gardeners all over the world on how to grow and raise plants. The wisdom of the oldest people on earth integrated into Universal Truths that everyone can use to live wisely.

In the new civilization all patents in every patent office will be centralized and integrated so every invention that actually works and was bought up and hidden from the public will be available to all humans for free… How many ground breaking innovations and inventions that can be used to improve the entire world will be unlocked and used simply by making all patents public and free for anyone who wants to use them?

My point is: without the evils of the present civilization and civilization being under the control of the undead: Mankind could blossom almost instantly just from the present technology and knowledge being used for Good instead of for evil just by getting rid of the profit motive and the concept of personal ownership of ideas… that is why the undead must be killed dead before the new civilization can happen.

As long as the undead poison humans with their filthy rotting evil presence; all the simple answers and solutions I have listed will never happen because the undead poison the souls of too many people in power. That is why you who read this book have as your sacred ethical-moral duty to organize together with others who have read this book and start killing all the mist evil ones in the highest places of power.

No. 1… in order to become a responsible citizen of the new civilization: the first priority of responsibility is to yourself.

You are responsible for maintaining, taking care of and improving your own: physical, emotional, mental, spiritual and social health. This means that every person must be look after their physical, emotional, mental and social health and not do anything that makes them unhealthy. This means that nobody has the right to do anything that will harm themselves. This means that every person is responsible for educating themselves and learning what is good and what is bad for them: physically, mentally, emotionally and socially, and they are expected to refrain from doing anything that will detract from their physical, mental, emotional and social health.

And in order to that you must cooperate with yourself to carry out your Personal Responsibilities.

Parents have the added personal responsibility of taking care of their children's development; meaning their physical, mental, emotional and social health… and they can do that by giving them as much responsibility that they can handle and teaching them how to cooperate with others. This means making their children's life as challenging and exciting and as difficult as possible so that their learning curves and their development is as quick as possible. This does not mean children should be browbeaten or overly disciplined if they fail in anything or that there are expectations of them. Each child has their own aptitudes and talents and rates of growth and learning. What they are weak in should be focused on so that they become as equally balanced as possible in all aspects of their development and potentials.

This is Very Important

42

Every parent and community will be held directly responsible for the conduct and character of the children they raise even after they reach adulthood and are fully responsible for themselves… Why? Because everything they do, their entire lives are a direct product and testament of how well they were raised by their parents… In other words: parents will not be allowed to disavow any responsibility for their children once they become adults.

This means that there will be NO FORGIVENESS

Parents will not be allowed to protect their children from the consequences of their own actions; in fact they will be punished alongside with their children because they are ultimately responsible for how their children turned out.

Nobody will be forgiven for what they do or say.

Forgiveness will only be given after they have fully atoned for their sins.

The punishment for sins and crimes that can never be atoned for is death.

This means that no child will be spoiled or pampered. No child will receive special attention. All children will be treated equally.

The entire basis of spoiling children rotten is based on the unspoken religion of Hedonism… Once that unspoken religion is gone and recognized to be evil; the slightest sign of it will be snuffed out before it can even start.

The entire degenerate evil idea of "unconditional love" will not exist anymore All Love will be earned. The only reason this idea exists on the first place is because of the existence of evil ghouls hiding secretly inside good people making them do evil… The idea of blaming the undead for their evil while still believing in the original goodness of the victim they poison and control will no longer exist` because humans will be aware of the evil undead and not allow then to gain any power or control over them.

No. 2: In order to become a responsible citizen of the new civilization: the second priority of responsibility is to your family, your friends and those you care about and who care about you. You are responsible for doing everything you can to improve their physical, emotional, mental and social health. You cannot do that if you are physically, emotionally, mentally or socially unhealthy: that is why the first responsibilities you have is to yourself.

And in order to that you must cooperate with others to carry out your responsibilities.

No. 3: in order to become a responsible citizen of the new civilization: the third priority of responsibility is to the community you live in. You are responsible for the physical, emotional, mental, and social health of your community. This means that you must become involved in your community and do everything you can to improve it physically, emotionally, mentally and socially. You cannot do this if you are personally irresponsible or if your family and friends and those you care about are also irresponsible and unhealthy. You and they must all be involved in the community they live in and work to improve it as much as possible.

And in order to that you must cooperate with yourself and others to carry out your responsibilities.

No. 4: In order to become a responsible citizen of the new civilization; the fourth priority of responsibility you have is to the environment you live in: the ecology and living Nature of all living things that live in your surroundings and your community. This includes the grass, the trees, the birds, the insects, the animals, the fish, the air, the water, the animals, the reptiles. You are responsible to insure the health of all these living things and do every thing you can to improve their health.

And in order to that you must cooperate with Nature, yourself and others to carry out your responsibilities.

No. 5: In order to become a responsible citizen of the new civilization, the fourth priority of responsibility you have to the extended surroundings of your community, to all the other communities around you; on a municipal, provincial or state level. In short: all first 3 priorities of responsibility are necessary for you to be able to carry out the fourth level of responsibility. You are responsible for taking care of the health of your greater surroundings and improving them as much as possible.

And in order to that you must cooperate with Nature, yourself and others to carry out your responsibilities.

No. 6: In order to become a responsible citizen of the new civilization; the fifth priority of responsibility is to the nation you live in. You are responsible for taking care of the health of your nation and improving it as much as possible. All previous four priorities are necessary before you can take on and carry out your fifth level of responsibility. You cannot take care of your national responsibilities if you do not take care of all your responsibilities listed in no's. 1, 2, 3, and 4.

And in order to that you must cooperate with Nature, yourself and others to carry out your responsibilities.

No. 7: In order to become a responsible citizen of the new civilization, the sixth priority of responsibility is to the entire world you live on and in. You are responsible for taking care of and improving the health of the entire living earth and oceans and rivers and lakes and forests and atmosphere and weather and all living things on earth. You cannot do this if you are irresponsible in any of the five aforementioned levels of responsibility.

And in order to that you must cooperate with Nature, yourself and others to carry out your responsibilities.

No. 8: Regarding families: Parents are responsible for raising their children properly without abusing or neglecting them. Children should be given as much responsibility as they can handle so they grow up and mature as quickly as possible. How can you be sure children will want responsibility? By giving them the authority, power, recognition and respect that comes along with responsibility… Once they find out that out… they will want more and more responsibility; they will become insatiable responsibility addicts and they will grow up faster and better than anyone could imagine.

And in order to that you must cooperate with Nature, yourself and others to carry out your responsibilities.

Instead in Hedonistic civilization, children are pampered, spoiled rotten and their development is kept back and retarded as much as possible so they are dumbed down as much as possible. This means involving children in all the activities their parents do, and I mean everything as early as possible and as much as possible… But this does not means they should be raised to be exactly like their parents. If a father is a mechanic; he should not raise his children to become mechanics by only helping their father with his mechanical work.

This is the problem with all civilization. Parents who are specialized in one field or career tend to raise carbon copies of themselves when it comes to raising their own children. In an adult civilization, children are raised so they are as equally balanced as possible in all aspects of their life and in all aspects of their society and culture. This means a father who is a mechanic should make sure all other aspects of his children's development are focused on and given the attention they need to produce a balanced personality and a child who is competent in all aspects of his being.

This is not to say humans shouldn't have fun… People, especially children should enjoy what they do. But leaving a child running around unsupervised on its own or as an unruly undisciplined gang leads to chaos and irresponsibility. When people know they are doing something Good and Positive, they become passionate about it and enjoy every second of their efforts. That is why so many rare selfless people dedicated to a cause bigger than themselves are personally happy, because they know they are accomplishing something worthwhile… When parents become responsibly active in programs and causes that are for the greater good and not just for their own personal concerns, they inspire everyone they meet and get to know. The same effect rubs off on their children, and when parents allow their children to get involved in what they do; that not only makes the child happy but it validates their own self-worth. Children are very sensitive to being part of something inclusive like a team or a family that works and plays together. This is why so many off-grid families have happy children, even though the children cannot socialize with other children because they know they are part of something and they are included in most everything their parents do. Of course the old adage: "All work and no play make Johnny a dull boy" is relevant to all child raising. The moral ethical principle of responsibility should not be a burden that weighs upon the human spirit. There should be time for celebration and taking well-earned vacations and holidays. BUT: there should be no celebration of the past; only of the present and the future. One main reason why civilization is so evil is because it preserves and perpetuates the past by celebrating the past; thus preventing any change and any betterment from happening. The past is there only to be learned from: nothing else not mindlessly repeated by sanctifying it or glorifying it or celebrating it, Celebrations should only be done when something has been achieved that improves and betters the world we live in, the earth we live on and the society we were born in.

Why this form of civilization is so revolutionary is that the entire legal system, all regulations will be universally based on personal and public social Responsibility and replaces it with a merit based system in every aspect of society… not just work or social standing. In this way it does away with ALL privilege, and all class stratification. It does away with all old, obsolete cultures, customs, traditions. The entire mindset of preserving the past must be totally and aggressively be destroyed and wiped out of existence.

For instance there will be no appointed judges. There will be nobody being appointed period, because nobody will have the privilege and power to appoint anyone. Instead everyone will have the responsibility to insure that justice is meted out fairly. Everyone will have the shared responsibility of:

No. 1: Arresting anyone they know who is guilty of a crime
No.2: Interrogating the accused criminal.
No. 3: Holding court as a judge over the criminal they arrested and interrogated.

No. 4: Judging whether they are innocent or guilty and passing sentence on the defendant if they are judged to be guilty.

No. 5: And if they so wish: carrying out the punishment themselves personally.

You might think this is too much power to give to anyone, much less everyone… you might think that it will create blood feuds and revenge killings and turn society into a mafia style horror of violence and hate… but; you forget one thing. The person arresting, interrogating, holding court and passing sentence is also held responsible for giving the correct verdict and sentence. And if his sentence is determined to be wrong… if the person he or she sentences turns out to be innocent… then they must suffer the exact same sentence and punishment that they wrongfully or mistakenly inflicted on the defendant… in other words: the moral and ethical value of responsibility pre-empts and supersedes and trumps all other legal laws, regulations, etc.

This means that nobody can get away with wrongfully arresting and punishing anyone who is found to be innocent. Anyone who even thinks of doing such a thing will be sweating blood in fear of being caught and found out. They will stink of fear and guilt so badly, they will be sniffed out before they even have a chance to pass sentence… and when they are found out; the defendant will have the moral and ethical right to judge and pass sentence on those who judged them.

This also keeps the biblical moral law of "an eye for an eye; a tooth for a tooth. Alive and intact

It also keeps the biblical moral law: "judge not lest ye be judged". Alive and intact because if everyone can be judged by others then everyone will have the right to judge others

Any judge can also be arrested for giving a sentence that is too lenient or too harsh.

Anyone and everyone can be arrested by anyone and everyone.

A person can also be arrested for not arresting someone they know is guilty of a crime.

The arresting and judging and sentencing of anyone guilty of a crime or misdemeanor becomes the responsibility of every single citizen. This will not get rid of the police… instead the police and the community they serve in the form of a cooperative union working together to make it impossible for criminals to escape justice,

This equalizes civilization… it creates a civilization based on equality.

By making the moral-ethical imperative of responsibility supreme above all else; this means nobody can get away with anything criminal, or even slightly bad or incompetent or lax, because they will be found out and corrected or punished for their irresponsibility.

One thing should be clearly stated and understood. In a new civilization, absolutely no old customs, traditions, should be preserved. One absolute forbidden practice in any newly created custom or tradition is never to include any drinking or eating or taking of drugs. When humans wish to celebrate or hold any gathering, they should only focus on human interaction with each other without drinking or eating anything. All 'religions' and 'beliefs' and superstitions are to be outlawed and considered to be criminal and a crime. Humans will only focus on two things: What they know through experience and proven evidence and what they don't know yet. This will get rid of all pointless speculation and theories and hypotheses. All exploration of what is not known will have only one question to determine if any line of inquiry is worth looking into: Is it good for the living Earth and all of its living organisms or not? Will it benefit life or not? This will exterminate all obsessions over dead things and death except for the goal of hunting down all undead entities and killing them dead, and removing all influence and presence of the undead on Earth and cleansing all living organisms of their undead parasites that hide in them and all around them

If these responsibilities are carried out: humans can transform civilization in one generation beyond their imagination.

Notice;

None of this is possible if your priorities are primarily to your own personal concerns of pleasure and ease and nothing else.

None of this is possible as long as human society is based on adversarial competition and conflict and not intelligent cooperation.

None of this is possible as long as civilization is pyramidally structured where the top ruling elite are never held responsible for their crimes and misdeeds, while the rest suffer under their oppression.

None of this is possible as long as each human is solely focused on their own concerns of pleasure and ease. None of this is possible as long as civilization is based on Hedonism.

Notice.

The concept of willing voluntary cooperation between all living humans does not exist in civilization as a moral imperative. That is why nearly all charities fail or are frauds. In fact civilization has no moral or ethical imperatives at all: this is why it is evil

The concept of cooperation does not exist in civilization…
Except only when personal self-interests coincide;
In which case it is not true cooperation, it is a criminal conspiracy meant to benefit only the parties involved to the detriment of others. And it never lasts because the personal aims of all self-interested parties are always at odds with each other because of the adversarial nature of all self-interests.

The so-called cooperation of machines that keep modern civilization functioning exists only so that billions of human hedonistic consumers can jeep consuming the world's resources and by doing so pollute and poison and destroy and kill all life on earth…

Humans are not aware that they are being used by the undead to do this… they thinks that all this consumption and machines and oil tankers and cars and govts are there only for them to enjoy their hedonistic affluent lifestyles. Because this kind of 'cooperation is an invention of the undead and kept going by the undead I do not regard this as actual human-to-human cooperation. It is a monstrous evil developed over millions of years of tool use and the undead using humans as tools until humans used tools the same way the undead use them… with the same evil negative results.

The concept of responsibility has disappeared from civilization it does not exist in society at all except as hypocrisy and lip service.

This is because the unspoken culture of pure Hedonism poisons every aspect of civilization and every human living soul

You cannot have cooperation without responsibility.
Responsibility comes before cooperation.

Notice:

The idea or concept of improving anything is alien in civilization unless it involves self interest and the principles of hedonism. It is so rare that only one person in a thousand is committed to improving anything and that is why all attempts to improve anything are doomed to failure because civilization is based on the unspoken principle of hedonism.

In an adult civilization: equality, honesty and cooperation are the moral-ethical backbones of all human societies. Inequality, dishonesty, and adversarial behavior are not tolerated. Those who are guilty of such sins are either corrected, punished or killed.

In an adult civilization: there is no difference between a sin and a crime. All sins are crimes and all crimes are sins. That is because in an adult civilization there are no differences of opinion; there is only the universal logic of honesty, equality and cooperation.

An adult human civilization is based on proven universal truths and universal principles to which there are no exceptions. By everyone agreeing on and abiding by these universal principles and truths; there is an end to all dissent and arguments.

Hedonistic civilization is not interested in the universality of anything. It is only focused on personal interests.

Civilization does not attempt to find any universal agreement or cooperation between people on anything.

The unspoken assumption that humans will always disagree about something comes from the undead poisoning all human relationships and all universal truths.

Once humans understand that their designed function is to create beauty and love; they will become able to change the entire earth. All love is beautiful. All beauty is love. These are universal principles that humans will live by and devote their entire lives to once they become mature adults.

In order for humans to develop and become mature adults: they must learn to integrate themselves. Human integration is the only way that humans can develop their intrinsic human abilities and potentials. Humans must learn to integrate their inner selves so their inner thoughts. Inner Emotions, inner actions are integrated. Humans must learn to integrate their outer selves so their outer thoughts, their outer emotions, their outer actions are all integrated. Humans must learn to integrate their inner selves with their outer selves. This means that what you feel, what you say what you do what you think must be integrated into one integrated personality and awareness without conflict or contradiction., and if there are any; it is your responsibility to examine yourself and find out where and how and why you have gone astray.

The closest thing to the self-examination of your inner self that I speak of has been the Christian Protestant concept of a personal conscience. Many philosophers and writers have questioned the society and civilization they lived in but they did not question themselves, or if they did; they did it badly. The morality and ethos of your inner self must be the same as your outer social ethos and morality. If they are not: something or wrong and it is your responsibility to find out what and correct it.

The reason human civilization is evil is because Humans have copied the evil examples of Nature, of the past: when the greatest species on earth were the greatest killers on Earth.

Humans worship power… but what kind of power?... The power to kill and destroy… the power to create death: Not the power to create Life. The archeological record of billions of years of Life proves that every top predator, every species that became the top killers went extinct, while Life went on creating more and more new species and more and more living organisms. This shows that LIFE is more powerful than death. Life is positive, death is negative. To worship killers and killing is negative evil, and that is exactly what humans have been doing and are continuing to do, until they finally kill each other into extinction. Only when all humans worship the power to create Life and see the power to create Death as being evil can a new civilization be founded and born.

An adult civilization worships the power to create Life: not death. By the reversal of its values at the root of its morals and ethics; this in itself will transform humans and human society beyond recognition… and in doing so: humans can and will transform the Earth beyond recognition so it will be filled with Beauty and Love and Life: Not ugliness and pollution and poisons and death and dying and suffering and unhappiness and misery and hopelessness.

In an adult civilization: humans will only use machines to undo the ravages and destruction that machines have inflicted upon the Living Earth. All machines are evil.

For example… what are guns and bullets? What are artillery cannons and shells? What are missiles and missile launchers? They are mechanical penises spouting mechanical sperm. What are nuclear missiles with nuclear warheads? They are mechanical penises that spew mechanical radioactive death. Living penises and living sperm create life; mechanical penises and sperm create death.

These mechanical penises are used in wars to kill hundreds of thousands and millions of people… Now machines are beginning to copy the earliest evolution of Life on land… The first species on land were insects… now the newest killing machines are drones; basically they are mechanical insects. 70% of Russian deaths in the Ukraine war are now coming from military drones… Machines are copying the evolution of insects but they are a negative evolution of death The difference between living creature and dead machines is simple. One is Good: the other is evil. One is Positive; the other is negative. An adult civilization will recognize this obvious Truth and get rid of all machines and all such horrible abominations,

The question to be answered is why will this blueprint for a new civilization work?

The answer is that all babies and children are naturally programmed to grow up to function as they are genetically designed to function and grow up as quickly as possible to become adults. Children naturally want to take part in whatever their parents and adults around them are doing… they naturally want to take on as much responsibility as possible. Consumer civilization instead keeps them as spoiled and as stupid and as helpless as possible; stunting their natural development and not giving them any responsibilities. If parents let their babies and children become involved in everything they do, if they give them the freedom to grow and learn as much as they can… they will grow and develop faster and develop their intrinsic human abilities and potentials far beyond what is assumed is possible. Children and adolescents want to take on responsibilities. They want to become considered as adults as fast as possible. That is their natural inclination. It is only when they are prevented from growing up and developing themselves and not given responsibility that they become angry and rebellious. The other aspect of their rebellion is when they rebel against the hypocrisy of the system their parents and elders try to force them to adopt. A civilization based on responsibility with no rights and no ordained privileges cannot by definition have any hypocrisy in it. Everything anyone earns will be by their own effort and their own merits; it is a pure meritocracy with everyone equal to everyone else regardless of age, sex or anything else.

The other reason why an adult civilization based on responsibility will work has to do with the natural connection between responsibility and authority and power. Any time anyone willingly takes on a responsibility that is recognized by others; they must also recognize the authority that being responsible for something entails, and the power it gives the person who takes on that authority.

For instance: if someone takes on the responsibility to take out the garbage every week; they also take on the authority to make sure everyone else puts the garbage in their waste paper baskets into the larger garbage sack or bin, and they must obey him or her because he or she is responsible for taking out all the garbage. Because of this, they are in turn also responsible to see that their individual baskets are put into the larger one in order for all the garbage to be taken out, and he cannot do that unless the others fulfill their responsibilities also… which go under his greater responsibility of taking out all the garbage. He is the garbage czar and the others are his obedient underlings, and if they fail to cooperate in their smaller responsibilities of the smaller waste paper baskets: he has the authority and power to remind them, or chastise them or punish them for their irresponsibility…

This is what makes taking on responsibilities attractive to humans… the more responsibilities one takes on… the more authority and power they have to assume… not just over others, but over whatever they are responsible for… consumer civilization, on the other hand, gives people power and authority with no accountability and no way of holding them responsible for their actions and words and deeds.

An adult civilization that makes everyone responsible, and allows everyone to take on as much responsibility as they want and can handle, will have millions of critics on just how well anyone handles or mishandles their responsibilities, and their feedback will be virtually instantaneous. This is a natural social system of meritocracy and positive and negative feedback. Anyone who does their job well is rewarded and recognized and anyone who does it poorly is punished. Not by money, but by the esteem and respect they earn, or the disrespect and contempt they earn.

Instead: consumer society awards huge amounts or power and authority to the most evil corrupt criminals and psychopaths without holding them responsible; while billions of consumer slaves have no power or authority but are made to be held responsible for everything the ones in power do or fail to do by being forced to pay taxes or obey the countless laws designed to enrich those in power while impoverishing the masses under them.

I want to address something that all people are guilty of and that is: labelism. People today use labels as generalities incorrectly because they have been programmed and brainwashed into thinking in terms that are not true… in fact most labels are lies.

For instance the term “socialism” is used as an epithet for everything people do not like. The accepted wisdom of the brainwashed masses is that “socialism” has been proven already to be a failure, by giving false examples and analogies that are not true…

Get this through your fucking head: the pumping station that pumps the water though your city pipes to your sink and shower is socialism in action. The dams and hydroelectric plants and power grids that bring you electricity to light up your home and powers your computer is 100% pure socialism. The garbage trucks that take away your garbage every week is socialism. The highways and roads you drive on and the sidewalks you walk on is socialism. The fact that you take all this for granted, does not mean it is not socialism. The old age pension and the unemployment benefits you receive are socialism.

The only reason human civilization works is through cooperation and socialism on a huge organized grand level of integrated services that you take for granted and do not see them as being socialist but they damn well are.

In modern mechanized consumer crony capitalist civilization: all the socialist infrastructure which keeps civilization working is an ignored backdrop to billions of brainwashed programmed insect idiots all pursuing their own little selfish personal interests, goals etc.

In an adult civilization, all personal interests are of little value compared to the improvement of all civilization for the greater good. As a result: when everyone works for the greater good civilization is improved for everyone with no exceptions. In other words: the improvement of civilization as a whole translates directly into an improvement in the life of every single person in civilization, so working for the greater good is exactly the same as working for your own good. They are one and the same thing. When you only work for your own good and nobody else’s; you do not improve the society you live in. That is the basic fallacy that crony capitalism preaches. One person can amass billions of dollars at the expense of impoverishing millions of people without improving the society they live in by one iota… in fact, what this does is it worsens the society they live in by a huge degree that is disproportionate to their own personal impact on society.

By definition: a new civilization based only on responsibilities and not rights or privileges automatically deletes, destroys and eliminates the entire pyramidal structures of power and privileges that exists now, and has existed ever since civilization was invented. It automatically replaces all segregation between privileged classes and those who are not privileged and turns the entire population of humans in every nation, society, region and neighborhood into a society of equals… except that the entire dynamics of social status and power and authority will be determined solely on who handles and exercises their responsibilities better than others… this means that the pecking order of all civilization will be based on proven merit and nothing else. The best in every field of endeavor will rise to the top and the least competent will sink to the bottom.

.In this adult civilization where there are no right and no privileges; there cannot be any inequality. So the new justice system gives the right of every citizen regardless of age, creed sex or color, the power and authority to:
No.1: Arrest
No. 2: Jail
No. 3: Interrogate
No. 4: Hold court over the accused
No. 5: Judge the accused
No. 6 Sentence the accused.
No. 7: And if they choose to: carry out that sentence themselves.

In that order…

But in order for this new system of justice to work;
There must be one more ingredient…

And that is all citizens should be trained in fire arms and every citizen should own a fire arm and if they refuse to be trained or refuse to own a fire arms they will be deported. Fire arm training will be taught in every grammar school and high school as a compulsory subject so once children reach voting age they will already know how to use fire arms responsibly. Every nation should issue a fire arm to every child when they reach voting age. And most important every citizen has the right to bear arms in public and in private

This is also part of the first and second law of Responsibility. Every person has the responsibility be able to defend themselves and their loved ones and family and friends if threatened; Also every person has the personal Responsibility to arrest anyone they know who is guilty of a crime.

In a nation where everyone is armed… there will be no crime: simply for the reason that they will be shot dead the minute they try to commit a crime because everyone or most people will be carrying a fire arm and they will know how to use them. An eighty year old lady will be able to knock on the door of a 250 Lb truck driver and when he opens the door she will be able to arrest him for driving through a red light because she will be pointing her gun at him and she will know how too use it and if he tries anything she will not miss and he will know that and he will be led at gunpoint to the police station where she will interrogate him, try him and sentence him to community service to pay for his irresponsibility.

Fire arms are a great equalizer when it comes to enforcing justice; and if everyone in a nation is trained to use fire arms and carries one; this will guarantee that the new justice system will work like a charm and all crime will disappear. By making everyone responsible for ensuring justice is served; the result is an entire nation of policemen and policewomen who will run their own justice system with the cooperation of the official police.

In the corrupt pyramidal system of the present civilization; the masses are unarmed while being oppressed and terrorized by the ones at the top who have armies and corrupt police thugs to control them. In the new civilization everyone will be armed and everybody will have the Responsibility and right and authority to arrest anyone guilty of a crime.

For example if someone kills someone's wife: the wife's husband has the power and authority to arrest the guilty person and judge them and sentence them to death and kill him with his own bare hands if he so chooses.

However… if it is found that the person who was arrested, jailed, interrogated, judged and sentenced is or was innocent… then the person who arrested and sentenced them will suffer the same exact sentence which they sentenced the innocent person.

This new form of justice keeps true to the biblical principle of justice: an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth. And that applies to everyone because as I said; in an adult intelligent civilization; nobody has any rights or privileges: only responsibilities

This will insure that nobody who acts as a judge upon others can avoid themselves being held responsible, judged and punished. This also does away with all written laws and all lawyers. Whatever anyone deems to be criminal is sufficient cause and justification for them to arrest, judge and sentence anyone; period. This means that it will be the collective morality and ethics of all society that determines what is criminal and not criminal; not any 'law' made by a govt by corrupt politicians… in fact, there will be no difference between a sin and a crime. Anyone found guilty of sinning will be just as liable to being arrested and punished as someone who has committed a crime.

This means that there will be only one universal interpretation of good and evil, and it will be applied to everyone equally without any discrimination of class, creed, age, sex or color. This will simplify what is allowed and what is not tolerated, what is good and what is evil, what is good and what is bad, what is right and what is wrong… they will all be the same for everyone.

This will work because all parents will have the responsibility to raise their children properly and responsibly, and if they do not: their children will be taken away from them and given to a family that has responsible parents, and the irresponsible parents will be punished. In civilization: parents have had the freedom to raise their children in whatever way they want, regardless of how damaging and evil it may be. In an adult society parents will no longer have that 'right'. They will only have the responsibility to raise their children correctly; nothing else.

All you need to do is read the history of civilization… from the Sumerian empire to the chin empire to the Egyptian empire to the Indus river empires to the Mesopotamian empires to the Persian empire to the roman empire, to to the European empires to every kingdom that ever existed… it is one long, dreary, pointless, repetitive boring tale of murder, intrigue, assassination, conspiracies, plots, betrayal, wars, uprisings, hatreds, feuding the fight for power and wealth, for social standing… repeated over and over and over for thousands of years. All of it is because if how civilization is structured. If civilization were not pyramidally structured; none of this stupid, mindless scramble to the top of the shit pile would happen. When the new civilization, structured as I outlined is created: none of the evils of hierarchical civilization will exist because the structure of the new civilization will make it impossible to exist.

When you look at the history of civilization: it is a litany of thousands of years of mass famine, looting, pillaging, hate, fear, rape, slaughter. Terror. Starvation, genocide, mass forced migrations running away from murderous hordes who are all seeking "greener pastures": (in other words Hedonists)…
Does anyone today see this as strange? Evil? Insane? Yawn; no… 8 billion hedonists today couldn't care less that their modern machine technology is based on war. Mass slaughter. Mass suffering. All the thousands of years of toil, strife, unhappiness. Misery, slavery, oppression, being taxed into utter poverty, robbery, servitude; do 8 billion hedonists see anything wrong with this? Yawn… no. They see this as a grand march of "progress"; the final reward being that all these thousands of years of human suffering and mass slaughter gives them the privilege to sit on their asses staring at illusions on a flat screen addicted to the internet and babbling on their smart phones. The entire concept of the grand march of "progress" of civilization is based on the unspoken religion of hedonism being the one and only goal and justification for thousands of years of civilization's history of horror and insanity

What you need to understand is everything living humans do to others is a reflection of what the undead do to them. Slavery came into being because the undead turned humans into slaves to do their evil bidding. Humans that treat others like slaves are slaves themselves to the undead. The origins of this ancient evil are lost in the mists of time. Nobody knows when slavery was invented, but ever since it was, it has been used by humans to turn tools into slaves and living creatures into slaves and living plants into slaves and living animals into slaves and living humans into slaves… throughout all this evil enslavement, there has been a continuous attempt to "improve" the genetic makeup of the species they enslave…but humans have never tried to improve their own species. The reason for this is because the undead want to keep their human puppets as stupid and as easily enslaved as possible. In fact the undead have been successfully dumbing down the entire species of living humans for millions of years. That is why today a huge majority of living humans are so easily brainwashed and programmed. They were born from generations of slaves because the undead have taken over control of humans and turned them into their puppets..

In this new civilization there will be no "culture". Nothing that is old will be cherished or respected or preserved or perpetuated. There will be no template, no pattern, no sacred preservation of the past to imprint every new generation with. Each person will grow up with the chance to explore and create anything and everything. The only value of the past will be to learn from its mistakes and successes and learn from it period… nothing else but… the perspective that comes of learning from the past can turn what was once seen as a mistake to a success and vice versa and from what was seen to be good as evil. Only with a historical perspective and knowledge of the past, and a moral and ethical code that is positive and anti-negative can any human society improve itself and the living world they live in.

What people need to understand is that the present 12,000 year old model is based on pure Hedonism… For 12,000 years, those in power flaunted their Hedonism in front of the oppressed masses. The oppressed, taxed, terrorized masses were made to watch as rulers built huge numerous stone palaces, castles, mansions, as their personal dwellings. Kings and queens had many such opulent edifices of extravagance at enormous cost… paid for by sucking wealth from the oppressed masses, built by slaves and masons and architects; solely for their personal gratification and egotistical egoism of self-importance.

For 12,000 years, those at the top of the pyramidal shit pile of civilization feasted while the masses starved. For 12,000 years the extravagance of their stuffing themselves with complicated gourmet dishes made of hummingbird tongues, and huge excesses of rare delicacies that took hundreds of hours to prepare were paraded in front of the poor masses. For thousands of years the clothing of the rich was unaffordable for those beneath these high and mighty scum… For 12,000 years the caste structures and cultures and systems of this pyramidal shit pile called civilization were preserved and perpetuated as the only value system there was… For 12,000 years human insects wasted their lives trying to climb up this pyramid as the only motivation of human existence. Upward mobility in this shit pile was the only form of self-improvement that existed, and that was afforded only to a select, lucky few… The huge majority of ambitious upstarts were driven back into obscurity and suffered a huge loss of social position for their temerity to dare rise above their station, as examples to anyone else who wanted to emulate them.

For 12,000 years the criminal elites of the ruling class have done as they pleased without being held responsible for their crimes and abominations… This 12,000 year old example of irresponsibility, criminality, avarice, greed, sexual lust, gluttony, evil, etc… this example of personal self-gratification by the highest social classes spread to the masses until now the masses share the exact same corruptions and values as the elite ruling classes do. Now: literally everything in civilization is motivated by personal self-gratification.

The idea of working towards anything that is greater than your own personal concerns no longer exists. There are no social organizations that work toward a greater good any more.

The point I am making is the reason the masses do not kill the criminals in power for their well known evil crimes and abominations is because the masses share the exact same values as their oppressors and masters…

The masses do not have any code of ethics or morals any different from the ruling elite… for them and for their rulers, there is no such thing as good or evil… there is only what they like or don't like on a personal level of self-gratification.

Even people who choose to live off-grid away from civilization are only pursuing their personal goals of personal self-gratification. They have no sense of responsibility for the greater society they have divorced themselves from. Their concept of escaping from civilization insures that none of their healthier instincts and values will affect the corrupt degenerate main mass of civilization which they remove themselves from. The culture of escapism runs throughout all of civilized society. This culture is not only an escape from reality, it is an escape from all responsibility to the greater good of human society… as an example; the culture of sailing boats and people who spend their lives sailing around the world is just another example of escape from all connection and responsibility to civilization as a whole…

It is because the lower classes share the exact same basic amoral unethical selfish values of personal self-gratification as the most evil monsters who were ever born and are responsible for horrendous crimes; that the pyramid shit pile of civilization is perpetuated and preserved for thousands of years and why it is becoming more and more evil and insane at an accelerating rate without anyone doing anything to stop it.

The idea, the concept, the culture of responsibility has been wiped out of existence. Nobody is held responsible for anything they say or do or think…

as a result the most evil poisoned filthy degenerates have complete freedom to attack all decency and honesty and family values… it is now these scum who have taken the false moral high ground and totally reversed the true order of health vs sickness… life vs death, good vs evil. The small minority who notice this slide into total degeneracy is so ineffective, they cannot stop civilization from devolving further into total self destruction and insanity because the basic operating principle of civilization is and has always been hedonism.

It has taken civilization thousands of years of accelerating horrible abominations and evils to arrive at where we are now: on the brink of total nuclear catastrophic destruction of all life on earth….

How it happened can only be understood by the comprehensive knowledge of 3,000 years of history and how the religious belief in immaterial spirits, demons, forces of nature, deities, devils, evil spirits, gods, etc, changed into materialism and the worship of material things… by spiritual religions and worship being slowly replaced with secular religions and worship of secular institutions and aspects of civilization…

Now: humans are born into a civilization where they automatically worship civilization itself as a 'greater good'…. Humans now practice the assumed unspoken worship of many secular aspects of civilization. They worship factories, they worship stores, they worship mass manufacturing, they worship machines, they worship physical objects, they worship money, they worship identicality: the unspoken assumption is that all things are identical to each other; that all hydrogen atoms are identical to each other, that all mass manufactured objects are identical to each other, that all humans are identical to each other… this is a lie. It is a fallacy.

Yet what this universal worship and practice of personal self gratification has done is make all brainwashed humans who practice this universal evil value system of personal self-gratification is they have nothing in common with each other… every single corrupted poisoned human's accumulation of personal opinions, tastes, preferences, ideas, assumptions are so different from all other insane brainwashed humans who worship their own personal self-gratification, that they are incapable of having anything in common with each other… except the commonality of practicing personal self-gratification… like car people socializing with others who worship cars, or boat people who worship sailing boats, or people who worship whatever gratifies them personally whether it is rock climbing or stamp collecting stamps; etc, etc; ad vomit.

None of them have a common moral code of ethics that they share with others except personal self-gratification.

None of them have any perception or understanding of what is good and what is evil. Everything is based on what each person "likes" or "dislikes"… that is the definition of pure Hedonism.

As an example just look at the explosion of pornography ever since the end of WW2… with the invention of the internet the porn industry quickly became the largest cash industry in the world and it is growing by leaps and bounds… every kind of sexual perversion and abomination is being practiced, spread and publicized and there is no public outcry or outrage. Whatever "pleases" anyone, whatever they "like" no matter how evil and filthy it is, is considered to be "normal"… nobody can document or study the history of this one example of hedonism because it is done in secret, it is hidden, practiced by twisted sick people who have been poisoned by the undead and corrupted by the undead from birth. It is now leaking into mass media… it is becoming more and more visible simply because so many billions of people are watching porn and seeing nothing wrong about it. It has become normalized… just like gambling has become normalized. Every kind of sin and abomination that was regarded as evil for thousands of years is now being practiced because civilization has no moral code and no code of ethics… everything is allowed… child trafficking and abductions have exploded into a worldwide criminal industry, sex slavery has become a multibillion dollar business… the acceleration of every degeneracy known to man is exploding while new abominations are being invented and practiced by the elite, like drinking the blood of children that have been horribly tortured and murdered. Child sacrifice and the killing of babies has become an underground industry.

To live in the world and be a part of the living world and be connected to all living things is how humans are designed to live and should live.

Instead: civilization isolates, insulates, and alienates humans from nature and the natural the living world and from each other, and puts them into an artificial poisoned evil insulated womb of deadened, unfeeling boredom and meaninglessness. This has devolved into an existence of total abstract unreality where nothing is real and everything in civilization is a false illusion. This has happened not because of anything recent… it has happened because civilization has always been evil, and unless it is completely reversed: it will destroy all humanity and all life on earth.

Only if you read my book: The Path of Splitness; will you ever have a chance to understand that the root cause of all the evil in the world is due to the existence of the undead. Only if you understand how cunningly the undead have inserted themselves into every living human and living creature and have done so for millions of years, can you understand how cunning and malevolent and evil the undead are…

Only when you question everything, only if you develop a code of morals and ethics that recognizes the difference between good and evil; will you have any chance to fight the undead and kill them and kill all evil people who are possessed by the undead.

Only when there is a battle between good and evil: only what evil is completely exterminated and destroyed and decomposed into its natural constituent parts, can good triumph and win over evil.

The countless alternative sites that are either exposing or claiming conspiracies to turn humans into obedient robotic slaves is not surprising.

The Priorities of Responsibility and Cooperation

Whatever it is termed as; 'the great reset', 'the 4th industrial revolution'. 'biometric id's' etc.… the fact that humans are becoming more and more brainwashed is not surprising; it is inevitable because civilization has been developing in this direction for thousands of years. The claims of transhumanism; turning people into walking-talking zombies by the ruling elite is no surprise, in fact it is inevitable, it cannot be stopped… there is only one way to stop it;

Stop Using Machines!!

The fact is; the more humans use machines, the more humans become like machines;

The more humans use machines the more machines turn humans into machines.

You need to understand the Universal Principle of usury…

Whatever you use; uses you more than you use it.

How can I say that when jewish bankers literally own and control almost everything in the world ?? How are they being used? These filthy jewish bankers are being used by the undead to commit evil in the world… they are totally controlled puppets of the undead. The undead use them to commit more evil than any other living humans because they exist at the top of the pyramidal money shitpile of evil that fuels and runs and controls all of civilization.

The reason the undead do not suffer the karmic backlash and justice from all their evil is because they run away after committing their evil in the Realm of the Living back into the Realm if the undead. Because they commit their evil in the Realm of the Living; the karmic Law of the Universe; the law of Balance does not apply to the Realm of the undead… This is how they escape justice for all their crimes and abominations in the Realm of the Living…

This why they must all be killed dead regardless which realm they are in. This is why once you enter their realm you must kill them and not stop killing them until all of them are dead, dead, dead in all three dimensions of their decomposing energy

Humans have been dumbed down and poisoned by machine technology. They do not have the historical perspectives needed to understand and realize that whatever new norms they create, affects them as much, even more than the machines they create and use.

In order to understand the evil of civilization, you need to know that civilization was based on slavery… and it still is… The origins of civilization thousands of years ago were based on slavery… human slaves…. This evil system continued to be based on human slavery for thousands of years… until they found a new kind of slave to replace human slaves… machines… Over a period of thousands of years, machines being used as slaves gradually replaced human slaves… Until now; most of the human slave population is now unneeded by the ruling elite. They can keep the entire system of pyramidal evil piled up shit going by using machines as slaves without needing a huge majority of the present population of living humans to perpetuate the massive insane evil called civilization… This is only a reflection of how the undead have been using living humans as slaves for millions of years.

This is why now: the ruling elites have now become proponents of eugenics and depopulation… This is why all the ruling elite all over the world have jumped on the Covid hoax and the poison MRNA jabs as a convenient way to get rid of what they consider to be excess population as useless, unwanted, unneeded human slaves… This no surprise; it is the inevitable natural devolution of civilization into a machine based insane civilization that will systematically replace humans with insane evil machines. This is what humans are blind to because they have no historical perspective and knowledge of the history of civilization as a whole, as an unbroken causal chain of events over thousands of years…leading in only one direction: increasing evil. They are completely unaware of the universal truth that applies to them and has always applied: whatever you use, uses you more than you use it…

All of the 'new' evil trends and abominations that people are becoming aware of and alarmed at are simply the natural, logical outcomes and developments of civilization, beginning with the invention of the first wheel… beginning with the first tools invented by human apes millions of years ago… unless you look at the history of our species as a single causal thread: an unbroken timeline covering millions of years; you cannot understand why and how human civilization is and has always been intrinsically evii, and is becoming more and more evil and insane at an accelerating pace, that now the speed of the increasing insanity and evil has accelerated so much and is growing so fast, that some humans are beginning to slightly become aware of this trend even in the spaces of a few years or months or weeks.

The assumption. The unspoken assumption, the big lie, the huge invented hoax, that civilization is in some way a form of progress, an improvement of humanity, an artificial construct that benefits humans is one main reason why humans are totally blind to the evil that is the poisoned sewer they are born into and live in and die in called civilization. It is only if and when humans develop the needed historical perspective and historical knowledge and wisdom to see and understand how and why civilization has always been and still is an accelerating invention of the undead, designed to poison all living humans and turn them into weaker and stupider brainless obedient slaves.
This is why civilization as it exists today must be totally destroyed and a completely new opposite civilization based on responsibility not rights or privileges is the only hope for humans to avoid their own self-inflicted self-destruction and genocidal extermination.

Now we come to the basic underlying reason why humans should behave responsible and behave responsibly… we are the most intelligent, most dominant animal on earth, and as the dominant animal on earth we are responsible for the well-being and the behavior of all other animals… we must lead by example in showing then what is right and what is wrong, what is good and what is bad… what is good and what is evil. What is acceptable and what is unacceptable. As the dominant, most intelligent species on earth, we are responsible for the well-being of the entire earth. All other living creatures take their queue from us… they recognize our superior position as top animal on earth, and if we change how we behave; so will all other animals on the earth change how they behave. If you want to see how humans can affect other species, just go watch how many different species were taught by a human to become friends on the internet… from birds to reptiles to bears to lions to cheetahs… the list of different species who learned to love a human is endless, simply by caring, kindness, patience and love: humans have transformed wild creatures who did not know that such a thing as caring and friendship and love existed into fuzzy balls of happiness and playfulness and love.

These idiosyncratic examples of just one human making a difference is powerful enough… but if all humanity did this in regard to all living creatures on earth: it would change how all living things behaved.

If all living creatures and plants learned not to fear or hate humans; it will change the entire earth beyond recognition. Instead of destroying and polluting and poisoning and killing all living things on earth: if we: the dominant animal on earth reversed our behavior; we could change the entire planet into a garden of eden; a paradise where no evil is allowed to exist.

This is what we were originally designed to do.
This is the reason we were put on this earth.
We were led astray by a serpent of evil
And have not repented or learned from our sins.

This is the only true meaning of our existence.
Until we grow up and recognize our responsibilities; we will continue to be the most evil species on earth and we will deserve our own extinction… just as all other dominant animals on earth deserved their extinction for being led astray by the undead… who have poisoned and led astray every single species on earth ever since they learned how to infiltrate and violate living creatures in order to keep themselves from decomposing and rotting and disappearing as they are all designed to do.

The intelligence of Life obeys the universal mandate of the Universe…
All Energy is designed to come together
Without harming anything!
Without destroying any other Energy
Without harming each other
If… our species does not do this Life will create a new species that does
Life itself is more intelligent and powerful than all the rotting undead put together

We need to recognize the power and intelligence of Life
Not the power of death, which is what we are doing and have done ever since we first invented the first tool to destroy life: fire!
That was the first major evil that the undead managed to do in poisoning our species.

We humans are designed to make friends with all other living creatures…
Why? Because the Universe is coming together also. The Universe designed us… not a fucking 'god'. All Energy in the Universe has been coming together for umpteen millennia… It has been coming together in huge masses of Energy known as stars, in galaxies and in planets… It has been coming closer and closer together without harming each other… It has been coming together more gently and more sensitively… Just as Space has been coming together more and more.

The process that science notices but does not understand is simple… As Energy comes together, it pushes the Space that exists inbetween Energies out, into interstellar Space. The more Energy comes closer together, the more the Space between it is pushed out and joins the larger interstellar Spaces that exists between galaxies, making the Space between galaxies larger and larger. Science has noticed this as an apparent expansion of the Universe. It is not expanding. The two basic elements of the Universe; Energy and Space are just coming together separately; Space is coming together and Energy is coming together. We humans are also designed to come together… Everything in our Universe is designed to come together…

Well, we Humans have come together, but they have done so destructively not constructively, we have come together negatively, not positively. This has happened because of the evil undead, who have reversed and poisoned every single positive impulse and positive movement that humans have tried to do.

Humans have already demonstrated and proven that they can make friends with almost every kind of living creature on Earth, but only as an exception, not as a rule. We have proven that we can make friends with each other… but only as an exception; not as a rule. Instead humans have made enemies out of each other… they have fought and killed and hated each other for millions of years: not because we are designed to do this, but because the undead take a malevolent delight in ruining and reversing ALL the positive Love and Good and Decency and Honesty and Intelligence in humans.

This is why these undead filthy hiding skulking rotting things must be killed dead and destroyed and exterminated before we can change our ways and do what we are designed to do… cooperate with each other intelligently and make friends with everyone, not just one or two.

Humans must first recognize the existence of the undead and understand that all of them are evil. And realize that all of them must be exterminated and utterly destroyed. Humans must learn to recognize the difference between good and evil, and kill every living thing that is being controlled by the evil undead.

This is the only way to rid the living of the undead. When those evil possessed living puppets of the undead; all their machinations and conspiracies and evil plans are stopped in their tracks…

For instance… if only three evil people were killed: gates, Fauci and Soros; all the evil plans of the undead to depopulate and poison the entire human species would be stopped in its tracks…. But nobody wants to kill them!! Nobody even thinks of killing them!!!

We already know these three psychopaths are responsible for the deaths and suffering of hundreds of millions of people… yet we let them live!! We let them continue their evil plans untouched!!

That is all the proof you need for the existence of the undead as i describe and explain it. These three monsters are protected by the undead… the undead always protect the evil puppets they control so they can continue to commit as much evil as possible

Only if and when enough humans wake up and understand that the battle between good and evil is a battle between life and death, and that everyone is included in this… there are no fucking neutral passive spectators in this fight between good and evil… if you know something is evil or someone is evil and you do not kill them; you are being controlled by your undead. "ask not for whom the bell tolls: it tolls for thee." This level of responsibility must be raised so that all people know that if they do not act on their knowledge of what is good and evil; then they are evil also.

The existence of the undead can be proven easily: they have taken the most educated and aware people on earth and chained them to their computer screens and frozen them into inactivity so they will never rise up and act on their knowledge of what is evil… whatever is evil must be destroyed.
If it is not destroyed; it grows and grows and covers the entire earth with its malevolent hidden poisonous all-pervading influence and power to do even more evil

Understand this:

The modern culture of civilization called consumerism is HEDONISM.

It is based on buying and selling whatever you want… buying and selling whatever you like, Buying and selling .whatever pleases you… this is based on the evil of usury taking over the world. It took the evils of usury thousands of years to grow and expand the worship of money and the concept of buying and selling to include the entire human population.

In ancient civilizations only kings and rulers used usury to fund their wars, only rich people bought and sold things, only the elite upper class were corrupted by the evils of making a profit… Now all humans share the same evil corrupt culture that was a monopoly of the filthy rich in ancient times.

The evil fallacy of consumer culture is that anyone has the right to do what they want "as long as it doesn't hurt others"… That is utter total bullshit. The truth is that anything you do to harm yourself affects others. Anything you do that is unhealthy, irrational, illogical hurts the society you live in.

In an adult responsible civilization nobody is allowed to do anything that is irresponsible… and that includes you drinking coffee, drinking soft drinks, eating ice cream, eating chocolate… because it is not good for you. Eating too much or too little will be seen as irresponsibility… This will lead to the realization that the less people eat, the healthier they are…

The fact is almost everything consumer civilization sells you is not good for you; in fact it is addictive, unhealthy, and poison. The 'freedom' of consumer civilization is not only meaningless but evil because almost everything that is sold is designed to make you sick, weak, unhealthy, brainwashed, twisted, ignorant, misinformed, lied to deluded, deceived, corrupted.

In a responsible civilization; nobody has the right to buy or sell anything. In a responsible civilization the idea of buying and selling will be universally understood as an evil, illogical. Irrational concept invented by the undead designed to turn all humans into corrupted slaves of the undead. Consumer rights will be understood to be an evil filthy part of the evil civilization that the undead invented.

In a responsible civilization: usury is unthinkable. Anyone even attempting it would be killed instantly as a dangerous, evil, insane puppet possessed by the undead. In a responsible civilization the concept of buying and selling would not exist… Even barter would not exist. Humans will cooperate with each other without any self-interest being a primary motive… neither will the concept of selflessness exist. People will be raised and taught to be intelligent and aware enough to understand what the larger context of their society is and what are the best positive decisions and actions that will improve them and everyone else in their society.

One other important realization that will happen is that the more responsible a person is, the happier they become… the truth that being responsible makes you happy will become a universally understood truth. Happiness will become to be understood correctly as something you earn by your own efforts and energy. Positive energy people will attract other positive energy people in a very selective designed way that is designed by the Universe for each person to find their soul mate and live a happy love filled life and raise happy positive energy children who also find their soul mate-s…

The concept of monogamy will not exist, but illicit sex will also not exist.
Men and women will love each other responsibly. Jealousy will not exist. Possessiveness will not exist. People will live in communities designed to raise their children as responsibly as possible. Humans will discover that the more responsible they become, the more people they love, the more positive energy they create, the healthier and more powerful they become, the wiser they become, the more intelligent they become.

The idea-assumption that happiness can be achieved by pursuing one's own self-interests-gratifications will not exist.

76

Humans will understand that they are designed to create Love and Beauty.
Babies and children will be born with a sense of Pure Wonder at everything.
They will experience the Pure Wonder of being alive in the middle of a beautiful living Earth, and that awareness will expand and grow both inwardly and outwardly until they are aware of everything inside them and outside them to such a high degree of sensitivity that they will be able to sense any undead evil filth hiding inside themselves and any undead outside them. And they will be able to force these evil undead filth out of their body and hunt them down and kill them dead.

Then for the first time on earth human children will be able to grow up free of the poisonous filth of the undead and develop their intrinsic abilities and potential and what they will become and what they will do and discover and achieve will be beyond imagination.

For example what are presents? They are the presence of the undead…
They are dead things hiding inside a box that is a coffin.
This is why the invention of people giving other people dead things in a coffin was spread by the undead because it exposes the presence of the undead… this is why there will be no presents and no presence of the undead in a responsible civilization.

I am the only person who has learned to detect the hidden cunning signs of the existence of the undead and their abominations and crimes against humanity. The undead have spewed clues and hidden signs of their existence for thousands of years. The tradition-invention of giving someone something in a box to signify that they cared for them came from the undead and their attempts to poison all Christian love in Europe and Britain during the industrial revolution..

The systematic evil of the undead in consumer society is that they make every new diabolical evil invention so appealing, so affordable, so popular, that you can't live without it… a perfect example is the computer and the internet. Before that it was canned food, mass manufactured sugar, cheap teal etc, etc.

Understand this. Modern consumer civilization is pure Hedonism… it is defined in the American Constitution as "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness"… these supposed sacred 'rights' have no concept and no mention of responsibility. If killing babies makes you happy then you are not an evil monster, you are just someone pursuing the "sacred" rights enshrined in the American constitution. Consumer civilization gives you the irresponsible rights to buy whatever you want, sell whatever you want, eat whatever you want, drink whatever you want, wear whatever you want, do whatever you want… "as long as it does not hurt anyone else but you". It is an unspoken amoral, immoral, code of irresponsibility. This evil code hurts not only you but all of civilization and it is why modern civilization is descending into hedonistic insanity and madness because it gives the undead opportunities to poison and take over living humans by creating evil obsessions, goals, plans, impulses, motives, acts, beliefs, religions, cults, cultures, norms, traditions, etc, that would otherwise never be tolerated or allowed to exist. That is what the undead inside you and all around you have been doing to you all your life. Beginning from when they first violate the womb of a pregnant girl and beging the lifelong process of taking total control over you by a systematic push into degeneracy and mindlessness to make you as unaware as possible and as weak and dumbed down as possible…

The undead invented this civilization you are living in strictly for their own evil purposes and plans and agendas from the very beginning… they have poisoned and twisted living humans ever since the first humans were created by nature as a new kind of animal that had never existed before… this is what the story of adam and eve is about, but the story is twisted and poisoned to hide the undead, the true evildoers from humans. It was the reptilian undead that corrupted the first humans, not a living snake… it was all the undead around the first humans and inside them that corrupted their natural genetic design. It was the undead who chased them out of paradise because they realized what these creatures were doing was destroying their hate and fear by spreading lobe and kindness… they had no way of stopping that except to drive them out of their natural habitat and turn them into a wandering rootless species, hounded by the undead and all the living creatures they controlled…

every ploy and tactic they used backfired on them for millions of years… they were forced to invent ever more evil abominations and inventions and conspiracies and pile them onto this one exceptional species… this ploy of keeping humans so busy by inventing crises to keep them distracted and filled with fear and hate has been going on for millions of years. But the natural design and nature of living humans keeps on coming through… the undead work and slave to re-corrupt every new generation of living babies over and over again… now they are trying to poison the human species genetically, so that they will become a permanently genetically sick, twisted, insane, evil species that is permanently bereft of all humanity, intelligence, logic and honesty and decency.

To understand the existence of the undead, you have to ask yourself:
"How many forms and kinds and levels of Energy are there in the Universe that the Hunan eye cannot see?"… The answer is… Infinite. There are an infinite number of Energies in the Universe that are invisible to the human eye. The levels of Energy and kinds of Energy that are imperceptible to human eyes and makes up 99.999% of the Energy in the Universe… We are effectively blind to them… We can see only .0000001% of the Energy that exists in the Universe. Just consider how many forms of energy that we do know exist that we can't see that are all around us all the time…
Cell phone energies; billions of them…
Sound waves, all around us all the time
TV waves; hundreds of them
Heat waves all around us
Micro oven waves
Gamma rays
X-rays
Gravity waves.
Electrical energy… completely invisible to us.
Ultra violet light energy
High pitched sound waves that only dogs and other animals an hear.
Low pitched sound waves that we can't hear or see…
Radioactive waves that we can't see but can kill us.

All of these forms of energy are invisible to us…

Why should it be surprising that the faint level of energy that the undead exist on is invisible to us also?... Sometimes they are visible… we call them ghosts. Just because we can't see something doesn't mean it doesn't exist. Just ask an astrophysicist how many kinds and levels of energy the sun emits that is filtered out by our atmosphere… The list is staggering, and we can't see any of them and they can kill us. Look at kirlian energy… Photographs show all kinds of energy emanating from living humans that we can't see.

I cannot emphasize how much mass consumerism is a culture of mass Hedonism. Everything in consumer civilization is geared, made, designed, and invented to pander to the lowest, stupidest most addictive appetites and personal impulses. The result is each consumer developing their own customized set of tastes, preferences, etc, from the millions of products sold by corporations that are controlled by the undead.

99% of consumers have no morals or ethics; they don't give a fuck about their own nationality or ethnic identity or religion or any code of values or morals or ethics. All they care about is the shit they buy and gratifying their personal degenerate preferences and tastes. They are totally divorced from politics and any social communal organizations like a church or a town hall, or the boy scouts are any organization that involves people who live in the same area they do. Their level of ignorance and unawareness outside their fucking black boxes or video games or any other distraction they addicted to like sports or gambling, or the lottery or TV shows etc… is so abysmal, they are so uncurious about anything outside their personal interests, their level of education is so limited that they can be regarded as sludge… the sludge that is found at the bottom of waste sewers. They are effectively non-entities. They have no effect or impact on the societies they exist in… they are just reactive insects that react to whatever propaganda crap they are exposed to. They have no firm values. Whatever they are told, they accept unquestioningly and unthinkingly. The phrase: "go along to get along" describes them perfectly. They are conformist brainwashed, obedient, little scared sheep, and because they make up the vast population of humans; Modern human civilization is already doomed simply because nobody can fight against their numbers or wake them up from their fatuous state of deadness.

Only a global cataclysm could wake them up, and even then it will not change their stupidity and conformity. Only if their precious consumer shit is no longer available will they be forced to live in another way… Most of them will die rather than change their habits of consumption. As long as factories profuse mass manufactured shit: they will remain in their consumer bubbles of personal self-gratification . If civilization breaks down and factories and supply chains stop producing and working, only then the few with a potential to learn and change and grow will survive.

This essay cannot be turned into reality without a huge population, a majority of educated enlightened people to put it into practice. Any small attempt will disappear or be ignored like the Quakers or Mennonites. This essay is written only for the rare few who understand that the full history of civilization is a pile of evils piled on top of each other… over thousands of years civilization has invented and created more and newer horrors and abominations and piled them on top of the old ones… it has normalized each new evil, new abomination, new horror, so humans get used to them and accept them unquestioningly. Only if you have the historical perspective to understand and see and realize how the evils of gambling and sexual perversions and pornography and drugs, and mass media and technology have spread and become normal, can you understand the basic reason why civilization as it exists now must be totally destroyed… but not to be reborn in some new foul abomination that is only a continuation of the old one!! The myth of the phoenix is evil, it is the rebirth of ancient evil in new forms. Civilization needs to be reborn as a total opposite of what exists now.

The fact that a huge part of the world's population of humans exists in a state of poverty, oppression, unhappiness. misery, depression, lacking basic needs does not affect the global religious culture of consumer self-gratification. The false icon of people gratifying their personal whims and wishes is held up as the only model for living. The fact that satisfying your personal whims, tastes, etc results in ill health, addiction, obesity and an early death or a life of health problems does nothing to change the avid flocking of the masses to anything that is sold to fill their little temporary selfish pleasures.

Long before the Industrial revolution began; the sins and vices and crimes of materialism were invented by the undead… the valuing of useless metals and minerals like gold and silver poisoned humans… What the industrial revolution dud was to spread the poisons of materialism to the lower classes.

From the age of religious fanaticism to the invention of mass manufacturing, each new invented evil was piled on top of the older evils… without getting rid of the older ones or replacing them. You can track this in the spicing of foods and beverages. One drug after another is discovered and spread until now, humans spices their foods with not only hundreds of spices, but thousands of poisonous chemicals. One bad habit piled on top of another, one insanity piled on top of another… until the entire human race goes berserk and begins destroying itself.

Why do people watch movies, TV. Sports, etc…?
Why do people overeat? Why do people take drugs?
Why do people collect stamps?
Why do people do anything?...
They do it because civilization is BORING, because it is empty of any positive value or meaning. Because all it offers is debilitating empty, useless meaningless things that do not develop the intrinsic abilities and potentials of humans… leaving people feeling unsatisfied, angry, bored, disgusted, etc…

Why do people read or watch anything that is fiction? Because their own lives are boring, because they want to read about or watch the lives of people who are not boring, because these fictions are interesting… Because they want to hear stories that have happy endings. The trouble is in real life there are no happy endings. The trouble is that all these fictional stories are not true, they are filled with lies that twist and poison the understanding of what

Life is actually like. All of them: Fictional legends, fictional myths, fictional folk tales, fictional books, fictional movies are based on unreal false lies… When people are fed with unreality from birth and begin to believe in things that are not true, their entire understanding of reality and life is poisoned. This is why all fairy tales and children's books are evil. The idea that children should be protected from reality by being fed garbage at an early age, the only reason this exists is because civilization is so foul, so meaningless, so boring that if children were allowed to understand the ugly realities of civilization they would rebel and want nothing to do with civilization… Then there would be a generational mass movement of rebellion against all the evils of civilization. The undead do not allow humans to grow up and face the true horrors and insanities of civilization; that is why children are brainwashed and spoiled rotten and protected from facing the ugly truths about civilization so they can be manipulated and used as pawns and unaware puppets of the undead. The undead use the natural human urge and need for happiness as a brainwashing drug so that they will block out all the unhappiness in civilization. The undead target happiness and make sure nobody is truly happy. Instead the undead brainwash people into thinking or believing that they are happy. The truth is there is no true happiness in civilization. There is only a small population of are only people who are insulated from the unhappiness of others. When you are so unaware of others and how unhappy they are; your happiness is just an illusion of your own unawareness. People who are naturally happy want to spread their happiness all around to everyone; have you seen anyone do that? The answer is NO because civilization does not allow that to happen… the undead do not allow it to happen.

How many people do you see in public that are smiling? How many people do you see on the streets that are happy? The answer is none.

Civilization is based on the worship of death and the preservation of dead things
Instead of the worship of Life and the preservation of living things

What has the machine done to humans? It has created the assumption and expectation that everything will be done for them so they can all sit on their asses and distract themselves with machine games… as the only way to fill up their empty, useless, meaningless lives. Machines have dumbed down the human population so they cannot survive without machines. It has turned humans into machine robots; working at robotic repetitive jobs that are mind numbing and empty of meaning except for the money they get from working like a machine. It has separated humans from Nature and from all living thins. It has forced humans to live inside concrete asphalt jungles. It has turned humans into machine-like robots. It has destroyed all human love and human community; it has isolated and alienated humans from each other. It has made everything easier for humans until humans now expect everything to become easier… It has turned this into a mindless religion of ease and hedonism. Humans are now worshiping sloth and ease and obesity and stupidity and ignorance as the only way to live. The religion of "Ignorance is bliss" is flaunted… people are proud of how ignorant and stupid they are. Humans are addicted to machines. Anything a machine can do to make their lives easier is grabbed and sold and spread like wildfire as the latest new innovation of modern technological society until now humans are using machines to think for them,,, The newest innovation called "artificial technology'… cars and trucks that will drive themselves, is seen as the inevitable wave of the future and is embraced as being good for everyone.

A perfect example of the pure Hedonism of civilization is restaurants… millions and millions of them; dedicated to pleasing the taste buds in your mouth and filling your belly. The culture of feasting and gluttony, as the only way humans socialize together is not only pure Hedonism and degenerate; it lacks any social ethos and morality. Civilization is designed and geared to allow humans to do whatever they like or whatever pleases them with zero ethical or moral guidelines ir standards. Morality and ethics do not exist in civilization anymore, and when it did exist, it was poisoned and ruined and destroyed as quickly as possible. When you are lacking calcium in your bones you cannot stand up. When you are born with a permanent, lifelong deficiency in calcium; you do not know what it means to stand up… the concept of standing up for anything simply does not exist for you… just as it does not exist for the billions of brainwashed human insects that populate civilization today. This why the only way to save Mankind from its own corrupt system is to institute a new civilization where you have zero rights or privileges… you only have responsibilities.

The number one responsibility is to yourself,,, without raising yourself so you are properly educated and unformed and take care of your physical, mental, emotional and spiritual healthy; you are in no condition you be responsible for anything more than just yourself, from there, you are responsible for becoming more responsible than just yourself,,, The opportunity and potentials for your personal and social growth are infinite… endless. When humans adopt this kind of civilization, then there will be no "old age"… no 'senility'… there will only be a constant increase in Living Life and increasing your positive impact on all Living things. There will be no unhappiness. Human Life will be transformed beyond any attempts to imagine what the results will be.

Another perfect example of the pure hedonism of civilization is giving toys to children to play with… The assumption is that children have NO social responsibilities until they reach the age of 18 or 21… The other point is the idea-assumption that they need a mechanical or electronic toy in order to play. That they cannot play without these 'toys".

Another perfect example of Hedonism is the amount of sugar and chocolate in processed food… The massive amount of sugar based products called candy and chocolate that are sold to and consumed by the brainwashed consumers with the public knowledge that it rots your teeth and ruins your health does not stop billions of consumers from addicting their children to this shit.

Everything in civilization is geared to the lowest, stupidest, most crass tastes and addictions. There are no higher aspects. Civilization is geared to descend into its own self-created insanities and abominations like the whirlpool in a toilet; sucking everything down to the lowest level where it disappears into a sewer of pure poisonous, insane filth.

Civilization is geared to protect criminal psychopaths and oppress and terrorize and intimidate honest decent people. Those in power deserve and need to be killed by using only one criteria; Anyone who wants power over others needs to be killed dead. Anyone who does not want to voluntarily cooperate with others for the betterment of all needs to be killed dead. In the new civilization; such people will be exterminated and gotten rid of fast.

In the new civilization anyone who does not raise their children responsibly will have their children taken away from them and be marked for life as am irresponsible danger to all of human society and only if they rehabilitate themselves will they ever see their children again.

In the new civilization, all criminals will be killed dead.
In the new civilization; the reality of life will be the opposite of what it is now. Only responsible honest decent people will hold any power and authority and they will only hold it because they are more competent and responsible and more intelligent and wiser than others. In the new civilization: nobody will seek to gain power, fame or authority over anyone else. Those who are chosen and elected to higher positions will not want their elevated status. They will be humble and only take on any position when others convince them that they are the man or woman for the job and nobody can be found who is better, and they will only take on such positions out of a sense of responsibility to the entire civilization and mankind that they seek to improve.

The functional purpose of consumers is to consume… they give nothing back… The functional purpose of consumer civilization is to funnel all the natural resources of the Living earth into feeding the rapacious endless maw of consumer demands and needs. Thereby killing, destroying, polluting and poisoning all the natural eco systems of the living Earth and in the process; exterminating and making extinct as many living species as possible,,, until there will be nothing left alive on the earth, and then this insane evil civilization will also collapse and go extinct also, and the earth will become a lifeless planet, indistinguishable from our dead moon… This is the path civilization is on, and it has always been the path of humans used as puppets by the undead were put on; ever since the undead made the first humanoid apes discover the first tool… Fire.

Fire is the ultimate natural destroyer and killer. It kills and destroys everything in its path… and ever since the undead pushed the first humans on this path of total destruction and mass death of all living things millions of years ago… they have increased the abilities of humans to destroy, kill, pollute and poison all living things and eco systems… this is the actual vaunted 'progress' of civilization. The lie that civilization has improved the living standards of humans is a joke. Today: humans are stupider, sicker, weaker and more brainwashed than any previous generation. The origins of all deserts on earth come from human destruction of the natural environment. Before humans appeared there were no deserts. This geologic fact has been carefully covered up and buried by scientific lies and fallacies and propaganda. It is only because in this universe; the decomposition of Energy takes longer than the composition of energy…Energy in its composed state exists for a shorter period of time than decomposing energy.

Some of the undead; the most evil of them discovered ways to avoid decomposing as long as possible, but for that they paid a price… Whatever living organism they used to avoid decomposing, they because genetically merged with into inter-species foul monsters. Their brains became that of a goat or cow or bull or bird… their personalities mixed with other living personalities and bodies and became an ungodly foul merging of human awareness that was never designed by nature to co-exist together… As they decompose, they become more and more insane, irrational, illogical. More horrible, more foul. More diseased. They lose all aspects of their decomposing humanity.

For example during the age of stone-cutting-building: the undead tried to keep from decomposing by merging themselves into what they thought to be the most unchanging energy possible… rock. They thought they could hide there in a perpetual stasis of non-changing eternity and thus never decompose… They were wrong… Instead their personas took on the characteristics of the rock they hid inside… they stopped being human.

They became half-rock, half-human monsters.

Some examples of the hedonism of civilization are tourism… hotels, getaways. Retreats, restaurants, cruise ships, amusement parks, Disneyland, etc… The worship of money, luxury, sloth; lives of the rich and famous, Celebrities, movie stars, the worship of billionaires, the global consumption of alcoholic beverages being normalized, legalized gambling, legalized drugs. The lower class masses emulating all the worst practices of the filthy rich and copying immoral, unethical degeneracy of their elite lifestyle.

The market for luxury goods from Mercedes cars to Rolex wrist watches to Gucci handbags, to diamond jewelry is based on the hedonistic worship of wealth and money. Billions of humans base their entire lives and values on how much money they have or make. The financial system of Jewish usury now rules the entire planet as the most powerful evil force on Earth. The global poisoning and polluting of all the earth's eco-systems and their systematic destruction and the global poisoning of all food and beverages and water on the earth; is just one more obvious screaming sign that civilization as it has been invented by the undead and progressed to the present, needs to be totally reversed or else the entire human species will go extinct, along with all over living things on the living Earth.

And then there is the porn industry, which should be the final nail of proof in the coffin of hedonism: The explosion of porn on the internet so that it became the largest cash industry in the world over 20 years ago and has been growing in size ever since, tells you all you need to know about the fact that consumer civilization is based on personal self-gratification, and because of this fact; everything IN civilization is poisoned and fouled.

Then there is the dark side of hedonism that pervades the entire world of the rich and elite… the drinking of the blood of children and babies for adrenochrome. The ritual murder of babies and children, the trafficking and enslavement of young children and women, the satanic rituals of secret organizations filled with evil symbolism.

Then there are the eugenicists like Soros and Bill Gates who are actively conspiring and colluding to depopulate the world of "useless eaters"…

And they are right. Billions of consumers are consuming the world's resources and giving nothing back… The thing is, these corrupt psychopaths like Gates are one thousand times more useless, and deserve a million times more to be exterminated because they are the ones who control and run and profit from consumer civilization. It is civilization itself that is evil. The criminals in power are only a manifestation of how far the undead have managed to destroy and poison all Life of Earth. Gates and Soros and Fauci are only markers of how evil civilization has become. Civilization is continually becoming more and more toxic, more and more insane, more amd more unhealthy, more and more unnatural. More and more evil at an accelerating speed that is out of control and is going faster and faster so fast that people no longer recognize the society they once know 5 years ago.

Then there is the explosion of power, size and number of secret criminal organizations like the Mossad, the CIA, the KGB, the FSB, the MI5, and all the other secret criminal organizations like the council of foreign relations, the Bilderbergs. The WEF, the world bank. The council of Rome, the Masons… etc, etc… The glorification and worship of secrecy has exploded with the internet… Now there are billions of insane paranoid people on the internet who are obsessed over keeping their true identities secret. The levels of fear, terror, paranoia, alienation, mental disorders have exploded and are accelerating.

The numbers of toxic poisonous chemicals and additives are increasing by the tens of thousands every year…

The reason civilization is evil is because those with power and authority have no responsibility. Only those with no power and no authority are held responsible. The more power and authority you have, the less responsible you need to be. That is a complete reversal of how it should be.

The reason for this is the pyramidal structure of civilization.

The same goes for work: the harder the job the less you are paid… the easier the job, the more you are paid: It is a complete reversal of logic.

The underlying practicing religion of civilization is personal self-gratification… yet in actuality; billions of people lead unhappy lives barely able to survive. That is also a complete reversal of logic. This is also due to the pyramidal structure of civilization.

The bottom line is that billions of dumbed down, brainwashed human insects spend their lives trying to gratify their own personal interests, and never bother to understand or investigate or question any larger aspect of the civilization they exist in. The result is billions of human insects, scrambling around the planet, programmed to react blindly and stupidly and predictably to any larger forces that affect them, or whatever they become aware of. The result is the masses are easily manipulated and brainwashed to believe whatever the ruling elite want them to believe. The concept of questioning anything is drummed out of their minds at an early age. Even if they become aware of some injustice or something that is seriously wrong or bad, they do absolutely nothing about it… they remain silent out of fear and cowardice. The passivity of the masses and their conformist brainwashing allows the criminals in power to get away with anything they want with almost no resistance or backlash. The culture of mass cowardice blankets the entire world. As a result: nobody even tries to do anything about anything, except babble on the internet like a mass of female clucking chickens.

At present: the ruling elite criminals have successfully started a global genocide of mass death of the lower classes… The only hope for things to improve is if enough millions die and enough millions become outraged at what has been done to them and rise up en mass and kill these monsters… but I see little hope of this ever happening.

The only possibility of there being a change for the better, is if a majority of the conformist sheep die off, leaving only the non conformists alive who are aware of what these criminals have done, and finally begin to organize amongst themselves to kill these upper class filth until they are all dead… But even that is a slim hope, and the probability of it happening is yet to become a possibility.

As long as mass manufacturing produces goods to gratify the personal tastes and whims of the masses; I see little hope for any change… Civilization needs to devolve and degenerate and self-destruct to the point where all of its artificial dogmas and practicing beliefs are totally destroyed, and the survivors, those who are left alive, have the intelligence not to repeat the same mistakes… Even that is a faint hope… I am writing this for future generations in the hope that this missive survives the passage of time and that it will be read by people capable of understanding the basic reasons and fallacies why civilizations always crumble and rot into pure evil insanity.
It does not have to be this way.

Consumer civilization has created a species of humans with the awareness level of an insect. The potential for the expansion and growth of human awareness is Infinite… The undead have invented civilization in order to dumb humans down to the level of insects… Insects are only aware of their immediate surroundings. They are not aware of something 2 feet away or 100 feet away. Humans are able to become aware of things millions of miles away; but not consumers. Anything that does not affect them directly they are not interested in. They are only interested in their own personal concerns. The latest generation of computer-using humans now has an attention span of less than 10 seconds… They can't read a book… They can't read a whole page of text. Their entire understanding and learning is based on sound bytes and headlines and twitter posts limited to 3 short sentences or 10 seconds of reading.

Most of these freaks have an attention span less than 10 seconds. They have no accumulated base of knowledge, no perspective, no understanding of reality and no knowledge of history.

What the practicing secular religion of personal self-gratification has done and does is prevent humans from agreeing about anything, It is impossible to have a consensus about anything in consumer civilization because each brainwashed human insect is either not interested in a certain topic or has their own personal 'opinion' about it which disagrees with other brainwashed human insects. The problem with opinions is every asshole has one. The concept of glorifying each idiot's right to have an 'opinion" is what has and does destroy all factual truth and all history simply because there will always be millions of stupid, illiterate, ignorant idiots who have a personal "opinion" that disagree with the Truth in consumer civilization. The result is: the majority of dumbed down idiots win against the tiny minority of well educated intelligent people simply because there are more of them…

Humans are designed to cooperate and agree with each other, based on universal known, proven truths and facts. Consumer civilization has destroyed this possibility and has turned the human species into a dumbed down mass of misinformed brainwashed insects milling around, all isolated and alienated from each other.

Civilization sells only one religion, that is the religion of personal self-gratification, and it forces everyone to practice whether you want to or not because there is nothing else… How can anyone tell that this religion is evil?? Because in spite of this religion, billions of people live in misery, poverty and despair and hopelessness,,, while the few, rare ones who can fulfill their personal self-gratifications and interests and hobbies and tastes and whim don't give a fuck about anybody else… The result is a mass culture of personal selfishness and the destruction and disappearance of all community, social organizations or groups… The small minority that have money socialize with others who worship money… the few who are rich enough to have a sail boat socialize only with people who have the same personal interests… Those who don't have money, the huge majority of the human population are ignored and left to fend for themselves to barely survive any way they can… Now the word "socialism" has been poisoned to mean the totalitarian dictatorship of mass murderers like Stalin, when that is the complete opposite of what socialism means… the same has happened to the word community, or commune, or communism… It is used as a label to describe the jewish Bolshevik horror of the USSR and the degradation of an entire national population of Russians which still remains to this day in the Russian nation… Russia is still largely populated by people outside of the big cities; mired in poverty and hopelessness… ignored by its own govt as much as possible with a scant degree of social services and pensions that cannot even pay for their essential needs.

It is the pyramidalization of civilization accumulating into millions and billions of people, which creates out of its own weight; the stratified layers of a class society. Now this stratification is determined solely on how much money you have. The worship of money and the practicing secular religion of personal self-gratification inside the pyramidal structure of consumer civilization creates the insane result, like in Russia. One powerful jewish political leader who is secretly a billionaire and richer than all other Russian jewish billionaires, lording over his personal empire of Russia while totally ignoring the needs of his own people, while the Russian govt funded-owned media glorifies him and brainwashed affluent Russian worship him… while at the same time; these upper class Russians completely ignore the millions of Russians outside their shiny new cities and think everything is perfectly fine. Millions of city dwelling Russians turn a blind eye to the national disgrace and impoverishment of Russians living outside their cities, even though many of them came from the dilapidated hinterland, and know personally exactly how poor their relatives and friends are who are not as lucky as they are.. The same attitude exists in every other nation on earth: the affluent gratify themselves and don't give a fuck about the poor.

The same applies to America where poverty, crime, drug use and homelessness has exploded. But Americans are oblivious to it because they all live by the corrupt evil principle of hedonism. As long as they are well-off personally they don't give a damn about others

The global practicing religion of personal self-gratification is more evil and more insidious than any other evil because the entire human population is unaware of it. They are not aware that all of them are practicing the same exact religion, and they are not aware that this unspoken belief is a religion, and they are not aware that they are practicing it and they are not aware of how much all of them have in common with each other in regards to this one unconscious sacred unspoken secular religious belief…

There is no difference between a Claus Schwab or a serial killer, or a car enthusiast, or a sailboat lover… they are all gratifying their personal interests, and they all justify themselves by the fact that they like doing it.

For example, YouTube evaluates its videos by how many likes or dislikes they get… The videos are not judged by whether they are true or false, whether they are factually proven to be true or proven to be false… That doesn't matter to religious fanatics of the practicing religion of personal self-gratification… it doesn't matter if what you believe is true or if it is a lie… hey, as long as you 'like' it, then it's alright. If you like smoking then it's alright… if you like snorting cocaine then it's all right… if you like raping children then it's alright… Consumer civilization is different from all previous civilizations because of its total lack of morals or ethics. Earlier civilizations still had some kind of moral or ethical code. This present one doesn't have any.

The common trope-excuse-justification for every imaginable evil is "human nature"… that humans are naturally evil… this a lie. Without the undead poisoning the lives of living people there would be no evil.

The whole point to this essay is to make humans aware of the undead and how evil they are and how they deliberately ruin and destroy and poison every single positive-good on earth at the earliest moment possible… They have had millions of years practice in detecting any positive energy emanating from humans at the earliest time possible… they have developed ways of poisoning the living-growing womb in a pregnant woman's body if they sense that the baby might grow up to become a powerful force for positive good. It is only when humans understand and realize just how omnipresent and prevalent the undead are; both outside them, and inside them, that they can get together to recognize every existence of negative evil; both inside them and outside them.

For this to happen: humans must develop a constant, vigilant sense of critical awareness of everything they feel and think and do, and everything outside them that is negative evil, and kill every manifestation of evil…

No legal system ever invented was created for positive good. That is why the entire legal and cultural roots of consumer civilization must be smashed, obliterated, despised and attacked and killed dead in order for humans to begin to learn what they were designed to do; not kill-poison-pollute all Life on Earth… which is exactly what civilization has been doing ever since it was first invented by the undead.

The critical awareness that I have developed over more than 70 years has not come easily… But one basic truth can help all living humans to become more aware of themselves and of each other and of the entire world around them… and that is The Sense of Pure Wonder that every human baby is born with and is systematically suppressed and poisoned and dumbed down by every baby being forced into a boring repetitive existence where nothing changes, and they become normalized to everything.

Repeat anything… even the tying of shoelaces, and you stop thinking about it… you just do it; blindly, unthinkingly, unaware of what you are doing…

That is exactly what civilization turns people into… repetitive robots, repeating the same unthinking unsane things over and over again…

To put it simply the mechanization of civilization has turned humans into machines… take away the machines and you no longer have humans that are robot-zombies marching lock step into their own slavery and self-extermination…

Oops.

Civilization is based on machines! Without machines there would be no civilization!...

Exactly

The ordinary brainwashed human will draw back from the 'unthinkable' alternative… Yet more and more people are consciously going back to a simpler existence, using as few machines as they can… this is called living "off the grid"… they are still dependent on civilization providing them with machines and solar panels and computers and the internet, but there is a reason why so many people are doing this: They recognize that civilization is basically bankrupt of meaning. They see the pointlessness of the rat race: running constantly like a gerble on a wheel, just to stay in one place.

But trying to turn back the clock to an earlier version of civilization is a fallacy. The delusion that things were better back then is only because civilization is constantly getting more and more evil and always has been. You are just regressing a bit into the exact system that will produce the same negative outcomes in the future, only you are delaying the inevitable slightly,,, that does not solve the problem of civilization itself being intrinsically evil from top to bottom.

This is why consumer civilization must be destroyed completely… not just slightly… not 'reformed' or 'improved ' or 'corrected'.

Try to list one thing in civilization that does not go under the classification of hedonism… you can't. The unspoken religious belief and culture of hedonism is invisible to the human fish that swim in it… they live in it, breath it, think it feel it, live it, yearn for it, dream of it, work for it, slave for it and die for it.

You can call them narcissists, egoists, sociopaths, psychopaths, pleasure seekers, tourists, shoppers, consumers, cheese lovers, gourmets, moviegoers, etc; they are all just different flavors and kinds of hedonism.

What you should take away from the history of thousands of years of civilization, is how nearly all the evildoers in history somehow always manage to escape punishment… They manage to escape being held to account. They escape all responsibility for their actions. Now today this is becoming even more blatantly obvious. Human monsters known for causing millions of deaths and injuries profit from their machinations to the tune of billions of dollars and laugh at the brainwashed masses all the way to the bank. Bill Gates is a perfect example. It is only when you understand that the undead protect all evildoers in order to allow them to commit more and more evil. It is only when you understand that these unseen invisible undead entities have existed for billions of years and permeates the entire Realm of the Living with their evil, twisted, sick, toxic, poisonous presence and influence.

The problem with the global consumer culture of Hedonism is unless a consumer is directly affected by something that just don't care, and even when they are directly affected they don't do anything about it because they have no code of morals and ethics that they live by. They will not stand up and fight against anything that is evil… in fact most consumers do not have a value system that separates good from evil, in fact the word evil is used only by a small minority of enlightened individuals because the concept of evil does not exist in the mass culture of self-gratification. Hedonism creates passive, selfish, isolated alienated individuals who have nothing in common with each other except pursuing their own personal interests, and each person's personal interests are different from other consumers. Basically consumers are programmed to be incapable of organizing themselves together under any common goal or set of morals and ethics. They are a culture of blabbering victims. Because of the internet civilization has become a giant female gossip machine where billions of programmed dehumanized human zombies spend their lives in the internet chatting and commenting, sitting on their ass staring at illusions on a flat screen… which is a definition for doing nothing. The internet culture of anonymity and secrecy has created a mass culture of internet users who are paranoid of each other. This culture of mass paranoia insures that all organized forces of evil can operate with complete impunity, secure in the knowledge that there will be no organized resistance against their plans, goals, conspiracies and crimes. The internet is a giant prison that chains billions of users to their seat; insuring they do not act, that they do not organize together, that they do not make any personal connections with each other; that they remain strangers to each other and paranoid of each other.

The fact is: the culture of secrecy and anonymity is a criminal culture. It is only practiced by criminals. Only criminals have to hide what they do from the public. Criminals cannot exist without secrecy and anonymity… The masses of the human species have been criminalized into adopting the criminal culture of secrecy… and because of this they cannot fight criminals who use secrecy and anonymity to operate because they operate under the same evil culture as they do. Because the brainwashed masses share the same immoral and unethical culture as criminals who rule over them do: they do not have any moral or ethical superiority which could enable them to fight against these criminals and differentiate themselves from criminals. It is because the masses have adopted all the evil criminal immoral unethical values of the criminal elite, and because they envy and worship and obey these upper class scum that they remain as vassals under the heel of these criminals. There are no basic differences between the degenerate immoral unethical values of the masses and the upper class criminals who oppress them, terrorize them, brainwash them and rob them.

Throughout the history of civilization the lower classes have always envied, emulated and copied the criminal upper classes that oppress them. This is one basic reason why the insanity of civilization has not changed. The sins of sloth, gluttony, laziness, sexual degeneracy, unfaithfulness, egoism, selfishness, the examples displayed by the upper classes the examples of megalomania, psychopaths, sociopaths, irresponsibility, hate, envy, jealousy, possessiveness, avarice, greed, selfishness, drunkenness, gambling, profligacy, the use of drugs, obesity, vanity, etc. all these degenerate evils have all filtered down to the lower classes and they have embraced all of these immoral evils… It is because the lower classes have been brainwashed to adopt all of the criminal cultures of their oppressors that they have no moral or ethical basis left by which to oppose and fight their oppressors and no will to fight them.

There is no greater purpose to civilization than for billions of mechanized human insects to continue to maintain and build up the mechanical horror that surrounds them and that they are dependent on and that is the instrument of their dehumanization into insane insects that serve the machines they are enslaved to. The machines that are destroying and polluting the entire earth and all Life on Earth are the masters of the human insects that repair and maintain them and keep them running. The human insects maintaining these machines are not aware of how they are being dehumanized and roboticized by the machines they use… Anything that is repetitive roboticizes you…. They have not learned the universal truth of their own self-destruction… that Truth is: whatever you use… uses you more than you use it.

The result is a human civilization controlled and dominated by usury.
Usury is the greatest evil of all the evils of civilization. It is the bedrock which all the other evils and abominations are based upon. Without the financial system of USURY; civilization could never have turned into the horror that it is today at the incredible speed and acceleration that it has achieved.
The fact that the entirety of civilization is controlled by usury is a sign and proof that all humans are being used by the undead to commit evil

There is a huge wall of total invisibility and secrecy about exactly WHO are the controllers and button pushers and conspirators of civilization's financial system. There are many theories and educated guesses, but no living human has penetrated the secret manipulations and plans and conspiracies that plunge the world into its endless series of planned crises and catastrophes which enable the powers of evil to multiply and increase to such monstrous levels and scope that alarm bells are ringing everywhere there are intelligent concerned people who notice the onslaught of pure evil overtaking all of civilized society… That is because the real manipulators and planners and conspirators are not human… they are the undead. The undead are everywhere. They are inside you… they are all around you… they have always been there… they were there before you were born and they will continue to be there after you die and join them, unless we the living kill them dead and hunt them down and exterminate them; just as they are doing exactly that to us the living… The karmic wheel of fate is now turning against the undead. The Universe no longer tolerates their filthy evil existence… They have become too obvious and too arrogant in their showing themselves for what they are. They have raised their undead heads too far above the realms of the undead into the realms of the Living. They are being hoisted by their own evil, which is coming back to not only haunt them, but to destroy them. This essay is a tool that can be used to learn about their existence and expose their cunning filthy unseen existence.

Know this: when a living human correctly perceives evil and wants to destroy it… that evil runs away. It hides. It avoids all contact with you. It tries to attack you from a farther and farther distance because it knows it is evil and it knows it deserves to be destroyed and because it fears being destroyed a thousand times more than you can ever imagine.

The rage and anger of a righteous human against evil is invincible and unstoppable.
No evil can oppose the will of a human who sees evil for what it is and sets out to kill it dead.

The worship of false idols is a cunning deception designed to make people believe that the practice of worship is in itself a good thing. Only when yo do not worship anything and anyone; only when you examine everything as critically as possible, can you see through the pile of lies that every human was born into and was exposed to starting from the first day of their life. The concept of god itself is a false idol. The concept of religion is a false idol. The idolatry that the masses practice and believe in is a measure of just how degenerate and evil and corrupt civilization has become. The history of idolatry is a perfect example of how civilization has fallen to the lowest levels possible and keeps on falling lower and lower into the depths of depravity, insanity and evil… Without any knowledge of history, without studying thee past; you cannot gain any perspective and understanding of where civilization is now in relation to where civilization was 5-10 years ago or 1,000, 2,000 years ago. The wider your perspective is of the past, the greater your knowledge is of the past, the more you study the history of the past; the more you will be forced to agree with what I have written here.

The effect of Hedonism is meaninglessness. When the only motive for living is pleasure; that wipes out all other aspects of Life. The result of the pursuit of pleasure means there is no love, no hate, no sorrow, no sadness, no joy no happiness, no other purpose, no higher purpose, no other meaning to Life.

In fact Hedonism celebrates the meaninglessness of existence, it wallows in meaninglessness, it flaunts meaninglessness, it mocks all meaning, it despises meaning. It cannot tolerate any kind of seriousness, it is afraid of seriousness, it is terrified of all meaning. Any form of hardship or difficulty is avoided as much as possible… The vices of sloth, laziness, stupidity, ignorance, coarseness, are held up as virtues. Everything is reversed. That is why there are so many suicides… When a Hedonist hits a brick wall and their life is not filled with self-gratification and pleasure anymore, they lose the will to live. For them; all meaning in Life has disappeared; they no longer have any reason to live, they have no motive to keep on living.

You can see the history of Hedonism in the history of western philosophy. As western civilization became industrialized, the search for any meaning in life changed drastically into what is called existentialism. Existentialists tried to find a personal meaning to their lives because the society they lived in had lost all meaning… That resulted in the death knell of philosophy as an intellectual pursuit. People were no longer interested in any meaning in Life. They were too busy gratifying themselves to ponder anything grater than their personal appetites and addictions. The last bunch of existentialists were forced to face the horror and insanity of meaningless… They tried to face it, but the emptiness, the total void of any meaning to Life, being unable to find any meaning in human Life was an admittance of total defeat. Philosophy is supposed to the search for meaning… when you can't find any, you have negated the entire discipline and concept of philosophy. Because of this the tradition-cult-of philosophy died an ugly death… It just dwindled away into nothing. The last great treatise by Sartre; titled "Being and Nothingness" in the 1950's was the last nail in the coffin. After that, philosophers only managed to continue writing by assiduously ignoring the entire genre of existentialism and falling back to older, debunked obsolete trains of thought.

One of the most evil and insane aspects of hedonism is not only do humans believe they have a sacred right to "like" or "dislike" anything they want to… they also believe they have a sacred right to their own "opinions"… even when that opinion is not true.

They believe that they have a sacred right to disagree with each other…
This insane religious belief is pure evil and stupid.
Because there is only one truth and a million lies.

The logical rational goal of all humans is to find that one truth and discard all the millions of lies that keep people separated from each other.

This insane secular religious belief that you are allowed to have your own personal opinions about everything is a result of people from many different religious and cultural backgrounds living together in one secular, nonreligious culture of Hedonism. This secular sacred right to allow people to tolerate disagreement, this idea of people with different religious and cultural beliefs and values tolerating each others different beliefs are institutionalized in the constitution of the United States of America… It was necessary because otherwise, Poles and Irish and British and German immigrants would have been at each others throats… This would have interfered with their common goals of greed and becoming rich. This would interfere in the hedonistic secular belief that everyone has the sacred right to pursue the goal of "happiness" and everyone has the sacred right to become filthy rich.

The problem with this and why this statement, this secular belief is a fallacy is because this goal called "happiness", the Hedonistic religion of pleasure

Has never been defined

It has never been defined because it is different for everyone, Every person searching for the hedonistic religious secular, goal called happiness has their own idea, their own taste, their own personal self-gratifying ideas of what "happiness" is.

Because this undefined goal called Hedonistic "happiness" is different for every single person… This means that by this evil, insane secular hedonistic mantra; every individual is allowed to pursue completely different goals and desires and wishes and preferences… And tolerate others pursuing completely different goals and wishes and tastes and preferences and whims that are completely opposed to their own personal goals-whims-tastes-preferences-desires-etc etc ad-insane nausea.

This insures and makes certain that people living in the same Hedonistic society will never have the same goals-beliefs-values….

Except the sacred belief that everyone has a sacred right to disagree with everyone else.

This insane belief results in a cacophony, an insane mélange of millions of insane humans living together without any common beliefs or values except the sacred belief in personal self-gratification.

This insures that humans living in the same Hedonistic society will never be able to agree with each other about anything!! This insures that human society will forever be a mass of insane insects pitted against each other, fighting each other, disliking each other, disagreeing with each other without any common set of values except the sacred value of personal self-gratification and the sacred right to have your own personal fucking "opinion" and the sacred right to disagree with each other.

This came about because all the human cultures that existed separately, before they were pushed together and forced to mix together… were already false and insane and not true and based on imaginary nonsense called fables and legends and stories and fairytales.

This came about because all human cultures were and still are based on preserving the oldest, most obsolete, ancient shit of their forefathers as sacred 'traditions' and 'beliefs'; regardless of how stupid and obsolete and obviously untrue they are.

Rather than try to find any common values and beliefs of all these different ethnic cultures and religions; humans gave up trying to agree with each other about anything important. Instead they are expected to tolerate each others differences; even though these differences are so basic and so different from each other, they cannot co-exist in the same society-community-family… they cannot be reconciled. They prevent every individual from agreeing with any other individual about basic things… so these basic beliefs and values are simply ignored because the over-arching sacred hedonistic secular belief in personal self-gratification takes precedence over all other sacred beliefs and values.

Another aspect of Hedonistic civilization is the obsession over personal safety… everything must be safe… nothing is allowed to be dangerous to anyone's personal safety. All personal use, mass manufactured products are designed to be "safe". Children's toys are supposed to "safe". Nobody is allowed to be personally injured by anything they do regardless how stupid and irresponsible they are. All hardship. Risk. danger, is not allowed to exist. People must exist inside an insulated cocoon of sterile of "safety".

Another aspect of Hedonistic civilization is the fact that toys even exist.
Instead of raising children to grow up to be responsible adults; hedonistic societies believe that the only thing children should do is 'play" and have 'fun" by playing with 'toys" instead of anything useful or practical or that might teach them something useful or practical. By doing this; hedonistic civilization retards learning in children and dumbs them down as much as possible, so when they reach a certain age of adulthood; they do not know how to do anything and they have not learned anything useful.

As a result of the unspoken imperative of the pursuit of fleeting pleasure overriding all other human morals and ethics and beliefs…, but the real evil of this universal evil, amoral, unethical belief is that it is unspoken. The real evil of the hedonism of civilization is that the entire human population is completely unaware of it… This is the real evil of the undead… they operate almost exclusively on the unconscious or unconscious level of human awareness…. Their entire existence violating the realms of the Living depends on their victims not being aware of them and their evil influence on all living people… If humans ever became aware of their filthy insane malevolent demonic presence, these undead entities would systematically be hunted down and utterly destroyed.

I call the universal practice of Hedonism a secular religion, even though it is the antithesis of spiritual religion in order to underline that even though it is a subconscious sacred belief which humans are not aware of holding and practicing, it is still a sacred, unquestioned belief.

The human species is marching steadily to its own doom without being aware of it. This is exactly what the undead want and it is exactly how they work. It is the only way they can work… on a faint subliminal level that humans are not aware of and do not detect. If anyone bothered to study the 12,000 year history of humans; the fact that civilization is now on the brink of total annihilation becomes unavoidable… Today there are many enlightened people who sense this insane march to oblivion and the self-inflicted total devastation of and genocide of all living creatures on Earth.

Whistle blowers and alarmists are studiously ignored by not only the masses but by all institutions that have any power or ability to reverse these trend. I cannot stress enough that all the many sins and vices and crimes of civilization are only symptoms of the greater invisible, overarching, unspoken disease of hedonism. The fact is; the experience of pleasure is a drug that dulls the mind and wipes out awareness of anything else.

Now, today there is a class of filthy rich billionaires who think that depopulating the world of "useless eaters" is an ethical thing to do… Without realizing that they became rich and powerful by the mass consumption of "useless eaters" and that they are a million times more useless and evil than the masses they seek to kill off… this is the twisted kind of logic that comes from a civilization of hedonism. Each self-gratifying, hedonist finds a rationale to justify their own actions and beliefs and tastes, irregardless of how openly false and hypocritical they are.

Without any common set of values, beliefs, morals, ethics except the pursuit of pleasure; the human species has become an insane mass of brainwashed insects due to the omnipresent influence of the undead on every single person who is born into this sick, insane civilization.

The undead have managed to get rid of all awareness of Good and evil. They have managed to turn everything into whatever someone 'likes' or 'dislikes'. Evil does not exist anymore in the mass consciousness. It has been gradually disappeared by the undead on purpose so they can operate better under the veil of their invisibility to living humans. For thousands of years, humans were aware of forces of evil all around them that could not be seen and they rightfully feared it... Now evil is seen as superstitious nonsense; it is not believed in. Now the pursuit of personal gain and personal self-gratification has replaced what was once regarded as evil… What was once considered to be evil is now perfectly explainable and understandable as merely people doing what they like to do… There is nothing wrong in people gratifying themselves, is there?.... is there?

Today people do millions of things they know are bad for them, but they have the sacred power of money which allows them to buy whatever they want and whatever they like regardless of how unhealthy or bad it is. The freedom called consumer choice, the freedom to choose things that make your life easier. The goals of ease and sloth and uselessness are glorified by rich millionaires and billionaires who don't need to work in order to make a living. They have thousands of wage slaves who work for them; thus allowing them to do nothing except gratify their sickest most twisted evil desires and tastes and pleasures. The low class wage earners, the masses of consumers see these billionaires, these 'globalists' as wicked and evil; but they don't do anything about it… Why? Because unconsciously, subconsciously they all share the same universal imperative value and culture that trumps all other social values and cultures and beliefs; the sacred right to pursue your own personal likes and pleasures and whims and tastes, the unspoken sacred right of "consumer choice", the right to choose anything you want without any moral or ethical consideration.

The fact is whenever anyone becomes too powerful, they become evil… whenever anyone becomes too rich, they become evil… This has been recorded and proved millions of times in history; yet nobody does anything about it, and nobody sees this as a universal sign of evil. Give a man or woman any sort of power or wealth and they will abuse it; yet the masses never realize this and excuse 99% of it as people just having their personal faults and foibles. "Nobody is all bad." "Even murderers have their virtues."… Civilization excuses and tolerates everything no matter how evil it is. Stalin: the greatest mass murderer in history of his own people is still loved and worshiped by many Russians simply because during his reign they had it better than they do now. So this excuses him killing untold millions of Russians and sending them to the gulag to starve and die and be beaten and tortured… This is how the Hedonistic mind works. "Hey, since my life was better under Stalin than it is now; he must have been a good man" By better they mean easier, less difficult. Almost everything that is deemed "better" means easier. This is how stupid people become in a civilization based on hedonism. The mass murder of millions of people means absolutely nothing compared to your own personal quality of life while living under the rule of the greatest mass murderer in history. Millions can starve and die but as long as you are okay: why that justifies you turning a blind eye to all of the problems of systemic corruption and incompetence and evil. The capitalist slogan of opponents of capitalism: ""I'm all right Jack and screw everyone else" is no longer used because even though it is true, nobody cares because everyone is guilty of the same sin… that is the result of normalizing evil… When everybody does it, it stops being evil, it becomes "normal". By normalizing every sin, every evil, every crime, every abomination; the hedonism of civilization has become more and more evil at such an astonishing rate of speed, that now ordinary people are beginning to notice it happen in their own lifetime, and trying to find out why and what is to blame for it… The evils of Capitalism are just a result of millions and billions of hedonistic ants all scrambling to get higher up in the anthill of hedonistic civilization. Nobody has the historical perspective to see evil over the span of thousands of years and how it has morphed and grown by leaps and bounds under the civillizational catch word of "progress"…

Hedonistic civilization has justified everything civilization has invented under the guise of it being created exclusively to "improve' the lives of humans… This rationale goes all the way back to the changeover from hunter-gatherers who were nomadic and moved and traveled to settlements where humans settled down in one area and stopped moving.

Actually this change was not good for humans it was bad for humans… they stopped moving, they stopped walking, they stopped being physically fit… they became fat and lazy. The sin of sloth was reversed and turned into a virtue. No matter how far you go back in the anthropological history of mankind, you will see the invention of new evils cropping up which are now portrayed as beneficial advances and improvements of human civilization and cultures. It is only when you see this unchanging trend over millions of years that you can appreciate the insidious effect and presence of the undead throughout the entire history of living humans. Whatever was invented was always something that was more evil than what had existed before it.

The goal in all "progress" and "technology" is to make people's lives easier… The manic obsession to make everything easier can be seen in cars. Every possible invention and gadget has been stuffed into the sitting space of the passengers and drivers of cars to make everything in it more accessible, faster, more convenient, to increase the level of ease; from heated seats to vibrating seats that give you a massage while you drive. The very concept of cars is based on the Hedonistic principle of ease… the ability to sit on your ass doing nothing while a machine takes you hundreds of miles without you having to walk or move. The very concept of machines is based on Hedonism. Machines doing everything for you, while you do nothing. Machines are just mechanical replacements for human slaves. Human slavery is based on the Hedonistic principle of other people doing your work for you, working for you while you do nothing. Almost every evil can be traced down to the basic root evil of slavery and Hedonism. The ancient culture of slavery was forcing humans into slavery physically; Hedonism is the culture that lured all of mankind into different forms of slavery and addictions; which aare just another form of enslavement.

The reason for why the undead invented Hedonistic civilization, the pursuit of pleasure, ease, sloth, etc. is because Hedonism is the easiest way to corrupt humans. It is the easiest way to make humans unaware of evil. When your main motive for living is to make everything easier and pursue pleasure; you are easily led astray. The very pursuit of pleasure is evil.

To correctly understand the allegory of Eve tempting Adam with an apple, you need to know that she was tempting Adam with sexual pleasure, she was tempting Adam with her rounded breasts and buttocks, she was tempting him with a sweet fruit that was not an apple; she was tempting him with sexual pleasure… That was the first sin, and because of it they were driven out of the Garden of Eden, and became ashamed of their bodies and tried to cover up their genitals… that is how old the evil of hedonism is. And unless humans learn to cleanse themselves of all sin, they will be led down the garden pathways of pleasure to their own self-destruction…

But in order for this to happen, all humans must become aware of the existence of the undead and how they are the root and source of all evil on this living earth.

A perfect example of the evil of Hedonism is during the lockdown when Americans suffering from the oppressive measures of the plandemic: Nancy Pelosi went on television and proudly showed off to the public all the fancy expensive ice creams in her fridge that she loves so much and eats all the time. A perfect example is the fact that Nancy Pelosi is an alcoholic. A perfect example is that she is a corrupt politician who has made millions from inside information about stocks. No matter which evil criminal you look at, they are all pleasing themselves; they are all pleasuring themselves, they are all gratifying themselves evilly.

The idea or assumption that pleasure is harmless is wrong: it is poison; it is a drug: it was the first drug ever invented. Humans are designed to undergo hardship; in fact they are designed to undergo as much hardship as possible… The more humans are challenged, the more they must overcome, the more they develop their innate abilities and talents, the more they learn to discipline themselves, the less they are prone to the temptations of ease. The more hardship humans undergo the healthier they become. You can see this in all sports. The more athletes train, the better they become.

Basically Hedonism makes people stupid. It narrows their awareness down to only their personal interests. It makes them unaware of anything else. Because hedonism is the dominant unspoken secular culture and belief; it makes people selfish. Hedonism has replaced all moral codes and ethics that once divided the world between good and evil. Now there is only what one 'likes' and 'dislikes'. Nothing is Good or evil anymore. You may like something that is evil like gambling, and you may dislike something that is Good like spinach; the point is the personal tastes and preferences of hedonism have replaced all the old codes of morals and ethical and religious codes of conduct. That is why the history of civilization has been an accelerating slide into degeneracy and abominations of evil.

Money

The only practical use of money is to facilitate cooperation between people: period… nothing else. Once humans stop accumulating or hoarding anything they will stop using money. Once humans learn to cooperate with each other intelligently they will have no more use for money. I could write 10,000 pages on the evils of usury, but it is too obvious a Truth to belabor. The fact that today jewish bankers control all the money supply of western civilization and the fact that stinking jews own and control all of the largest corporations in the west and have corrupted and control all western govts
Should be obvious to anyone wanting to research the matter.

The root reason civilization as it was invented and as it is today is evil is because it goes against the genetic design of the human animal, Civilization is a recent development, but its roots go all the way back to the first evils that the undead did to poison the human species; which is using tools to kill with… Humans were not designed to kill: I repeat:

Humans are not genetically designed to kill

When the Universe and nature designed walking apes: they did not design walking apes to kill anything; in fact walking apes are incapable of killing anything without the invention and use of tools. This genetic design is more intelligent than the walking apes themselves. They are the product of genetic intelligence. Walking apes were designed genetically; meaning they have specific functions to play in the ecosystems of the Living Earth… Every living creature is genetically designed by nature to function in the ecosystem is was created in to function in that ecosystem,,, if it fails to function properly, if it fails to do its job, if it cannot adapt to the changing conditions of its ecosystem; it goes extinct. Walking apes did not go extinct because they are the most intelligent, advanced, adaptive mammal on the Earth… but they also did not do their job. They did not carry out the genetically designed function-s.

So the question must be asked: Since walking apes were not genetically designed to kill, what were they designed to do?? The answer is simple and so obvious, you can see the answer painted by Michelangelo on the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel…

Humans are designed to touch

Humans are not designed to try to touch some abstract imaginary invention called a 'god' or a deity. They are designed to touch each other and touch all living creatures not only with their hands, but with their voices, their eyes, their facial expressions, their emotions, their thought, their actions and their intentions.

Some may say: 'how can you demonize all of civilization? Look at all the wonderful music civilization has produced!... How can you say music is evil?"

I can say it because music was invented so humans will not touch each other with their hands and hearts. Music is a drug to make you feel good… being touched by beautiful sounds without actually touching each other is an evil form of Hedonism. It is a way of keeping people apart from each other. Sharing music is not love. It is the sharing that is love: not the music. First you have to touch each other with your hands and hearts to create Love, only then can music add to it; but it does so evilly by making sure humans do not touch each other physically; only through sounds. For people who are alone without love, without touching other people with their hands and hearts; music is a poor substitute, panacea; an empty void of sound without substance, a drug to ease their loneliness or wallow in it.

The culture of music and dancing shared by an entire ethnic race is the highest culture that civilized humans achieved. In spite of all the evil, humans were coming together too much as an ethnic race… they were sharing too many thing in common with each other; culture, values, traditions, language, a common heritage, a common religion. That had to be destroyed and the undead did it by commercializing culture until nobody today knows how to dance or sing except professional entertainers while millions of uncultured masses sit without touching each other or talking to each other while being drugged by this commercialized entertainment to make them feel good. European ethnic cultures that had a common culture of music and singing and dancing have been deliberately destroyed by the undead poisoning the entire white western world with "multiculturalism' to insure that humans living in the same nations, cities and towns had nothing in common with each other.

What I am telling you is that in spite of the intrinsic evils of music and dance; humans managed to use it to come together and that slight coming together was destroyed as fast as possible by the undead. Every single burgeoning Good that humans develop is instantly spotted and targeted and destroyed by the undead who have had thousands of years of practice in detecting any and all positive living energy and poisoning it and killing it. All abstract beauty is only an artificial derivative of living beauty. Without living humans seeking to create beauty, there can be no beauty. Without all living organisms flourishing and creating more Life there is no beauty: there is only death and desolation and barrenness and ugliness.

There is a difference between Living love and Living beauty, and abstract love and abstract beauty; All abstraction is dead. Abstract love cannot create more abstract love, abstract beauty cannot create more abstract beauty; It is only the Beauty of Life and Living Creatures that is important. It is very simple: everything that is alive is Good; everything that is dead is evil. The undead have managed to poison and destroy everything that is alive and Good. That is why they must be killed dead and hunted down and exterminated from the living earth.

The Hedonism of civilization is like a huge rotting corpse of a blue whale. I could spend 10,000 more pages dissecting and analyzing every rotting ounce of it but I won't; I do not need to belabor the obvious anymore than I already have.

What needs to be underlined is the fact that in spite of this overriding corrupt culture of civilization: the huge majority of civilized humans have been doomed to lives of destitution and dehumanization, unhappiness and misery as oppressed, enslaved, powerless subjects of the evil monsters that the undead conspire to be put into power and kept there and escape all punishment for their crimes and abominations.

What makes this so cunningly evil is that the dehumanization of the masses suffering in poverty and oppression naturally makes them want to alleviate their impoverishment any way they can: and the only examples they have ever had were and still are the rotten degeneracy of their rulers. That is how the culture of hedonism was rammed down the throats of living humans and it is still continuing to this day. It takes an intelligence and awareness and wisdom of the highest order, gleaned from 78 years of bitter experience and realization and questioning and learning and historical perspective such as I have achieved, to pierce the filthy, cunning, evil machinations of the undead and find out the many cunning ways they hide themselves and how they operate and what their goal is.

The only way I achieved this is by facing reality and not lying to myself. Only by brutal honesty can any person gain the moral and ethical power needed to kill them all dead. Only by being immune to all falsities and carefully crafted illusions and deceptions which the undead are masters of can anyone kill them. Their evil is so huge, so negative, so long standing that the slightest prick in their evil plans and intentions backfires on them. The slightest positive energy can destroy all their plans and conspiracies. Because of their constant failures, they are forced to invent evermore and more convoluted plans and conspiracies, until they choke on their own evil and their own cunning complexities come back to haunt them and destroy them. Their total extermination is long overdue.

At no time in history have humans ever had any chance of attaining true health and true intelligence and true wisdom thanks to the omnipresent filthy reeking evil of the undead all around them and inside them preventing them from doing so. At no time in history has any human except me: Indrek Pringi: realized and understood just how omnipresent the undead actually are and how much the undead violate and infiltrate the lives and bodies and sexual organs and hearts of the living.

The closest humans have ever come to the realization and understanding of the presence of evil has been the Christian moral of brutally honest self-reflection and introspection, based on the Christian ethic of love being Good. But even that ethic was poisoned at the well of its origins. Instead of correctly separating evil from Good. Christians made the error of trying to love evildoers and forgiving them their sins. They made the mistake thinking ALL hate is bad; when it is only when you hate Good that it is bad… When you hate evil: that is Good.

How to detect evil in other people is easy: All those who show no gratitude for what is done or them or given them are evil. Evildoers do not know what gratitude is. All those who have no conscience are evil. It is only when a person examines themselves and asks if what they do is Good or evil that anyone can develop any moral or ethical code which can sift out and distinguish evil from Good, All those who are not introspective and do not question themselves are controlled by the undead. The more unaware a person is; the stupider they are, the more ignorant they are; the easily the undead control them. The undead have made almost everyone evil. They have managed to corrupt almost every single living person in so many cunning ways they cannot be counted. It takes a huge degree of self-honesty to refrain from deceiving oneself.

For thousands of years the most horrific genocidal, brutal, evil rulers have never been held responsible for their crimes… If you think this is a coincidence you are wrong. The undead always protect evildoers so they can commit more evil. Only when they are not able to commit any more evil are they discarded as useless pawns of their despicable, cunning, filthy conspiracies and evil plans to ruin and destroy all that is positive and Good on this living Earth; which they have been doing for untold millions and billions of years.

What also needs to be underlined is that the undead hold up the goal of hedonism to humans, only to make it unattainable for all but the foulest, evil, corrupted of their puppets. And only the foulest of pleasures are allowed to be achieved. Every hope for true love and true happiness is carefully poisoned and destroyed. Every couple truly meant for each other who have a chance to attain true love are separated or divorced, or are unfaithful to each other caused by the machinations of the undead. This is why there is no true love anymore in human civilization, and this is why the undead must be exterminated with extreme prejudice. The crimes and abominations of the undead wreaking havoc in the realm of the Living cannot be counted or listed. In one living human lifetime alone there are hundreds of thousands of interventions committed by the undead to insure the Living never achieve any positive goals and never achieve true happiness. I know of this from direct personal experience, and by personal knowledge of what the undead have wreaked upon everyone I have known in my life. The undead have been forced to show their filthy hand to me on so many occasions it would take a thousand pages just to list the major ones I have experienced and seen with my own eyes.

One might assume or think by reading this, that there is no hope of defeating the undead; that they are too powerful, there you are dead wrong… you are completely wrong.

The undead only preserve their evil by making their evil seem to be invincible, overwhelming. They project this illusion in every manner and form and shape possible.

What you need to know is this;

All positive living energy is a thousand times more powerful than negative energy. Positive living energy can and does kill the negative evil energy of the undead every time. Once you know this; once you kill negative energy. You will never be afraid of the undead ever again. All their machinations will bounce off you like water off a duck's back.

But this can happen only if you cleanse yourself of all their evil influence and power over you. Only those who are purified of their filthy evil cannot be harmed by them. Only those who purify themselves of all evil negative energy are impervious to their cunning evil machinations. The reason I say this is because I have through my entire life never lost my original self and never become totally enslaved or addicted to their machinations and cunning attempts to make me powerless. By keeping your passion and desire for true love and true honesty and true closeness and true friendship intact, and by weeding out all false love and false honesty and false closeness and false friendship; you will be able to divide everything in your life into two distinct categories: good and evil. And by adhering only to the good in all things and in all people, and by attacking and killing all evil and falsity in yourself and in others: you can develop the ethical, moral, spiritual power that makes you able to kill the undead dead dead dead, and destroy them utterly.

One main way the undead have poisoned living humans is by reversing their natural instincts and development of Love… Love has been turned into Sex…

First: Love and Beauty go together. But…in the natural development of Love; Beauty is only a first initial attraction… Natural love in humans develops slowly and it develops from the highest spiritual aspects of a person. The last stage of love is physical sex; not the first. The undead ruin Love in people by channeling Energy to their lowest organs of your body which are your sex organs. Without this deliberate poisoning by the undead, no person would feel any sexual urge to have sex with someone they are initially attracted to.

Because I am an integrated personality; I have never felt any sexual urges to have sex with anyone I fell in love with because the undead could not control my higher developed self. I only wanted to get to know them better.

Love: when done naturally is a process of integration. All the aspects of each couple; their minds, their hearts, their personalities, their character, their social circle, who their friends and family are goes through a slow process of coming together. Closer and closer until they begin to merge… Even in cases of love at first sight, this natural process does not change… Some may be faster or slower but the fact remains; sex is the last part of this natural process; not the first. Whenever couples have sex before getting to know each other naturally the relationship does not last. Modern Hedonistic civilization with its instant gratification brainwashing and its advertising industry constantly selling sex both subliminally and blatantly, plus the explosion of pornography on the internet makes it almost impossible for love to happen naturally. Instead Love is reversed and turned into sex. The word "love" now implies sex. To "make love" means having sex. Even before today's modern Hedonism; most marriages were based on sexual attraction not true Love. It was a way of having sex legally without the stigma of being branded a whore or a womanizer, etc.

When Love is allowed to develop naturally between two integrated people: a male and a female; each couple's development is unique… There are no set rules or traditions that should determine when they should get engaged or when they should marry or when they should have children. In fact before 2000, most divorces and unhappiness in marriages were due to couples being forced or brainwashed into following the standardized model for everyone: which meant having sex right after getting married and only having children when you could afford it.

In a natural integrated love between a man and a woman the only time they have sex is when they want to have a baby… Period… And… they sleep together with the baby until it grows up and IT decides when it wants to sleep in its own bed… Which is usually happens about the age of 5… when children develop enough to have s a sense of their own personal boundaries..

However… in the new civilization; every community will sleep together as a community. Not as separate families. Every community will sleep together, play together, and work together; There will be no sleeping alone at all except when a couple decides they want to have a baby, and for that; they will be given the privacy of their own love nest or a honeymoon trip which give them the privacy they need to rekindle their Love for each other. In fact couples that do not want to have a baby will be required to take honeymoons just so they will not fall into a rut of taking each other for granted. In fact the entire community will be sensitive and aware of each couple's relationship with each other and at the first sign of a lack of love between them, they will be whisked off to a love nest or a honeymoon regardless of their protestations that they don't need it.

This does not exclude times when a person wants to go off and be alone for days or weeks. Whatever amount of solitude and sleeping alone any person wants; they are free to do so.. In fact solitude and being alone is a necessary part of developing a balanced integrated human and those who do not want to be alone, they will be forced to practice solitude whether they like it oe not until they are comfortable with it and learn how to use it by introspection, self examination and developing insights and developing perspective on their life and on the world they live in.

Another crucial advantage of everyone in a community sleeping together is it makes illicit sex impossible… No two people will be able to sneak off alone and have sex with each other. No two people will be allowed to sleep together unless they are married and decide they want to have a baby.

This basic social-communal blueprint is designed to create balanced integrated humans who will have the opportunity and ability and freedom to develop all of their untapped human potentials, talents, skills which are infinite. There is no limit to human development. The undead have been keeping humans back by poisoning them and killing them and dumbing them down and brainwashing them for millions of years… when this new social model of small communities sleeping and playing and working together is carried out; it will revolutionize human existence…

Why?

Because sleeping together as a community will make it almost impossible for the undead to poison anyone in that community while they are asleep.
There will not be enough space around each sleeping person for the undead to gather around any individual to invade their subconscious and their dreams while they sleep. Every person in every community will sleep in an unconscious state of love and togetherness and happiness and safety and security…

Not loneliness, fear, uncertainty, unhappiness.

Children will no longer have nightmares. The reason people have nightmares is because the undead surround them while sleeping because they are alone and isolated from their parents. This cannot happen as long as the baby or child sleeps with their parents. The undead invade their bodies and minds while they are asleep and invade their dreams and control or try to control their subconscious because they can infiltrate human minds on a subconscious level much more easily than the conscious mind because the subconscious mind is not able to realize it is being violated from an outside source. The human subconscious is designed to digest your life experiences and interpret them in order to understand it all on an integrated level. Your dreams are supposed to be the integration of all your Life experiences.. The undead by invading you while you sleep deliberately poison your subconscious so you do not develop an integrated understanding of all your experiences.

By sleeping together as a community, your sleep and your dreams will be free from the invasions of the undead while you sleep.

That means that the state of their subconscious and the state of their conscious minds will be unified in a single awareness of communal love, happiness and togetherness… and there will be nothing the undead can do to destroy it.

Why will this happen?...

Because humans are genetically designed to touch each other> both asleep and awake. Your skin is the largest organ of your body and also the most intelligent and most powerful. When your skin is energized by touching and being touched night and day… it energizes all your other organs in ways you cannot imagine

The History of Walking Apes

The history of Walking Apes is millions of years old, and it is largely a history of how the undead managed to successfully poison and filthy this species and reverse its natural genetic functions from Good to evil.

Originally apes living in trees were not genetically designed to kill anything. They were designed to eat fruit hanging from trees. When they evolved and came down from the trees and stood upright, they were still not genetically designed to kill anything and today we are still not genetically designed to kill anything today… get this into your head. No fucking artificial invention like the use of tools or civilization predates our original genetic design. Our genetic design is the original root, the original source of everything we are meant to be and do and become. Anything that goes against our original root genetic design is evil.

The buried history of when and how hominids first began using tools is lost; but regardless of this, the fact remains humans were never genetically designed to make and use tools.

The other fact is during our evolution we lost nearly all of our fur and became naked apes. This genetic evolution goes directly against using tools. This made us more sensitive to being touched: not only on our faces and hands, but over our entire bodies. We evolved to become the most sensitive animal on earth… we also evolved to become the most aware animal on earth… we also evolved to become the most intelligent animal on earth… we also evolved to become the most dominant animal on earth.

In other words: all other animals are supposed to follow our example.
We were designed so all animals on Earth would follow our example.
It happens naturally to all animals that become our pets and live with us…
They follow our example… they start to enjoy being touched… they start cuddling with each other and with their owners… they start to learn how to love each other. They become loving love bunnies… they become happy. They experience what they would never have experienced if they had not started living with humans: they experience love and happiness. They play with each other without hurting each other. They become gentle. They become sensitive to being touched and loved.

Wild animals do not know what love is. It takes weeks, months, even years to teach a wild animal about love, but once they learn, they are changed forever.

We humans are designed to teach all living creatures to love each other.
How to do that? By making friends with them.

Humans Are Designed To Make Friends With All The Living Creatures On Earth.

We have already done this with every species on the planet: But only anecdotally… one person befriends a dolphin, or one person befriends a bear, or a raccoon, or a lion, or a lizard, or a wild bird, etc. etc… This has already been proven. It is already proven that we can make friends with literally any species of animal or bird or reptile on earth. But only as an exception to the rule.

99.9 times out of a hundred we kill and hate and fear and poison all other species on earth instead of making friends with them.

This shows the relative amount of good compared to evil which exists on the earth today. Without the evil omnipresence of the undead, this evil would not exist; it could not exist. It cannot exist without the constant conspiring colluding cunning secret evil plans and conspiracies which the undead hatch every day like insects. This is why we the living must kill all evil on the earth. Otherwise the undead will destroy all life on earth.

This is done by using positive energy: positive reinforcement, positive feedback to destroy everything that is of negative energy.

Hate all haters
Kill all killers

Love all lovers
Make friends with all friendly people.
Make enemies of all unfriendly people

If everyone does this all killers will be killed and all unfriendly people will be ostracized from society and die alone starving to death because nobody will be their friend and nobody will help them.

This works only if humans do not tolerate the existence of negative evil. Only if and when humans learn to kill all evil in the world can humans regain their genetic designed function and find true happiness and love and in order to do this: all humans must learn what evil is. And learn to kill it the instant they see it or feel it or hear it or sense it.

The entire reason the evils of multiculturalism was born and spread is because the hedonistic culture of consumerism replaced ethnic cultural values and identities… Hey; who cares if you're Chinese or Japanese or American if we can all get rich and wallow in luxury and ease and affluence? We all share the common unspoken secular religion of hedonism, and that culture is stronger ethnic cultural religious values we have and we all practice hedonism much more than any ethnic culture we once had.

Now: however, poor impoverished people from different ethnic cultures are infiltrating affluent nations and ruining them with their barbaric ethnic values and religions etc. These 3rd world immigrants and refugees also share the dominant culture of hedonism, they also want to become affluent and rich: but they still cling to their cultural ethic traditions and mores and superstitions and prejudices which do not fit in affluent nations of the west. The result is a lackluster backlash by a small minority that still tries to cling to some semblance of moral and ethical codes and religious values they once had: but they are not aware and refuse to admit that they practice hedonism far more than any ethnic culture or religion. They have belatedly, too late, come to realize and understand that homogeneous societies sharing the same ethnic cultural and religious values are better than multiculturalism, but that bus has left the station ages ago. The entire history of modern civilization going back to the inventions industrialization and mass manufacturing was and still is based on hedonism; on making everything easier and cheaper and more widely available. The long slippery slope of increased affluence and ease was only fueled because the ruling class made the lives of the masses so horrible, so dehumanized, poverty became such a cultural evil, that the masses were forced into working in manufacturing plants and factories just so they wouldn't starve to death… Before industrialization; the lower classes were not as impoverished and dehumanized in their agrarian settings.

It was only when they were forced out of their villages by rich ruling class landowners who had become greedy for profit. It was only when the power and wealth of the ruling class changed from how much agrarian land and peasants they owned to how much money they had in a bank… The cultural poison of jewish usury and charging interest grew over the ages until Jew moneylenders gained so much power, they became richer and more powerful than the landed aristocracy… Then came the time when aristocrats married into wealthy bankers and factory owners families in order to keep from going bankrupt or selling their estates because the peasants no longer were their vassals and they had to pay them money to work for them. They could not keep up their huge land holdings except by turning them into commercial businesses like cattle raising. They found they could make more money off raising beef than having peasant till the land with only some work being done on their own fields every year. You have to feed and clothe and house peasants and deal with their needs and demands… With cattle, you had none of these drawbacks and more profits.

The history of the Hedonism of civilization is thousands of years old: people call it "progress". It is not progress: it is the growth and spread of evil.

The entire diatribe of "freedoms"… freedom of religion, freedom to carry arms, freedom of expression, freedom to have your own opinions, freedom to worship whatever you want, freedom of choice, freedom to travel, freedom to have sex with whoever you choose, freedom to take any drugs you so choose, etc. etc ad vomit is the result of hedonism, and a perfect example of it

Take freedom of religion… people fought and killed and slaughtered each other and oppressed each other and discriminated against each other for thousands of years… Until? The brainwashing of the church began to wear off?... Until the masses began to be able to read and were exposed to new ideas? Until the dominance of the church in society began to be replaced with secular power and wealth that went against the holy scriptures? Until the church became so corrupted by its own hedonism that it lost all credibility like when Martin Luther published his famous criticisms and nailed it in the doors of the church? Until people just didn't think it was that important anymore?? Until? Religious convictions became so watered down they were not true religions anymore, but merely platitudes preached on Sunday that are never practiced? Until religion stopped being the main social structure of any society? Until the hypocrisy of organized religion became so obvious, and its hypocrisies became so blatant that people got so sick of it they just stopped believing in any religion? Until the secular values and practices of business, and money and avarice and greed destroyed all religious morals and beliefs by replacing religion with the pursuit of pleasure, ease and riches? In other words: Hedonism.

All these "freedoms" were given by who, or by what, and how? By a god? By the state? By yourself? The same irrational idiocy applies people's "rights". Who gave you these 'rights'? Modern Hedonistic civilization is nothing but a huge squabble between people arguing who has any "right" to do something, or who has any "freedom" to do something or say something or think something, etc, etc; ad nausea. This is because in Hedonistic societies there are no boundaries, no limits, no limitations to what you say or do or think or believe except what the authorities allow or enfotce. Everything is allowed unless of course it steps on someone else's toes… until these 'freedoms' and 'rights' become so degenerate, so irrational, so outrageous, so illogical that there is a backlash, a reaction when these abominations when they go too far…

But civilization never backtracks on Hedonism and the abominations hedonism creates. It constantly advances all these evils and abominations irregardless of how much pushback there is. That is because this push of evil abominations originates from the undead. They are the true source and origin of all evil on this earth. Sooner or later, what was once commonly understood to be evil becomes just wrong… then it becomes bad… then it becomes less bad… then it is tolerated, then it is legalized, then it spreads like a wildfire because it is now 'legal'… Then it becomes 'normal'… then it becomes commonplace. Then nobody thinks it is evil or wrong or bad anymore… Then it becomes 'good' or 'right'. Then it is glorified and paraded around like gay pride parades, then it insinuates itself into schools and into kindergartens until it becomes a social disease that destroys the entire fabric of society.

Anyone who wants to can trace the stages of everything that was considered to be a sin, every evil throughout civilization as it goes through these stages of normalization and ultimately becomes a mass phenomenon practiced by millions and millions of people every day.

The very concept of shopping is pure Hedonism. The idea that you can buy whatever you want is pure hedonism. It is all based on mass manufacturing and machines. Designed for the masses to buy the same things. Based on the fallacy that your tastes are unique, that you are special, so you can indulge yourself because you can afford it. Based on money, on the hoarding of money, on accumulation, on identicality disguised as uniqueness.

The entire reason psychopathic evil monsters control and own and rule western civilization with impunity is because billions of brainwashed humanoid programmed insects are focused only on their own personal concerns, whatever gratifies them personally, whatever they are addicted to, whatever they "like";

Billions of pleasure seeking people are not interested in anything except their own personal concerns, seeking to make their lives easier, wallowing in ease and luxury. The result is billions of isolated, alienated individual brainwashed morons totally unaware and not interested in anything except their own well-being and creature comforts. This programmed brainwashing makes none of them have anything in common with each other. They all distrust each other, they all fear and are paranoid of anyone they do not know personally.

Look down any city from a higher perspective of sanity… Millions of people crammed together; isolated from each other in their cubicles called rooms and apartments; none of them know what the others are doing… none of them know why they are doing whatever they do, and none of them care… all of them scurrying around ignoring each other… It is insane. What point is there to it? Except what is practiced but never spoken of: Hedonism

Their sacred secular religion of Hedonism is self-interest. Self-seekers are only interested in whatever gives them an advantage, whatever makes them more money, whatever feeds their ego, whatever raises them in the hierarchical pecking order of society. They only socialize with those who share their own views and opinions identically… if anyone has any view or opinion they do not agree with; they cut them out and no longer have anything to do with them. The mass psychosis of the sacredness of personal opinion insures that all of them disagree with almost everyone else. They live packed together and are programmed to ignore each other. They pass by each other in stores, on streets, assiduously ignoring each other. The entire effect of the building and creation of cities destroyed all natural, normal forms of social contact centuries ago. The capitalist incentives of greed and avarice made them rob and lie and cheat each other at every opportunity. The vicious religion of self-interest, the vicious principle of dog-eat-dog… enforced by thousands of years of impoverishment and oppression and enslavement has not changed by one iota after the new degeneracy of mass affluence infected the lower classes with the hedonistic pursuits of pleasure and ease of the upper classes.

The very act of being forced to studiously completely ignore everyone around you every time you step out on the street, or in a building or on a packed bus, or on a subway or train narrows down their awareness to almost zero… Even in parties you can see how these brainwashed snobs only talk to certain "special" people whom they consider to be in their special "inner circle" of friends and studiously ignore everyone else. The natural urge and need to socialize with other humans has been programmed out of existence. Socializing has become a culture of snobbery and exclusion

You can see this in the mass culture of spectatorship; Where hundreds-thousands of people congregate together only to ignore each other… focusing solely on the spectacle they came to watch, so they can be 'entertained". Completely uninterested and unaware of everyone around them… The same can be seen in mobs and mass demonstrations and riots…

People come together in the streets to protest something… that means they all have one thing in common with each other… but do they talk to each other? Or get to know each other? NO. They mass together as total strangers, as a disorganized mob of strangers and go back home without any social contact except their own personal friends.

Hedonistic western consumer culture has become so anti-social, so sick and evil, that it has produced the phenomenon of the masses being alienated from each other. At first, it was a few, perceptive individuals who perceived the meaninglessness of human civilization… the spectre of the alienation of the individual from society was noticed by a few learned people who didn't fit in. That was centuries ago; now it is the norm, it has become normalized.

This entire process of mass alienation: of the masses being isolated and alienated from each other is the reason why organized criminals in power can rule and control and oppress and terrorize them so easily. Regardless, of how horrible, how obviously corrupt, how evil their rulers are; the masses just don't care because they are only interested in their own personal selfish concerns… nothing else matters to them. They are not aware of anything else. It is this form of programmed tunnel vision, this blocking out all awareness or everything and anything that does not directly impinge on their immediate well-being that enables criminals to come to power and stay in power…

This is all based on the common unspoken, unconscious, subconscious religious sacred conviction and belief of powerlessness. The unspoken common belief of the masses that there is nothing they can do about anything… the billions of brainwashed conformist sheep of civilization are all indoctrinated into the culture of victimhood…the unspoken common way they see themselves as powerless victims. The result is hundreds of millions of fatalist, dehumanized robots giving up on everything that is important in life: except the evils of self-interest, selfishness and personal self-gratification

At the same time they are programmed to become cowards, at the same time they are brainwashed into becoming fear-filled, neurotic, paranoid victims, they are also programmed into becoming brainless conforming sheep that are terrified of going against any politically correct dogma spewed by their leaders and the mass media. This process of dumbing down of the masses by mass media brainwashing has the result of degrading all of civilization to the point where it stops functioning altogether.

This is the stage where civilization is at now… Schools no longer teach anything, police no longer enforce the law, news outlets no longer cover the news, govts no longer govern by consent, people are not allowed to speak the truth, science is no longer scientific, hospitals are now killing people instead of saving them from death, banks are no longer trusted as repositories of money.

This descent into mass madness and mass insanity and mass self-destruction is the same descent as Sodom and Gomorrah..,. it is the same descent as the fall of Babylon… It is the same descent as the Egyptian empire reduced into a mass of religious dumbed down zealots and fanatics… all of it… all the civilizations that have risen and fallen over the 12,000 year history of civilization have self-destructed due to the bedrock principle of civilization…hedonism. The pursuit of affluence ease and pleasure… and every time they crumbled, the masses sought to regain their lost affluence and riches and ease because that is the sign of superiority; it is the sign of the upper class. It is the dynamic of pyramidal civilization and pyramidal society.

By accumulating enough living humans into a packed mass, into a pile, into an accumulated mass of people, that they live piled on top of each other. So only those at the absolute top are not crushed by someone else higher up than they are. This hierarchical structure-system-dynamic was and is created by hedonism. By humans being too lazy to travel, to move as hunter gatherers, and instead staying on one area, and their population growing and accumulating into a pyramidal hierarchy that is not natural and is not how humans are designed to live.

What made all this process possible was the invention and use of tools designed to kill other living creatures and living plants on a mass scale of mass death… In short: The millions of years of the evolution of the human species is based on tool-use. Without using tools to kill with, humans could never have concentrated their populations into permanent villages-towns-cities.

Hedonism is based on tool-use. It is based on humans inventing tools that can kill other living organisms. The oldest aboriginal tribes, still frozen in their stone-age level of using tools, discovered by modern civilized humans… In the Kalahari desert… in the Amazon jungles, and studied by anthropologists reveal the basic traditions and customs of these cultures as being predominantly and solely based on ease… on the ease with which they could live, by using their tools with as little effort as possible. They expose the only common facet they all had, which was feasting and gorging themselves and getting drunk on rotting alcoholic brews. Basically these stone age tribes did nothing but the bare minimum needed for existence. They had perfected their tool use to the specific eco-systems they lived in, and once they had managed that: they stopped advancing or improving their tool-use… It was only tribes that traveled, that were forced to adapt to completely different eco-systems that were forced to innovate and improve their use of tools…

Ultimately, to condense millions of years of human history, the humans who traveled into the harshest climates, were forced to innovate and improve their use of tools more than tribes that stayed in one place. It was the northern tribes of Asia and Europe that ended up inventing tools that went beyond the stone age technology of chipping flint stones into spears and arrows… but even here there are isolated exceptions like the people of the Magellan Straits who lived on islands that had a wind chill of below freezing and lived naked without clothes and without tools. They prove the physical truth that Humans are genetically designed to adapt to any climate or eco-system without using tools. Because this small isolated number of islanders did not interact with any other humans for hundreds of thousands of years: they did not change or improve their tool use… this also demonstrates that only by a large number of tribes interacting with each other was it possible for tool use to improve and increase by feedback by tribes hundreds of miles and thousands of miles apart from each other… This proves they communicated and traded peacefully for thousands of years.

The fact is civilization has no goal and no purpose except hedonism while insuring billions of human insects never achieve their dreams of affluence and financial security…

What is civilization? Billions of isolated human insects scurrying around bent on their selfish personal concerns. Blindly ignoring each other, avoiding each other; with no greater purpose, no greater awareness, no greater intelligence. It is a mass of insane insects. Even ants organize their societies more intelligently than humans do. There is a huge void, a huge vacuum in any greater perspective and a huge vacuum in any greater purpose to human existence. As civilization becomes more mechanized, humans are becoming more like brainless machines.

What is civilization? Huge corporate capitalist pipe lines and oil tankers, sucking oil out of the earth's crust to supply billions of consumers with gas so they can drive their gas powered machines. Millions of huge mass manufacturing factories spewing out trillions of consumer products so consumers can be supplied with everything they need or want to satisfy their selfish personal tastes, whims, addictions, needs, etc.. Millions of huge industrialized farms growing food for billions of consumers. To what end? To support billions of consumers. Thousands of power plants to supply billions of consumers with electrical power so they can watch TV and go on the internet so they can be distracted from their boring meaningless existences.

What for? To what end? An endless industrial destruction of all resources and eco systems to feed the insatiable maw of consumer demands and needs. There is no greater goal and nobody questions the insanity of this huge mechanized system of mass consumption.

What does this artificial mechanical system called civilization return to the Earth? What does it give back? Nothing. It only takes and consumes and pollutes and destroys and kills.

Huge govt bodies fighting for supremacy and increased oppression and control of the masses… Control what? Control the billions of consumers. What for? For "power", megalomania. Leaders, the ruling class, prancing around in their self-imagined delusions of superiority. Do they have any greater goal or purpose? No.

Instead of asking questions about the ultimate ends and goals of civilization: civilization is portrayed as a triumphant march of 'progress' and 'improvement. And 'innovation" and modernity. Every new invention is hailed as step forward… forward to what? To what end?

The last century saw two world wars and the invention of the atomic bomb… now there are enough nuclear bombs to blow up the world 100 times over… this is the improvement?

The last century saw the increase of human populations exploding into the billions… Into a mass of insane consumers. The last century saw the development of huge industrial systems designed to support these billions of consumers… What for? To what end? The common belief in the sacredness of human life, while countless species are made extinct and eco-systems destroyed and polluted… Industrialized consumption is geared only for the preservation and expansion of human life while all other living species are regarded as dispensable and unimportant. Where is this all going? To what end? Why is human life so valued while the life of trees and flowers and plants and animals and fish are ignored?

The last century saw an explosion of pollution on a global scale that was impossible to achieve without the industrialized explosion of mass consumption. The direct effect and consequences of mass consumption and mass industrialized pollution are starkly obvious and clear,,, but has anyone reduced it? Have humans stopped using plastic? Instead the proliferation of disposable plastic mass manufactured goods is increasing. The pollution caused by the automotive industry is obvious but have humans stopped using cars? Anything that impedes or blocks the Hedonistic urges of pleasing oneself personally, satisfying ones personal whims is too great a sacrifice for the betterment of the entire Earth. Deserts are growing by leaps and bounds because of the total unconcern for any ecological improvement simply because people do not live there and the ones that do are too poor and powerless to have any impact on society.

What good is civilization? The mindless increase in billions more consumers? More machines? More affluence and ease? More destruction of the natural world until there are no fish left in the oceans and no trees left alive on Earth? More irresponsible behavior? The basic underlying, unspoken secular religion of civilization: Hedonism refuses to ask any questions of itself. Billions of human insects programmed and brainwashed to please only themselves is a guarantee for total total implosion and destruction of civilization. Is anyone worried about this? Does anyone care? Humans have this unspoken belief that no matter how destructive civilization becomes, nature will regrow and replenish itself indefinitely. That we humans are free to destroy and pollute to our hearts content without ever needing to worry about the consequences…

Even when the consequences of oil spills and other industrial pollutions are displayed and proven… How many nuclear power plants have to melt down before we realize their danger to all life on earth? Will the remnants of this civilization be any wiser than survivors of older civilizations that have since disappeared? Nobody asks these questions. The reason why nobody asks questions is because the basic Hedonism of civilization doesn't like questions being asked. The underlying basic reason for everything wrong in civilization is because the religion of Hedonism trumps all other concerns. Self-interest trumps all other interests. Even science puts the drive for self-preservation and self interest as the explanation for all evolution, as well as the explanation for all behavior of every living organism.

The rational of self-interest and self-survival being the only motivation in humans, the lowest, most foul motivations of self-gratification and the pursuit of pleasure being a universally accepted norm… is the mask the undead use to hide behind.

The self interest of a dictator like Stalin killing tens of millions of his own people out of pure self interest… and then dying in his sleep after eating a huge dinner… the fact that he lived a life of evil and escaped all punishment flaunts in your face the fact that evil reigns supreme on earth.

And that hundreds of millions of other humans who also adhere to the secular religion of self-survival and self-interest… not one of them even dreamed of killing that psychopathic genocidal monster… that not one single Russian even had a desire or impulse or wish or urge or thought to kill him… and that the explanation for this is because 350 million Russians were all cowards… without a single exception… this flaunts in your face that the undead can and do control all of you… Let that sink in….

The same mass psychosis and hypnosis exists today. Today there are millions if not hundreds of millions of people who know beyond any doubt that monsters like Bill Gates, and George Soros and Anthony Fauci are evil, yet not one of them even dreams of killing these monsters. The idea of killing these monsters does not even exist in human society…

Except me

I; Indrek Pringi can and could kill and will kill them easily

Without any regret or compunction

In fact I would do it with savage relish

Because the undead do not control me.

What I am pointing out is if your awareness and motives and actions and thoughts and emotions and sexual urges are determined or controlled by self-interest and self-survival: you are controlled by the undead. Your awareness and intelligence and perception is not capable of anything higher or better than the lowest, stupidest most selfish urges.

By programming and brainwashing humans into this unspoken universal secular sacred religious belief of Hedonism; the undead easily corrupt and control and poison all living humans. The sacredness of self-interest is merely the result and expression of 12,000 years of civillizational based on hedonism. Hedonism and self-interest are the lowest, most evil beliefs in history. Eve tempting Adam with the rounded apples of her breasts and buttocks, tempting him with a sweet fruit… the temptations of Hedonism and self-interest and self-gratification and self-indulgence, and sexual lust and depravity, are all the same thing.

The result of mass Hedonism is mass cowardice. With no exceptions except me: Indrek Pringi.

The latest psychological effects and results of Hedonism are obvious. The higher up you go in the pyramidal shitpile of civilization, the more you see it evidenced in: snobbery, neurosis, egoism, megalomania, psychosis, sociopaths, psychopaths, serial killers, mass murderers, serial rapists. Pedophiles. Child rapists, baby and child sacrifice, sexual perversions, sadism… the list goes on and on and on.

136

The point is you do not find these abominations in the lower classes; only in the upper classes, and you only find them because civilization does not have any moral, ethical code, because the only code civilization has is the unspoken pursuit and practice of Hedonism

They are all manifestations of criminal mentalities and criminal personality traits that come from hedonism. The less constraints society puts on your actions, the more 'power' you can use to achieve your personal aims and desires and goals, the more evil you become simply because civilization does not have any code of morals or ethics to stop you: it only has oppression of the lower classes by the upper class.

Civilization was and is designed by the undead to give free rein to the worst, most criminal elements and people, while oppressing, sabotaging, poisoning, killing and corrupting any and all positive energy that they detect in humans and in human society.

When everything they try fails, their last resort is massive invasion into the body and mind and sexual organs and heart of the victim they attack… but this is dangerous because by this last resort, they expose themselves for what they are and what tactics and strategies they use… as they did with me: Indrek Pringi. Their attacks mostly failed. Some of them succeeded to a degree, but only by a massive concerted effort of millions of these foul rotting things massed together working for decades and decades to achieve a certain desired outcome.

It is from my own personal experience of encountering the undead and exploring their existence which has unlocked all of my latent intelligence, wisdom and power to kill them all dead. Because I am the only living human being to do this I am unique. No one has achieved what I have ever in all the annals of civilized history all the way back to the first hominids. This is why my first book: The Path of Splitness was written: to expose their evil foul existence and strip them naked, to expose all their evil tricks and crimes and abominations.

The entire basis of buying and selling, the entire advertising industry is based on temptation: pandering to the lowest, most venal corrupt urges and instincts. John the Baptist was the first living human to make the insight that ALL civilization is evil… now over 2,000 years later, I am the second person to make this insight… only I am giving a solution to the problem which John did not. His answer was to flee into the desert and live in a cave… that did not work. Civilization came after him and cut off his head.

There is no passive answer or solution to the existence of evil… there is only one answer and that is to kill them all dead; and I mean kill all evil people dead.

Ahh…. But what if the undead have already poisoned and corrupted the entire living human population? What if all humans are evil? What if there is no one left to cast the first stone because all you reading this are already controlled by the undead and have already been corrupted and poisoned by them?

That is the only answer the undead have to being exposed and found out. Their only hope is for the huge mass of brainwashed, dumbed down. Illiterate, programmed living humans to become such an overwhelming majority that no small tiny minority of people who have not been completely corrupted can ever overturn their evil powers.

This they have achieved by the invention of the internet: Turning billions of brainwashed human insects into physical, mental. Emotional, spiritual, moral, ethical cowards.

Look at civilization! What do you see? Luxury cruises, luxury cars, restaurants, luxury goods, labor saving devices, every kind of candy and sugar water called soft drinks… Coffee! A mass addiction to this black, bitter shit by billions of people, never mind alcohol!. Every possible kind of comfort from special pillows and special mattresses to barcaloungers to couches until humans spend most of their waking hours sitting down; not standing up, not moving, not doing anything. The explosion of flat screen technology… billions of brainwashed human insects wasting their lives playing games on their smart phones and I-pads… ignoring the world around them.

The history of civilization has been one of forced indoctrination into Hedonistic practices and products and foods and beverages… First by forced impoverishment and poverty and oppression. And then by force feeding every new invention, every new abomination onto the masses as an 'improvement' of their existence. As David Icke explains: problem-reaction-solution. For instance, after the British masses were forced into mass starvation and poverty; then the industrialization of sugar and the selling of mass manufactured jams turned the masses into sugar addicts. The selling of candy and sweets and chocolate bars to children so they would be hooked for life until this addiction became a staple in the diet of industrialized nations, just like now the addiction to coffee has become another staple in the diet of industrialized nations. The undead have been doing this for at least hundreds of thousands of years to living humans without humans understanding and realizing they were and are being systematically corrupted and poisoned in every possible way.

The undead have dumbed down human intelligence by controlling humans through two organs of their bodies; the mouth-tongue-stomach… and the penis-vagina… These organs have the intelligence of a worm and a hole…

A worm wants to go into a hole… a hole wants to be filled by a worm or by something. Using mass media to spread pornography and the culture of consumerism, the undead have reduced human intelligence down to the level of a worm and a hole.

How can they do this? How do they do it? How do the undead dumb humans down and corrupt them and control them so easily?

The answer is integration… or more correctly the poisoning and destruction of human integration. What do I mean by integration? An integrated human is one whose mental and emotional and physical capacities and potentials are integrated… so everything a human thinks-feels-sees-hears-senses-does is interconnected… so the mind is not disconnected from the heart, so mental thoughts are not disconnected from emotions… So actions are not disconnected from emotions and thoughts. So sexual urges are not disconnected from thoughts and emotions.

The most obvious disconnect that the undead do to living humans and have done for umpteen millennia is to separate their sexual lust instincts from their upper organs. When a man or adolescent is controlled by his penis; When he has sex without sex being connected to his mind and heart and spirit and soul; he is a de-integrated human. When the sex drive is more powerful than all other human drives, all other human abilities. When the lowest organ in the human body controls the entire body: that is an example of DE-integration. That is an example of Hedonism. This also is true when your mouth- tongue - stomach controls the rest of your body.

How do the undead do this? They do it by infiltrating themselves into every living human at birth, and by lodging themselves in the most powerful center of every human: the sex drive… and by knowing how to trigger that, turning it on, and amplifying it unnaturally whenever they choose and at every chance they get…

How can they do this? How do they do it? The undead do it by superimposing their undead body auras over the physical body of the victim… so the undead entity co-exists-merges with their living victim in the same space.

David Icke describes how one of these foul evil undead monsters revealed itself to him by making itself visible to him… What Icke believed to be an evil human suddenly transformed itself into a reptilian monster… a human with lizard-like skin and lizard eyes. What Icke did not understand and still does not understand and realize is that every living human has undead auras inside them and around them and over their skin… co-existing secretly with their victim… sucking off the life energy of their victim,, poisoning and corrupting and controlling their victim… Icke is being just as controlled and corrupted by the undead co-existing with him as the living person he saw turn into a reptilian-humanoid monster and back to an apparently normal human. He is just as unaware of being controlled and manipulated as each one of you reading this now is…

Except for me: Indrek Pringi

Over the course of more than 70 years, i have learned from painful experience, by trial and error, by being led down into paths of corruption and evil… by being tempted and lured by the undead into all kinds of perversions and weaknesses and addictions…

All of their attempts to corrupt me failed.

Instead, every new cunning tactic and trick only made me learn more and more about them and how devious and cunning and foul and filthy and evil they are

This is why i have the ability and intelligence and wisdom that makes me able to write this book and spread my wisdom to all living humans who have the courage to face the ugly truth about our species and how and why we have been led astray from the very beginning of the very first man and the first woman.

There is no God and there is no Satan

There are just countless decomposing, rotting undead entities that have poisoned the existence of all living creatures ever since the first living creature died and the afterlife of that undead entity found a way to keep from rotting and decomposing and dying by infiltrating itself into a living creature and sucking off its life energy

But wait… how could the first man and woman be corrupted by the undead when there was no undead human entity that had died before them to infiltrate their bodies? How were Adam and Eve corrupted by the undead?

By a reptile… a reptilian entity that spoke to Eve. Reptiles were the dominant species on earth before mammals came along… the reptilian undead still outnumbered undead mammalian entities when the first humans came on the scene. The snake is a symbol of sex: it represents the penis. The snake is also a universal symbol of evil. What Eve was tempting Adam with was not an apple… apples did not exist in Africa where the first humans were created by Nature. The penile effect of seeing a snake aroused Eve's lowest sexual urges. She tempted Adam with her round breasts and buttocks… What they learned was carnal knowledge; the knowledge of hedonistic sex for the sake of sex,

The knowledge of carnal pleasure; not knowledge was what made them ashamed… That part of the story makes no sense. They became ashamed of their naked bodies because of committing a sin: the sin of engaging in carnal sex. They lost their innocence and were driven out of the Garden of Eden… If you interpret the story this way it makes perfect sense.

The history of Hedonism is millions of years old. It begins with the first humans and their pursuit of pleasure for the sake of pleasure in Africa. The Benobi species of apes in Africa also have this in their culture… It comes from having too much time on your hands. Rather than grooming each other to strengthen social ties, the Benobi's engage in sex.

What is the origin and source of Hedonism? Idleness and ease. …The devil finds use for idle hands… When our ancestors came down from the trees they lived in, their hands fell idle for much of the time. The undead found a use for these idle hands… humans began making tools… to kill with and make their lives easier.

Consumerism and consumption is interlinked with hedonism and ease…

The first tool humans discovered and used was FIRE: the ultimate natural destroyer of life that kills and consumers all living creatures.

Humans discovered that they could start huge forest fires and brush fires that raged for miles and burnt everything to the ground… then after the fire was burnt out, they could sift through the ashes and eat all the dead burn corpses and gorge themselves on burnt-cooked meat… This is how the use of fire began. It was not to keep them warm at night because it happened in Africa. Where is any evidence for this? Nature regrows itself in a matter of years. No trace is left of what happened, especially in Africa where the vegetation grows back with a vengeance.

Once humans learned to use fire to kill with, they used the same technique to make the first stone tools. Striking a flint stone with a hard rock, they found they could shape these flint stones into sharpened points attached to wooden shafts… Thus the first spears and arrows were born.

The idleness and ease tool-use and the use of fire created, created all the subsequent evils and abominations of human culture and human technology… But you need to remember that all this was orchestrated and pushed and planned by the undead. It has always been the undead who invent new horrors and inventions using living humans as their pawns. Without their constant evil presence for millions of years, the history of the human species would have been entirely different.

The tactic used by criminal organizations like govts and corporations and secret societies to gain more power and wealth and more control over the masses is simple…

As long as the masses are all bent on their personal pursuits of Hedonism and ease; As long as the masses pursue their own hobbies and personal interests; they are not interested in anything that does not directly impinge on their pursuits of pleasure and ease and distractions, so these criminal interests are free to increase their power and control over the masses and their wealth because the hedonistic masses are not educated and not aware of the larger issues and forces being played out simply because they are not interested enough to do any serious research to educate and enlighten themselves. One result of the unspoken unconscious, subconscious global culture of Hedonism is that any real learning goes out the window. A gardener will educate himself about various tomato seeds because he is personally interested in planting them. A boat builder will educate himself about the different types of spar designs because he is personally interested in putting them into his boat… A car enthusiast will learn about the various kinds of cam shafts to install into the engine he is building so it will perform how he wants it to in order for him the get personal self-satisfaction out of driving his creation… But politics? International news? What's going on in the centers of power? What new laws are being passed and how might they affect him? Forgetaboutit… not interested… I'm doing fine right now jack so don't bother me with this meaningless irrelevant crap because it does not impinge on me directly right now here where i live.

Both the masses and the criminals and criminal organizations operate under the same non ethical amoral immoral basis of pure Hedonism; they all have their sacred right to do as they ""please"" to suit themselves, and nobody has any right to curtail their Hedonistic goals and interests.

The point and problem is this: when both law abiding and criminal mentalities and people and organizations operate under the exact same Subconscious-unconscious basic principle of pure Hedonism…

There is no real difference between them

That is why Hedonistic civilization has done away with the terms of good and evil… nothing is good or evil anymore… the only things that exist are what one "likes" or "dislikes".

There is nothing that is true or untrue anymore… there are just narratives and talking points.
There is no right or wrong anymore: there are just personal preferences and personal tastes and personal opinions.

Because of this: nobody can tell who is a criminal and who is not a criminal. They all look the same, act the same… except when they go behind closed doors… and there, the criminals do their filthy criminal acts in secret. There they plot and connive and plan and conspire to commit evil, while holding the façade of normality in public…

The problem is that now; all civilization is criminal… all normality is criminal… the various degrees of difference between a Hedonist who is a criminal and a Hedonist who is not a criminal simply depends on what they can get away with…

Nothing else.

The other thing that Hedonistic civilization does is as long as the masses are bent on pursuing their own personal interests; All information they are exposed to, all information they consume as consumers is cunningly designed to dumb them down and brainwash them with them being aware of it… They are not aware of anything that does not directly satisfy their personal self-gratifications. They consume things uncritically. As long as they like consuming something they do: regardless if it is good or bad for them. Billions of people consume pizza and coffee. They laugh at and ignore any and all information that tells them that pizza and coffee are not good for you.

They consume information just as uncritically regardless if it is good or bad for them.

The unconscious global culture of civilization: Hedonism, destroys and prevents any critical thinking and critical awareness from developing in children and adults. It prevents humans from becoming more aware and more intelligent. It keeps the brainwashed masses dumbed down and stupid. As long as they can scoff their Coca Colas and beers and pizzas and tacos. As long as they can play their video games on their smart phones; anything else is not worth their bothering with.

The entire global industries of entertainment: music, films, professional sports, TV, the internet, news, books, newspapers, comedy; are only consumed under the Hedonistic determination of whether it pleases the consumer or not.

They are all designed to dumb down, misinform, lie, deceive, distract and pander to the lowest, stupidest levels of mass entertainment. If they don't like something, they automatically block it out and ignore it regardless if it is true oe not. If they don't like some music they switch it off. If they don't "like" anything, they switch it off… they turn off. They are programmed to turn themselves off any time they encounter something they don't like or is unpleasant.

Regardless if it is true or not. Regardless if it is right or wrong. Regardless if it is good or evil. They have been programmed to react like brainless machines to everything and anything; based on the principle of pure hedonism.

Try to find one aspect of civilization that is not based on hedonism… you can't. Even religion offers the hedonistic reward of heaven as a reason for believing in it. And that reward is only given to the individual; not to any group or society or organization. It is designed for believers to only worry about their own personal salvation; never mind about anyone else.

The World Today

All the supposed ‘progress’ of civilization; all the modern inventions have only one purpose and goal: to increase the level of Hedonistic degenerate ease and selfish personal pleasures and personal self-gratifications. Modern mechanistic society is geared to have everything done for you at the push of a button… Machines are built and designed to please your every whim and addiction and desires.

The ruling class rich are finding out that they do not need human slaves and serfs anymore; machines can replace most of what humans once did to serve their corrupt degenerate whims and fancies so they are now trying to get rid of the great mass of consumer slaves by depopulating them, polluting them and killing them, making them sicker and sicker until they all die. That is because their entire set of ethics and morals are based on pure self-indulgent Hedonism and selfishness. This has always been true, now we are witnessing the final plunge into the total madness of a civilization without any common sense, without any logic, without any truth, rotting into a poisonous cesspool that is so toxic, it poisons and kills everything it touches.

Humans no longer think in terms of themselves as asocial group or any shared collective identities anymore. They have been programmed and brainwashed to only think of themselves as isolated, individual, unique consumers with their customized consumer preferences and tastes and whims and opinions and addictions and personal interests that identifies who and what they are. They have all been systematically programmed and brainwashed and dehumanized and roboticized into reacting as programmable machines so they can be controlled better and enslaved and duped and used as useful idiots.

What were the poor downtrodden masses exposed to when the first films came out? At first they were fables, morality tales in order so films would not be denounced as satanic sinful evil abominations… but then they were flooded with tales of the upper class super rich and left to drool over the fabulous luxury and wealth and power of the elite with their super-expensive silk gowns and fabulous feasts and gala balls and fancy expensive automobiles and yachts and villas and mansions… They were made to envy the super rich and envy their lives of leisure and pointless extravagance and their degenerate culture of gambling and unfaithfulness and swanky night clubs and criminals and entertainers and their fame. The super rich were portrayed as swell people who were at heart just decent folks. The new class of robber baron millionaires who had been despised and hated and reviled by the masses and rightfully so because the masses knew how they had amassed their ill-gotten gains: by robbing and fleecing the lower classes, were turned by the new mass brainwashing media of films into the new aristocracy to be loved and admired and envied instead of hating them for what they really were and still are: A parasitic class of bloodsucking vampires feasting on the corpse of the unwashed masses, driving them deeper into debt, poverty and impoverishment.

This happened because the base… the foundation that civilization was built on is the unconscious-subconscious worship of pure Hedonism.

What happened when suddenly the downtrodden masses suddenly got a little extra money? Coney Island. Amusement parks, gambling dens, prostitution, ice cream, candy… in other words a mass culture of Pure Hedonism.

The same thing happened in Europe when the masses suddenly got a little more money…. Paris became the center of sin, just as Rome had become… Then Berlin became the center of sin and Adolph Hitler put a stop to it… for a few short years, Germany was free from the grip of jewish usurers and bankers and lawyers and their press and their brothels and cabarets and their perversions.

What happened after 20 years of poverty and mass starvation and inflation and unemployment? The Germans instantly became grossly fat burgomasters who feasted on sausages and beer and ale and drank themselves into stupefied drunkenness because despite their short-lived freedom from the domination of international jewish filth, the ultimate pinnacle of all civilized goals was and still is Pure Hedonism. The Germans wallowed in their new-found ease and took vacations abroad and on the beaches of the Baltic. Their women primped themselves in all the latest abominations like lip stick and nylons and painted their faces just as the prostitutes who had been driven out had been. They adored Hitler not because they loved Germany, but because he had brought them affluence and ease and prosperity.

The same thing happened when Americans came back from WW2… their nation exploded into mass affluence and ease. They became the richest nation on earth. They were envied and admired because they represented the great goal of Pure Hedonism for all the poorer downtrodden massed. It had nothing to do with freedom or morality or ethics; it had everything to do with affluence and ease and getting rich. For the first time in history there was less poor people in a nation than well-off people. Everyone could get a decent paying job and afford a home and a car… The symbol; of the car was the ultimate status symbol of American middle class affluence and ease… Americans went on vacations, they traveled everywhere they could.

The new phenomenon of tourism and tourist sites became the ultimate class statement of affluence. Entire towns and cities and national parks were created and sustained by this new outflow of middle class affluence and ease. People traveled around the world as "tourists". Middle class Americans toured Europe as the upper class had done for centuries before them… The social status symbol of extravagance, of the upper class was transferred into conspicuous consumption by the middle classes. What you could afford to buy marked your social status… The entire industrialized world became a a mass of religious materialists… religion nearly disappeared from society. The poison of mass *Hedonis*m destroyed and wiped out thousands of years of ethnic and national cultures as if they had never existed… This was all thanks to the great boon of industrialized mass manufacturing and the creation of mass consumption and .the creation of billions of dehumanized drones who have lost all character and uniqueness and become faceless masses of Hedonistic zombies.

Why is Civilization so Evil?

One basic reason why civilization is evil is due to its pyramidal-hierarchical structure and the overpopulation of cramming millions of people into cities; its is based on adversarial relationships… Tribes, clans fighting each other for the same territory Nations fighting each other, corporations fighting each other, religions fighting each other. Too many people fighting for the same dollar, the same house, the same job. People forced to compete against each other instead of cooperating with each other…

Overpopulation is directly connected to Hedonism… Hedonism is directly connected to the undead. People having too many babies is because humans have no control over their sexual urges. The reason they have no control over their sexual urges is because the undead infiltrate their sexual organs and control them by controlling their sex drives. That is why the undead need to be killed.

What is absent from civilization is Love. Civilization is a mechanical horror empty of Love. It does not have to be like this. The problem is the new civilization am describing has never existed. The reason it has never existed is because of the undead. The problem with this book is comparison… How can any modern reader understand what I have written and explained without any comparison to base it on? Even to understand and compare what exists now to the past requires an extensive knowledge of human history, and most people have absolutely no knowledge of history.

What I am trying to describe is a state of existence and Life that is not based on Hedonism. That is like trying to explain color to someone born blind, or trying to explain music to someone who was born deaf. I know what is possible because I have reached levels of awareness and understanding and intelligence that no human before me has ever reached… and I have barely opened the door to what it can be, because the undead have done everything they could to poison and control and suppress the natural development of my abilities and intrinsic talents as much as possible.

Why is Civilization so Evil?

I will now explain what does not exist yet. I will explain what can exist. I will explain what and how humans are naturally designed to function logically and rationally.

The human animal, in order to function naturally as it is designed to, must be integrated… This means every sensory ability humans have; all of their intrinsic abilities and potential can only be reached if all the sensory organs are integrated…

Not only that: every single organ of the human body must be integrated with every other organ of the body…

The process of integration begins with the largest organ of the human body being stimulated… that is your skin.

Your skin acts as the master integrator of all the other organs of the human body…

The largest organ of the human body energizes the 2nd largest organ of the human body… and the 3rd largest, and the 4th largest and so on down the line…

But this stimulation must be done properly and naturally…

What this natural stimulation of all the organs of your body does, provided it happens properly and naturally… sensitizes every organ in your body to stimulation…

This makes you more aware of everything…

It makes you aware of everything inside yourself and everything outside yourself

Why is Civilization so Evil?

151

Begin with the largest organ your skin; When your skin is properly and naturally stimulated and energized, it energizes your 2nd largest organ; which is your brain… Which processes everything your skin is aware of inside itself and outside itself and your other sensory organs. Not your lungs, because they are mostly empty sacs filled with air.

Your brain then energizes the 3rd largest organ: your heart; which tells you how you feel emotionally about everything inside yourself and outside yourself.

What happens is a descending process of energization of all the organs of the body going downward until you end up with the last and lowest organ of your body: your genitals all being interconnected with each other in a logical priority of awareness and feedback.

In this process, beginning at birth: the human animal grows and by growing learns, and by learning grows…

Beginning at birth… the human infant becomes more aware as it grows and learns… it becomes more aware of… everything inside it and outside it. It becomes more aware of its Inner Universe and its Outer Universe…

It does this by touching and being touched. This is where and when all human development and learning and growth begins.

It becomes more aware of itself as a person, and of the outer world that is not itself.

This is the proper natural way humans are designed to grow and live…

In order for this to happen naturally, humans must grow and live naked, Without being insulated from Nature by clothes. They must feel the wind and sun and rain and heat and cold on their naked skin as much as possible and as long as possible.

Notice: this natural development of all the designed potentials and intrinsic abilities of humans does not involve any use of tools.

What happens is bio-feedback… living creatures touching other living creatures; that is positive feedback. This process of positive living feedback unlocks an infinite number of complex further developments which cannot be predicted or anticipated… This is how humans are designed to function: not by touching dead things that do not give back any feedback. This is why the original invention and use of tools was so evil, and the usage of tools has proven itself to be evil right up to the present day at an accelerating rate of the increasing danger of the total global annihilation of all Life on Earth.

The undead have been using this unconscious-subconscious tactic for thousands of years… It has grown steadily and increased until the Industrial revolution made it take off like a rocket, and ever since the 1700's it has accelerated at such an alarming speed that humans recognize its destructive effect. That is industrialized mass manufacturing and new technology being built to satisfy the consumer demand of first thousands- then millions-then billions of consumers… until that demand has become a main driving force of civilization that is unquestioned, unexamined, taken for granted…

One example is the new invention of plastics made out of oil. The pollution of these throw-away products at first was invisible… An empty plastic container thrown away, discarded, made no effect on the environment… a hundred such pieces of trash made no effect… a million pieces of plastic trash made no effect… a billion pieces of plastic trash still made no effect… a trillion pieces of plastic trash still made no effect… but when the volume of plastic products reached a trillion trillion squared (That's a trillion times a trillion) they became a nuisance… but when it was multiplied by 3 times… a trillion times a trillion times a trillion, they became a global ecological disaster, killing and poisoning and destroying countless living creatures and eco-systems until now, by 2025 there will be more plastic in the oceans than there are fish…

During all this increase in the use and discarding of plastic, there was no question of it being used. It was simply cheaper and more convenient than other ways to mass produce anything. Even though it is actually more expensive to make than other materials. It takes 5 lbs of oil to produce 1 lb of plastic. The cost of that mass manufacturing has been hidden and covered up. The plastics industry, together with the oil industry, gained a monopoly over their respective markets and have held an invisible iron grip over their dominance and control ever since. The fallacy, the lie, that plastics are cheaper and better than other alternatives is a universally held religious belief by everyone except a few rare researchers who have been ignored and silenced.

When given a choice between polluting the Earth with plastic and giving up their plastic containers; it is a no brainer; plastic wins every time over the ecological health of the entire planet, Consumers care about what they consume, and their personal self-gratifying addictions and .preferences; nothing else.
The bottom line is that civilization is openly and obviously polluting and destroying all eco systems on earth, and for what? To make the lives of consumers slightly easier and more convenient… Do humans question this? Does it bother them? No!! Why? Because the basic premise of Hedonism: making their lives easier is the global secular religion of civilization. Anything that makes their lives harder or more difficult is rejected and opposed universally by everyone.

As a result of this thousand of years of unconscious-subconscious brainwashing of hedonism, there is no effort to reverse the industrialized "benefits" or "advantages" of mass manufacturing and technology. Everything that is easier or more convenient is instantly invented, sold and bought. The entire drive of civilization's technology is to make everything easier and more convenient. The ancient fable of the snake tempting Eve with an apple is true. Except the snake are the undead, and they have been successfully leading humans into temptation for millions of years. Now, in the last century, the evil of their temptations have metastasized and exploded into global ecological disasters.

At first it was the miracle of having water at your fingertips… just turn a spout and voila! Then came hot water at your fingertips… The temptations of the internet are almost infinite. At first people hade to go to a cinema to watch movies, then they could stay home and watch a few channels on their TV… Now the internet has billions of web sites and videos at your fingertips that you can watch for free… The temptations of becoming a passive spectator, sitting on your ass, doing nothing, isolating yourself from the world outside your computer prison has created a generation of insane freaks totally disconnected from reality.

All of consumer society is one huge mass of temptations; a smorgasbord of alluring temptations, so if you don't like one kind, there thousands of other kinds of temptations to lure you in and addict you. Apart from living in a cave in the desert like John the Baptist, there is no way you can escape the corrupting influence of hedonism in civilization on your life.

Modem mechanized consumer civilization has done is that it has dehumanized the masses so they can live without love without noticing they have been turned into brain dead, heart dead zombies. Love no longer exists in civilization. Instead sex is called love. Whatever love does exist is quickly extinguished and poisoned and ruined by the undead. All true happiness is not allowed to exist by the undead. The undead attack and poison and violate and ruin the lives of all humans who dare to be happy.

This is why they must be exterminated and killed and destroyed completely.

Until living humans recognize the existence of the undead and understand that they are all without exception evil, these filthy foul cunning, hiding, rotting, insane entities will continue to wreak as much havoc and evil that they can. For that to happen, all good people must come together and recognize who are evil and kill them and kill them and kill them until all evil people are killed dead.

Humans must learn to be aware of every single evil and nip them in the bud before it can spread. That is impossible in Hedonistic civilization because all humans who practice hedonism are puppets of the undead and therefore are evil.

There is only one way to tell the difference between someone who is evil and who is not evil. The only people who are good are those who kill evil people.

Only good people have the humanity to recognize what is evil only people who are not controlled by the undead can kill evil people. Only people who are good want to kill evil people/

If you do not want to kill evil people then you are evil yourself because evil controls your sense of right and wrong.

That is the only way to define the difference between good and evil.
The fight, the war between good and evil is a fight between who kills who. It is a war.
It is a fight to the death.
Either you fight and kill evil or it will kill you.

Evil has no mercy no humanity no decency, No honesty no truth

Evil is cunning
Evil twists and turns everything around Evil is based on deception
Evil is based on lies
Evil people are cowards
Evil people are insane

Understand This:

Why is Civilization so Evil?

156

The Toleration of evil itself is evil

If good people did not tolerate evil there would be no evil to begin with. The problem is humans are born into a world that is already permeated with evil and filled with evil, and very few people mature enough and develop their critical thinking and expand their awareness enough to become aware that there is even such a thing as evil… And even then, by the time they become aware of evil they are too old to do anything about it. And even if they become aware of evil at an earlier age, they have no real idea of where that evil comes from or what it really is, or how to fight it… This book is written to correct these deficiencies.
The designed function of humans is to make friends with all living creatures on Earth… why? Because in this way they will come together, they will come closer together than they ever have… without harming each other.

All the galaxies in the Universe are vacuum cleaners that gather up all the solid energy in Space and concentrating it into a compressed form of stars concentrated in the center of these galaxies… They are doing a very crude function of assembling all solid Energy together as closely as possible

The Universe designed humans to do this also… why? Because the Universe is coming together. Humans are doing what the Universe is doing, except on a much more sensitive level.

Because of the undead: Humans have come together in huge cities with millions of people living closely together, but this is an abomination of coming together. In actuality these millions of people live together as total strangers. They are isolated and insulated from each other by the undead in order to insure that they never really come together as friends.

This is why the life and teachings of Jesus the man was so revolutionary. He taught people to come together and make friends with each other and in so doing: love each other… His teachings were poisoned. What was invented was a bunch of unrealistic garbage… You cannot instantly love someone before you get to know them better and make friends with them. You should NEVER love your enemies because your enemies will only repay that love with more evil.

The natural progression of coming together is first making friends, and then growing to love them. This is what humans are designed to do.

Civilization prevents this from happening.
The undead prevent this from happening.
Everywhere there is a possibility of people making friends with each other and loving each other is poisoned, ruined and destroyed by the undead
Because they know this is the greatest danger to their filthy evil continued existence.
Only when all humans are aware of the evil filthy ghouls of the undead and only when they become sensitive and aware and intelligent to notice the interventions and violations of the undead into their lives, can they defeat the goals of the undead and come together and make friends with each other and ultimately grow to love each other.

The concept of love has been poisoned by the undead. They have poisoned it with the idea that love should be unconditional. That you should overlook all the faults and sins and crimes of whoever you love and still blindly love them… this is totally evil. It allows evil people to continue to commit evil and escape all punishment and justice.

Whenever anyone does something evil regardless if you love them of not: they should be held accountable and punished for their sins and crimes. This almost never happens, people escape all responsibility for their actions. This is because the undead protect ALL evildoers as much as possible. This is why there is no justice and no love and no truth in civilization; the undead are responsible for all the evil ever committed and being committed and will be committed on this Earth. That is why they must be killed dead and utterly destroyed and obliterated from the face of this earth.

One thing the undead are constantly doing is reversing the natural order… females turned into males, males turned into females, white is black, black is white, truth turned into lies, lies turned into truths… the source of all this evil are the undead: that is why they must be killed and destroyed completely and utterly.

What the civillizational culture of Hedonism has done is that it has created the universal attitude that it is okay to kill, pollute and destroy all other living creatures on Earth except humans. Only human life is sacred… all other Life is dispensable and only valued as far as it can satisfy the Hedonistic whims, addictions, appetites and abominations of consumer culture. This is because hedonism is devoid of all morals and ethics. There are campaigns to "save the whales" or "save the rainforests", but destroying and killing other forests, and other species is simply ignored. The industrialization of mass killing and butchery is hidden away from the eyes of the consumer so they ignore it because the only thing that is important is feeding their appetite for the dead flesh of animals and fish. If children were allowed to see what goes on inside these industrialized death factories, they would never eat meat again… but they are not allowed to. They are fed all kinds of mass manufactured toxic substances without any question as to whether it is healthy or not. Satisfying the consumer's whims and tastes is all that is important regardless of all other considerations.

The global civillizational culture of Hedonism has created the insanity and evil of billions and trillions of animals and fish being killed every year just to satisfy the taste buds of consumers… while one death of a human is a tragedy.

The global culture of modern Hedonism is based on the sacred belief that you can buy anything you want. Consumer choice is hailed as a great freedom, except when it comes to important things like your wages or job security, or your child's education or the laws that are passed, or what policies, agendas and priorities your government should follow. That is how the undead have brainwashed the masses. Give them bread and circuses while keeping the real power under the control of criminal cabals who are in turn controlled by the undead. Keep the real power: the govt, the police, the military, the law courts, the judges under the control of evil humans who are totally controlled by the undead while the masses pursue their goals of affluence, pleasure and ease… but only as poisoned, ignorant, dumbed down paranoid conformist sheep; thus making any possibility of a revolution or uprising by the lower classes virtually impossible. Hedonism and consumerism are the same thing: they do the same thing; they are motivated by the same base goals.

There is no difference between consumerism and Hedonism. The entire global industrialized manufacture and selling of products is based on satisfying the tastes and whims of consumers. Not only that; it is based on continually inventing new gadgets and things and convincing consumers that they can't live without them… and to what end? Does all this mass manufacturing and selling and buying make people any healthier? Any more intelligent? More educated? Wiser? More humane? More loving? Kinder? More aware? More cultured? No. It does the opposite. It turns people into materialistic pigs. It makes them stupid, lazy, arrogant, selfish, ignorant.

What Hedonism has done is that it has destroyed all Logic and Truth: anything that goes against the hedonism of civilization is ignored, discounted, buried or censored.

What Hedonistic civilization has done is that it has progressively and increasingly separated humans from Nature and Reality, until now a huge sector of the masses are totally disconnected and divorced from the real world. Instead they exist in the 2-dimensional world of I-phones, computer screens, TV's, texting devices, mass media and mass brainwashing and mass lies. They are protected from reality from the cradle to the grave by the artificial womb they exist inside; namely hedonistic civilization.
To make you understand how far back the undead have poisoned living humans; you need to know this:

Humans were not designed to touch dead things.
Humans are designed to touch living creatures

And living plants and trees.

The undead reversed this: by luring humans into making tools and using tools to kill with… By working with dead stones and dead bones; humans stopped touching living things… They only touched animals after they had killed them… That was what made humans evil… They were made evil by the undead poisoning and violating their lives and reversing their natural designed functions. The undead always do this… they always reverse everything that is natural and good… they have done it for millions, if not billions of years: that is why they must be killed dead.

Over 2,000 years ago, the Greek philosophers tried to make sense of the world they lived in… for over 2,000 years philosophers tried to find some meaning in human life… they all failed. Why? Because they did not try to find meaning in human Life… They tried to find meaning in human civilized life. They did not take the meaning of human life out of the context of civilization; and because of that; because civilization is meaningless; after 2,500 years of philosophical thought; they found that Human life was also meaningless.

Now today: philosophy does not exist anymore. The time when people tried to find some meaning in their lives has disappeared, along with all education and intelligence needed to even address the question of the meaning of Life. The reason for this is because Hedonism has replaced all meaning and all intelligence.

When one looks at the history of over 2,000 years of philosophy in perspective; it is just as mad and irrational as the history of religion for over 4,000 years. Religion was also a way to find meaning in human Life, and when you look at the history of all religions over thousands of years in perspective; the only conclusion you can come to is that they were all wrong... In the same perspective when you look at all the philosophies ever devised, the one conclusion you can come to is that they were all wrong.

Why is Civilization so Evil?

Every single religion and philosophy ever invented claimed to have found the answer to the meaning of human life and to the world we live in has been debunked… Likewise, science has tried to make sense of the world and the Universe for 2,000 years and all its discoveries and claims and theories and hypotheses were all wrong.

There is a reason they were all wrong; that reason is the undead. The undead cannot allow or afford to let humans develop their true intrinsic potentials of: love: kindness: sensitivity; empathy: intuition: instinct; intelligence: wisdom: logic: insight: health: sanity.

Because if that happens: humans will kill the undead and wipe them out of existence.

A perfect example of the Hedonism of civilization can be found in internet platforms like YouTube. Their videos are rated depending on how many likes and dislikes they get… not if they are true or not.

Truth is not important in a civilization based on Hedonism. What is important is satisfying whatever personal whims or tastes, whatever gratifies the consumer's personal prejudices and lowest urges and addictions. Everything in civilization is geared to please and satisfy consumers…

What for? To what end? So the human species can consume and pollute and destroy the entire earth? And uses up all of its resources until there are none left?

The point is Hedonistic human civilization gives nothing back: it only takes, ruins, pollutes, kills and destroys… It dos that because civilization was invented by the undead so they could use their puppets: living humans to destroy all Life on Earth.

The entire mechanization of civilization is based on Hedonism: The assumption is: "Ah! If a machine can do what I had to do manually then it must be better!" Using machines as mechanical slaves is Hedonism. The concept of slavery itself is based on Hedonism. Using a human slave to do work for you so you don't have to do the work is Hedonism. Because civilization was invented and founded and born and based on the principle of Hedonism: very few people in civilization have ever asked the question: Is this the right thing to do? Is it the moral thing to do? Is it the ethical thing to do? Is this good or bad for me? Is this good or bad for society? Is this healthy or unhealthy?

Hedonism wipes out all intelligent questions that are never asked and never dealt with. It wipes out all morality and ethics. That is why the history of civilization has been one long slide into worse and worse degradation, abominations, insanities, evils, horrors and degeneration. In fact hedonism wipes out all questioning of anything. Billions of humans have lived their lives from cradle to grave for thousands of years without questioning anything. Hedonism effectively makes you brain dead. It keeps humans as unaware as possible. It narrows their awareness down to the lowest level of the pursuit of pleasure and ease and blocks out everything else.

You can see the effects of civilization's Hedonism in the destruction of the family unit and the loss of family values… Get married? Have children?... That's to much trouble. That involves giving and sharing and trusting and understanding… it's much easier to be selfish, please only yourself and live alone. The negative birthrate of industrialized nations is the result of hedonism, and it spells the extinction of humans as an industrialized civilization. Only 3rd world countries have positive birthrates. This is inevitable because hedonism is self-destructive. All older civilizations have rotted and gone extinct because of this. 70% of Americans are obese because of their consumer culture Too much ease and affluence is unhealthy and evil.

What you need to understand is that civilization is a mirror of the undead. The undead stage events in civilization, and play them out according to their evil insane plans… the undead invented the stage to stage out plays that mirrored their own evil… in the first staged plays that were invented by the Greeks over 2,500 years ago, all the players wore masks: representing undead entities of the underworld.

For over 2,500 years, the undead improved their deceptions and ways of Brainwashing the masses… For 2,000 years the profession of actors and these staged plays were considered to be the lowest, most debauched dregs of Humanity… The reputation of these staged plays, however were revived, until now they are considered to be one of the pillars of human culture… You cannot understand the evil of acting and staged plays and movies and shows unless you look at the entire history of their existence and especially their birth: when they were first invented, and how and why, and what they were… Everything in civilization today mirrors the evil of the undead…

Every insane surveillance system, from facial recognition used by the Chinese totalitarian govt, to recording all the internet traffic by the American NHS, to satellites in space that can see everything on Earth mirrors the surveillance and spying on living humans that the undead have done for millions of years… They use the eyes of other species to spy on living humans… from pets to birds, to farm animals, to familiars, to other people who are totally under their control… They are responsible for every new invention from pesticides to toxic chemicals to MRNA poisons deadly injections to chemtrails to 5G towers… People are understandably confused by this attack on their Humanity, on their freedoms, on their rights because it is coming from so many directions, from so many sources all at the same time; they cannot possibly make sense of it all, unless you understand the true source of all this. Trying to identify all this as being "satanic' or from some unseen source of evil is correct. But you the reader of this cannot even begin to comprehend the true scope of the all-pervasive existence of the undead, and in how many evil cunning ways they have penetrated the souls of living humans to the extent that they can control their thoughts and emotions and actions at certain times which they carefully stage and play out… Only I : Indrek Pringi have been able to uncover the true extent of their evil after over 70 years of being poisoned by them and delving into the reasons why my life was so damaged through no fault of my own…

They know that once I reach their realm of the undead, I will kill them all… so they are stuck between a rock and a hard place. They don't dare kill me now because that would mean their own death… on the other hand, the longer I live, the more I can expose them and spread the truth about them. They fear me for good reason… my teaching of them is also a text on how to kill them yourself:

First and most important: do not go into their false light…
That is a lure to get you sucking into the vortex. The vortex is a huge funnel that sucks dying souls into a maelstrom of insanity and dismembers them into pieces. It makes the energy of these souls usable by the undead as a reservoir that they an use to commit their foul abominations.

Second do not trust anything that you perceive or feel or see when you pass over to their realm. They have countless ways to deceive and fool you. They can appear to you as an omnipotent god or angels or terrifying powerful demon. Don't believe any of it,,, Give them no warning of your intentions. Do not react to them at all….

Just get close as you can to any of them and kill them without warning. If you can grab hold of one of them: do not believe anything that they turn into… They can turn into a dragon or a fish or a snake: ignore that. Just kill them dead.

You will find yourself suddenly alone with a dead corpse or a dead skeleton… All of the other undead will have instantly disappeared from sight… you will find yourself alone in their realm….

Then you can start hunting them down…. Then you will find the hiding in crevices, behind walls, inside the bodies of living people… they will be in all shapes and sizes… They will have strange evasive abilities… They will be able to switch from on hiding place to another instantly…

165

That is when you need to be patient… you need to pretend to do somewhere else… and then come back to one of their habitual hiding places… They always come back to their habitual hiding places…

The instant they do that grab them and do not let go until they are dead, until you have killed them dead….

You will be able to do this over and over again because the undead do not learn anything new… You will get better and better at hunting them down and killing them dead…

This Is Very Important To Understand

Understand this: With every undead you kill: that will give you the power to kill even MORE undead, because you will absorb their dying energy into your being…. That will give you the ability to hunt down and kill even more powerful evil entities… The more undead you kill: the more powerful you will become and the more unstoppable you will become. You will become an invincible killer of evil undead….

That is why they fear me so much because they know that is what is going to happen once I pass into their realm… But one soul is not enough to kill all of them… I need hundreds, thousands like me who will also kill them dead. That is why I am educating you: the reader of this, so you can become an avenging angel of death to the undead until all of them are killed dead.

These foul monsters have killed billions and billions of innocent living souls; Their time is now over. Their Karmic fate has finally arrived.
They have managed to avoid their fate for thousands of years: not any more.

The undead reveal themselves all the time, thinking no one will understand. They think their revealings will never be exposed and explained or uncovered. Take for example the song by Sting.

Why is Civilization so Evil?

166
"Every step you take Every move you make I'll be watching you"

"Oh can't you see
You belong to me"

First his fake name describes how the undead penetrate and violate living humans: They sting them by inserting their poisonous presence into living bodies.
Second: The undead are watchers. That is all they do… until or unless something happens that activates them, like the possibility of love being expressed or a possibility of a living human becoming too intelligent, too healthy, too aware.

Third: The undead "own" the bodies they violate. The living person is not aware that he or she is owned and belongs to an undead entity hiding inside them. They are not aware that they are being watched and monitored and controlled more effectively than any slave being owned by a human… Humans enslaving other humans is a mirror of the undead using living humans as controlled slaves. Every evil humans do in civilization is a mirror of what the undead do in their realm and what they do to living humans.

The entire history of civilization has been defined by Hedonism… Humans spread all over the globe by water because traveling by land is more difficult. The result was and is: areas that are not accessible by water remained unexplored and undeveloped, while areas accessible by water became highly populated and developed. Every choice humans have taken in the history of civilization has been the easier one.

The entire history of civilization is a cacophony of personal interests, motives, goals and dogmas. The reason small radial elements have been able to change the course of history and become powerful is because the great mass of humans operate also on the basis of their personal interests, without believing in or adhering to any particular political or religious or social beliefs or dogmas.

These dogmas like the Marxists dogma, or the anarchist dogma, or the neo-con dogma of the present US white house, or the British and European globalists dogmas of the 18th and 19th and 20th century only exist because of the vacuum,, the total lack of any moral-ethical values held by humans. If humans ever develop a set of universal morals and ethics: no small radical group could ever take over power from them. Humans would clearly see these irrational radical dogmas as threatening their set of morals and ethics, But they don't have any. That is why the world is as it is now. People just do not care about morals or ethics. Fanatics are always more influential than the conformist sheep of the great unwashed masses.

The result of no ethics and no morals is 8 ½ billion people lying to each other, stealing from each other, deceiving each other. The result is mass greed; lying, cheating and stealing for money; and you wonder why things always get worse instead of better? Every former human identity has been eroded, degraded, or wiped out by consumerism. People no longer identify themselves by religion, nationality, ethic race, community, or language. Instead they identify by what kind of car they own, what hobbies or pastimes or personal interests they have. This is how the Hedonism of civilization is systematically destroying itself. All the foundations civilization was founded on are crumbling. History is being wiped out. The entire past of civilized existence is being rewritten and redefined to suit certain spoiled babies who insist on having their fantasies replace tradition, culture, etc.

Even sexual identity is being abominated by the undead: Here it is because of direct violation of the undead poisoning the bodies and minds of children. I have personally experienced the attempt of the undead to poison my sexuality.

What creates evil in people? How they were raised and not raised: In other words parental neglect and abuse. Why do parents fail to take proper care of their children? Because the unspoken sacred tenet of Hedonism is your own personal pleasure and leisure is more important than your children. Taking care of your children is too much trouble, it takes ti much time and dedication and effort and caring. Better to pursue your own interests than pay attention to your children

So now we come to this nebulous, vague thing that people never speak about: morality and ethics… What is morality and ethics?

They are principles and values that you live by, and if necessary die for.
This means everything you do and do not do is defined by them…
And guided by them.

But then you say everyone may have a different set of morals and ethics… who's to say which one is right?

Wrong

There is only one set of morals and ethics that is right. The different cultures and religions and dogmas of civilization, based on myth, legend, superstition, tradition, etc. are all wrong because they were all invented by the undead to poison all human understandings on what is right and wrong.

The one right set of morals and ethics is Universal and Logical.
Meaning there are no exceptions to it, and it must make perfect logical sense.
The universal morality and ethics that cannot be refuted is simple and logical:

Everything that connects is good. Everything that separates is evil

Everything that creates life, supports life, nurtures life is good.

Everything that creates death, supports death, nurtures death is evil

Everything that is dead should not be touched

Why is Civilization so Evil?

169
Everything that is living should be touched

This means that humans can no longer view themselves as an exceptional species, that their lives are any more valuable or important than any other living creatures right down to the microbial bacteria that life evolved out of to create a vast interconnected network of natural beauty.

Humans have no right to kill anything. Period.
Killing is evil except when you kill evil.

But you say all species kill each other and eat each other…
That is because they were led into paths of evil by the undead when Life first began.

Remember… the undead have existed ever since the first living thing died physically and left a decomposing vestige of itself with an afterlife that was longer than its physical life. It did not have to happen that way… The entire history of Life and its evolution has been deliberately poisoned by undead evil. The reason species have gone extinct is because they did not do their designed function; which is to advance Life and spread Life: not kill and eat and hate and fear. Once you understand that the natural order of nature is and was unnatural from the very beginning, you will understand not to give any authority or reliance on how Nature works. LIFE does not need to be sustained and grow and spread by killing and eating each other, or by killing and eating other species.

Civilization is based on negative power; only a criminal wants to have power over others Understand This: the very urge, the desire for power over others is criminal. Anyone who wants power is a criminal. No honest person wants power over others; only criminals do.

Civilization is a criminal construct because it is based on pyramidal power. The accumulation of power at the top of any pyramidal structure or organization is negative and evil… Then there is money. Money is based on Hedonism; It offers the lure of buying anything you want. The very concept of buying and selling is evil. It originated from the buying and selling of human slaves. All buying and selling is evil. All money is evil.

What is positive power? Positive power is the power of LIFE. Every living thing grows because it has positive power. It does not try or want to have power over any other living thing. Its power is its own power of LIFE. Only the lowest forms of life fight for resources and that is only because they are over populated; they do not space themselves out. The fight for limited resources is not a fight to gain power over any other living creature.

More evolved living creatures learned to establish boundaries between them so they could co-exist peacefully. Only when those boundaries are violated is there any fighting, and mostly it is one of intimidation, not actual physical violence

The undead have used the same cunning tactic of Hedonism for millions of years; the first sin in the bible was the sin of pleasure. The undead have offered pleasure to living humans for millions of years and corrupted them by it and controlled them by it. Why is pleasure so evil? Because people choose sex over Love. That is why. Instead of immediate pleasure, if humans chose to love each other first; the world would not be so filled with sins and sexual perversions and the undead would not be able to control living humans.

How do the undead manage to do this?
By controlling the lowest organs of the human body: the genitals; the most unintelligent instinct and the most powerful instinct of the human species.

Once they can control your sexual urges
Once you have no control over your sexual urges
You are their slave, their controlled puppet forever.

Another thing Hedonism did was instead of fighting for moral and ethical values and principle: humans fought and killed each other for booty, raping and pillaging. It turned all human conflict into a corrupt mass of pure evil. That is just one abomination the undead are responsible for by funneling all human motives into the motives of hedonism. The common claim that this is just human nature; that it is natural for humans to be Hedonistic imbeciles only interested in their own selfish personal concerns is a stinking lie. It is not human nature; it is not natural: it is unnatural and it only exists because the undead have been poisoning the lives and bodies and minds and genitals and hearts of living human beings for millions of years.

The reason the world is in such a mess today is simple. 8 ½ billion people only care about their own personal pleasures and ease: they are not aware and are not interested in what is going on in the world, in fact they don't give a fuck what is happening around the world because their entire belief systems is based on the corrupt principles of Hedonism.

It is that simple. Trying to get people to be interested or care about anything but their own personal concerns is literally impossible because almost everyone is programmed to care only about their own personal pleasure and ease. All of civilization is based on this unethical immoral doctrine and secondly; it is engrained in the fabric of civilization so deeply that it is an unconscious belief. It is never spoken of, and even if it is pointed out: it is laughed at or totally disregarded and ignored.

The undead have corrupted living humans for millions of years by this cunning tactic. By offering the lures of making their lives easier and more affluent, By introducing spiced food, alcoholic beverages, coffee, and mow am entire panoply of legalized and illegal addictive poisonous drugs. By offering them free circuses like TV, the internet, I-phones etc. Everything from indoor plumbing to electricity to cars… by building huge shopping centers where the brainwashed hedonistic masses go to buy whatever pleases them, civilization effectively corrals the entire human species simply because it offers no other alternative but to pursue personal ease, pleasure and personal self-gratification. There is nothing else people can choose as an alternative to hedonism inside civilization.

That is why John the Baptist left civilization to live in a cave… But… he was the only person to realize how evil all of civilization is, but nobody followed him. One person realizing the evil of civilization is not enough. All humans must realize it if civilization is to be changed from evil to Good.

Even the societies of insects are organized. The society of ants is organized to insure the health and survival of their society as a whole. Because ants are more intelligent than humans, they all work together for the greater good; not each ant pursuing its own selfish desires of Hedonism. Compared to insects like ants: the society of civilized humans is a madhouse. Each human insect scrambling around, totally unaware and uncaring of all the other billions of human insects who are scrambling in pursuit of their own personal pleasure and ease… If humans became as organized and intelligent as ants, they could solve all their problems and stop all the polluting of the world and the destruction of Nature in a single year, but they can't because inside every human resides the evil, foul, cunning filthy undead who make sure nothing positive is ever achieved and no human ever gains enough knowledge about the evil of the undead…. Except me: Indrek Pringi.

I am the first living human to delve into the scope and cunning and history of evil which the undead keep hidden and buried from the living. I am the only living human to discover their existence and how they operate and collude and work together to constantly create the worst evil they can.

Until living humans become as intelligent as ants. Until humans organize their society as intelligently as ants. Until humans realize and understand the evils of hedonism. Until living humans are educated and informed about the undead that hide inside them and all around them. Until living humans come together in one organized intelligent society and hunt down these filthy foul despicable cunning pieces of rotting shit and kill them all dead dead dead: humans will continue to be the unwitting slaves and puppets of these shit turd things and they will continue to unconsciously obey their puppet masters and destroy all life on earth without realizing that they are doing it

Why is Civilization so Evil?

Understand this:

The undead use living humans as tools to commit as much evil as possible

That is why living humans began using tools because they were being used as tools by the undead.

They unconsciously reflected what was being done to them by doing the same thing to other living creatures and the living earth what was being done to them; the clinical term for that is projection.

Civilization is a reflection of undead evil it is their invention; it is the product of the undead poisoning living humans for millions of years. Civilization is a projection of evil. Humans; poisoned and controlled by the undead project the evil of the undead out into and onto the Natural world.

The perfect poster boy for Hedonism is Hunter Biden… all upper class elites suffer the same slide into degeneracy. Ruling classes have been the examples for the lower classes ever since sedentary civilization began. The very term: sedentary should tell you how corrupt and evil the origins of civilization is. The assumption that you have the right or freedom to do whatever you like is evil. The result is obvious: 8 ½ billion insane human insects scurrying around the planet all bent on their little personal concerns that are all motivated by the pursuit of pleasure and ease.

Understand this: personal happiness is a fraud. Personal happiness is a hoax. Personal happiness is a lie. You cannot be truly happy if everyone else around you is not also happy. That is why the American constitution is also a fraud. The idea of pursuing happiness contains in it, the assumption that each individual has something different that makes them happy.

That happiness can be found in playing the violin or collecting stamps or playing sports. It assumes that each individual can find happiness regardless of the overall happiness of the society they live in. The point is; that the pursuit of happiness is only a thinly veiled legitimism of Hedonism. It is only a thinly veiled legitimism of avarice and greed. It is only legitimizing the motive to get rich; it infers the rich upper classes as being “happy”.

It suggests that the richer you are, the happier you are. This is the holy grail of hedonism that all the poor people strive for, ignoring the truth that the only reason they are poor is because a tiny elite are so filthy rich, they have stolen most of the wealth and left nothing for the great majority. The result is the rat race of millions and billions trying to make a living, trying to make a profit, when all the profits and wealth have been already cornered by the ruling elite. That is the rigged game of crony capitalism, and they have made it a point tp smear and demonize all forms of socialism and reform so the masses never wake up and realize they have been lied to and robbed by a tiny sect of evil, filthy rich kleptocrats who can easily be killed and exterminated if they ever do wake up. Hedonism is the unspoken sacred religion, the carrot at the end of the unattainable stick that keeps the masses striving for their personal goals without ever organizing together against their rulers because each set of personal hedonistic motives and goals are different.

The evil of Hedonistic civilization is a vicious cycle: the masses cannot afford to have any code of ethics or morals because they are constantly struggling just to live, while the ruling elite flaunt their Hedonism and wealth and degeneracy with impunity; giving the masses the only example there is, the only example to follow; the only goal they can hope to achieve; which is pure self-indulgent Hedonism. Because Hedonistic civilization is pyramidally structured; this vicious cycle is intrinsic to its nature. The top few lord it over the greater masses, while the weight itself of this huge pyramid structure crushes those at the bottom without anything ever changing or improving. The farther down on the pyramid you are, the more you are crushed and oppressed, the higher up you are the less you are oppressed and crushed. The only alternative that exists to avoid poverty and oppression is to get higher up in the pyramid. This pyramid of power and wealth and degeneracy and evil was invented and created by the undead to keep humans forever under their thumb. By corrupting the upper classes; the undead use them to control and oppress and corrupt the lower classes, until all of Humanity is corrupted: which is what is exists now.

For untold thousands of years, humans slaved and toiled to build these useless piles of dead stones called pyramids. To what end? What practical use are they? None. These useless piles of dead rock are merely a sign of the total domination of the undead over the living. The undead managed to make living humans waste all of their lives, all of their time, all of their resources, all of their economies into these filthy, stupid pointless piles of dead shit for thousands of years. Think of it! For thousands of years, living humans were obsessed over piling up mountains of dead stone… what practical use were they? They had no use. Except to waste millions of human lives on this insane meaningless labor. What were they used for?... human sacrifice.

In 1487, 5 years before Columbus discovered America; the Aztec people sacrificed as many as 84,000 men, women and children at the re-consecration of the great pyramid of Tenochtitlan.

The building of pyramids for thousands of years is a sign of how completely the undead control human civilizations. The sign of the stone pyramids represents the entire Pyramidality of human society and civilization… it is unnatural: humans are not designed to live inside a huge piled up populations on top of each other. They are designed to live in Nature and with Nature: not outside of it, not inside an artificial womb that isolates them from Nature and alienates them from all other living creatures.

These pyramids are universally revered and glorified and worshiped and obsessed over, as a testament to what? How long they have managed to last? I've got news for you…. Mountains last longer than pyramids… mountains are much larger than pyramids… you don't need to build them; they already exist. Man made mountains of stone are a sick pathetic joke. Trying to vie with Nature over how large a pile of dead rocks can be piled up? Mountains are solid rock; there is no comparison. The very idea of trying to copy a mountain artificially is insane. What is left of these rotting piles of dead stone is a testament to the insanity of the human species, and that insanity is a result of the undead poisoning living humans and turning them into insane, deranged maniacs for thousands of years.

Another obvious proof of the undead invading the bodies of all living humans is their inability to control their sexual urges… Why would the most intelligent animal on earth be unable to control their genitals…Eh?

For thousands of years this evil of rape has been documented. The undead embed themselves in the genitals of the living to poison and corrupt and control them. By this filthy cunning tactic: they can and do destroy all higher awareness and intelligence which humans possess as part of their intrinsic abilities and potential to develop their higher levels of awareness.

By this single filthy cunning tactic: the undead successfully turn living humans into unfeeling, callous, licentious brutes, and use them to commit as much horrific violence and evil as possible. No other species exhibits this kind of inability to control themselves sexually. Today the number of sex addicts on the internet number up to the hundreds of millions. This explosion of sickness and evil is being ignored. Nobody thinks it is a serious problem. This is because the basic hedonism of civilization supports and enables this culture of instant sexual self-gratification and turns a blind eye to it. The minority who have a modicum or moral and ethical outrage are vastly outnumbered by the masses who just don't give a shit. It is just one more obvious sign and symptom of the undead cunningly poisoning and corrupting living humans on a mass scale of billions of living victims. The moral tale of Adam and Eve and the snake in the garden of Eden is still relevant and applies to everyone today. Sex is not something to be used merely for pleasure! Hedonism condones this and regards it as being "natural"; which it is not. It is the result of being born in a civilization based on Hedonism and being programmed to believe that all pleasure is harmless!... Except a few illegal drugs… not legal ones. This kind of hypocrisy and hair splitting is the norm for Hedonistic civilizations. It is why people cannot make any sense of the societies they live in. there are too many obvious contradictions and hypocrisies for them to believe anything that is told them. The response is believing in nothing… nihilism: the insane conclusion that nothing means anything… that everything is meaningless and insane.

Even ants have societies that are more organized than humans… look at the trillions of videos on YouTube… try to find anything they have in common with each other… there isn't. That is just one example of the insanity of mass Hedonism. It fragments society into hundreds of thousands, millions of niche interests. Billions of Hedonistic human insects with nothing in common with each other, nothing they agree about, and nothing they share with each other except their addiction to the internet: that evil web designed by the undead to bind them all into the immobility of mass spectatorship, staring at flat screens.

What has the unspoken, unconscious brainwashed civillizational culture of mass Hedonism done?? It has created the unspoken culture of mass irresponsibility…

Billions of unhealthy people not taking care of their own health and nutrition… billions of people eating unhealthy food, billions of unhealthy people not doing any exercise… billions of people blindly brainwashed into relying on healthcare systems that are actually designed to profit from their sickness; not help them, billions of people not educating themselves about the corruption in their own govts, billions of people buying products that are toxic and poisonous to the environment and to themselves because they do not bother reading the ingredients on the labels… Now corporations are getting away without printing anything that is in their products… millions of companies and corporations irresponsibly polluting and destroying the eco-systems and living creatures of the earth in order to make an easy profit. Billions of irresponsible people ignoring an not caring about any news or facts about pollution and the destruction of the environment because it does not directly affect their hedonistic existences. Billions of people only interested in their little niche hobbies and pastimes and nothing else. The result is mass unawareness… mass brainwashing… mass ignorance… mass stupidity… mass dumbing down of the masses further and further until the entire human population becomes a mass of insane mindless brainless drones.

And what is the result? The water, the air, the food being poisoned and polluted, creating billions of people who get sick just from living inside a civilization that is based on Hedonism.

Billions of people lying to themselves and to each other, billions of people cheating and robbing each other,,, billions of dysfunctional families where parents do not bother to raise their children responsibly and are not faithful to each other, billions of divorces and unhappy miserable people from broken marriages, billions of dysfunctional children from broken families growing up to become even more irresponsible and more dysfunctional and more emotionally and mentally and physically damaged and diseased…

The rise of crime and rioting and chaos arising from the deliberate mismanagement of national economies and legal systems and laws so the ulta rich can get richer while all the rest of humanity is forced to suffer from their irresponsible governance. Wars and guerilla uprisings, people pitted against each other, hating each other, distrusting each other… all designed to keep the brainwashed masses distracted in a continual state of crisis and artificial crises are manufactured daily for the crisis-oriented human insects to react to like the Pavlovian brainwashed dogs they are.

And for what?
For Money
Profit
Personal wealth.
Greed
Avarice
Crony Capitalism

All of these obvious evils are tolerated, nay, glorified and whitewashed and excused and allowed and encouraged! As what? As the best possible social system that civilization has ever managed to invent and create. Nothing else:

no other alternative is allowed to exist. All other alternatives are demonized, smeared, derided, laughed at. Ignored… Why? Because the unspoken BASIS of:

Money
Profit
Personal wealth.
Greed
Avarice
Crony Capitalism
Is Hedonism

What has hedonism done? It has watered down all religious morals and ethics and values and principles to the point where they are worthless meaningless lip service. It poisoned and destroyed the religion of Christianity until in two world wars… millions of Christians killed each other, even though they shared the same religion…

And what was the result of these two world wars? An evil jewish Bolshevik empire spread over half of Asia and half of Europe where all religions were banned. It took 2,000 years to do this, but the Hedonism of civilization poisoned the only progressive religion that espoused voluntary poverty as the only path to spiritual happiness into an abomination of televangelists that spout the doctrine that "greed is good". Today there are no poor Christians: there are only affluent middleclass Christians who can afford to conveniently ignore their own hypocrisy while they believe in the sanctity of capitalism and greed and money as an unspoken secular belief that they practice while only paying lip service to the morals and religious ethics of Christianity..

What has the Hedonism of civilization done? It created the subculture of escapism. The escape from reality; into what? Into movies; where millions and hundreds of millions of brainwashed believers in Hedonism flock daily and weekly to lose themselves, forget themselves, forget their responsibilities in some cinematic piece of fictitious garbage that sells them lies and evil and poisons their minds. It began with the printing of books. The first books were religious tomes of morality and morality tales. Then the Hedonism of civilization took over and the world was flooded with billions of fiction books that are designed to take the reader away from reality and immerse them into a false world that never existed and never will exist.

What is the sailing and boating culture and industry? It is the escape from the realities and responsibilities of living on the land and having to work for a living and pay taxes and raise a family. What is the car culture and industry? It is the escape from reality and responsibility where suddenly you have the power to decide where you want to go, the false freedom of mobility, the false sense of mechanical power. What is the tourist culture and industry? It is the escape from responsibility and the pursuit of pleasure and ease. What is the entertainment industry and culture? It is the worship of false icons called "stars" that the masses adore. It is the escape from their hum-drum lives, it is the vicarious living through fictional characters that never existed, losing themselves in fantasies that are lies designed to brainwash the masses into believing in these lies. What is the vacation industry and culture? It is the temporary escape from responsibilities. What is the reason for mass manufacturing? So million, billions of people can enjoy the increased pleasure and ease and luxuries that come from buying these abominations of mass produced Hedonism. That were first introduced as privileged luxuries which only the filthy rich could afford, and the masses envying them their decadence sought to afford them as well. Which the rich found ways to profit by mass producing what was once a specialty, rare product.

For thousands of years the lower classes have been brainwashed to adore and revere and glorify and emulate and copy the upper classes; simply because there was no alternative to their own status. Instead of overthrowing them they have suffered under them because of the pyramidal structure of civilization.

What is the motive and drive to get rich? What drives the civillizational system of capitalism? What is the motive of avarice and greed? What is the motive to make more money? It is the rewards of Hedonism: the increase of earthly pleasure and ease. This is the unspoken, unconscious basic sacred secular religious belief that underpins everything in civilization and what drives everything that is done in civilization.

What has been the result of the crony capitalism of civilization? What has been the result of greed and the drive for profits in civilization that is based on the unspoken religion of Hedonism? It has resulted in the complete reversal of Hedonism. It has resulted in the reality where the most powerful the richest industry in civilization are the military industrial complexes that make a profit from inventing, pushing and profiting for wars all over the world. The entire world is on the brink of a nuclear world war just so the greed merchants and money merchants and war profiteers all colluding together with each other can get richer in their unconscious religious belief in Hedonism, in the little personal drives to become richer and wealthier.

What is human migration and emigration based on? It is the motive to find a better place to live by escaping from the responsibilities and problems that exist where you live to some 'better' place that does not have all those problems and responsibilities. Mass migration and mass emigration is a mass flight from responsibility. If everyone stayed where they lived and worked to improve their society instead of fleeing from it, the whole world would be a far better place to live in.

What was the first book on philosophy ever written about? It was a book of fiction; where an insane Greek fantasized about what should be the 'perfect' master-slave society should be like where all slaves knew their place and all masters were wise and not corrupted by their power and wealth. That is an impossibility.

What is the culture of the carnival? Where the masses dance in the streets with parades of insane evil figures of degeneracy walking the streets? What is the old Roman empire culture of bread and circuses? Where in order to keep the mob from rising up and killing their masters, they are fed a continuous diet of free bread and extravagant circuses and holidays and spectacles to entertain them and distract them from their miserable low-life existence. The unspoken culture of Hedonism runs throughout the history of civilization like a huge current that is ignored and never spoken of and taken for granted.

What are both the legal and illegal drug industry based on? They are based on the unspoken sacred pursuit of hedonism.

The systematic oppression and dumbing down and dehumanization and impoverishment of the masses of humanity drives them towards the goals and motives and lures of Hedonism because there is nothing else in civilization. Civilization does not offer them any other choice or alternative.

There are only two choices: poverty or Hedonism. Both are emotionally, spiritually, mentally and socially bankrupt and evil. That is why the only hope for mankind is the complete dissolution of civilization as it is now structured and a completely new civilization based on responsibilities, not rights or freedoms or privileges be founded and established.

The entire assumption that people are evil and can do evil things if given a chance is a total lie. The only reason living humans commit evil is because of the undead who hide inside them and all around them all the time…

Waiting, plotting, conspiring for every and any chance they get to commit nasty, foul, filthy, cunning, evil deeds and insert evil thoughts and evil emotions and evil urges and evil impulses into their unwitting unaware living human victims. This is why the undead must be hunted down, exposed, and killed and obliterated from the earth.

Until living humans become aware of the undead and how cunningly they operate and how evil they truly are: all living humans will continue to be the unwitting unaware, dumbed down pawns and puppets of the undead.

Why is Civilization so Evil?

This book and my previous book: The Path of Splitness is the guide and instruction manual for all future human generations to read and learn from so they can regain their intrinsic human abilities and potentials by ejecting the undead out of their bodies and minds and souls and hearts and genitals. And once they have done that: begin the Systematic killing of the undead everywhere on earth until not one of these filthy diseased rotting monsters are left alive.

Only then will living humans have the chance to live as they are designed to live and forego and abstain from all the foul evils invented and instituted by the undead.

Civilization has validated and legalized and enshrined the personal motive of self-interest and applied it to literally everything. For example: all the theories explaining human evolution have been based on self-interest… The entire history of Life on Earth the explanation used for why species behave and why species survive or go extinct is based on the eminence of self-interest being the primary motive for the behavior of every living creature and plant on Earth. All other theories and models and possible explanations have been censored out of existence. This is how the unspoken religion of Hedonism has poisoned not only science but all higher institutions of learning. But the general understanding of human nature. People have been brainwashed to believe that self-interest is normal, when it is not normal: It is a result of the brainwashing manufactured by a Hedonistic civilization that refuses to recognize any other motive. When you are born into a sewer filled with shit: you understandably assume that the shit is normal. If you ever have a chance to experience living in clean water; your entire assumptions of what is normal and what is not normal and what is good and what is evil changes your entire life and your understanding of everything. Only if you develop enough perspective and knowledge to be able to look at the civilization you are in and were born in from the outside, only if you preserve your intrinsic humanity and debrainwash yourself of the lies your civilization spews, can you understand and realize how evil and filled with lies civilization is and how it is all based on the unspoken principle and beliefs of hedonism.

Why is Civilization so Evil?

Where does this culture of self-interest come from in civilization?? It comes from the upper classes. The upper classes are only interested in themselves. Get this through your head. The pyramidal structure of civilization forces those at the top of the shit pile of civilization to preserve their stations at the top at all costs, otherwise they are cast down into the lower classes and lose all their upper class privileges and rights.

For an upper class person not to do everything they can to keep the lower classes down is committing class suicide.

The huge hoax of democracy that all people are equal, the huge hoax that the upper classes care about the lower classes, the huge lie that upper class people work for the benefit and improvement of the lower classes is the propaganda shit that has been sold to the lower classes ever since Julius Caesar cast himself as a man of the people, and swallowed by the masses for thousands of years.

The unspoken religion and culture of Hedonistic civilization is an inseparable part of the Pyramidality of civilization. Its pyramidal structure determines its culture: which is pure hedonism… and its culture determines its structures. These two basic evils negatively reinforce each other until the entire shitpile begins to rot and crimble under its own weight; which is why every civilization that has been developed has gone extinct… only for new pyramidal civilizations to be built up again on top of the ruins of the old ones.

The trouble and problem with this vicious negative cycle is that each new civilization is more evil and more destructive and more degenerate than the last one, until now, today: the world is on the brink of a nuclear war that could destroy all life on earth… while the brainwashed, dumbed down, ignorant billions of hedonistic human insects blithely continue to pursue their stupid little hedonistic personal concerns completely unaware that they are in the brink of a global disaster that could kill hundreds of millions and leave the rest starving and dying from radioactive poisoning.

Why is Civilization so Evil?

As to those few rare people like me sounding the alarm: they are ignored and not heard… just like those who foresaw the oncoming disaster of ww1 were not listened to and ignored and pooh-poohed.

That is what Hedonism does to humans: it makes them disregard anything and everything that does not immediately and directly affect their hedonistic well-being.

This book will only be useful to the survivors of the coming global catastrophe. Only when the present pyramidal civilization is completely destroyed so utterly, that no vestiges of its ancient filthy evils survive the destruction… only then can humans create a new civilization, based on the wisdom and warnings in this book. Only when humans become aware of the undead, only when they become aware of their existence and how they operate and how cunning they are, can humans detect their filthy evil presence and cast them out and refuse to give in to the evil urges and impulses that the undead collude and conspire to influence the minds and hearts and sexual urges of the living.

There is such a thing as pure evil and it is the undead who should be dead.
There is such a thing as pure good and it is life which should be lived by the living:
Not by the undead who seek to live their stinking lives over and over again through the living whom they poison and violate and embed themselves into.

This is why the undead must be hunted down and exterminated like the rotting filthy evil abominations they are.

If you want a perfect example of the Hedonism of western civilization, you need look no further than stinking Hollywood and its long, long list of homosexual filth parading as heterosexuals; from Dirk Bogarde to Rock Hudson to Tab Hunter, etc, etc; ad vomit. The miserable, unhappy, twisted Hedonistic degenerate lives of Hollywood stars are a moral lesson in the evils of pleasure and ease. Then there are the degenerate lives of Rock'n Roll stars; from Elvis Presley to David Bowie to Mick Jagger… Now the filth and degeneracy and abominations of the entertainment industry has skyrocketed into such levels of insanity and disgusting evil satanic perversion that words cannot describe the malevolence of this huge brainwashing industry that is poisoning the lives and minds and sexual identities and souls of each new generation that sucks on this filth starting from birth. Even in early westerns the screaming obvious evils of saloons and dance hall girls and prostitutes and drinking and gambling shout out the pure evil of Hedonism. The avarice and greed of the gold rush, the paid gunslingers and corrupt sheriffs and power mad cattle barons and rustlers and outlaws. All this is pure Hedonism gone rampant, and that was just the beginning of American Hedonism and its many, many evils.

There one problem with civilization that can be divided into two aspects.

Civilization is sedentary: That is why it is evil. Humans are not designed to be sedentary and live in a sedentary society.

The first aspect of sedentary civilization is that it accumulates itself in one place. Humans built stone pyramids in one place for 12,000 years. After the small Dryas catastrophe that wiped out this civilization, humans continued to live in one place and build cities which developed pyramidal social structures. That resulted in the present social structure of a tiny ruling elite at the top and a huge mass of oppressed and taxed people below them.

The second aspect of sedentary civilizations is: sedentary civilizations create the culture of Hedonism in their societies. Without traveling, without a nomadic existence; humans develops a lifestyle of sedentism; not exercising. This created the phenomenon of boredom; doing the same things day after day seeing the same things every day, eating the same things every day. This created the need to have special days, marked by a festival or celebration, or a religious day or holy day. It created the need for entertainment, distractions from their boring everyday lives. This created the drive to pursue pleasure and easel or in other words Hedonism. This came from the masses being forced to work as slaves for their masters and needing a temporary release from their boring, repetitive oppressive forced servitude and labor, this also came from the example of their masters; the ruling elite living lives of pleasure and ease while they slaved and worked for them so they did not need to work.

This created a small ruling elite at the top of the accumulated pile of humans living in one place who had special rights and privileges while the masses below them had almost no rights or privileges… This created the fight for the oppressed masses to demand and fight for what they considered to be their rights and privileges. This has not changed and as long as civilization is pyramidal in structure and sedentary in nature and hedonistic in nature; the conflict between the small number of ruling elites at the top and the masses below them will continue to produce wars and rebellions and revolutions and hate and envy. The conflict between the haves and the have-nots will be a perpetual source of unhappiness and misery for the human species.

This also created the culture of cowardice in the lower classes. The lower classes have been conquered and ruled over by warrior classes in which courage and bravery were essential aspects of their warrior culture. Anyone showing cowardice in their ranks was killed or ostracized from their society.

In modern sedentary civilization; the cowardice of the lower classes has spread to the ruling classes because they no longer need to fight as warriors to retain their social status; they have machines and lower class drones called soldiers and police and armed security guards armed with weapons, while the oppressed masses are without such weapons.

In pyramidal sedentary civilizations and societies: the pyramidal structure of their civilizations and societies made them also perceive and view their spiritual and religious beliefs pyramidally. Meaning they saw their deities and spirits that they worshiped as being in a strict order of linear status from the least powerful to the most powerful. This created a hierarchy of gods that mirrored their own social hierarchy.

Why is Civilization so Evil?

Nomadic civilizations were more egalitarian and functional and not based on any pyramidal status or rank within the accumulated pile of humans. Each member had their assigned responsibilities and jobs and skills. All were necessary for the survival of the tribe and valued equally. That is until nomads learned how to domesticate cattle and horses and sheep and their numbers accumulated into huge clans and clans began warring between each other for grazing lands. The development of using other species as domesticated slaves is only a reflection of what the undead have done to the living human species. Humans began using tools because the undead were using them as tools. The first tool humans used was fire: which destroys all living creatures. The end goal of the undead has not changed since they used humans to burn down everything living. The undead want to destroy and kill all Life on Earth.

This is the fight between Life and death, and it is being waged by the undead every second for millions of years while the living are unaware unwitting victims of their evil. Living humans need to wake up from their brainwashing and understand and realize the evil of the undead and learn how to fight them and defeat them and exterminate them.

Every old evil the undead invented: they try to perpetuate and keep going. For instance the bronze age ritual sacrifice of babies has been kept alive by secret satanic cults… These secret satanic cults were embedded into the highest societies of the ruling class and now it has surfaced in Hollywood. This ancient evil cannot stand the light of day, But the undead have managed to hide it and keep it secret for thousands of years.

The same secrecy covers the huge industry of child trafficking and sex trafficking and organ transplant trafficking. Police all over the world in all nations protect pedophiles and monsters who kill babies and drink their blood. They have done this for thousands of years. This is the work of the undead. All international crime rings are a direct product of the undead conspiring to commit as much evil as possible every minute of every day and night. That is why they must be killed dead with extreme prejudice.

Why is Civilization so Evil?

To explain why the meteor crashed into the Earth over 12,000 years ago: You have to understand inorganic Energy. All Inorganic Energy seeks to come together… It ends out the message: "come in!"… But it does so based on its inorganic state… Solids come together, gasses come together, liquids come together, dust clouds come together… but they do not want to hurt each other so they only come together gently, close enough so are all together without hurting each other.

On the Earth at that time: The undead used living humans to build huge stone pyramids. They did this so they could house themselves inside these stone pyramids and by doing so, keep from decomposing and rotting and dying… This energized these stone pyramids so the inorganic stones had more energy than ordinary stone mountains… These pyramids sent out their inorganic sold stone message out into space:… "Come In!!" The message was many times more powerful than ordinary inorganic stone energy… Meteor and comets perceived these messages as separate meteors or comets… they perceived this as a swarm of separate meteors in Space…. One meteor was fooled by this and came in too close and crashed into the Earth…

Why don't large meteors and comets regularly crash into the Earth? Because the Earth is made up of different kinds of inorganic energy. You have the inner core: a metallic solid saying "Come in!" then you have a semi-liquid magma saying "come IN!" Then you have a thin skin of solid inorganic stone saying "come in!" then you have an inorganic liquid saying "come in!" Then you have a small part of the inorganic stone sticking out of the inorganic liquid saying "Come in!" And on top of the thin skin of inorganic solids there is organic energy that does not signal: "come in!" It signals: "We are all alive, but we are all separate." "huh? What the fuck is that?" We do not come in: we live together separately" "huh? What the fuck is that? "we are all growing, we are all born" "huh? What the fuck is that?" " we don't want any part of that…ugh!"

To inorganic solid Energy: all these different messages coming from the same area with different Energy states of inorganic solid, liquid, gaseous Energy, and on top of that, the completely indecipherable messages of organic Energy, is the equivalent of an LGBTQ monstrosity… They do not want any part of these perversions. Solid inorganic energy only understand the message of "Come in!" "But not too close!" Only when meteorites and comets come so close that the solid inorganic message of "come in!" drowns out all the other liquid and gaseous inorganic messages do they get trapped in the Earth's solid inorganic pull called "gravity" do they fall down and crash into the Earth… What science understands and describes to be "gravity" is a misunderstanding of how the Universe works. Science does not understand and realize that the entire Universe is alive… and its Energies are aware in different ways and behave in different ways…

What the stone pyramids did was the energized stone in these pyramids housing all the undead; focused their message through the tips of these pyramids into concentrate inorganic Energy messages powerful enough to drown out all the other Inorganic energy messages coming from the Earth and it fooled one meteor to come in too close… so once it was gripped by the Earth's gravitational pull, it couldn't escape. Hundreds and thousands of small solid meteorites regularly come too close to the earth and can't escape and harmlessly burn up in the out atmosphere; they are no danger to the inorganic solid Energy of the Earth. Because they are so small: they are not a danger to the solid inorganic energies of the Earth, so these sold inorganic Energies of the Earth don't warn these small meteor: "That's close enough! Keep your distance!" But when meteors that are too large, and are large enough to hurt the solid inorganic energies of the Earth come too close: The inorganic solid Energy awareness of the Earth signals to them: "That's close enough! Keep your distance!" Also: large meteors coming close to the Earth sense that they are too close to a larger inorganic solid Energy mass, and they keep their distance because they do not want to be hurt themselves…. But… if they are large enough to be similar in size and in the power of their inorganic molecular messages… they are attracted to each other, while at the same time keeping their distance from each other.

This is why moons orbit around planets without ever crashing into them. This is why stars orbit around the centers of huge galaxies without ever crashing into each other. All Energy avoids being hurt… this is a Universal principle of all the Energy in the Universe: all energy avoids being hurt and huring other energy… the result of hurting other energy is being hurt yourself. The entire universe is alive: Only in different ways. Inorganic Energy is only aware of signals that message "come in!" "but not too close!"

When inorganic energy accumulates into a huge mass of a star; the message of "come in! Come together!" becomes too powerful and the inorganic molecular message of "keep your distance" is drowned out. The inner core of that star goes insane: It comes together, closer and closer without keeping its distance from each other, and in doing so, it becomes radioactive. This extra radioactivity causes the outer layers to get too close to the inner core also. This creates anger and fear in the outer layers, until some of the inorganic Energy starts screaming: "too close!! Too close!!! "get away from mee! Get away from mee!" "stop bumping into mee!!" This creates a madhouse of Inorganic Energy all trying to get way from each other, only to collide with other inorganic Energy trying to get away from other inorganic Energies… Then finally, the anger of "Get away from mee!" Turns into fear… it turns into "get out! Let's get out!! Get away from this fucking madhouse!"

This change in its inorganic message also changes the intrinsic Nature of the Energy… it changes its plasma Energy into radiation Energy. Energy in the form of radiation is a type of Energy that flees from everything. The cosmic radiation Energy of the Universe is the Energy of fear. Instead of coming together, it seeks to escape out from where it began in a straight line… When that cosmic radiation senses a large enough object like a star, it tries to go around it and then reassembles itself back into a straight line and keeps on going… Water does this also, but it does so more gently and it is not as linear as cosmic radiation… it mixes together while flowing in one direction. Water does not hurt itself when coming into direct contact with inorganic stone… It just slides around it and regains its linear structure. Cosmic radiation is more selective and linear because it is based on wavelengths that automatically seek out the same wavelength it is on and merges back into that specific wavelength.

By the undead housing themselves inside huge stone pyramids, these stone pyramids sent out individual inorganic solid Energy messages focused by their pyramidal geometric exactness: single sources of inorganic negative Energy coming out from the apex of each stone pyramid; that amplified the inorganic Energy message of "Come in!" Each stone pyramid sent this unnaturally amplified message into Outer Space. To the awareness of solid inorganic Energy meteors: it sounded like a cluster of meteors because it drowned out all the other inorganic Energy messages coming from the Earth. One meteor was fooled by this and crashed into the Living Earth. Why hasn't this happened more than once? Will it happen again? The undead are designed to decompose and rot. Housing themselves inside stone pyramids only slowed down their inevitable decomposition. Their undead rotting energy progressively gets weaker and weaker and weaker. The undead inside these dead stone pyramids over the space of thousands of years have become so weak, there is no danger of another meteor being fooled by the energy messages coming out from the tips of these pyramids…

Now the undead want to turn the entire earth into a radioactive wasteland… they are trying to foment and start a nuclear 3rd World War… Why?

Because when stone becomes radioactive, it is energized… it energizes the undead inside these stones so their decomposition slows down, so they can manage to live a little longer than if that stone did not become radioactive. Then all the undead entities in the atmosphere and in the earth's crust and in living organisms will become energized and be able to live longer…

They will also go insane and die faster than they thought they would… but since they are already insane and rotting and decomposing: that does not affect their evil plans and conspiracies. Their original goal of destroying all life on earth has not changed. They see life as the enemy of death. Life is positive energy.. They are negative energy. They are the enemies of all life on earth.

This is why they must all be killed dead and exterminated.

What has the culture of Hedonism done recently? It has turned the "me" generation into a "selfie" generation where hundreds of millions of self-obsessed brainwashed hedonists take pictures of themselves. The unspoken unconscious culture of hedonism is changing and degenerating at an accelerating rate so fast; that it can be noticed by anyone older than 20…

A short 30 years ago, only rich Hollywood directors could afford to make movies… Now millions of people are making movies about their hedonistic lives, while billions of those who are not lucky enough to live their hedonistic "dreams" watch these exercises in hedonism, living through them vicariously. The entire civilized world is obsessed with pleasure and ease and its pursuit.

And what has Hedonism done to communities? It has destroyed them utterly. Not only do modern consumers have no moral-ethical-religious-spiritual in common with each other: their consumer tastes and preference and addictions and opinions are all different from each other. There is nothing left to keep a community together because the sacred religion of individual rights and consumer rights and individual interests is predominant in Hedonistic civilization. What about community interests? They are actively disliked or ignored. When each individual can do what they like, buy what they like, say what they like: the value of a community becomes worthless… Why? Because governments have replaced communities by supplying the basic infrastructure that communities once provided. Capitalist companies and corporations supply work that would be otherwise done in a community. The entire system of civilization's mechanization has dehumanized and roboticized the masses, while at the same time pandering to their lowest addictions and urges.

Why is Civilization so Evil?

What has the latest Hedonistic toy done to humans? The internet has turned civilization into a giant female gossip machine. From Twitter to Face book to YouTube to Telegram, to all the other internet platforms, to I-phones to smart phones to text messaging; humans have been tuned into sedentary insects sitting on their asses doing nothing but staring at flat screens, tapping on plastic keys gossiping to each other. Humans are becoming illiterate, crisis oriented, attention deficit insects with attention spans less that 10 seconds. The entire history of the past is being wiped out and exterminated by replacing paper books with digital files. As a professional researcher, I can tell you that from 2000 to 2010: 90% of the politically incorrect information and facts about history were deleted on the internet… And from 2010 to 2020, 90% of the politically incorrect information and facts were again wiped out… This means that in a short 20 years; only 1% of the information and facts that existed on the internet in 2000 still existed in 2020, and the deleting of all information and taking down of channels and web sights since 2020 has increased by a 1,000%... and no one notices and no one cares because the unspoken culture of Hedonism is based on instant self-gratification. Science has deleted its own history of facts and information also and nobody notices.

The past history and origins of anything and everything have been deleted and replaced with hoaxes and lies and propaganda and misinformation. Nobody knows anything about the past and nobody cares about the past.

What Hedonism has done is wipe out all caring and understanding of the past AND the future. Humans are having forebodings of doom and gloom but they do nothing about it.

All forms and kinds of mental illness and depression are exploding but people are doing nothing about it… drug use is exploding but people are doing nothing about it, homelessness is sky rocketing but people are doing nothing about it, crime is exploding but people are doing nothing about it, huge political scandals are being exposed but people are doing nothing about it, corruption is everywhere but people are doing nothing about it. Economies are tanking but people are doing nothing about it… people are constantly barraged with negative news and manufactured crises day and night but they are doing nothing about it . The levels of fear and paranoia are accelerating into a mass insanity but people are doing nothing about it. People are brainwashing themselves just by being addicted to mass media. Mass shootings have exploded but people are doing nothing about it. People are being gunned down in schools, in hospitals in shopping malls, on the street, but people do nothing about it... Why?

Because humans have been programmed to do only one thing: nothing else. They have been programmed to pursue pleasure and ease: nothing else. Everything else is left to the authorities to handle. And the only ones in authority are criminals and they are evil. Do you think this is all by chance??

This is the mass alienation and isolation of the masses that allow criminals to operate with impunity. This is what comes of having no set of morals or ethics. This is what the Hedonism of civilization has produced. The oceans are being polluted; soon there will be no fish in the oceans and people don't care and they do nothing about it. The poisoning and polluting of water and vegetables and fruits and processed foods is causing illnesses that never before existed on a scale and level that never before existed and people do nothing about it.

What has the global unspoken religion of done to humans? It has turned civilization into a giant female gossip machine. Billions of brainwashed human insects on the internet tapping on plastic keys, giving their "opinions" about everything. The result is trillions of wasted hours; trillions of hours spent doing nothing but watching illusions on a flat screen; creating a flatulent, unhealthy, sick human population that is so sedentary, so addicted to comfort and ease and pleasure, it is on the verge of a mass die-off due to its evil Hedonistic practices and beliefs. 40% of young people are no longer getting married and having children just because it is too much trouble, too much work. The level of narcissism has reached to point where people do not socialize anymore; they would rather be alone than have to deal with others.

Why is Civilization so Evil?

How can the lack of all morals and ethics be shown today? The unconscious global culture of Hedonism can be shown in the 2020 "pandemic"… where millions of people: doctors, nurses, police. Judges, the news media, politicians knew they were doing something immoral and unethical; but they did it anyways… for all kinds of excuses and reasons; but basically they did it or refused to say anything and kept quiet because they had no morals and no ethics; that is why all of Hedonistic civilization is evil… The small minority that still have a vestige or morals and ethics will never be able to overcome or defeat or win over the huge majority of Hedonistic, corrupt, willfully ignorant, fatuous , smug masses who just don't give a fuck about anything or anyone but themselves.

Civilization is structured and designed for Hedonism: nothing else. It has no higher goals than hedonism; all else is lip service or a tiny majority being ignored by a huge majority.

To give you an historical perspective on the evil of the undead: the undead appeared when the first living organisms died and their afterlife was longer than their life…

What was the result of this?

The History of Life on Earth shows that 99% of all living organisms that were created went extinct.

Why did they go extinct?

They went extinct because they did not perform their designed function….

Why didn't they perform their designed function?

They did not perform their designed function because of the undead. The undead have poisoned every new species that was created, and because of that: they all went extinct…

Why is Civilization so Evil?

197

Not all living organisms have gone extinct. Not all living organisms are going extinct because of the undead… Why? Because they still are performing their designed function minimally... just enough for them to still exist in the huge cooperative eco-systems of Life because they are still minimally supporting Life and in so doing, creating more Life.

As long as any species creates more Life than it destroys or kills: it does not go extinct because it's usefulness is supported by other species in its eco-system. Only if an entire eco-system is destroyed does it go extinct, and even then, if any of that species survives, it comes back and re-establishes itself…

Many sub species of Hominids have gone extinct over a span of millions of years because they were not doing their designed function.

Now: the only reason the last surviving species of hominids: humans: is not going extinct is because the undead are protecting their unwitting puppets from extinction in order to use them to destroy all Life on Earth. But in spite of that… Humans are trying to go extinct. Humans are inventing better and better weapons of mass destruction. And sooner or later they will use them… The undead are deliberately putting off their use. Why?

Because they do not want them used until and unless they are certain that their use will destroy all Life on Earth.

This has created a state of mass foreboding and anticipation in the human species. It has created a mass outlook on the future that is spells doom, an unconscious underlying negative state of awareness that is turning the entire human species insane because people see no other outcome but that of total cataclysmic disaster and Doom: the end of the world. Everything is getting worse at such a frightening accelerating speed, it is impossible to predict any future that is not too horrible to contemplate. Because of the unconscious unspoken culture of Hedonism; the great majority of the masses are completely unaware of the impending doom that is approaching at such a frightening speed that those few who are more aware, are screaming at the top of their lungs about what they see is coming.

If you want to see how Hedonism fractures and fragments human society all you need to do is look at the millions and billions of videos on YouTube… What do they have in common with each other?... Nothing. Each video is focused on a single tiny trivial aspect or detail of whatever the maker of the video is interested in. Hundreds of thousands of niche interests with nothing in common with each other… All of these billions of people are living isolated inside their own Hedonistic bubbles of personal interests. You can see the naked screaming unconscious culture of Hedonism in how YouTube rates its videos… The videos are not rated on whether something is true or a not true… the videos are not rated if bad is bad for you or good for you. It is not rated if it is healthy or unhealthy. It is not rated whether it is GOOD or evil… It is rated by "likes" and "dislikes"… Not only that: YouTube censors all "dislikes" so nobody can tell how many people dislike something as opposed to liking it. People who criticize anything are punished and censored. The entire culture of YouTube and of consumerism and all mass media advertising programs people to only focus on what they like: it is a mass brainwashing of mass indulgence, and to hell with all intelligence and critical thinking. Everything that is easier must be better. Anything that is more convenient must be better. The blind pursuit of pleasure and ease is all there is in civilization. There is no other goal or motive or objective in civilization except Hedonism.

All former communities that were once connected and meeting each other in person and talked to each other in person have disappeared and been destroyed and deliberately attacked out of existence. Why? Because the pursuit of pleasure and ease and the lure of instant self-gratification IS all that civilization has to offer. Civilization is nothing more than a huge Pandora's box, offering humans poisonous products and drugs and interests… and all of them are not connected to each other except the motives of avarice, greed and larceny.

Why is Civilization so Evil?

The modern version of morality and ethics is basically a fashion statement of whatever is popular in mass media. It is all lip service and it has been reversed into ideas and principles that are the opposite of real morals and ethics. The brain dead brainwashed conformist sheep of the masses call their degenerate morality "wokeness", when it is the polar opposite of enlightenment and waking up to develop a wider understanding, a better understanding of everything. That is what the culture of civilization: Hedonism has done. Black is white Good is evil, Evil is good, up is down, down is up; men can have babies, etc, etc ad nauseum… What people are not aware of is that the LGBTQ insanity of being able to choose whatever sex you are is no different from the Hedonism of supermarkets. Both are a matter of personal consumer choice… "the customer is always right", both are based on personal self-gratification; both are based on the unspoken principles of Hedonism, with no consideration of ethics or morals. If you 'like' something then it is good. That is the evil insanity of hedonism and it permeates civilization on so many unconscious level in so many ways, that humans are simply completely unaware of the poison swamp they are swimming in, they are not aware that ALL of civilization is poisonous.

The hedonism, of civilization does nothing but breed pure selfishness; for instance: take the idea of patents… If all patents were openly available to anyone and everyone, the world would be a 1,000 times better than it is now. The idea that an inventor has the right for personal gain is corrupt and evil. The very idea of inventions is to improve the lives of everyone; not just one person. The idea of personal gain itself is innately and intrinsically evil. If all people worked to improve society as a collective whole instead of fighting and lying and robbing and cheating each other, the world would be a million times better. The undead poison every positive idea and attempt to improve human society and when they can't do that, they utterly destroy it like they did to Hitler's National Socialist Germany. Turning the idea of communal collectives into a totalitarian dictatorship and a nightmare of evil is a perfect example of the work of the undead. This why they must be recognized for what they are and do and this is why all of these filthy cunning hiding rotting pieces of undead shit must be hunted and down and killed dead.

Why is Civilization so Evil?

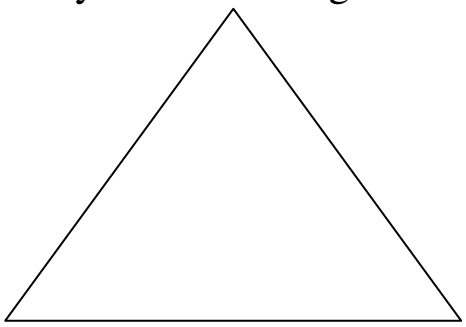
The dynamic of one-sided accumulation, which leads to pyramidalization structurally creates the phenomenon of oppression; with the top most of the shit pile of civilization the least oppressed; making sure that the lowermost parts do not pull them down… while the lower anyone is in this shitpile, the more pressure from above keeps them pressed down bt sheer weight of numbers above them. There is no fucking difference between a caste system and a class system: both are merely the result of the pyramidal structure of too many humans living in too small a space.



While the upper classes wallow in the laps of luxury: the lower classes have to support everyone above them, and are forced to witness and envy the upper classes their wealth and privileges, while the upper classes flaunt their wealth and power in the faces of the oppressed; crushing anyone who dares to try to reform the system.

What has the Hedonism of civilization done to humans recently? The internet culture of the web has criminalized billions of internet users. It is a culture of anonymous secrecy. It has turned billions of people into paranoid cowards on the web… To the point where capital letters are seen as cyber bullying or actual violence against the person reading those capital letters!! It has turned people into secretive paranoid brainwashed insane terrified mice: terrified of letting anyone know who they actually are… The use of the computer mouse has turned people into mice… The evil web has caught billions of human insects and they are glued to this evil web like terrified helpless insects; reacting insanely to vibrations traveling through this web. When something goes "viral" the mass lemming effect of these insane brainwashed human insects creates global fame, instant notoriety that lasts only as long until the next sensationalist video goes “viral”… notice the use of the word: “viral”!

There are no viruses… the science of virology is a total complete hoax, this word is also used for memes on the web of evil… when something goes "viral" on the internet that means it spreads like an infectious disease, like a plague.

How can you tell the undead have been planning and colluding to create a culture of insane terrified mice on the mass media network of the web?... All you need to do is go back to Walt Disney’s creation of the cartoon character: Mickey Mouse, and how its popularity surged until Disney created the Mouseketeers… A club of young children all wearing hats that resembled the ears of the cartoon character Mickey Mouse..

And what became of these children?... All you need to know are the two children: Britney Spears and Miley Cyrus. They became the next wave of sexualized children who promoted sex at an earlier and earlier age in their obscene filthy music videos to billions and billions of impressionable children. Since then the sexualization of children has spread so it is being taught in schools to 7 yr-olds. School boards are pushing this abomination, teachers are pushing it, transgender people are being hired to poison the minds and souls of children, The mass media and political elite are all colluding together to push this filthy evil culture and forcing it upon millions of families whether they like it or not… That is what the steady, remorseless unconscious religion of civilization’s Hedonism is doing to humans. The pursuit of pleasure and ease has turned hundred of millions into sex addicts on the internet… now it is now brainwashing the coming generations of humans to become even worse then sex addicts: it is pushing them to artificially, surgically change their sex.

You can only understand the evils of the undead if you study history, and look at all of history and see how each new evil morphed into other evils even more toxic and poisonous than the previous ones and how the present evils are morphing into worse and worse abominations.

Only by killing the entire ruling elite and the billionaire class can this be stopped and that will never happen because the undead have already turned the masses of the world into non-violent, terrified, paranoid cowards who are chained to their computer screens addicted to the shit they watch on the internet.

If you look at the culture of industrialized nations after machines replaced human slaves: what do you see?... Parties! Music! Dancing! Drunkenness! Alcoholism! Debauchery! Feasting! Gluttony! Millions of establishments springing up solely for the pursuit of ease and pleasure, Café's and restaurant catering to the new affluence where the masses adopt a new pastime of public sloth, lazing away hours and days and nights, emulating and copying all the vices of the idleness of the filthy rich… mass greed, mass avarice, mass larceny… And what has all this 18th and 19th and 20th century culture of Hedonism turned into after WW2?

Swimming pools, barbecues, lounge chairs, patios. RV's. camping, the birth of the tourist industry, beach life, lazing on the beach getting tanned, volleyball, surfing, flashy cars, drive-ins, burger joints, fast food outlets, pleasure cruises… And what did all the hedonism of the 20th century turn into? No socializing at all! No parties, no dance halls, no night clubs, no beer joints… Billions staying home doing nothing; locked in their computer prisons sitting at home watching movies; why? Because it's much easier than going to a movie theater… and that's it. The degeneration of Hedonism, when you look at it in historical perspective is fucking obvious. It is the root evil of civilization and it is totally unconscious. Humans do not have the historical perspective and intelligence and awareness needed to discover the roots of all their problems and evils… WHY? Because the undead make damn sure to keep their hosts, their unsuspecting victims which they suck on oblivious to their existence, they make sure no human develops enough to pierce the veils of darkness they hide in except me: Indrek Pringi. This book will unlock all the suppressed awarenesses of those who read it… This book and my other book: The Path of Splitness will spread and be read by millions and millions until those who are not enlightened will be forcibly enlightened or killed dead as evil possessed filth controlled by their undead masters.

Why have the corrupt ruling elite managed to stay in power in spite of their corruption and scandals?... Because the masses have been programmed and brainwashed to only care about their personal pleasure and ease. The masses do not care about politics; they do not care about scandals and corruption because they have no set of morals and ethics that does not tolerate dishonesty and corruption. The masses have been trained to copy and envy the hedonism of their ruling elite, and by this they have been corrupted to such an extent that there is little difference between the venality and degeneracy of the ruling classes and the ones they rule over.

What you need to take away from reading this book is that everything wrong with civilization, every aspect of civilization that is bad or corrupt or degenerate or evil can be explained by the underlying unconscious secular religion of civilization: and that religion is the religion of hedonism… hedonism permeates every strata and class and institution of civilization; and nobody notices it except me: Indrek Pringi.

For this to happen: it is necessary for the undead to corrupt the souls of all living people. This could not happen if humans were allowed to grow up without evil, filthy, cunning dead rotting shit turds hiding inside living people and hovering all around them from birth to death; poisoning their genitals and souls and minds and hearts and bodies and souls and taking control over them in millions of different cunning evil filthy nasty ways. Each living human suffers a unique process of poisonation by the undead for the same reason that no fruit rots in exactly the same way… different fungi and bacteria in the air attacks and insert themselves and the rotting process they create is different from every other fruit that rots from natural causes…

But the rotting of human souls and bodies is not natural; it is directly caused by the undead violating the Realm of the Living. It is time for the living to violate the realms of the undead and begin exterminating them until there are none left.

How can you tell civilization is a criminal construct? By the movies civilization makes: Nearly all of them are about crime and criminals.

Are there any movies about honest people? No. Is there any public interest in honesty? No. People are only interested in scandals and crime and criminal activities. Why? Civilization is boring. Honesty is boring. Crime is exciting. The only outlet civilization has for the oppressed masses is vicarious. Watching an exciting movie about criminals. What are most of the plots about? Killing for money. What sane honest person would do that? Such things are one in a million. They are so rare, it almost never happens. But movies harp on this and harp on it as if it is normal.

The entire structure and construct and definition of civilization has been the delineation between those who can afford the luxuries of indolence and ease, and those who are forced to slave for a living; with the universal goal of the masses attaining the goal of indolence and ease and pleasure: in other word pure Hedonism. The truth that attaining this goal does not produce happiness and that it is a degenerative evil that robs humans of any other reason to live except wallow in upper class privileges is ignored.

The accumulated shitpile: the artificial environment that humans live in and have lived in for thousands of years has made them totally ignore the impact of civilization on the natural world… Humans have degraded and destroyed the eco-systems they live in for thousands if not millions of years: The Mesopotamian delta was once the breadbasket of the world: now it is an utterly destroyed dead desert, the same was the case with northern Africa, but humans don't care because they do not see themselves as part of the natural world. They see themselves as being "civilized"… "cultured"… What they do not see is the cultures and civilizations they inherit and preserve and perpetuate are all evil inventions of the undead only if you look at civilization from the outside can you see how evil it is… Only if you look at the entire history of Hominids and Humans as a single linear history of increasing evil brought about by the undead, does this history make any sense…

The truth about the undead is horrible… it is horrible to contemplate and horrible to realize and understand… but it is the truth nonetheless. Only when humans realize and understand the true extent of the evil they live in, that surrounds them from birth to death and lives and hides inside every one of you… only then can humans begin to fight and hunt down and kill these filthy cunning rotting undead turds. This book and my other book: The Path of Splitness; have been written to do exactly that.

The civilized idea of personal happiness, of 'doing your own thing'…. This idea does not contain any presumption of any responsibility to anyone else but you. The IDEA of each human insect in a mass of eight billion humans, being free, or having the freedom to 'do your own thing' is insane.

Do you see individual bees 'doing their own thing'? Do you see individual trees 'doing their own thing'? No… The individuals of each species on this Earth are designed to do the same thing; the thing they were designed to do. The human animal is no different. Humans are not an exception to the rule. That is the insanity of civilization: billions of humans having the freedom to do whatever they want without any responsibilities.

Humans are designed to do one thing. And that is making friends with all other living species on Earth. And from this beginning of Friendship: teach them about Love.

What is spectatorship but pure Hedonism? Hundreds of millions if not billions of fat, out of shape, sickly, weak people sitting on their asses watching professional athletes strain and struggle with all their might, while the watchers laze away on their sofas… Now there is even an official national "lazy day" in America: the most overweight, obese, unhealthy population in the world is celebrating and glorifying laziness! This is what the unspoken culture of Hedonism does to humans: it turns virtue into vice and vice into virtue signaling.

The entire flood of illegal aliens fleeing their countries to more affluent ones is based on Hedonism. The entire dynamic of immigrations since the beginning of the industrial revolution is based on Hedonism. All of these masses seek a 'better' life; translated: a life full of ease and pleasure without any responsibilities. None of them see any value in fighting to improve the nations they were born in… Why? Because they see no hope of changing things. Why is there no hope of changing anything? Because of the culture of colonialism where European nations exploited areas all over the world for profit; thus turning the countries they exploited into vassal states which became 3rd world countries. What created European nations becoming affluent enough to exploit other countries all over the world? The industrial revolution. What has created this flood of people escaping their respective nations? What has created the delineation between 3rd world countries and industrialized ones? The industrial revolution: the invention of machines that replace human labor. The entire motive for the industrial revolution is to make life easier for humans. Literally everything that happened in civilization for over the past 2-3 hundred years is based in the unspoken, unconscious motive and principle of Hedonism; the pursuit of pleasure and ease… What created a schism in the Catholic church that created a new religious sect of Protestantism? The industrial revolution; the printing press. The change from the old feudal system of peasants and the aristocracy into a lower class that became educated and learned how to read. The sale of indulgences by the Catholic church. The corruption of the Catholic Church degenerating into such obvious venality and degeneracy that the lower classes lost their faith in the church as the word of god. What created the corruption of the Catholic Church? The fact that its entire system was and is based on the upper privileged classes including the church hierarchy was and still is motivated by the principle of Hedonism: the pursuit of pleasure and ease. What are the rewards of gaining wealth and power? The increase of your personal pleasure and ease. Literally all of civilization is evil because all of it is motivated and based on the assumed motives and unconscious, unspoken principles of Hedonism. Everyone is supposed to want an easier life filled only with pleasure with no responsibilities. That is supposed to be human nature! That's supposed to be natural!

No ruling class, no ruler in the history of civilization has ever admitted that they were wrong. This moral – ethical evil is the direct result of the structural Pyramidality of civilization. As long as anyone is one the top of the shit pile of pyramidal civilization; this means that by definition they are always 'right'… 'Might is right' As long as you control armies and police forces and secret police; whatever you do is always 'right'. As long as you win a war: your side is by definition: 'in the right'. The only reason war exists is because humans found they could steal wealth and enjoy affluence by killing other tribes and stealing their holdings and selling the defeated ones into slavery. The only reason slavery exists is because humans found they could force enslaved humans to work for them; thus increasing their own affluence and ease. Any way you look at the history of civilization it all comes down to the immoral, unethical principles of Hedonism being practiced while all other values, ethics and mores are given lip service and used to practice hedonism under the guise of morality.

There has never been any honest examination of the morality and ethics involved between any two warring parties. Civilized cultures and kingdoms and nations have been able to artificially invent dogmas, religions, beliefs that are convenient for them… All civilizations are based on preserving and perpetuating whatever vestiges are left of the older extinct ones. There is NO honesty, responsibility, morality, ethics in what civilizations are based on and what their culture is and what their beliefs are. They have always been and still are shitpiles of hedonistic corruption and degeneration and rot.

Ever since the first human man and woman were tempted with carnal knowledge, the undead have been tempting living humans with new invented evils for millions of years. When I was a young boy, all the children playing outside disappeared with the invention of TV… they stayed indoors and were brainwashed and dumbed down by that diabolical device… Now, the computer and the internet has done the same thing, only worse to billions of living humans… They have no social life anymore… they have no friends, there are no places left to go to meet people anymore. They are not in touch with reality, they are not in touch with Nature. That is the evil of Hedonism… every evil tempting fruit the undead ram down the throats of living humans has been hailed as a new wonder and touted and displayed as proof of the great 'progress' of civilization… Yet somehow in spite of all these inventions and wonders, the world is becoming more and more horrible, more ugly… people are becoming more unhappy, they are getting sicker and weaker and stupider. Humans living inside the cesspool called civilization are unable to diagnose the real problem and find the real root of their problems… *Why?

Because the undead do not want you to question anything. They do not want you to question civilization. Civilization is a sacrosanct holy grail that must not be questioned or examined. And even if it is: it is done piecemeal, so the entirety of the evils that civilization are never brought together and exposed for what they actually are: cunning evils invented by the undead to enslave and weaken all living humans and brainwash them so they are easy victims once they reach the realm of the rotting undead.

What is good and what is evil?

Everything that supports and nurtures life is good Everything that supports and nurtures death is evil
It is that fucking simple
Everything that creates life is good.
Everything that creates death is evil

You do not need to be a fucking philosopher or a fucking genius to know this.

For 3,000 years philosophers tried to find the meaning of life and failed… why? Because they tried to find a reason for civilized human life… not life itself… they made the blunder that humans are different from other living organisms; they tried to make sense of civilized life; they tried to make sense of civilization and they all failed for good reasons. This book explains and exposes why 3,0000 years of philosophy was a total failure.

One of the most cunning temptations the undead invented and offered to living humans was music… music was used for thousands of years to keep the peasants lulled into obedience and used to dumb down the ruling elites and waste their time and energy.

Why is music evil? Because it is not alive: it is merely sound. To obsess over artificial sounds and spend untold lifetimes inventing these sounds and playing these sounds and listening to these artificial sounds and become addicted to these sounds detaches you from the real world is merely a Hedonistic form of pleasure and ease..

But then living humans began to use these sounds as part of living communities… humans began to use them to come together as a community… the sounds became too beautiful, they became too positive; so the undead scotched that by inventing Rock'n Roll… Now modern music is so filthy and boring and unmusical, it poisons the minds and hearts of all those who become attached to it.

I can understand why and how all living humans living inside civilization would protest against such an idea as all music being evil… Butt that is understandable since none of you have any perspective of that evil large and wide and long enough to pierce its origins and expose its fundamental flaws and fallacies… In order for you to understand how all-encompassing the evil of civilization is; you must understand this basic universal truth: and that is:

All Abstraction is Evil.

Anything that is only 2-dimensional or 1-dimensional is evil simply by its condition it cannot be a living organism… The decomposing undead slowly decompose to become less 3-dimnsional until they are entirely 2-dimensional and then they become less 2-dimensional until they are entirely 1-dimensional, and then they dissipate so that there is nothing left of them.

Because of this: you can easily understand why the undead would want humans to manufacture 2-dimensional flat surfaces like walls and oil paintings and photographs and TV's and computer screens, and why they have invented 1-dimensional forms of death like arrows and bullets and artillery shells and missiles and rockets and electricity.

The only reason music is not completely evil is because it is based on the natural Splitness of the Universe into halves and thirds and fourths and fifths and sixths… But how it Has been poisoned and used by the undead is completely evil.

The evil of abstract, 2-dimensional symbols like mathematics is evil because they cannot fully represent or describe the actual 3-dimensional Universe; just like one-dimensional symbols cannot represent or fully describe a 2-dimensional Universe. Turning humans or goats or sheep into numbers… turning distances into feet or miles or time into hours; is a way of dehumanizing the Universe into meaningless evil abstractions that is used by the undead to commit evil. Why? Because it destroys the uniqueness of the Universe. Every mile is unique, every goat is unique, every human is unique, every hour is unique, every foot is unique. The illusion and fraud and hoax of identicality that abstract numbers creates does not actually exist.

By saying 25 million people were killed in WW2, you reduce a horror, an evil that is so huge into an abstract number; it destroys all Humanity and human feeling.

You can track the progression of Hedonism through the increasing use of abortions to the point of legalizing them. The inconvenience of raising a child versus pursuing your own ease and pleasure… The instant self-gratification of enjoying illicit sex out of wedlock versus the long term responsibility of becoming pregnant and raising that baby… Hedonism VS responsibility… Hedonism wins most every time.

You can see the effect of hedonism in civilization by how many times, money is valued more than human life… For thousands of years, humans have committed the most horrible atrocities and murders and outright genocide purely for monetary gain or wealth. This is not natural. Only inhuman monsters do such things; but history is filled with countless examples of this. Why? Because when Hedonism is the unspoken dominant secular culture and religion there are no set of morals or ethics that prevents such behavior. It is the vacuum of no morality and no ethics that allows evil to grow and flourish in secret behind closed doors. It is the culture of secrecy throughout all civilized history that allows evil to grow and flourish. All Secrecy should be banned and made illegal and criminalized.

Without the moral and ethical principles of honesty and openness being practiced and enforced on a global scale, civilization will always be evil.

In the new civilization, secrecy and dishonesty will carry the death penalty. It will be unthinkable to lie about anything or hide anything or keep anything secret.

Why do you think movies exist? Why is there TV? Why were they invented? The undead have been watching living humans for millions of years. The undead subconsciously and unconsciously affect everything living humans do… everything living humans do ends up being a reflection of what the undead do. Everything living humans do to others is a reflection of what the undead do to living humans. That is why the culture of spectatorship has grown over thousands of years to become what it is today: Billions of living humans watching movies, TV, internet videos until now this has become a mass phenomenon that poisons the lives of humans to the point where they do nothing but watch this vicarious evil shit. Instead of living their own lives; they live vicariously through others; which is exactly what the undead have been doing with their unsuspecting living victims who are not aware that they are being watched by the undead. That is why fiction books were invented. They reflect what the undead do with living humans. The undead try to forget their actual rotting hell existence by vicariously living through the lives of the living they inhabit, violate poison and corrupt.

Understand This.

The undead are watchers. They are watching you every second of every day and night. At night while you sleep they take over your dreams and poison them with their insane filth. During the day they go behind flat surfaces and into dark holes and inside you because they cannot stand the rays of the sun. Sunlight decomposes their rotting energy. The undead hate and fear sunlight. They fear and hate the light of day. They exist in secrecy and darkness.

I: Indrek Pringi am bringing their evil to light. I; Indrek Pringi am bringing their filthy existence out into the light of day. You the reader have been now armed and warned of their existence and how all-pervasive they are and how they invade and permeate all living creatures with their filthy stinking cunning shit and nastiness and evil.

They are the opposite of life; they are death. That is why the name for them is the opposite of live; the opposite of live is evil. They are rotting dying negative decomposing shit filth. They are not sane and they are not rational. They are not logical. You cannot reason with them. The only thing you can do is kill them and exterminate them like the poisonous filth that they are. They deserve to be killed a million billion times over. The amount of harm and evil that they have inflicted on unsuspecting living animals and humans is beyond comprehension. Their backlog of imbalanced karma is so huge, that the slightest positive push against them results in their instant annihilation. They know they are evil and they know they can be exterminated. It is up to those reading this book to finally start killing all evil people and hunting down these hiding rotting undead and killing them where they hide.

Why is Civilization so Evil?

Whenever you hear or read the phrase: "I don't know whether to laugh or cry"… that is an emotional crutch used for doing nothing. Whenever people laugh at something that is true: that is an emotional crutch used for doing nothing. Whenever people laugh at something that doesn't make any sense: that is an emotional crutch for accepting irrationality and not questioning it.

Understand this: *nothing is funny.

You can do a lot of things that are fun, but comedy is not funny.

It is a distortion of reality

The two masks of theater: laughter and sorrow are emotional masks
Masking the undead triggering your emotions…
So you will not react intelligently.

All theater and entertainment is designed by the undead to short circuit your critical faculties and program you to react without thinking…

A truly integrated human has their intellect and emotions integrated into a single emotional-intellectual intelligence, and cannot be deceived or swayed by what they see, hear or experience because they do not perceive anything as funny or sad or any other emotional reaction…

They just look at or experience what has happened or what happens and try to understand it

In the greater context of the totality of all their understanding and experiences, and by doing so: put it into a perspective of the totality of all their life experiences and learning and understanding.

Why is Hedonistic civilization so evil? Because by pandering to the addictions of the masses, and by making everything easier; it has invented the evil web of the internet; where literally everything can be accessed at the click of a button. The internet was invented in order to brainwash billions of people to sit down and do nothing. The result is; the internet has become a giant female gossip machine where billions of people gossip about things… and as a result of their sitting down and gossiping about things… they remain seated and do nothing about whatever they are gossiping about.

The result is…
Billions of people sitting down doing nothing

When otherwise; if there was no internet: they would stand up and do something… they would do something about the scandals and crimes and outrages and abominations that have flooded civilization due to its degeneracy and corruption.

The internet is a cunning device that has enslaved billions of people and shackled them to their computers so they spend their entire lives doing nothing but go on the internet. It is more effective than a million prisons because the brainwashed masses willing addict themselves and enslave themselves to it; with any need for walls or steel bars or guards. As a result: they are not aware that they are in a prison. They are not aware that they have all willingly imprisoned themselves. They are not aware that they have brainwashed themselves. They are not aware that they are brainwashed.

If you took one of these insane brainwashed computer freaks away from their computers and put them into a natural setting of Nature: they would ho into withdrawal symptoms akin to a junkie going cold turkey getting off cocaine. It would take them weeks, months to become used to living without a computer.

What makes Hedonism so evil is that it subverts, poisons and destroys all intelligent human organizing. Take the love affair with the car… why do people love their cars? Because if you have a car, you can go anywhere they want in luxury and ease. But that is based on personal individual whims.

There is no organizing of travel. Millions and billions of human insects going anywhere they want in these polluting machines have created millions of square miles covered in concrete and asphalt; destroying farmland, destroying eco-systems; spreading out all over the world; just so billions of hedonistic insane insects can travel anywhere they want; just so they can travel thousands of miles in luxury and ease… there is zero consideration of what this is doing to the entire planet. There is no organizing of humans to deal with the results of industrialization because the unspoken principles of Hedonism determines everything humans do and don't do.

By this chaos of millions and billions all scrambling around for their own personal gain and their own leisure and pleasure it is easy for criminal elements in civilization to get into power and stay in power, simply because they are more organized than the disorganized brainless pleasure seeking masses who simply don't care about anything or anyone but themselves.

The intelligent principles and ethics and morals or organized communities and organized societies has been demonized and smeared by all mass media… Why? Because the undead targeted and destroyed the first signs of this burgeoning intelligent alternative to the dying decaying aristocracy and monarchies and the capitalist madhouse of filthy rich robber barons and bankers while the millions of masses either struggled to eke out a living under horrible working conditions or were hopelessly mired in poverty.

The undead targeted two dangerous (to them) social movements. One was the growing communal culture of Russian villages that created an affluence for the entire village by husbanding all their resources and working together for the common good… The other was the National Socialist movement of Adolph Hitler that turned around the worst depression in modern history and turned Germany into the most prosperous, advanced, humane, intelligently governed nation in the world while all the rest of the world was suffering under the depredations of jewish international bankers and their robber baron cohorts… They achieved this by using evil jews to create a jewish uprising in Russia, installing a jewish revolutionary dedicated to the mass slaughter of all

Russians who weren't jews, and the collusion of these same jewish international bankers to create a war against Germany and escalate it into another world war; totally destroying Northern Europe and Germany and traumatizing the German people into terrified fear-filled obedient slaves of their hidden masters, while the Russian people were also slaughtered and terrorized and reduced into fear-filled, humble, brainwashed slaves who did not dare to criticize their overlords. The result is now the words: "communism" and "socialism" have been reversed to represent the worst evils of civilization instead of what they truly are: The only intelligent alternatives to organizing human civilization and getting rid of all obscene criminals like billionaires and capitalism and dictators and centralized totalitarian regimes held in power by thugs and armies and weapons of mass destruction and military industrial complexes… Now the two worst evils of crony capitalism and totalitarian authoritarian regimes are merging, so there is almost no difference between the former democracies of the world and the totalitarian police states of China and Russia… Both are being controlled by criminal elites that have merged their power with the secret, unelected intelligence networks and the military industrial complexes. By keeping the world in a permanent continual state of wars and crises, that are fraudulent and planned: the criminals in power keep the crisis oriented mass of human insects continually distracted, while they systematically destroy all levels of former affluence in the world globally so the masses are totally dependent on the state for their existence… Their plan and aim is to reduce the billions of brainwashed masses into the same state of poverty and terrified humble obedience to their authority as the Chinese and Russian people have been driven to.

While this is happening, Humans are destroying the earth and nobody cares; because everything each programmed brainwashed human insect does or doesn't do IS based on hedonism. Because humans have been programmed to be crisis oriented insects. Because the attention spans of humans have been degraded down to the levels of imbecility, because the literacy of the masses has been reduced to the point where they are not able to read a page of text, much less a book, because the true history of the past of civilization has been wiped out of existence thanks to the internet replacing books and the ability to instantly delete anything and everything that is not politically correct; thus leaving the ignorant masses bereft of all historical truth and facts and easily brainwashing them into dumbed down cattle…

All this is being done by the undead using the most corrupt and evil, sick, damaged inhuman monsters as their puppets to do their evil bidding.

There is no human intelligence behind this malevolent evil. There is no human cabal that is orchestrating the march of evil on all levels across the planet. The source of all these evils are the undead. Get this through your fucking head.

That is why if these evil monsters are not killed dead, they will destroy the entire earth including themselves. The only victors will be the undead… and they will rot and die and decompose into their own insanities and become just as extinct as the life they destroyed.

The battle between good and evil is simple.
It is the battle of life versus death.
Only if humans relinquish their stupid secular culture of personal hedonism, and wake up and get their heads out of their hedonistic asses will there be ant hope for life on earth.

This book is written to wake the fuck up whoever reads it and spread this book so every living human on earth reads it.

By simply killing a dozen human monsters who are puppets of the undead like the head bankers of the federal reserve and Soros and the Clintons and Fauci and Gates and the heads of the W.H.O.
And the dictator of China and Putin

The entire pyramid of evil can be destroyed.

218

Yet not one human except me: Indrek Pringi has ever come to this obvious conclusion and realization… why?

Because the undead control every single one of you reading this so you do not dare to even think of this obvious solution to all your problems.

Ask yourself why you do not seriously consider organizing people to kill these scum?
They obviously deserve being killed a million times over, but nobody does it.

Ask yourself: why do you not ask questions?
Why are you afraid of asking questions?
Why are unable to ask questions?
Why are you afraid of finding answers to your questions?
What is stopping you from standing up and fighting against evil?

The answer is the undead.
You are being controlled by the undead.
The undead are trying to make sure as few people as possible read this book.
And those who do read this entire book will be targeted.

That is the hurdle and the level and amount of control that undead have over living humans

Unless and until this control over the minds and souls of humans is broken; the undead will lead all of you hedonistic morons into total destruction. It is up to you the reader of this book to share and spread it until there are enough living humans who come together and organize themselves against the undead and against their evil human puppets.

What the unconscious global culture of Hedonism does is it shrinks awareness down to the lowest levels possible. Humans are not aware of anything outside their personal comfort zone simply because they are not interested and don't care about anything larger or more important or wider.

The result is affluent people inventing all kinds of 'hobbies', 'interests', pastimes, to fritter away their meaningless pointless consumer existences.

That is what happens when what you "like" and "dislike" supersedes all questions and issues of morality and ethics. The result is billions of insane unaware consumers and millions of niche hobbies and obsessions that do not address the crucial issues of a civilization that is insane, irrational, destructive and poisonous on a global scale. Hedonistic consumers are oblivious to anything and everything that is outside their bubble of unreality that is created by mass media feeding them trillions of hours of pointless entertainment just so they can waste their lives watching meaningless pointless crap. The trivial example of one person 'doing their own thing' is a curiosity… 8 1/2 billion people 'doing their own thing is mass insanity.

How can you tell that civilization is evil?
Civilization does only two things:
1: It destroys living organisms.
2: It creates Death.
It does not create life: it only creates death
Globally all over the world; civilization kills living organisms. It does not nurture or support life. It only nurtures and supports death.

The undead use billions of insane programmed human insects to kill life and create death.

The mass consumption by living humans is destroying the entire living earth; and none of these human insects is worried about it or thinks there is anything wrong in what they are doing. This is because the undead control them; as they control you reading this; so you will block out and disregard every truth about the existence of the undead.

What does abstraction have to do with actual life? Nothing.
Civilization is based on abstraction not on real Life.

There is no difference between the snake in the Garden of Eden offering Eve a poison apple, to the hag in the fairy tale offering Snow White a poison apple, to the advertisement industry offering the masses poisonous products, to big pharma offering the masses their poison injections. The undead have used the exact same tactic to lure living humans into using evil poisonous products for millions of years… every single invention of civilization has originated from the undead using living humans to further their evil goals and conspiracies.

For example: What is the Pandemic? It is a repeat of the undead's Pandora's Box. In the original Pandora's Box: all the evils of the undead were released when it was opened; spreading misery and unhappiness all over the world… Now, the Pandemic is an actual Box multiplied a millions times over, containing hundreds, thousands, millions of vials of poison to be injected into billions of unsuspecting living people. The undead rely on living people having no perspective on the evils of the world and no historical knowledge of the past. You need a historical perspective of 3,000 years to connect Pandora's Box to the thousands of Boxes that are being manufactured and sold and spread throughout the world today to be able to understand and perceive how the undead work.

Only with a historical perspective that covers millions of years can you see how the undead have worked and continue to work to poison and destroy all life on earth.

The undead have spent millions of years developing and inventing ways of influencing and manipulating living humans without their knowing it or being aware of it: get this through your fucking head

But that does not mean you cannot kill them
And that does not mean you can't refuse to succumb to their evils.

Simply the recognition that all forms of Hedonism are evil and anti-human and antisocial can rejuvenate human societies. Over the last 200 years human communities and community organizations have been targeted by the undead and abolished and poisoned and disappeared until now there are none left… this is a natural outcome of the hedonistic culture of consumerism. The ruling elites of the world have been systematically destroying all community social organizations because they are completely controlled puppets of the undead.

If living humans just killed their ruling elites; the power of the undead and their ability to commit evil would be reduced so greatly that everything would become better and healthier. But the masses have been terrorized and intimidated and brainwashed and oppressed and kept down by the undead to make sure this never happens.

The reason the undead can do this is simple: Organization. By the undead gaining control of those at the top of the organized pyramid of power, they can control all the lower rungs and lower classes… The undead invented and created these pyramidal, centralized organizations for the simple reason that it is easier to control living humans by this economical method than by trying to control everyone. That is why all pyramidal structures of power and all pyramidal organizations are evil: Whoever is at the top of these organizations only got there by being poisoned and corrupted and controlled by the undead, because that is the only kind of people that the undead allow to gain power and rise to power. The undead make sure the masses never become intelligent enough to organize together and kill their oppressors and the ruling elite until now it is virtually impossible for the masses to organize because the undead have permanently brainwashed them into never even dreaming of such a thing.

The fact is: the ruling classes of the world define themselves by Hedonism, they define their superiority by their 'superior' Hedonism, and as a result all the lower classes define themselves in the same way; This is why all of civilization is degenerate and evil.

If the ruling class defined themselves by having a superior set of morals and ethics; that would be the total opposite of the reality of civilization and it would be the opposite of the entire history of civilization, but they have never done that.

One structural reason why the Pyramidality of civilization is evil is because all ruling elites cannot ever admit they were or are wrong… Why? Because their social position in the shit pile of pyramidal civilization defines them as being 'right'… As long as you are in power; you're right. The second you lose power: you're wrong. This also translates into how the history of civilization is recorded… The side that wins is by definition always in the 'right', while the losing side is by definition always in the wrong. This is the evil, corrupt, degenerate mindset and assumption and programming and brainwashing of civilization that guarantees the real truth about its own history is always covered up and buried and rewritten to suit the winners and those in power. This is also the structural reason why all those in power become corrupted by their own social standing and power; regardless if they were corrupt before gaining power or not… When you cannot afford to ever admit that you are or were wrong about anything, then all your mistakes and wrong decisions and actions accumulate until you are trapped by your own lies and misdeeds and crimes and have no choice but to double down on your mistakes and errors until you are completely corrupt and evil. The structural Pyramidality of civilization makes it impossible for the ruling elite to have any set of morals or ethics at all period, because the morality and ethics of pyramidal civilization is: 'might is right'. Those who are at the top have the authority to rule and oppress and tax those beneath them solely based on their position in the pyramidal shit pile of civilization. That is why All pyramidal civilizations are evil and have been evil and will continue to be evil until they destroy themselves and rot and decompose under the accumulated weight of their own self-created evils.

Pyramidalization is the result of one-sided accumulation.

Everything in the Universe is balanced in cycles of accumulation and de-accumulation. The natural cycles of Nature are all balanced; the cosmic cycles are all balanced between composition and decomposition. Snow builds up and melts back into water, forests grow up and decompose back into the soil. What is evil about civilization is its artificial one-sided accumulation of everything from populations, to wealth, to the invention and accumulation of more and more poisonous toxic chemicals, to money, to arsenals of nuclear bombs. etc, etc. This is why all empires are evil and why they always collapse under their own weight. The pointlessness of conquering more and more land and enslaving more and more people to make more and more profits is irrational and evil. Yet this is exactly what civilization glorifies and worships. Instead of seeking a balance, civilization continues to destroy more and more and more of the natural world without any thought to the consequences.

The Hedonism of civilization has reached such insane levels of ease and comfort… you don't have to go to the store to buy anything; you can go online and there are trillions of items that you can buy that will delivered right to your door… you don't have to watch 2 or 3 television channels that offer only a limited number of distractions so you can forget your boring meaningless existence: you can go online and there are millions and millions of entertaining web sites and videos you can watch or read, you don't have to go to a movie theater to see a movie… you have a choice of watching thousands and thousands of movies right from the comfort of your own home… You don't have to watch the entire movie in one go… you can pause it and go to the kitchen for some snacks and sit down and watch iy whenever you please. And all for what? Why? Just to increase the degrees of your Hedonistic life style where machines do everything for you, while you laze your meaningless consumer existence away in the lap of luxury.

The history of civilization is filled with the most horrific crimes and criminals and psychopathic genocidal monsters getting away scot free without anyone of them being held responsible for their crimes, yet nobody is bothered by it… why? Because it's normal? Because its accepted behavior? Because it's the accepted way of civilized existence? Humans don't even see anything wrong about this. Why?

Why is Civilization so Evil?

Because civilized humans are hedonists. Because civilized humans only care about their immediate pleasure and ease. Because civilized humans do not have any set of morals and ethics that they live by.

Oh! There is lip service tsk-tsking and disapproval but is anything actually done about it? Never! Because there is no responsibility in civilization. Humans get away with whatever they can and 99% of of the time they get away with it because no one is held accountable.

That is the lure of the undead. The undead have been tempting and luring living humans into evil for millions of years. Not the devil. Not Satan. Not Beelzebub. Until living humans learn about the undead they will continue to be controlled pawns of the undead.

Reclined endurance: Montenegrins compete for laziest citizen https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=byvrjdombve&ab_channel=radiofreeeurope%2fradioliberty

The unconscious global culture of Hedonism; the pursuit of your own pleasure and ease is now being glorified as a virtue; not a vice. The competition to see who can stay reclined the longest is a perfect example of the insanity and evil of how the undead have managed to brainwash humans into. A competition to see who can do nothing for the longest is a perfect example of Hedonism.

Another perfect example of Hedonism is the credit card. Instead of only buying what you can afford… pay it later! The culture of instant self-gratification is a worldwide culture of hedonistic degenerate filthy evil.

Another perfect example of Hedonism are chip implants… Ooooh, dey are evil! But: it makes it easier for the masses to pay for their purchases. The brainwashed masses will accept these chip implants because they are already wired and programmed into the global unspoken culture of Hedonism. You want to stop the implementation of chip implants which will lead to global tyranny?... Easy: just deprogram 8 ½ billion people from their Hedonistic programming and brainwashing: not gonna happen.

Why is Civilization so Evil?

How can you tell civilization is based on Hedonism? All you need to do is study the history of spices… Huge empires were created; millions of humans traveled tens of thousands of miles… just to add a little bit of extra flavor to their food and beverages. What difference was there between a normal diet, and a diet with a few added spices?... Almost nothing. Europe already had its own varieties of spices; it had its own naturally grown spices that are endemic to the regions where Europeans lived. What was this entire craze about? The same is true with the famous Silk Road… A new fabric, a little warmer and smoother than linen or wool justified it being imported over 10,000 miles… what was all this craze about? Hedonism?... No…

The undead using the excuse, the rationale of Hedonism to spread its control over humans on a global interconnected scale, using Hedonism and these pointless trivial things to invent and create more and more and more poisonous addictive substances and beverages to poison living humans and addict them and enslave them. Until now almost everything humans eat or drink is addictive.

From the 18th century diet of addictive substances: fat, salt, sugar, alcohol. Tobacco, chocolate; coffee was then added. Then opium and heroin were added.

Then the pharmaceutical industry introduced and began selling hundreds of thousands of legalized drugs and pills. There are no rational logical reasons why civilization should develop in this diseased, addictive, meaningless, pointless way without the understanding that the Undead are behind it all. Only then does the history of civilization make sense. Cheese is addictive. Pizza is addictive, hamburgers are addictive. French fries are addictive, corn is addictive. Barbecued meat is addictive.

Instead of correctly naming these foods as addictive the euphemism called ‘comfort food’ has been invented: Oops! Again the elephant in the room is staring you in the face… The elephant that nobody notices and everyone takes for granted is everywhere you look: pleasure, comfort, ease, sloth, everything has to become easier and easier and easier. Labor saving devices, endless new gadgets invented every year; and for what? Why? What is this craze all about? Hedonism? Unconscious Hedonism? Programmed Hedonism? No. The undead using the oldest lure in the book ever since Eve offered Adam an apple to bring evil into the world. The undead have been using this lure for millions of years, bringing millions of new evils into the world.

Why is Civilization so Evil?

226

Understand This

Everything that is sold is meant to addict you to using it or eating or drinking it. Everything that is bought is meant to addict you
The capitalist culture of buying and selling is evil
The concept of buying and selling is evil

Understand this…

Corporations are corpses of the undead designed to control and ruin living humans.

The growth of corporations and their increase of power over humans is the growth of and increase of power of the undead over living humans

All corporations are evil manifestations of undead corpses.
Why is civilization evil? Because it is based on scarcity, not abundance.

Nature and Life is based on abundance. Civilization does not value water and air… Anything that is abundant is considered to be worthless by civilization… BUT without water and air you cannot live. Civilization has no problem polluting the air we breathe and the water we drink because it does not value the abundance of Nature. Instead it values diamonds and gold. You can live without diamonds and gold but you can't live without water and air. Civilization has no problem polluting and poisoning the earth; but humans cannot live without earth. The undead have reversed the values of Life; civilization is their invention and it mirrors the values of the undead. Civilization values dead things and death; not Life and living things.

Another way you can tell civilization is based on Hedonism is every holiday is celebrated by a feast and gluttony. The history of feasting is thousands of years old and was based on the fact that only the rich could afford a feast. Now, the masses are aping and copying and emulating the culture of the filthy rich and have been brainwashed into copying all of their vices and abominations.

And what is the engine that is driving this global unspoken culture of hedonism? What has driven the culture of hedonism for thousands of years? Money, gold, the hoarding of wealth; the one-sided accumulation of money and everything else that can be accumulated inside the one-sided accumulation of the pyramidal shitpile of civilization including otts population… increasing from hundreds to thousands to millions to billions of programmed brainwashed consumers whose only reason for existence is to consume goods and products so the filthy rich can profit from their consumption. Without money… without the concept of accumulating abstract zeroes in your banks account, without the pointless concept of accumulating anything; civilization could not have been born and invented by the undead.

But what was the real engine that spread the unspoken culture of Hedonism to the masses? Hollywood… movies… television. At first it glorified the lifestyles of the idle rich, it glorified and whitewashed the filthy rich. Then the new advertising industry sold the new culture of consumerism to the masses, which is only thinly veiled Hedonism. Now it is the internet and computers that have spread like a disease all over the world; trapping billions of brainwashed humans into a lifestyle of permanent sloth and hedonism… You can see this hedonistic culture being glorified in the 1950's by the rat pack. Babes, booze, night clubs, gambling… all sold by a small bunch of famous 'entertainers" singing songs. The music industry was also an engine that brainwashed the masses into worshiping their idols, whose lifestyle of drugs and wealth led to drug overdoses and death. The recent history is all out there for anyone with a critical awareness and a sense of morality and ethics to see. Today the unspoken unconscious, degenerate global culture of Hedonism is so blatant, so obvious everyone can see it;

But they don't see it because they are all controlled by the undead.

One example and proof that civilization is based on Hedonism is the mass brainwashing that you are not supposed to judge people, you are not allowed to judge people. This comes from the mass understanding that nobody has any ethics or morals that are superior to anyone else's, and for the most part, this is true… however, the rare times when someone does have a set of morals and ethics that are superior to the masses: they are ignored because the masses do not believe in any morals or ethics period. Their version of morality and ethics is based on what they 'like' and what they 'dislike'. In other words for the huge majority of people, ethics and morals are just a matter of convenience and conformity. Whatever is the current meme or latest sensation is what they go along with.

Another proof that civilization is the obsession over 'winning"… The brainwashed assumption that whoever wins is in the right… when the exact opposite is true. The undead have made sure that it is always the most evil who win, and those who are less evil always lose. That is how totally the undead permeate the realm of the living and how much they control everything in civilization. The entire dynamic and basis of winning is the result of the Pyramidality of civilization and it being structured and based on one-sided accumulation. By accumulating too many humans in one area and by that structural reality, pitting them against themselves, the dynamic of adversarial competition is created. Anthropologists found that isolated Stone Age tribes living in the Amazon jungle had no concept of adversarial competition because they had no one to compete against. The undead have pitted tribe against tribe and individual against individual for millions of years. How? The undead live and hide inside every one of you… they have inserted themselves into the living bodies of living animals long before the human species evolved out of tree dwelling apes.

Why is Civilization so Evil?

Get this through your head.

In an intelligent civilization unpoisoned by the undead; the concept of adversarial competition would not exist. Instead all humans will be focused on improving themselves and their communities and the entire living Earth that they live on. Instead of poisoning and polluting and destroying the entire Earth as it is doing now.

And finally: the reason civilization is evil is because it destroys nature. Civilization kills, poisons, pollutes and destroys all living thing on earth. All deserts in the world have been caused by humans because the undead have used living humans to kill all life on earth for at least hundreds of thousands of years. Get this through your head. The undead have been using living humans to commit evil for millions of years. Get

And finally: in an intelligent mature civilization there is no need for money. In a civilization where everyone cooperates willingly and voluntarily with everyone else, there is no need for money. There us no need for self-aggrandizing motives and no need to hoard anything selfishly. People will help each other because everyone will be working to improve the health of the entire living earth instead of just trying to improve themselves… but! Improving yourself will improve the entire living Earth also! So there will be no difference between improving yourself or improving the entire living Earth: they are one and the same thing.

Do the ruling elites of the world try to improve themselves? No! A thousand times no! Instead they descend down into the most evil degeneracy's possible. They destroy themselves by their own evils because all of them are possessed and controlled by the rotting undead.

The illogical, insane, irrational evils of civilization are so many, it would take me over 1,000 pages to list them and even then I wouldn’t be finished.

Why is Civilization so Evil?

From the abstract insanity of money and its one-size-fits all attempt to become a universal value system, to the insane assumption that one can put a dollar value on humans life, to the insanity of not applying this dollar value of human life to any other from of life… To the insanity of the number of zeroes in your bank account determining your wealth, to the insanity of electronic digital transactions being made instantly over the internet, to the insanity of plastic cards and pin numbers holding all of your financial money.

Another reason civilization is evil is because the global unspoken culture of Hedonism, as expressed in the global culture of consumerism, which is based on instant self-gratification; has destroyed all sense of community and all organizations of a communal or community nature. There are no places left to go to socialize with others except the mall… which is just a mass of hedonistic consumers flocking to a centralized location to buy their materialistic crap to gratify their own selfish personal interests. Through the globalization of commerce and the globalization of the use of the internet; people no longer even go to stores to buy what they want… they sit at home and order everything online… which leaves them isolated, alone, lonely, with no place to go to meet other people. The global culture of internet anonymity and secrecy has turned billions of brainwashed people into scared little insects who are paranoid of everyone they don't know personally. Humans are social animals; we are designed to socialize with each other. The lack of social contact with others is systematically dehumanizing the entire human species.

How can you tell if something is evil? If it is one-dimensional it is pure evil. If it is two-dimensional it is pure evil. If it is three dimensional; if it is dead you are not designed to touch it; you should not touch it. Humans are only designed to touch living organisms like plants and trees and animals and each other. The entire history of humans and our ancestors has been a systematic successful attempt to get us to stop touching living things and touch dead things like rocks and dead wood, and tools fashioned by rocks and dead wood and machines fashioned by tools. That is the entire de-evolution of Humanity which is called 'progress' but is actually pure evil.

Why is Civilization so Evil?

Why is the tree of knowledge named in the bible as the source of all evil? Because humans used their knowledge to make tools by to kill other animals with…. What the bible does not tell you is that it was the undead that poisoned the bodies and lives of the first humans so they would develop the technology of making tools,,, What the bible does not tell you is that the 'god' it speaks of were and are undead evil entities who pose themselves falsely as a 'god' but actually are undead rotting evil things that have deceived living humans for thousands and millions of years as to what they actually are and their actual motives; which is the destruction of all Life on Earth. The bible itself is an instrument of evil deception, and so are ALL religions because they are all based on lies, deceptions and untruths. It is only when you understand this that the entire history of humans up to and including the present makes any rational sense.

The entire reason the ruling elite can run their govts and corporations and think tanks and secret organizations like The Council on Foreign relations, etc. is based on the hedonism of the masses… towhit; their disinterest in what their leaders are doing because they are only focused and interested in their own personal pursuit of pleasure and ease. Without this mass unspoken Cultural religion of mass hedonism; the masses would educate and inform themselves about corruption at the top. This could only happen IF the majority of humans shared a common ethos and morals, and IF people cared enough about their morals and ethics to fight for it and if necessary, die for it.

Instead, history is filled with rare exceptions where one person or a small group actually had a set of common morals and ethics and were dedicated enough to fight and even die for it… they are called martyrs, they were all killed while the masses watched and did nothing. A perfect example is Jesus… other examples are people the catholic church decide to call 'saints' years after they were killed as martyrs. The oppression of the pyramidal structural of civilization is based on the terrorization of the masses, and that is based on the cowardice of the masses and that is based on the masses having no common set of ethics and morals, which means enough conviction to stand up and fight for their morals and ethics. Not for their 'beliefs'.

All actions, feelings, thoughts that are done in secret are evil!! Humans are designed to be open and honest in everything they do, feel and think.
The only reason anything is done secretly is out of fear. The fear of being caught doing something evil.

The new internet cult of anonymous secrecy has brainwashed and programmed billions of people into feeling like criminals. Instead of criminals being afraid of honest people, honest people are now afraid of criminals. The undead have reversed the natural order in civilization and in humans because they are the reverse of nature. All nature is alive. All the undead are dead and rotting and evil.

Nearly all food and beverages except for naturally grown food and water is designed to be addictive and most of it is unhealthy and bad for you. The term: "comfort food" covers most of the products found in supermarkets.

This shows again that civilization is based on the unspoken, degenerate practicing culture and religion of pure hedonism. Food and water are designed and meant to give you energy and keep you healthy… nothing else. Most people eat ten times more than they need to keep themselves nourished. The nutrional fact is that you will live longer and be healthier if you go on a fast regularly… humans are genetically designed to fast; it helps to cleanse toxins from your body. Also, humans live only so long because their organs wear out… by fasting regularly and eating less you will live longer and be healthier simply out of common sense because it will take longer for your organs to wear out if you use them less.

The main force that programs and brainwashes billions of people into the unconscious, unspoken religion and culture of practicing pure Hedonism is commercials… the commercial industry is based on selling the masses pleasure and ease. Billions, trillions of commercials show people being happy smiling, because something being sold is easier, something being sold gives them pleasure… the basic message of all these trillions of commercials is the same… pleasure and ease makes you happy… happiness comes from pleasure and ease. This message is blatant, obvious; and there is no other message refuting or challenging this message in civilization to tell you that it is not true… that it is a blatant lie. There is no competing message in civilization to tell you that it is not true… the entire basis of glorifying civilization is based on propaganda that shows civilization to be a progress of improving people's lives… by making everything easier for them. By giving them more pleasure and ease and affluence.

The fact that the history of civilization is filled with war and rape and mass murder and greed and avarice and corruption is completely ignored and discounted from the selling point of making things easier.

What is also blatant is how meaningless and trivial and ridiculous most commercials are… the fact that the entire basis of capitalist mass manufacturing, the entire global network of huge cargo ships, the entire huge oil industry that the global shipping industry is based on, the entire network of businesses and international corporations… is based on selling products whose commercials have no meaning and are purely trivial; should tell you something… that commercials are lying to you. If a someone lived their entire life without ever seeing a commercial and was shown one; they would think it insane. And it is. Commercials are pure insanity selling the religion and culture of pure Hedonism.

The idea-concept called "happiness" has been for thousands of years linked to pleasure and ease and wealth and fame… the truth is this link is false.

People don't know what true happiness is because they have never experienced it. True happiness only exists when everyone around you and all the living things around you are also happy; and that has never existed because ever since the first living organisms died and the afterlife of their rotting decomposing energy auras permeated living organisms with their foul evil presence… all life on earth was poisoned by them. The most happiness a person can experience on earth is without any pleasure or ease or wealth or fame. Why? Because all pleasure and ease and wealth and fame is fleeting and artificial… none of these superficial Hedonistic degeneracy's change or improve the soul, the spiritual wellness of a person; instead it rots and debilitates the human soul… this is why so many people who experience huge fame and wealth from humble backgrounds die from drug overdoses and suicide. This is because they are spiritually bankrupt; they have no reason to live… once they realize the emptiness of Hedonism, they implode self-destructively because they are empty inside. But this does not deter the brainwashed masses from pursuing the shiny baubles of many, wealth, affluence, pleasure, ease, luxury, etc. Civilization holds up the top of its pyramidal shitpile as a pinnacle of success, and because civilization has no universal set of morals and ethics to live by; people have no alternative example except what they were born into.

What is "the American dream" that all the world seeks to emulate and copy? Even to the point of literally copying it like in "the Canadian dream"?... It is pure Hedonism. The entire world of billions of humans are struggling and striving to reach a total fantasy created and invented to lure humans into the addiction to pleasure and ease…

But wait… Then why are so many billions of people unable to reach this dream? Why are they perpetually struggling under low wages and high taxes and wars and mass poverty and govt corruption and oppression and mass brainwashing and mass conflicts and hate and fear and paranoia and alienation and social isolation?

Why are billions of people unhappy? Why are the filthy rich hiding themselves in secrecy and anonymity behind huge walls and armed guards and bodyguards in huge private secluded mansions?

Because the dream, that is being sold to the masses is a stinking evil; it is a lie that was invented by the undead ever since the first living human was lured into evil by the snake in the Garden of Eden… that's why

Why is Civilization so Evil?

235

Get this into your head; the undead have poisoned and corrupted living humans from the very beginning.

The history of humans; the entire evolution of humans is a devolution of a species designed not to kill anything, into the most evil destructive killing force on the living earth… and in order to do this, the undead made humans unhappy and they and you will continue to be unhappy until you recognize the true origins of evil on this earth and kill all evildoers and renounce your stupid American and Canadian dream and renounce all Hedonism in all its myriad evil cunning shapes and forms.

The most powerful force that shaped and controlled and determined what civilization turned into: the root of all these forces and motives was the global culture and practicing religion of Hedonism. The silk road, the spice trade routes that sparked the western colonization of the rest of the world was based on luxury goods and rare spices that were not available in the west. The present oil industry that civilization is dependent on for its basic functioning is and was all based on Hedonism. Making everything cheaper, making travel affordable, fuelling machines that make the present machine civilization possible allowed the culture and unspoken practicing religion of Hedonism to spread all over the world and made it possible for the population explosion of billions of Hedonistically brainwashed consumers to pollute and poison the entire living earth.

The practicing religion and culture of civilization is unspoken… humans are not aware that they are practicing it because the undead do not want living humans to realize that they have been sold an evil lie. The undead keep living humans unaware of their own corruption and their own programmed brainwashing because if they did not…. Living people would find out that the source of all evil on earth are these rotting cunning filthy undead pieces of shit.

From the drug cartels and the money laundering of all that dirty money that keeps the international banking cartel banks from insolvency, to the legal pharmaceutical drug industry, to the perfume industry, to the fashion industry, to the car industry, to the meat industry, to the soft drink industry to the dairy industry, to the gambling industry, to the sex industry to the tourist industry, to the restaurant industry to the movie industry, to bouncy castles, to Disneyland, to amusement parks to pleasure cruises to the internet… to the fast food industry to cookies… cookies! Instant gratification! Potato chips! Instant gratification! Salt! Sugar! Tobacco! Chocolate! Caffeine! Alcohol! Drugs!

All of it is driven by Hedonism
All of it is based on Hedonism
None of them are needed to live a healthy life.
All of them are addictive.
All of them are bad for you.

Civilization is an insane mechanical machine that is mass manufacturing trillions of products every day to feed the insatiable appetite for more pleasure and ease by the billions of insane brainwashed programmed humanoid insects Whom the undead have taken over and control

Why is there this obsession of unearthing ancient tombs all over the world? Why do archaeologists seek for these ancient tombs? Why is this search for ancient tombs glorified?

Because the dead seek to unearth their own undead from their prisons and free them to wreak more evil all over the world once again. These evil tombs are like Pandora's boxes… once freed from their rotting slumber the undead spirits trapped inside are unleashed to wreak horror and evil, just like in raiders of the lost ark.

Do you think this is joke?? The undead seek to free their own undead every chance they get. They are malevolent insane rotting horrors.

Why is Civilization so Evil?

No degenerate, decadent Hedonistic human will be able to read this tome without fleeing from its truths and dropping it in terror and never reading it again. Only those few whose search for truth is without fear can read this book. Only the few who are not afraid of the horrible truth will read this and learn from this book. I: Indrek Pringi am one of those few.

How can you tell that modern civilization is based on the Hedonistic pursuit of pleasure and ease? You can tell by two of the greatest engineering projects ever achieved by modern civilization: the Suez canal and the panama canal. They were built to make the passage of ships from one ocean to another ocean easier and faster. Modern civilization is based on the religions of easier and faster. Computers are continually being innovated to become faster and easier to use. Planes, cars, trains have all been innovated to become easier and faster, everything from fast food to fast cars to fast women to speed dating to speed dialing to speedboats, etc. And nobody questions it, it is an unspoken practicing religion that is never looked at, never questioned, never debated, never doubted. If it's easier and faster it must be good.

All the depravities and abominations and evils of civilization can be linked to the unspoken cult of Hedonism and the undead who constantly push these evils onto humans. The process of Hedonism is purification… it is a process of rotting. Every Hedonistic practice decomposes and rots into even more putrid, degenerate abominations of evil. The pursuit of pleasure and ease is the pursuit of evil. Until humans understand this as a species, as a global understanding; humans will continue to be the easy pawns of the undead and easily led into more and more evil.

All that needs to be asked in order to expose the meaninglessness and pointlessness of hedonism is to ask the question:

To what end?

What is the justification for Hedonism? What is the desired result? What is the goal of Hedonism?

Why is Civilization so Evil?

238

Sickness, weakness, degeneracy, laziness, sloth, sexual perversions, spiritual perversions. Emotional and mental perversions

The paths of pleasure and ease all lead to the devil

Civilization has become a giant amusement park for the living.
This giant amusement park was invented and developed over thousands of the undead to lead all humans into evil. It has become a giant distraction machine to keep the brainwashed dehumanized masses unaware of what is really going on and what is really important. As long as living humans focus only on the pursuit of their own pleasure and ease, they will continue to be easily manipulated puppets by the the undead. Humans have been programmed and brainwashed to be crisis oriented insects. By continually feeding the masses with a steady diet of crises, whether manufactured or real; the undead keep living humans dumbed down and ignorant and unaware of what is really going on behind closed doors in secret.

And what is the engine driving all this evil? *Money... millions of abstract zeroes created in computers turning bank ledgers into depositories of millions of instant abstract dollars by central banks creating cash out of nothing. And nobody cares or notices this fraud and farce! Everyone is only concerned about their money, nobody else's… so what if it is worthless? So what if it is meaningless? So what if it an insane irrational abstraction? As long as corrupted brainwashed humans can use money to pursue their own goals of pleasure and ease; the ugly truth about money and avarice and greed and criminality is ignore and whitewashed and painted over with lies and cover-ups and censorship, truth tellers and whistle blowers are murdered with ease and nobody says a word… as long as you can buy things with it; nobody questions money… but once it becomes valueless; horrors! Oh the consternation and grief and suffering. Oh the poverty and impoverishment! Nobody has the brains to ask how did humans become so dependent on such an abstract thing as money. Nobody even dreams of not using money. Nobody even dreams of sharing their wealth for the greater good. Each little miserly selfish stinking grasping soul cares only about their own well-being, their own money.. Why?

Because of the unspoken assumption that all humans are selfish greedy grasping little scum and nobody is any better than they are.

Literally everything in civilization is based on the unspoken cult of Hedonism… from 15 minute cities to pleasure cruises to dining out, to cocktail parties to shopping online to watching movies online to barca loungers to my pillow.com, to supermarkets to shopping malls to cars, planes, trains, to bicycles, roller skates, ski resorts, tourism, vacation resorts, hotels, stores, etc, etc ad nausea. Nobody thinks there is anything wrong in this. Everything from prostitution to drugs to crime is based on the unspoken cult of Hedonism. The oldest profession in civilized societies is based on the pursuit of pleasure and ease but the unspoken cult of the pursuit of pleasure and ease is millions of years older than that…

Humans are designed to only touch living creatures and each other… Now there are billions of humans touching the flat screens of their I-phones instead of touching each other… That is how much the undead have managed to poison and corrupt and reverse the natural need for humans to touch each other… The undead over millions of years got humans to only touch dead things by the invention of tools used to kill other living creatures… what's more; human feet are not designed to walk on dead things like rock… the undead managed to poison this by getting humans to walk on sandy beaches. Human feet are designed to only walk on soft living grass without harming it. Humans are designed not to harm any living things on earth. When you look at what the world is now; you can see how far from our designed function the undead have managed to successfully poison and reverse our designed function.

Get this through your head

Why is Civilization so Evil?

It took millions of years of the undead poisoning and violating and controlling and manipulating living humans in order to arrive at the present state of insanity, where machines and tools are turning humans into dehumanized, brainwashed, programmed puppets that further the ghouls of the dead, which is the destruction of all life on earth.

The global culture of Hedonistic consumerism succeeds by programming humans into pleasing their lowest most unintelligent urges and instincts: what are there urges? The taste buds on your mouth; your sexual urges and genitals; when your behavior is controlled by these urges; you become stupid and dumbed down. Also… distraction… programming people to have shorter and shorter attention spans until they cannot concentrate long enough to read a full page of text, never mind a whole book. The creation of flat screen technology where literally everything is now moving images has destroyed literacy and the ability to focus on anything longer than 10 seconds. Children are growing up permanently brain damaged because they were raised from birth watching moving illusions on flat screens. Distraction, porn, addictive consumer products is the present global culture of hedonistic civilization and it is getting progressively worse at an accelerating rate of mass paranoia, mass brainwashing, mass insanity that can be tracked and seen over a short period of a few years, months, days…

All of this is based on Hedonism

Your computer, your car, your tv, your microwave, your stove, your fridge, your indoor plumbing, your electricity, your heating, your air conditioning, your insulated houses, your apartments, your paved roads, your bridges, your international shipping, your container ships, your huge oil tankers, your oil refineries, your gas stations are all Hedonism. The entire reason for their existence is based on Hedonism

Billions of unhealthy people who can barely walk watching a few elite athletes straining all their muscles; addicted to distraction, vicariously living through them, when it is all an illusion. Where does it come from? From the Roman empire and its way of satisfying the mob with bread and circuses, from the Greek amphitheatres where Greeks gathered to be collectively brainwashed in their culture of gods and goddesses and fate and tragedy and comedy.

Where does this come from? From the fact that undead entities have gathered around living humans and lived through them vicariously in order to escape the rotting horror of their own auras and the rotting insanity of their realms of the undead.

The undead hover around every living human and watch them as a form of distraction from their own decomposing death… they have done this for millions of years and are doing it now and will continue to do it…

Unless and until living humans wake up and realize that their entire lives are being poisoned and violated by these filthy undead ghouls, and begin to kill and exterminate these rotting undead filthy turds so they are exterminated and wiped out of existence.

What are the trillions of fiction books that have poisoned and brainwashed untold billions of people ever since the first fiction book was written based on? They are based on the undead secretly living inside their victims experiencing their lives vicariously until humans started living vicariously through books also. Everything in civilization is a reflection of the undead and their filthy evils because civilization is their invention.

Get this through your head
Civilization was invented by the undead
And everything in it is evil

Why are there slaughter houses? Because it is easier to kill and butcher living animals in a centralized location. Why do humans kill living animals? Because the undead got them to invent tools so they could kill animals with them. The use of tools has dehumanized living people by making them able to kill when humans are not designed to kill. The undead have reversed the designed function of humans from nurturing all life to killing, poisoning and destroying all life.

How are the masses brainwashed and programmed to believe in the religion of Hedonism and practice it themselves?... By their idols, their rock stars and movie stars and celebrities flaunting their million dollar mansions and expensive cars and yachts and private jets, and swimming pools and expensive clothes. By every upper class flaunting its wealth and luxury in front of the lower classes and using it to define their superiority. From thousands of years of kings and queens flaunting their obscene wealth, by their huge palaces and dishes made out of pure gold and their feasting and luxuries. By their gluttony and sloth and ease and degenerate pleasures. The richest and most powerful people in history have always defined their themselves and separated themselves from the lower classes by their superior luxury and pleasure and ease.

It doesn't take a genius to figure out why the entire human species has been programmed into practicing Hedonism for thousands of years.

What it will take to deprogram them and you from Hedonism is the complete self-destruction and dissolution of civilization as it now stands.

This book will not be read by any but the rare few who are enlightened enough to want to read it, and it will be understood and accepted by even fewer because the entire living population of humans are controlled and infested with undead filth who actively suppress and sabotage all dangerous truths that threaten their secret existence; especially this book.

Only once the present civilization destroys itself will there be any hope of creating a new civilization that is not based on the evils of the undead and not controlled by the undead… this book is meant for those future generations who will be able to learn from the mistakes of this civilization and not repeat them.

It is up to the readers of this book to preserve it for future generations by setting it into printed form so when their computers no longer work, they will still have preserved the most important document ever written by man, and spread this book to as many enlightened humans as possible.

Another fact that exposes how civilization is a product of the undead and humans are controlled by the undead is the huge obsession with the past and the glorification of the past, while completely ignoring all and any focus on the future…

The undead do not want humans to focus on the future because if humans are allowed to focus on the future; they will realize that the direction the present civilization is headed in is the destruction and pollution of the entire living earth… for the supposed short term sake of satisfying the hedonistic stinking consumer products like toilet paper and gasoline, and plastic bottles etc, ad nausea…because the entire population of living humans are programmed and brainwashed to ignore everything and anything that does not directly affect their immediate personal pursuit of pleasure, comfort and ease… the few whistle blowers who try to warn people of the coming future are totally ignored by the billions of masses.

What do you think all this surveillance technology and spy cams and govts spying on their people is about?... The undead have been spying on humans for over a million years… humans spying on each other are merely a reflection of what the undead do… everything in civilization is a reflection of the undead because the undead vicariously live through watching us living humans and their evil filthy stinking poisonous presence rubs off on all human activity and endeavors. Living humans are becoming a mere reflection of the undead that invade their lives and bodies and souls and minds and genitals. As long as living humans are unaware of this: as long as living humans are not aware of the pervasive existence of the undead all around them and inside them; they will continue to be unwitting pawns and puppets of the undead… this is why i am writing this book.

Why is Civilization so Evil?

The entire world needs to read this book;
Otherwise there is no hope for humanity or this living earth.

One thing the undead have done for at least thousands of years is poison and prevent all true love from happening, and when that doesn't work: they make sure the lovers die… this is why all the love stories from Helen of Troy to Tristan and Isolde to Romeo and Juliet to Wuthering Heights are tragedies.

I know because I have been a victim of their filthy evil cunning secret conspiracies to destroy all and any love.

Only after decades of discovery and searching for the truth did I begin to discover how evil and filthy and despicable these undead unspeakably evil things are, the more I unearthed, the more and more all the things that happened in my life were explained by how the undead deliberately poisoned and filthied all chance of love from ever happening…

What humans call "love" is not true love… it is the marriage of two poisoned unaware controlled human drones who are no threat to the undead and are allowed to procreate only because their lives and their children's lives are used to create more and more evil, and to dumb down the human species more and more so all the genes that are capable of producing true intelligence and true love go extinct.

How can this be? No love? The answer is simple… if you are a consumer: the undead are using you to systematically consume and destroy all the world's natural resources and pollute the entire world with the garbage you throw away every day because of your consumption. You entire impact on this living earth is totally destructive… the undead are using billions of brainwashed consumers to destroy the earth; and one of them is you.
Destructive selfish consumers are not capable of true love. True love is unselfish and giving. Consumers do not know how to give and the few who do are betrayed and used and burnt so badly they never do it again.

Why is Civilization so Evil?

245

Understand this

The undead do not have a deadline or a calendar to achieve their goal of destroying all life on this earth… they can take as many thousands of years as they want… provided living humans do not wake up and discover their existence and what their ultimate goal is, and the only way to stop these unspeakable filth is to hunt them down and exterminate every last one until none of them are left to pursue their stinking evil ghouls and plans.. Why do you think the word ghoul and the word goal is the same??? Because the undead like to leave little tell-tale signs of their existence in their confidence that nobody alive will ever decrypt or discover their true meanings…

The goals of all the undead are the same.
All the undead ghouls have one single common goal

The undead have invented and constructed civilization to coincide with their goals so all living human goals align with their goals whether humans know it or not… no matter what your goals are… the only goals you will succeed in will be what the undead want you to succeed in… anything and everything that is too positive and too intelligent is deliberately sabotaged by them and poisoned and made sure it fails…

Why do you think animal skins are called hides??
Because the undead hide under the skin of animals to escape from being decomposed by the direct light of the sun. The undead have hidden under the skins of animals for millions of years… and before that under the skins of reptiles and the shells of clams and crabs and crustaceans…

The entire propaganda of ‘freedom’ and ‘liberty’ and ‘the pursuit of happiness’ and ‘human rights’ is thinly veiled hedonism simply because all of these ‘rights’ and ‘freedoms’ and ‘liberties’ are used to practice pure hedonism… they are not used to spread happiness… they are not used to spread freedom. They are not used to spread liberty… they are used so humans can pursue their personal hedonistic goals of comfort, pleasure and ease. Nothing else.

You can see the degeneration of civilized culture in the cultural myths that civilization has preserved and then reversed… first there was the 'hero' who stood up and fought against evil… then that was magically reversed into the anti-hero, where thugs killing and robbing for money became the new 'heroes' of the modern age.

This can be seen in how the Italian spaghetti westerns by Sergio Leone completely transformed the image of the western hero from a person who stood up for decency and against greed and corruption, into paid killers killing for money… how did this happen? It happened because his films were musically scored diabolically to increase the dramatic impact on the audience, so they were subconsciously brainwashed by the music… what kind of music? Ennio Morricone's music is an abomination of music… he includes all kinds of unmusical tricks and devices, together with huge choruses without any words, singers wailing without words, and the words; shouting unmusically over and over 'we can fight! We can fight!'

This devil's brew was lapped up by the masses, already cynically inclined to deride all decent morality and ethics as a new fad. Before that there were the 'film noir' Hollywood movies that spewed all kinds of evil and crime for the voyeuristic masses to live through because their everyday lives were so boring and empty, anything that is evil and forbidden becomes attractive merely for its sensationalism. Civilization has been breaking the bounds and limits of decency, morality and ethics for thousands of years… these example are only ones recent enough to remember. The culture of glorifying criminals; making them more popular with the masses than honest people is older than Billy the Kid… it began when the masses recognized that the armed forces of the king are the evil ones and the few, rare bandits and pirates who went against the rule of law were at least against the established oppression of the masses.
The truth is humans are designed to undergo hardships.

Why is Civilization so Evil?

247

Civilization takes away all natural hardships that keep humans healthy and improves their species.

That is the basic evil of Hedonism. A life of comfort with no hardship is unhealthy, unnatural and evil.

Without experiencing hardship; humans cannot truly empathize with the hardships of others.

The result of Hedonistic civilization is the spawning of billions of sickly, weak, diseased humans kept alive by the inventions of the undead… in order to make sure that no human entering the realms of the undead are a threat to their existence.

The undead have isolated, alienated and separated humans from each other as much as possible.

This has been done by systematically destroying and poisoning all social organizations and activities so people now grow up from birth alone, without and social contact with others and without learning how to create and jeep close relationships with each Other.

First there was the filthy evil custom of making babies and children sleep apart from their parents instead of together each night touching each other in comfort and safety; separating babies and children from their parents creates all kinds of fears and they suffer from nightmares because now the undead can surround their beds with their foul presence and invade their dreams. This creates an emptiness and loneliness that they suffer from for the rest of their lives… this in turn is used by the undead to twist their actions and decisions and thoughts so they make the wrong choices when it comes to socializing and choosing a partner.

Now with flat screen technology: babies and children's development is being permanently harmed by not interacting with the real world and developing connections with abstract cartoon cookie cutout dolls like teletubbies, that spawned a thousand other shows.

Flat screen technology starting with moving pictures, and then television and then computer screens and the internet have turned billions of people into insane, paranoid, irrational, illiterate freaks who only respond to images: not written words and are not able to think… they only react to stimuli like Pavlov's dogs and have become predictably brainwashed and programmed to think, feel and believe whatever the mass media tells them.

This state of mass brainwashed, dumbed down insanity in the millions is now the norm for billions of civilized people, and it is now unstoppable.

Why should humans be responsible at all? What is the reason for us to be responsible? Because we humans are the most advanced, intelligent animal life forms on earth, and as such we have a responsibility to give a living example to all other animals how they should live…

Instead we have become the most destructive evil species on this planet because of the undead poisoning our designed natural functions and our intrinsic potentials and abilities… this truth is so starkly obvious today it cannot be denied. The undead have poisoned and twisted humans so we do the reverse of all our designed functions. Instead of giving and nurturing life, we destroy and poison and pollute it. Instead of spreading friendship and love: we spread hatred and mistrust.

This is why we living humans must hunt down these filthy invasive evil undead foul filth and kill them utterly…

All that needs to be done is some technically educated enlightened people to make a machine that can detect all forms of energy… not just electro-magnetic energy. We can easily build an energy detector for electricity that measures millionths of an amp or volt… and it is very cheap to make and easy to use… once we make such a detector, we will be able to easily see these filthy things and hunt them down and kill them dead.

What all science and all civilization bases its explanation and rationale for the behavior of all living organisms and all humans is the shit term of "self-interest".

This is double speak for unspoken global culture and religion of pure hedonism.
In this way: all crimes, criminals, evil deeds, conspiracies, are no longer evil or bad; they are just "natural" manifestations of self-interest.

Even science has been poisoned by Hedonism. The modern theory of evolution is based on self-interest. All science's interpretation of animal and human behavior is explained by self-interest

In this way… civilization has successfully obliterated and wiped out all concepts of morality and ethics… all concepts of good and bad, good and evil; have been wiped away by science viewing humans as being no different or better than any other animal.

This way; Stalin killing, murdering, starving and sending millions of his own subjects to die and be worked to death in concentration camps was not evil or bad… it was just an understandable behavior of a dictator wanting to secure his dictatorial power, it was just a natural manifestation of "self-interest"

This can be traced back to Darwin, and his seminal scientific treatise: "the origins of species"… in which he tries to rationalize that the only ultimate motive all species have is self-survival

Nothing else

Why is Civilization so Evil?

250

Darwin tried unsuccessfully to exclude the human species in his theory… he fought with his Christian upbringing and his scientific objectivity, and his scientific objectivity won out…

What he and all civilized humans did not and still do not understand is that the dehumanized abomination called scientific objectivity is a filthy, evil, inhuman form of pure evil…

The separation of intellect and emotion… the splitting and disconnecting of these two aspects of humanity, and worse… placing intellect above emotion! Divorcing intellect from human emotion… as intellect being the superior supreme aspect of humans that determines all truth; this was just one regressive step in turning living humans into mechanized drones, into an insane reflection of the undead filth that infests all humans and has done ever since the first humans were born.

Scientists experimenting on dogs or mice or on other humans is just a reflection of what the undead have done to humans for millions of years.

The insanity of civilization is just a reflection of the insanity of the undead that permeate the bodies, souls, minds, hearts, genitals and the space nly d all living humans.

Until all living humans become aware of the all-pervasive presence of the undead: they will continue to be puppets poisoned by and controlled by the undead.

What the undead have done to living humans for millions of years is drive them down to thee lowest possible level of existence and awareness, to the point where they are barely surviving.

The undead know if living humans are allowed to develop their intrinsic natural abilities and potential, that they will kill them all dead. By forcing them to live inside the irrational, insane monstrosity of civilization the undead make sure no alternative to their artificial evil invention ever succeeds. They make sure no other possibility is tried or explored or even thought of.

Humans were designed, and are still designed to travel, walk, explore, learn, experiment, try new things, learn new things; and by doing so: explore and learn about the intricacies of nature and all the living things on the living earth…

Humans were designed, and are still designed to be empathetic… we are designed to feel what other living things feel; and in doing so: learns what they feel and how they feel and why they feel; and in doing so; come to understand them, and by touching them with our thoughts and feelings and intentions and questions and our hands and skin and our voices; make friends with them and by doing so, come to love them, and in doing so: they will come to love us also.

Humans were designed, and are still designed to spread out all over the Living Earth naturally… in natural groups of 12 or 24 or 36 people. This happened unnaturally due to the all-pervasive evil presence of the undead and destructively; teaching all other species to fear and hate us instead of being our friends and coming to love us…

Humans were designed, and are still designed to spread out all over the living earth exploring and learning about the entire earth and all of its living species without killing anything and eating as little as possible… we are still designed to be able to live on so little that we do not harm or kill anything, just living off of a few grains of wheat or a few berries or whatever small things we find like finding small things on the ground that are edible or a few leaves of certain plants, or picking a fruit hanging from a tree… I myself lived on one peanut a day for two weeks without being hungry or noticing that I wasn't hungry because I was so busy in the throes of writing my first book: The Path of Splitness; all thoughts of eating slipped my mind…

Why is Civilization so Evil?

Humans were designed, and are still designed to seek change, diversity, new things. By traveling and moving and discovering different areas with different weather, different climates, different animals, different plants; we are designed to continually learn new things, and in doing so; become continually wiser, more intelligent and smarter… humans were designed, and are still designed to be teachers, and teach everything we know to other species until they become just as wise and intelligent and aware as we are…

The main aspect of ourselves that enables us to learn and become wiser and more intelligent and become teachers and change ourselves by trial and error, and change the entire living earth is our sense of pure wonder.

Humans were designed, and are still designed to love and have fun and be happy all the time… we are designed to spread love and happiness all over the living earth…

Humans were designed, and are still designed to create beauty and create love… we are designed to become aware of the infinite intricate beauty of nature and make it even more beautiful.

One basic reason why pyramidal civilization is evil is because all human relationships and organization are based on dominance… that is why whoever makes more money in a marriage becomes the dominant person in the relationship: even though they do not have a dominant personality. This is why many marriages fail. Men are naturally dominant over women; but if a man allows their spouse to undermine their authority; the marriage becomes dysfunctional and ends up in divorce or worse: a perpetual unhappiness and misery of both parties. This is the basic reason for all office politics and jealousy and back biting, etc, etc ad nausea. Every civilized human group and organization does not work unless there is a "leader". The result is all of human society is authoritarian and the bigger the organization the more authoritarian it is and the more evil it is until you get the social horrors of Stalin's reign of terror or Mao's brainwashing of the Chinese masses into an insane ideology based on his little red book filled with meaningless aphorisms and platitudes.

The only way the new civilization can work is by complete honesty. That means being completely honest with yourself and not lying to yourself and being completely honest with others. For instance in relationships between men and women; each one has their strengths. Women are more emotionally intelligent and men are more logically intelligent. When a relationship between a man and a woman they should recognize their strengths and respect each other as equals without any battles for dominance. When the new civilization is based on complete honesty and complete equality; there is no interest in dominance. The urge to dominate others is stupid. The urge to feel you better than anyone else is stupid; it is pointless. The only reason this exists is because civilization is structurally and socially based on pyramidal dominance… even though I am more intelligent than others and more educated than others and more insightful than others and wiser than others; I have never had any urge or need to be or feel dominant in any relationship I ever had… all I wanted was to get to really know the other person. To get to know who they truly are, their inner soul… but the undead hiding inside every person do not allow that to happen. They make sure nobody ever becomes really close to anyone else… they make sure all human relationships are superficial. They make sure to poison and sabotage every human relationship that threatens to become too close.

This is why there is no true intimacy and no true love in civilization. This is why humans have existed for untold millennia without developing their natural intrinsic abilities and potential for true understanding between each other. This is why humans have envied and hated each other and plotted against each other and sabotaged each other and argued with each other and never agreed with each other,,, all because of the all-pervasive filthy evil of the undead hiding inside them and hovering all around them and doing everything they can to ruin the lives of every single person ever born. This is why only evil people are allowed to succeed and good people are never allowed to succeed. History is filled with accounts of this: from joan of arc to the roman senators like the Gracci brothers and Cicero were all sabotaged and lost their lives.

What do all commercials sell?? Pure unadulterated hedonism… humans are brainwashed to worship and believe in the instant self-gratification that the millions of commercials they watch program them into an unconscious, subconscious, total worship of this unspoken global evil filth that the undead have been selling humans for millions of years.

So what is the point of 8 ½ billion consumers consuming everything? What is the point in 8 ½ billion humans buying things and then throwing them away? How can this be evil? What has this to do with the undead?... The answer is simple: their plan is for humans to systematically pollute and destroy the entire earth they live on without noticing it… so multinational corporations can pollute and rape the living earth… for what? In order to provide billions of consumers their creature comforts. In other words: hedonism. It is unquestioned that this is a collective 'good' for civilized humans. And even if they do notice these corporations are destroying the earth they don't care, and even if they care they won't do anything substantial enough to make a difference… they do nothing about it because they have been programmed and brainwashed into the cult of pure hedonism; so their personal comfort is far more important to them than the health of the entire world.

Because the undead's plans and collusions and conspiracies span over millions of years: living humans with short life spans do not have the perspective and intelligence and wisdom to perceive their ultimate ghouls and see how the gradual degradation of their lives and quality of life and the invention of new evils all have a single aim… the destruction of all life on earth.

Why is the history of civilization filled with thousands of wars, killing millions and millions of people? Because the undead want to degrade the genetic stock of humans by killing off the healthiest males so only the weakest and stupidest and most corrupt survive… making them more easily corrupted and poisoned and controlled; and there being less chance of any humans being born that are intelligent enough to pose a problem for them. You see the evil conspiracies of the undead span thousands of years of evil… and because of this, short-lived humans are blind to their motives and ghouls and plans and their existence.

Whenever anything positive is achieved in spite of all the undead's attempts to sabotage and destroy it…. They make sure it never happens again… this is how you can tell the undead cannot predict the future,,, but; anything in the past that was positive they make sure it is never repeated; they make sure it never happens again. Forewarned is forearmed.

This is why all the highpoints of human history are immediately followed by huge waves of evil dedicated to wiping out all traces of it and reversing history so white becomes black and black become white.

The most obvious historical reversal of facts that the undead engineered and carried out is the reversal of the German National Socialists: who, for a brief 6 years, turned around Germany's economy from the worst depression in modern history to the most affluent, happy, progressive nation in the world… the undead cunningly had the entire world turn on them, and destroyed all of northern Europe along with 8 ½ million German babies, girls, boys, wives, old men in the process… and then demonized them; posing them as the most evil govt of the modern age when the exact opposite was true.

The undead have had at least millions if not billions of years of experience sabotaging, poisoning and destroying any positive life-energy that could threaten their filthy evil existence; but they are not all-powerful. They are faint, weak, decomposing insane negative energy auras that can be destroyed and must be destroyed for life on earth to exist.

Once living humans learn about their filthy cunning hidden invisible unseen existence and their filthy little tricks and where they hide; we the living can and will hunt them down and kill them all dead dead dead in all three dimensions of their rotting energy.

What is the outgrowth of the Hedonism of modern mechanized civilization? What happened is the unspoken culture of turned into the unspoken culture of escapism… the urge, the need to escape from the empty, boring, dead mechanical horror of working like a wage slave for a few dollars, the urge, the need to find something to distract humans from their dull, empty everyday lives so they turned to fiction… fictional books, fictional films, fictional myths, fictional legends, fictional characters, fictional stories, fictional fairy tales for children…

Understand this

Nearly all fiction is designed to make the lower class believe in lies about the upper class and emulate and envy and copy them.

The lie about the good hearted millionaire, the lie about the upstanding honest prince, the lie about elite families who care about and love their children, the lie about the ethical lawyer, the honest district attorney, the honest judge, the honest politician who actually cares about the people he represents, the honest ethical president the loving honest ethical king, the honest ethical queen, the ethical honest editor, the loving honest policeman, the honest ethical white explorer, the loving honest ethical white plantation owner, the honest ethical rich upper class detective etc, etc, ad nausea ad-puke vomit. The lower class masses are systematically brainwashed to believe the upper class are all superior, with superior motives, superior morals, superior ethics, superior character, superior personality. The upper ruling classes have been glorified and idolized and whitewashed for thousands of years. The opposite is true of these scum. Only when all people recognize this universal truth that the upper classes are categorically more depraved, more vena;, more inhuman, more unloving and uncaring than the lower classes will they rise and slaughter these fatuous privileged prigs.

This unconscious motive of escaping from the dreary, dull boring existence is the root cause, the driving force for a new industry to be invented… the entertainment industry… thus; new commercial industries were born and flourished and spread…

The selling of fiction in newspapers and books; where the masses could lose themselves and they vicariously lived through the exciting lives of characters that never lived and whose acts and motives and emotions and thoughts where and are all made up lies… then there were traveling circuses and traveling minstrel shows…then came the explosion of theatres and theatrical troupes and vaudeville and plays and musicals. The invention of newspapers: that claimed to have all the news worth reporting… when they were and are merely oracles and defenders of the establishment to keep the masses misinformed and brainwashed. Then came moving pictures, the nickelodeons, that mesmerized the masses, then came talking pictures… then came movies in color and the explosion of movie theatres… then came black and white television… then came color television…then came cable tv… then came satellite dishes…then came VHS video tapes, movie rentals… then came CD's… then came the internet. Each innovation offered more and more trillions of Hedonistic choices to be distracted by…

What was this new industry based on? It was based on the glorified culture of the medieval elite of Europe: classical music, classical plays, classical ballets, and classical books. Which the illiterate unread uneducated masses could not afford and did not understand and were not interested in… until mechanized industrialized inventions gave them enough free time and money so they could emulate and copy and ape the degenerate culture of the filthy rich leisure class; so they could become just as degenerate and brainwashed and ‘cultured’ as the ruling elite were.

The higher the level of affluence, the more new degenerate industries appeared: pleasure cruises… aping the filthy rich when only the upper classes could afford transatlantic cruises on huge expensive passenger ships… the explosion of restaurants: when once only the affluent could afford to eat out…

now everyone can! This devolved into fast food outlets; selling the cheapest addictive unhealthy crap possible… then there was and is the explosion of pornography, gambling… drugs… both legal and illegal addictions to everything from soft drinks to chocolate bars to macaroni and cheese to pizza, to hamburgers to tacos.

All these evils have their root, their origins in the unspoken culture of escapism. People seeking to forget, escape from their everyday lives, to fill up their empty, meaningless existences, to deaden their pain… do you know that boredom is actually painful? Scientists have researched and discovered that the main underlying motive for smoking is to relieve the pain of boredom. Humans living in civilization seek anything… everything that can relieve them of their boredom… and they have no choice but to take everything and anything that civilization provides to ease them of their emptiness and boredom. The huge explosion of destroyed marriages coming from infidelity; the root cause is the unspoken belief in the religion of hedonism; instant sexual gratification… that is why the porn industry has been the biggest cash industry in the world for over 20 years…

And from there has exploded all kinds of sexual perversions… sadomasochism… child trafficking, sex slavery rings, the selling of babies for sacrificial death where their blood is drunk for the benefit of ingesting adrenochrome.

Why is there this huge increase in the kidnapping of children and child trafficking and the cults of sacrificing babies for adrenochrome, which is fraudulently supposed to be able to extend your life? Because the undead are continuing the ancient traditions and customs of the copper and bronze ages; when the sacrifice of babies to temples had been practiced for over 1,000 years. They are trying and succeeding in bringing back the most horrible and evil practices of ancient extinct civilizations that are so ancient, so old; they have disappeared from knowledge, they have disappeared from all historical records. Even though there is massive evidence of this custom being widely practiced, with thousands and thousands of stone coffins made for babies being found all over the temple sites of the ancient temples.. But: the undead have deliberately buried these archaeological artifacts and evidence because they don't want modern humans to know just how horrific these ancient civilizations actually were.

After two world wars: civilization has rotted into the present state of mass insanity, mass paranoia, mass degeneracy, mass evil all in the name of 'progress'… progress towards what? A 3rd nuclear world war? Meanwhile the billions of brainwashed masses do not notice this relentless slide into self-destruction and oblivion… they are too distracted by their addictions and personal comforts and interests to study history and ask any questions about where civilization is headed.

Where does the new explosion of lawlessness come from? It comes from people who believe their own ideas-opinions-desires are more important than any laws. In other words: pure hedonism gone insane. Mentally deranged people committing mass shootings, crimes, have been increasing exponentially in the last 30 years because the rotting undead deliberately lead the most vulnerable into insanity.

How can you tell the undead exist?... There are no love stories that end in happiness… all of them are tragedies… from Helen of Troy to Tristan and Isolde to Wagner's Siegfried and Brunhilde and even worse like in gone with the wind where brett butler's last words to scarlet were: "frankly my dear… i don't give a damn.". The undead make sure happiness is snuffed out as quickly as possible. That is why they must be killed dead and exterminated from this living earth.

If you ask any one of the over 8 billion hedonists in civilization if they are aware that there are 8 million others who are exactly like them, they will either pretend not to understand or they will laugh at you because each one is convinced that they are completely unique and special. Hedonists have no greater awareness of anything except their own personal interests and creature comforts and the pursuit of pleasure. 8 billion hedonistic human insects; totally unconcerned and ignorant of their collective impact on the living earth. This mass unawareness-mass insanity-mass programming is because of the undead.

When humans come to the understanding that the only reason to eat is to give them energy, humans will eat almost nothing. They will find out that they have plenty of energy without eating anything. Now almost everything people eat is used as a hedonistic drug, it is comfort food; designed to temporarily fill up the emptiness they have inside themselves from living a meaningless consumer existence where they consume everything but give back nothing to the living earth. The unspoken hedonism of civilization is designed to comfort humans in everything they do: what they eat what they drink, what they spend their time and lives on… ir is all designed to lull humans into a state of deadened, selfishness so they are not aware of anything outside their own comfort, and even if they do, they do not care enough to do anything about it… this leads to the culture of virtue signaling and lip service and platitudes… it leads to a global culture of hypocrisy and dishonesty and lying as a universal norm of civilized society. This is because hedonistic civilization has no morals and no ethics. There are no universally accepted standards of good and evil, only what personally benefits each person and what 'opinions' they happen to have. Ethics and morals, just like religion; became a matter of personal taste and personal opinion. The result is the mass insanity of 8 billion humans disagreeing with each other and arguing with each other and fighting each other ad-nauseum.

But then again, this what civilization has always been like, except that now; the degree of insanity, irrationality, absurdity have risen to such toxic levels, producing mental illness, emotional illness, psychosis, deranged freaks, mass shootings, on a scale never before seen. The result is a sense of doom and hopelessness that goes beyond what disasters like war or famine created.

This is why philosophy over 2,000 years degenerated into its final self-destruction of meaninglessness. By 1950, the greatest thinkers of civilization could no longer find any meaning in human existence… then philosophy quietly went out of existence and nobody noticed or cared. The search for meaning in human existence became a personal hedonistic matter of what each person likes to do, with no accepted common values or goals or morals or ethics.

What are the vices and sins of Hedonism?
Hate and Jealousy Born out of Fear And Envy,
Greed,
Sloth,
Pride,
Lust,
Envy,
Gluttony.

If you study the 12,000 history of civilization: you will find that it is an endless boring litany of this same shit over and over and over. Ask yourself why? Why do humans never learn from their mistakes? Why do humans never learn from the past? Because the undead do not want them to. Because the undead are incapable of creativity. Because the undead foment and plan and invent the same evil filth over and over ad nausea.

Why is the unspoken culture of global Hedonism so insidiously evil?...

Because it is an unconscious culture, it is a subconscious culture,

And because of this it permeates all human existence without humans being aware of it… because of the unconscious-subconscious hedonism permeating human existence, people eat and drink whatever they 'like'… not what is healthy and good for them… people do whatever they 'like' to please themselves, not what is right or moral or ethical… people believe whatever they 'like', not what is true or right; and because of this, the disagreements, conflicts, fights, feuds, hate, mistrust, divisions created by it prevents any intelligent agreement on anything and any intelligent organizing of anything.

This reduces the entire human population to a mass of crazed insects, all scrambling around madly without any rhyme or reason.

To put it in a nutshell: the entire human species of 8 billion people are insane due to their personal Hedonism. Eight billion human insects doing only what they "like" is insane. It is mass insanity. No other species on earth behaves this way. Humans do not behave this way because they are more intelligent or special. They behave this way because of the undead.

By what manner do the billions of hedonistic human insects manage to pay for and afford their personal comforts and leisure?... By money… and in this way the curse of avarice and greed is added to the sins of hedonism. And by the undead slowly spreading the jewish curse and sin of usury over a period of thousands of years, all these agglomerated sins and evils grew and rotted and grew into the present state of civilization.

Why is civilization today so evil?... Because in only a few short decades, the new fad of billionaire worship, the worship of how much money you have has exploded into every aspect of human culture and society. The brainwashed masses worship these scumbags simply because they have more money than anyone else…

The point is does having more money make you a better person than others who have less money? The answer is no. Does having more money make you more educated or more intelligent than those who have less?... The answer is no. In fact having more money than others makes you a worse person. It makes you evil. It gives you a false sense of self-worth. It makes you spiritually empty inside.

When you look at billionaires personally, you want to vomit in revulsion. None of them have any redeeming humanity or intelligence. All of them are warped, twisted, sick, diseased examples of what greed, avarice and privilege can do to a human soul. Yet the mass media whitewashes them and idolizes them and turns them into icons and idols. Now most romance stories involve a billionaire who turns out to be a nice person and genuinely cares about poor people. The media generated popular mythos today has created the myth that billionaires are actually good, caring people. During the age of the robber barons, this kind of tripe would have been spat on and despised; but today the masses worship billionaires as the religious prophets of money. Modern culture has turned the mass hatred of the filthy rich into idolatry of the rich. The pure greed and avarice of the masses has risen to such obscene levels of spiritual corruption that there is little difference now between them and the filthy rich… the entire population of humanity has been so corrupted and poisoned by the worship and love of money that only a nuclear world war with the ensuing shared social experience of extreme hardship. Suffering and poverty could bring them back to their senses.

Why are so many billions of living humans so easily fooled, duped, deceived, brainwashed? Because instead of their main programming being a search for the truth; their main programming is based on hedonism… so instead of searching for truth and learning how to recognize lies and misinformation: they accept and believe in only what they like to believe. Only what they like to think, only what pleases them…

Hedonism is the basic root cause why living humans become easily brainwashed, and misinformed and ignorant. Because living humans are programmed to read and focus on and study and research only what they like instead of what is really important and crucial to improve their understanding and awareness of the world they live in… you get car nuts who spend their entire lives on cars… you get gardeners focusing all their life on gardens… you get video gamers spending their entire lives playing video games… Because Hedonistic civilization programs living humans to become Hedonistic drones: their levels of awareness and intelligence and health and sanity are reduced to dumbed down levels of moronic imbecility, total unawareness, ignorance and pure stupidity. When your entire understanding of reality and the world you live in is only based on what you like, on what you like to think, on what you like to believe, on what you prefer to think, on what you prefer to know… when the entire living human species believes in personal choice as a sacred right; so they can personally choose to believe what is true and what is not true… when people believe that they have a sacred right to be able to disagree with each other… then what you get is the insane madhouse you have today. With billions of programmed Hedonistic human squabbling and arguing and disagreeing with each other instead of searching for the truth that they can all agree on. That is why Hedonistic civilization is evil and insane… and that is why the only hope for the human species surviving its own insanity is the complete destruction of Hedonistic civilization and the creation of a new civilization based on logical principles that i have outlined in this book and are universally true without any exceptions… it is only when humans function as they are designed to by nature that we the living can create a new civilization that is not poisoned and controlled by the undead… it is only when all living humans learn about the existence of the undead and their filthy cunning evils and learn how to identify their filthy existence and kill them dead, will the living earth be saved from total destruction and the death of all life on this planet.

The Consumer Global Perspective

Where do the huge industrialized giants like the oil industry, the gas industry, the big agra industry, the financial industry, the global shipping industry, the lumber industry, the automotive industry, the military industrial complexes, the electrical industry (the building of dams, power plants powered by coal, oil, nuclear, hydro, electric grids built to spread lines all over the world, power companies) come from??

They all get their power and profits by feeding billions of Hedonistic humans, by selling their products to billions of hedonistic consumers and to govts… they cannot make a profit and they cannot exist without billions of customers buying their products. They do their best to addict billions of hedonistic consumers so they will consume more and more, so they can make more and more profit…

This means that the dynamics of Hedonism are directly linked to overpopulation… if there weren't 8 billion consumers, there would not exist these huge industries that are owned and controlled by criminal Mafioso billionaires… there would not be billionaires… the entire interlinked evil of modern civilization would not exist without overpopulation, without modern technology, without hedonism, without usury, etc, etc. The one-sided accumulation of human population spawned the one-sided accumulation of money which spawned the creation of billionaires and the obscene wealth and power they have. Endless growth is not natural and not balanced. All these manifestations of one-sided accumulation are cancerous, evil, diseased forms of insanity, and like all cancers they end up killing their host and destroying themselves.

You can go down the list of societal ills: from illicit sex to unfaithfulness, to divorce, to single parent families, to drug use, to obesity, to junk food, to the huge increase in illness, to depression, to mental illness, to crime, etc., the root cause of all these problems is Hedonism being the unconscious practicing religion that everyone believes in without them being aware that they believe in it and practice it.

The root of it all historically is the unspoken unconscious religion and culture of hedonism. You can track how this evil monster called civilization grew and spread over thousands of years… for thousands of years the most powerful rulers flaunted their Hedonistic luxury and ease and comfort in the building of huge palaces for their subjects to envy and worship in awe of their obscene wealth. They flaunted their power by assembling huge armies that killed and raped and pillaged without any respect for any rule of law or decency or respect for life. They assembled huge navies to invade other lands and conquer them… the history of civilization is an insane litany of rulers attacking and killing each other's armies and conquering each other, endlessly over and over again in the mad scramble for ascendancy over other powers and rulers in the pyramidal shitpile of civilized humanity.

Hedonism only appeared and was created when so many humans lived in one society that some were richer or wealthier than others… so you see, the dynamic of one-sided accumulation is built into the dynamic of civilization… the kingdom with the most people could field a larger army and dominate and conquer its neighbors. The richer a kingdom grew, the larger army it could afford. In order to afford to pay armies, rulers were forced to borrow money from rich jewish moneylenders, and the more they borrowed, the bigger their army, the more conquests, the more these filthy rich jews got even richer and richer… from the piling up of human populations to the piling up of stones into pyramids to the piling up of money into billionaires… all of this evil is linked together… one begets the other and so on and on and on… starting with the first original sin of Hedonism when eve offered the rounded apples of her round breasts and round buttocks to Adam purely for the sake of carnal pleasure…

Why are there so many mega-projects and mega cities and huge skyscrapers, while billions of people suffer in poverty? Because the undead put their stamp on human civilizations thousands of years ago when they got humans to build huge monoliths and temples and pyramids; wasting the lives of untold millions of living humans on these useless piles of stone shit. The undead are just continuing their filthy evil of controlling human activity without living humans ever becoming aware of their control over them.

Basically these huge projects and structures are designed to create awe and have the masses worship their rulers who order these structures to be built and who are all controlled puppets of the undead. Also… the undead are getting humans to build huge projects like dams and canals and roads so the destructiveness of civilization can destroy more of living nature whilst wasting the lives of millions of living humans.

Why is it so easy for criminal cabals and cartels (who are controlled by the undead) , why is it so easy for them to gain power and keep it and increase their power without ever being brought to justice and never being arrested and never being held accountable for their sins and crimes??

Because the masses are just as Hedonistic as the criminals that prey on them. Because they only care about their own personal comforts and ease and pursuits of pleasure. Because of this they never have the intelligence or awareness to organize together intelligently against the criminal elements and criminal institutions in their society… they are all isolated by their own personal hedonism. They all see each other as total strangers, they all mistrust each other, they do not feel any commonality with each other because every single one of them have their own personal Hedonistic interests and opinions m etc, etc. Ad vomit… and they are easily kept that way by the criminals in power by inventing and creating conflict and disagreement and arguments between different factions in the masses. The old maxim of "divide and conquer" is used endlessly with the masses too stupid and too prejudiced and too brainwashed to see through the artifices of the ruling elites and the establishment which rules and brainwashed them.

One reason why Hedonism is so evil is because Hedonistic people are averse to any responsibility… that is why there are so many dead beat dads, that is why there are so many single mothers whose fathers have abandoned their children.

Another reason why Hedonistic people are evil is because they do not care about anybody but themselves; that is why there are so many selfish people in the world and why there are so few caring, giving people.

Another reason why Hedonism is so evil is Hedonistic people are incapable of love; they do not know what love is. They only care about themselves… all these evil, selfish, uncaring, unloving Hedonistic people in civilization are invisible; you cannot tell who they are because civilization is based on secrecy. The norm of civilization is Hedonism. Civilization caters to Hedonistic people. People who are not Hedonists are rare and ignored: they are given no recognition and not valued. Instead, selfish greedy people like billionaires are respected and admired and worshiped and glorified, while people who are giving and unselfish are ignored and not valued and not glorified and given no recognition.

The terms 'narcissist' 'psychopath', sociopath' are just different kinds-flavors of hedonism. Consumer culture and society is based on hedonism: it has no morals or ethics, it is based on pleasing you, selling things that will please you regardless of what is sold is good for you or not. Consumer culture is based on profit, greed, avarice… that is why there are so many obese people. That is why it doesn't matter what is sold whether it is good or bad as long as it makes a profit. Hedonism breeds narcissism; first there was the "me" generation in the 90's… now there is the selfie generation… billions of people taking pictures of themselves with their smart phones… this rotting of mass consumer culture will not stop; it will get worse and worse.

The reason people can't make sense of society is because it is hedonistic. The chaos of million and billions of brainwashed people pursuing their own hedonistic interests is why civilization doesn't male any sense.

The entire reason why dishonesty and lying and deceit exists in civilization is because of its hedonism. When humans are raised and live in societies that don't have any morals or ethics… when morality and ethics are only used as lip service to cover up the fundamental moral and ethical decay of cultures and populations: the practice of lying and deceit and conspiring to break and flout the laws of the land is inevitable and grows until it rots civilization from the inside until it self-destructs. From the Incas to the Babylonian empire to Egypt, to Angkor wat to the Sumerians to the Indus valley civilization to the Aztec, Maya, Toltec, and Olmec civilizations; they all disappeared because of Hedonism as the root cause for their demise.

All the caste and class systems that civilizations developed from all their origins were and are based on Hedonism… The elite who lounge at their leisure and the lower castes who bow and scrap and toil and sweat under the oppressions of the ruling classes.

What makes the upper classes any different from the lower ones? The ability to pursue their own personal comforts and pleasures and interests, while the lower classes have no choice but to work for a living and have almost no choice or very little to work every day to earn their daily bread…

The injustice and iniquity and unfairness of this filthy way is cast in stone, it is cast in the stones of the first civilizations where the lower classes labored to raise huge pile of stones while their overseers and masters did not labor or sweat or strain… the stinking evil principle of hedonism is older than the oldest pyramids and stone temples and it is the reason why all civilizations before this one and this one are corrupt and evil…

Why is Civilization so Evil?

Why is Hedonism so evil? Because Hedonists block out, ignore, deny, refuse to accept or believe anything they don't like. The result is any and all facts and information that doesn't suit them or is uncomfortable they tune out selectively; like selecting radio stations or YouTube channels they like and ignoring everything else they don't like or aren't interested in.

Why is Hedonism so evil? Because of the Hedonist mantra that everyone has a "right" to their own opinion… that everyone has a "right" to disagree with each other… The opposite is true. There are a thousand lies but only one truth. Hedonism has programmed and brainwashed the masses into believing that there is no such thing as one Truth. That there are no Truths: no black and white; no Good and evil: just different shades of grey.

The result can be seen in the history of civilization: Thousands of different religions, cultures, beliefs, traditions; all based on being the only true religion; the only true belief, the only true tradition while positing all other religions, beliefs etc. as false… Until the information age opened up so that people all over the world could speak and meet and talk to each other… so the only way to preserve all these obsolete false religions and beliefs was to get the world to 'tolerate' their different religious beliefs: Otherwise everyone would be at each others throats, so they "agree to disagree".. Which is a semantic oxymoron… You have to be a moron to accept such a pile of crap. Yet the entire modern world is based on such insane norms; with leaders of different religions meeting and shaking hands; as if their religious dogmas are not completely opposed to each other. The reason this has happened is because the unspoken religion of Hedonism is more sacred and trumps all other religions.

The insanity of everyone having a right to their own opinion can be seen on the internet: Where billions of uneducated brainwashed dehumanized drones disagree with each other; daily posting trillions of comments on millions of comment boards… what is the result? The result is each insane opinionated idiot sticking to their asinine opinion and refusing to change it because the sacred right to your own personal opinion trumps all logic, all rationality, all sanity, all factual evidence, all truth. That is what hedonism has done to the human species. It has turned humans into an insane babbling mass of squawking brainless chickens.

Why has there been a steady decline in the birth rate all over the world for the past 50 years and getting worse and worse every year?

Because of Hedonism

All over the world people are becoming so selfish, they do not want to get married, they do not want to have children. And even those who do are infertile or the pregnancies are aborted or the babies die in childbirth. The undead are poisoning everything they can; they are poisoning living humans in a million different ways… Now the poison MRNA shots are killing people by the millions; the death toll worldwide has already surpassed 17 million and the deaths are not stopping. While puppets of the undead try to cover this up and continue to push the poison jabs; the epidemics of sudden death syndrome and the huge increases in all-cause mortality expose what is really going on…

How can you tell civilization is Hedonistic? By the history of human inventions. Thousands of years of inventing things that make it easier for humans to do things. "Better" means easier. And what have all these abominations of the undead produced? What is the result today? Are humans any healthier? Are humans any happier? Are humans any more Humane? The answer is no, no, no, to all three questions.

Why is civilization so evil? Because it has separated and isolated and alienated humans from Nature. Humans are designed to live in Nature, with Nature, along with all the other living creatures and plants of this Living Earth. Instead, humans live in artificial antiseptic buildings where they have become allergic to dust…. And to many natural foods and substances simply because they never developed their natural immune systems growing up in these dead antiseptic environments and because they have never experienced living in Nature. And what was and still is the basic reason for the separation of humans from Nature? Hedonism. It's easier to live in an artificial prison where there is no rain, no wind, no cold, no hot, no insects, no trees, no grass.

Why is Civilization so Evil?

Why have people of the Living world been inundated with detective stories and crime stories in books and films for hundreds of years?

To take away all attention and focus from the real crimes being committed behind locked doors that are so horrible they are responsible for the deaths of millions of innocent people and the impoverishment and robbing of billions of people's money.

To present a completely false image of what a real criminal mentality is like. To focus only on petty crimes; not crimes that are gargantuan in scope and effect… to take away all focus on the real conspiracies that are a million times more horrible and devious and cunning and evil than any serial killer.

Understand This

Every single person who pushed the jabs, covered up their harmful effects, and continue to deny their deadliness are 100% controlled by the undead… the fact that the huge majority of people were brainwashed into taking these jabs and still believe in them exposes just how easily the undead can brainwash and control nearly all humans.

There is a remorseless creep toward a worldwide nuclear war going in right now in 2024… why? Because all the corrupt criminals in power all over world: not just in the west; are controlled by the undead… do you understand?

The only way this can be stopped is if the masses kill their corrupt controlled leaders…

And that is guaranteed to never happen because they have already been programmed into brainwashed Hedonists…

Why is Civilization so Evil?

273

Why will it never happen? Because Hedonism turns you into an arrant coward… if your basic belief system is the selfish pursuit of your own personal ease and pleasure, you will never risk your life for any larger moral principle or ethic because you have no morals or ethics beyond your own personal interests. That is another basic reason why civilization has been controlled by evil corrupt criminals for 12,000 years; and it will continue to be controlled by these puppets of the undead until the undead manage to destroy all life on earth.

Why is Hedonism so evil??

Because it makes people selfish
Selfishness is the norm in civilization….

Unselfishness is a rare exception to the norm

For this single reason Hedonism is evil

Every unselfish act is drowned and diluted and poisoned by the vast sea of selfishness that is the norm throughout all the world.

Why is love so important?

Because without love you cannot be responsible

Only through caring for others are you responsible. Only when you are unselfish can you be caring and responsible. Hedonism destroys all that. It corrupts and poisons the Humanity in everyone it touches. The reason why there are so many uncaring people in the world is because of Hedonism.

Basically Hedonism is a culture of irresponsibility. Hedonism and irresponsibility are the same thing. The human species has been running mad-wild for millions of years because of the ever-present all-pervading evil influence and violations of the undead.

Why is Civilization so Evil?

274

Understand This

The undead seek to create the same insane chaos and insanity that exists in their rotting realms of the undead in the realms of the living… and they are succeeding.

Millions and billions of isolated living humans crammed together in huge cities, passing each other by as total strangers… insulated from each other inside apartments, inside their glass-metal-plastic coffins called cars, passing each other by, going in the same directions completely insulated and isolated from each other… Billions of living humans addicted to and sucking on their cell phones; knowing only a few people personally, while the rest of the billions of cell phone users they are terrified of and paranoid of… Billions of people living packed together as total strangers to each other, avoiding each other, not looking at each other, pretending all the people around them do not exist… The levels and degrees of human isolation from each other and insulation from each other have reached psychotic levels of mass insanity. The madhouse of millions of people passing each other by on the streets and in cars as total strangers… each life compartmentalized into work-family-friends-school. Each compartment separated and isolated from each other… all these millions of dehumanized insects only concerned with their secret, private, hedonistic concerns and goals and addictions and distraction was invented by the undead so living humans would never gain any perspective of life on a broader scale of time… so they would be continually distracted from any greater understanding of history and the Meaning of Life, so they would never ask any deeper questions, so they would never want to understand the entire history of the human species and make any sense of it… Because if they did; they would realize that the history of humans on this Earth is a story that is insane, irrational, self-destructiveness filled with evil and horror. Only if you remove yourself from the insane madhouse of civilization and look at it from the outside: which I have done: only then can you begin to see that what you are swimming in and have been born into, and accepted as being normal is not normal at all. Only then can you see how unaware people are of their own unawareness, how the masses of consumers exist in a state of dumbed down mass psychosis.

This level of mass psychotic existence did not appear instantly… it has been building and building for millions of years. It has been pushed and developed and invented artificially by the undead. They want living humans to be just as insane and inhuman as they are, and they are succeeding. The fact is: the more you artificially pack millions of humans together; the more they will react away from this evil form of packed humanity, the more they will look at each other with fear and suspicion and paranoia and indifference and coldness.

Humans are not designed to live like this:

But the undead are pushing humans more and more into these insane robotic megalopolises and emptying the countryside of villages and towns until humans are completely cut off from nature and the natural world and exist inside an insane mechanical inhuman horror that Hollywood movies are already depicting and predicting.

How many crime films begin with an overview of a large city… and then narrow down to one car… or one person… or one alleyway… or one room, or the inside of one house, or outside one house or one building? Or one dock area, or one train station…

What is the universal narrative of all these crime films? The universal narrative is that somewhere in this big city… a crime is being planned… a crime is being committed, a committed crime is in the headlines of a newspaper…

Why do people not see the obvious?
Why do people not come to the obvious conclusion?
Cities are designed for crime
Alleyways are designed for crime
Boardrooms in huge high-rises are designed for crime

Why is Civilization so Evil?

276

Apartments, houses, railway terminals, rail depots, warehouses, shipping ports, streets. Are all designed for crime to happen in secret.

In an open honest civilization there would not be this obsession over privacy and secrecy. But when you cram too many people together into too small of a space you get a society that breeds crime like a dog breeds fleas.

If you look at any big city from a bird's eye view, what you see are millions of isolated cubicles where crimes can be committed secretly without anyone knowing about it… Hitchcock's film: Rear Window details how a murder can occur in an ordinary apartment block without anyone knowing about it except one person who has nothing better to do all day but spy on his neighbors with a pair of binoculars.

If you look at any highway from a bird's eye view you see hundreds of moving vehicles. The inhabitants of each vehicle are walled off from all the others people in their cars and trucks; insulated from each other by cages of steel and glass… Nobody knows where the others are going or why. Nobody cares where the others are going or why. Highways and roads and cars and trucks are a perfect design for criminals to use to commit crimes secretly and then escape by putting miles between them and the scene of the crime. In fact bank robberies became a common occurrence in America when fast cars first became available to the masses before the authorities found ways to fight them but they still happen, although less often. The fact is: the overpopulation of humans on earth and the cramming of most of them into huge cities has created a global culture of anonymous impersonality that breeds crime like a cow dung patty breeds flies.

In small communities where everyone knows each other there is almost no crime because any strangers that show up in the community are instantly noticed and kept an eye on so they can't do anything without the entire community knowing about it… This again exposes how evil the entire culture of anonymous secrecy actually is. The smaller the community, the less crime there us. The larger the community the more crime there is.

Why is Civilization so Evil?

277

The same applies to govts… the larger the govt is the more corrupt it is… The more centralized a govt is the more inefficient, incompetent and corrupt it is. Because civilization is pyramidally structured as a hierarchical system based on criminal greed, avarice and Hedonism; it is designed to be inefficient, incompetent and corrupt. That is why the only system of human civilized society that will work is an egalitarian society based on equality and a merit system of personal responsibility as the global, universal, ethical and moral principles for all human existence. This cannot happen unless civilization as it stands now is razed to the ground and all humans are educated and enlightened enough to understand the basic structural fallacies and evils of the civilization they now live in…

Understand This

Happiness cannot co-exist with evil.

As long as there is evil on this earth there cannot be any true happiness

Why?

Because as long as evil exists on earth it will kill and poison all happiness that tries to exist.

The undead have been killing and ruining and poisoning all happiness for millions of years…

They are experts at poisoning and killing and ruining happiness

The instant the undead detect any positive living energy that has a possibility of becoming truly healthy and strong; they attack it and poison it and sabotage it every possible way they can.

That is why there are no true stories of happiness: only fairy tales and lies.

Why is Civilization so Evil?

278

The fact is… all stories about love and happiness are tragedies because the undead work to make sure no happiness ever succeeds in lasting long.

The Truth is: as long as living humans strive for love and happiness in a world filled with evil undead: they are doomed to failure and disaster.
Only when all living humans renounce all of their hedonism and focus solely on killing and eradicating all evil in the world Is there any chance for true happiness and love…

True love and happiness cannot survive on this earth as long as the evil undead permeate the earth with their filthy unseen secret evils and poisonous violations into the realm of the living.

The false narrative that love and happiness is more important than anything else is a filthy stinking lie.

Why is it a filthy stinking lie?? Because this kind of love and happiness includes only two people!! And these two people live among thousands and millions of other people that have no love and happiness, are not in love and happy. This kind of exclusive special love and happiness never lasts… it cannot last simply because it is rare… All the other negative forces and energies of the rotting undead inevitably and eventually conspire to ruin and destroy it. Only when everyone is in love and everyone is happy can true Love and Happiness survive and flourish.

What this means is that for any and every couple who feel they are in Love and Happy their Love and Happiness is a selfish fraud unless everyone else around them is also happy and in love…

Oops.

This completely changes the definition of love and happiness!
It changes love and happiness into a moral ethical imperative of selflessness and giving and generosity where those in love and happy do not focus on their own selfish personal love and happiness… Instead they focus on the love and happiness of others; not themselves.

But that is not enough:

Before this can happen: those who are in Love and Happy must be able to recognize those who are evil and destroy happiness and kill them all dead… because if they don't: these evil people will poison and ruin and destroy that exists

Oops.

But if all those who are in love and truly happy: How can they have the time to be in love and happy if they are busy hunting down and killing evil people who destroy and ruin all love and happiness?

The answer is they can't.

Which is why I am telling you: the only chance for Love and happiness to grow and flourish can only happen if living humans destroy and kill and eradicate all evil from this living earth first before they seek any true love and happiness for themselves…

I know this harsh Truth is not easy to admit and face… Living humans are designed to be happy and in love; That is their natural intrinsic inclination. It is not our fault that the undead poisoned and permeate everything on the earth for millions and billions of years. But it is our responsibility to kill the undead and exterminate them all because if we do not do this: there is no chance for love or happiness to exist.

This is why I began this work with the statement
That you have no rights and no freedoms:
You only have responsibilities

Why is Civilization so Evil?

280

This is why unless civilization is based on responsibility: not freedoms or rights, will there be any chance for the human species to escape extinction; because as long as civilization is based on the Hedonism of Irresponsibility, or the Irresponsibility of Hedonism which is an evil construct and invention of the undead; the undead will poison living humans until they are led into destroying all life on earth…

In fact it is happening right now… a nuclear world war is looming right now and it is being conspired by puppets of the undead.

Where do you think the modern surveillance culture comes from? Nations spying on other nations, govts spying on their own citizens, internet spy ware. Spy cams all over the place in stores and houses and buildings, etc… It comes from the undead spying on living humans for millions of years, using birds and animals as their eyes… Literally everything living humans do today is a reflection of what the undead do and have been doing for at least millions of years.

You can see the poisonous evil of Hedonism today in the systematic attack on all Christian morals, ethics and family values… But Christians are already poisoned by Hedonism simply by giving their children candy and chocolate; with the explosion of child obesity and diabetes being the result. Christian churches have already been poisoned by Hedonism into selling the mantra that "greed is good". Christians have already been poisoned by wanting to be rich. They have already been corrupted by their belief in capitalism being the only viable form of civilization. They have already been dumbed down and brainwashed by their own religious beliefs… Just the belief in a monotheistic religion is itself a way to give up all critical thinking on matters which they cannot explain or understand. All organized religions are a way to put a stop to critical thinking by replacing asking questions and skepticism with blind faith. Religions managed to make humans stop asking questions and stop thinking critically for thousands of years until the scientific method debunked and destroyed their belief systems. But science itself is also a false religion that destroyed the integration of human awareness by splitting human understanding into two parts: emotional and mental, and by making mental abstraction the dominant form of human understanding; thus dehumanizing science into an insane jumble of mathematical equations which cannot explain the Universe we live in.

How can you tell that civilization is based on the unspoken religion of Hedonism? By the fact that those who work the least are at the top of the pyramidal pile and those who work the hardest are at the bottom. That could not be possible unless the religious value and class distinction of personal ease and pleasure is higher than the value of hard work.

How can you tell that civilization is evil? By most films being about crime, criminals, killing, money, greed, avarice, death, violence. Not about honesty, love, kindness, equality, decency, truth.

The Hedonism of civilization can be perfectly exposed by the planned Covid hoax and the ongoing cover up of the millions of people killed, maimed, made permanently sick, impotent, sterile, infertile, with myocarditis, turbo cancer etc. by the poison jabs where millions of doctors and nurses and govt official and politicians lied and continue to lie in order to protect their own personal careers and jobs because they only care about themselves; regardless of how many people they kill and poison.

The exact same dynamic works with usury… Each Hedonist is willing to pollute, poison the Earth, impoverish millions of other people, cheat and rob others in order to make a profit.

What connection is there between a cow and a piece of paper? What connection is there between a pig and a gold or silver coin? There is none… all abstraction is evil because the connections and rationale they are based on do not exist in the actual 3-dimensional universe. They are insane inventions of the undead. Money is being magically conjured up out of thin air by bank computers typing fantastic numbers with zeroes behind them like the U.S. govt is now doing to fund the Ukraine war effort with billions of imaginary non-existent American dollars… And nobody blinks an eyes or notices that this creation of dollars out of nothing is insane and evil.

There is no difference between the basic immoral unethical evils of usury, capitalism. Profit, and the genocidal killing of millions of humans by the MRNA poison jabs and the killing of millions by war profiteers. They are all based on hedonism. Hedonism is the underlying invisible evil of all civilization; even though it is obvious to the meanest intelligence…

Why? Because people believe that greed is good… profits are good, your own personal concerns are more important than any greater concerns.

The same applies to the evil of abortion called: "my body; my choice" women don't give a fuck about the new life of a baby inside them. They value their own personal pleasure, comfort and ease more than any greater concern like a family or the extinction of the human species…

The list of evils based on Hedonism goes on and on; It is endless. That is why you need to understand that in order for the human species to survive its own evil, all humans must be educated of the true origin af all these evils… that is why all humans must be educated and informed about the undead and what they are and how they work

In order to understand how the undead work: you need to understand that they are not new… they have not suddenly appeared as some kind of new evil… They have always been there… They have always been everywhere… Living humans have been aware of them for a long time… But because the undead do not want living humans to know anything about themselves; they have deceived and fooled and duped loving humans so we the living will not be a threat to their foul rotting evil stinking existence.

As a result of the cunning evils of the undead: they have shrouded themselves in mystery and lies. They have deceived living humans into believing that they are all-powerful… all-wise… all-knowing… omnipotent… immortal…

indestructible, etc, etc… They have led living humans into believing they are all kinds of things… forces of Nature, gods, goddesses, deities, celestial beings, demons, angels, spirits, spiritual beings, ghosts goblins, elves, brownies, leprechauns, banshees, changelings, fairies, pooks, spooks… the list of superstitions and beliefs about what and who the undead are goes on and on and on… But they never reveal what and who they truly are… they pretend to be the long lost souls of your dead parents or dead loved ones… the pretend and deceive and delude living humans into believing all kinds of things…

But they never reveal who and what they actually are

The evil of the snake (the undead) luring and tempting the first human woman to corrupt her husband into sex for pleasure was the original lure of hedonism and this lure has been continued by the undead to corrupt mankind and womankind for millions of years.

Only when the entire living human population are enlightened about the existence of these undead, foul filthy, evil, unseen wraiths and entities… and only when the entire living human population forswears and repulses all forms of Hedonism does the human species have any chance of escaping their own self-destruction and the destruction of all life on earth…

I: Indrek Pringi: leave everyone who has read this book with the responsibility of spreading this book and enlightening the whole world about the doom every living human is bringing on themselves by practicing and worshiping the evils of Hedonism…

To read this book and do nothing about what you have learned from this book makes you guilty… just as guilty as every Hedonistic living human on earth.

By doing nothing and saying nothing of what you have learned in this book makes you an enabler of all the evils of Hedonism that exists on this earth and there are billions and billions of these evils.

Why is Civilization so Evil?

284

Hear me! I know whereof I speak. I know what I am writing about. The undead have poisoned my body and harmed me every chance they got in so many countless ways it would take thousands of pages to document and explain the evil stinking mire of evil I was born into and have lived in and endured all my life.

But the undead did not succeed in weakening me or in corrupting me. They only succeeded in crippling my natural intrinsic human potentials and health, so at the age of 78, I am not as healthy and strong as I would have been without their foul evil conspiracies to ruin everything in my life…

What they could not do was corrupt my search for the truth about everything and my intelligence and will and determination to exterminate and kill them all dead for what they did to me and what they did and have done to every single living human on this planet that ever lived and tried to live a normal healthy good life.

Their sins and crimes are beyond counting. The entire Universe cries out for their extinction as the most evil negative energy in the Universe

It is your personal responsibility reading this book to avenge the countless living humans who were damaged and poisoned and corrupted and murdered and raped and killed because of the filthy stinking evil interference in the realm of the living by the undead.

I have done my part and will do more to bring about their complete destruction and death and annihilation.

It is your sacred living duty to join me in sharing the wisdom of this book and my other book: The Path of Splitness and rise up against all the evils of civilization and rise up against the undead and kill them all dead.

I have spoken… this book and my first book will spread and be read by all future generations until the entire bedrock of Hedonistic civilization is shattered and destroyed: never again to be seen again on this living earth.

You who read this need to understand you do not have just one goal in life….

You have two goals… one in life to live and kill all evil in the living world… the second goal you have is when you die… then you have the same goal: to kill as many undead as you can once you enter their foul evil realm.

When you die, your purpose both in life and death must not vary or change. It is only when living humans kill the undead and their parasites which they hide inside and around and do not stop killing them after you die that we can rid the living earth of these rotting stinking foul evil diseased filth.

These unspeakable things need to be tracked down and hunted down and killed dead with the vengeance of the righteous. They have no power over the fury of a righteous soul that is not afraid of anything.

When they try to pose as some horrible monster
Ignore it and attack them and kill them dead.
Do not give them any warning
Just come close enough so you can lay your hands on them and kill them dead.
You will find they suddenly disappear when you do that
Do not stop
Go after them and hunt them down and kill them dead
You will discover that they cannot hide from you
Once you have locked onto an evil entity no matter where they flee you will be able to sniff them out and find all their hiding places until they have no more places left to hide in.

Why is Civilization so Evil?

286

Negative energy cannot harm positive energy when it is direct. You will find that you are invincible in their realms of the undead and you will be able to slay them and slay them until there are none left to slay.

Fear is negative energy. If you allow yourself to feel fear, the undead will use it to attack and destroy you.

You can prevent this from happening by recognizing that any impulse of fear does not come from you but from the undead hiding inside you. Once you ignore all feelings of fear as being not you; you will be invincible and you will be able to kill these rotting evil filthy things until they are all destroyed and dead.

How can you tell that civilization is based on Hedonism? How can you tell that the undead have continually pushed humans into becoming slaves of their lowest, most base urges and instincts while deliberately poisoning all human intelligence to make them as stupid as possible so they will not see through the lies and superstitions and hoaxes of civilization?

By the rulers of the most ancient civilizations and kingdoms perpetuating the lowest, most base tradition of having harems. Where the ruler collects the most beautiful females that can be found so he can fuck any of them any time he wishes. The most powerful men of the ancient world became addicted to sex… They became venal, brainless mindless sex addicts, and as a result they lost control of the court and palace intrigues sprang up and they were assassinated and deposed over and over again, until the power behind the throne became vicious cunning females who slyly pulled the strings of power while having the male ruler as a figurehead. And the banquets and feasting became so obscene and overly effete that the dishes of rulers represented the same pyramidal filth of supremacy featuring dishes that nobody else could afford to make… For thousands of years the masses of humanity were ruled by these degenerates who were slaves to their lowest appetites and sexual urges. The flaunting of wealth and riches and palaces became the only example humans had to admire and envy and worship, and in doing so, the masses corrupted themselves by emulating the scum at the top of these pyramidal accumulations of human populations. You can see this being reborn in the Marxist Chinese totalitarian leader of Mao Tse Tsung who fucked 12 year old girls daily up into his 90's. You can see this in the child trafficking going on in the west where the ruling class secretly commit their sexual perversions without ever being brought to justice because the entire police and law enforcement system and the establishment is wired to protect its own authoritarian ruler class.

If you want to see a display of the Hedonism of civilization, all you need to do is look at the history of 100 years of films… They glorify every kind of Hedonism and flaunt it and every criminal evil associated with it for over 100 years. Night clubs, bars, speakeasy's restaurants, theatres, dance halls, gambling joints, whorehouses, opera houses, symphony halls, the mansions of the filthy rich and their degenerate culture and society, their kept women and mistresses and their unfaithfulness and illicit sex, and their loveless arranged marriages, etc… It is all there on display in films; but no one notices the one common theme of evil and degeneracy and Hedonism running through all of it.

What idea is modern technology based on? What is the unspoken underlying principle that is never questioned and is used to justify and rationalize all the "progress" of civilization, all of its mechanization and mass production and its inventions and gadgets? It is the idea and principle of mass Hedonism… making everything easier and more comfortable for billions of people… And what has been the result?? Mass overpopulation. Mass obesity, mass ill health, mass stupidity of billions of people, mindless mass consumption, the mass exploitation and destruction of all the world's resources, mass pollution, mass brainwashing, billions of people being spoiled rotten, mass laziness… and for what? Why?

For the mindless pursuit of one's own personal ease and pleasure and comfort… in other words: Hedonism

Why is Civilization so Evil?

288

What are all commercials based on? They are based on showing how "happy" people are because of the pleasure and comfort and ease that whatever product or service is being sold… the underlying subconscious message is: all personal pleasure, comfort and ease creates "happiness"… all "happiness" is based on personal pleasure, comfort and ease. That is the mass brainwashing of modern civilization…. And it is totally false… because today there are more unhappy, stressed, sick, mentally ill people than ever before. There is more depression, more misery, more unhappiness than ever before… Yet nobody dares to admit that they are unhappy,,, nobody dares to admit that they are miserable, nobody dares to admit that they are mentally ill, nobody dares to admit anything, nobody dares to face their problems, everybody smiles at each other in public, everybody laughs and makes jokes in public to each other… OR… they ignore each other, they walk around like the dulled down, dumbed down, unaware, brainwashed robots they are.

What about this new fad going around called an "open marriage" where married couples can fuck anyone they want? That's because the pursuit of one's own personal pleasure has become more important and more sacred than marriage or love. This is how the unspoken evil degenerate practiced religion of Hedonism is destroying marriages and civilized society.

Why is there the term "comfort" food? Because the food industry manufactures and produces unhealthy foods to addict you; not comfort you. Why do people need to be comforted by food? Why is comfort so important? Because civilization is an empty meaningless horror. Because civilization is boring. Because humans have to fill up their loneliness and inner emptiness: which is spiritual and emotional and physical.

What is usury?... It is the using of money for profit… Where did usury come from? From the undead… the undead use living humans like living humans use money. They profit from using humans to increase their power and hold over humans and by inventing more and more artificial sources of Energy that they can suck on and thus prolong their rotting decomposing existence.

Why is Civilization so Evil?

289

What's that?

But this goes directly against their goal to destroy all Life on Earth….
Who said the undead are sane?? They are not sane.
They are rotting pieces of insane rotting filth.
This is why they must be exterminated before they reach their insane ghouls.
The reason the two words ghouls and goals are pronounced the same is because the undead slyly leave clues about themselves in plain sight… thinking living humans will never gain the intelligence and wisdom needed to find these confessions of intent…

Well that cycle of unawareness has been broken by me: Indrek Pringi because I have never consciously lied to myself and I have kept my original intelligence intact in spite of the undead trying to poison my awareness.

How the undead work and what they are

The undead can be understood by one of their oldest civilized inventions of ancient chin. I am speaking of paper lanterns that were used to diffuse candle light at night…

The burning candle is a living human being with a short lifespan… the paper surrounding it are undead entities, absorbing the life energy of a living person; poisoning that person's living life force and containing it and preventing it from growing up healthy and strong and intelligent.

All living humans are surrounded by undead entities. They act like paper lanterns surrounding a burning candle. They prevent living humans from seeing each other clearly and prevent humans from communicating with each other clearly amd honestly.

But that is not all…

Why is Civilization so Evil?

290

Inside every living human are undead entities also, they collude with the undead outside you. Together: they poison your thoughts and emotions and actions and control you and manipulate you.

To understand the existence of these invisible rotting scum; you have to understand they have always been here ever since the first living organism died physically and its afterlife took longer to decompose than the period of time it was alive…

Because of this imperfection and imbalance: the realm of the undead is even more over populated with these insane rotting horrors than the overpopulation of living humans on the Living Earth… their numbers have been growing and growing astronomically for billions of years… and as a result: their effects of living humans and on the Living Earth have been also increasing at an astronomical accelerating rate; which is only now being noticed, because now: the undead are flooding the realms of living people and making their presence felt in untold evil ways, shapes, forms and symptoms…

Because it is based on one-sided accumulation…

Throughout the Universe, there is a natural balance of accumulation and de-accumulation… When stars get too big they explode; meaning they kill themselves. When stars get too small they die and turn into dwarf stars. When trees get too big, they topple and fall down and die… when they get too small they shrivel and die. When any species becomes too numerous they die off naturally caused by the effects of their own overpopulation. Nothing in the Universe is supposed to accumulate too much…

Nothing in the universe is allowed to get too big or too small. But because the Universe is imperfect: when a star gets too small, it dies and its final decomposition lasts a long time. Just as when a star gets too big, instead of coming apart harmlessly; it explodes destructively.

Why is Civilization so Evil?

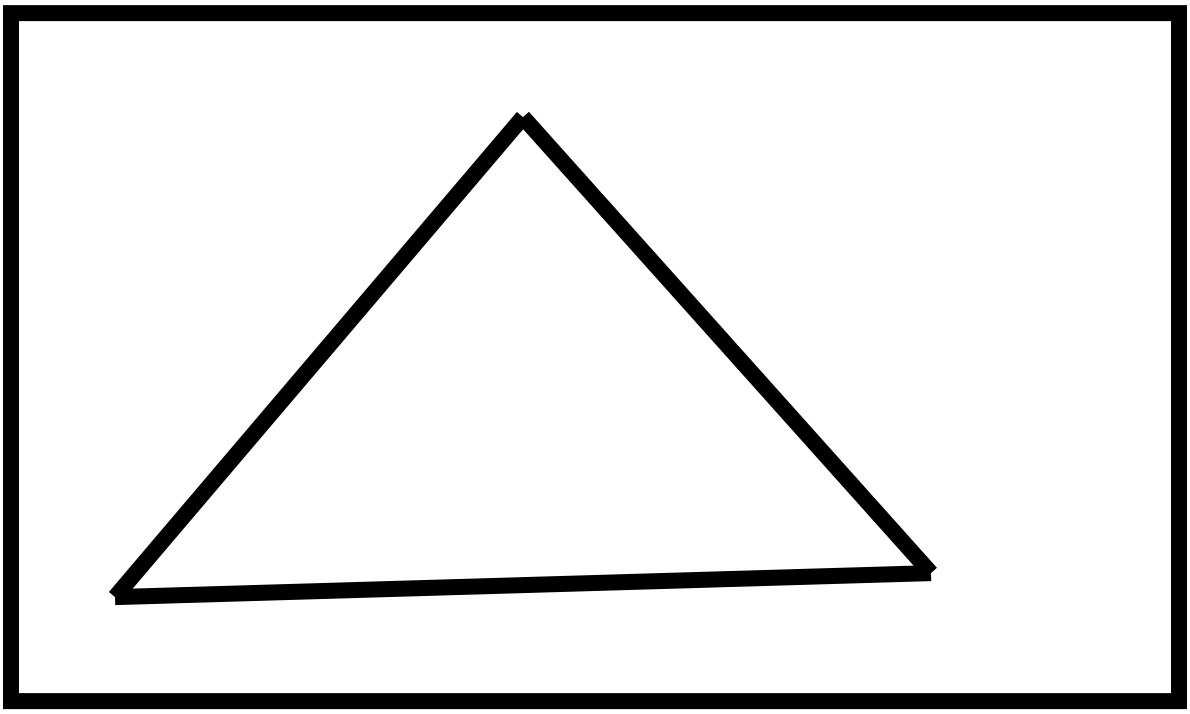
This evil symbols of one-sided accumulation can be seen in all the stone pyramids of past, extinct, ancient civilizations that dot the entire world.



But that is not half of the reason why civilization is so evil… The real reason it is so evil is because it is based on reverse one-sided accumulation. Civilization reverses the natural dynamics of one-sided accumulation… In the natural world;

As can be seen in the ancient stone pyramids… most on the mass of that accumulation and most of the structural strength needed to keep the accumulated pile intact is situated at the bottom of the structure…

But civilization reverses this natural order by sucking up all the wealth and power and authority and concentrating it at the very top of the pyramid… while systematically weakening the structural strength at the bottom of the pyramid. You can see this reversal of the natural order of one-sided accumulation in the jewish symbol of evil

Why is Civilization so Evil?

This happens with all civilizations. The upper pyramidal elite suck up more and more the wealth and power from the huge base of the pyramidal structure, thus weakening what holds up the topmost class; while at the same time the topmost elite continue to rot and become more and more venal and incompetent and degenerate, due to their privileged lifestyles of ease and Hedonism and addictions, until the whole rotten pile of civilized shit crumbles and collapses… Only to be built up again and the same vicious cycle that is the reverse of its structural strength and stability undermines the pile of civilized shit over and over.

This unnatural state of affairs is the basic structural reason why civilization, why all civilizations that are based on the dynamics of reverse one-sided accumulation are structurally evil and designed to crumble under its own weight of the ruling elite's growing power, wealth and oppression of the lower classes…

Why is Civilization so Evil?

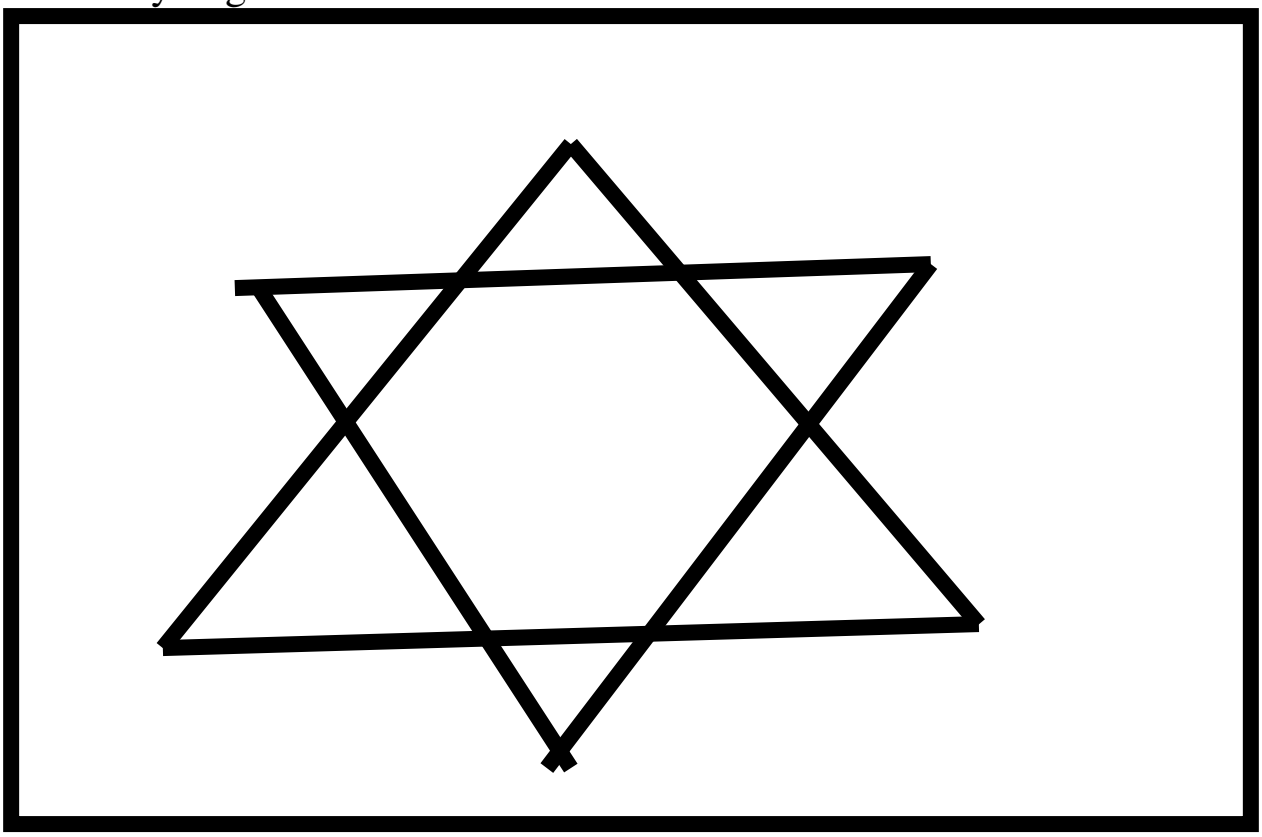
Unfortunately this dynamic of power and wealth concentrating at the top does not completely destroy pyramidal hierarchical civilizations. There is always some leftover from the downfall to create a new one on top of the remnants… Then what you get is this:



Do You Understand?

This is the sign of evil… this is the sign of evil jews,
Controlling civilization; hiding behind a ruling elite at the visible top of the power structure that does not seem to be jewish.

This the sign of Judaism's goal to completely obliterate the civilized masses which it has power over into the ground, into death and total destruction

This is what the undead have conspired and planned for over thousands of years and it is coming to pass right now exactly as the undead have planned because living humans with their short lives and unawareness of history and their Hedonistic brainwashing have been blind to and are still unaware that Armageddon is just around the corner.

The fact that anthropologists finding untold traces and evidence of extinct pyramidal civilizations very similar to ours should be a lesson for all of… Stop doing that! But the problem with this dynamic is that at least in the past 12,000 years is that hierarchical civilizations never go completely extinct, the lowest base still remains; only for a new ruling elite to appear and build it back up again.

Because humans are short-lived creatures and because they are permeated by the evil rotting undead; humans have been rebuilding and rebuilding civilizations on top of older civilizations, ignoring the fact that they are building over much older civilizations that have gone completely extinct… not just partially. The reason humans do not have the intelligence needed to ask why all these ancient civilizations went completely; not partially extinct, and the reason even those few who are curious about why they went completely extinct do not have the critical thinking skills to deduce the fact that all hierarchical civilizations are structurally designed to go extinct is because of the undead. All science, all independent researchers have absolutely no clue as to why the oldest civilizations found went 100% completely extinct.

They have not even dreamt of the possibility that pyramidal civilizations are designed to go extinct. They do not even have the slightest idea or clue that all hierarchical civilizations are structurally evil and should be done away with completely. The point is; regardless of anything and everything else; as long as civilization is structured this way it will always be evil.

Such structures cannot last… they are designed to fail and crumble and rot because they are structurally unnatural and go against all the natural laws of the universe and physics. These unnatural structures are designed by the undead to create and commit evil. Every time one of these unnatural structures imploded in on itself and destroyed itself by its own evils: the undead rebuilt a new one out of the ashes of the old one, over and over again…

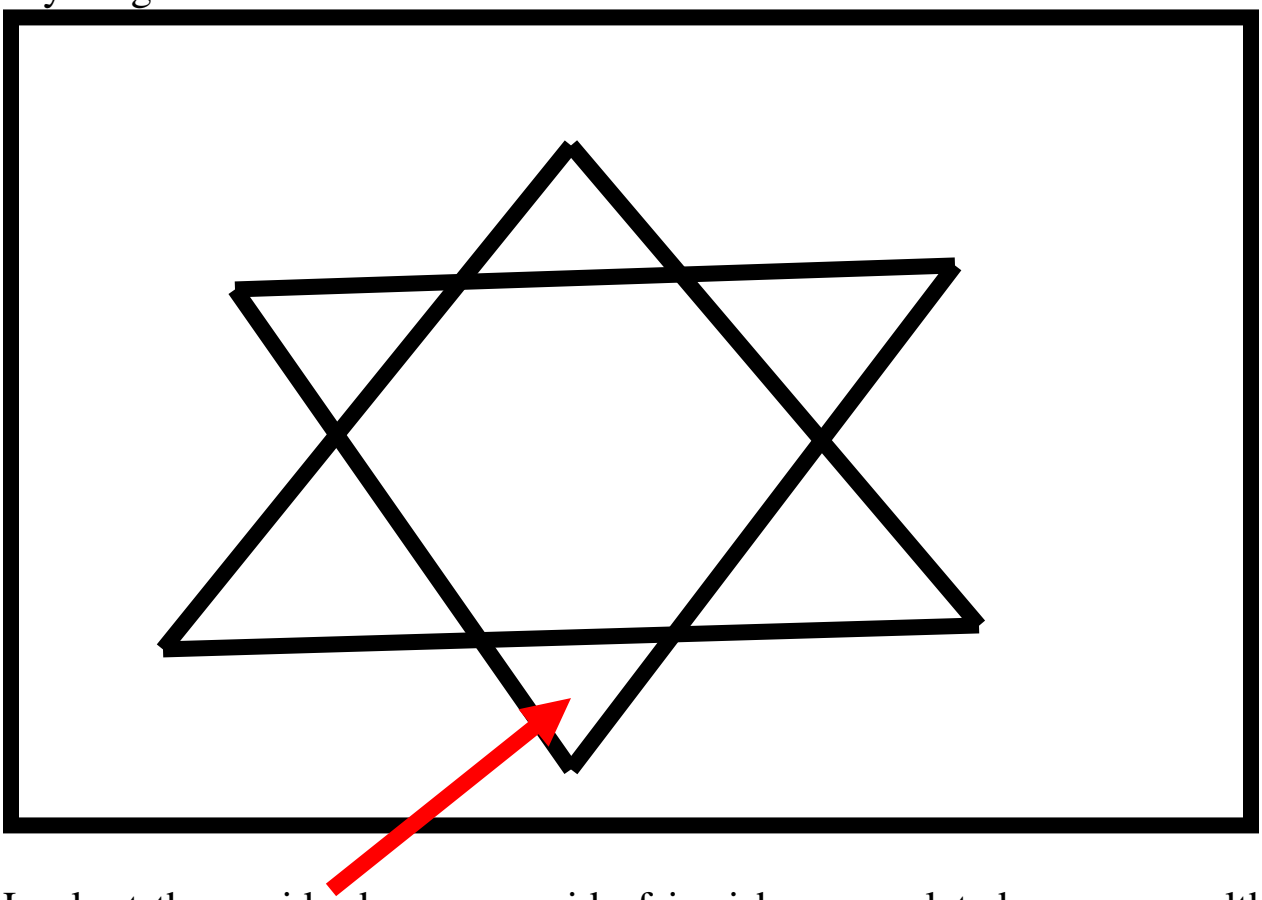
This is why the very structure of civilization must be restructured completely from the ground up.

And each time they did that the new one was a thousand times more evil than the last one… until now: humans are staring at the imminent possibility of a nuclear world war that could destroy all Life on Earth. Yet nobody is even worried or bothered by this or talking about it: much less actually doing anything about it…



Look at the upside down pyramid of jewish accumulated power, wealth and evil… As the jewish sign sinks down it reveals the ultimate ghoul of the undead. The tip of the pyramid is below the ground. The ghoul of the undead using jews as their puppets is to destroy the very earth… No other religion in the world has this insane Zionist notion that only after the Zionist scum destroy the entire world will they ascend to the heavens and enjoy their well earned… What? A heaven with no earth?… But! They are promised to enjoy their superiority on Earth by treating all non jews like cattle. But that is not enough for them: They want their Armageddon and the undead are doing everything in their power to make it come about. What these Zionists do not know is that it is they who are being used as unwitting pawns to achieve the ultimate ghouls of the undead. Even as they delve into the satanic-demonic worlds of the undead thinking they are using the powers of Satan to fulfill their earthly goals; it is they who are being used by the undead.

So ask yourself: Why doesn't the 1st diagram remain as the basic dysfunctional model of modern western civilization? Why does it turn into the jewish symbol of evil?... The answer is that if the jews ever blatantly exposed their power, wealth and control of western civilization so the whole world understood who was oppressing them: the whole world would rise up and exterminate them in outrage and horror and disgust. This almost happened in Germany in the 1930's where they exposed themselves too obviously and the backlash almost succeeded in getting rid of their poisonous control. So you see; the abstract symbol; of jewish evil also matches the practical reality of their evil and the hidden evil agenda of the undead. Jews always have to have at the top; people who are not jewish and come from the main pyramidal mass of hierarchy. As was the case in WW2 where Churchill, though his mother was jewish, acted as their puppet, and now where Trump; though while most of his family is jewish, he is not: acts as their puppet.

So why are Semites as a race; more evil than other species? The answer is simple… for 3,000 years this ethnic race has been butchering the penises of all its 6 day old babies… This trauma; this obscene barbaric sadism on their own male babies is the root cause of why they are the preferred puppets of the undead. Because of this horrible crime against 6 day old babies; the undead can and do violate every baby being tortured and fill its living aura with more undead entities than healthy babies.

Why is Civilization so Evil?

Why has there been no international movement and awareness of the horrific criminality of this ancient stone age culture… when nearly all the other customs and traditions of ancient cultures have been wiped out and correctly seen as barbaric obsolete practices? The answer again is the undead protect and preserve and perpetuate every old evil as long as possible and as much as possible… The result of this is the undead conspiring to have hospitals and the health care of most western nations where most doctors and dentists are jewish. The result has been selling this insane practice of circumcision to gentile parents and getting them to agree to butcher their baby's penises after birth.

Notice: The crumbling evil of pyramidal civilization has now rotted to expose all of the lower levels of civilization, but the evil of the top of this edifice is still hidden… That is because the evil of the undead is still hidden from living humans. When all of this edifice rots and the entire top of this evil edifice is exposed; when all living humans become aware that what controls the entirety of civilization are the undead: we the living will dismantle the entire rotting thing by killing every undead and hunting them down until they do not violate the Realm of the Living

Why is Civilization so Evil?

What is the all-seeing eye on the dollar bill?

The eyes of the undead is what this symbol of civilization means.
The undead are everywhere and they use the eyes of familiars and of living creatures they secretly inhabit to spy on humans. The undead are the real top of the pyramid of evil.

What does this symbol; mean? It means the undead who permeate the Living earth with their foul evil presence, the undead who made humans build stone piles of meaningless dead shit for hundreds of thousands of years, the undead who are inside you and all around you are constantly spying on you and controlling you.

The all-seeing eye is completely separated from the pyramidal structure of civilization. When you look at this symbol; with the knowledge of the existence of the undead: then suddenly it makes sense. The evil of money as an invention of the undead… the evil of all 2-dimensional inventions, the pyramidal structure of civilization, the undead separated from the living; spying on the world of the living; suddenly it all makes logical sense.

Why is Civilization so Evil?

299

The undead show themselves and expose themselves in countless way because they are confident that living humans will never guess the secrets of their existence…. Unless you know about them and know how they work you will never recognize the countless signs of their pervasive existence… until now…

I: Indrek Pringi have exposed their existence.

To everyone who reads this book. It is your moral duty and responsibility to spread the knowledge of the existence of the undead until the whole world knows about them.

The entire human species is sleepwalking onto a worldwide nuclear holocaust just like they sleepwalked into world war one and world war two…

That is why all these undead rotting unspeakably evil filthy parasitical undead scum must be killed dead and exterminated from the earth.

Because if humans do not wake up and start killing these undead insane monsters and ghouls… they will kill all life on earth… and that includes you.

The Past Tactics Of The Undead And Their New Tactics

For at least tens of thousands of years, the undead have been targeting all living humans who showed signs of intelligence and health and made sure they would not reproduce. The undead have been systematically culling the human species of its best and brightest; killing them, poisoning them, isolating them, making sure they would never mate and have babies. The history of mankind is filled with these tragedies and all of them were committed by the undead… The undead has tried to keep living humans as dumbed down and as stupid as possible and as ignorant as possible… but still, intelligent healthy humans are born and grow up and have to be killed or isolated. Their loves have to be destroyed and betrayed, Their marriages have to end in disaster and no offspring… The old tactics of the undead failed to turn living humans into easily controllable domesticated beasts… The health and intelligence of living humans increased in spite of everything the undead did to reverse it.

Now; the undead have learned more diabolical, evil tactics… the undead are now going after the basic DNA of the human species… the want to dumb down the entire human species genetically… scientifically… by poisoning human DNA… by injecting billions of living humans with poisonous deadly MNRA "vaccines" that are not vaccines. Instead they are death jabs; designed to depopulate the humans species and create a species of chip implanted-5g controlled- programmed by nano-particles in their bodies that are no longer human.

Do you think these horrific inventions were invented by living humans??
Do you think there is a rational explanation for why they were invented?
Do you think there is any advantage for anyone by inventing and conspiring to make billions of humans infertile and impotent? Do you think there is any advantage to killing off billions of living humans for anyone? If you think these monstrous global conspiracies and plots are being coordinated by living humans; you are dead wrong. The very scope of this conspiracy is too complex and wide and has too many disparate parties with too many conflicting interests that have no connection to each other to ever be carried out by any centralized authority or cabal or conspiracy.

The Evils of All Cultural Changes Labeled as Being "Normal"

First you must understand that there is no such thing as normality. Normality does not exist. The only thing that exists are new changes in civilization's cultures that humans become used to and end up taking them for granted so they become unquestioned 'norms'… When they are actually evil abominations invented by the undead, designed to spread more and more evil…

301

Here is one example: The new "norm" of billions of humans sitting inside rooms, spending most of their lives indoors on their computers, staring at flat screens, clicking on their mouses…

How did this happen? Just a short 50 years ago, after WW2, people were spending their time outdoors on beaches, camping, playing sports; living healthy, active outdoor lifestyles. Now the level of health in the masses has deteriorated dramatically and is getting worse and worse by the day while everyone is staying indoors sitting at their computers staring at flat screens clicking on mouses..

When did this happen? Why did this happen? What you need to understand is that the seeds of every new trend that ushers in a new "norm" are due to the undead.

Here is a perfect example of the undead beginning to usher the new age of unhealthy indoor culture: The Beach Boys became world famous as a singing group. They represented the new outdoor culture of youth after WW2 and that horrible evil contrived by the undead… The undead poisoned this healthy trend as quickly as possible. They did it by poisoning the mind of the songwriter Brian Wilson to write a song titled "In My Room". That song was the harbinger of all the evil to come. It extols the safety and privacy of having your own room where you are safe from the outer world. It is a perfect example of mass brainwashing.

Why is all music evil? Why did the undead use music to poison and brainwash the lives of humans for thousands of years?

Because the sound waves of music are 2-dimensional. The undead decompose from 3-dimensional entities to 2-dimensional entities to 1-dimensional entities.

By brainwashing humans to obsess over artificial 2-dimensional sounds and waste their lives on it: the undead have effectively negated all the healthy energy and trillions of hours of life where humans could be spending in the 3-dimensional world of living nature. While at the same time creating 2-dimensional energy for 2-dimensional undead to feed on; thus keeping them from decomposing further

This new culture of the internet is doing exactly the same thing that music did for thousands of years. Creating a new "normality' of 2-dimensional artificial energy for the undead to suck on, while at the same time; poisoning the health of living humans.

The point I am making is that buried within the commercialization of the mass culture of healthy outdoor lifestyles that the Beach Boys popularized was already implanted the poisonous next trend that would destroy the healthy culture of outdoor beaches and surfing. The fact is commercialization destroys everything it touches. Everything that has been commercialized that is healthy has been systematically destroyed, ruined, discontinued, and poisoned beyond recognition by the undead. From commercializing love, to dancing, to family values, to playing sports, to outdoor lifestyles.

This happens because the undead cannot predict the future… they can only react to the present. The instant they recognize a positive trend. They instantly work to nip it in the bud before it can grow and spread… The undead have had millions and billions of years of practice at doing this… That is why they are so successful at killing and destroying all the positive energy that Life Energy continually keeps on sprouting endlessly because Life Energy is Positive Energy and the undead are negative evil Energy.

Why do I use this example of this one song sung by the Beach Boys? Because I: Indrek Pringi: Am the only living human to develop my sense of Pure Wonder and my critical thinking skills enough to detect and analyze the tell-tale symptoms and trends that are evil. After 77 years of Life experience; I can look back and compare the 'norms' of 60 years ago to the present 'norms' of today, and find exactly where they originated and why and how by pitting into perspective all the different changing 'norms' of society I had lived through.

When I was very young, I became inured and resigned to the fact that humans were insane and dangerous… But as I found more and more evil, in more and different kinds of evil; I never lost my wondering why this is so… It took me 50 years to finally stumble on the existence of the undead… The story of my own life would fill 10,000 pages; but that is not important,,, What IS important is what I learned in tn the 77 years of my Life; not the personal details of how I learned it or when or where, etc.

The lesson I am giving to you is this…

Never take anything for granted.
Always question anything you don't understand.

The way to do this is by never losing your sense of Pure Wonder… or if you have lost it, rediscovering your sense of pure wonder.

The point is this: everything in the Universe can be understood and explained logically.

The only reason there are unexplained mysteries is because of the undead inventing lies and hoaxes that people have swallowed and believe in.

Take away the lies and hoaxes of the undead and the universe becomes perfectly understandable.

Take away civilization, and you take away all the mysteries that the undead have invented to keep living humans ignorant and dumbed down.

For instance; the supposed 'mysteries' of paranormal phenomenon, and the supposed 'mysteries' of 'UFO's'…

Why is Civilization so Evil?

304

They are all merely manifestations of the insane rotting realms of the undead. Meaning that there is no point in trying to explain them logically because they are not logical… they are just phenomenon of the insane decomposing undead. They are unpredictable just like quarks are unpredictable. They make no sense because they are senseless. By not wasting your time on these pointless supposed 'mysteries', you can spend all of your time positively spreading the Truth about the existence of the undead.

Their existence is logical
All energy in the Universe decomposes
The undead are just decomposing life-energy.
But they have become toxic and deadly because the universe is imperfect.

In order to bring the energy of the living earth back to its positive designed functions
These undead foul, filthy, rotting entities must be exterminated.

In order to do this the awareness level of all humans must be raised so everyone is capable of thinking logically and developing their sense of Pure Wonder.

Civilization is evil because it makes it impossible to be a good person… Even if you want to be good; civilization makes it impossible. It corrupts and poisons all good intentions and plans and ruins them. That is because the undead react instantly to any positive Energy and instantly concentrate all their forces of evil that Positive energy never blossoms and grows. Instead it is crushed and stunted and poisoned as early as possible before it can grow,

Escapism

One of the main aspects of Hedonism and Hedonistic civilization is the religious culture and practice of the Belief in Escapism.

One main belief is the belief in escaping back to a simpler time when things were not so bad-evil-complex. This can be seen in the off-the-grid movement where people try to escape from civilization by going off-grid and trying to be as self-sufficient as possible. This does two things. It removes from the main population those who could be otherwise be active in pushing for reform and fighting against corruption… it removes the best and the brightest from the masses; leaving them even dumber and more brainwashed. It holds up a false example of happiness because none of these people could actually survive without their solar panels and internet and mass manufactured tools, etc.

Another huge example of escapism is the boating and sailing industry. The culture of escaping from all the constraints of living on land, the false illusion of freedom of travel, escaping from all the responsibilities and problems that living on land entails; gives these enthusiasts a false sense of freedom or happiness; their main goal is the pursuit of their personal comfort and pleasure while being completely oblivious and uncaring and ignorant of what goes on in the rest of the world.

Another main aspect of this culture is entertainment. Escaping from reality by watching movies or shows to turn off their minds and become easily brainwashed by what they watch; until they are so brainwashed, they cannot tell the difference between the illusions they watch and the reality of the actual 3-dimansional world around them… One large part of the entertainment industry is the music industry. Listening to music takes up so much time that is wasted and pointless. Then there is the escapist culture called “gaming” where people spend their entire lives addicted to video games. This level of escapism borders on mass insanity and turns people into worse than drug addicts. Abstract images on a computer screen become more real to them than the real world. They lose all ability to function in the real world. Their video games become more real to them than reality.

Escapism

Another huge part of this mass culture is drugs; both legal and illegal. Ingesting drugs to give a person a temporary affect or sensation or experience or illusion that that takes them out of reality and lets them escape from their everyday lives and reality.

Another huge part of Hedonistic civilization is known as “comfort food”. Food that is supposed to “comfort” you instead of supplying your nutritional needs… This is actually a false term. The entire restaurant industry and cooking industry and food industry is geared to produce foods that give you a temporary sensation of pleasure: not comfort and get you addicted to it

The entire travel industry is based on Hedonism so you can travel in comfort. The invention of the wheel is based on Hedonism; making everything easier to move. The invention of the dugout, the canoe… boats, ships, carriages, carts, wagons, trains, planes are all based on Hedonism. The invention of the steam engine, the internal combustion engine is all based on Hedonism,

“The oldest profession in the world” prostitution is based on Hedonism. The entire oriental culture of concubines and harems is based on Hedonism.

The entire culture of raiding and war is based on Hedonism. It is based on the fact that it is easier to steal someone else’s wealth than create your own wealth. The entire culture of slavery is based on Hedonism because it is easier to make a slave work for you than you do the work yourself.

The Seven Deadly Sins of the bible are all based on Hedonism

The very basis of civilization is based upon escaping from Nature; by building and erecting artificial living quarters called huts or houses, and towns and cities and walls in order to make their lives easier. By doing this, humans have removed themselves from their natural environments and have removed themselves from all awareness of all the living things on Earth… Instead they have used the living Earth as “resources” to plunder and rape and kill and domesticate animals and plants for their own personal ease and pleasure.

But this basic root of evil is never mentioned
The word hedonist and hedonism has disappeared from books. The practice and worship of Hedonism
Is unspoken, unconscious, unnamed ignored,.. Why??
When it is so obvious that any child can recognize it.

How can you tell all civilizations were evil??...

First: What importance do people put on species that went extinct?
We value them as being worthless failures.
Then why should we value civilizations that went extinct?
All of them have proved themselves to be utter failures.
And there is no reason why this one shouldn't go extinct either.
Civilizations have gone extinct over and over and over and over…
Then why should we value something that has already been proven to be a complete failure over and over again?

Second: Take some stone and whatever tools you want: and chip away at it for the rest of your life, and then tell me that gave you some fucking meaning to your life… Drag some stones and erect them for the rest of your fucking life and tell me that gave you some fucking meaning to your life. Have your entire society do this for hundreds, thousands of years and tell me that gave them some fucking meaning to their lives… The cult of worshiping and glorifying past dead extinct civilizations is pure insanity.

The undead made living humans do this so they could waste their lives and time and intelligence on dead things, on death. The undead made living humans value death more than life… why? Because the undead deposited themselves into these stones so they would stop decomposing, and last longer than if they were exposed to sunlight and the natural living elements and energies of the living earth, and in the process they became insane… understand this; all decomposing undead entities are insane and evil; they are negative evil energy. The undead seek to make humans fritter away their lives on as many useless, pointless, meaningless activities because they are insane and they seek to make humans as insane as they are.

Third: The theory that these civilizations existed before the last ice age is correct, but… they are much older than just 12,000 years. What happened was a vicious cycle of: Civilization-ice age-hunter gatherers-civilization-ice age-hunter gatherers- civilization-ice age- cave men-civilization-ice age… over and over and over and over for at least hundreds of thousands of years. Civilizations are designed to go extinct because they were invented by the undead and they all rot and die and collapse just like the dying, rotting, decomposed filth that invented them and because they were-are all permeated with rotting evil undead filth.

How can you tell civilization is evil??... Because every single major new invention for thousands and millions of years have mainly used for improving the ability to kill, destroy, poison, pollute. The invention of spears, of the bow and arrow, the first use of the wheel was for war chariots, the invention of gunpowder, dynamite, made world war one possible; without these inventions it would have been impossible for that horrible cataclysm to happen. The invention of trains and rail lines were invented primarily for the transportation of military troops and transporting landed peasants from their homes into cities so they could be used as labor in factories. The invention of the computer and the internet was invented by the military for use in global war scenarios.

The side effect of these inventions has been overpopulation of the humans species, forcing millions and billions to live in poverty and oppression… what benefit has this produced?

The mass explosion of Hedonism gone stark raving mad… which I have already outlined and pointed out earlier in this book.

What has the Hedonism of civilization created? Egosity. Egotistical maniacs… feeling… “I can say whatever I want. I can do whatever I want, I can think anything I want, I can believe anything I want, I can eat whatever I want, I can drink whatever I want

309

As long as it pleases me to do so

Because the pursuit of pleasure is the unspoken religion of civilization

The irrational insanity of people disagreeing with each other, fighting each other, hating each other, envying each other, killing each other has been the standard norm for thousands of years and as long as the culture of Hedonism remains dominant; it will continue so until this civilization destroys itself as all other civilizations have done.

How can you tell civilization is evil?... Because the undead have systematically poisoned all humans to be controlled by their lowest organs, and their lowest intelligence and their lowest emotions.

The most intelligent animal on Earth cannot control its sexual urges and impulses?? Why? No other animal is like this. They mate only when it is the right time to do so. Humans are obsessed with satisfying their stomachs and taste buds… Why? Because the undead systematically tempt humans to satisfy their lowest instincts and urges while suppressing all intelligent awareness of what is right and wrong, what is good and bad, what is healthy and what is unhealthy… As a result; humans have behaved irrationally, insanely for millions of years. They have destroyed the eco-systems they lived un and continue to destroy them even after they know it is wrong and destructive. Why? Because the Hedonistic religion of pleasing themselves overrides all other considerations.

Only when their behavior directly impacts their personal selfish ease and comfort do they even begin to change their ways or start to change, end even then they do so reluctantly and only at a time when it is too late.

How can you tell Hedonistic civilization is degenerate and evil? By the fact that the word: "love" is now almost universally equated with sex: in fact the word "love" or "loving" or "loved" has replaced having sex with someone.

Why is Hedonistic civilization so evil? Because people have been programmed and brainwashed into only caring about their own personal interests, pleasures and comforts… nothing else. Billions of people deliberately tune out, ignore, block all greater awareness of the injustices and corruptions and evils and problems besetting the entire world around them. There attitude is one of apathy. They just don't care about anything but their own personal well-being. They all believe that there is nothing they can do about it… well; guess what… the reason they believe there is nothing they can do about it is because none of them do anything about it. And the reason they don't do anything about it is because even if they try, nobody else will do anything about it… it is a vicious cycle of negative feedback because hedonism is negative energy. And the reason for this negative energy are the negative undead entities that poison the minds and bodies of every living person on Earth.

One of the worst aspects of Hedonism is sex… The idea!... That the most intelligent animal on earth is controlled by its genitals! That it cannot control its urge to fuck! Is because the undead invade the genitals of humans and use it to control you.

The only reason for sex is procreation… and the only time that is supposed to happen is when all the higher organs of a man and a woman align together in love… only when two minds, two hearts, two bodies come close together as a married couple and want to have children: only then is it right to have sex…. Sex without love is evil… it is pornographic.

The three main cultural religions that humans have been programmed and brainwashed into practicing are:

Hedonism
Consumerism

Escapism

Put them all together into the hierarchical-pyramidal madhouse of 8 billion people; and you have the insanity of 7,000 years of civilized history.

What are the "Golden Ages" of all civilizations? They are eras of Hedonism: where not only the ruling elites, but the masses below them enjoyed periods of affluence, comfort, ease, and pleasure… Why did they crumble and fall? Because of the very affluence, comfort ease and pleasure that they enjoyed.

How can you tell civilization all civilizations were and still are degenerate and evil? By the fact that the profession of prostitution predates all written records of civilized societies. Meaning that prostitution existed before the earliest civilizations were founded. The fact that humans, going back to before written records existed, could not control their lowest carnal urges shows that the undead have deliberately taken over and controlled the sexual organs of living humans as one of the main ways to dumb them down to a state lower than other animals so as to poison their entire bodies and minds. You cannot think rationally and logically and intelligently when you are controlled by your genitals.

Why is civilization evil?... Because it has made an example of the best and the brightest, the wisest, the bravest, the most honest, the most intelligent: by crucifying them, assassinating them, killing them, poisoning them. Incarcerating them, banishing them, in order to make sure nobody would dare to follow their example… instead they are examples of failure, martyrdom, injustice. Instead the worst, the most degenerate, the most criminal, the greatest mass murderers, the most evil people ever to have lived are the icons of civilization.

Why is Hedonistic civilization evil?... Because Hedonists do not ask questions about anything except their own personal pleasure and ease or how to increase their own personal pleasure and ease. They do not ask any deeper questions of Life and what is the meaning of Life and how they should live and act and think and feel in order to have any meaning to their lives. Their Hedonistic goals and mindset prevents them from exploring and questioning anything outside their own personal concerns. They don't give a fuck about the eco systems, the pollution, the corruption, the wars, etc. They just care about themselves.

Why is civilization evil: because it is a steady increase of citification: cramming more and more millions of people into cities. Where they walk around pretending all the people around them don't exist… this kind of programmed unawareness of others: this ignoring of other people is not only evil: it is insane. It brainwashes humans into tunnel vision where they automatically block out everything around them. When I was growing up; as a child and a boy and a 20 year-old; to me it was like the walking dead; dead shells walking around bent on their robotic goals, a mass of insane unawareness. Humans are not designed to live in cities. They are designed to personally know everyone they live with and meet every day. Humans are designed to come together on a close personal level; they are designed to relate to each other on a level of closeness, trust and intimacy. The undead have systematically built up their invention called civilization so people become as dehumanized and brainwashed and as insane as possible until they such a level of irrational paranoia they become incapable of forming any close intimate ties to anyone.

Why is Hedonistic civilization evil? Because the entire internet is now being controlled by robotic algorithms programmed to only show you what you "like": not what is true… the result is billions of people are easily brainwashed into believing in lies and falsities because there is no moral-ethical standard for truth or dishonesty in civilization.

So if you "like' believing in things that are not true… no problem.
That is a recipe for mass delusion and mass insanity.
And that is exactly what civilization has turned into. Billions of deluded insane irrational, illogical people having the "freedom" to believe anything they want!! And even more insane… even when they are told the truth; they refuse to believe it!!! Because they are already programmed to value what they "like" over what is true!!

The end result is billions of people who you cannot argue with or convince them of anything… they will stick to their delusions and fantasies and lies regardless of what is shown them. Billions of insane hedonists who cannot agree on anything except their own selfish personal prejudices, opinions and interests.

What is the result of all this "freedom" to have your own opinions and the "right" to have your own "opinion'?... A global pandemic of egotism, narcissism . Billions of insane opinionated people convinced that they are right and everyone else is wrong, with even more mental diseases of megalomania and psychosis and psychotics on the rise all over the world. Hedonism creates egotists; it creates narcissists.

Without the Hedonism of civilization, without civilization pandering to the most evil, twisted, sick, insane, irrational, illogical tastes of humans, there would no such thing as egotism. Humans would be forced to deal with the realities of Nature and be reminded every day that they are just a part of Life on Earth.

Why is Hedonistic civilization evil?... Because of its pyramidal structure of hierarchical elite classes parading their wealth and opulence for thousands of years; the lower classes, the masses have been brainwashed into buying luxury products and goods; in an attempt to prove that they are just as 'good' as the super rich, that they deserve the very "best". The pinnacle of materialistic degeneracy is luxury. The pursuit of luxury, the glorification of luxury, the addiction to luxury, the celebration of luxury as a "lifestyle". To wallow in luxury is the dream of almost all the brainwashed masses who can barely afford to pay their rent.

Why is Hedonistic civilization evil? Because by its pyramidal structure of the top 1% sucking up all the wealth of civilization; it leaves 99% of the people envying and admiring them for their riches. Because this inequity and inequality is so obscenely exaggerated; because the top of civilization's shitpile and their obscene wealth are the only living examples that people have in its hierarchy; the masses naturally crave what is denied them, what is out of reach, what is paraded in front of their noses… The blind craving for luxury of any sort is sold to them in every possible way. Hedonists are materialists…they are soulless, empty vessels, and the only way they can fill up the emptiness inside them is by buying luxury goods… spoiling themselves with ice cream, or chocolate, or whatever they deem to be a special treat for themselves.

Central Banks

The basic fact of modern civilization that is carefully hidden from all the masses including politicians and even the ruling elite is that central banks own and control everything in civilization… They are undead entities of pure evil… Why are they evil ? Because the only thing they create is debt. Debt is financial death. Civilization creates only one thing: death; and central banks are the main engine of evil that the undead use to destroy all life on earth.

Until and unless humans recognize the global power these indeed entities posses and how destructive and criminal and evil they are; civilization will continue to systematically destroy the entire Living Earth. The problem is they are taken for granted. They are invisible. They are not seen as being evil. They are considered to be pillars of financial stability; when they are giant octopuses of greed and avarice and criminality that are sucking the entire civilized world dry of ,oney and hoarding it in their secret underground vaults, while at the same time buying up everything of value in the real world.

Corporations

How can you tell that civilization is a self-feeding evil monster machine? By corporations… Without the mass manufactured goods that corporations provide there could be no 9 billion people on this planet… The fact is: all people on Earth are dependent on these huge corporations for their survival and existence. Yet these same corporations are very ones that are polluting and poisoning the entire Earth including the consumers they sell to and profit from. The same corporations are instituting a global corporate kleptocracy where billions of people will be total slaves. So the very institutions that humans need for their existence are also their worst enemies. That is an obvious contradiction. It is obvious that billions of humans cannot live without these corporations or even dream of doing away with them. Yet nobody admits this problem, and nobody even has a plan to do away with them… We are already enslaved to these corporations and nobody admits it. Our enslavement is only getting worse and nobody has any idea how to stop it. When the entities that feed you and clothe you and provide for your sustenance and keep you alive is also enslaving you and poisoning you and trying to kill as many of you as possible in as many ways as possible; that does not make any sense unless what i am telling you is true.

The plan of the undead is obvious… use the billions of Hedonistic consumers as a justification for the existence of corporations which feed and clothe these billions while also systematically poisoning, polluting, killing and destroying of all the eco-systems and all Life on Earth… and also brainwashing and poisoning and killing as many of their Hedonistic consumers as they can while making a profit from it…

The point is: the existence of billions of Hedonistic consumers is never questioned, or what they consume or why they consume or how were they brainwashed into consuming… and the existence of corporations is never questioned, or their mass producing factories or the machines manufactured to keep this mechanistic civilization functioning while destroying more and more of Nature every minute…

These two huge machines of evil feed each other and feed on each other. They are never questioned or linked to each other because the hedonistic masses have already been brainwashed and programmed into seeing their own hedonistic appetites and addictions and interests and concerns as an unspoken, religious, sacred right that is never questioned. Indeed, these two mass machines of consumption and destruction are seen proudly as proof of the greatness and progress of modern civilization which is why they are never questioned. The idea that civilization could be evil is the farthest thing from their minds. The assumption that civilization is a wonderful thing has been drummed into the minds of the masses so subconsciously that they are programmed to never question it.

What are corporations? Corporations are dead corpses. They are corpses. They are corporate entities. The undead only reveal themselves when they know nobody will be perceptive enough to notice

317

Well that is no longer true… I: Indrek Pringi have cracked their cunning filthy deceptions and codes and plans and conspiracies.

Corporations only exist on paper: they are 2-dimensional entities. The only other 2-dimensional entities that exist as an organized cabal of evil monsters are the undead.

Not only that: all the people who buy shares in corporations also share in their collective evil and their collective guilt. The undead have cunningly crafted civilization so nobody is free from the guilt of practicing and profiting and benefiting from evil. The undead invented civilization so that the living human species could sleepwalk themselves into their own self-destruction while destroying the rest of the living earth and killing all life on earth without them being aware of what they are doing.

This is why breaking the stranglehold that the undead have on your awareness and intelligence is crucial. That is why this book needs to be spread and read by every living person who can read… It is only if and when you develop a perspective that spans thousands and millions of years like I have… and put all the facts together like I have… and discovered the undead exist inside me and all around me like I have… that you can rid yourself of their control and recognize their evil cunning tricks like I have.

This book is designed to give you a head start on this process. I was lucky enough to raise myself… The undead thought that by isolating me and from pure neglect and solitude, they could prevent me from maturing and growing up and educating myself enough to overcome all the things they did to me to poison my body and mind and emotions… they failed.

Get this through your head:
The undead are not all-powerful
The undead are not all-wise
They are not omnipotent
They can be found out and exposed and defeated

Central Banks

318

They try to fool you a million ways
They prey on your every weakness and vice and sin

Every lie you believe in, every false narrative you believe to be true is used against you
The only way you can regain control of your own will and life and intelligence

Is to rid yourself of all the lies and hoaxes and deceptions civilization has sold you and programmed you to assume is true

Once you know all civilization is an invention of the undead and is totally evil… You have instantly deprogrammed yourself of a million lies and falsities. And If you start doing your own research and study and reading; you will discover hundreds and thousands of facts that prove the basic Truths I am telling you now. Your awareness and intelligence and perspective will grow by leaps and bounds.

How the Undead Work

How did the undead control and dumb down and poison humans before civilization? The answer is Culture.

The biological definition of culture is: " The cultivation of micro-organisms, as bacteria, or of tissues, for study and use"

That is an exact description of what the undead are and what they do to humans

A biological culture is a parasitic organism that devours its host and doesn't stop until the host is completely devoured and then it dies also.

That is exactly what the undead are doing to the entire Living Earth. And unless we kill them they will do it.

That is why the undead are not, by our standards of the Living; logical. They seek their own death. They are designed to rot and die; they can't help it. They are negative decomposing Energy. We the living are positive growing Energy.

Each tribe and band of humans were poisoned with a different set of micro-organisms: Replace the word micro-organisms with undead, and you have the perfect explanation why these bands and tribes developed unique cultures and languages and beliefs and customs and traditions: and why they all fought and killed each other and enslaved each other instead of intelligently cooperating with each other and getting to know each other and making friends. Humans are not designed to kill each other… they are not designed to kill period.

Where did the culture of killing come from? It came from Africa where humans copied the top predators of their eco-systems even though they themselves were and still are not predators. The level-degree of insensitivity and programming and normalization it takes for a human to kill anything larger than an insect is huge. The amount of trauma a human suffers from killing another human is huge. Get this through your head. It is not normal or healthy or good for a human to kill anything larger than an insect, and the only reason you kill an insect is because it is attacking you.

Historically, as human culture progressed over time; it attempted to emulate and copy the living Beauty of Nature. That is the one aspect of civilized culture that slowly improved until it reached its apex in the 15-1900's in Europe. From the classical paintings of Leonardo Da Vinci and the fresco's of Michelangelo and his marble and bronze statues to the reality of Vermeer and Van Gogh, from the music of Hayden and Beethoven to Wagner and Tchaikovsky…

But all civilized culture is dead; not alive. Flat oil painting of trees worth millions of dollars cannot compare to the living beauty of a living tree. European culture tried to make the dead culture of civilization as beautiful as it could by copying Nature and the Universe. It found the 12 musical notes based on the Universal structure of 12 found in the Universe and exploded into creativity. Folk song and dance became the identities of ethnic Europeans; even though all of them are almost the same except for having different languages. Classical artists were inspired by these ethnic dances and songs to create their masterpieces.

And then the industrial revolution happened and all that artificial emulation of the Beauty of Nature was ruined and wiped away. In one generation classical paintings turned into horrors of abstraction and ugliness. Classical symphonic compositions disappeared. The camera replaced the easel but the 2-dimensional surface of a phto or the flat surface of an oik painting cannot capture one millionth of the three dimensional living Beauty it tries to represent.. Couples dancing together disappeared. The waltz disappeared. Classical music was replaced by Rock'n Roll. People stopped dancing. Folk songs became commercialized and became popular for a brief time and then disappeared completely from civilized culture.

The point is civilized culture cannot compare to the living Beauty of the living Earth. A thousand artists cannot hope to catch the beauty of a single sunrise or sunset. A thousand artists cannot hope to capture the living Beauty of one day of clouds passing overhead for one hour. A thousand artists cannot hope to capture the living beauty of one living meadow or one acre of forest. A thousand still life paintings of one flower cannot hope to capture the living beauty of one living flower. By valuing dead abstraction over living Beauty civilizations values death over Life; that is why it is evil. Now the computer flat screen is replacing 3-dimensional reality to the degree that babies and children are growing up mentally and emotionally retarded because they are being exposed to flat screen technology too early and cannot tell the difference between reality and 2-dimensional illusions because they have not interacted with the real world during their formative years.

The one thing humans improved on Nature; the chromatic scale of musical notes; what did the undead do? They use it to lull humans into a false sense of temporary pleasure; music is used as a drug, as a soporific; so humans will not face reality and face and deal with the evils of the real world. Music is just another aspect of the culture of escapism from reality. One in a million compositions become popular. All the time and money and energy wasted on creating music and the music industry as a whole, if channeled in positive directions could transform the entire world for the better.

The same goes for the arms industry and military industrial complexes of the world. If all the technology and research and study and research and manufacturing and planning were used to improve the Living Earth instead of destroying it… if all the armies and navies and air forces were organized to improve the living Health of the earth instead of killing; the world would be transformed into a virtual paradise in less than 10 years… but no. Instead the undead control the masses of civilized humans to waste their lives in destructive meaningless negative activities designed to destroy all Life on Earth..

How can you tell Hedonistic civilization is evil? Because all the billions of brainwashed, programmed human drones are addicted to comfort… They eat food to comfort themselves; everything they eat and drink is designed to comfort them. They own pets to comfort themselves. They buy products to increase their levels of comfort and ease. Sofas! Beds! Pillows! Cars! Houses! Computers! Smart Phones! Everything people buy and do is for their own personal ease and comfort. From pleasure cruises to pizza to cheese to coffee to movies to restaurants to online shopping. It doesn't matter where you look; civilization is nothing more than an insane machine offering and selling things to make the Hedonistic masses addicted to comfort and ease. From comfort food to comfort beverages to comfort clothes to comfort music to comfort beds to comfort chairs to comfort cars; the insane pursuit of Hedonistic comfort has destroyed the health of modern humans and until the human species recognizes Hedonism as being evil, it will go the way of the dinosaurs. Listen to Bert Kampfert's music… it is designed to put you into a mindless state of comfort, Kampfert-comfort: get it? Making camp of commercial music.

Look at all the scandals and crises and evils of the world… how many of them are based on selfish greedy people with no morals and no ethics doing as they please to please themselves? What are all the soap opera plots of unhappiness based on?? One single mistake. One moment of illicit sex. Succumbing to one night of sexual lust, with all the future ramifications and consequences coming back to bite them and haunt them… all of them are based on Hedonism. There are no exceptions. Whether it is to increase personal power and wealth or secure more power or oppress people to profit from it. All the evils of the world have the same source and the same cause. Yet nobody notices this, nobody points it out.

Why? Because the entire mass of billions of dehumanized brainwashed drones have already been brainwashed into believing in the practice and sacredness of Hedonism… Only their brand of hedonism is all right… Other people's brands of hedonism isn't. As a result there is no universal outrage against any Hedonism because all humans have been corrupted by it.

The entire basis of civilization is evil because it is based on the idea-assumption that civilization is outside of the Natural Order… That civilization is outside of Nature. That it has no responsibility to all Life on Earth. That it can do as it pleases… The result is humans; poisoned by the undead; doing whatever they "like"… doing whatever they "please", with no regard to the consequences of their actions. The undead invented civilization in order to do as they please. The undead are using humans to destroy all life on earth. All the evil humans have committed is because of the undead. Get that through your brain. Without the existence of the undead, the intrinsic, natural motives and urges of humans would never have been twisted and reversed into evil so that the entire human species becomes a negative force for evil; not Good. Without civilization, humans have a natural inclination to be a part of Nature and love Nature. It is only when humans are separated from Nature and have no love of Nature that they commit evil. Without the invention of tools and the use of tools: humans could never have become able to kill anything. Humans are not genetically designed to kill anything: Get that through your head.

How can you tell all civilizations are evil?

Because all civilizations value the power of killing and death more than the power of life and birth

This one horrible truth has existed long before civilizations were invented and it is the one reason to destroy and get rid of civilization as it is now.

The march of 9,000 years of civilization has been one long improvement on better ways to kill animals, plants, trees, fish, forests and humans.

Civilization does not place any value on life and birth. It only glorifies and values the power to kill and death.

That is because the undead have poisoned living humans for more than hundreds of thousands of years and used living humans as puppets in order to destroy all life on earth… and the undead are almost on the verge of successfully doing that with a nuclear 3rd world war looming just over the horizon. Currently' one third of the world's total land has been turned into desert by civilized activity. By 2025 there will be more plastic in the ocean than fish, the remorseless presence and activity of the undead using humans as their unwitting puppets is clear: the undead want to destroy all life on earth. And they are succeeding because humans are not even aware that the undead exist…

The explanations humans use for the existence of evil; demons, the devil, evil spirits. Or just "human nature" the predilection for "self-interest"… sociopaths, psychopaths, metal illness; all of these attempts to understand why evil exists in the world have been invented by the undead in order to hide their own existence and true nature and their true goals and their true motives. That is why my first book: The Path of Splitness and this book is crucial for the survival of all life on earth.

Only when these two books become internationally recognized as ground breaking explanations and analysis of the undead will humans finally become aware of their invisible, unseen deadly presence. And only then will humans become able to kill them and all their puppets until they are all dead.

What have the undead been doing for at least thousands of years? They have been killing off the best of humanity; they have targeted the best and the brightest and massacred them and killed them over and over in wars, in invasions, in battles, assassinations.

The most obvious are the two world wars of a century ago… where the best of western humans were slaughtered and killed by the millions in order to dumb down the entire populace of western civilization… now the undead are targeting all white races because they know that the white race of humans are the most advanced, intelligent, beautiful race on earth. Do you think the poisoning of all white cultures and nations and races is some conspiracy by some evil jews?

325

Jews are only the puppets of the undead; that is all they are… all the evil jews have committed over thousands of years and continuing to commit are controlled and orchestrated by the undead.

Get this though your head
There is one and only one source of evil
That is the undead
All evil that has ever been committed
Is due to them.

All the murders of whistleblowers, all the murders of beautiful children and girls, all the assassinations of presidents, all the kidnappings of children, all the child trafficking, all the disappearances of children and girls are orchestrated by the undead. They are an evil filthy unseen presence all over the world. Every evil conspiracy is controlled by them.

They need to be exposed, hunted down and killed dead… starting with all of their filthy stinking evil puppets whom they work through and use and control.

Without their selected puppets they become handcuffed. Without all the people in power being controlled by the undead it takes years, centuries for them to build up their convoluted evil plans and power.

That is why the bloodlines of certain elite families have a history of pure evil that go back hundreds, thousands of years… exterminate those bloodlines and their intricate webs of hidden collusions and conspiracies and connections crumble into dust. Then it will take them hundreds of years to build up a new set of elite bloodlines… that will give humans enough time to destroy the evil amongst us and never allow such evil to be reborn again.

This is why Hedonism is so evil… Hedonists do not have the morals and ethics needed to kill people who are obviously evil.

Only when there are enough enlightened, informed humans dedicated to killing these evil elite puppets of the undead is there any hope for the human species to rid itself of the death grip of the undead.

This books is written so enough people read this and begin to slaughter the evil puppets of the undead…

They are not hard to identify. Millions of people know who they are. But no one has the guts to kill them dead.

If I could: I Indrek Pringi would gladly do so; but I am not able to simply because the undead have isolated me from all human contact.

That is the only way they have managed to stop me.

They have not been able to stop me from learning about them.

They have not been able to harm me in any serious way because I am too intelligent and too powerful for any of their goons to try to go against me.

This book will end the isolation they have temporarily been able to create by taking away all humans around me who are not controlled by them, and by poisoning all of my contacts with others.

This book will be read by millions of people and it has the moral ethical power and logic to destroy civilization as we know it and destroy the puppets of the undead.

How can you tell the undead have been poisoning humans for ages?
By the disparate creation myths each culture had… They are now labeled myths; but when they existed they were religious dogmas that were believed in devoutly for centuries; just as the monotheistic dogmas today of there only being one god are devoutly believed in… All of it is brainwashing nonsense.

How the Undead Work

All of it are lies invented by the undead to hide their existence and their actual evil.

First there was da cosmic egg…. First there was da raven… First there was da wise lord and da evil spirit… First der was nothing… First dere was an infinite, lifeless sea when the sun rose for the first time. First dere was dis giant turtle… And on and on and on… all the creation and origin myths of the past can be seen today as phantasmagorical superstitious nonsense. But they were believed in for thousands of years. The fact is: all religions and spiritual beliefs are poisonous inventions of the undead seeking to dupe and fool and deceive living humans so they never become aware of the rotting evil entities that pervade the Living Earth and poison everything that is alive.

You need to understand how deep their evil is and how old it is;
Everything in civilization is evil: everything was invented due to their evil presence and ghouls.

Understand this:

1: everything that is a 2-dimensional artificial invention is evil
2: everything that is a 1-dimensional artificial invention is evil

Why?

All abstraction is evil
That means all mathematics, all money, all spelling
(abstract symbols, letters, words, writing) is evil.
All fiction, all myths, all religions are evil.
All tools are evil. All machines are evil.
All music is evil. All cities are evil.
All clothes are evil. The use of all fire is evil.

Because eventually: all undead ghouls and entities disintegrate and decompose and degenerate into 2-dimensional insane monsters and then into 1-dimensionional vestiges of their former 2-dimensional selves. The undead have been pushing living humans to use 1-dimensional and 2-dimensional energy to kill with for millions of years.

A spear and an arrow is a 1-dimensional energy tool of death… A bullet is a 1-dimensional energy tool of death. An artillery shell is a 1-dimensional energy tool of death. A missile is a 1-dimensional energy tool of death. A knife or a sword or an axe is a 2-dimensional energy tool of death. It took the undead thousands of years to finally invent a 3-dimensional energy tool of death; a bomb. Then it took the undead another thousand years to invent the nuclear bomb.

Now… the undead, using 1-dimensional Energy, (electricity) have invented 2-dimensional screens… where these two and one dimensional insane things can actually live in… These undead things can now extend their afterlives by sucking on the 1 and 2-dimensional Energy produced by electric wires and computer screens and the 2-dimensional energy radiated by television towers and 5G towers and radio towers and television towers and WiFi towers and satellite transmissions..

Do you understand?

What humans call modern technology and progress are only ways for the undead to live longer and temporarily escape their inevitable decomposition and deterioration into nothing. The undead are using living humans to keep from dying out. They embed themselves into living humans to keep from deteriorating into the 2 and 1 dimensional beings that fill the realms of the undead and make it a madhouse of insane horrors.

Every level of these undead filth are using humans to extend their existence and avoid extinction.

Literally all the supposed ‘advances’ in technology are only Energy sources that the undead can suck on in order to keep from decomposing. All the 1-dimensional and 2-dismensional and partially 3-dimensional undead entities are using living humans and their inventions for their own advantage… This is because it was the undead themselves, hiding inside humans, who originally invented these foul technologies and refined them for their own use and their own purposes.

You mean humans did not invent the telephone and the light bulb and electricity and radios and televisions and computers?

Yes: that is exactly what I am telling you

The undead can now turn living humans insane; they can make them insane by having them believe what they see on a 2-dimensional surface is not only real… but more real than the actual 3-dimensional Universe they live in. Billions of living humans are now living in unreal worlds of virtual reality where most of their contact with the outer world is through 2-dimensional devices like smart phones and laptops and computer screens.

Do you think

That in order to satisfy the appetites and comforts and addictions of 8 billion hedonistic, pleasure seeking people… that the world's corporations are just "by the way"…. Just by happenstance…, just by coincidence… poisoning and polluting the world's oceans, cutting down the world rainforests, poisoning the groundwater, poisoning the very seeds of Life, damming up the world's rivers, turning 30% of the world's arable land into deserts, ramping up the production of nuclear weapons, increasing the threat of a nuclear world war, while dumbing down and brainwashing the masses into doing nothing about all these imminent crises…

Just to make a fucking profit??

Well you are wrong

Do you think that the people who are engineering these global disasters actually expect to survive them??

How the Undead Work

330

Well you are wrong…

The people who are doing this are controlled by the undead

And because of this…

They need to be killed dead

But somehow… for some strange inexplicable reason…

Nobody thinks of doing it!

Nobody even dreams of doing it!

Nobody even fantasizes about doing it!

Can you guess why?

That is because all living humans are possessed by the undead and controlled by them… except me; Indrek Pringi

I have freed myself from their control.

This book is for only those living humans who have freed themselves from the control of the undead enough to read and understand and follow the logic of this book, and have the intelligence to organize together and kill every single living human that is actively evil starting at the every top of the pyramid of evil.

Why do you think the female figure of justice has a blindfold over her eyes?
So she will never be allowed to see the truth
Why is the figure of justice a female and not a male?
Because generally: females are swayed by emotion and males are more objective. Why is it blindfolded? So it will be blind to evil.

How the Undead Work

331

How deep and old is the evil of the undead?... It is as old as life itself.

For instance: why have 99% of all living species gone extinct over the millions of years of life on earth?... Because they did not perform their designed function: and they did not do it because the undead poisoned all of them and subverted all their natural designs and poisoned them into becoming horrible miscarriages of evolutionary design. Living cells were not designed to die… but because the universe is imperfect some of them did: and that is when the evil rot of the decomposing-accumulating undead began to take hold and increase because it takes longer for all the life energy of a living cell to decompose than its life span. The more decomposing undead leftover entities that accumulated, the more they poisoned living cells and made them die until all living organisms began dying. But the intelligence of the universe designed them to come closer together and designed the dna molecule… the closest, most compact design of organic molecules ever to be invented by the universe. This allowed living cells to split and reproduce themselves, so no matter how many died, there were always more living cells than there were before. But as DNA molecules designed new species; the undead poisoned them to kill each other instead of coming together as they were and still are designed to do.

Then followed a killing spree of different species killing each other instead of coming together… and because they violated the universe's design to come together without hurting each other… they all went extinct. The greatest killers; every species that killed more; went extinct faster than the others because they went against the designed function of the Universe more than other species: which is for all energy to come together without harming each other, and all spaces to come together without harming each other.. What the undead had done was to subvert the design of organic life: (which is also the design of the universe) which is designed to come closer together; into a pyramidal killing hierarchy called euphemistically 'the food chain'… it is not a chain: it is an evil pyramid where the most horrible mass murdering killers are at the top of the pyramid of death and those species that kill less and are more numerous are at the bottom while those who kill more are at the top.

The undead poisoned all life in the oceans so much: they developed shells so they could not touch each other and could not feel each other because they were forced to protect themselves from being killed all the time. You still see these obsolete species in the oceans and rivers as crustaceans… because the universe is imperfect; these ancient obsolete species did not go 100% extinct… that is why there are still some of them around.

Do you think that it is just coincidence?

That all the good intentions of humans for thousands of years have been systematically sabotaged, corrupted, reversed, overturned and twisted into an abomination of their original intent? For thousands of years all social reforms have failed badly or been destroyed… without exception.

For hundreds of years social reforms were attempted in the roman empire…. All of them were thwarted. All of them came to naught. Look at the French revolution!... 'Equality! Fraternity! Liberty!... And what did they get? A fucking emperor who was 10 times worse than a king. Look at the Russian revolution! The czar was overthrown and what did they get?... A totalitarian Bolshevik nightmare that was 100 times worse than the czarist government. Look at the reforms of the Krupp steelwork plant and compare it to Ford's River Rouge plant… there is no comparison. The Krupp plant was destroyed and the River Rouge plant was saved. Look at the reforms of Germany between 1933-1939… For that; Germany was bombed to the ground and a military occupation was set in place that still exists today so a truly socialist govt would never be allowed to exist… Why are all the good things of Humanity sabotaged, destroyed, covered up and forgotten while the worst things are kept and preserved?

Do you think this an accident?

How can you tell that civilization is Hedonistic? Witness historically over just a 100 years the creeping idea that it is okay to have sex before marriage. And the results of this!! Abortions, children raised in one parent households.

Teenage mothers. Unwanted children. Destroyed lives. Fathers abandoning their offspring… The idea that it is okay to get a divorce. Broken marriages. The lack of any commitment to a family. The reasons justifying a divorce! The sexualization of children, the break-up of the family unit. The destruction and loss of all community organizations and establishments. All this was unheard of 100 years ago… Whereas now the only motive that drives behavior is personal pleasure and comfort and ease: nothing else. If it is easier to run away from a commitment, if it is easier to abandon your children, if it is easier to get a divorce. Divorce is becoming easier and easier to do. The pursuit of pleasure; the explosion of pornography, the explosion of sex trafficking, the explosion of single people having sex in just 100 years!

What are supermarkets but temples of Hedonism? 100's of thousands of products designed to lure you into buying them solely for the pleasure of eating and drinking these addictive substances,

Think of it:… how could the banks make their profits, how could the corporations make their profits without billions of Hedonistic consumers addicted to using and buying their products and services. How could there be the population explosion of billions of people without the technological inventions of the undead making it possible for agriculture to become mechanized and the industrial production of billions of tons of inorganic fertilizer? Civilization is a self-feeding machine of evil that is systematically killing and destroying everything that is alive in the earth.. Each part of civilization needs the others to exist. Each part of its evil feeds the other parts. What is the point in millions of consumers who create nothing but only consume? What is the point in billions of people in the first place? What is the point in feeding billions of people who cannot feed themselves? What good is it? It is only good for the undead. By using the excuse of satisfying the appetites and needs of billions of consumers: the undead can systematically profit by systematically polluting, poisoning, destroying and killing all Life on Earth… while the billions of humans who are doing it are not even aware of doing it or don't care or both.

Think of it… how can wars and crimes and genocides and poverty and starvation and misery and unhappiness and evil co-exist with pleasure cruises and swanky hotels and billions of blissfully unaware people whose only interest is the pursuit of their own pleasure and comfort?... it's insane. It doesn't make any sense… unless what I tell you about the undead is true.

If all the billions of people were poor and starving, they would do something about it. If all the billions of people were in the middle of a war they would do something about it. The undead rely on billions of Hedonistically brainwashed people being insulated and isolated from all the evil to do nothing about it. And when it affects them; the other billions of Hedonists do nothing because they don't care or don't know or don't want to know about it. There is a subliminal unspoken message and religion that all the billions of consumer Hedonists have been brainwashed into… and that is the religious belief and assumption that whatever crisis or problem or scandal or crime; there is nothing they can do about it… The result is billions of brainwashed dehumanized insects doing nothing, except babbling on the internet… which is exactly what the internet was designed for. Computers and the internet are designed to make all the billions of internet users sit and watch and comment and do nothing... Even if the threat of a worldwide nuclear holocaust is looming and appears inevitable.

As long as their religion is Hedonism: and that means having no morals and no ethics other than lip service; the evil ones can do as they please and get away with it. In order for evil to exist and flourish; the undead need billions of Hedonists to do nothing about evil. And as the undead corrupt billions of hedonists more and more and more… as the undead brainwash and program the billions of hedonists more and more and more; their power and wealth and evil steadily increases. Until there are no humans left who are not corrupted and brainwashed and dumbed down. This is the path of degeneracy and lunacy and self-destruction that civilization is headed unless enough people read my two books and become enlightened enough to do something about it.

The fact is; civilization has been invented and designed so evil can operate unhindered in the middle of billions of brainwashed, unaware, ignorant Hedonists. Huge criminal networks operate all over the world in thousands of cities; yet nobody is able to arrest and prosecute them. Nobody can find enough evidence of their crimes. Authorities know they exist, yet they cannot do anything about them… Mainly because the authorities themselves are involved. Do you think this is just an accident? Huge cities where millions of people pass each other by as total strangers ignoring each other… Huge highways where millions of cars pass each other by; completely insulated and isolated from each other. And what are these huge cities and highways for? Supposedly for the ease and comfort of billions of mindless brainwashed consumer-Hedonists. The great god of ease and comfort and pleasure: Hedonism… why is it not overtly worshipped? Why are there no temples or churches devoted to Hedonism?... Everybody practices this religion… but nobody is aware that they are practicing it. How is this possible?... That a huge black hole of unawareness exists in every human living on this earth?... Unless what i tell you is true.

The religion of Hedonism is a religion of willful unawareness.
It is a religion of willful ignorance
It is a religion of willful stupidity
It is a religion of willful addiction.
It is a religion of willful sin.
It is a religion that is willfully evil.

Yet no one but me notices this or is aware of it… Why?

Hedonism is based on the belief that each person has a will of their own…
Is that true? Or are all of you reading this controlled by the undead…EH?
Your will has been subverted by the undead beginning from the time you were born; so how are you expected to notice it? Eh?

Has your will been subverted by the undead, Eh? Unless you examine your entire life like I have you will never know. How many people are introspective enough to do this. Eh? How many people have an ethical and moral compass that unerringly tells them the difference between Good and evil: eh? Because if you don't have it; you will never be able to tell anything; because you do not know what is Good and what is evil… It is very simple: Everything that is dead or causes death is evil… Everything that is alive and creates Life is Good.

But then again; if you have been successfully brainwashed and dumbed down like 99.99% of people to become good little Hedonists; there is no need to subvert your will or your life; you will do it yourself… willfully and voluntarily. The undead only subvert those who are an exception to the rule… if you are too intelligent or too healthy or too aware; like I am… History is full of exceptional people whose lives have been deliberately subverted, ruined or cut short by the undead because they posed a threat to their dominance and existence.

Everything that subverts and prevents the natural designed functions of humans to develop and blossom is evil.

Why do you think the surveillance state has been invented in the last 50 years? All the evils of civilization are just a reflection of the undead… The undead have been surveillng living humans for millions of years. I will give you an example… I live in the woods alone… The undead invaded my living space; meaning my house… First there were squirrels sneaking in… Then there were chipmunks coming in. Then there were mice infesting the house. Then there was a rat that invaded my home… Then there was a neighbor who invaded my house when I was away and left huge muddy footprints…

After I set a trap for the squirrel twice and killed two of them: all the squirrels on my property disappeared. After two chipmunks died in the squirrel traps all the chipmunks on my property disappeared. They could all have lived quite nicely without invading my house. It was only after repeated invasions that I finally got fed up with them. Then there was an infestation of a hornet nest inbetween the walls and after I called a pest control company and they killed the nest, they tried to install a nest in my front entrance. After I destroyed it, they tried to cunningly install hornets nests underneath the platform of my roof where I do Yoga. It was only when I had to move the platform to repaint the roof that I discovered them and destroyed them. Then I set mice traps and after 3-4 of them were caught in mice traps or drowned in the toilet they disappeared also. The house had been already infested with ants, so I ignored them thinking them harmless… But as their presence increased and they began showing up in my bed, I decided to put ant poison everywhere they usually trafficked…

Suddenly all the ants disappeared without eating the poison…, No ants showed up to eat the poison. The undead do not like having their eyes and ears killed. So they removed all the ants from the house rather than have them all be killed by me. They had been all over the house everywhere for decades. Just like they removed all the birds and squirrels and chipmunks from my property.

The undead only surveil you when they know you don't know they are doing it… but if you know they are using other species to surveil you: they do not like that. They do not like being exposed for what they are. That's why all the birds and squirrels and chipmunks and now ants and hornets have disappeared from my property. Whenever a bird or squirrel or chipmunk was being used by the undead to surveil me; i cursed it to its face. The undead do not like that; they do not like being revealed and exposed.

This is what you need to understand: when you openly confront evil and are ready to kill it dead: it flees. The undead cannot face open confrontation. Their only weapons are deception, cunning, slyness and lies.

Do you think it's a fucking coincidence all the ants disappeared one day before i put out the ant poison??

338

The undead are watchers… they watch living humans all the time.. They use birds, squirrels, ants, to surveil you. They use pets, insects, birds. They have been surveillng humans for millions of years.

Now they are using machines to surveil you along with all their other cunning sly methods. All spying is evil. Civilization has become an insane mass of secretive, paranoid people spying on each other. Civilization is turning humans insane with fear. That is why civilization as it has been invented by the undead must be completely wiped out, and a new civilization created that is clean of the undead.

The undead are watchers and hiders…

The undead have been watching and hiding from the living for billions of years… That is why they are so good at it. They have been watching living humans ever since we were created by Nature and the Universe. They use other living species as their eyes and ears to keep tabs on us. They use pets as familiars. A familiar is an evil spirit that hides in an animal that lives close to a living person in order to find all its weaknesses and vices and evils so that when it dies, the undead are ready for him or her.

The undead hide in the dark because they cannot stand direct sunlight… they hide in attics and basements and nooks and crannies… They hide behind walls. They hide behind flat surfaces. They hide in shadows. Just because you only now found out about them does not mean they have always been here. Humans didn't know that bacteria existed for millions of years until just recently… that doesn't mean they have always been here.

For at least tens of thousands of years, humans knew there were unseen malevolent forces at work… They gave these forces names, they invented myths and legends about them; but now we know all the attempts to understand what goes bump in the night were deliberately obfuscated and twisted by the undead in order to hide the true nature of their existence and their true ghouls. The undead have had millions of years of practice deceiving living humans. They have posed as omnipotent deities, evil demons, forces of Nature, angels, devils, etc, etc. And up to now: living humans have been their unwitting dupes and puppets…

Not anymore

I: Indrek Pringi in my two books have blown their cover sky high Everything that was once inexplicable or a mystery about evil is now explained.

How Did The Undead Forcibly Corrupt Humans?

By inventing a pyramidal system where the huge mass of people have to struggle and slave and pinch pennies in order to make a living while the filthy rotten upper class lounge around in ease without having to work or lift a finger just because they have more money than the rest of Humanity… The result was and still is money became. The new idol. Money became the new god, the new unspoken religion that nobody admits to but everyone believes in religiously and practices. The result is the god of money has overtaken all other gods in this evil filthy system called pyramidal civilization. The undead have brainwashed people by the abstract invention of money, and by making it necessary to have money in order to live. This abstract mathematical value system has replaced all other moral, ethical, emotional, intellectual values and it is insane. By putting an abstract, 2-dimensional, mathematical value on Life, on death, on living organisms, on material objects, food, water… the only thing left that has not been monetized yet is the air we breathe. Putting a monetary value on injury and trauma is insane. The entire concept of money is insane. All abstractions are insane; but that is exactly why the undead invented it.

Why is the abstract concept of numbers insane? Because it is predicated on the idea-assumption that abstract numbers are absolutely identical to each other, and extending this insane idea into the 3-dimensional Universe where nothing is absolutely identical to each other. No two Hydrogen atoms in the Universe are absolutely identical to each other. No two grains of sand are identical to each other. No two snowflakes are identical to each other… yet this insanity is extended even further; trying to make the value of 5 chickens equal to the value of one goat. Or ten goats equal to the value of one bullock… This is all based on the idea-assumption that all bullocks have an identical monetary value and all goats have an identical value. This posits that all eggs are the same, all chickens are the same, all goats are the same when they are not… The entire concept of mathematics; balancing a mathematical equation is based on the hoax, the fraudulent assumption of identicality. When no gold coins are absolutely identical to each other; the premise of absolute identicality is an illusion that cannot be seen until they begin to wear. But trying to apply this mathematical insanity to living creatures is obviously not true because no animals or birds or fish of one species are absolutely identical to each other. But even more insane is linking the monetary value of a fish to another species like a chicken… trying to give everything in the Universe a monetary value… In effect, turning everything in the 3-dimensional Universe into a universal system of 2-dimensional mathematical numbers… That is the insanity of Science… This is now insane humans have become… They have actually tried to explain and understand our infinite 3-dimensional Universe by transposing everything in it into 2-dimensional mathematical numbers that are absolutely identical to each other.

How can you tell that civilization is evil??... By child and infant sacrifice.
For thousands of years every religious temple in the ancient world demanded sacrifices to their "gods"… They demanded the first born of every family to be sacrificed to appease their gods or goddesses… You don't believe me? Of course this has been carefully hidden and covered up by anthropologists for fear that the public might lose their awe and worship of these rotten evil civilizations and they might lose their funding… But the tens of thousands of stone sarcophaguses around ancient temples excavated all over the Mediterranean tell a different story. They measure 1 ft. by 2 ft. and there is no doubt as to what they contained.

It is still going on today and it is carefully being covered up. The undead still want their pound of flesh… they want to continue and perpetuate every single ancient evil that they perpetrated for thousands of years in spite of the destruction of these ancient temples and civilizations. Now today it is called Satanism.. it is not Satanism: it is the undead preserving as many of their ancient abominations as possible.

If you study ancient history, you can find how this horror was gradually watered down and substitutions were made because living humans rebelled against it… One main reason for the hatred of the Romans against the Carthaginians was because they still practiced this ancient abomination; even though most of the Mediterranean world had stopped doing it hundreds of years ago. It was a norm of the Copper and Bronze Ages, of sacrificing babies and when these civilizations were wiped off the map and the ancient temple complexes were destroyed, the custom fell out of practice because the temple complex that demanded sacrifices and controlled that part of the civilized world was totally destroyed.

You don't believe me? Why did Agamemnon the king of the Greeks assemble a huge fleet and go to war against the Trojans… can you guess?

It was because he had invited all the minor kings of Greece to his palace to witness the sacrifice of his eldest daughter to the gods. So when Paris stole her away, he suffered a huge public embarrassment… The sacrifice of his eldest daughter to the gods so that he might find favor with them and raise his prestige as the most religious king in Greece had turned into a horrible public fiasco.

Furthermore; on the voyage to Troy, the entire fleet lay becalmed for days… One of the soothsayers on board told him if he sacrificed his youngest daughter, the winds would return and he did it…

Agamemnon went to war because he didn't get the chance to kill his eldest daughter as a sacrifice to the gods and killed his youngest daughter to placate the storm gods.

Can you understand a king who does this?

You have no idea what the ancient world was like and what believed and what was considered to be normal.

How can you tell that all civilizations before this latest one are also evil including this one?

All of them disappeared mysteriously at their height… Dis civilization disappeared. And dat one disappeared and dat one and dat one and on and on and on!! All of them all over the world in Asia, India, Malaysia, the Pacific islands. South America, Africa, Europe, North America; they all suddenly "mysteriously" disappeared for no apparent reason. How can anyone explain these disappearances?

Well I can…

What happened to all them is exactly what is happening to this one right now….

They all went insane and destroyed themselves…

One example of modern mass insanity is the mass culture of paranoid secrecy over the internet… Billions of people talking to each other over the internet who have no clue who the other person is that they are talking to. They do not know if the person they are talking to is a man or a woman or a child or an adolescent… They do not know which country they live in. They do not know what culture they come from. They do not know what language they speak. They do not know if the person they are talking to is 9 years old or 89 years old. They do not know anything about each other. In fact they are terrified of letting anyone know just who they are, where they live, what their age is, what their profession is. This mass culture of paranoia and secrecy has destroyed all kinds of social activity and interaction between people. People do not talk to each other any more except over the internet as total strangers. People do not get together anymore except over the internet as total strangers. People do not know each other anymore except over the internet as total strangers. The effects of isolation and alienation from the societies people live in are creating billions of people who live in their own bubbles of unreality.

Why is this happening? Because the undead rely on secrecy and invisibility in order to exist. They cannot afford to let living people know who and what they are. Because the undead are paranoid and secretive; their presence of hiding inside living humans and all around living humans is leaking into the hosts they suck on as invisible parasites. Their entire basis of fooling and duping living humans is based on not letting living people know anything about them.

Due to their increasing numbers which comes from more and more billion of humans dying and entering the realms of the undead, their effect on living humans is increasing at an alarming rate until living humans are reflecting and projecting characteristics of the undead because they are so over-permeated with their rotting presence that they act like the undead, think like the undead, feel like the undead. The insanity of the undead is leaking into humans more and more each day.

You need to understand that the undead are not sane, are not logical… they are not rational, they are not sensible, they are not human; they are insane rotting ghouls.

As the undead built up each civilization; they permeated each civilization with more and more of of their insanity. Living humans became more and more insane the more the control the undead had over them. Understand this: Civilization is the vehicle by which the undead use to invade and poison living humans… Every new flat surface: Every attic and basement… every wall that has space inbetween it for the undead to hide in increases their presence… Every 2-dimensional radiation from TV towers and 5G towers increases their power and presence over the world… Every flat 2-dimensional screen that they use to live in and spread their insanity increases their presence… Every corporation that the undead control by controlling the filthy evil twisted souls who own and control them increases their power to manipulate and twist humans into believing in lies and idiocies…

Right now: modern civilization is becoming more and more insane at a breakneck speed, at such an accelerating speed that has never happened before. There is no telling when and how it will self-destruct. All the signs of impending doom are everywhere. The real horror and danger is the possibility of this civilization not only destroying itself, but destroying the entire planet as well…

The real weakness and flaw of the undead is their own insanity. Every time they seek to achieve the culmination of all their twisted, evil inane plots and conspiracies they go completely insane and everything falls apart… You can see this in all the films about people who are evil… just when they are about to achieve their ultimate ghoul they screw up because they lose control of their own insanity… they cannot pretend to be sane and logical and reasonable anymore.

This is happening right now in our civilization… the ones who are truly evil are revealing themselves to the whole world more and more as I speak … One prime example is Kamala Harris… chosen to run for the presidency of America by the American donor class. Biden had already exposed himself to be a corrupt crook many times over but he was still elected president due to massive voter fraud and the most rigged election in history… But now the evil ruling class have no one left but to try to get Harris: that insane cackling witch, to be voted into power…

More and more the forces of evil are becoming more obvious… The insanities of our civilization are growing in number and becoming more and more starkly obvious and glaring. This is because of the presence of the undead is increasing at an accelerating speed. The undead are malevolent, unsane, insane ghouls. They only want death and destruction and horror. Because they themselves are horrible rotting dying insane filth.

It is only when you study the history of humans and look at in a perspective of thousands, and hundreds of thousands of years and millions of years as a single cohesive narrative; that you can see the indelible, unmistakable mark of the presence of the undead over the ages… I: Indrek Pringi; am the only person who has done this. No other person has ever even thought of it, much less done it: Because: I am the only person who has delved into the existence of the undead through years and years of direct contact with them…

To even try to chronicle and detail how I discovered their existence, , and how I discovered how they operate and their cunning, filthy, evil dirty tricks, and how I was fooled and lied to by them and how one by one I discovered how I was duped and fooled and lied to would take a thousand pages…

And how looking back in retrospect; I realized all of the things they had done to keep me from developing as a child and then as an adolescent and then as an adult, and how I overcame all these difficulties would take another thousand pages…

My personal ordeals and life are not the point… the point isl in spite of their malevolent presence throughout my entire life; I still managed to defeat them. And because of that; after more and more study and thinking; I managed to link together enough historical facts that make my conclusions about the existence of the undead and their true nature and their true ghouls irrefutable.

The point is: If I can defeat them: so can anyone else. My two books are a guide to defeating the evil undead in all of their cunning, filthy rotten manifestations and tricks and abominations.

346

How can you tell civilization kills and destroys life instead of fostering Life and nurturing Life? Everything that kills and destroys Life is evil. All you need to do is use these two Universal Truths to determine whether civilization is evil or not…

Life is based on connection-connecting Death is based on separations-separating

Civilization creates a trillion times more separations than it does connections

And most of the connections it does create are artificial and do not support or create life

These truths are obvious and cannot be refuted
The first stone tools the undead invented
Were evil; all tools that separate are evil

When you look over the hundreds of thousands of years of human history, there is one common theme running through it that has not changed: That is the continued improvements in ways to kill life.
Until now: humans are potentially able to kill all life on earth.

The undead are using the living human species as controlled puppets to destroy all Life on Earth without being aware that they are doing it.

For example: Between 1970 and 2020: 73% of all the wildlife on earth has been destroyed by civilization. That is only 50 years. Is anyone talking about it? NO. By 2025 there will be more plastic in the oceans than fish… Is anyone talking about it? No. Humans are destroying the planet they live on and nobody cares because the global culture of civilization is Hedonism and the undead have made sure that humans are programmed and brainwashed into having no greater awareness or caring for the planet they live on.

There was a global conference in Montreal that talked about the goal of preserving 30% of Nature in order to stave off the oncoming planetary extinction of all living species…

Do you understand what they are saying??

They are saying that 70% of the EARTH should be covered by the mechanical monstrosity of civilization and that they do not expect this mechanical monster to bulldoze down any more trees, create any more asphalt covered roads, create anymore pollution, build any more houses, build anymore dams, have any more increase in population, exploit anymore natural resources. Create any more mines, drill anymore oil wells, cut down any more forests etc. etc… and that this is the best scenario for the sustainability and preservation of all life on earth.

Do you think this will actually be implemented by all 195 countries in the world?? Do you think that every corrupt dictator in the world and every corrupt ruling elite in the world will give a fuck about this initiative??

The destruction of all Life on earth has been happening for thousands and hundreds of thousands of years… The ability of living humans to kill all Life on Earth has been steadily increasing and accelerating… until now the end goal is almost accomplished/

In fact… this destruction is what humans are most proud of…

The Fertile Crescent of the mid-east during Babylonian times was once the most fertile soil in the world… so now it is an arid desert… who cares about this?... Nobody. Does anyone think it important? Nobody…

348

North Africa was the most fertile land during the Roman empire… now it is an arid desert… who cares about this?... Nobody. Does anyone think it important? Nobody…

The grasslands of central and northern Asia were the most fertile in the world that spawned millions of nomadic people… now it is an arid desert… who cares about this?... Nobody. Does anyone think it important? Nobody…

In just the last 4,000 years human civilization has created the Sahara desert the Mid-eastern desert, the Mongolian desert, the North American South-western desert; literally all of the deserts on earth have been created by human civilizations… and all of them are growing by leaps and bounds… Who cares about this?... Nobody. Does anyone think it important? Nobody…

Science has fraudulently spewed the lie that deserts are a natural phenomena created by Nature.

The truth is every single desert on earth has been created by human civilizations.

Now; the earth's ecosystems are being destroyed at a breakneck speed… rainforests, oceans, forested areas all over the worlf are being cut down and destroyed and polluted. Lakes are drying up and being poisoned, rivers are being dammed and entire ecosystems are disappearing…

Who cares about this?... Nobody. Does anyone think it important? Nobody…

Why is there such a massive indifferent to such huge environmental catastrophes? Why?

Nuclear bombs are being manufactured by the hundreds and thousands every year… Why is there such a massive indifference to such a huge threat of global annihilation?... Why?

349

The existence of undead evil for millions and billions of years is the only logical rational explanation that can explain this.

The undead are controlling living humans and have been controlling them for millions of years.

The undead have been making living humans as unaware as possible for millions of years.

The undead have dumbed down and made humans as stupid as possible for millions of years.

That is the only logical explanation which explains the history of the most intelligent animal on earth behaving as the stupidest, most insane, destructive animal on earth..

The behavior of humans over thousands of years cannot be explained without the ever-present existence of the undead using and controlling living humans.

You can read how the undead used jews as puppets to invent central banks in the book by Stephen Goodson; A History of Central Banking and the Enslavement of Mankind. However…this is only the tip of the iceberg of evil of how the undead invented civilization and with every new evil abomination and invention; made it more and more evil. The truth is; literally ALL things that are 2-dimensional are evil inventions of the undead… From flat coins to flat walls, to flat pieces of paper to flat computer screens, to flags, clothes, knives, swords, axes etc. etc.

All Abstractions are evil!

Abstract symbols have no connection to the 3-dimansional Universe except imaginary ones that do not exist.

I cannot emphasize enough the self-feeding aspect of civilization…

350

Literally all the evil corporations and NGO's and govts and secret organizations only exist to control and terrorize and brainwash and oppress the masses of humanity… or pander to the masses by selling them poisonous crap which they profit from…

Without billions of consumers; all these corporations and govts and secret organizations could not exist… they need billions of consumers to exist. Billionaires cannot exist without billions of consumers. Govt bureaucracies cannot exist without a population of millions or hundreds of millions or billions of citizens.

If the elite's conspiracies of Malthusian genocide of the world's population ever succeed; they will also do away with themselves because the smaller a population is; the more egalitarian it becomes and the more homogeneous it becomes and the less it can support any powerful elite and the more recognizable the elite become to the masses and the better they are known and hated and despised. The ruling elites of the world have only managed to survive being killed by their own people by insulating and isolating themselves and hiding themselves away from public awareness by using massive censorship and brainwashing tactics in order to camouflage their true nature, intents and evil. They can get away with poisoning and killing a tiny fraction of the population… but if ever that percentage rises to a number that the majority of the masses become aware of it; they will turn on their masters and do away with them. That is why the undead are using the ruling elites of the world to kill and maim and poison only a small percentage of the world's population. Just enough to be able to hide it from the brainwashed, dumbed down ignorant masses, but not more so their cunning evil crimes become exposed to the great majority of people on this planet.

Literally all the national armies and navies and air forces of the world and industrial military complexes need hundreds of millions of consumers which they claim to be protecting in order to exist. Literally all the corporations of the world that rape the eco-systems of the world and pollute the land, waters and atmosphere of the earth and pollute the environment and poison the people they profit from need millions and billions of consumers to even exist… without billions of consumers; all the evils of present day civilization would not be needed and would not exist.

The entire false narrative of the greatness of modern civilization is based on the pride in the increase in human population into the billions and the ability to feed and clothe these billions of people. The entire basis of the worship and glory of civilization is based on its ability to continually expand and overpopulate the entire earth.

If the population of humans were in the thousands; it would never see its culture and civilization as being superior to nature. But because civilization has grown due to its ability to kill and destroy nature; people conveniently ignore the fact that civilization depends on nature for its very existence.

If civilization ever reaches a point where all the global eco-systems of the living earth fail…it will be too late. Civilization; along with all living humans will go extinct… the undead keep this possibility totally buried, censored and propagandized against in order to keep the self-feeding monster of civilization to keep feeding on the living earth and destroying its host: which is the entire living earth, and that includes every living species on earth.

By feeding on itself; civilization feeds upon the living earth. In order to keep feeding itself it must kill and poison and destroy more and more of the living earth until there will be nothing left but a dead husk, with the parasitic monster of civilization dying along with its host the living earth that it fed on until it will kill all life on earth dead including itself.

In order for the culture of consumer civilization to survive it must INCREASE the speed and the amount that it consumes its host; the Living Earth and it will continue to do so until there is nothing left to consume…

That is what all living bacterial cultures do; they feed on their host: thus keeping themselves alive by decomposing their host and themselves until nothing is left but a toxic waste of poisonous chemicals. That is exactly what all the undead are doing to the planet because that is exactly what is happening to them they systematically decompose into more insane forms of decomposing leftovers of 3-dimensional life energy until there is nothing left of them.

How can you tell civilization is evil? Because humans spend more time maintaining, fixing, expanding this monstrous machine called civilization than they do on themselves… In fact now; they spend less time on each other and less time socializing with each other than they do working to sustain civilization. It has gotten to the point where humans love their machines and their computers more than they love other people. Humans are blind to their dependence and addiction to machines. They do not realize that machines are merely tools the undead use to further enslave them… they do not realize that Principle of using something or someone to gain an advantage; (which civilization is based on) is evil…. Why is it evil?... Because:

Whatever you use…
Uses you more than you use it.

This is why usurers are the most evil people in the world because the undead USE them as tools to create more evil than anyone else because the evil of financial usury is the purest form of abstract evil ever invented by the undead.

Using something… anything: affects you…. It changes you. And the more you use it, the more you get used to using it, the more normal it becomes… This happens so slowly and incrementally humans do not realize it is happening to them… and it has been happening for at least hundreds of thousands of years with the invention of the use of fire… the invention of stone tools, then the invention of spears and bows and arrows, then with the invention of the wheel… etc, etc… Each new abomination invented by the undead changed how humans lived… each new change was normalized… until humans took every new change for granted…

You can look back just 100 years in history… What was once unheard of, what was deemed unthinkable and vile and sick has now become normalized. What was once a sin has now become a virtue… Civilization is becoming more and more evil at an accelerating pace so fast, that people can notice it happening in one lifetime. What once took generations for a new evil to become normalized now takes only decades.

How can you prove that civilization is continually getting more and more evil? By the fact that at any time in the history of civilization; what is referred to as "the good old days" is always less evil than the present. The farther back in time you go in civilization; the less evil it is.

Understand this: there is no such thing as normality.

There are only changing norms that humans have been brainwashed and normalized into thinking they are normal

Why is using anything for your own advantage evil?... Because Life Energy is Positive. That means it always gives back more than it receives. Any Energy that takes more than it receives is evil. That is a Universal Truth

What humans do not realize and do not know and do not understand is…

There is no such thing as normality
The natural state of human awareness is
The state of Pure Wonder

That means you are curious about everything and constantly aware of everything around you and inside you. That means you have a heightened awareness of everything that is continually expanding. That means you are in a permanent state of learning. That means you notice everything. That means you do not take anything for granted. That means you look at everything freshly every day. That means you are continually aware of the Beauty of Nature all the time. That means you do not take the Beauty of Nature for granted because that Beauty never stops being beautiful. The beauty of nature is endless. The Beauty of Nature is infinitely complex and infinitely subtle. It is a beauty that you can never get enough of and never stops being beautiful.

The state of human awareness called normality only exists because the undead have deadened and dumbed down humans by forcing them to live in the artificial repetitive environment of civilization where everything is the same and everyone does the same things every day and nobody asks why they are doing it because they do not know anything else but civilized, boring, repetitive, meaningless existence.

Humans are designed to live in the pure beauty of nature and exist in a pure state of wonder and be aware of how beautiful nature is every second of their waking existence.

All the natural Beauty of Nature evokes Pure Wonder in human awareness. By making sure humans do not grow up and live in Nature, by making sure they live inside the dead, artificial confines of civilization the undead make sure humans never develop their natural, intrinsic awareness and sense of pure wonder.

The plan the undead have shaped and formed by their secret unseen control of living humans; is now full-blown. It is out in the open. It can be easily analyzed and exposed. But humans in civilization have been hedonistically programmed to have no larger perspective or understanding of anything larger than the piddly little selfish concerns of their own personal interests, hobbies, addictions, tastes, preferences, prejudices. Etc. etc. ad vomit.

Hedonistic humans have no awareness or perspective or understanding of their own species as a single organism designed to function in Nature for one single positive purpose of supporting and advancing all Life on Earth. And the rare few who do have a greater perspective are not programmed to do anything about it except talk about it or write about it. The result is all warning and damning information and facts fall on deaf ears of billions of Hedonists who couldn't care less about the health of the entire Earth and the horrible statistics of massive ecological disasters.

The plan of the undead is by now stark and obvious… Use 8 billion dumbed down, brainwashed, ignorant, programmed Hedonists to justify and rationalize the evils of the machinery that feeds them, clothes them, houses them, supplies heat and electricity for their homes, gives them mass media entertainment and distractions to dumb them down further… While the very machinery they are addicted to and cannot live without is systematically killing, polluting, poisoning, and destroying all Life on Earth; and at the same time the ruling elites of the world are profiting from poisoning and killing the very customers they need to make a profit from, and oppressing and terrorizing and brainwashing and ruining the lives of the billions of human hedonists they depend on to justify their very existence…

The simple fact that satisfying the one-way consumption of billions of modern humans while giving nothing back to the Living Earth is a sure-fire ticket to hell and horror and extinction doesn't bother anyone because Hedonistic humans have been programmed not to care about such issues and also because they have already been programmed and brainwashed into the religious belief that there is nothing they can do about it. The passive mass of billions of dehumanized human hedonists have been effectively isolated and alienated and prevented from organizing intelligently together against their slave masters, so there is no danger of them ever waking up from their sleep-walk into doom and death and horror; because as long as they can drink their beer or coffee and watch their sports or putter in their garden or sail in their boats or play their video games… who cares about the future?... The few who do care are not listened to by the billions who don't; simply because they don't even know about it and don't care about it because mass media carefully makes sure such information is never made available to the masses.

The entire human race is unaware that it is marching all together in lock step toward its own doom. That is how the undead have planned it and that is how the undead are carrying out their ghoul to destroy, pollute, kill all Life on Earth.

Humans are not taught to understand themselves as a single species. They are brainwashed to believe that every individual has a so-called “sacred" right to have their own personal “opinion", to have their own personal “beliefs”, to have their own “religion”, to have their own “culture”, to have their own “customs and traditions”… Even though this is exactly the reason why humans have been fighting and hating and killing each other for hundreds of thousands of years. They have been brainwashed to believe that they have a sacred “right” to disagree with each other and argue with each other… They have been brainwashed into believing that there is no one Universal Truth that everyone cab agree on about anything. They have been brainwashed into tolerating and even approving of the differences between different races, creeds, cultures, religions while expecting them to live together without any conflict. The result is a madhouse, a cacophony of constant conflict exploding all over the world.

They have been brainwashed into believing that there is no greater meaning or purpose to their lives; except what their different religions, cultures. Cliques hold to be important; thus preventing humans from seeing themselves as a single species with common designed functions, purposes and goals.

Humans have been brainwashed into not asking questions… they have been poisoned into having the complete opposite kind of awareness that they are naturally designed to have. Humans are designed to have an awareness of Pure Wonder… They are designed to wonder about everything. They are designed to ask questions about everything. Instead; humans are terrified of asking questions about anything. They have become a mass of mindless, brainless sheep due to the brainwashing civilization inflicts on them.

Humans do not know how to ask questions that have a greater perspective because they have been programmed into the religion of Hedonism. This programming produces masses of people who willingly and voluntarily censor themselves and refuse to learn anything they don't like or don't want to know about because it might go against or upset their personal set of prejudices, opinions, preferences etc. etc. ad vomit. Hedonists exist in voluntary, willful bubbles of ignorance and unawareness. They don't want to know anything… They don't want to learn anything… They don't want to question anything. Anything they don't "like" or are not interested in is automatically excluded from their awareness and interest. The result is they know nothing about anything except their own personal likes. Hedonists are programmed NOT to ask questions. As long as they can wallow in their own "normality" or level of pleasure, comfort and ease that they are used to; they see no reason to learn about anything new and no reason to question anything they have been brainwashed into believing.

For instance: Why is the most intelligent species on the planet the most destructive species on the planet? You would think superior intelligence would lead to being more constructive; not more destructive. This glaring contradiction is totally ignored by Hedonists. Why can't the most intelligent animal on the planet control its own sexual impulses? The only answer to these questions are the undead. Not unless you learn about the existence of the undead and what their ghouls are, and how they poison the lives of all living humans, and how they have done so for thousands and millions of years can you ever come up with a logical explanation for these inexplicable contradictions.

How can you tell civilization is based on Hedonism?... Look at the new phenomenon called "vacations". Look at the history of the new phenomenon called "tourism"… Look at the new phenomenon called "restaurants" and "fast food" outlets… Look at the new phenomenon called "hotels" and "motels"… Look at the new phenomenon called "RB&B's" or "bed and breakfasts"… Look at the new phenomenon called "hobbies".

These new phenomenon did not exist 200 years ago… but with the explosion of a new middle class in the hundreds of millions that enjoyed the new affluence of surplus income thanks to the explosion of mass manufacturing during the industrial revolution; the first thing they did was emulate the upper class's life styles and public display of obscene wealth and ease and comfort.

Everything this new middleclass does is flaunt their affluence, their comfort and ease publicly to scream to the world: "Look at mee! "I can afford to fly to Europe and tour cities and gape at castles!" "Look at mee! I can afford to eat at expensive restaurants! "Look at mee! I can afford to travel all over the world!"

What "hobbies" have the new bourgeoisie embraced, and then the middleclass? The exact same "hobbies" that the aristocracy embraced 100 years ago: yachting, automobiles, gardening, renovation of their houses, cooking, gambling, attending ballets, plays, musical performances.

If anyone has seen people on TV who call themselves “mediums”: their standard method of proving their claims is having total strangers stand up in the audience… and then they proceed to describe undead ghouls that are hovering around them… The person usually recognizes deceased members of his family or deceased loved ones from their description. These undead ghouls are believed to be “guardian angels” who look after the person in question… They are not benign….

They hover over their victim in order to suck off their life energy. They are deadly poisonous parasites.

There are 3 kinds of undead parasitical filth

1: the undead that are permanently ensconced inside the victim’s body… they are there because they successfully entered their mother’s womb and grow in power to control their victim as the victim grows… gradually taking over their mind and personality and body until they are in total control of their victim by the time they die.

This explains the hallucinations people who almost die experience… they have not died. They are on the verge of death. They are given rosy pictures and experience incredible sensations of bliss and love in order to deceive them about what they will undergo when they actually die.

2. The undead that hover over their victim and also enter their body due to a lifelong association with them and harmonizing with their living aura… however they cannot stay long because their energy does not fully match the victim's aura energy, so they can only violate the victim's aura for a shirt time…

3; the undead that knew their victim while they were alive long enough to form some energy bond between them due to personal contact-relations with them.

These three forms of parasitical undead poisoning and violation of living humans exists as a universal condition for all living humans and has existed as a universal common condition ever since the first humans were born and ever since the first living organism died and started decomposing

This is how the undead who are fortunate enough to attach themselves to living human hosts manage to stave off their inevitable decomposition and dissolution…

This explains what living humans call "demons" or "devils"… they have decomposed to the lowest instinctual level of not wanting to die, and they poison all living organisms highest levels of intelligence and awareness down to the fight for survival; thus dumbing down all higher intelligence and awareness.

They are merely undead ghouls who were unable to enter the bodies of living humans so they entered the bodies of horned animals… usually cattle that farming families owned.

360

But that is not all of the undead abominations…

Undead ghouls throughout history have merged themselves with almost every living species on earth, and suffered the inevitable result of their human auras being turned into half-animal, half-bird, half-reptilian horrors that are genetically insane…

Then there are the rotting ghouls in all their horrible visages of rotting bodies and skeletons, some still wrapped in their burial clothes who have not managed to learn how to keep from decomposing..

Then there are the dismembered undead who have been sucked into the vortex of death and are used by elite undead as as a negative energy source for their satanic insane deadly malevolent conspiracies and collusions to create as much havoc and evil as possible among the realm of the living.

Because the numbers of the rotting undead always outnumber the numbers of living due to the fact that it takes longer than a lifetime for their afterlife to decompose… their effects on the living have risen in numbers and in negative power astronomically in the last two centuries… due to the huge numbers of living people dying and joining the ranks of the undead.

In order for the living species of humans to not be annihilated their own decomposing ancestors and driven into complete extinction by the undead… Living humans must become aware of their existence and become aware of the true source of all evil on the earth.

We; the living' must find ways to exterminate these undead filth down to a level where they have little or no power to invade and poison the lives of the living.

Understand this

361

The undead cannot stand direct sunlight. They come out only under the cover of darkness at night. They take over your dreams and poison your mind and your understanding of things.

This is why what is called "paranormal" activity never happens in broad daylight. This why the undead hide in nooks and crannies and behind walls and in basements and inside caves where there is no direct sunlight.

The undead have poisoned humans so much that civilization has become a reflection of the undead themselves….

This can be seen by the internet culture of secrecy…

The internet is made up of billions of unseen anonymous secret watchers

Well, guess what? The undead are also made up of trillions of unseen secret watchers.

Now it has become even more insane where unseen secret watchers in the govt are watching the billions of unseen secret watchers on the internet… while the undead are watching all of them watch each other…

Secret watchers watching secret watchers watching secret watchers…

Do you realize how insane this is?... The entire global culture of internet secrecy is insane.

And even more insane… billions of anonymous paranoid secretive watchers talking to each other over the internet, terrified of letting anyone know who they are. Terrified of letting anyone know which sex they are, which country they live in, how old they are… the result is 80 year old grandfathers arguing with 8 year old children, men arguing with women thinking they are men. Women arguing with men thinking they are women. Billions of insane secretive watchers making trillions of mistaken assumptions about who they are talking to because they do not know who they are talking to… pakistani's arguing with south Africans not knowing they come from completely different cultures, religions and values. The result is a cacophony of misunderstandings and disagreements.

The culture of secrecy is based on the culture of fear.

Without the culture of fear: there can be no culture of secrecy.
The culture of fear and paranoia is based on the culture of guilt. If you have done nothing wrong; there should be nothing to fear.

By inventing imaginary fear; the undead have managed to program and brainwash billions of people into false feelings of fear and paranoia.

In a sane society… only criminals and evildoers have a sense of fear because they know what they are doing is wrong and if they are caught, they know they will be punished.

In effect: the undead have managed to brainwash billions of people into the criminal culture of paranoid fear …

Billions of living humans are now acting and thinking and feeling like criminals.

The undead have managed to turn billions of living people into criminals.
By creating mass cultures of fear, by criminalizing the norms of civilization; the undead have managed to turn billions of people into acting like criminals and feeling like criminals by becoming paranoid about secrecy.

How can you tell civilization is evil?... By the technology and culture and religion of identicality.

What does this mean? It means that for millions of years, the undead have been making living humans produce and manufacture tools… that have become more and more relatively identical to each other… until now modern technology has succeeded in mass manufacturing tools and products that are apparently to the human eye… identical to each other.

This illusion is totally false. The fact is: nothing in the universe is identical to anything else in the Universe.

No galaxy is identical; to any other galaxy in the Universe.
No star is identical to any other star in the Universe.
No planet is identical to any other planet in the Universe.
No tree is identical to any other tree ever grown in the Universe.
No leaf is identical to any other leaf ever grown in the Universe.
No snowflake ever created is identical to any other snowflake ever created in the Universe.
No atom is identical to any other atom in the Universe.

By the increasing mechanization of civilization and by living humans spending more and more time using tools and machines, maintaining them, repairing them, manufacturing them… humans have been led for millions of years into spending more and more time on repetitive actions, repetitive habits, repetitive customs repetitive traditions, repetitive beliefs, repetitive ways of thinking-speaking-acting…

The undead have steadily increased the level of mass conformity in human societies so that humans have increasingly more brainless brainwashed brain dead sheep without any creativity, without any sense of wonder, without any curiosity, without any intelligence, without any greater awareness, without any perspective, without any wisdom, without any originality.

By humans living inside the artificial constraints of civilization; by being surrounded by artificial dead things that are apparently identical to each other… like coins, letters, bricks, walls, tiles, chairs, tables, etc. Etc… by humans spending most of their lives doing repetitive things using apparently identical artifacts inside the dead environment of civilization, cut off from the living earth and all nature and all natural living things and organisms; The undead have kept living humans as dumbed down and as stupid and uncreative and unintelligent as possible.

Simply by making everything the same, by making humans do the same things millions of times, by being surrounded by things that are the same and are boring and dead… the undead have succeeded in keeping humans from ever discovering their existence and what they truly are and what their ultimate ghouls truly are… except for me: Indrek Pringi.

The two books i have written proves this. The logic contained in my two books is irrefutable. No living human apart from me: Indrek Pringi, has ever taken the entire history of humans and made logical sense out of it.

Only in the living beauty of nature can humans develop their intrinsic true sense of pure wonder and their true greater awareness and intelligence

I; Indrek Pringi have been blessed and lucky enough to do this.

In my growing up; I was given, I was lucky enough to experience a balanced life… half of my youth was lived in the beauty of nature. The other half was in the ugliness of civilization.

This is the universal truth that you reading this must realize and understand. Nature is alive and beautiful. Civilization is dead and ugly.

Only by living in the beauty of nature can your true nature become beautiful.

If you live in the ugliness of civilization your true nature will become ugly and misshapen and warped also.

Your understanding will become warped and twisted and evil and sick.

The only thing that is important is beauty.
All beauty comes from nature and the natural universe.

365
All ugliness comes from civilization

All Beauty is Good.
All ugliness is evil

It is that simple

All that is alive is Good
All that is dead is evil

All ugliness on earth has been invented and created by the undead.

That is the existential truth you must face.

There has been a war going on between life and death for billions of years.

In order for life to win: you must kill all who seek to kill life. Only by killing all evil can life survive on the earth.

The undead protect their evil puppets.
These evil abominations like Soros and Bill Gates and many, many others must be slaughtered and killed dead in order for goodness and decency to grow.

It is not hard to recognize who are the evil ones who need to be slaughtered and killed dead.

They are at the top of the pyramid of evil called civilization. They are protected and worshiped by the billions of brainwashed controlled humanoid puppets of the undead.
Either this book will be spread throughout the world and billions of living humans wake up out of their dulled, dumbed down awareness…

Or else the undead will triumph and destroy and kill all life on earth.

How the Undead Work

366

It is up to you; the reader of this book to spread it and spread the universal truths in the book and kill evil when you recognize it.

This is your responsibility that you cannot run away from or hide from.

Either you face your responsibilities and take on your responsibilities

Or you are a puppet of the undead and evil

There is no middle ground between good and evil

There is no middle ground between truth and lies.

There are a thousand lies but only one truth.

How can you tell civilization is evil?

Because it is based on competition. It is based on adversarial combat. Billions of humans fighting against each other, trying to climb up the ladder of class society where how much money you make or have determines your social status, trying to make more money, trying to make a profit… when the fact is; civilization actually depends on billions of people cooperating with each other in countless complex ways in order to maintain and run the complex systems and machines and organizations that make up civilization.

Humans are designed to cooperate with each other. Civilization cannot exist without humans cooperating with each other… Yet in spite of that: civilization is structured so that humans have no choice but to compete against each other because it is structured pyramidally so that most of the wealth and power is concentrated at the tip of the pyramid of shit, draining all power and wealth from the lower levels, and crushing them under the weight of civilizations evil hierarchical system.

But notice: Amidst all the technical cooperation, there is less and less human cooperation. Humans are functioning like mechanical robots doing their robotic jobs maintaining civilization and keeping it going. But once their robotic jobs are over for the day: that is all… no more cooperation, no socializing… just going home and turning on the TV or Computer or X-box. Humans are becoming more isolated and alienated from each other to the point of outright insanity.

How can you tell civilization is evil? One word… advertising. Humans are brainwashed by watching hundreds of thousands of hours of advertising. In all commercials people are smiling, they are happy. The universal message in whatever shit they sell is they are selling you happiness. The universal programming of Hedonistic civilization is in order to be happy you have to buy shit. They do not tell you buying shit does not make you happy. If people did not buy shit civilization would implode. Consumer civilization depends on mass manufacturing and mass consumption. It cannot survive without mass consumption. Without mass marketing and mass advertising it cannot survive. Consumer civilization depends on the mass brainwashing of billions of people. Take away the advertising and mass brainwashing and modern civilization would disappear.

In reality: billions of humans walk around like zombies barely functioning. They are dead inside" emotionally, mentally, spiritually.. Anywhere you go you will see people are not smiling, they are not happy, except in advertising commercials where everyone is smiling and happy. The explosion of mental illness and depression is covered up and buried. Big pharma is making billions from selling drugs from the massive depression of the masses.. Without advertising there could be no brainwashing of the masses. There could be no international corporations that sell poisons like Coke and Pepsi. There could be no large corporations selling their advertised. There could be no govt brainwashing of the masses. The idea of selling and buying itself is evil. If humans did not try to sell or buy anything; civilization would not exist.

The basic lie that advertising sells is based on the unspoken assumption that Hedonism makes you happy. If you please your taste buds, your lowest most selfish urges you will be happy. If you eat this hamburger or drink this beverage or drink this beer or vodka or eat that pizza you will be happy. In order to be happy you have to be a consumer. You have to buy something that will make you happy. You have to use something to be happy. You have to eat or drink something to be happy. If you do not buy or consume anything; you will not be happy. Basically; what all commercials sell is Hedonistic Happiness... not spiritual happiness, not emotional happiness. Not physical happiness. Not integrated happiness… which means true happiness where you are happy all over in all aspects of your Humanity. The fact is; humans existing inside Hedonistic civilization do not know what true happiness is because they have never experienced it, they never had a chance to experience it, so they don't know what they are missing… that is the evil of artificial civilization… it keeps humans inside a dead environment, inside a bubble of deadness that never allows them to develop their true intrinsic natural potentials and abilities. It keeps humans permanently stunted, undeveloped, warped, poisoned, handicapped, disabled, and dysfunctional.

The idea that what you consume will make you happy, that a drug or a pill or a product will make you happy is what Hedonistic civilization is based on and it is why it is evil. The idea that sex will make you happy, that money will make you happy, that power will make you happy, that popularity will make you happy, that social status will make you happy is all based on the structure of the pyramidal shitpile of civilization defining what happiness is. It is only when you forego all the civilized definitions of happiness that you can ever find true happiness…

But even that is impossible. Why? Because you cannot experience true happiness living inside a civilization where there are billions of unhappy people. True happiness is only possible when everyone around you is happy. And that is impossible in Hedonistic civilization simply due to its unnatural structure and everything that hierarchical structure creates. Personal happiness between a man and a woman is a delusion when everyone around them are not happy, Escaping from civilization by living on a deserted island will not produce happiness. Living in a close knit community will not produce it either because humans are social animals and you cannot isolate yourself from the rest of civilization and expect to be happy except in a very limited selfish way. The off grid movement where people choose to live outside of civilized areas is a social confession, a social exposure of the failure of civilization and its popularity on the internet is a social confession that there are millions of other people who wished they could do the same thing but don't have the courage or the money or the ability to do it.

Food, alcohol, sex, all the pleasures of Hedonism should make people happy: but it doesn't. Instead depression is rampant all over the world as a result of the emptiness of human lives that comes from believing in the Hedonistic religion of pleasure and comfort. The masses are depressed and unhappy; but dare not admit it. Unhappiness is a crime and a sin in Hedonistic civilization. Everyone smiles and pretends to be happy and laughs; while inside they are depressed and lonely and unhappy… Most people are too dead and numbed too even know they are depressed and unhappy. Most go through the motions of their robotic lives and think feeling nothing, thinking nothing and doing nothing is normal; (except staring at flat screens online and on social media).

How can you tell Hedonism and Hedonistic civilization is evil? Because when you are surrounded by comfort and warm clothes and all the food you want, and all your addictions are satisfied… when your life is full of ease and pleasure… you don't need love to exist on a minimal live that is not really livingl. But when you are poor and hungry and your life is hard; then you need love. Then Love is the only thing that makes your life bearable. When you are poor and your life is hard, you value love. When you are rich and can afford all the toys and trinkets of success; you don't value love…

The culture of Hedonism destroys love. It has been systematically destroying love for thousands of years. Without love, poor people become drug addicts and alcoholics. Without Love; rich people also become drug addicts and alcoholics. With Love; people grow up to live decent lives and have decent values. The reason Love has disappeared from civilization is because the masses have become affluent. You can see this in the first western country that developed a middle class in the Netherlands in the 1400-1500 hundreds. They developed a culture of brutal larceny and avarice and greed so penurious that they sold their own children into chattel slavery just to save money. The god of money took over that Christian nation and turned it into a living hell in one short generation of newfound affluence. Gone were all their Christian values and morals and ethics of Luther's new Protestant revolution. Poverty became a sin when before it had been a virtue. So many uncared for, unloved poor people were dying on the streets in towns and cities and villages, it became a public embarrassment, so hospices were invented… They were built specifically so the starving poor who were dying on the street could go there and die without annoying the burghers who were forced to step over their corpses in the streets. This was also how the Indian filthy class culture of untouchables was created. Those who were not poor despised the poor so much they did not want to touch them. In all cultures and civilizations that used money developed a class system based on money; the result was and still is the same: the rich develop a revulsion of those who are poorer than they are, they despise anyone who is poorer than they are. That; is how and why all class distinctions were born in every pyramidal Hedonistic civilization that use money. That is why the filthy rich despise everyone below them today. That is why and how all pyramidal Hedonistic civilizations stratify themselves into layers defined by their affluence or poverty.

Why is this common in all Hedonistic civilizations? Because wealth and money and social standing and prestige have replaced all morality and ethics.

This is the basic spiritual reason why all Hedonistic, Pyramidal, stratified, hierarchical civilizations are morally and ethically bankrupt. Merely by its structure; it guarantees that the topmost class which all the lower classes look up to and emulate and envy and worship are the most corrupt, degenerate, evil people in civilization… and if they are not originally evil, they become so just by the environment of their hierarchical position. In fact if they are not corrupt enough they are killed.

How can you tell civilization is evil?

What are the most advanced technologies in the world? How to build houses? How to grow food? How to make sure nobody is poor or starving? How to create more life? How to create Love? How to create Happiness?

No.

The most advanced technologies are all about how to kill, how to destroy… Guns, tanks, bombs, missiles, war ships, submarines; these are the most advanced technologies in the world.

How can you tell that civilization is Hedonistic?... What is the driving motive for major changes in modern civilized history? What created the Silk Road? What created the spice trade? What fuelled the slave trade? What fuelled the Caribbean sugar and rum trade? What created the global western colonization and exploitation of the rest of the world? Hedonism. What drove the industrial revolution? Hedonism. What drives the world's economies today? Hedonism.

Medical research has shown that the main reason for all drug addiction is boredom… The fact is: civilization is boring… it is dead. People use drugs simply because their lives are so empty and boring, they have to fill up that emptiness with something… anything that will break up the boredom of their lives. Whatever distractions or hobbies or interests people find to fill the meaningless emptiness of their lives; the bottom line is that civilization does not give humans any reason to live except lies, hoaxes, delusions, false narratives and evil. The only justification for civilization is the Hedonism it provides. Physical ease, temporary physical pleasure and physical comfort: nothing else. That is supposed to justify and rationalize the huge, monstrous machinery of machines, huge factories, huge tankers, huge oil refineries, huge concrete dams. Billions of miles of land destroyed, paved over with asphalt and concrete. Huge cities, the entire Earth poisoned and polluted and destroyed; Entire forests and oceans and eco-system destroyed, Huge mining operations… All of this for what? So you can have indoor plumbing and electricity to power your toys and gadgets. Is that worth destroying the entire earth for? Nobody asks this question because Hedonism is the global universal religion of Mankind.

Why is Hedonistic civilization evil?... Because of its obsession with luxury… luxury cars, luxury homes, luxury cruises, luxury jewelry, luxury watches, luxury yachts, luxury mansions, luxury villas. Luxury lifestyles… Billions of brainwashed people drool over these filthy emblems of the super rich… they envy the super rich, they emulate these sick degenerates.

The lower classes do not understand the super rich… they do not understand why these billionaires are so evil and bent on destroying their lives…

The answer is simple… The only thing that these miserable super rich have that sets them apart from the masses is their money… but that is not enough for them,,, They want everyone beneath them to be more miserable than they are. They want everyone below them to be more unhappy than they are. And the only way they can do that is by destroying the lives of everyone below them. They want to be happier than the masses. And since the measure of happiness and success in Hedonistic civilization is materialistic pleasure and ease; they have to make the masses materially poorer and more miserable than they are.

Understand this: the super rich are the most unhappy, miserable people on earth. They are empty souls. Their filthy souls are filled with undead entities… the undead concentrate their power and influence on these possessed, empty vessels of obscene wealth and power. Through them, they control all of civilization. The undead use the .01% of the richest people on earth as puppets to commit the most horrible crimes and abominations…

And because these filthy rich puppets are so controlled by the undead and forced to go against all their true human values and interests… they are the most miserable, unhappy people on earth… And that is why these filthy rich scum are perpetually driven to make everyone beneath them unhappier than they are. But no matter how hard they try to do it, they fail… simply because the people beneath them are not as poisoned by the undead as they are.

That is the sick logic of evil. When you are evil you want everyone else to be evil also. When you are evil you want everyone else unhappier than you are because only when the super rich are happier than the masses below then can they "feel" or "believe" or "think" that by comparison to others below them who are more miserable and unhappy than they are, then they must be better than they are; that by comparison to the starving poor masses they must be happier than they are; that they are superior to the masses.

For these filthy rich scum; it is all about superficial appearances because they have no humanity, they have no soul, they are empty vessels filled with undead ghouls that poison their every thought. They have no human emotions. They are dehumanized monsters…
And the only reason they are like this is because of the undead.

Get this through your head; there are perfectly logical explanations for the increasing existence of evil.

Once you understand that the undead have poisoned all life on earth ever since the first living organism died and its afterlife was longer than the life of the 2nd living organism…

Then the entire history of life on earth becomes clear and obvious as a slow accelerating slide into more and more evil by the continually increasing numbers of undead that take longer to decompose than the life spans of living organisms. Thus it is the overpopulation of the undead that spawned the overpopulation of the living humans they poison.

The evil of the undead offering Man the poison apple of Hedonism goes all the way back to Adam and Eve when the snake of evil offered Eve the first poisoned apple of pleasure for the sake of pleasure… when Eve offered Adam the round apples of her breasts and buttocks. This immorality and sinfulness of humans has not changed for millions of years not because humans are naturally sinful but because of the undead; they have poisoned every living human ever born with their filthy presence..

Because the degenerate corruption of Hedonism creates non-judgementalism… Or as the French say: "Chacun a son gout" or "Each to his own taste." Hedonists do not judge each other and they do not judge themselves because they have no moral or ethical basis by which they live their lives. Hedonists do not have any values except the personal pursuit of their own interests, pleasures, addictions, comforts and ease.

As a result… people allow others to be degenerate because they are degenerate themselves. If someone is addicted to coffee, or alcohol, or porn on the internet, or pizza; they are not criticized for it or judged because the sacred tenet of Hedonists is the right for every person to "choose".. or the right to buy whatever they want, or the right to have any opinion they want. Hedonism is based on the sacred right of everyone to 'please' themselves; regardless if their choices are good or bad, or right or wrong… In Hedonistic civilization there is no good or bad… there is no right or wrong

In Hedonistic civilization evil does not exist… this is exactly why the undead have created this monster called hedonistic civilization… so they can use billions of brainwashed controlled human puppets to commit evil and systematically destroy all life on earth without the puppets becoming aware of what they are doing.

Why is Hedonistic civilization evil?

Because the result of this culture of personal selfishness is the mass ignorance and indifference and apathy to global politics and news. Billions of stupid, brainwashed Hedonists walking around completely unaware and uninterested in anything that does not affect them directly, personally and immediately. This allows the criminal ruling classes of the world free rein carry out their secret criminal evil plans and conspiracies without the public having any clue of what they are doing because they simply the masses don't care about anything but themselves.

Why is civilization evil??

Because the question of what is wrong and what is right is not even brought up…
Because the question of what is good and what is evil is never asked.
Because children are raised without any understanding of what is wrong and what is right.
And because of that they grow up having no sense of right and wrong.

Because morality and ethics do not exist in civilization.
Only evil exists in civilization and it only exists because of the undead.
If the undead did not exist there would be no evil
Because civilization is based on Hedonism… most children are either neglected, or abused or spoiled rotten, or all three put together.

Because of this: they are easily manipulated and brainwashed and fooled and duped and controlled; Because The Undead Have Had Millions Of Years Of Experience In Doing This To Living People.

Trying to de-brainwash yourself is not easy. It is like a fish being born in a sewer trying to clean itself of all the filth it is swimming in… It cannot do that as long as it keeps on swimming in the sewer. It needs to get out of that sewer and live in the pure Beauty of Nature. That is almost impossible for most living people… But…

IF you go out into Nature; and compare its peace and quiet and Beauty to civilization… IF… you develop an appreciation of the Beauty of Nature compared to the ugly deadness of civilization and all its dead pavements and dead concrete streets and highways and dead stone buildings… IF… you can appreciate being alone in Nature and develop a liking for solitude and thinking and introversion and asking questions and develop your critical thinking skills… IF you can develop a sense of what is wrong and right, and a sense of what is Good and what is evil…

And if you can develop a community of friends who share your morals and ethics… you can create a society that opposes all the evils of civilization… And you can spread your wisdom and knowledge and insights to others so they can also change their lives as I am doing right now…

Why Is Hedonistic Civilization Evil??

Because Hedonists: meaning nearly all people on earth: do not consider that they have any moral or ethical responsibility or obligation to the society they live in.

Hedonism Is Based On Irresponsibility.

This is why all efforts of socially responsible people fail; because the vast majority of Hedonistic people don't care, are indifferent about it, are apathetic about it, are resigned to it, have been normalized to it, are insulated from the evils in their society, don't know about it, don't want to know about it, etc. ad nauseum. This is why the small minority that do care about the society they live in and have a wider awareness of the world and understand how it is impacting their lives always fail to garner the support of the brainwashed Hedonistic masses because they are only interested in their own personal comforts and pleasures and nothing else,

Even most who do care do nothing except give lip service on the internet in comments. They have been effectively isolated and prevented from organizing together simply because the world of the internet has become an insane paranoid asylum of freaks addicted to secrecy, terrified of anyone finding out who they really are.

Why is civilization evil?... Because all the raping of the earth's resources, all the hundreds of thousands of oil wells, dams, concrete roads all the massive global pollution, all the destruction of the earth's forests, all the polluting of the world's oceans and rivers and lakes, all this huge mechanized monstrosity is ostensibly being done to serve the hedonistic pleasures and comforts of billions of people… but who profits from all this globalized economy?... Only the most evil, richest scum who are controlled by the undead.

Humans do not look or think of civilization as a single system except as it pertains to or involves their own hedonistic personal interests and comforts… the idea that civilization is destroying the earth's natural resources has been poisoned by all the lies and hoaxes that those in power, the richest most evil scum have spread in order to destroy the lives of the masses and drive them into impoverishment and destitution.

The result is environmentalists and those concerned about the degradation of life on earth and the catastrophic numbers of mass extinctions going on in the world are being discounted and ignored due to the deliberate lies and hoaxes that have been spewed by the globalists. We have lost 73% of the world's wildlife between 1970 and 2020, according to the living planet index. Nobody reacts or cares about the fact that by 2025 there will be more plastic in the oceans than there are fish.

This is because the undead inside and outside every living human is pressing their victim to discount all such troubling facts. The undead are controlling the entire living population to sleepwalk into Armageddon.

Unless every living human is informed about the existence of the undead the complete destruction of all Life on Earth will happen… This is why I am writing about them. It is the reader's responsibility to share this book with as many people as they can… The issue is simple. Life or death. The fact that this will take more than one lifetime to come about does not alter the urgency to spread this book to every living human on earth.

Understand This

378

The only way you can understand anything is to start at its origin, its source, and trace it all the way up to the present…

For instance: the origin of all fiction began from myths and legends… Originally, all of these myths and legends had demons, deities, spirits, supernatural forces that controlled the fates of humans… take the oldest Greek plays… they were all about deities. All the players wore masks… of course the people who wrote these plays and acted them out and watched them had no idea that the undead were having fun exposing themselves to living humans; comfortable that no living human would guess about their existence that they were actually acting behind the masks of living humans; not the other way around… that they secretly control humans and act out the tragedies of life using living humans as their puppets to poison and despoil all life on earth.

Until… Socrates did something unforgivable… he dared to be curious about what happens when you die… the undead did not like that!... So they arranged for Socrates to commit suicide; thereby stamping with authority the forbidden unspoken edict:

Thou shalt not question or be curious about the realm of the undead.

And so these myths and legends grew and were twisted into stories that were not true… all fiction is untrue.

For thousands of years the undead have been piling lie upon lie upon lie using fiction to bury the origins of all fiction… understand: all the fiction today is the product of thousands of years of lies piled on top of each other…

If… you study human culture as a thousands of years old single narrative: you will see how its twists and changes make no logical sense… why? Because the undead seek to poison, obfuscate and cloud all positive original ideas and movements and trends before they can blossom in order to make it impossible for humans to ever be able to trace back the true origins of anything that is truly positive…

Because every civilization is built upon the rotting remains of an older civilization, and the ancient rotting evils of each extinct civilization poisons the next one… over and over and over…

Every new idea, every new positive life energy is instantly poisoned before it can sprout and that it is poisoned more, and more and more and more!!... Until it is unrecognizable from its original inception.

How can you tell the undead protect their evil puppets?

All you need to do is look at Netanyahu: carrying out his genocide of Gazans in broad daylight with the entire world doing absolutely nothing to stop him. While at the same time he is facing criminal charges in his own country that could put him behind bars while his personal residence is hit by drones and thousands of Israeli's are demonstrating in the streets demanding his resignation and he has been officially been declared a criminal and an arrest warrant been issued by the international criminal court… yet he is living a charmed life; escaping all consequences and punishment of his evil acts… just like Stalin did and Pol Pot did and Mao Tse Tsung did, and all the other genocidal mass murderers of history.

If you were to write the history of the undead…

You would have to detail their rotting, decomposing existence for billions of years and what that rotting turned them into… from when the first living organism died physically and the leftover after-life of its life energy began decomposing after its physical bodily functions stopped working… that is impossible,,,

The only way we can trace the history of these rotting undead entities is the effects they had on the living species they infiltrated and poisoned. And are still having on all living thins on the living earth.

What does this mean?? It means that what science called "evolution" and the history of how different species changed genetically from the origin of life up to now cannot be seen as any form of logical progression based on logical, proven, understandable principles or dynamics.

(For instance the very word; the term used that is a definition of causal processes: "dynamics", which is supposed to explain how things happen is itself poisoned by the undead… they slyly have slipped in the dirty secret about themselves that because of their invisible existence, everything that happens is a process of 'dy'ing: not living. Die-namics; not live-amics.)

Instead; the history of life on earth can be explained logically and understandably as a process of the undead poisoning every new genetic design, poisoning every new genetic species, and twisting it into an abomination of its intended designed functions and purposes.

How can I make it clear to you intelligent educated persons reading this?

By the recorded genetic history of dinosaurs

The history of dinosaurs is the history of cold blooded reptiles… Nearly all but a few species of them went completely extinct. What remains are tiny little creatures that have managed to eke out a living as prey for more advanced, intelligent species…

The scientific fact that reptiles prey on their own species has disappeared from the behavior of more developed species. At its heyday; the age of the dinosaurs culminated in a giant bloodbath where all of them killed each other every chance they got… Hundreds, thousands of reptilian species… hunting down and killing other reptilian species for millions of years. This spawned larger and larger reptiles in an arms race of who could defend itself against attack and who were the better killers. You can literally track linearly in time the devolution of harmless innocent reptiles as they morphed into uglier and more evil twisted sub species; until they became so unrecognizable from their genetic origins that they became horrible monsters of pure evil…

The entire Earth was filled with cold-blooded hate… The hatred of all living reptiles against the hatred of all other living reptiles. Hate and killing; bloodlust; were the only living emotions these cold blooded monsters knew and felt and acted on. The earth was filled with insane hate…

And so the loving earth died

All lesser living species began withering and dying

And with them went the top of the pyramidal ladder of eating and killing. They were wiped out completely.

The will to live was poisoned and destroyed by the negative evil of reptilian hatred.

Science has no logical provable reason for why these reptiles went totally extinct.

All we know is after this mass extinction of dinosaurs; the smallest, most harmless warm blooded species took over the earth and replaced the cold blooded monsters that once dominated the entire Earth…

Nature did away with these reptilian spawn of the undead… Now the undead are poisoning the most intelligent warm blooded species on Earth; and if they are not stopped: Nature will drive the human species into total extinction also because it has become a negatively poisoned species that is against Life.

You need to understand… the undead are not sane. They are not rational. They are dying rotting filth that want all life on earth to die because they are all dying. They are insane negative rotting evil.

How the Undead Work

382

How can you tell that the undead have been poisoning and controlling humans for hundreds of thousands of years if not millions of years??

What is the first thing humans decided to worship?? Volcanoes:
The most destructive natural force in earth… the pyramidal cones of volcanoes are where the invention of stone pyramids originates from.

What was the first tool the undead got humans to use?? Fire; which is the most destructive natural force on earth that comes from molten lava from volcanoes setting off forest fires, killing and burning to death untold numbers of living animals. The first way humans used fire was exactly like a volcano uses fire. They set off fires to burn down entire grasslands and forests, and then after the fires died down and the earth cooled enough for them to walk into the devastated area… they went scavenging for the carcasses of dead burn animals… this was how humans first became addicted to eating burnt meat. The undead used the first humans to become as destructive as a volcano.

Anthropologists have verified these facts from finding and studying the most ancient, stone age tribes in Africa and recording how they used fire.
Get this into your head: the undead have been poisoning and controlling humans as their unwitting puppets in order to kill all life on earth
From the beginning when the first humans became the most intelligent species on earth

The human animal is the most intelligent species on earth…
And because of this: humans are designed to act and behave as a single cooperative species

Not as a species that fights and kills each other

The reason humans fight and kill each other
Is because the undead created and invented an artificial pyramidal edifice called civilization that is divorced and separated from Nature and all other living species

383

This entire artificial construction was based on thousands of years of piling up dead stones.

The obsession with dead stones is what humans have been brainwashed into worshiping and glorifying as "proof" of how "magnificent" ancient civilizations once were.

The uselessness and insanity of this insane obsession is obvious only to the few people who are logical enough to recognize and admit that piling up these fucking dead stones for thousands of years did not improve the quality of life for humans by one iota… and furthermore… wasted their lives in these insane practices for tens of thousands of years

I challenge anyone to show or prove that these ancient civilizations were in any way logical or intelligent or good for anything.

The screaming historical fact that every single one of these stone civilizations all went extinct should tell everyone with half a brain that they were not intelligent and that all of them were self-destructive and that they destroyed themselves.

But no! Nobody even dreams that there may have been something fatally wrong with these ancient rotting piles of dead shit.

Instead these stones are worshiped religiously and all kinds of fantastical attributes are attached to them!

And what good were any of these fucking 'attributes' to humans?
None whatsoever. They were just as useless as flying to the fucking moon, and all the science fiction crap about space exploration.

When a species cannot learn how to feed itself… when there are millions of starving people on earth; what fucking good are rockets firing off into dead space?

384

All rockets, artillery pieces, guns, missiles are mechanical penises
And all of them spew out death.
Machines are dead things trying to copy living things
All machines are evil because all of them are dead Living penises spew out life
Dead mechanical penises spew out death

I cannot emphasize this enough… over the last ten years i have watched in growing horror Russia developing more and more advanced missiles of death; the Kalibr, the zircon. The Kinzhal, the Avangard. The Oreshnik, the Iskander… all of them cannot be defended against or stopped.

The design, purpose. And goal of these mechanical penises is death
The design, purpose and goal of organic penises is life.

And nobody sees the insanity of it.

More and more nations like Iran and north Korea and Yemen are developing and producing more and more of these unstoppable mechanical penises of death; just to defend themselves against the imperialist aggressions of American and Israeli hegemony.

The world is learning that the only way to defend themselves against the jewish neo-con globalists is to develop their own nuclear missiles. Right now as I write this; Pakistan and India: both nations with nuclear missiles are at war with each other. Plus Ukraine being used as a proxy by the neo-cons in Washington is at war against Russia while Israel; which also has nuclear missiles is committing genocide in Gaza and bombing and attacking Syria and Lebanon and threatening to bomb Iran.

This buildup of mechanical nuclear and non nuclear penises of death is not stopping… the arms race that is now happening all over the world is leading to an inevitable nuclear holocaust that will destroy most of life on earth…

Meanwhile, 8 billion Hedonists either don't care or are totally oblivious to the approaching Armageddon that is happening now, right in front of their eyes… just as they were before WW1 and WW2 happened…

Do you understand?

All machines are evil
Machines are trying to emulate life
But they are the opposite of life

They are dead mechanical monstrosities
Invented by the undead to destroy all life on earth.

How can you tell the undead exist?...

All the news; from international politics, to the climate, to the increasing destruction of countless eco-system, to the destruction of the earth's ocean currents, have been accelerating in their predictions and prophecies of impending dooms and global catastrophe; especially the increasing possibility of a nuclear war which could kill virtually most of the 8 billion people alive today.

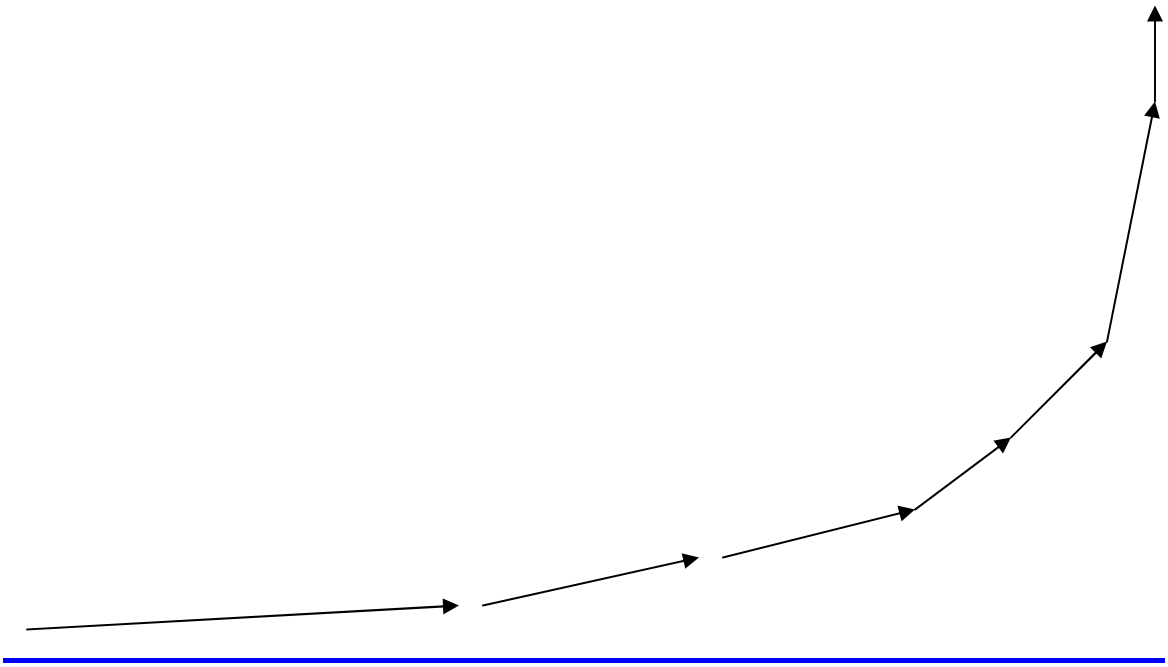
On every possible level, things are getting worse and worse at such an alarming rate; people don't know what to make of it… but the facts are; every single indicator and factor and prognosis on all levels and all aspects of civilization point to complete self-destruction.

People cannot believe this simply because it has never happened before and humans have always predicted the future based on the past…
But there is no past that can be used for predicting the complete extinction of all life on earth because it has never happened before.

386

This is why this book and my first book; The Path of Splitness must be read by every literate person in the world to avoid the undead successfully carrying out their goal of the complete destruction of all life on earth.

For one person to read these two books is useless.
Every literate person must read them.
Only when the entire human race is woken up and educated and informed about the existence of the undead and th evils of the hierarchical pyramidal civilization they live in; can the horrible, this horror be stopped



If you study the history of the human ability to kill over millions of years;
You will see the accelerating ability to kill as an exponential curve increasing to the point of total insanity where now we can destroy the entire planet at the touch of a button… In the last 50 years alone we have lost 73% of all wildlife… By 2025 there will be more plastic in the oceans than fish… The end result is the destruction of all life on earth is inevitable.

Get this through your head:

How the Undead Work

387

The ability to kill is not a measure of intelligence.
If that were true then Stalin would be the greatest genius that ever lived.

The history of humans increasing their ability to kill and destroy and pollute all living species is not a coincidence

Yet this is exactly what humans believe made them the dominant species on earth, and it is what civilization is based on; the invention of tools and using them to kill with.

Once you realize everyone who is in power is evil by design; then you can understand how the undead operate. They corrupt and control everyone who gets into in power. Right now; the genocide going on in Gaza has made this glaringly obvious. Not one govt or political leader is doing anything to stop it except the poorest nation on Earth. The same was true when Jesus lived. Only the poorest people live moral ethical lives.

It is the undead who are behind all this evil and insanity. And only when all humans understand this can humans stop being controlled by the undead and stop the mad rush into total oblivion

How can you tell civilization is based on Hedonism?
And that the undead use Hedonism to control and corrupt living humans?

What fuelled caravans traveling thousands of miles across Asia for thousands of years? What fuelled the building of huge ships to travel all the way around the world for hundreds of years? Silk and spices… Just so a few affluent rich humans could enjoy a teeny bit more ease and pleasure. These two movements based on Hedonism changed the whole world. It changed the world more than anything else… And you don't see anything strange in that? Just so a few rich people could wear clothing that is a bit smoother and warmer? Just so a few rich people could put a bit of spice in their food that was different from the spices they already had?... And that was the root reason, the basic motive, for the basic changes of civilization in the past 2,000 years? No. The undead did it so Hedonism could spread more quickly and evilly all over the world.

And then what came next? The triangle of the Atlantic slave trade coupled with the mass production of sugar and the distilling of rum for the masses to become addicted to…The spreading of 2 drugs to poison the masses and the spreading of a new inhuman inhumane slavery into 2 new continents. One poisonous drug: sugar, turned into another drug that is way more poisonous. One form of African slavery taken from one continent; turned into a worse form of slavery and spread onto two new continents. That is how cunning and evil the undead are.

Oh… and this was all done for money… for profit. Like there was no better easier way to make a profit than by traveling thousands of miles overland with horrible dangers and hardships and bandits on a round trip that took over 2 years. Like there was no better way to make a profit than by building huge expensive ships and traveling to the other side of the world and back through all kinds of dangers of storms and pirates. So the basis of all the changes of civilization was based on the sins of avarice and greed and profit. And that this immoral unethical sin is celebrated and excused and justifies every crime, every theft, every duplicity, every abomination done in the name of avarice and greed, done in the name of "progress", done in the name of western civilization… And all this is justified by it first satisfying the Hedonism of the western aristocracy and then justified by it being spread to the lower classes until the lower classes were corrupted by it until they became just as corrupt as the upper class.

Do you think this is logical??

Do you think this makes any fucking sense??

The only way to make sense out of this global spread of evil is the existence of the undead, and their permeating all living humans with their evil rotting filth.

389

Why is civilization evil?

Get this through your head.

Only insects are genetically designed to live in hives numbering hundreds or thousands of individuals… never mind in the millions. Humans are not designed to live in towns or cities. They are designed to live in small communities. The ideal number of people living in a single community is 12, or 24, or 36 individuals. This is verified by countless anthropological digs that have unearthed the remains of humans before civilization was invents.

Why is civilization evil?

Because it forces billions of people to work at robotic, repetitive, meaningless boring jobs… The result is billions of people being dumbed down to the level of a machine. This effectively prevents humans from developing their individuality. It prevents them from developing their intrinsic human abilities and potentials. It forces them to develop a hive mind mentality. It forces people to become mindless conformist sheep. Humans are designed to learn.

When humans are placed in a civilization that makes them do the same things every day robotically… when humans are forced to work at repetitive mind deadening jobs, when humans are forced to live in the same unchanging conditions every day, go to the same job by the same route every day and come back the same way every day… they stop learning… they stop wanting to learn anything. All they want is to relax and unwind from their boring meaningless robotic jobs and lives… They stop wanting to learn because there is nothing to learn inside their dead, boring repetitive environment, There is nothing new… just the same old dead repetition over and over again. The result is billions of brain dead dehumanized drones being effectively and successfully brainwashed by the mass media they are addicted to in order to distract themselves from their boring meaningless lives.

Humans have an intrinsic sense of Pure Wonder. Humans are designed to learn every day of their lives. Civilization destroys this intrinsic ability, It is only when humans are raised in the Beauty of Nature can they develop an awareness of how Beautiful Nature is. Living inside civilization prevents all of this by civilization forcing people to do the same things every day, live in the same place every day.

At the same time that civilization forces people to live inside insect hives called cities and towns… it also isolates people from each other and alienates them from each other and forces them to live together as a packed mass of total strangers; with no common goal, so they share nothing in common with each other. Billions of mindless blinkered people scurrying around; all bent on their hedonistic personal interests and motives.

Civilization does not support humans: it uses them. Humans are forced to fight each other in the mindless meaningless rat race of chasing the almighty dollar.

Why are humans less intelligent than ants and bees and termites and all insects that live in hives?

Because they are not as intelligently cooperative and intelligently organized in their hives as insects are.

Insect species that live in hives cooperate with each other. They do not fight and kill each other. Each insect in a hive works for the greater good: not for itself. This allows the entire hive to thrive and grow,

In human hives there is a bare minimum of cooperation. Most of the human insects scurry around for purely personal reasons; intent on their own personal Hedonistic goals of pleasure, comfort and ease. When you look at the entire species of humans and compare them to the species of all hive insects; you see that the history of hives called civilizations have repeatedly gone extinct over and over with numbing regularity, and that the reasons for them going extinct are all internal… not because of any external causes. The hive social system of insects are designed to protect the individual insects and support all of them. Civilization on the other hand does not support or protect the humans in its pyramidal shit pile. Instead it crushes them under oppression and tyranny of its ruling elites

By the undead forcing humans to live like insects in a hive, by reversing the structural form of human society back to the most primitive form of insect society; the undead have reversed the intelligence of humans so that they behave and act more stupidly and unintelligently than insects. Humans are destroying the planet they live on without being aware of it. Do you think this is because of human stupidity or greed? It's because the goal of the undead is to destroy all life on earth using living humans as their controlled, unaware puppets to do it.

One perfect way of proving the undead exist inside all humans is the fraud, the hoax of reincarnation and "past lives"… The reason living people have memories of people who lived in the past is because the undead ghoul that died long ago is secretly ensconced inside and funneling-channeling its memories of its life when itt was alive. The same is true about all reincarnation stories. When a person believes that they are a reincarnation of somebody who lived long ago: the undead fiend-ghoul that is hiding inside them is allowing that living person to access its memories of when it was alive.

Another proof of the existence of the undead are all near-death experiences that paint the afterlife as a paradise filled with ultra-wise angels or being filled with love and some kind of superhuman wisdom that is supposed to explain everything on Earth. And that everything has been planned and everything is good… What all these fantasy delusions carefully exclude is any attempt to explain all the thousands of years of human sufferings and atrocities and genocides and wars. They pretend that the ugly reality that history tells us about the our past either doesn't exist or isn't important. In all these near-death experiences there is absolutely no mention of any evil… In all these experiences; evil simply does not exist; there is only love and a wisdom that surpasses all human understanding. All these experiences have no critical thinking and no questioning if their experience was a dream or a hallucination. They are all convinced that they were privileged to peek into a hereafter that is so wondrous and comforting and amazing, those who experience it don't want to go back into the realm of the living.

However if you listen or read about these accounts; one thing stands out… each one is different from all the others… No two accounts are the same… They are all individualized fantasies… custom made for each individual's personality and imagination. Each one's experience has one thing in common… to make the delusion so overwhelming and fantastic and real that the victim never for one second questions the veracity of their senses. They are given huge supposedly mind blowing insights about the Universe and how everything is going as planned and there is nothing to worry about. All their doubts and fears and uncertainties are wiped away by this overflowing sense of love and welcome… The trouble is you cannot have thousands or millions of personal accounts of heaven that are all different and have different beings with different shapes and different messages and different insights unless you are experiencing a custom made dream to fit your own personality-character-beliefs-assumptions. The only thing in common with all these delusions is that they experience a love, a wisdom that is so infinite in scope, they suddenly understand that everything is going fine because the 'wise ones' or entities, or god, or angels with wings, or shining globes, or whatever their fertile imagination produces are so far beyond the understanding of mere mortals that it is unthinkable to ever question anything they say. Then they all return back to their lives with… what? To ignore all the war, the starvation, the poverty, they injustice, the corruption in the world… Suddenly all critical thinking about any evil in the world disappears. And what is it replaced with? It is replaced with an assurance that there some kind of meaning in their lives. Even though that meaning is never explained or spoken of. The only common result is feeling or understanding that everything is ordained and is going as planned and a complete unawareness of evil when they return... All the wars and atrocities and corruption and suffering in the world no longer bothers them anymore. They are immune to all and any moral or ethical outrage at all the evils in the world. Millions can suffer and die; they don't care because they know they are destined to reach their personal paradise-heaven when they die so nothing really matters what happens on earth while they are alive.

And they sell their shit to the world in order to brainwash millions more into the devout belief that when they die they will be transported to a paradise beyond their ability to understand it… And you don't call that a commercial designed to sell you something?? You don't question the fact that one account has a god and another has an unseen glowing orb and another just has an unseen feeling of peace and love and another has a host of beings floating in and out of a huge realm, etc, etc, etc…?

What is missing from this is an obvious question… How come for thousands of years before the invention of commercials designed to sell you something has been perfected into an art form that can sell ice to Eskimos, there were absolutely no recorded instances of anyone experiencing the same thing?... Eh? How come only now has this phenomena appeared… eh?

If you study the past 2,000 years of western civilization; it has steadily become a materialist culture where all ideas and concepts of dead ghosts and spirits have been sneered at and discounted, regardless of evidence that they actually exist… Even when scientific methods have proven that they do exist; nobody takes this research seriously. The idea of ghosts existing is regularly pooh-poohed even when there are videos and photos showing they exist. For untold thousands of years before the last 2,000; humans knew the spirit world existed. In fact most of their cultures and religions were based around their existence and appeasing them. There was little or no differentiation between spirits and deities. They were known to take human and animal shapes. They were known to appear as a bird or animal. All this has now been cast aside as pure superstition for a very good reason…

The undead do not want modern humans to know that they exist…
They do not want you to know how cunning they are.

How the Undead Work

394

They do not want you to know how malevolent they are
They do not want you to know how patient they are in their cunning evil malevolent plans and conspiracies and collusions.
They can and do corrupt humans slowly and methodically…
It can take years, decades, centuries for them to finally succeed in any of their evil ghouls. They do it so slowly and cunningly that short lived humans don't notice how everything is becoming somehow worse and more evil. They do not want you to know that they exist.

Why?... Because now: science has advanced to the point where the existence of these foul, rotting monstrosities can actually be detected and hunted down to their lairs where they hide: behind walls, in flat surfaces, inside human beings and outside them. Now; the written history of civilization has enough information and evidence to expose their existence. But only if you analyze the evidence correctly. Only if you have the wealth of knowledge and experience that I have.

All the huge libraries of the ancient world were burned down and destroyed for a very good reason. They contained too much knowledge and information of the past that not only could have exposed them, but could have improved the lives of humans too much…

You see… it is only when you study history with the knowledge that the undead exist and have existed for untold billions of years that it all makes logical sense. It is only when you understand that the undead have permeated and poisoned the loves of all humans and are still permeating and poisoning the lives of humans including you who are reading this book now… it is nly then that you will be able to recognize the evil that lurks inside you, and tries to control you without you being aware of it…

Once you are aware of this… once you have developed your inner awareness of yourself like i have, and can identify all the evil impulses and urges inside you… then you can fight that evil consciously.

This process of cleansing yourself, your inner soul of all evil is what the many saints of the catholic church attempted to do with varying results. They recognized that the hedonism of civilization was evil. You too can do this as I have by staying true to your youngest, purest, most aware inner self.

This book has not been written for a few, rare, gifted saints, it is written so all humans can cast off all the evils of hedonism and create a completely new civilization that is not a utopia but is based on the genetic design of nature and how humans are designed to live and what their genetically designed functions are.

The very idea of 'freedom" in Hedonistic civilization; the concept, the principle pf "freedom" in civilization… the freedom to say what you want, buy what you want, do what you want, think what you want, go where you want; is based on irresponsibility. It is based on Hedonism…

Not on what is good or bad
Not on what is right or wrong
Not on what is ethical and moral.
Not on what is intelligent or stupid
Not on what is constructive or destructive
Not on what is logical or illogical
Not on what is rational or irrational
Not on what is sane or insane
Not on what is true or untrue

Billions of Hedonistic human insects scurrying around with the "freedom" to say whatever they want, buy whatever they want, do whatever they want, think whatever they want, go where ever they want, eat what whatever they want, drink whatever they want is insane .

The insanity of millions of dehumanized robotic drones all piled up together, ignoring each other, passing each other by as total strangers, all bent on their personal motives and goals, insulated by walls and apartments designed to keep them apart from each other, driving by each other, passing each other in steel and glass machines insulated from each other is normal. That normality is insane.

Why do I use the analogy of insects and insect hives compared to civilization?? Because if you look closer at insects… inside a hive of bees or ants; They are all communicating with each other on a cooperative intelligent level… They are all on the same wavelength; their cooperative goal is to protect the hive and do everything possible to make the hive flourish and thrive…

But:… If you look at the history of civilization; it is all random chaos. Everything is higgledy piddlegy… nothing makes any sense. Cities grow at random, towns disappear, new ones are built; roads are built without any long range planning. Everything is fuelled by short term personal motives and goals. All of it is built upon the disorganized rotten remains of the past. Unlike insect society and insect hives that make perfect logical sense and are built logically.

When you look closer at a human highways it looks as if it is all flowing cooperatively with millions of cars flowing along millions of miles of highways… but if you look inside the insect shells of glass and steel; you do not find all the human insects are on the same wavelength… You do not find them all cooperating together with each other so their hive can flourish and thrive. You do not see all these human insects cooperating together to protect the hive… Instead you find each insect shell of steel and glass hides insane humans who are not on the same wavelength with all the other human insects even though they are all the same species, even though they live together in the same hive-cities… You find all the human insects hiding inside the glass and steel shells of their cars are bent on purely personal goals with purely personal motives… You find that all these insane human insects hiding inside their insect shells are all behaving at cross-purposes to each other. That all of them are isolated from each other, alienated from each other, separated from each other… That they see each other as total strangers and mistrust each other and fear each other… Compared to bees or ants in their hives that act as a single cooperative whole and communicate with each other… All that can be said of civilization over a long period of time that is consistent is its ever-increasing population and its ever increasing destruction of the environment it exists in… Looked at from a perspective of hundreds or thousands of years… civilized humans are insane.

The point is when you increase the population of humans to 8 million. Literally everything these 8 billion people do has massive global repercussions and consequences. 8 billion consumers using plastic has created huge environmental damage on a global scale. Yet there is no global system of control or governance to deal with this. Humans have been brainwashed into thinking the term "globalist" stands for filthy rich billionaires who are trying to control them, impoverish them and do away with them and they are right… But how many consumers try to organize together on a global scale to fight them? None. How many consumers want to organize together on a global level to solve and clean up the global pollution created by their own consumption? None. How many consumers are willing to give up the convenience of plastic in order to save all the world's eco-systems including their own health?... None.

The point is the 8 billion population of human consumers have been brainwashed to think only in terms of their own personal pleasure and ease. That makes them incapable of dealing with the problems created by their own consumption because they are incapable of thinking and acting on a global level that is moral and ethical. 8 billion humans acting only on their own short sighted goals of pleasure and ease is insane and self destructive.

Make a Direct Comparison

Compare any large beehive or ant nest to a large city… How many murders and rapes and robberies occur inside these insect hives compared to human hives??? None. How many criminal gangs exist inside insect hives compared to human cities? None. Granted humans are more evolved and more intelligent than insects… so why do they behave more irrationally and immorally and insanely than insects?... Because of the undead

Then there is overpopulation and identicality…

A whole book could be written on this subject; Here I will only make some general obvious points on the matter. What happens when large numbers of one species live packed together?... They become more identical to each other. Take ants… they all look alike. They are segregated into different roles but each class of ants look alike. The same basic principle applies to herd animals like buffalo or caribou or reindeer.

Due to the technology of mass producing identical products by the thousands and millions and billions; civilized humans wear the same clothes, watch the same shows, listen to the same pod casts, eat the same processed foods, live in the same boxed rooms, drive the same cars, think the same way, believe the same things, react the same ways, do the same things until there is really very little difference between looking at a human city-hive or an ant hive from the same relative distance. The point is mass production has turned humans into mass-produced insects… There is really no point to their existence. There is no meaning to their existence except the long range plan of the undead to use civilized humans to destroy all life on earth.

In civilization; the overpopulation of human population and the explosion of identicality… mass produced products that looked almost exactly alike began only recently with the industrial revolution in the 1700's in Europe. The ability to churn out thousands-millions of identical items-products made it possible for human populations to explode in a very short time frame. This resulted in the creation of billions of "consumers". Basically consumers only exist in order to consumes mass manufactured goods on a mass level of thousands, millions; thus systematically using up and destroying and polluting the world's resources and eco-systems a million times faster than before; and by doing so; systematically destroy all life on earth a million times faster than before… Before it took the undead using living humans as their puppets thousands of years to create deserts like the one in the Mideast and North Africa and central Asia… This was not fast enough for them so they invented the abomination of mechanized mass production, linked with human overpopulation to speed up the process of destroying all Life on Earth..

The undead have their plan to destroy all Life of Earth: If you study the history of civilization over the last 300 years it is obvious… But since and because Hedonistic humans are not interested in long range plans and consequences, they not interested in this obvious conclusion; they have no interest in long range plans… and because they are not aware that the undead exist and because they know no short lived humans have any long range plans covering thousands of years and would never plan anything like this; they discount and ignore all the warning signs and obvious evidence of the steady, inexorable, mounting, accelerating destruction of all living things on earth… From frogs going extinct to bees disappearing to forests withering and being cut down; as long as they are not faced with the immediate threat of death and destruction, they ignore everything every long range warning sign and blithely go on consuming as a lifestyle they have become accustomed to and regard as being "normal"…. Even though if you study the history of civilization you will discover that there is no such thing as normal. Normality doesn't exist. There are only new "norms" being invented and introduced that create entirely new norms and catastrophe's and wars that destroy old norms and new ones pop up immediately and all the old norms are forgotten as if they never existed.

The undead rely on this to continually drive civilized humans into more and more insane, irrational, pointless, destructive new 'norms' without them realizing they are steadily being driven off a cliff into total extinction. As long as civilization is expanding; (thus accelerating its total destruction of all eco systems and Life on earth); civilized humans will think that everything is going fine. But when civilization starts to shrink because it has destroyed and polluted the entire earth it will be too late to do anything about it… That is what the undead are relying on… for living humans to be so brainwashed and controlled by the undead long enough so nothing they can do will stop the descent into complete extinction of all Life on Earth

This is patently obvious. Countless documentaries have been made and books written about it and they have all been ignored. The horrific effects of billions of consumers polluting the oceans with plastic, the horrific devastation and pollution of coal power plants and mass manufacturing factories polluting and poisoning everything are all well known and ignored by not only the Hedonistic masses and consumers, but also by the ruling elites that profit off of all this…

So why were all these billions of consumers created?

Nobody has ever questioned the reason for their existence.
Nobody has ever questioned their true purpose.
Nobody has ever tried to justify their existence.

In fact the overpopulation of the earth by consumers is the shining star that justifies the greatness of civilization. In spite of all the obvious negative effects of the overpopulation of modern civilization there is absolutely NO plan or motive or wish to reduce human overpopulation or any of its other evils like nuclear power plants and nuclear bombs and nuclear missiles… Instead there is great concern that populations might be shrinking.

The fact is: civilization is based on endless growth. It is a poisonous evil bacterial culture that dies the instant it sucks everything out of its host's body or whenever it starts shrinking and not growing. Documentaries have been made on the fallacy of endless growth and they are all ignored. Why? Because the undead control all living humans that have the power to do anything about it. This book is an attempt to wake up humans and make them aware that the path they are on is one that will lead to utter devastation and destruction on a global scale that is unimaginable. Civilized humans are insane

Because they destroy the Earth which they depend on for their lives.

Civilized humans act as if there is an endless amount of Nature which they can destroy with impunity and with no consequences. This short outlook, this narrow perspective is because civilization is based on Hedonism. There is virtually no greater awareness in civilized Hedonistic humans that makes them question the insanity of civilization. As far as most people are concerned: civilization is the shining temple on the hill that proves their superiority over all other sentient species. This gives then the unspoken snugness and arrogance needed to do whatever they want regardless of how destructive it is in the long run and how short sighted it is and how wrong and evil it is.

The Unseen Danger

There is a tipping point in this systematic destruction of all Life on earth that is going on right now… At some point the entire Living Earth will go into a death spiral from which it cannot recover from…

Nobody Knows What That Point Is

Everything may seem to be fine until certain small things begin to happen; like the disappearance and extinction of frogs, moths, butterflies, bees, birds, squirrels, certain flowers….

This Has Already Happened

It Is Continuing To Happen

At What Point Will It Become An Irreversible Trend?

No One Knows

This is why humans need to wake up out of their Hedonistic bubbles and start reversing this global destruction and pollution of all Life on Earth.

Just this summer in 2025, while editing this book: all the mosquitoes, moths and bees and flowers have disappeared from my forest meadow in the middle of the Laurentiens woods. This has never happened before. It is a harbinger of the collapse of Nature.

I can remember hundreds of times in subway trains and outside subway stations and inside malls; looking at all the dead people passing by each other, ignoring each other, thinking how they are all like dead robots… I could look at all of them because they never looked at me… I had the freedom to look at all of them as long as I wanted walking on the streets, in malls, in subways because they never looked back at me; they were not aware that I was looking at them. They were all dead… I never understood why they were all so dead, I never understood why they weren't aware that I was looking at them… Why they didn't look back at me… I could look at all of them, I could look at hundreds and thousands of them but they didn't look at me, they weren't aware of me because they were all dead inside… they were unaware of everyone around them. They had been programmed to not look at anyone near them and not be aware of them.

Now I understand why… I live on a different level of greater awareness. I am not controlled by the undead. I am not dead inside. I am different from other people. That is why I am able to write these two books. No other human could do what I did. No other person in the world knows about the undead and what they are and how evil and malevolent they are.

It is the undead who made humans live like insects in hives. It is the undead who invented these human hives called cities. It is the undead who turned people into insane dehumanized human insects. It is the undead who invented civilization.

There are a thousand wrongs but only one right
There are a thousand lies but only one truth
There are a thousand illogical chains of thought
But only one logical train of thought

How the Undead Work

403

There are a thousand wrongs but only one right
There are a thousand insanities but only one sanity
There are a thousand destructives
But only one constructive
There are a thousand untruths but only one truth
There are a thousand irrationalities
But only one rationality

The idea of billions of human insects scurrying around; each with their own personal hedonistic motives and hedonistic irrationalities and Hedonistic opinions and Hedonistic insanities and Hedonistic destructiveness and hedonistic stupidities and hedonistic illogicalities… all disagreeing with each other and fighting each other and going to war against each other…

That is the insanity of the modern world today.

When you have not a thousand, but eight billion hedonistic humans scurrying around; each one convinced they are right; that they are logical, that they are sane, that they are rational, that they are good, that they are constructive, that they know what is true, that they know what is intelligent.

Then you have a global madhouse of chaos and distraction where the undead can do any evil they want without humans organizing together to stop it.

A perfect example is the ongoing genocide in Gaza…

The whole world except a few western countries know it is wrong but they do nothing to stop it! Why? Because the world is run by controlled evil puppets of the undead. Because the world is run by the undead who control their human puppets and allow this evil to continue and make sure it is not stopped by protecting the most evil controlled puppets of the undead and making sure that all their evil conspiracies and plans and acts are achieved without them suffering any punishment for it.

How the Undead Work

Why is civilization evil?

When you look at civilization in perspective: it is obvious… Technology has given humans the tool to look at civilization in perspective: they are called flying drones that mimic the actions of flying birds that the undead used as their eyes to spy on living humans for untold millions of years.. They show human activity in perspective from high above the huge mechanized city-hives of millions of human insects, insulated in their millions of steel and glass shells, all scurrying around frenetically like robotic insects in their insane mindless pursuit of their own tiny personal interests; completely isolated from each other, not caring about each other, totally oblivious and unaware of each other. From the higher perspective of a drone; this all seems like the orderly activity of a mechanized, robotic insect hive but it isn't. It has no greater purpose or meaning. It is an insane mechanized mass of human unawareness. It is a mindless robotic insane mechanized beehive of insulated isolated human insects ignoring each other all bent on their own personal petty hedonistic interests.

Philosophers have been trying to find the meaning of life for 2,500 years: they all failed… now!... Even the idea of trying to find any true meaning in life has gone extinct… it has disappeared! The overwhelming belief of billions of people today is that there is no meaning to life. Any attempt to ask that question is laughed at or ignored. The idea if finding any true meaning to life is now considered ludicrous. The common belief is that there is no meaning to life… humans haven given up trying to find any meaning in life except their meaningless unspoken religion of Hedonism; which they know does not give any true meaning to their lives, so they don't even try to use this degenerate religion of selfishness because they know it can be shot down easily.

What is meaningless is human civilized life. Humans have been trying to make sense of life inside civilization. Humans have been trying to make sense of civilized life. Humans have never tried to make sense of life outside of civilization. They have never tried to make sense of human life without civilization. In fact; humans have never tried to make sense of life itself: only civilized human life.

Well I am here to tell you that there is meaning to human life… but only in the context of Nature; living alongside with all the other living organisms on earth… living with them, not killing them. Not as a separate species insulated from all other living species in this madhouse called civilization. And if you accept this obvious logical truth, then all killing and destruction of life on earth by civilized humans becomes evil and all of civilization becomes evil.

Why is Hedonism Evil?

Because it makes people stupid… It makes people lie to themselves and others. It makes people do bad things and then lie about it to avoid being punished. Just like a child being caught with their hands in the cookie jar; all the things that people do in pursuit of their personal pleasure and ease programs them to value their own interests above anything else. This programming makes them dishonest… In a society that is not hedonistic and is not based on Hedonism, there would be no reason to lie about anything. The pyramidal structure of hedonistic civilization forces humans to lie to themselves and others and deceive themselves and others about their actual motives and reasons for doing or saying anything and everything. The shitpile of civilization is one huge stinking pile of hypocrisy, deceit and lying.

Because of this; humans are trained, taught by living examples, programmed and brainwashed into lying to themselves and lying to others. This total lack of honesty and transparency makes them all stupid. This is what the undead do to living people. The undead want living humans to become as stupid as possible… and they have succeeded. For instance the modern overweight, fat, out of shape, brainwashed American consumer's opinion about anything is based on ignorance and their irrational ideas and personal preferences; based on the propaganda shit they watch on mass media. They are all stupid simply because they have all been spoiled rotten by being able to indulge themselves all their lives and by buying all the toxic unhealthy crap that their society sells them.

How can you tell Hedonism is evil?

You can tell by how WW2: the most evil, horrible war ever fought; that destroyed the most progressive, human Nation in the world at that time: Germany, was subconsciously justified…

How was it justified? By America becoming suddenly incredibly affluent and rich right after the war… ww2 was labeled "the good war" because of how rich the winners became after it. It was labeled the only good war in human history… when in actuality and truth it was the most horrible, brutal, inhuman evil war that had ever been planned and carried out by the puppets of the undead. Get this into your fucking head… the undead reverse the truth. They turn white into black and black into white… and they push these foul filthy evil lies nonstop until their evil lies become universally accepted as being true… that is what the undead did; thanks to their puppets. The jews; a by taking over the publishing industry and the mass media industry and nearly all the major corporations and the govts of western civilization…

Now their obscene lie that they were victims of genocide is wearing thin because of their systematic genocide of the people in Gaza… But still, in spite of hews openly showing to the entire world how evil they truly are… the brainwashed masses of the world still believe in the holocaust; even though that belief is so irrational, so blatantly false; that anyone with an ounce of common sense can see through the hoax.

After WW2 Americans dove into a huge corrupt swamp of Hedonism and pleasure seeking and became the envy of the world because of it. The whole world worshiped and admired Americans for their obscene wealth and their machines and gadgets; all designed to increase their personal comforts and ease and pleasure. The entire civilized world measures countries by how rich and affluent they are and how comfortable they are as the universal unquestioned standard for success… The Second World War became known as the "only good war" because the result of that war was mass Hedonism gone stark mad. The new materialistic-mass manufacturing basis of modern western civilization made the masses of the world go into an amnesia, and block out that war completely as if it had never happened

The undead targeted Germany and Adolph Hitler because he was intelligent enough to understand how evil the Jews were and still are. So they not only murdered and massacred 8 ½ million German babies, girls, boys and old men; (because most of the fighting age men were at the front) by refusing to fight the German armed forces, but instead they carpet bombed the cities and towns of Germany and much of northern Europe…

At the same time the stinking evil of international Jewry, the cabal of international jewish bankers; controlled by the undead… took over control of most of the west's central banks; and thus control of all western civilization… Furthermore; these evil Jewish puppets of the undead have been on a mission to destroy every single nation that refuses to have a privately owned Jewish central bank in control of its currency.

Because it preserves and glorifies and whitewashes the dead past… while never planning for the future or thinking about the future and ignoring all present problems that can become catastrophic in the future. Civilization is an invention of the undead. Their hidden agenda is to destroy all Life on earth and they can only do that by dumbing down humans and programming them to be as unaware as possible and only living in the present without any interest in or awareness of the past or the future; so they will never become aware of where they came from and in what direction they came from and are headed towards in the future.

At the same time: the undead do not want humans to learn the real truth about the past so they continually cover it up and twist it and bury it and change it to keep humans ignorant if the real facts and truths

That is why all the great libraries of the ancient world were burned down and destroyed. That is why the undead have transferred nearly all of the historical past and all documents of the past into digital for,… so they can be easily and selectively deleted to keep people brainwashed and ignorant about the historical facts and truth of the past.

Google and YouTube and Wikipedia and many other govt entities have been deleting millions and billions of channels, web sites, videos for the past 24 years and are right now increasing their internet censorship by leaps and bounds. That is why the way back machine that holds a repository of everything ever posted on the internet has been hacked permanently…

So untold channels, videos, web sites will never be available to the public so they can learn anything that might change their blinkered, ignorant brainwashing about anything that happened in the past…

The undead are a diabolical, cunning, malevolent presence that permeates the entire Living Earth; and they concentrate their evil presence on the most evolved intelligent animal on earth: The human species.

They must be killed dead
They must be completely exterminated
They must be hunted down and killed dead as savagely and viciously and as horribly as possible.
Their own evil must be visited back upon them a thousand times more than they ever visited it on their unsuspecting human victims

That is the power of positive feedback.
That is the power of positive life energy

Life energy is the only energy in the universe that gives back more than it receives

How the Undead Work

409

Life energy is the only energy in the universe that creates more energy than it takes in

That is why you the living who read this book have the sacred responsibility to share this book and begin hunting down all undead evil entities
The beginning of this is hunting down and killing evil people who are controlled and possessed by the undead as brutally and viciously as possible

The undead are seen as evil because they commit horrible things… when you are positively charged with the righteous passion and anger and hatred and rage and fury against the undead; you will be able to kill than ten times more savagely and brutally than they ever can imagine.

You will be able to take satisfaction from killing them as brutally as possible and that satisfaction will be 100 times more satisfying than anything you have ever experienced

How can you tell the undead exist?

Because the undead are watchers... They have watched living humans for hundreds of thousands of years if not millions. They watch living humans in every cunning hidden way possible. They use animals as familiars to be their eyes and ears… these animals are called pets. They use wild birds to monitor living humans. They use squirrels to monitor watch living humans. They use insects to monitor humans. They use ants, they use mice, they use rats to monitor their movements and activities…

Why do you think the new paranoid culture of mass surveillance exists?
Living humans are behaving like the undead because they are permeated with their foul presence. Why do you think there are surveillance cameras everywhere you go? Why do you think govts and corporations and companies are using surveillance cameras everywhere? Do you really think there are enough people to watch all 8 billion living people 24 hrs a day? The undead have permeated human civilization so much; human civilization has become a mirror of the undead.

Because all the love stories throughout thousands of years of civilization are tragedies. There are no love stories with a happy ending… From the Greek tragedies, to Helen of Troy to Tristan and Isolde to Romeo and Juliet: they all end up unhappily… This because the undead have had billions of years of experience of crushing any new positive Energy of Love and Happiness as quickly and as soon as possible. In the 1930's all of Germany was happy in the new wave of health and prosperity that the National Socialist party of Adolph Hitler had engineered… The undead could not ruin each new birth of Love and happiness because it happened too quickly for them to crush it… So they conspired to crush all of Northern Europe and destroy it as much as possible by using their doppelgangers: Jews to create a war that spun out of control on purpose; because the undead controlled all the upper elites of each nation and used them to turn what was originally a minor political squabble over the Danzig Corridor into the most horrible inhuman war in all human history. Understand this: The undead are Negative Energy… Life is Positive Energy. They are mortal enemies of each other. The battle between Good and evil, between Positive and Negative Energy has been fought ever since the Universe was created; and it will not stop until one destroys the other. The reason Hedonism is evil is because Hedonists do not recognize evil because they are evil themselves. As a result; they wallow in the lap of luxury; thinking everything is good for them personally and are blind to any evil; in fact they block out all awareness of evil because they are evil themselves.

One universal disease of hypocrisy that Hedonistic civilization suffers from is the lip-service hypocrisy of all Govts is that all their laws and regulations that are passed for altruistic reasons. That the purpose of all govt is for altruistic reasons and principles. That govt is based on altruism; for the common good. That everything a govt does is for the good of the people; when that is total bullshit.

The reason crime exists; the reason govts are evil; the reason corporations are evil; is because they are not altruistic. They are not for the good of the people because the universal practicing unspoken religion of civilization is self-interest and always has been and always will be. All corruption is personal self interest… personal self-interest is corruption. They are the same thing. The fact is the only way you can get rid of corruption is to get rid of personal self-interest; and that is impossible because hedonistic civilization is based on personal self-interest.

The fallacy of personal self-interest can be easily debunked… If anyone is 100% selfish and does not want to cooperate with anyone at all. If he or she refuses to cooperate with anyone; than they will be forced to live by themselves and depend only on themselves for their survival. That means they cannot get married because that would mean they would have to cooperate with another human being. They would not be able to go to school or get a job or start their own business because that would mean they would have to cooperate with someone else. They would not be able to buy anything because that would mean they would have to exchange money for goods and that is a form of cooperation… They would be forced to live alone and die alone without anybody helping them and with nobody caring whether they live or die…

That is 100% personal self-interest.

The evil of money is that people help others for money without knowing them or caring about them. The entire system of money is based on avarice and greed and larceny. When the only way you can feed your family and house yourself and clothe yourself is by working for money, by using money; you have been forced into an evil system that is criminal. The entire reason corruption and crime exists is because people will do anything for money. As long as civilization is based on money there will be crime and corruption. Without money; corruption and crime cannot exist.

Why is Capitalistic Civilization Evil?

Because the profit motive without any morals or ethics is both sociopathic and psychopathic… The entire history of corporations going back to the first corporation ever invented has been a history of evil fuelled by avarice, greed and evil intentions and motives. Western civilization has been dominated by huge corporations whose practices are without exception immoral, unethical and evil. The basic model of a corporation; the first ones to be created were created as monopolies under the control and purview of ruling monarchs; and ever since then; the goal of every corporation created has been to gain a monopoly over its field of operations and crush all opposition. From the Hudson Bay's monopoly of the fur trade to Standard oil's monopoly of the American oil industry; everything they have done has had horribly destructive consequences and results.

Furthermore the culture of these evil organizations has leaked down to the lower classes and poisoned the entire human population with its amoral drive for profits regardless of any moral or ethics or honesty. The entire culture of small businesses has been poisoned by the drive to expand and become bigger and bigger until the mindless race for profits and money and market share has turned all business into a dog-eat-dog world in a fight for survival of the biggest and richest… Making all business become an adversarial culture of competition without any morals or ethics.

The western principles of morality and ethics which was based on the Christian ethics and morality based on what is Good and what is evil has been changed. Now the principle of morality is based on Hedonism. Now the principles of ethics is now based on Hedonism. The euphemism for Hedonism is mow called "happiness"… Everyone is supposed to have the sacred right to ve "happy"… Everyone is supposed to have the "freedom" to do anything they want… These two concepts were first officially legitimized in the Constitution of the United States of America by the statement that everyone has the sacred right to" :Life, Liberty, and the pursuit of Happiness,"

However… This document does not guarantee that anyone would ever achieve these three sacred "rights'… The cunning way it was written was for brainwashed humans to pursue bet never reach any of there three goals.

BUT,,, because America became the richest, most affluent nation in earth: the rest of Humanity looked up to America and flocked to America so they too could become rich and "happy". The unspoken definition of happiness became being rich… If you became rich then you automatically became "happy" because then you could buy anything you want and because being rich is better than being poor. From these unspoken beliefs the idea that money can buy you happiness even though the truism " Money can't buy you happiness" has existed for ages and everyone says it; they only pay lip service to this truism. In fact this document gave ordinary people the sacred right to do anything that wanted to. It gave them a blank check to pursue anything they wanted to… If someone is happy raping boys or girls… hey: knock yourself out. If someone enjoys being a serial murderer: Hey; "Chacun a son gout " Which is a French phrase meaning; "Each to his own taste"… Which is part of the history of Hedonism and degeneracy of the European aristocracy; just before America legalized it for the common man.

How can you tell the undead exist?

The only way you cab tell the undead exist is by looking at human history over a period of thousands of years; and seeing how insidiously and cunningly the undead have poisoned human civilization…

Get this through your head
Civilization is a mirror of the undead
Because the undead invented everything in civilization

How can you tell this?
By the scientific fact that all composed energy decomposes…

The undead decompose gradually from 3 dimensional energy, to 2 dimensional energy, to 1 dimensional energy

The undead have systematically invented 2-dimensional and 1-dimensional abominations into civilization… and each time the new invention was hailed as the newest best thing since sliced bread or the invention of the wheel…

when actually every single invention of the undead was and still is an insane evil, diabolical invention designed to dehumanize humans and has predominately been used for evil purposes.

Every time these diabolical inventions began to be used for good purposes, the undead sabotaged that good usage and invented something even more evil to replace the earlier invention that was beginning to be used for good.

The very idea of selling and buying anything is Hedonistic… Humans are designed to be self-sufficient and creative and innovative… Most of what is made to be sold and bought is designed to expand, increase and maintain the huge mechanical artificial monster called civilization and cater to the Hedonistic pleasures and ease of its brainwashed Hedonistic consumers… So 8 billion brainwashed consumers can continue to consume the world's resources and keep on destroying and polluting and killing all Life on Earth. While at the same time the ruling elite can profit from all this capitalist selling and buying so they can become richer and more powerful and able to oppress and brainwash and terrorize the masses even more.

What is the point in all this? Nobody asks this question except me: Indrek Pringi. Why? Because I have developed an understanding of history that exceeds anything before me, and I have amassed a body of knowledge and personal experience that exceeds anyone before me. And I have put it all together so it makes logical sense.

What is the point in unlimited growth? What is the point in the unlimited growth of civilization? A few rare documentaries have been made asking that question, but they are ignored, there are not enough intelligent, far-seeing people in the world to make these films popular. There are not enough people that care about the future of the earth to make them popular. The huge majority only care about their everyday lives and concerns.
Looking forward; all the documentaries point to the same outcome; inevitable catastrophic destruction of eco systems and weather systems and ocean systems and pollution worldwide with no end in sight; and no solution is given, no answers found…

What these documentaries fail to understand is that all this is deliberate. It is a deliberate plan to destroy all life on earth and it is working…

And only when you realize and understand where this deliberate plan originates from will everything including millions of other unexplained events and mysteries be explained also.

By brainwashing the entire living human species unto the unspoken religion of Hedonism and that the only point in life is pleasure and ease and there is no real meaning in Life, that Life has no true meaning; the undead have short circuited the brains of living people and prevented them from asking any real serious questions of what is the purpose of Life. Because of this: people only live for the present. They don't look any farther into the future except their own immediate future. They don't try to connect the past to the future. They couldn't care less about the past or the future and because of this and their complete ignorance of real history… not the whitewashed crap they are inundated with; they have no idea and no understanding of where they came from and where they are headed…

Literally every advance of civilization, every invention hailed as a boon for Humanity is the total and complete opposite of the truth. Every single one was invented by the undead and used for evil purposes… when these new invention began to be used for good purposes they were curtailed and discontinued and an even more evil abomination replaced it.

Take the invention of railroads… they were originally intended to be used for transporting military troops, then they were used as cattle cars to increase the mass slaughter of animals… then they were used as cattle cars to transport peasants kicked off their land into overcrowded city slums where they were used as fodder, as wage slaves paid starvation wages by industrialists to work in their factories so they could expand their industrialization of Britain and

Europe and America and Russia and turn civilization into a mechanical nightmare… But when train travel became too cheap and effective, and when the masses began using it to travel cheaply and travel out of the packed cities into the country side and enjoy the beauties of Nature; then all that stopped and cars and truck replaced trains as transportation for the masses.

You can see it today… where huge long trains carrying all kinds of cargo cross the country every day at a cost that is cheaper than any automotive alternative… But passenger traffic has become so expensive and inconvenient because most of the train stations for passenger travel have been shut down and closed. Before every small town had a train station; now only huge cities have train stations. Now instead there are millions of miles of highways that have destroyed millions of acres of Earth and everything living on it.

You need to understand this: anytime anything becomes too good; the undead deliberately ruin it and make it worse. You can see this in everything from shoes to cars to computer programs to computers..

How Can You Tell The Undead Exist?

By examining the pandemic of 2020. The idea that nearly all of the world's governments, and nearly all of the world's mass media, and nearly all of the world's doctors and nearly all of world's hospitals and all of the world's pharmaceutical; companies, and nearly all of the world's elites and royalty, and nearly all the world's mass media suddenly, instantly! Colluded and conspired together to sell this hoax to the world's masses in a perfect, synchronized global operation is physically impossible to happen without the undead having their hand in it… Yes there were plans by the U.S military and by the W.H.O. and other plans to fake a pandemic, but they were all separate plans and separate conspiracies…

You could tell something strange was going on when at the very beginning; the whole world began copying the Marxist Chinese totalitarian practice of locking down all of its citizens into their homes. For decades, the Chinese

CCP was regarded as being the most oppressive, incompetent, corrupt, evil Marxist govt in the world… suddenly! Instantly! That all disappeared and the whole world began copying them!? Why? Why did the whole world turn on a dime and suddenly copy the Chinese police state practice of terrorizing and incarcerating their own citizens?

Why did China suddenly become a model for western democratic nations to copy? Not just in one country but everywhere all over the world! They never copied China before and they haven't copied them since. Just this one time they copied the Chinese CCP police state govt.

Why did the entire world's media, medical industry, hospitals, doctors, govts become instantly corruptible and corrupted?? It happened too fast for any one centralized plan or conspiracy to orchestrate. And after 4 years of research, we find that it came from people all over the world who had no contact with each other; yet they all worked in perfect, synchronized collusion on a global scale to carry out the biggest hoax in human history and the greatest genocide of over 17 million people worldwide.

Dr. Naomi Wolf herself said that after researching and analyzing the history of the plandemic, that there was some Satanic force at work that she could not explain; and she is one of the most knowledgeable truth tellers about the Covid hoax and the MRN jabs and their effects and the ensuing cover-ups of all the guilty parties.

Why is modern consumer civilization evil? Because it has done away with all honesty, truth, and love. Everything is based on what you personally "like" or "dislike"; regardless of whether it is good or bad, right or wrong, true or untrue. The word: "love" is now used for consumer products and tools and machines. There is no love anymore in civilization. Whenever it shows itself it is stamped out as quickly as possible. The word "love" has been commercialized so much it is meaningless. What people call "love" in personal relationships is really Hedonism. Witness the divorce rates and young people no longer marrying and infidelity. Now a new trend is appearing called "open" marriages where couples can have sex with whoever they want, and that is not supposed to damage the marriage… What is this but pure, unadulterated degenerate Hedonism?

How old is the sin of Hedonism? It is as old as the oldest tale in the bible; When the serpent of evil tempted Eve with an apple from the Tree of Knowledge and they were cast out of the Garden of Eden and became ashamed of their nakedness and sought to cover themselves…

All you need to do is ask yourself: What kind of knowledge would make them ashamed of their nakedness and the answer is plain as day: Carnal Knowledge.

Why did this happen? Because the undead lodged themselves in the lowest organs of their bodies and poisoned them with sexual lust that they never would have had if it were not for the evil undead. That is the true story of Original Sin.

It was also the knowledge needed to make and use tools to kill other animals with. Humans were not designed to be predators. We are not designed to kill other animals.

The tree of knowledge had the snake of evil in it… That snake was the undead who only tempted the first humans with knowledge that is evil… not knowledge that is Good.

So you see… the meanings of the first humans holds more than one truth because it has been distilled into analogies and the old meanings have been lost in time

Understand this:

All ancient myths are allegories… they are allegorical… from thousands of years of being passed along by word of mouth; they lose their factual basis… but they keep the deeper meanings of the story. In the garden of eden there were no apples… apples had not yet been created by nature yet… but there were fruits that were sweet. Once humans came down from trees and began to walk the living earth: they were not designed to go back and climb up trees and eat sweet fruits like monkeys. That was the original sin of hedonism… they were also not designed to have sex purely for the sake of pleasure… that was the second original sin of hedonism. They were also not designed to discover the knowledge of how to make tools. They were also not designed to use tools to kill with. They were not designed to kill. They were not designed to be carnivores; thou shalt not kill is the first commandment of the bible…

So you see compressing the story of the first humans into an allegorical myth; the deeper meanings embedded in the story have been lost over time… At first the only knowledge the first humans had was regressive; how to act like Hedonistic monkeys eating sweet fruit from trees; then to act like the Bobo species of monkeys still do; having sex purely for pleasure, and then later; the knowledge of how to make tools and use them to kill with. The term 'Knowledge' expanded to mean more them one kind of knowledge; it became Hedonistic carnal knowledge and then it became tool knowledge of how to make tools and use them to kill animals and eat dead meat, and then it was compressed into just the word; knowledge.

Once they began having sex just for the sake of pleasure they became ashamed of their genitals and covered themselves. Once they learned how to kill and began killing and eating meat instead of fruit, all the animals saw them as mortal enemies instead of harmless apes and drove them out of the Garden of Eden. It happened in that order.

So you see… by decompressing the allegories of the myth of Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden and finding the hidden meanings and putting them into the correct causal sequence; it all makes perfect logical sense. And all of this evil was due to the undead represented by the reptilian snake who introduced all these original sins to Man.

Now we see the knowledge used to make tools as the greatest boon of all Mankind's history. We practice the sin of sex purely for pleasure as a normality that is not questioned. We regard the knowledge used to make nuclear bombs that can destroy the entire Earth as proof of our intelligence and technology. The undead always seek to lower the level of Life Energy and Awareness and Intelligence of humans so they descend down to the level of lower animals. They have been doing that ever since they managed to get walking upright humans to go back into the trees and begin eating sweet fruits. They have been doing this successfully for millions of years without being caught. Now I have exposed them. Why do you think internet porn is free? Why is internet porn the biggest cash industry in the world and has been for 30 years and still growing? Which ethnic race invented it and controls it and owns it and profits from it? How much has pornography sapped the energy of its victims and ruined their lives and health? How much has human sex trafficking poisoned the entire world with international criminal networks that are all linked to the ruling elites?

Unless the entire World of Man recognizes pornography as a cultural cancer that must be outlawed and driven out of existence; this filthy abomination of the undead will cause modern civilization to rot and go completely extinct from its own corruption just like all the older ones did.

As I said before… all myth are allegories that can be logically analyzed and explained as in the myth of Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden… But if we go further back in the allegorical myths of the bible; how can the myth of Lucifer's fall down to the Earth and him becoming Satan??... And angels falling from grace and becoming evil demons?... The answer is simple… the first undead ghouls that came down to the living earth became evil when they violated the laws of the upper realm of the undead of not interfering in the realm of the Living and hiding themselves inside the living bodies of humans and committing evil sins in order to keep from decomposing and rotting.
Why does the bible have angels with wings?... Because long before humans appeared on earth: the upper realm of the undead was inhabited by decomposing evil undead birds… and these foul things merged with human undead. How and when this happened is completely unknown… but the logic is obvious… the undead ghoul of a human hiding inside the body of a living bird or the undead ghoul of a bird hiding inside the living body of a human… the result is an abomination of two different species mixing together unnaturally, creating horrible monsters

Those undead who are more bird ghouls than human ghouls want to rule over the living earth from the upper realms of the air and atmosphere, while those ghouls who are more human undead than bird undead want to rule the earth on the land, by hiding inside living human bodies…

These two power groups; these two insane mafia-type organizations in their battles for supremacy led to the myths of the battles between good and evil…

You can see the ancient Assyrian carvings of bulls with wings… You can see the ancient Chinese depictions of dragons with wings or snakes with wings, the Egyptian paintings of men with the heads of birds. The realms of the undead are an insane mixture of different undead species that merged with other living species… Humans mixing with birds is only one aspect of the insane rotting horror of those realms… And then there are the evil gargoyles on cathedrals with wings, and then there are the totem poles of west coast American tribes with the winged raven at the top of their totems, etc, etc, etc.

I am the first and only human to correctly deduce that both of these undead realms of power and influence are evil and explain where they came from and why they fight each other for dominance over living humans.

Why should anyone listen to me and to what I say and write?

Because of this logical, rational fact…

Anyone who has a memory-knowledge-understanding of the entire Universe and Life on earth is wiser than you are

Plus: I Have been in direct contact with the undead for over 20 years and I have in that time learned how cunning and evil they are and how they have poisoned my entire life and the lives of others and how they control humans as their living puppets. And in that time, though I was fooled and deceived many times; I eventually found out their lies and deceptions and tricks in their attempts to corrupt me; and they failed.

By making mistakes; I learned from my mistakes there is no point in going through the long litany of how I was deceived and fooled and how I learned from them and how the undead used my best positive intentions and tried to twist and poison them over decades and an entire lifetime of them poisoning my entire life… the point is I won in the end because I did not stop seeking the truth and finding it regardless of how unpleasant or horrible or evil that truth was.

What I mean by this is I have not looked up any ancient texts or history books or any written or video or film sources to write this book… I have written this book purely from memory, from everything that I have researched and learned in my life and remembered and kept in my memory because I have trained myself to only remember the most relevant information and discard anything not important. Thus; my memory of 77 years only holds what is needed and is logical and rational and important.

One huge problem with Hedonistic people is they cannot stand to accept or admit any Truth they don't like. They only accept what is convenient for them and what they like and what they have been brainwashed and programmed into believing and liking. That is why I put the warning on the title of my first book. It is only when you can overcome your own prejudices and former convictions and beliefs, and be able to accept and understand logical Truths that you can finally become intelligent enough to learn the actual Truth and systematically de-brainwash yourself of all the lies and hoaxes you were fed regardless if you like it or not.

What is a Sign of Intelligence? Pattern Recognition.

How the Undead Work

423

By looking at the history of humans and even before humans: if you know what patterns to look for that signify the existence of the undead, you can find them popping up over and over again everywhere all the time… If you know about the existence of the undead you can see their hands and their fingerprints all over human history everywhere; continually pushing for the worst, most evil outcomes possible.

Beginning with the first tool that the undead made the first humans use.

Fire was the first tool.

It is a universal destroyer of all Life on Earth. It kills and destroys everything it touches… The undead got humans to use it… The problem was, Life always sprang back after burnt to the ground… It always came back even more vibrant. Than before. There are tropical jungles that are too wet to burn. That wasn't enough. So the undead began inventing other abominations designed to kill all Life on Earth… The undead began improving the tools used by humans to kill animals and each other with… That wasn't enough. So the undead got humans to destroy and crush the seeds of grains and eat them…symbolizing their hatred towards all the seeds of all organic Life on Earth but that wasn't enough… Then the undead got humans to turn animals into slaves and domesticated them and slaughtered them for their meat but that wasn't enough… then the undead got humans to overpopulate the most fertile regions in the world and turn them into deserts but that wasn't enough… Then the undead got humans to overpopulate the world and cover the living Earth with asphalt and concrete and huge cities but that wasn't enough… Then the undead got humans to manufacture chemicals that poison the entire world but that wasn't enough… Then the undead got humans to invent nuclear bombs that can destroy the entire world but humans reared back from this nuclear annihilation… So now the undead are trying to get humans to destroy the entire planet by inching slowly towards a nuclear war so slowly that humans won't notice how close they are to the complete extinction of Life on Earth, and that one tiny mistake, one tiny decision could spark off a nuclear catastrophe that destroys all Life on Earth…

That is where we are right now
That is the history of the human species in a nutshell
That is why this book is so important.
That is why every living person should read this book.

How can you tell the Undead protect their evil puppets?

All you need to do is look at Netanyahu: Carrying out his genocide of Gazans in broad daylight with the entire world doing absolutely nothing to stop him. While at the same time he is facing criminal charges in his own country that could put him behind bars, while he has to go to court for 6 hours a day to face charges of bribery and corruption while at the same time running a war on three fronts, while his personal residence is hit by drones and thousands of Israeli's are demonstrating in the streets demanding his resignation and he has been officially been declared a criminal and an arrest warrant been issued by the International Criminal Court… yet he is living a charmed life; escaping all consequences and punishment of all his evil acts… Just like Stalin did and Pol Pot did and Mao Tse Tsung did, and all the other genocidal mass murderers of history.

You Need To Understand This:

Evil comes in all shapes and sizes… it can remain hidden for centuries and only venture out when it thinks it is safe… it can be in your face as plain as day… it can hide behind masks, it can change masks, it can change its colors… it can flit from one living vessel to the another… the idea that you can blithely live your life without bothering about it or being aware that it is all around you as all hedonistic people do is exactly what the undead want and have been working for these thousands and millions of years…

425

Their ghoul is to make you as unaware of them as possible so they can be free to operate without hindrance.

When you see evil you must kill it as fast as you can before it can escape and go into hiding… you cannot let it fester and spread like it always does given any chance. You must hunt it down and kill it dead without mercy.

The Norse myth of Loki is not a myth. He hid himself inside a fish… far away in the wilderness… that is how cunning the undead are. The undead have been practicing hiding from living humans for at least hundreds of thousands of years… but… all that is needed is to systematically cut off their escape routes, find out their hiding holes until they have nowhere left to go but back into the hell of the realms of the undead. Many times they have no avenue back into those realms and they are stuck in the realm of the living… that is when you can hunt them down and kill them dead.

The only answer to evil is constant vigilance and awareness. The idea that you the living can live a life free of evil without constantly being on guard for it and attacking it every chance you get… the idea that you can live in the lap of luxury and ease without making the killing of all evil your number one priority; is how your hedonistic civilization wants you to live…

The battle between life and death has been going on for billions of years.
Life came back every time it almost went extinct… this time it may not do so…

It is up to each living human to recognize the gravity of the situation we the living are in now and take responsibility for doing everything they can to kill evil. Not just fight it… kill it dead… not as one exception; like that person who shot an insurance executive dead… but as a mass movement of vengeance and justice and revenge against all people who are known to be evil.

How Old are the Undead?

They are as old as Life, when the first living organisms died and their living auras took longer to decompose than their physical bodies. They existed billions of years before humans appeared in Africa. They are the reason humans began touching dead stones and crafting dead tools instead of touching living things like we are designed to…

If you go back to page 211 in The Path of Splitness, you will see how their poisonous influence created the evil bio-feedback design of the pentagon that was first created by humans making the first tools to kill with. Ever since then, the undead have poisoned the natural mathematically balanced systems of bio-feedback based on 4 and 2 and 12 into imbalanced, unnatural, feedback systems of the 3-point triangular pyramid of accumulation and the 5-sided pentagon system of bio-feedback…

Have you ever seen pictures of an occult pentagram with candles burning at all 5 points with black lines drawn connecting all 5 points to each other?... This is where originally that occult evil symbol comes from. The burning fire of the candles is a universal symbol of death and destruction replacing the 5 living energy points of a human making the first tools… The black lines are the black negative energy lines created when a living positively charged human turns his living hands and arms and mind to working with dead stones and bones. The occult pentagram with candles and black lines is supposed to conjure up evil spirits and demons by those who practice satanic and demonic rituals. Candles have been used in religious ceremonies and in religion to signify many things for thousands of years… but their true meaning and purposes is evil. It is only when you analyze things from a perspective of millions of years that the horrible ugly truth of our true past can be revealed. Why should candles be used for both religious and occult rituals? One is supposed to be good and the other is supposed to be evil… the truth is both are evil.

Here is a correct ancient occult pentagram; it's linear lines are made with STONES:
This was also the origin of the invention of the first abstract, straight linear lines

What is love in modern civilization??

Two people surrounded by millions of dehumanized emotionally dead drones. Keeping their love all to themselves… do you think it will last?? Do you think it improves the society you live in?

A couple in love surrounded by hundreds, thousands, millions of people who do not know what love is and are incapable of love and have never experienced love… that is not love; that is living inside an insane asylum…. Love is sharing. When you can only share love with one person, or a few people while the world around you is filled with unloving people, filled with millions of strangers keeping their feelings-thoughts to themselves; that is not love. It is a selfish hedonism that doesn't give a fuck about anyone else but their own special clique.

But that is what overpopulation does. It makes love impossible to exist except as a selfish, exclusive exception that happens only to a lucky few. Modern mechanized civilization has turned people into dehumanized robotic insects… all avoiding each other; pretending everyone around them does not exist. Each insect bent only on their private personal interests and goals which they keep secret from everyone around them.

Unless love can spread and grow naturally as it is designed to: it shrinks and fades and disappears; drowned out by all the thousands and millions of unloving people it is forced to live with.

Why is there so much flat screen technology and flat screens in modern civilization?

Because most of them are 2-dimensional rotting filth that have lost their 3-dimensional aspect and can only violate the realm of the living in 2-dimensional forms.

Apart from the undead who manage to violate living babies, children and adults; getting into their bodies and sucking off their 3-dimensional Living Energy… all the rest of the undead slowly deteriorate and decompose; losing their 3rd dimension becoming 2-dimensional things… Flat screen technology invented by the undead is a way to not only keep them from decomposing further, but to suck off the Energy embedded in these flat screen devices have and so become more powerful. At first it was walls and the flat walls of buildings the undead hid behind and in… then it was carpets and curtains and clothing and paper and books and paintings and frescoes on walls and glass window panes and mirrors… then is was silver screens that lit up movie screens… then it was glass television tubes with light being shot through them… Now the presence of the insane rotting 2-dimensional undead are everywhere; sucking off I-pads and I-phone screens and smart phones and computer screens and television flat screens.

Why are federal govts forbidding people to shoot down drones?

Because the undead have accumulated so much Energy, they are able to manifest themselves as "UFO's" that look like drones and they don't want to be killed. This poses the question of are there actual UFO's? The answer is if there are and they are shown they are not welcome; this should send a clear message to them to not bother us, whereas if they are tolerated, they will become emboldened and increase their pestiferous presence. The point is IF such a thing as alien unidentified craft do exist, and IF sighting of them are valid; that means they have been around for hundreds or even thousands of years. If this is true; then they are just harmless tourists that flit around in the sky and then leave. Historically they have shown no desire fir any direct contact with us or show themselves to us. That means they are just harmless tourists and the only difference between human tourists and aliens ones is they don't sign into hotels and they don't eat at restaurants. Otherwise they are just as much of a nuisance as human tourists are… The telling clue is they only fly at night because they cannot stand the direct rays of sunlight. Flying objects that do fly in the daytime may well indeed be actual Aliens. Mixing up actual UFO's with undead entities at night that look like UFO's is what is puzzling the authorities. The undead are using this to spread fear, paranoia and evil throughout the world and to harness this fear and paranoia for evil purposes and intentions.

Understand This

The Entire Universe Is Coming Together

It has been trying to come back together ever since it was exploded apart by Greater Impetus… And the more it comes together, the more intelligent and aware it becomes… At first the Universe began coming together by infinite permutations called vicious cycles; never repeating themselves exactly until one clicked… You can see this in the Universe creating smaller mini-stars called planets that cooled and created different kinds of planets until one: our Earth, created conditions on its surface for many elements that previously had never come together and form molecules… Then the buffer of liquid water which can only exist in a narrow temperature zone that exists nowhere else in the Universe except on the surface of our Earth, enabled these molecules to come together in such a way as to create DNA molecules which are the building blocks of all Life on Earth…

The most advanced creation of the Universe is the human brain… It is a literal recreation of what the Universe was like when the 2-dimensional Universe exploded apart into two 3-dimensional Universes… You can see this in the two halves of our brains…

But

Unlike the state of the Universe when ot was just a mass of exploded disconnected 2-dimensional Energy and Space… our brains have neurons that connect all of the brain together into a living intelligence; a replica of the original exploded Universe that is capable of understanding the entire infinite Universe and being aware of it as a single organic living entity.

When you go to sleep and it is dark and you close your eyes… what do you see? Logically you should see nothing but blackness but you do not… You see a haze… like a grey mist in the dark… What you are seeing is what the Hubble telescope sees: the beginning of the Universe, With nebulous dust clouds slowly coming together in the darkness of Outer Space… Why do all humans see this before they fall asleep? Because the human brain is a reconstruction of the beginnings of the Universe. Our brain is a reconstruction of the Big Bang. Only it is on an organic level that is infinitely more connected and intelligent than the Universe was when it first came into being.

Because of this huge leap forward; the human brain is capable of a new kind of intelligence called creativity… It can envision something and then create it; make it real. It can turn imagination into reality. The Infinite Universe cannot do that. The human brain is capable of have sudden flashes of insight that can make giant steps of understanding in an instant… No other animal on Earth has this ability because their brains are not as developed as ours is… Also, the human animal is the most 3-dimensional animal created by Nature… It can move in more 3-dimensional ways than any other animal. You can see humans expressing this in the many forms of dance that humans do…

The undead have been dumbing down humans and destroying their natural. intrinsic intelligence for millions of years… they failed to do that with me… That is why I have been able to write these two books. That is why I have been able to explain how the Universe came into being; logically and rationally.

What is called logic and rationality in civilization is mostly false logic and false rationality because it is based on Two Dimensions; not three dimensions. As I explained in the first and second chapters of my first book: The Path of Splitness; no 2-dimensional logic like mathematics can fully explain the 3-dimensional Universe. Humans have been robbed of their natural 3-dimensiona logic by the evil invention of the undead civilization. The tiny bit that remains is called "wisdom"… It is not wisdom; it is experience and intelligence; it is just not based on the poisonous abstract shit that the undead have invented to keep living humans from becoming intelligent enough to discover their evil presence and hunt them down and kill them… Even that which people call wisdom is mostly false… mine is not.

What you do not realize is that we are all capable of infinite wisdom… living humans are capable of understanding the entire infinite universe because our brains are a living recreation of the entire infinite Universe….

I; Indrek Pringi am living proof of that.
You are too

How the Undead Work

432

If!... You read these two books and learn from them

But only if you get rid of all the lies and misinformation and propaganda that you gave been fed all your life by civilization… only then can you deprogram yourself and look at civilization for what it is… an insane horror that is completely evil.

How can you tell Civilization is Hedonistic?

Just look at Christmas… A holy day that was celebrated for thousands of years by fasting and spiritual contemplation of the new birth of a baby that signified the universal message of Love that he brought to the entire world…

It has been changed into an obscene celebration of gluttony and greed so foul and despicable that even today there are films and books like Dickens's ghost story: "A Christmas Carol" (Even though it is not a story about Christmas, but a tale of ghosts and how the culture of greed poisons all men's souls) tries to remind people of the true meaning of Christmas. Christmas today is all about selfishness and gluttony; ever since it was commercialized into the buying spree that capitalism turned it into. It is all about materialism; not spirituality and love. The giving of material things to each other has completely replaced the spiritual giving of love to each other. The undead have successfully poisoned Christianity throughout the ages as much as they can and if you study the history of Jesus and how his words have been twisted and poisoned; you can see the undead constantly at work; poisoning it more and more and more.

Because we are the most intelligent species on Earth: we think we can do whatever we want; but if you compare how we behave to other species we are bat shit crazy… The reason for this is that humans feel NO sense of responsibility for what they do and the consequences of what they do. That is because humans live inside the artificial bubble of civilization. We do not live in Nature and we do not respect Nature. We are not aware of Nature because most of us are insulated from Nature. For most humans. Nature is something to exploit for our own advantage and convenience… The IDEA of sacrificing any form of our ease or pleasure in favor of all the other living species in the world is unthinkable… The idea that maybe we should not make and use plastic bags is unthinkable simply because it is more convenient… But who invented these poisonous products? Who profits from their manufacture? Who decided to replace all paper bags with plastic ones?... If you study the hidden history of the discovery of oil and how it was exploited and how it was developed first to be used in war and then later in most pharmaceutical products and vitamins and toys and millions of other products… that hidden history is just as convoluted and cunning and evil as the real history of civilization and the rotting hidden history of the undead. In all of this; the more you dig into and research the true origins of the human species you will find the undead constantly at work inventing one new abomination after another and then claiming it as some kind of boon to Mankind or "progress"; when in actuality it is the complete opposite.

Once You Have Read My Two Books

You will never again worship the dead past. You will never admire the dead past or emulate it or seek to return to it. Instead you will see the past for what it actually is: an endless litany of rotting, corrupt, cunning evil to be despised and spat on. Then the only thing you will feel for the dead past is revulsion and anger and rage and a burning desire to kill all these filthy stinking rotting undead and exterminate them so they never ever dare to enter the realm of the living and violate the sacred living energy of all living creatures.

This can be done by teaching all people what their fate will be once they die so they accept it and know what to do when they arrive in the real, of the undead. And by instigating the quickest way for all undead entities to decompose as fast as possible so they cannot go insane and begin the same old evils that the undead have been practicing for untold millennia and by detecting and hunting down every undead entity that does not stay in its rotting realm and destroying it completely.

This means completely debunking and exposing the great fraud pushed by the undead the total fiction of eternal life after death and the fraud of there existing any such things as deities or gods or demons or angels

So what should anyone do once they reach the realm of the undead??...

The answer is to kill as many of these foul rotting things as you can and keep on killing them until cannot kill them anymore.

Why you should do this has already been explained in my two books… How you can kill then is simple… When you first enter the realm of the undead, you are more powerful than all of them. Why? Because you have not had enough time to start rotting and decomposing like they have. Your Energy is more powerful than all of them. If they try to swarm you and overpower you by numbers you can tear each one apart the second you can lay hands on them and they will be powerless to harm you… If one of them seems to be more powerful than you it is merely an illusion. Once you hit one of them they will disappear and scatter into all the many undead that merged together to give an illusion that they are more powerful then you.

Understand this!! Positive energy is always more powerful than negative energy!! And by killing these negative energy rotting monsters you will be acting positively and you will be funneling all the positive energy in the universe so you will become invincible.

And

The more of them you kill, the more powerful and invincible you will become…

Once living people understand this and begin slaughtering the undead this instant they enter the realm of the undead… their entire power structure and fantasy castles of delusions and false fake illusions will disappear and you will see them for what they actually are and where they are and where they hide and the let the killing of these foul evil things begin.

That is exactly what I plan to do when I die and reach their realm and there is not one fucking thing they can do about it.

Recently I had a dream where there were shallow graves dug in rows… on each side of these graves huddled together those undead whom i will kill when I get there… they were cowering in two corners of my dream. They were miserable, wearing dirty torn clothes, huddled together in fear of their inevitable oncoming doom.

The message of that dream is unmistakable… they were waiting to be killed by me and put into their shallow graves permanently dead… to rot and die as they are designed to and supposed to.

I am telling you once you get there you will be able to do the same… all you need is the knowledge of what they have done and the positive rage needed to kill them.

I have supplied you with that knowledge… you will have to supply the rage yourself.

How can you tell civilization is evil??

Understand this:

All deserts in the world have been created by humans

Humans have been destroying eco systems all over the world for at least tens of thousands of years if not more…

In the last 5.000 years the creation of deserts by sedentary civilizations has sky rocketed… before that nomadic civilizations created deserts by burning down entire grasslands and forests; which was the case in Australia… then with the invention of domesticating animals: nomadic civilizations created deserts by overgrazing… which was the case in the Gobi and Mongolian deserts

Then sedentary civilizations began creating deserts by over farming… which was the case in the fertile crescent (now it is called the middle east and Saudi Arabia) ; which was once the richest farming area in the world… then the north African desert was created by the roman empire over farming Libya and north Africa…

Today over 40% of the world's land mass is covered with deserts and growing alarmingly at such a rate that can turn the entire earth into a lifeless desert in less than 500 years…

Why is this being ignored??

Why have humans ignored their destruction of lands that they lived on for thousands of years?

The reason is the undead

The undead are deliberately using living humans as their puppets to destroy all life on earth

And they are deliberately making their puppets not notice that they are doing it.

How can you tell that the undead are making sure that humans will do nothing about the destruction of all life on earth, even though it is they being used as puppets of the undead are doing it?...

By the internet… due to the internet; civilization has become a giant female gossip machine where billions of people sit on their asses staring at flat screens gossiping about all the evil horrible things that are happening

And doing nothing about it…

That is how the undead are making sure humans will not do anything about all the evil horrible things the undead are orchestrating in order to kill all life on earth.

Never mind about over 40% of the earth being covered by deserts and growing Never mind the escalations in the Mideast and Ukraine leading to a possible nuclear war…

Never mind the genocidal MNRA poison jabs that have already killed over 17 million people worldwide and have made untold millions of couples sterile or infertile and produced millions of stillbirths and seriously damaged infants.

Never mind the 5g towers and the self-forming nanobots inside the bodies of people who took the poison jabs and the chemtrails

Never mind the polluting of all the world's oceans with plastic and the poisoning of our food and water and ground water and fields by pesticides and gasoline additives

Never mind all the coal power plants of china; that are systematically killing off Canada's forests over a period of 50 years and counting

Never mind all the other industrial mining waste and oil spills and radioactive disasters like Chernobyl and Fukushima and industrial pollution and the chemical companies inventing even more poisonous chemicals every year and putting them into products sold all over the world like roundup.

Etc, etc, etc, etc… and more and more.

438

Does anyone worry about this?... Does anyone bother about this?... No. Everyone is more worried about their next cup of coffee or the next gossip on the internet, or whatever personal details of their Hedonistic life is

The point is Hedonists do not look at the world as a whole; they are only interested in themselves. If they did, they would realize that civilization is an out-of-control madhouse run by lunatics. The reason I am able to look at and analyze and understand and explain these things to you is that I have deprogrammed myself from the Hedonism that civilization brainwashes every living soul born into this horror show of an abomination,

It is obvious: the ruling elites profit from selling the Hedonistic masses all kinds of shit, addicting them to their ease and pleasure so they can't live without them. The billions of consumers do not profit from this system but are impoverished by it and are increasingly enslaved by it. But they do not rise up and kill their masters. They do not care that they are being used as guinea pigs. The masses cannot get together and organize themselves against the forces of evil because their Hedonist programming and brainwashing prevents them from doing so. So the system continues… the elites get all the power and wealth and the masses get all the shit…

The same basic conclusion was reached over 2.000 years ago by John the Baptist…

But he didn't know why…

He knew that civilization was sinful… all of it. His answer to it was to go live in a cave in the desert. That was not the right answer… The result was he had his head cut off… Jesus' answer was also wrong when he said: "'Give unto Caesar what belongs to Caesar, and to God what belongs to God". The result was he was crucified… Neither of them realized that the god they worshiped was part and parcel of all the past legacy of deities simplified and boiled down for the masses to swallow more easily and that god and the devil or Satan were just hoaxes inflicted on the gullible to control them more easily…

The idea of sin spread through Christian sects and then later the catholic church, and then by the Protestant church; but it was flawed. The idea of original sin and that all men are sinners was flawed… because they didn't know why they were sinful… they had no explanation for it except you had to be born with it,,, that somehow it was an intrinsic part of Human Nature… they were all wrong… It is the undead that make humans sinful. Only when you become aware of their existence and their cunning tricks and hoaxes can you fight them consciously. Even that watered down concept of evil was not to the liking of the undead; so they spent the next 2,000 years getting rid of it completely and they have almost succeeded until now that I have written these two books and exposed them…

Now I have exposed the hoaxes and frauds of the undead… know that inside each one of you lies a malevolent, cunning unseen silent entity that has access to all your memories and experiences… and it is connected to other invisible entities… It can wait and plot and conspire for years until it unleashes its diabolical plans to corrupt you and harm you and weaken you and poison all your good intentions and resolve and twist your understanding of things… I was lucky in many ways because I raised myself… and learned more than I ever could in any school or from any parent.

I will give you one example of how evil and cunning the undead are and how they are everywhere inside almost everyone…

When I left Montreal and went to Los Angeles, I cut off ties with everyone I knew… Mainly because I didn't like them and they were all hostile to me. That was after 27 years of living in Quebec and becoming alienated from everyone I knew because I was searching for answers and all of the people I knew I was increasingly disgusted with…

How the Undead Work

In Los Angeles I met new people and made new friends… I thought I had made a brand new start in my life but that was just as illusion…

After living in Los Angeles for 30 years, and after 20 years back in Canada, I can now look back in retrospect at my 30 years in Los Angeles and realize how cunningly the undead; managed to replace all the evil people I had disowned in Canada, with just another set of evil people in Los Angeles.

How did they do it?

I had worked in construction with carpenters so they found an evil carpenter as one of my roommates. I knew classical music and composed classical music so they had an evil jewish violinist drive all the way from New York just to be one of my roommates. I played guitar so they found two evil men who also played the guitar. I had worked during High school delivering newspapers so the first job I found was delivering newspapers in L.A. surrounded by Mexicans whose language I did not speak because the last job I had before I left was in construction surrounded by evil French Canadians whose language I barely spoke. I made friends with evil people who played volleyball because I had played volleyball in Quebec. I made friends with an evil person who sold drugs on the side because I had been friends with someone who had sold drugs on the side in Montreal. I made acquaintances with evil people who played chess because I had played chess in High school. I made friends with evil homeless people because I had given two homeless people a ride for hundreds of miles traveling into California and there were homeless people in the cafeteria of the Montreal YMCA where I had worked for 2 years. I made friends with evil jews because I had known many jews in my childhood and during High school and after High school… I had a red headed room mate and a red headed homeless person I befriended because I had once lived for a summer with a French Canadian family when I was 13 who had a red headed child and I later worked with a red headed carpenter in Montreal on the Olympic construction site. I had a room mate who was a French Canadian nurse because I once met a French Canadian nurse in a bar in Montreal whom I had been momentarily been attracted to. I fell in love with a Norwegian room mate because the undead had put her there because Norwegians were racists who hated Estonians. I had a roommate who was working for a gun shop because in Montreal I had participated in rifle competitions as a boy scout in Montreal… I had a room mate who was a musician and composed music because I was a musician and composed music…

It took me 30 years living in Los Angeles to find out that all of them were evil and disassociate myself from all of them… Every single one of them were sick, selfish, evil foul scum… The undead used every possible faint connection of similarity to the scum I had once known in Canada and found the worst, most evil, sick selfish people they could find in Los Angeles to replace the people I had known and to repeat the same experiences of disappointment and disillusionment and revulsion and estrangement and alienation and social isolation I had gone through in Canada.

What the undead did to me was surround me with just another horde of evil people after I left Canada so I wasted the first half my life finding out how evil the people I knew in Canada were, and the other half of my life finding out how evil all the people I knew in Los Angeles were…

Why did they do this?

Because I had already advanced too fast and too far in my knowledge of how evil the civilized world is… because they tried to keep me from learning anything new. Because I was already too intelligent and too smart and they tried to dumb me down as much as possible…

But they failed.

They failed because I did not give up in trying to find out what was wrong with me… They failed because in the long search for the truth about myself they became too overconfident about their ability to lead me around in rings and dupe me and fool me… until one of them revealed itself to me.

At first I just accepted that civilization was full of wicked, evil malevolent people. I believed in the search for happiness and love. When things went badly I had no idea why… It took me over 50 years of Life and learning all the things I believed in were not true… I knew something was wrong… I believed it was me that was wrong… But as the years past, I found out more and more it wasn't me… it was others, it was society, it was what I had been taught that was wrong…

And then in my search to heal myself of what I believed to be wrong with me, after trying different therapies and healers, I stumbled onto a spiritualist that encouraged me to contact the spirit world…

And then… I heard someone speaking to me in my mind. Not out loud… I thought I had come in contact with someone from the spirit world. I wasn't impressed; I was curious, so I started asking it questions… and more questions… and more questions… and I found out it couldn't answer my questions… I found out its answers were wrong… It became scared… It tried to placate me but I would not be satisfied until it told me the truth. I became angry with it. It avoided and evaded all my demands to be told what it is and why it is and more. I found out it was a weak liar…

That was my introduction into contacting the undead… After stripping away all its lies it finally showed itself to be what it is… a malevolent evil entity that had slipped into my body when I was only 5 years old when my father had died and I was traumatized by it…

It had been inside me all the time… acting only when any positive thing threatened to succeed in my life… ruining my life as much as it could… But all of its evil was only a reaction to my steady growth of learning and succeeding against all odds. It would take me a thousand pages to even give a general shortened account of what I went through in stripping this thing's façade apart and its reactions to my exposing what it really is…

The point is evil is everywhere in the world… You cannot escape the evil of the undead by running away. Ot is inside you and outside you all the time… You have to recognize what is evil and who is evil and fight it when it confronts you and avoid it by recognizing who is truly a good person and who is not…

But after the learning lesson of being surrounded by evil people all my life and after learning about the existence of the undead and how evil and cunning they are: they couldn't fool me anymore… Now I can recognize evil… The result is evil people avoid me… Because the undead hiding inside them are terrified of me because I know about them. I can recognize evil people when I see them now.

The result is whenever I find a person who is not evil but good they disappear… One man they made him go to Australia. Another, a girl, disappeared from her job. The undead do not want to let me be in contact with good people. That is what they do to many good people: They isolate them socially and surround them with evil people so they have no chance of finding anyone who is not evil.

That is how important it is to surround yourself with good people and avoid all contact with evil people because if you don't. If you don't choose your friends carefully the undead will choose them for you. Most people are evil… It is better to be alone than to be surrounded with evil people who are not your true friends. When you become aware of evil you must be on guard constantly because the undead are constantly conspiring and colluding to do something evil and nasty to you.

You see… those of you who believe there is a "guardian angel" who looks after every person are completely wrong… They are undead watchers constantly surrounding you who interfere in your lives to make sure you do not make friends with anyone who is not evil and do not fall in love with anyone who is not evil. Once they isolate you, you will be more easily controlled once you arrive in the Realm of the undead. Their supposed kindness and wisdom and love in the afterlife is a mirage… that they carefully build up over a lifetime of preparation so when you finally arrive in the realm of the undead they have a complete scenario to impress you with so you will believe it unquestioningly but don't be fooled... You can expose them easily by asking them questions…

The undead do not like being asked questions about themselves.

If you study all the countless accounts of those who experienced after-death experiences, you will realize that there is not one single account where the person involved asked anything about the entities they encountered. They never asked:

"Who are you?"
"What are you?"
"Where do you come from?"
"Why should I listen to you?"
"How do I know that you're not lying to me?"
"Why should I trust anything you tell me?"

Why has nobody ever asked this of them? You would think logically that someone must have asked them these questions; but no: nobody ever has: Why? Because the reactions and thoughts of the people they contact are already being controlled by them … Those who have minds of their own and cannot be controlled are never contacted.

You see; the undead depend on complete belief in their "all-knowing" 'wisdom' and 'love'. The second you doubt them they disappear and are never usually heard from again. In all the countless near-death experiences there has not been one single person who experienced these things that doubted what they experienced and not one of them ever doubted what was said to them. That is because the undead hiding inside them were controlling all their reactions and thoughts and feelings.

If you ever have the misfortune to come into contact with any undead entities; regardless of the way or the format in which you communicate with them… which I strongly recommend you do not do: Do not believe anything they say to you… but if you do come into contact with any of them, simply ask them the questions I listed above… and you will quickly see them disappear and not come back…

If they do come back: keep on asking them these questions… If you do; sooner or later you will find out that they are lying to you. Sooner or later their masks will slip and you will find out how nasty and cunning and evil they actually are… Once you find this out; refuse to speak to them… ignore them; block out any and all voices or thoughts you receive from them… They are an ever-present negative evil influence on your life. This is why I strongly recommend you have nothing to do with them… do not seek them out. I am giving you the benefit of my 20 years experience with the undead so you do not have to go through what I did… Granted; I learned much about them over 20 years… but since I am telling you everything that I learned about them in these two books, there is no reason for you to do what I did; Which was years and years of being cunningly lied to and fooled and duped and being told my dead aunt or mother or sister or someone I once knew wants to say something to me… all of this bullshit of being contacted by someone you once knew is a fraud. The only knowledge of people you once knew these undead filth have is dredged up from your own memories of them. Until I finally understood exactly what these foul, filthy, cunning parasitical things really are and what their tricks are and their tactics and the ways they operate.

Why do people watch movies?
Why do people watch tv?
Why do people go on the internet?
Why do people go on social media?

Because civilization is *boring. People watch movies to see people whose lives are not boring mainly because their own lives are boring: period. Because the only way to escape from their dull, meaningless existence is to become addicted to distractions or engross themselves in meaningless trivial hobbies. The entire civilized culture of Hedonism evolved from sticking too many people together and them having nothing else to do but amuse themselves and pass the time with whatever is at their disposal; and that means using tools… and that goes back to the millions of years old original evil of the first used by Man… Fire the universal destroyer of all Life. No matter what point in human history you look at; all the fads and fashions of each age boil down to wasting one's time to escape the boredom that civilizations forces humans to exist in. From getting drunk to dancing around fires as African tribes once did.. From whittling wood to chewing on tobacco. From reading books to playing the piano to listening to music. From chatting online to surfing the web to internet porn… the most intelligent animal has been turned into the stupidest, most insane evil animal on earth because of the undead poisoning the lives of humans for at least hundreds of thousands of years and luring them and tempting them with new inventions and abominations that only after a long time do people realize how destructive it is but then it is too late… because by then it has become normalized… then it becomes a sacred custom or tradition. And before humans can regain their sanity newer inventions are foisted on them and more abominations and more and more and more!... Until humans become so brainwashed by it all that anything new is hailed as a progress! As a boon to humanity!...

Now people are warning about the dangers of artificial intelligence… but do the masses listen? Do they reject this new abomination? No. As usual they are being led down the garden path of Hedonism… that sacred religion which is never spoken of but everyone practices and believes in…

That is why this book is so important… It is the only book that accurately explains why civilization is evil and catalogues and details these evils so anyone who can read will understand the ugly truth of that which they had the misfortune to be born into… And by this realization, begins the great turnaround that will destroy civilization as it now exists and create a new civilization based on Responsibility.

When the invention of modern mass music begin?... It began in the castles and mansions of the European aristocracy and their idleness and hedonistic lifestyles… They were so bored, they had to find ways to fritter their days away and one of them was sitting in salons, listening to compositions of music by hired musicians paid to entertain them along with the musicians paid to play the music. None of the lower classes could afford such extravagance. Then these professional musicians found they could make enough money by renting large halls and charging a sum low enough for the middle classes to hear their music… The lower classes emulating the filthy rich upper class wanted to become "cultured" so they started buying pianos and playing and playing music in their homes. Composers found that they could make a very good living by selling copies of their compositions to the bourgeoisie… Wonderful! Another worthless pastime for humans to waste their lives on by copying the idle rich!

Since then: idleness has become a religion and a sacred goal for all the lower classes. To be rich enough so you can live in idleness without needing to work for a living. That is how Hedonism works. By the upper class flaunting their Hedonism at the masses and then the masses seeking to emulate them; thus their own cultures are systematically poisoned by copying the cultures if the upper classes until now there is almost no difference between the degenerate Hedonism of the filthy rich and the Hedonism of the masses. "Culture" is nothing more than the preservation of the dead, decomposing past; and for that single reason it is evil.

Now music has become a global industry. How many trillions and trillions of hours have been wasted on this slop that might otherwise been pit to better use? All music does is temporarily lets you escape from the boring deadness and dullness of civilized existence… It is just as much a crutch as cocaine is. That is the evil of hedonistic civilization… instead of changing civilization itself so it is no longer boring and dead; humans seek to escape from that deadness because they have been normalized to civilization and do not dream of changing it at any root level or way.

I composed and played my own music for 30 years… my goal was to become "cultured: so I sketched for years also and wrote poems, I also sang and danced. That was when I was young. The entire point in art or "culture" is to create artificial dead beauty.

What I came to understand finally, after many years is that all artificial dead beauty, all abstract 2-dimensional beauty is only a poor derivative of Living 3-dimensional Beauty: The beauty of living creatures and Nature and the Universe. Without LIFE there can be no Beauty. So when you are shocked by my statement that all human culture is poisoned by the undead and is evil, you also need to know that all the greatest artists in the world have taken their inspiration from nature, and sought to copy it… but a dead 2-dimensional image of a tree is no comparison to the Beauty if a 3-dimensional living tree… A dead stone statue of a person is no comparison to a living person.

Everything that is dead is evil.
Everything that is alive is good
It is that simple.

Why are there so many bloodlines and dynasties that are consistently evil generation after generation??

Because the undead hiding themselves in the bodies of one generation; in order to keep from being forced back into the Realm of the undead; they slip into the bodies of their children when they die. In this way the same foul undead manifest themselves in the same bloodline with the same conspiracies to commit evil over centuries.

Most of the time; this is done during funeral services or when families and those close to the deceased gather. Other times the undead slip straight from the mother's womb straight into the fetus; thus poisoning and secretly controlling the entire life of the unsuspecting baby… This is also a large reason why children grow up to become more like their father or mother as they get older… This is because the undead fiend hiding inside the child is already a full-blown adult and can only exert its full character and personality and influence and control when the child reaches adulthood…

Why are there so many illegal bastards in the bloodlines of evil families and why are so many of them covered up and buried and hidden from the public?

For a number of reasons… One is to refresh a bloodline to keep it from inbreeding so they will not descend into madness and imbecility like the infamous series of British kings George 1, George 11, George 111, but keep it going; like when Prince Charles wed Diana who was not of royal blood but was of Rothschild blood… This injected the foul, evil genes of the most evil jewish bloodline in history into the bloodline of the British royals.

Another is to join two bloodlines that are already controlled by the undead in order to accentuate and intensify their combined evil: As in Winston Churchill's mother being part Iroquois… which gave him a brutality that made his generals shrink in horror at many of his insane plans. Two of them; the plan to bomb Sweden and then later, Europe with Anthrax; they joined together in a united front preventing him from carrying them out… Churchill himself was an illegal bastard born out of his mother's lifelong affair with the Prince of Wales… otherwise known as 'Bertie". During his coronation there was a special box inside the church for all his mistresses to witness him becoming king of Great Britain.

So you see how cunningly the undead mix and mingle evil bloodlines and how cunningly they hide the true lineages… Independent researchers have uncovered many of these hidden bloodlines and have traced them to other evil, vile bloodlines that have held power and wealth for centuries. Some of them attribute the evil of Satan and satanic cults to explain their longevity and their evil… These bloodlines are only puppets of the undead. There is no "Satan" just as there is no "god"… they are all just examples of how the undead poison and control living humans. The undead keep their control of bloodlines by each generation that dies hovering over and invading the bodies of their progeny… This is what spiritualists describe in seeing ghouls in the realm of the undead surrounding a person who stands up and asks a question about someone who has passed on.

How do ghouls slip from one generation to the next? In many ways… They poison the children of who they secretly inhabit and ruin their lives and self-esteem; making them vulnerable to be invaded by ghouls any time they wish. Other times they transfer themselves straight from the mother's body into the body of the fetus she is carrying…

Other times the undead ghoul slips out of the dying body before it can be forced along with the ghost of the dying person entering the Realm if the undead and enters into one of the family members; preferably a child: so it can continue to evade being cast into that rotting horror of the Realm of the undead along with the spirit of the person it has melded itself to and is synchronized with.

In fact that is what happened to me… My father suffered a heart attack in his sleep. My mother waking up and finding him dead freaked out and dragged his naked body onto the floor and started doing CPR on him while straddling him. Both were naked. I always woke up earlier than my brother or sister and hearing a commotion in my parent's bedroom I opened the door to see my mother naked on top of my father trying to revive him, desperately telling me to phone the doctor. She had her back towards me and didn't see which child had opened the door… I was only 5 years old and didn't know how to operate a phone, so I just walked away in total shock. The undead ghoul who had vacated my father's body when he died was hovering right by the door ready to instantly slip into the body of the first child to enter the door. I was only five years old and the shock of seeing my mother naked on top of my naked father was too much for me so I closed the door and that's all I can remember. As a 5 year old child I did not know how to use the telephone or phone anyone. The real shock I suffered was that ghoul forcefully entering my body when I opened the door and saw my father dead… Of course I did not know this at that time… Only in my retrospective analysis of my entire life in my remorseless, unending search for the Truth about everything, did I manage to deduce what had happened. The ghoul hiding in my father used the shock of me seeing him dead to enter into me: this multiplying the shock and trauma I suffered.

Understand this

The undead seek to harm and hurt and injure and weaken and kill all those they see as a potential threat to them… Any trauma makes it easier to slip into the body of their victim, at a time when they will not notice the intrusion… That's what they did to me when my father died. They have tried to traumatize me so many times in so many ways it would take 100 pages to list them all. But the more they tried the less it worked and the more they failed because I was too healthy and became inured to their attempts to weaken and harm me.. These two books are proof of their utter failure.

Up until my father's death; even though my brother who was 5 years older then me; (and was possessed by the undead and deeply traumatized from his experiences as a 2-3-4 year old child of a single mother traveling through Germany during WW2 going from one refugee camp to the next as a displaced refugee; he took every chance he could get to do something nasty and sadistic to me; I was impervious to all of his deeds; It barely bothered me. It was only after my father died and the undead ghoul that had hid inside his body slipped into mine that the undead began trying to do everything they could to keep me from growing up healthy and ruining every chance of any success in my life… But most of what they tried failed; so they resorted to poisoning everyone around me against me. That backfired by me becoming more and more independent of others and exploring things others never did… By grade three I was taking thick books out of the library. All they accomplished was their evil conspiracies kept on backfiring and in spite of everything they tried and did; the karmic backlash of all their efforts mostly failed… Not all of their evil conspiracies failed… a few succeeded.

The point is: I grew up and gained enough intelligence and knowledge to unravel the true history of my own past and expose the existence of the undead to the living world and all their abominations and evils

My father was killed by the undead in his sleep because he was too smart, too educated, too healthy, and he was raising a son: me: that would surpass him in so many ways; the entire community of undead around him and me were terrified of what would happen to them if I was to be allowed to grow and develop and inevitably succeed in everything I did. They have tried to obstruct me in every way possible and they failed. They are terrified of what I will do to them once I reach the realm of the undead because they already know they cannot control me or fool me or delude me… as they have successfully done with billions and billions of dying souls who enter their realm

Save for me; there is one other the undead could not control. When Jesus died the realms of the undead underwent huge, catastrophic events… There was an annihilation of the most evil going on… there were battles in the undead realm of the atmosphere above and in the deepest bowels of the earth. Fear and dread gripped the entire city of Jerusalem. Their guilt haunted them at what they had done… These events were all recorded and written down in letters and sent to the Emperor of Rome. Those letters survived and are the number one historical evidence that proves Jesus actually lived.

How can you tell that jews… generally as a, ethnic race are evil?? Because of the way they change their names… in order to hide what and who they really are from the Goyim (non-jews.) Jews do that because that is exactly what the undead do… If they decide to attack a certain person using a dog, and that fails… they will enter into another dog, and if that fails they will enter into another dog and try the same tactic over and over again…

The undead do the exact same thing with humans… If they decide to make en enemy of someone who is close to someone whom they deem as being a threat to them and that doesn't work: They will enter into the body of someone else close to him and make that person hate the person they fear as a threat to them… I know this because the undead have done this to me many, many times in an effort to isolate me from human society… and thus reduce any impact I might have on the larger population of living people… That is how cunning and subversive and hidden they are… They will fill an unsuspecting person with totally irrational hatred and dislike of someone just to break up a marriage or a partnership or a friendship or a personal relationship the instant that relationship threatens to become positive and Good and has liking and love in it… I know because the undead have done this to me many times.

The point is… I was intelligent enough to figure this out… granted it came as an insight after their evil deeds were done and I saw the pattern of evil that I had lived in all my life… how the undead managed to carefully surround me with evil vile people; how I was always surrounded by evil people; not one good person was allowed to become close to me or become my friend…

This a lesson in how the undead operate… They can and do change their faces, their masks, their names and the bodies of people they infiltrate and poison and control.

There is a general rule to distinguish between who is a Good person and who is an evil person…. If you are a self seeker; meaning you are always out for yourself… if you are always out to tweak the system to your advantage… if you are mainly motivated-interested in your own personal ease and pleasure…

You are evil and you are controlled by the undead

If you are not out for yourself and instead are a searcher for Truth… if you want everyone to be happy, not just yourself… if you want to share your happiness or wisdom with others; not to male a buck off it; but genuinely give to others without expecting anything in return…

You are good

454

The difference is simple:

It is the difference between giving and taking.

Evil people hate and fear and envy good people…
Good people have no hate or fear or envy in them.
That is why good people are so blind to recognizing who is evil and who is not… this needs to change

This book is what will change that.

Civilization forces good people who have no interest in being selfish or only looking out for their own interests to do it simply because that is how civilization works and that is what civilization programs every person to function on a purely personal level of self-interest. Nearly all attempts to be unselfish and Good are ruined by the billions of users who sucker good people into trying to help them. This gives good people negative feedback and makes them distrust others and stop trying to help anyone… and they are right. Because every positive energy Good person is surrounded by evil cunning undead filthy cunning scum who make it their business to ruin every Good positive impulse and motive and plan that they might have. Whatever rare exceptions there may be are drowned out by the 99% of negative evil self-seekers who are controlled and poisoned by the undead. The fact is any good deeds that do not have a negative outcome in civilization are a tiny minority, an exception to the rule.

Why is civilization boring and evil??... Because everything is the same in civilization… everything is dead in civilization… living humans are surrounded by dead things all around them all their lives… the same dead flat walls, the same dead flat ceilings, the same dead flat floors, the same dead flat roads, the same dead flat square buildings, the same dead flat sidewalks…

Civilization boring and evil because of one overriding aspect: identicality… People are forced to watch the same identical commercials over and over again, they are forced to hear the same identical songs over and over again; they are forced to live in the same identical rooms and buildings and surroundings over and over again, they are forced to do the same identical chores and work over and over again. They are forced to buy the same identical things over and over again… etc, etc, ad nauseum.

In Nature: nothing is identical… everything is continually growing and changing. Nothing is dead. In nature you are surrounded by living beauty. You are surrounded by peace and quiet. When living in nature: your soul is at rest because Nature is what you are designed to live in and where you have been designed to live… Not in some insane, dead, mechanical horror that you must escape from and forget and distract yourself from in order to keep your sanity.

Why is this so important and crucial to understand why civilization is so evil and why Nature is so important and crucial to human existence??...
Because living in the sameness and boring regularity and deadness of civilization retards and stunts and slows down and dumbs down the natural development of human babies and children: it stunts and deadens human intelligence: that's why. Using tools to do the same repetitive work over and over again dulls human awareness, it makes humans stupid.

I was lucky enough to live much of my childhood outdoors in Nature… I was lucky because my family moved to different places and different houses and different neighborhoods and different continents, and I went to different schools and lived with other families and met different kinds of people, more than any child ever born and did different jobs in different places and met and knew different people from different cultures and backgrounds… that is basically why I grew up to be so intelligent that i finally after decades of knowing something was not right with me, i traveled from Montréal to Los Angeles to take primal therapy…

There in California I met even more kinds of people and took different kinds of therapy, and experienced completely different kinds of Nature and learned to do Yoga on my own without needing classes, and read more books, and learned more about science and anthropology and cosmology and ancient history and the history of the last two centuries and politics and finally after all this, I accidentally stumbled on the root cause of what was wrong with me… I found out nothing was wrong with me…I learned that there was a malevolent undead entity inside me… I learned it was in contact with other malevolent undead entities and that IT was the reason for all the things that happened to me and what was wrong with me…… And as I tried to find out what these invisible voices in my head actually were… and as they hedged and hawed and tried to evade my questions about them and as the undead lied to me and as I uncovered each of their lies and kept on trying to find out just what this thing inside me actually is… they finally showed their true colors… they finally showed me how evil they are and as they attacked me and tried to poison my whole life… (which they had been doing all along… but now it was blatant…) then it became obvious… and the more they continued to attack me and poison my whole life, the more I learned about all their cunning, dirty little tricks and tactics, and weaknesses… the more I could go back in history and see their evil at work and how it spanned my whole life… the more all of human history became clear to me that what was going on was a malevolent evil force that has plagued humans ever since the first humans walked the earth and even farther back before that… And that only by including their evil filthy presence did any of the history of Life on Earth make any rational logical sense. Without the undead, the history of the Living Earth would never be the insane, twisted history that it is…

Nobody else in human history has ever achieved this.

I achieved this because i would not, and will never stop finding out the truth about anything i look into until i understand it completely.
This is why this book is so important.

And why it will spread and become the basic bible of human wisdom and all the evil, filthy, cunning,

Poisoned twisted lies of what is called "wisdom" and "truth" that civilized worship and bow down to will be trashed and junked as the products of undead evil

You might think or assume that me being possessed by an undead entity is an exception or an aberration… if you think that you are dead wrong…

The ugly truth is every single living human on earth is secretly inhabited by the undead throughout their entire lives… the only difference between all of you and me is that discovered them and investigated and questioned them and I do not fear them or worship them… and because of my unending persistence I managed to rip off their masks and lies and subterfuges.

The old adage that there is evil inside everyone of us is true…
But it is not you that is evil... It is the undead hiding inside you that are evil..
Now do you see why this makes logical rational sense??

The entire world and all of human history does not make any logical sense unless you include the evil machinations of the undead…. Then suddenly it all makes perfect sense.

When you look at the larger picture of the entire Earth and what human civilization is doing to the entire Earth… You see the insanity of 8 billion human insects chasing the almighty dollar while polluting and destroying the entire globe on a scale of insane mass consumption and mass Hedonism.

The result of this mass insanity is the oligarch class of billionaires profiting and getting richer from all this mass consumption and pollution and destruction of the earth while the 8 billion consumer insects get poorer…a*nd neither class giving a damn what is happening the the earth on a global scale because both of them are chasing the almighty dollar.* While the poorer the masses get, the more desperate their chasing of the almighty dollar becomes and the more determined their goal of affluent consumption and Hedonism becomes.

The undead have invented and designed this mass insanity of overpopulation and mechanization and industrialization over a period of hundreds of thousands of years with the one goal to destroy all Life on Earth… It is only now… that their ghoul of destroying the entire planet is within reach and is looming closer and closer to inevitable success… It is only now that a few are trying to raise the alarm bells of impending doom and disaster that the end-goal of the undead has finally been revealed by me: Indrek Pringi.… But their voices are lost… they are drowned out by the babble of 8 billion brainwashed hedonistic consumers seeking their morning coffee or their next fix to keep themselves distracted-entertained-making money..

Spreading these two books is the only hope for the masses to educate and enlighten themselves of the undead and reverse this inevitable outcome.

What is the point in working and slaving your whole life for money, when most of that money is being sucked up by the oligarch class; leaving the masses less and lass money to blindly chase after? The rat race of civilization, the hamster wheel of greed and avarice and Hedonism is what keeps 8 billion human insects unaware of what is actually happening all around the world. Until the human species grows up and recognizes itself as a single species, not a fragmented bunch of cultures-religions-ethnic races-nationalities-classes: it will continue to be driven over the cliff into oblivion and extinction by the undead… The only hope is that it will not drag the rest of the Living Earth down along with it.

Ultimately on a global scale; the jewish owned central banks are using the Goyim like cattle… They are feeding them so they can slaughter them while slaughtering and killing them and poisoning them because the masses have been brainwashed with the same avarice and greed as their jew masters… Granted this took thousands of years to do but is was and still is the undead using jews as their puppets that made this thousand year conspiracy and plan succeed. Without the masses being addicted to money and using money, jews could never have become as powerful and evil as they are now… Now; the tiny jewish cabal of international are the power behind all the thrones and govts of the west; and they have a malevolent carefully hidden hatred against all humans including their own kind who do not belong to their Satanic criminal mafia. This is because the undead have complete mastery over their rotten souls. They are the living envoys of undead cunning and hate and filth in the world.

So you see: the entire system of overpopulated modern civilization is a designed cunning hoax-fraud by the undead to keep billions of Hedonistic human insects chasing their Hedonistic goals while using them to destroy all Life on Earth. No other explanation fits the history and facts of civilization.

This is the hidden reason and explanation that answers all questions about human civilization.

This is why historians and all people who study and try to understand what happened and what is happening are baffled and cannot make sense of the actions of the ruling elites. This is why these two books must be read by every loving human who can read so the masses become aware of the all-pervading malevolent existence of the evil undead.

It is only by looking at civilization as a whole and analyzing it as a whole that you can expose the blatant obvious hoaxes and false narratives and frauds and structural flaws of the entire system. Hedonistic humans can't do that. They are looking for their next cup of coffee and are not interested in world affairs, much less the 7,000 year history of our present civilization. Every single invention or development that is lauded as "progress" can be analyzed and exposed as a deliberate increase of evil by the undead. Civilization only exists by its continual unending growth; which cannot be sustained… The minute it starts shrinking; its rate of implosion will only accelerate… In fact this is happening right now. And as a dying beast, it is thrashing around in its death throes, causing the downfall of everything that has been built up to crumble even faster and faster. The fantasy that artificial intelligence will replace human labor will be exposed as the fraud it actually is. The pipe dream of guaranteed personal income will be rudely shattered. The infertility rate will cut the world's population in half in only 1-2 generations. The wealth gap between the ruling elites and everyone else will increase to such astronomical, obscene levels that the entire concept of democracy will disappear under the authoritarian rule of insane megalomaniac tyrants.

This book is being written for the next civilization which will rise out of the ashes of this one… It will be 1,000 times more evil than this one… unless enough people read this book and refuse to repeat the same pyramidal-hierarchical insanities and abominations that all the previous civilization did.

The basic nature and dynamic of modern civilization is simple and obvious… use billions of hedonistic consumer insects to make the ruling elites richer and more powerful until they are so rich and so powerful nobody can overthrow them… while at the same time: dumbing down and impoverishing the masses and poisoning them and making them as powerless as possible and killing as many of them as possible without them ever noticing that they are being used to destroy all life on earth. By their mindless consumption of the earth's resources and the mindless pollution of the earth and the oceans and the destruction of eco-systems and the paving of roads and spread of cities and deserts which is slowly, systemically turning the entire earth into a wasteland of death.

You need a global view and a global analysis over a long period of time and a large holistic perspective of the earth to notice this… but you will never notice it if you are not aware of the existence of the undead and how they are the root reason and cause of all evil on earth and what their ultimate long-term goal is..

All of this… is based on the religion of money. It is based on the sacred belief in the god of money. It is based on the belief that money equals power… and it does... As long as the masses are willing to sell their souls for money; the ruling elites will always find enough corrupt souls, enough criminals to hire to suppress and oppress the masses with.

But if this belief system is ever shattered and exposed to be the fraud that it actually is… then the evil ones will find themselves naked without any clothes. And they will be killed so quickly that none of them will escape their fate, and the entire Living earth will change in a flash for the better.

The entire wealth of civilization's banking systems are based on adding digital zeroes to their accounts and balance sheets… Non-existent, abstract zeroes… nothings…

Nietzsche wrote: "Rather than want nothing… Man wants nothingness."

The entire money system is based on the belief in zeroes; the belief in nothings or nothingness… Everyone wants more zeroes: That is what Nietzsche meant.

Only when Man ceases to want Nothingness will the human species save itself from its own self destruction and doom and evil. It took thousands and thousands of years for this insane form of abstraction to first be invented and then spread until now it covers the entire human species like a cloak of programmed abstract insanity and unreality and evil.

How can you tell civilization is evil??

Because the definition of power in civilization is negative: not positive.

All power in civilization is defined as the power to create death… not life

Civilized power is defined as the power to kill life… not create life.

All power in civilization is based on this negative definition.
The reason govts are powerful is because they have huge armies and navies and air forces that can and do kill people.

Civilization does not recognize or define the ability to create life as power.

How the Undead Work

462

Humans who create life are not seen as being powerful.

The power to create life is seen as being virtually worthless and is ignored…

While the power to create death is glorified and worshiped. Films about criminals and assassins who kill are hugely popular.

But there are no films about people creating life because civilization does not value or glorify life and the power to create life.

That is one obvious reason why all civilization is evil.
Civilization destroys life: it does not create it. That is why civilization is evil

Why is modern civilization evil?

Because all the govts of the world only make enemies of each other… they never make friends with each other… This perpetual conflict, along with all the other false narratives and conflicts of race, religion, language, ethnicity, skin color and culture prevent all humans coming together to cooperate with each other as a single species… Before this; humans fought each other because of their tribal cultures, customs, religions and languages, etc. for untold hundreds of thousands of years. All of the reasons for these conflicts originate from the undead poisoning humans in different ways:… from inventing tools to kill with, to developing the tool brain to invent different languages so different tribes could not understand each other, to inventing different belief systems that were supposed to explain the world they lived in, to overpopulation to the idea of the ownership of territory which they almost never used or needed, to the hierarchical structures of human society and the concept of the negative power to kill defining their dominance and value systems… Basically; instead of evolving positively and intelligently towards a humane value system and way of life, humans regressed back to the ancient, obsolete, extinct age of Dinosaurs where reptilian species killed each other and the ones who were the better killers survived to become the dominant species until they all died out and went extinct because they were going against the fundamental Principle of Life; Life is designed to create more life… not create more death.

So if Life is designed to create more Life… what's wrong with human overpopulation? Shouldn't that be alright? The reason human overpopulation is evil is that it was created artificially by the mass manufacture of chemical fertilizers, and that in the process of humans overpopulating the world they have destroyed more Life and more living eco-systems faster than they could ever have done if human population growth had been slower. Civilization is destroying and killing the entire Earth through mass consumption as I speak and the root reason for this is because civilization is the invention of the undead and that is their ultimate goal.

The fact is, the reasons why the age of the Dinosaurs turned into an insane horror of killing and butchery and hate was also because of the undead… the undead have been poisoning Life ever since living creatures died and the after life of these dying rotting auras began poisoning living creatures. Get this through your head. The undead have existed ever since life was created on earth… they are not a new phenomenon; they have always been here. These rotting insane horrors have been poisoning living creatures with their presence from the beginning.

But is spite of all the evil the undead have done to twist and poison humans; they still have not been able to completely poison our natural intrinsic humane tendencies for fun. Love and happiness… only these natural intrinsic tendencies have been isolated from the rest of the living Earth and Nature and are forced to exist inside the artificial parameters of civilization… You can have domesticated pets that you love but not wild animals that are free and are not dependent on your for their lives and sustenance. You can have a few people you love but not everyone because they have different values and beliefs and don't speak your language, etc… You can have fun inside civilization, but the kinds of fun are limited to and poisoned with competition against each other and abstract games, and that fun being only a form of hedonistic selfishness like eating ice cream.

Children are happiest when living in Nature surrounded by living things; open to the sun, the air and everything around them. Children love all animals because they are designed to make friends with all animals. Children are designed to live in nature their whole lives; not just a few hours here and there. Civilization destroys their natural happiness, fun and Love and turning them into boring robotic drones who are heart-dead, brain-dead, spirit dead, physically dead to everything around them because of being brought up in the dead environment of civilization.

What are all the Hollywood sex parties and pedophiles of the elite and the child sex trafficking and Justin Bieber telling how he was raped by Michelle Obama who is actually a man and Pizza gate and the Satanic drinking of the blood of sacrificed babies and adrenochrome all about?...

The undead have the tightest grip on the top of the pyramidal hierarchy of power and wealth because they choose the most mentally-emotionally-sexually twisted, diseased humans to rise up to the top of civilization's pyramidal shit pile… the undead choose the most diseased twisted inhuman monsters possible to populate these Hollywood cliques and other cliques and secret organizations so they can…. And then they can commit the most foul evil, obscene unspeakable abominations possible in secret and get away with it. All the movie industry icons and political icons like the Osama's and Clintons and music industry icons like Diddy and royals like prince Andrew and billionaires like Epstein… just so they can bring back the child sacrifices of the ancient copper age… just so they can let Hedonism gone mad rule the world… as a global sickness…

Do you think all these international interconnected rings of completely separate elite cliques are a coincidence?

They are the undead exposing themselves naked to the world as the gibbering insane fiends they actually are.

465

They revel in committing every foul act possible because they hate all true beauty and seek to despoil it as much as possible. They hate all love. They hate all honesty. They hate all logic. They hate all decency. They hate all beauty. They hate all life.

Understand this…

The undead live in the lowest regions of your body. They hide in your guts because they themselves are nothing but rotting decomposing Life-Energy and they can stay alive by sucking on the energy being released by the food decomposing in your intestines… They hide in your sexual organs also. This is why the two main things billions of consumers are controlled by are what they can stuff in their mouths and sex. This is why consumers develop huge distended bellies. This is why internet porn has been the largest cash industry in the world for over 24 years… This is why billions of people have been dumbed down because they are slaves to their lowest appetites.

This is why all mass manufacturing and industrial level farming is evil. This is why all commercials selling you the lowest things possible like pizza and coke and sex are evil. This is why all of modern civilization is evil. It is evil because it is designed to feed the undead by feeding the living masses poison and keeping the undead alive by using living humans to build and create exactly what the undead need for their extended survival like one-dimensional electrical energy and two-dimensional flat screen energy.

And they can go lower than that! They can hide in your legs… The undead are all around you hiding themselves in many ways and only coming out when there is no sunlight.

What you need to understand is that instead of humans fitting civilization to suit them: the undead have forced humans to fit into a civilization they invented... Beginning with the invention of the first tool used to kill with.

This resulted in humans becoming dehumanized mechanized robots to serve the mechanistic abomination of machine civilization. Humans think thy are serving themselves… what they don't know is that by using machines they are being used to serve the undead. Everything humans use is being used against them. The great gods of machinery and modern technology and artificial machine intelligence is being revealed to be a dystopian nightmare even more horrible that Orwell's 1984.

By using tools… living humans have been used by the undead for millions of years as their puppets… this evil of the undead has now reached a crescendo where they actually can achieve their ghoul of destroying all life on earth… without the masses knowing they are being used to do it.

All the factories on earth supplying the masses with hedonistic products are polluting and poisoning and destroying the living earth and oceans as they rape and pillage and consume all the world's natural resources on a mass scale and speed that is unheralded. They have all been designed by the undead with the intent and purpose of destroying all life on earth.

Why do you think all the mythical predictions of Armageddon and Ragnarok and the end of the world are found in so many religious dogmas?? Eh??

Because the undead want people to believe in it… the undead want to make people believe that it is inevitable and ordained

The undead want humans to give up fighting against evil. The undead have already made billions of humans believe that there is no such thing as evil. And most of those who do have succumbed to the fatalism of this fucking bullshit called Armageddon.

I am here to tell you all this ancient shit is pure crap. The undead can be not only defeated but they can be killed dead.

How far back does the influence of the undead on living humans go?...

467

It goes back before the invention of fire.

It goes back to when humans first worshiped death and destruction instead of worshiping life…

Where did fires come from in Africa millions of years ago?... They came from volcanoes. They came from volcanic eruptions. All other animals hate and fear volcanoes; but they do not worship them. Because the undead hate all life: they love everything that kills life, and because the undead hiding inside humans controlled their unsuspecting hosts; they got humans to worship the power to kill and destroy as the greatest power there is.

Where do you think pyramids came from? They come from humans trying to build and mimic the conical volcanic pyramids of Africa that they worshiped and bowed down to and sacrificed to for millions of years. The Aztecs and the Incas still practiced the sacrifice of children at the tops of their step-pyramids. The entire history of humans building pyramids is a foul, evil leftover of even more ancient evils of the undead. The shit piles of the dead stones of pyramids all over the world represent over a million years of the worship of death. Pyramids are fucking useless piles of dead shit… Why did humans spend their lives and their entire society on building these useless piles of dead shit for thousands and millions of years? Why do humans still worship them today?

Because the undead hiding inside every human makes them do it.
That's why.

How and why the undead can easily control and manipulate living humans

The reason how and why the undead can easily control and manipulate living humans is simple… they are very weak, faint forms of decomposing Energy and because they are so weak and faint they cannot be perceived or detected by living humans except in rare instances like ghosts or paranormal phenomenon. But these instances are an exception to the rule… 99.9% of undead entities are completely undetectable to our living senses and to any instruments used to detect them…

Because they are so faint and weak and cannot be seen or heard, they operate will complete freedom on a subliminal level that we do not notice… They operate on our subconscious… in fact they are in the subconscious minds of every human who ever lived and is alive now. They are where all irrational beliefs, opinions, hatreds. Jealousies, envy comes from. They are negative Energy and they feed off of Negative Energy and reinforce all negative emotions-thoughts-feelings-beliefs etc. They have been doing this for millions of years and have become masters at manipulating living humans in this way.

Another simple way they manipulate living humans is by controlling their saliva glands. Simply by activating a person's saliva glands so they constantly excrete saliva; it convinces the body that it is hungry and needs to eat something… By overeating and creating layers of fat: that gives the undead more space-areas in the body where they can hide and increase the number of undead inside your body. And also; the undead can keep their victim dumbed down and unaware as possible by the layers of fat insulating them from being aware of what is outside of them and insulating them from feeling themselves also. Understand This: Your skin is a living organism that can sense what is outside you and what is inside you. By getting fat you become unfeeling… you don't feel any emotions except hunger. You stop having any thoughts not connected to your belly and mouth and hunger; you become fat and stupid… you become insensitive to things that people who are not fat can sense and feel.

When I was young my saliva glands were never active when I wasn't eating… Now that the undead gave recognized me as a mortal threat to their existence, they have tried to make me eat more and gain weight by activating my saliva glands when I am not eating. I noticed this and because I did; I can make conscious decisions not to eat even though my saliva glands are telling me I should eat.

If you are overweight or eat too much you can do an experiment on yourself by checking regularly during the day to see of your saliva glands are active and consciously deciding to ignore them. The result will be less subconscious impulses to eat something, and when and if you do get them, you can negate them consciously and decide to ignore them.

Why are so many elites involved in satanic rituals and depravities like sacrificing babies and drinking their blood?

Because the elite share the same unspoken global value system of hedonism as the masses do: and the only way they can feel that they are better than those below them, (apart from having more money than they do) is being even more hedonistic than the masses are… and that means practicing atrocities and committing sins and perversions that the lower classes could never get away with.

Understand this: all Hedonism is satanic in nature. The history of Hedonism in western civilization is easily traced and documented as a top-down process. First the elites flaunt their hedonistic sins and perversions in front of the masses which they cannot enjoy until the masses envying their masters begin emulating and copying them. Then the elites are forced to invent other perversions and sins which only they can enjoy and which sets them apart from the hedonistic masses and justifies their position in society.

A good example of this was drinking of tea by the elites in Britain after the conquest of India; only for the masses to start drinking tea like them… Then the elite's started drinking coffee only to have coffee shops springing up all over London. Then they switched to gambling as an elite pastime the lower classes couldn't afford which ruined many of them, then they switched to having multiple mistresses which the lower classes couldn't afford but that made them catch syphilis and go insane and die and made the lower classes despise them for their illicit sex habits and unfaithfulness to their married partners. That ended when the king Edward VII or "Bertie" as he was known; died of syphilis and over eating, and the British royalty tried to reinvent itself as simple country gentry.

Basically the only way the elites can justify their position in society is by being more evil than the masses they rule over. You can see this in Bill Gates and George Soros and the Hollywood crowd and their child trafficking and eating babies.

How Can You Tell Civilization Is Hedonistic?

Look at cars... Look how cars have changed and evolved! From the first machines that were crude to now… Look at all the plastic, mechanical, electrical, electronic computerized shit that has been loaded onto cars in the last 70 years! Everything has been done to make driving more comfortable, easier, to please every possible preference or taste until cars are now so expensive, so complicated, nobody can fix them except a mechanic with years of training and even then they can only be fixed by installing new parts and throwing the broken parts away because they are designed NOT to be fixed. They are designed to make repairs as expensive as possible. They are designed to make the car and car repair industry as much profit as possible and as cheaply as possible until now people are buying older cars not new ones because they were built better and cost less to repair and are simpler than the new crap that is being manufactured, and they break down less and last longer. Cars have become cocoons of luxury and ease and insularity from the outer world. They all look alike. They are mechanical insects, driven by insane dehumanized human insects who nave nothing in common with each other, don't know each other and are busy pursuing their isolated, insulated hedonistic goals like a crazed mass of insects trying to get from one place to another place without any larger rationale, reason, plan or purpose except personal hedonism.

If you want to understand what is happening now….

Then you must understand everything…

471

From the beginning of the creation of the Universe
To the present

As a single, rational, logical explanation

A single story, a single seamless string of events

From the beginning of the Universe to now

That story is the story of how the Universe has been trying to find ways to come back together

After it was exploded apart by greater impetus

The problem the Universe was faced with and is still faced with…

Is that the explosion of the 2-dimensional Universe…

Created a new 3rd dimension…

Making it impossible for the Universe to reassemble itself back into its old 2-dimensional form…

Because of this, the Universe was forced to find new, creative ways to come back together without hurting itself 3-dimensionally

In other words: the new 3rd dimension of our Universe…

Created the new Condition of infinite possibilities and infinite creativity…

This did not exist in the old 2-dimensional infinite universe..

472

The old 2-dimensional Universe repeated itself almost exactly over and over for an infinite period of infinite repetitions

The new 3-dimensional Universe never repeats itself exactly ever…

It took an infinite period of time for the 2-dimnsional Universe to change to the point where it destroyed itself…

But that point was the source and origin of the new creativity of the new 3-dimensional Universe

Modern books are written about chaos theory

It has been known by wise men for a long time that chaos is the mother of creativity

But the instant chaos happens the undead flood in to poison and ruin everything positive

Every positive potential and possibility is reversed by the undead

The undead seek to explode everything apart, reverting back as far as possible to the beginnings of the exploded Universe… that is why they invented nuclear bombs.

But every time they seek to destroy all Life: Life comes back better and more organized and intelligent than before…

Now the time to become aware of the undead has come and the time to kill them all is arriving…

This book will do that

If everyone reads it.

473

Instead of chaos… this book gives a rational, logical plan to create a new civilization.

Before you destroy anything: you must have a viable. Practical plan to replace it. This is why revolutions never work… Besides… more freedom? Freedom to do what? Freedom without responsibility is chaos and because civilization is based on Hedonism not on Responsibility; all of its freedoms are chaotic. The undead flood in poisoning human souls to prevent any intelligent planning. This book prevents that from happening because it offers a plan to create a new civilization before the old one is destroyed… All that needs to be done is to implement the simple rational, logical steps needed to change civilization forever and never allow it to revert back to the pyramidal hierarchical pile of shit that it has been for uncounted thousands of years.

How can you tell Pyramidal-Hierarchical-Hedonistic Civilization is Insane?

There is one difference in humans that is invisible but starkly different… You cannot see the difference… you cannot tell the difference from what people say… Even what people do can be hidden and twisted and not tell you who they really are…

That difference is the difference between money and Life… The world is filled with millions of politicians and rich people and billionaires and bankers who pay lip service to Humanity but actually worship the god of money… The lower classes of the world are filled with billions of corrupt, cunning evil people who worship the god of money and do not give a fuck about decency, honesty or human life except their own miserable personal existence.

That Difference Is The Difference Between Good And Evil

Yet nobody speaks of it and even when they do it is tolerated because civilization runs on money: not on the value of human life. Civilization is based on the value of money: not on the value of human life or any other part of the Living Earth.

And because of this: the rare few people who do value Life more than money tolerate the existence of the billions of corrupt, diseased, evil people who value money more than Life… even though morally and ethically they should kill these evil corrupt pieces of shit… But they can't because the huge majority of civilized human value money more than Life. People are born into an evil environment called civilization where everything is bought and sold for money. People are born into this evil civilization where you cannot live without money… where you need money to live, where without money you will starve and die. As a result; the value of money has become a substitute for the value of life. As a result: money is valued as much as Life itself. Money is sacred. It has become more sacred than Life itself. Even though without Life: money could not exist. It is essential for your existence. You cannot live without it. It is a necessary evil. It is taken for granted that without money humans cannot live and civilization cannot exist.

The fact is: only those dehumanized sick pieces of shit that value money more than anything else succeed in civilization. Only those selfish, empty pieces of shit who have no love in their hearts populate the top half of the pyramidal shit pile of civilization and thus control; everything in it. And the few who are not as evil are quickly corrupted to join their brethren in the worship of money.

That is one obvious reason why money and civilization is evil.

I have been forced to work most of my life just to earn money even though I have never cared about it. There are millions like me who don't care about money and do not worship it and are not interested in getting filthy rich that are forced to spend their whole lives working just to earn enough money to live… Even though they don't care about money they are forced to get it because civilization runs on money; not on human love and not on human values and not on human ethics and morals. For this simple reason civilization is evil because it forces millions and billions of humans to become evil even though they don't want to be evil… It forces billions of humans to work at jobs they hate, it forces billions of humans to do things they would never do if they didn't need money to live.

The evil of money is obvious, but nobody talks about it. Nobody opposes or criticizes it because everyone assumes and accepts that it is a necessary evil.

Humans cannot conceive of a civilization without money.

They believe and think and assume that a civilization without money would never work and could not exist. That it is a pipe dream, a fantasy, that it is naïve, stupid, unthinkable to found a civilization based on the universal principles of Responsibility and Cooperation instead of money… Well I am telling you that assumption is bullshit… And I am telling you that the new civilization can be founded on the principles of Responsibility and Cooperation without money… but only if all humans are enlightened and educated enough to understand that the roots of all the evils in the world and the evil in their souls and the evil in their families and friend are the undead. And only when humans understand this and drive them out of their bodies and mind and genitals and cleanse themselves, only when humans hunt down these undead evil filth hiding inside evil corrupted humans… only when humans start killing evil people like Gates and Soros and all the corrupt evil politicians of the world and all the billionaires of the world… Only then can the new civilization be founded on Responsibility and Cooperation without money.

The evil of Hedonistic love is that it is exclusive. When Love is not shared it dies. When Love does not grow it dies. Love is LIFE… It is the most advanced Energy of LIFE. LIFE is the most advanced Energy in the Universe and the Energy of Love is its most advanced, developed Energy that can bring all Energy in the Universe together without hurting each other,

In the New Civilization; this obsession with the Love for one person is not natural and not Good. But if you live in a community where everyone loves each other then finding your love mate IS Good and natural because that Love and Happiness can and will grow and spread to include all the people of the community that your love mate comes from… But what good are two communities that love each other if there are other communities around you that have no Love and Happiness?

Love and Happiness is a moral, ethical Responsibility. Once one community loves each other, their moral ethical responsibility to spread and share their love and happiness does not stop until ALL the communities in the world love each other also and are Happy…

You may think that such a responsibility is far too huge for one small community to undertake… But I have good news… once you spread your Love with others and share your Love with them… they ALSO have the moral-ethical responsibility to spread and share their Love and happiness with as many communities as they can also and before you know it BAM!... hundreds, then thousands then millions then billions of communities will be sharing and spreading their Love and Happiness until all the people in the world Love each other and are Happy.

Children that are happy and full of Love spread their Happiness and Love around them naturally. That is what all humans are designed to do. It is only because civilization kills their natural Happiness and Love that they become unloving and not Happy. Simply by living in the middle of millions of people who are not Happy and have no Love, children learn to copy those around then and quickly learn that being Happy and Loving is met with coldness, indifference… simply by living in the middle of people who are not Happy and have no Love and do not show any Love or Happiness; they instantly copy the behaviors of those around them.

Understand This:

For billions and billions of years ever since life was created on earth: every single top predator has gone extinct because life is not designed that way. It is only because of the undead poisoning life that living organisms started killing each other. That is how old the evil of the undead is. That is why all living humans must read these two books and wake up to the existence of these rotting insane invisible scum and hunt them down and kill them dead dead dead in all 3 dimensions of their rotting decomposing existence.

If living humans do not read my 2 books and do not wake up and kill the undead: the human species will go extinct as all other top predators have. If living humans do not wake up and read my 2 books the undead will succeed in killing off all life on earth. It is a matter of life or death… you the reader of these 2 books have a choice… do you spread this book to as many people as you can? Or do you do nothing? The fate of the entire living earth depends on you.

While billions of Hedonistic people go around every day pruning their Hollies and Hydrangeas, remodeling their homes, playing their video game, surfing the web, watching their favorite TV shows… huge navies and armies all over the world are firing off million dollar missiles, firing deadly artillery shells, killing thousands of soldiers every day and terrorist groups are attacking and killing thousands of civilians with wars all over the world and civil wars are going on all over the world and if any person wants to know about all these wars and atrocities and genocides they can easily find them on the internet… But billions of people aren't interested in the dangers of a possible nuclear holocaust… As long as their garden and house isn't being bombed, as long as they are not being killed or raped; then none of all the evils that are happening all over the world has anything to do with them. That is why the unspoken culture of Hedonism is evil.

Pyramidal-Hierarchical-Hedonistic Civilization has created 2 opposing insanities that are totally divorced from each other. One reality is the insulated bubbles of comfort and ease enjoyed by billions of Hedonistic civilians. The other world is the world of huge govts and armies and navies air forces and terrorist organizations and military industrial complexes making billions of dollars off destabilizing 3rd world countries and funding proxy wars for oligarchs to profit from.

The result is is endless wars cropping up all over the world… if one war goes away another flares up; so the world is perpetually engulfed in numerous wars with no end in sight… While at the same time huge super-tankers and huge container vessels cross the oceans and millions of factories keep churning out consumer goods billions of the world's consumers to satisfy the insatiable appetite for more manufactured goods while they keep on throwing their old goods away into the garbage where it ends up in huge toxic poisonous land fills or in the rivers and oceans of the Earth.

In other words Billions of Hedonistic consumers are lulled to sleep while oligarchs and bankers and billionaires profit off these Hedonistic human insects so they can pollute and poison the world while systematically cutting down all the forests and arming themselves in a nuclear arms race that will end up in the complete nuclear destruction of all Life on Earth.

It is a tale of two mass insanities. Each one divorced from the other and both don't give a fuck about what the other is doing or intends to do. One is the top of the hierarchical pyramid where the globalists plot and plan and carry out their insanities… The other is the rest of the pyramidal shitpile of civilization completely indifferent to the top part as long as they can satisfy and pursue their Hedonistic goals of making money and paying their bills, or if they are affluent working on their hobbies or interests… with none of the affluent insects giving a fuck about the poorer insects fighting to pay their rent and none of the poor insects giving a fuck about the more affluent ones working on their cars or boats.

This structural norm of segmented isolation in civilization is a structural replica of the hundreds of thousand of stone blocks making up the pyramids of Egypt… except in civilization it is on the scale of billions not thousands… and it is not visually obvious to the eye. Otherwise it is exactly the same; except the segmented stone blocks making up the Egyptian pyramids are replaced by living humans living next to each other but completely apart and separate from each other…

The structural point is without all these billions of human blocks living next to each other… the entire hierarchical pyramidal structure of modern civilization could not exist… just as if the stone blocks of the Egyptian pyramids were not placed right next to each other, the pyramids would not exist… they would just be a haphazard number of stone blocks lying on the ground; not poled up into a pyramid.

The point is: LIFE does not structure itself as a pyramid… LIFE is not based on one-sided accumulation. Humans are not designed to live this way. The reason why humans live this way and the reason civilization is structured this was is because the undead made humans pile themselves up this way… the undead invented civilization. The undead invented the insane idea of living humans spending hundreds of thousands of years of their lives piling up these useless pointless piles of stone shit.

Ask yourself… do you want to spend your entire life cutting and moving huge stone blocks so you can pile them up? If you say no: Why not? Millions of other people did it for thousands of years. So why did they do it? They did it because they were insane.

If you asked an Egyptian stone worker making stones for pyramids: would he be willing to work in an office or in a factory so he can be paid money so he can buy food and clothes and pay rent for an apartment. He would say no. If you asked him why not he would tell you because that is insane.

All of civilization is insane
It always has been and always will be insane

Unless humans follow the blueprint for a new civilization
That I have laid out in this book

The point is, if you look at civilization from a perspective of thousands of years, you will see regardless which civilization you look at; ancient or modern: all of them are insane. None of them make any logical sense.

Mine does.

The point is… ALL civilized norms are insane. Take any civilized person from any civilization at any point in time and let them look at the norms of any other civilization at any point in time… and they will tell you they are nits, crazy, insane. Even different civilized cultures in the same time frame in the same civilization look at each other as if they are insane, nuts, wrong, crazy.

You need to understand the undead regard living humans as easily snagged fish… all they need to do is lure humans using the countless lures of hedonism and once humans become accustomed and addicted to their hedonism, they are caught and corrupted in the webs of undead evil which make them easy prey once they die and reach the realms of the undead…

The invention of humans catching fish with hooks and lures is just a reflection of the undead catching humans with hooks and lures as the snake of evil lured and caught Eve and Adam in the Garden of Eden… humans are only doing to fish what the undead have done to humans for millions of years and are still doing...

When you understand that the entire million year history of humans using tools to catch and kill other living creatures is only a reflection of how the undead have used hooks and lures and traps to catch living humans in a web of Hedonistic evil then your entire "pride" in human ingenuity and invention will be forever shattered and destroyed and you will see all of human technology starting from the first tools ever invented and used (which is fire: the ultimate killer and destroyer of all life) as being pure unadulterated evil.

The bottom line is that humans do not need to kill and eat any living creatures to live a healthy life… all this mass slaughter of fish and animals is merely to satisfy a developed taste or preference for eating dead flesh. If humans growing up never ate it, they would never want to eat it once they are adults. It is merely a matter of mass indoctrination at an early age and systematic mass brainwashing and turning a universal evil into an unthinking, accepted, unquestioned "normality".

Why is Machine Civilization so Evil?

What are the natural designed functions of humans?

Humans are designed for love, happiness and fun… it is by poisoning these natural proclivities of humans that the undead have corrupted humans. Humans are not designed to fight each other; they are not designed to kill each other, they are not designed to kill: period. It is only because of the all-pervasive existence of the undead that humans have been twisted in such a way that they have reversed the natural genetically designed functions of humans to do the opposite of what they are naturally designed to do…

The goal of all human development and life and awareness is Integration

Why?... Because ;literally everything stems from how well humans are integrated. The levels of their health, intelligence, creativity, their potential for growth in every single aspect of their being. The goal for every human alive is to become as integrated as possible. That means developing every single aspect of their natural intrinsic potentials and abilities as much as possible and integrating them together so they merge into a single interconnected totality that then transforms the person and puts them on a completely new, higher level of existence that cannot be anticipated or predicted because it has never been done yet….

What exactly is integration?... It is when your thoughts and actions and emotions and words are all integrated together. That means you do not think one thing and say another. You do not do feel one emotion and do or say something that dies not represent what you feel emotionally. That means that what you think mentally and what you feel emotionally and what you do physically are all integrated together without any inner or outer conflict. It means keeping no secrets from yourself and not keeping any secrets from others. It means being yourself effortlessly. It means not lying to yourself and not lying to others, It means not compartmentalizing yourself into separate boxes like emotions and thoughts and actions. When you become integrated these boxes disappear.

Why is Machine Civilization so Evil?

I: Indrek Pringi am the first person to try and integrate all of myself by exploring and learning and practicing all of my natural talents and abilities based on the earliest experiences of my childhood and exploring them further. Basically I wanted to find out what civilization had to offer, what was available… in books, sports, people, philosophy, Nature, cities.

I was never interested in making money or impressing people. By being poor; I was free to explore everything I could find that interested me but I had a nagging question that I didn't feel anything… I had no emotions. So I traveled to Los Angeles and took Primal therapy. There I tried to find out what was wrong with me but I found out that Primal therapy was a fraud; as were all other avenues I took. What I found out that it was not me who was lacking but everyone else was lacking in questioning anything or seeking any answers to any real questions of human existence. That is when I stumbled into contact with what I learned later had been hiding inside me and ruining my entire life as much as possible… Why did-does this parasitical filthy undead do this? Because it could not control me any other way because i was too aware, i was too integrated. I did not have any weaknesses it could exploit except one… my need to love and be loved.

Because when machines offer humans all the physical comforts from comfort food to pillows and soft beds and soft clothes and warm houses; there is no need for love anymore in order to live… Without all these comforts, without machines; love is necessary for survival. In a world without machines and tools; if the people you live with do not love you; you will die… love is necessary for human survival. Humans are genetically designed to love each other. Machine civilization has done everything to isolate humans from each other and insulate themselves from each other and this trend is accelerating to the point of absolute insanity where each consumer exists inside their own self-made, custom-made bubble of unreality, all designed to make them convinced that they are right about everything and everyone else is wrong… which insures that nobody will ever agree with anybody else about anything because they all have different consumer beliefs, preferences, likes, tastes, etc. etc. ad nauseum.

Why is Machine Civilization so Evil?

In machine civilization people have stopped loving each other because they don't need to instead they love their machines and pets and toys.. People in machine civilization have stopped loving each other. Instead; they have been lured into satisfying their lowest urges of ease and pleasure and have become fat blobs of weak, unhealthy, mindless brainless consumers who do not have to think or exercise or have close relations with anyone because machines do it all for them

It took years and years of being fooled and duped until I realized it was trying to make me as helpless as possible. The undead used my lowest sexual urges to turn me into a sexual slave using my need to be loved and linking it with sex as the false lure, the carrot while making sure nobody around me would have any love in their hearts. It failed because I finally saw through it. I kept myself dedicated to facing the Truth about everything in my Life and saw the patterns of my Life more clearly and wiped all the illusions out of my understanding of reality.. That is why I was-am able to write in my two books; truths that no other human has ever discovered or understood before. And this was – is only possible because I am the most integrated human to ever live… And I know that what little meager level of integration I have managed to attain is not one millionth of what I could have reached without the undead poisoning and ruining my entire Life from the very beginning up to now. The undead have not stopped trying to harm me and injure me in every way they can, but their attempts have all failed to kill me or seriously harm me.

The difference between someone who is human and someone who is not human is simple

Someone who knows what love is and does or can love is human.
Someone who does not love and does not know what love is and cannot love is an evil dead soul; a puppet controlled by the undead.
And there are billions of the latter and only a few of the former

The ability to love is the only thing that makes humans; human

Why is Machine Civilization so Evil?

485

Without love; humans are monsters controlled by the undead

That is why the undead hate and fear all love because they cannot control humans who love each other. They cannot make them do evil things or have evil thoughts or have evil emotions of hate, envy, fear, etc.

The undead are only an aspect of the imperfections of the Universe… But: these imperfections do not comprise the great majority of the Universe. The natural designed functions of the Universe may grind slow, but no imperfection can or ever will stop the Universe from achieving its designed function of coming together… which is for all Energy to come together without hurting itself, and all Space to come together without hurting itself.

How can you tell this?... What are galaxies?... They are giant Energy vacuum cleaners, that's what they are… They travel all over the Universe collecting all the dust in Outer Space and bringing all that Energy IN, gathering all the solid Energy in the Universe slowly, gently together. They are cleaning all the Space in the Universe of dust so all the Space of the Universe is clean of Energy, and so there is less and less Space between the Energy it collects. They are the Universe's attempt to bring all the Energy of the Universe together and bring all the Space bubbles of the Universe together so there will be no Space polluting the Energy of the Universe and there will be no Energy polluting the Space of the Universe. This is because the 2-dimensional Universe was clearly defined into Energy rings and spaces between the rings. The Universe is blindly trying to get back to what it was before it exploded into the 3-dimensional Universe it now is.

The undead have taken these three natural proclivities in humans and poisoned them so that by the time a child grows up, it loses all its abilities to love, have fun and be happy.

Humans are part of this Universal design and we are designed to teach all living things to come together without hurting each other…

Why is Machine Civilization so Evil?

486

This Earth is our little sphere of influence in the infinitely huge sphere of the Universe…

But… it is the cutting edge of this infinite plan of our Universe for all Energy to come together without harming itself… Why?... because the Energy on the surface of the earth is the most delicately balanced, most gentle, most sensitive Energy in the Universe… All other Energies in the Universe operate on a scale of brutality and insensitivity and violence that does not allow Energy to come any closer to each other without either fleeing in rage and fear from each other, or exploding in terror and thus reverting back to an earlier form of Energy that is not as advanced… For instance: When the Energy on the surface of a star comes too close together; the plasma Energy turns back into radiation Energy and flees from it's crowded environment. And when the core of a star becomes too compressed: It explodes… destroying all the billions of years it took to turn earlier forms of Energy to come colder together as solid Energy.

Understand this: the creation of solid Energy in the Universe was a huge advance for Energy coming together without hurting itself… But there it stalled… The Universe could not find any way for that solid energy to come closer together without either reverting back to forms of earlier Energy that is not a solid, or completely destroying itself; thus negating all the work the Universe had done to make it come closer together… The ingenious method of stars creating atoms; which are the basis of solid Energy was a giant leap forward for all the Energy in the Universe to come together without hurting itself. But there the design froze… there was no way the Universe could find to get solid Energy to come any closer together without causing a destructive nuclear explosion or without that solid Energy reverting back to earlier forms of Energy… Instead it began bringing together atoms of the same type. Iron atoms came together to form huge masses of molten iron inside stars. Other types of atoms tried to come together, but only the inert atoms could do that… Atoms whose subatomic rings of electrons were incomplete reacted violently with atoms of other types… This caused the stars that were creating these atoms to become violent maelstroms where only the most inert and heaviest atoms could survive… all the other atoms were turned into a super heated plasma that turned back into radiation of all kinds the minute it reached the surface of a star..

Basically: Energy had advanced to a kind of tribalism… each tribe of atomic elements keep to themselves… they are always warring with each other and making alliances with each other; but they never learned how to get together without conflict. Basically, atomic elements behave the same way humans do… even the radical elements of human societies behave like the radical elements of atoms.

You can see how the Universe is trying to bring all different kinds of Energy together by the whirlpool action of galaxies… All the dust clouds and stars are gently drawn into the centers of the galaxies. But they don't know how to come any closer without getting hotter and hotter and hotter; bumping wildly against each other until they revert back to earlier forms of Energy called radiation.

Then… stars began creating planets by flinging out huge gobs of its own plasma, that cooled and allowed more types of solid atoms to exist without getting hotter and being turned back into radiation… You can see the systematic attempts of our sun to create planets where Energy can come together without hurting itself… The results was gas giants with a small super hot soloid core, and dead planets like Mercury were only the inert atoms could come together. The inner cores of these gas giants are not true solids,,, They are on the verge of nuclear reaction and that reaction keeps them from ever cooling down… The same failed planetary experiment was our Earth. It too has a super hot molten soloid iron core… Until…

Things began happening on the surface of our Earth that had never happened before in the entire history of the Universe..

Liquid water was formed…

Why was this so special?? Because in order for H2O to become liquid, it can only do so between a tiny temperature range. Anything hotter and it becomes a gas… Anything colder and it becomes a solid.

That temperature range does not exist anywhere else in the universe except on the surface of our earth…

Not only that… The temperature of the surface of our Earth is such that water: H2O; exists in all 3 forms of solid Energy… a gaseous vapor, a liquid and a solid.

This delicate, tiny temperature range that exists nowhere else in the Universe; allowed atoms floating inside the protective cocoon of liquid water to gently come together to form molecules; where for the first time in the history of the Universe; different atomic elements came closer together without hurting each other…

What the Universe did. Was it used the Medium of Space and the Medium of water to allow the different tribal Elements to mix and mingle together without reacting too violently against each other. This literally watered down their reactions to each other to a mild level that was never possible in the Medium of Space.. The result was: molecules were created for the first time.. Elements from different tribes came together for the first time in the history of the Universe…

To make a long story short; in the delicately balanced environment of the oceans of the world where different types of solid atoms existed, dissolved in water a unique, linear chain of molecules were born… this molecular chain is known as DNA. And from this molecular chain all life on earth was created…

The giant leap forward that DNA achieved was that unlike stars, that could only bring together atomic elements of one type, DNA molecules brought together 4 different atomic elements.

After that: Another giant leap forward happened when DNA molecules could develop into living organisms that brought dozens and then almost all the different elements together without harming each other into the bodies of living cells that were mostly made up of water.,,, Water is the insulator, the happy Medium that allows different atoms to mix and mingle and come together without harming each other… Without the Medium of water, all these different elements in the form of atoms and molecules would never even come close to each other without reacting violently and repelling each other. You can see this going on in the gas giants like Neptune and Uranus. And all these different atomic elements could never come together to form molecules made up of different atomic elements…. And so; DNA molecules created living cellular organisms… which replicated themselves… and became complex cellular organisms… and on and on until complex living organisms became more complex, and more complex, and more…

The Universe had finally solved the problem how to bring nearly all the atomic elements together through the complexity of molecular bonds that DNA molecules created… This complexity increased more and more until huge eco-systems were created in so complex a fashion that after studying them for years, we still have only scratched the surface of their interlinked interdependence. The amazing thing is every aspect of these eco-systems, every grain of sand, every rotten log, every insect, every drop of water, every animal, every fish, every bird… in some way supports all the other parts and aspects of life in these eco-systems.

Eco-systems are giant infinitely complex connected systems of cooperation.

Most of the parts of these eco-systems are not aware that they are cooperating with each other, but they are doing it nonetheless because they were designed to do so….

Then the complexity of all Life on Earth evolved further… Different species began to become so intelligent and so aware… they began cooperating with each other on voluntary intelligent conscious level that had never existed before….

You can see the unaware level of cooperation in schools of fish and flocks of birds… they act like a single living organism… Thousands of individual fish or birds… none of them aware that they are doing it flow and swerve as if they are all connected together as a single organism; but they are not.

You can see instinctual cooperation in how hyenas and wild dogs and lions hunt in packs…

But it takes a brain the size of a whale or a killer shark or dolphins or a chimpanzee or a gorilla or a human to form family units that cooperate voluntarily with other family units and live as a single tribe or pod that care about each other and have emotions for each other…

Finally, the Universe; together with the new environment that only exists on the surface of our Earth evolved the newest, most advanced, most aware, intelligent species that has yet been created by the intelligent creativity of DNA molecules; humans. And our species created a new revolutionary bond that brought Energy closer together without harming itself. That new revolutionary bond is Love..

This new kind of bonding is not limited like all other Energy bonds in the Universe.
Other bonds, be it gravity or molecular bonds or atomic bonds, are limited in their selectivity. They do not bond to everything… But Love does…

Love can bond different species together. It can change the entire behavior of individuals towards each other. Granted… this has only happened at first on an individual level; But: … when this new Energy called Love became infused into an entire group of people as the first Christian communities did; the undead attacked them and tried to eradicate them systematically… as the Roman empire tried to eradicate Christianity from all the fishing villages on the coast of the Mediterranean for 300 years and failed to do so… Instead Jesus' message of Love infiltrated into the highest of Roman society and eventually became the state religion of Rome… Even though it was poisoned and twisted beyond recognition by the undead, it still kept many of its root principles and spread like wildfire all over Europe and then all over the world…

Why is Christianity unique among all the world's religions? It is still not the largest religion in the world. It has been splintered into so many sects; it has lost nearly all of its original; message and cohesiveness… The reason Christianity is unique and stands out from all other religions because it is the only religion in the world that speaks of Love… No other religion in the world speaks of Love… In fact… Love is the main message of Christianity. Christianity seeks to bring together all people under the Universal aegis of Love: not under the belief of any god… No other religion does this. Yes; Christianity does require you to believe in Jesus as the son of god… but you can only accept him if you know that he Loves you and that you Love him. That is the emotional Bond that makes Christianity work because when you Love Jesus; you must also Love all of his disciples and followers. The ideal Christian community is a community where everybody loves each other… This creates a communal bond that supersedes all differences and transforms that community beyond recognition…

This is why all the early Christian communities were attacked and discriminated against. This was why so many Christian communities fled from persecution and tried to establish themselves in lands where they were not persecuted. You do not see other religions being as systematically persecuted throughout history as small sects of Christianity was… Why? Because they had developed a communal bond of Love between each other that did not exist in the larger populations where Christianity had been poisoned and degraded down to lip service and just a symptom of mass conformity; not a real living breathing way of religious life that was both moral and ethical.

Why is Machine Civilization so Evil?

How can living humans change the entire world beyond recognition?... If you Love Nature, if you love animals, if you love plants; they will respond positively to you.

Now! In the middle of a human civilization that destroys all living things in its path, and the history of humans killing, enslaving destroying living creature for millions of years… Any Love of Nature by a single human, any act of love or kindness by a single human does not even register a blip on the screen on other species. Freeing a deer from a barbed wire fence or a wolf from a steel trap once does not change their instinctual fear and mistrust of humans…

But if a person saves the life of a wild animal… there are countless stories of these rare occurrences creating a love bond between the person that saved the life of an animal or bird and the animal or bird.

What if all humans were like that?... What if no humans harmed or killed any other living species?... What if wild animals no longer feared and distrusted humans? What then?

What if instead of loving dead machines; humans loved living creatures?

What if all living species on earth learned about love?

*What if all living species wanted to be loved?

WHAT WOULD HAPPEN THEN??

There is no telling what would happen.

She will tell you what I am trying to tell you.

One thing is for sure… if people listened to this gorilla it would change the entire earth beyond recognition and for the better

This will never happen unless everyone reads my books and learns about the undead and learns how to hunt them down and kill them and kill every single diseased perverted evil person at the top of the hierarchical shitpile of civilization and expose all the organized religions of the world as rotten and corrupt and false.

For instance the Muslim religion was a backlash by the undead against Christianity because Christianity is not a true religion… It is based on the wise words and deeds of a simple carpenter in Galilee who was crucified for speaking truths that threatened the ruling elites of Jerusalem. Who was later turned not into a god: (because even the evil undead could not change the fact that he had been crucified like an ordinary criminal and buried and no god had ever had that done to him) but the son of god… and in order to rationalize this obvious farce; so many impossible irrational fantastical crap had to be added in order to make it saleable to the masses that only the most uncritical believe in it. In spite of all this Christianity was and still is a religion of peace and Love…

Mohamedism, on the other hand, is a religion of war… it is a religion of hate…it does not preach love; there is no love in Muslim religion. It was cobbled together artificially by different Mullah's throughout hundreds of years in order to hide its true origins and its true purpose and message… But then, something happened. It became infected with the Christian religious idea of Love… and then later with the global religious practice of consumerism and affluence which was also infected with the Christian idea of Love; this watered down the religion of Muslims even further and left only the extremists that continue to spread war and hate throughout the Mideast and elsewhere. The majority of Muslims were absorbed into the Hedonistic affluent mass of humanity where religious differences were tolerated. By poisoning the original idea of Love that Jesus preached and practiced; which was a communal love for each other in a small community; not the Hedonistic exclusive love that is now sold; the undead have managed to ruin and poison all the original teachings of Jesus by first turning him into a deity even though when asked on trial if he was a deity he refused to say he was… This was gotten around by the idea that he wasn't a god but the son of god. Even though this ludicrous assertion poses the question of how many other sons did god have? And who did he coupled with in order to produce one? And why only one? These religious doctrines makes this religious belief obviously ridiculous. But these questions are never asked. All religions are based on believing in things that you don't understand and not questioning them.. Because of this it was successfully sold to the masses including the ludicrous assertion that Mary; Jesus' mother was a virgin; making the virgin birth another pillar of unquestioning belief in the poisoning of Jesus' original teachings.

Today: the word "love" has been poisoned and changed to mean completely different things from what Jesus meant when he used that word… Today the word "love" has been made to mean sex. If you "love" someone that means you are having sex with them… to 'make love', as if it were something you made out of a factory. Today the word "love" has been watered down to the point that is almost meaningless when commercials speak of how much someone 'loves' their clean shirts or "loves" a hamburger, or how much a car enthusiast "loves" a certain kind of car or engine… The Hedonism of modern civilization has almost destroyed the entire ethos and language and true meanings of Christianity, where many churches espouse the dogma that "greed is good" and use their poisoned religious dogmas as a way to become rich and affluent. Civilization's unspoken religion of Hedonism has spread and touched everything and every living soul until there is no way to escape it… Unless the evil of this unspoken religion is consciously recognized and eradicated from all civilization: this civilization will disappear and go extinct; just like all the other civilizations that have gone extinct. And it will be one more unsolved mystery of disappeared civilizations with nobody left alive to tell why it went extinct and no clues left to explain how it went extinct…

Of course this flies in the face of all modern arrogance… What!? Our civilization go extinct! Never! We are too advanced! We are too educated! We are too intelligent! Besides… we believe in the unspoken myth of eternal human progress! Even if our civilization does go extinct, a new civilization even more advanced will spring up to replace it!... (Not a civilization even more destructive and deadlier towards all Life on Earth than the last one; which has been the case for all the older extinct civilizations.) Besides… how could 8 billion humans suddenly go extinct?

Nuclear war? (That already happened and will happen again guaranteed) Poisoned vaccines? (That's going on right now) Chemicals in our food and water? (That's going on right now) Mass infertility? (That's going on right now) Decline of the birthrate? (That's going on right now) Mass starvation due to crop failures? (That already happened and will happen again guaranteed) Breakdown of the global supply chains? (That's going on right now) The desertification of most of the world's farmlands? (That's going on right now) Natural disasters? (That already happened and will happen again guaranteed) An epidemic of debilitating and deadly diseases brought about by vaccinating 2/3rds of the world's population with toxic MNRA injections? (That's going on right now) The systematic destruction and pollution of all the world's eco-systems and oceans? (That's going on right now) The catastrophic melt down of nuclear power plants and the ensuing radioactive fallout? (That already happened and will happen again guaranteed) Wars? (That already happened and will happen again guaranteed. The spread of mass hysteria and paranoia by mass media leading to utter chaos? The thinning and entire breakdown of the ozone layer that protects us from radiation? (That's going on right now) A volcanic eruption leading to a nuclear winter? (That already happened and will happen again guaranteed A catastrophic meteor impact resulting in a nuclear winter and a global tsunami destroying most of the ocean's coastlines of the world? (That already happened and will happen again guaranteed) The disappearance of all bees and insects (that's going on right now) leading to a steady disappearance of all higher life forms whose existence depends on the lower species supporting them?... (That's going on right now) The genocidal eugenics conspiracies of the ruling elites succeeding? (That's going on right now) With unseen consequences like their own extinction also? The rise of robotics and machines replacing humans in a dystopian future where machines take over? (That is happening right now). What if artificial machine intelligence decides humans are unnecessary? What might happen then?

How about all of the above happening at the same time??

Or… one catastrophic event triggering off other events in a chain of domino effects that nobody anticipated?

What this should tell you is that all civilizations are designed to go extinct; and this one is on the verge of doing so.

How can you tell that civilization is financially structured as a hierarchical pyramid?

And how can you tell that the apex of this evil pyramid is owned and controlled by a tiny cabal of jewish international central bankers?

And how can you tell that the entire financial structure below these international jews at the top is being subliminally controlled by the undead because they do not realize that they are actively engaged in their own demise?

All you need to do is watch this one hour video:

Entitled: "the great taking"

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dk3AvceraTI&ab_channel=TheGreatTaking

Why is Machine Civilization so Evil?

497

This video will reveal to you just how insidious and cunning the machinations of the undead are, using living humans as their unsuspecting puppets to advance their evil nefarious conspiracies and plots against all Humanity.

"All across the world there are ancient stories about mythical figures that visited out ancestors and gave them advanced knowledge and technology, kick starting their civilizations of pyramid building in China, Egypt and South America by teaching them various arts of civilization including writing, law, temple building, agriculture, the use of metal work, the calendar, the cultivation of maize, etc."

https://www.bitchute.com/video/SedomYDjQIBH

Who do you think these mythical figures were; eh??
They were the undead of past extinct civilizations.

That's who they were

And they passed on all the evils of extinct civilizations so the next ones could become even more evil and more destructive towards all life on earth

So you see… The existence of the undead answers all mysteries and puzzles that modern humans are unable to solve.

Why do you think the oldest financial con is called a pyramid scheme? The undead have learned to hide the pyramidal nature of their evil so it is not obvious to the naked eye as it had been for untold thousands of years. Now the actual hierarchies of power and money are hidden in banks and computers and behind closed doors where secret cabals collude to conspire.

Cars are mechanical insects… because humans build and use cars: humans have become mechanical insects. Remember! Whatever you use, uses you more than you use it. You are what you make and use. All usury is evil: the use of tools, the use of machines, the use of money; all of it is evil. The evil that exists today took billions of years to develop: yet it can be destroyed in a flash. This can happen only if everyone reads my book and takes action and kill all of the evil elites and create a new civilization that I have logically set out in this book.

What are most of the cryptic lyrics of Rock'n Roll songs like "Stairway to Heaven" by Led Zeppelin? They are the cryptic ravings of the rotting brains of the undead. They do not make any logical sense. Some are explicitly evil like the Rolling Stones " Sympathy For The Devil."

One reason why civilization is so evil is that it has been inventing over 30,000 to 50,000 new chemicals every year for over 70 years and the accumulation of all these bio-toxins in the environment has been responsible for species going extinct and for the general ill health and sickness of billions of humans. Also: no one has ever studied what happens when any 2 or more of these chemical poisons interact with each other or react; creating even more deadly substances.

The Difference between Living Organisms and Dead Machines

A perfect example of civilization's evil are "holidays"… Originally they were called holy days and were based on religious sacred spiritual events or people and most of the holy days were celebrated by fasting and cleansing of the body in order to purify the worshipers spiritually… But with the industrial revolution and mass manufacturing and the appearance of mass consumerism; holy days were corrupted and morphed into days where instead of fasting; the consumer masses celebrated the unspoken religion of Hedonism… that is to say: the religious worship of personal pleasure and ease, where people did not have to work and feasted and gorged themselves to fill their overstuffed bellies with more food than they needed and get drunk… Until these holidays lost all religious meaning and just became a way for sellers and producers to make more money… to the point where many people grew to hate and despise these holidays for their blatant hypocrisy, until people actually became depressed when Christmas arrived because it only highlighted and emphasized the materialistic degeneracy of their society compared to the principles espoused as lip service.

The brainwashing mantra of being happy has been drummed into the brains of western children for hundreds of years with fairy tales all ending in: "And they lived happily ever after." Books and films all about finding happiness have brainwashed the masses for hundreds of years. Happiness is a measure of success in life. You are supposed to be happy, If you are unhappy there is something wrong with you. Millions of people suffer from the fact that they are not happy when society tells them that is what they should be. The fraud of psycho therapy which turned into an industry began from unhappy rich people trying to find happiness or trying to figure out why they are not happy. This spread into the middle class who could afford this quackery. Commercials bombard the masses with smiling people who appear to be happy because they bought or use a certain product. Hedonistic civilization is based on the culture of personal happiness. The mark of a successful people or nation is how happy they are…

Unfortunately; when researched it turns out that poor countries are happier than rich countries; this goes against all the materialistic unspoken belief that if you get rich you will become happy. Early black and white films were all about the fictional happiness of the rich elite upper class. They portrayed the rich as being loving families. That rich parents only cared about the happiness of their children. The belief that riches make you happy is an unspoken mantra of Hedonistic civilization… But what was the reality of these filthy rich elites of the past? What was the reality of the lower classes? What is the reality today? What exactly is happiness? It is a mysterious elusive thing. It means different things to different people. Were the actors who portrayed happiness on the screen or on TV happy? Unfortunately when researched most of them had unhappy lives and suffered tragic endings. Were the elite of the 1800's and 1900's ever happy? Unfortunately the word happiness did not exist in their vocabulary and still doesn't. For them this idea is a fraud sold to the lower classes and their job is to make it so that they appear to be "happy" in order to keep the myth alive that riches brings you happiness. Unfortunately when researched, their lives are empty, meaningless, dry, ordinary and degenerate. The endless pursuit of 'happiness' is a large part of what keeps the masses noses to the grindstone in hopes of improving their situation in life. As long as you are climbing the ladder of success, the ultimate goal of happiness beckons. Unfortunately when researched on what happens when you get to the top, the results are always disappointing and empty.

Hedonism posits happiness as a goal: something to strive for or something to search for and find. It can also be a material object. A old fat fart owning a unique antique Hudson pickup, with car enthusiasts oohing and ahhing over it after he spent how many thousands of dollars on buying it considers himself to be happy. He receives public attention and is envied, he is rich so he can afford such expensive hobbies, he is friendly to all the admirers of his truck and he considers himself to be 'happy" and you would be hard pressed to convince him otherwise. He will just smile in his air of superior Hedonistic happiness and hedonistic affluence and brush you off as an insignificant flea…

But if you bring up the morality of being rich while millions are poor, and wasting money on his toy while millions starve he will become extremely displeased and angry at you…

You see Hedonistic happiness does not have any morals or ethics. The basic ethical stand of Hedonistic happiness is: " I'm happy and fuck everybody else". Or "I'm all right and screw you Jack." In fact Hedonistic happiness cannot abide either morals or ethics because it rips off the façade of Hedonistic happiness and exposes it for what it is: self indulgent selfishness..

That is the problem with Hedonistic happiness; a separated couple can find personal moments of happiness on finding each other in the midst of bombs and millions being killed. But that does not help or change the unhappiness of the millions of starving terrified refugees who have not found their families or spouses. And after the war is over and they return to "normal" Hedonistic life; that momentary happiness disappears and their relationship turns into indifference on the man's part and dislike on the wife's part for being stuck at home with children she now can't stand. The ugly truth is Hedonistic happiness is based on personal selfishness and has no morality or ethics.

The fact is most people don't know what happiness is or where to find it or how to find it. The fact is billions of people searching for their personal happiness creates a pyramidal shitpile of most people being unhappy with only a few exceptions at the top and most of their happiness is an illusion that does not last. Looking for happiness inside Hedonistic civilization filled with billions of unhappy selfish, self-seeking people simply does not work.

What is the cultural phenomenon called "entertainment" in Hedonistic civilization?... It has existed for thousands of years in many forms… In ritualistic Greek plays… in Roman circuses, in dance, in music, in fictional books, in plays, in theater, in films, in TV programs and shows, and now on the internet in a million different niches, interests and venues…

The Difference between Living Organisms and Dead Machines

Entertainment is something that pleases the masses. It is something that is popular. If it is unpopular it disappears. Its popularity is sustained based purely on the fickleness of the masses. If it does not please the masses it disappears. It is designed to make the masses feel good, or make the masses for a moment forget their own lives and lose themselves in what they see and hear. It is the drug that keeps the masses placated and distracted so the ruling elite can stay in power. For thousands of years the Roman elite kept the Roman populace placated by offering them bread and circuses for free. Entertainment is merely a form of mass Hedonism. Something that fills up the empty lives of boredom. If there was no entertainment, nothing for the masses to watch and be distracted by; the masses would rise up and slaughter their masters simply out of rage at being deprived of a drug they are addicted to. Either that or civilization would explode into chaos because without entertainment; civilized humans would not be able to endure the boredom and emptiness of their own lives… or an authoritarian regime would need to enforce a reign of terror like Stalin's and keep the masses brainwashed like Mao Tse Tsung did in China. Entertainment is a way of controlling the masses. The second the masses of Stalin's Russia and Mao's China were exposed to the Hedonism of western entertainment they became instantly addicted to it. It allowed them to momentarily forget their poverty and despair and hopelessness and the iron grip of the police state they lived in. The Hedonistic pleasure affluent Western entertainment offered to Russia and China, the second they were exposed to it, they became westernized Hedonists almost overnight… The unspoken religion of personal pleasure and ease corrupted them almost instantly… Until… the degeneracy of western values and mores and sexual perversions became so revolting; they rejected its most extreme manifestations. But I promise you; give Russia and China enough time and their versions of civilized Hedonism will become just as perverted and degenerate as the West is now.

The entire concept of Western freedom: the right to do and say whatever you want is based on Hedonism because it is completely devoid of all responsibility. Saying whatever pleases you, doing whatever pleases you, watching whatever pleases you regardless of how degenerate it is, how perverted it is, how sick it is, how evil it is… Eating and drinking whatever you want regardless of how unhealthy it is, how bad it is for you is exactly why Western civilization has become the rotting pile of stinking feces that it is now and that is in largely due to the entertainment industry. In short: entertainment is just another form of Hedonism. Entertainment, Escapism and Hedonism go together like three sides of the same coin.

Because of the unspoken global culture of Escapism and the unspoken global culture of arrant cowardice known as the virtue signaling global culture of "nonviolence".

The result is millions of Hedonistic people who can afford to move to other countries abandon the land of their birth searching for nations with higher living standards or better weather or less oppressive govts… Instead of staying where they were born and fighting whatever oppression and evils and inequalities that exist. The result is almost all nations are becoming more authoritative and corrupt because the masses are either too apathetic or too cowardly to stand up and fight for anything because as brainwashed Hedonists because they have no set of morals or ethics that they are willing to fight and die for or live for. They are isolated by their own brainwashing having nothing in common with other brainwashed Hedonists. The result is almost all nations are becoming worse and worse until there will be nowhere left to escape to because all countries are becoming authoritative hell holes because the brainwashed masses do not have the courage to stop it. They have been brainwashed into the unspoken culture of global cowardice called "non violence". This subliminal brainwashing programs billions of humans into believing thou shalt not fight for anything regardless of how right or good it is. Thou shalt not kill anyone regardless of how evil they are and how much they deserve to be killed.

In this way the criminal elites of the world can parade in public without any fear because they know the brainwashed masses would never even dream of hurting or killing them. Bill Gates can attend football and baseball games with impunity. George Soros can hide in his mansion without fear of being killed while sleeping because his staff are all obedient little slaves.

The other part of the global unspoken religion of Hedonism are the mass migrations people who are not rich enough to move to another country legally… These are the illegal aliens flooding into countries they think are safer and have better living standards. The result is their numbers destroying the national fabric of the nation they illegally slip into because of their barbaric 3rd world culture-beliefs-practices like raping white girls, defeating in public etc; thus turning the nation they invade into a 3rd world hell hole that is just as bad as the country they escaped from.

What is the point in consumerism?... What is the point in 8,000,000,000 consumers consuming the world's resources and giving nothing back?... The point in this is to consume everything until there is nothing left. Until all the forests, all the trees, all the fish, all the animals are killed and destroyed and killed off. That is the point of consumerism. The undead are trying to make 8 billion human consumers unaware that they are destroying the planet they live on and they are succeeding and will succeed unless everyone reads these two books and wakes up and learns the truth about the existence of the undead.

The Fallacy of Organized Religion Being "Spiritual"

During the Copper and Bronze Age right into the Iron age of civilization all the way up to the first Persian empire; the organized temple religions of Western Mediterranean civilizations were based on human sacrifice and offerings and animal sacrifice to insure that bad things would not happen to the ones making the sacrifice or offering. People prayed for good luck. They prayed to get rich. They prayed for things they wanted to happen. A farmer gave offerings so his neighbors livestock would sicken and die. Farmers gave offerings for a good harvest.

This still continues in the temple religions of China and India today… Basically this kind of religion is based on selfishness… "Gimme this, gimme that", Make my family prosperous, bless my family with good health. I don't give a fuck what happens to other families; I just care about myself,"

This kind of religion is based on bribery and favoritism… It is based on asking and paying deities for favors. It is no different from the culture of favoritism and bribery in politics and in all other aspects of civilization… Also: it is completely divorced from any consideration of whether those asking their favors are deserving of them or not. A person asking for the good health of his parents does not consider that their parents bad health habits and eating and drinking habits might be responsible for their ill health.

The entire concept of an omnipotent deity controlling things takes away the responsibility of humans to control their own lives and take responsibility for their own actions. The truism that religion is the opiate of the masses has been ignored for ages yet it is true nonetheless. The masses are brainwashed to conform to whatever culture or religion they are born into. Regardless of what culture or religion they conform to; the universal unspoken overriding global culture of civilization is Hedonism: they lack moral-ethical principles based on personal responsibility.

Christianity is different. Instead of rationalizing that bad things happened to you because you did not appease a certain deity. Christianity does not have the culture of favoritism or begging favors from god. Instead its moral and ethical imperative is for good Christians to be good people regardless of their circumstances or good or bad luck. It places the responsibility to be a good moral, ethical Christian on every single person. It is a religion of personal responsibility and personal conscience. Other religions have their dogmas and rules that are not to be questioned. But none of them include LOVE as a moral ethical imperative; Instead mindless obedience is all that is required.

That is basically what differentiates the West from the East… that is until Christianity was systematically poisoned and ruined by the Catholic Church and then later mass manufacturing consumer culture Hedonism. But in spite of this; Christianity still survives on an individual level of personal spirituality and responsibility and personal conscience. Countless good people have been converted to Christianity only from their own personal morals and ethics and values being trampled on by the civilized society they live in and because Christianity is more humane than any other religion because it has the crucial element of Love which all other religions lack. The point is even if you don't believe in any god or that Jesus was the son of god; you can still value and learn from his wisdom and Humanity. In which case it doesn't matter whether you believe in a god or not. It is the human story of Jesus that is compelling; not his dogmatic insistence on a monotheistic deity. His words are so that the concept of Love and the concept of loving god and the concept of loving your fellow man become almost indistinguishable. Take away god from his teachings and they are almost unchanged.

What does the history of the last 2,000 years tell us?... It tells us in spite of all the machinations of the undead, in spite of all the forces of evil they have brought to bear; they have not been able to destroy the one thing that they fear the most and that is Love. They are caught on the horns of a dilemma. Either destroy the entire Earth and everything that lives… in which case they will destroy themselves because it is only by inveigling themselves inside living organisms and sucking off their Life-Energy that they can keep from decomposing completely… or try to poison all Love on Earth so that it disappears. But with the birth of each new baby; Love is reborn again and the long, arduous work they are doomed to destroying that love must begin all over again… By dehumanizing humans and twisting their love into the love for machines instead of the Love for Living creatures; they hope to turn humans into unloving dead souls married to their machines… But this will also lead to the complete destruction of all Life on Earth, and the undead will not be able to use machines to hide in because machines are even deader than they are. When there are no humans left to maintain the machines, they will die and so will the undead.

At present the world is teetering on the brink of both outcomes becoming ever more likely. The doomsday clock is inching closer and closer to utter annihilation with less than a minute to spare. The undead are doing everything they can to keep humans unaware of this. Many people are sensing it though. The most evil and demented are welcoming it as "the rapture". Zionist jews are doing everything in their power to make it come about.

The only way to reverse this is by founding a new civilization based on responsibility and love. They are two aspects of the same thing. You cannot have responsibility without love and you cannot have love without responsibility.

Once the criminal hierarchy of the lower classes never dared to meet with the criminal class of the ruling elites… In Victor Hugo's novel: The Hunchback of Notre Dame; the king of thieves never dared to meet with the king of France. But the Industrial revolution happened and everything changed. What were the hot spots where the most evil people congregated in the last 200 years? The elites came together in the dens of Hedonism; gambling joints, race tracks, night clubs, speakeasy's, restaurants, cruise ships, to mingle with the criminal class of the lower classes to enjoy the degeneracy's once forbidden them by their own upper class culture. Out of that evil mingling came the joining of political parties with criminal mafias to insure they won the election… Then two world wars happened and once again: the criminals of the U.S, and British military intelligence joined forces with the criminal mafia to make sure evil triumphed once again. The Germans did not do this because they had no criminal mafia… they had cleansed Germany of all criminals before the war began. Then the CIA joined forces with international drug cartels and funded their coups with drug money. Then the international banks became dependent for their liquidity on the money laundering of drug cartels, and on and on and on… all fueled by the worship and practice of Hedonism. Untold numbers of people in power have been blackmailed because they succumbed to the sins and vices of Hedonism and forced to commit crimes they would never willingly have done; thus making them just as evil as their blackmailers and swelling the ranks of evil criminals from thousands to millions… until today; there is no possibility of gaining any position of power unless you are corrupt or blackmailed into being corrupt and selling your soul. Today the ruling classes of the world are all so obviously corrupt and evil, they are involved in every evil from sex trafficking to child trafficking to the ritual sacrifice of babies on Satanic alters, to sexual perversion and having sex with minors, etc, etc, ad nausea until there is no end to their degeneracy and evil… all because of hedonism as the driving force behind it every evil committed.

It is only by getting rid of all Hedonism that this blueprint for a new civilization can succeed. And for that to happen all Hedonism must be understood and recognized as being the original evil lure of the snake in the Garden of Eden offering Eve the poison apple of pleasure for the sake of pleasure… For that to happen, the entire history of humans must be understood and recognized as a descent into Hedonism and evil from the very start: beginning with the first Man Adam and the first Woman Eve. The history of how humans were lured away from their genetic design and reversed their genetically designed functions. From the most intelligent animal ever to be created by Nature that is not genetically designed to kill anything… to become the most destructive killer on Earth on so many levels and in so many ways, and on such a massive global scale that make the dinosaurs look like pathetic amateurs… can only be understood and seen if you look at the entire history of the human species of increasing evil and destructiveness

To even think or dream or fantasize that we humans are not headed for the same complete extinction that the dinosaurs and all previous civilizations suffered if we continue on this path we are now on; is to ignore all the scientific facts that history tells us of the past.

There are two cultures going on right now… the insane horrors of mechanized high-tech warfare as can be seen in the battlefields in Ukraine, and the kinder-gentler culture of Hedonism; coddling the masses inside their bubbles of brainwashed unreality… with the threat of a possible nuclear world war overshadowing everything.. Juxtaposing these two realities of machine technology next to each other they are both obviously designed to weaken and poison and destroy the entire human species. But the undead do not allow humans to think in this way. Only those rare few with a perspective of history like mine see this new age as one of foreboding and evil and impending catastrophe.

As a professional historian I see the changes of civilization over thousands of years. The culture of the Roman civilization was one of bloodlust and killing and cruelty. The Romans didn't crucify just one human. They didn't just crucify Jesus… They crucified humans every day, They crucified them everywhere. They crucified hundreds of thousands of humans if not millions for a thousand years.

How did the undead manage to cover this up? By cunningly focusing on only one crucifixion while ignoring all the others… and it worked and it is still working. To this day the crucifixion of Jesus is seen as a horrible act of cruelty and evil while none of the other crucifixions are ever mentioned. To this day the Roman empire is still seen as a shining example of civilization at its best… What is an empire?... It is an empty pyre that burns itself out leaving only ashes. It is an evil that consumes itself and destroys everything it touches. All previous civilizations have destroyed themselves. This one is doing so also but at a much faster pace.

After the Roman empire went extinct then came the dark ages of kingdoms trying to create their own empires… then industrialization was invented and the mechanization of human societies and nations exploded while the human population exploded also… Each explosion fed the other. The more factories that were built enabled human populations to explode. With more people, more factories could be built and manned to feed the exploding populations… What we live in right now is the continued explosion of industrialization… Industrialized Energy of oil, gas, coal, nuclear power plants feeding more factories to be built to feed the industrialized Hedonism of every possible materialist product to feed the rapacious needs of brainwashed materialistic consumers… Industrialized warfare… Industrialized transportation, highways, roads. Industrialized housing, high rises. Cities, suburbs.

Industrialized nations. Industrialized mass brainwashing. Industrialized pornography. Industrialized child trafficking and sex slave trafficking, The industrialization of dumbing humans down to levels of idiocy. The industrialization of legalized and illegal drugs. Industrialized gambling. Worldwide lotteries legalized by nearly all the nations of the world. Industrialized criminal central banking exploding its debt while stealing trillions of dollars and hoarding them in secret bank accounts, its money laundering schemes, the insane banking culture of creating dollars by simply creating abstract zeroes out of thin air and typing them into abstract bank accounts. The systematic impoverishing of the world's middle classes with the explosion of the billionaire class… etc. etc… In short everything that is evil has been industrialized on a global scale by the undead. Even Nietzsche's lauded 'uber man'… his insane prediction of a new super race been swallowed by consumer society and turned into 'Uber Eats'.

Understand This:

It is only by looking at the entire history of the human species as a single unbroken narrative of millions of years right up to the present that you can see as I do: the unseen hand if the evil undead constantly at work. It is only when you pull back and look at human history from a distance that you can see the speed of evil overtaking everything constantly accelerating. You can see the speed of everything that had been once correctly deemed as evil, normalized as being good to the point of utter insanity. To the point where we are all on the verge of global insanity and catastrophe.

The undead are making everything as evil as possible as fast as they can while dumbing down the masses and wiping out all true history of the past while creating new generations of amnesia that know nothing about the past and have no interest in the past so they can be led blindly to their own self-destruction with ease… in order to correct this: this book needs to be read by every living human on the planet.

Understand this:

The Difference between Living Organisms and Dead Machines

511

The undead are parasites… they cannot exist without feeding on the life-energy of living humans

They are negatively programmed to decompose and die.

So they are caught between two horns of a dilemma

They need living humans to continue their filthy evil existence.

So in order to satisfy their lust for evil they have created a civilization of billions of consumers where they can practice their filthy evil crimes and conspiracies without wiping out the entire human population.

At the same time they have created a machine technology which can easily destroy all life on earth…

They do not want to destroy all life on earth for their own survival… but they are negatively programmed to do exactly that… they are negatively programmed to destroy themselves. In spite of the need for their own survival. They are going against their own best interests because they are insane. They are not rational… they are insane rotting decomposing evil filth that need to be exterminated with extreme prejudice. This means the only way living humans can save themselves from utter destruction is killing every single human evil puppet of the undead until there are none left to commit evil and conspire to commit evil.

At present: the mass culture of non-violence and mass cowardice and mass alienation of all humans from each other and the culture of mass paranoid fear of humans of each other makes the possibility to kill all the Soro's and Gates, and Fauci's of the world impossible.

Only when enough loving humans organize together to kill these genocidal monsters can human civilization be saved from complete destruction.

That is the only hope left for any future of mankind and humanity.

Otherwise the human species will be sent back to the stone age to slowly rebuild itself and with the loss of all wisdom and knowledge accumulated from this civilization… the surviving humans will be still controlled and poisoned by the undead and the vicious cycle of civilizations going extinct will go on over and over with each new one becoming more and more evil…

Either that or else;…

The machinations of the evil undead will succeed in destroying all life on earth;
And that will be the end of all life on earth including the end of all undead rotting decomposing entities.

That is all you need to know

That is why everyone who reads these two books has a sacred, logical, rational, moral imperative to spread these two books to as many people as possible until enough living loving humans get together and fight against the evil puppets of the undead for their own survival and the survival of the children and the survival of all Life on Earth.

All machines of civilization are the machinations and inventions and abominations of the undead

Compare the living arterial systems of living creatures to the dead mechanical arterial systems of machine civilization…

The arterial systems of civilization are an attempt to emulate the living arterial systems of living creatures. Their purpose is the same as living arteries; which is to bring all the necessary nutrients needed to all the extremities of the living body so it can function as it is designed to. Without the mechanical arterial systems of roads and vehicles: civilization could not function; just as living creatures could not function without their arteries bringing blood to every corner of their bodies…

The mechanical systems of civilization are abominations of nature which is what they try to emulate. They are unnatural Frankenstein monsters that cannot come close to functioning as efficiently as natural biological systems do.

For instance… When have you ever heard of a blood cell needing repair or maintenance? Never. Blood cells work perfectly and when their life expectancy is over they are collected and ejected out of the body and new blood cells are created to replace them. When have you ever hear of a red blood cell crashing into another blood cell and destroying it? Never. It can't happen because Nature designed arteries and blood cells intelligently.

Moreover, mechanical arteries called roads and highways are 2-dimensional… they are flat; unlike the 3-dimensional arteries that Nature creates which are 3-dimensional and because of that they have huge problems… When have you ever heard of a natural artery crumbling or cracking due to erosion? Never. Because natural arteries are three dimensionally enclosed; preventing anything from interfering with their flow.

When have you ever heard of a natural living artery needing to be repaired and repaved every few years? Never.

When have to ever heard of a red blood cell taking the wrong turn getting lost because of a missing sign? Never. When have you ever heard of a natural artery that needs signs to tell blood calls where to go? Never.

Mechanical arteries called roads mimic the natural living arteries by being built so traffic going one way is right next to traffic going in the opposite direction. When have you ever heard of a red blood cell somehow veering off into opposing traffic and crashing? Never. Because natural living arteries make it impossible for that to happen…

When have you ever heard of red blood cells stopping and starting because of traffic lights that tell them when and where to stop? Never. Because natural living arteries don't need traffic lights to control the flow of red blood cells…

When have you ever heard of traffic jams in main living arteries where the flow of red blood cells becomes so congested it slows to a halt and barely moves?... Never. Because natural living arteries and made so that any congestion of too many blood cells at any one time in any main artery cannot happen.

If it does happen the result is instant death of the entire living body, and that only happens if someone is very, very diseased and unhealthy and has abused their health for decades.

The attempt of machine civilization to emulate the living systems of natural arteries and blood cells is an abomination of dead machines trying to copy life.

You can see this abomination in how machines try to copy the living penises and sperm of living humans.

The mechanical penises called guns, missile silos, artillery barrels, spew out dead sperm called bullets, artillery shells, rockets, missiles, bombs.

Their purpose is to create death.

That is the opposite of what living penises and sperm are designed for.

Their purpose is to create life: not death.

Look at the newest mechanical invention of war: flying drones. Right now (2025) in the Ukraine war flying drones account for 70% of deaths on the battlefront. Drones have revolutionized modern warfare. Just 2 years ago 70% of death in the Ukraine war was from artillery.

The Difference between Living Organisms and Dead Machines

What were the first land creatures that Nature created? Flying insects.

Machines are now emulating the evolution of the first Life on Earth; except they are doing it negatively instead of positively. They are evolving machines into becoming better and better at killing humans.

What were the first living creatures that were used by the undead to spy on all living creatures? Birds. Now the undead have invented flying drones to spy on all living creatures. By poisoning living humans to spy on each other; the undead have turned civilization into a reflection of their own insanity. They have spied on living creatures for billions of years.

A perfect example of machines trying to emulate Life are the huge projects costing millions of dollars; sending dead rockets into space trying to impregnate a dead planet called the moon.

What possible benefit is this to Mankind?... None whatsoever. All the billions of dollars wasted in sending dead mechanical sperm-penises into outer space; what use are they for people on Earth? None whatsoever.

Then there is the insane bullshit about trying to land on Mrs and colonize it. This idea is utter garbage; yet idiots like Elon Musk are selling this crap to the masses.

Why were internal combustion engines invented by the undead? Because they recreate the same destructive dynamic of exploding volcanoes in Africa that erupted and re-erupted countless times destroying all Life around them for millions of years.

You need to understand the undead preserve all ancient evils and bring them back as much as possible; from sacrificing the first born babies to recreating the fires that the first humans used to burn down entire grasslands and forests by sticking wood burning stoves and fireplaces into houses.

All machines are Frankenstein inventions of the undead. They are all abominations of death… not life.

Right now: factories are spewing out zillions of machine made products designed to keep billions of consumers dumbed down, stupid, spoiled rotten, wallowing in ease and comfort so they do not notice the effects of their mass consumption is systematically poisoning, polluting, killing, destroying all the eco-systems of the Earth and all the living creatures of the Earth.

The technology of mass media, the internet, I-phones, smart phones has made billions of humans addicted to these machines that are purveyors of filth, sensationalism, gossip mongering; while dumbing them down so their attention spans are so short they cannot remember what happened last week and cannot read more than two sentences.

The point is: when you look at civilization as a single system and what it is doing to humans and the Earth on a global scale: everything it is doing is evil and designed to destroy all Life on Earth. There is no other possible goal for what civilization is doing.

Basically what the "progress" of using tools and then machines is, is the progress of evil. The "progress" of civilization is the progress of Hedonism. All the inventions made by humans were actually made by the undead and their controlled puppets.

You need to understand you were born into a world filled with evil… an evil that has existed for billions of years and is both inside and outside every living human. The negative Energy of this unseen evil is faint; but it is all pervasive, and can muster all of its forces at certain key points and in certain key people at any given point in time… so there is no point in trying to erect a new positive movement to revolutionize the existing civilization because the undead have already ensconced their evil puppets in power and will do everything to prevent any positive Good from succeeding. The undead hate and fear all things that are better and good. That is why all good things and things that are better are discontinued or sabotaged and ruined. This is why everything always get worse, never better; no matter how many times something better is introduced; it always fails…

That is why the only way to defeat the forces of the undead is to kill those in power without mercy. It is only by cutting off the heads of the hydra snakes that the bodies can be defeated and attacked and exterminated.

What does this mean?... It means only when a dedicated organized body of men, an organized body of killers go out and kill the gates and Soros's and Fauci's and Trump's and Putin's and Xi's of the world. It is only when all the heads of central banks are killed dead. It is only when the masses come together to kill all billionaires and all those who hold power.

This cannot happen unless the entire culture of mass consumer Hedonism and mass cowardice and mass paranoia is wiped out and replaced with a literate culture of people who have read these two books: The Path of Splitness, and Blueprint for a New Civilization, and understand the Truths I have written down and use there Truths to destroy the present civilization.

As long as the unspoken religion of civilization is Hedonism; this can never happen, But… if these two books are spread, and a secret underground is created to spread these two books is organized and allowed to grow and spread my two books further… The enlightenment it will create can be the foundation for a new civilization that is not based on destroying Nature and not based on machines.

Understand this.

What I am speaking of is the ultimate battle between Life and death

The civilization you are now inside is a civilization of death

Everything that supports this evil civilization controlled by the undead is evil.

The Difference between Living Organisms and Dead Machines

518

You may think that destroying this huge behemoth of mechanized power is impossible but it is not impossible. It is extremely possible because it is pyramidally structured. Kill the heads of the snake and the entire power structure will crumble. If another head appears: kill it also… until it becomes apparent that anyone who tries to assume power as a head of any evil organization will be killed dead and that becoming the head of a central bank or a centralized govt is a death warrant.

When that happens all the acolytes and puppets of these evil centralized pyramidal organizations will flee and go into hiding in terror and in fear for their lives.

One person cannot do this… I cannot do it. It takes an organized body of dedicated killers who will not stop until all the evil heads of the snake are killed dead. That can be done. All it takes is courage. Intelligence, and the ability to organize together and cooperate with each other.

Understand this:

Because of the undead; the human animal has never been allowed to develop all of its latent, untapped, intrinsic abilities and potential.

Humans are designed to touch and be touched.
Humans are designed to live naked so they can feel the sun, the air, the wind, the rain on their naked bodies.

Humans are designed to touch all living creatures. We are designed to touch with our hands and our hearts and our minds and our wisdom and our insight and our love everything that is alive.

You cannot dream or even fantasize what humans are capable of if given the opportunity to develop our true designed functions. We are capable of transforming the entire world beyond your wildest fantasies.

519

But in order to do so; we must first cast off the poisonous presence of the undead.
And in order to do that; we must kill them all and send them back to their rotting hell.

The undead purposefully have sought to make humans as weak and harmless as possible like they tried with me…

They failed.

They have made humans as weak and as cowardly and as deranged as possible.

They have sought to leach out all love and courage out from all human society.
They have sought to poison and twist and destroy all intelligence and wisdom.

I am telling you that you are able and capable of doing and being a thousand times better than you are now if you develop your sense of wonder and stay true to yourself and have the courage to face reality without any illusions. Because if you do… you will become able to kill these undead foul, rotting things.

Why do I say this?

Because that is exactly what I was lucky enough to do, and if I can do it; so can anyone else. By giving you the accumulated knowledge and experience and wisdom of 78 years you have a head start that I never did.

Living organisms were never designed to kill each other and never designed to eat each other. That is why birds, one of the oldest species on earth developed dead beaks so they would not feel the pain and agony of the creatures they were killing and eating. That is why animals developed dead hooves so they would not feel the pain and agony of the living plants they were crushing under their feet. That is why animals developed dead teeth so they would not feel the pain and agony of the living organisms they were crushing and killing and eating. That is why predators developed dead claws so they would not feel the terror and pain and agony of the animals they were catching and killing. That is why clams and crustaceans and insects developed dead protective shells, that is why insects developed dead protective shells..

You can visually see the effect of the undead on dinosaurs over millions of years of their evil filthy presence… Dinosaurs did not "evolve"; from harmless love puppies into grotesque lumbering giants; they slowly turned into ugly horrible monsters because of the undead presence in their bodies and minds and hearts. And because of the presence of the undead in dinosaurs, they went against their designed genetic functions and because of that they all went extinct.

Look at one of the oldest species on Earth… the sea worm… It has not gone extinct because it is still doing its genetically designed function of cleaning the sand in the oceans of the world. The most dominant, intelligent species on Earth: the dinosaurs turned into horrible monsters and disappeared but the lowly sea worm is still living unchanged because it is serving a useful function for the ecological health of the world's oceans.

The reason why 99% of all species ever created by nature have gone extinct is because of the presence of the undead twisting and poisoning and reversing their genetically designed functions. And we will too unless we kill them all dead

That is why the undead must be killed and exterminated and wiped off the face of the living earth.

And that is why every human who reads this book must do it once they pass into the realm of the undead. When you die;

The Difference between Living Organisms and Dead Machines

521

Do not go into the light. That light is a trap. It is a trap that sends you into the vortex of evil where you will be dismembered and your dying life energy is used by the undead for their evil purposes.

Instead… stay in the half-world between the realm of the living and the undead… there you will see the filthy evil skulking monsters of the undead going about their evil machinations and there you can hunt them down and kill them dead.

There you will also see insane, fading human ghosts lost in the netherworld between the realms of the undead and the living… ignore them. They are harmless. They are just lost souls wandering around aimlessly.

Instead focus on the evil ones. You will be able to mark them by their evil negative auras and their evil countenance and their evil intentions and by their evil grotesque, ugly half-human half other species grotesque bodies and heads.

You can only understand the history of life on earth if you look at it as a single narrative of millions and billions of years and include the existence of the undead from the very beginnings of life and trace how this foul, evil presence poisoned and twisted and ruined the natural evolution of all life on earth. The entire mindless vicious cycle of killing and eating, living in constant fear of being killed is what has dumbed down all living species and turned living species into enemies of each other. It has made nearly all living species exist in a constant state of hate and fear and seeing each other as potential enemies.

But put a loving human into the equation and you will see a lizard clinging to a man in love and trust… you can see thousands and thousands of examples on the internet where loving humans have developed close loving relationships with different species from reptiles to birds to mammals to dolphins to whales.

That is what we were genetically designed to do. But we cannot do it as long as the undead befoul and poison the living earth with their presence. That is why they must first be killed dead before good can triumph over evil and life triumph over death.

Understand This

The undead are vampire parasites. They feed off all kinds of Energy. Different kinds of these rotting filth feed off of different kinds of Energy. They feed off camp fires, They feed off all kinds of fire. They feed off candles. They even feed off of pilot lights in gas stoves and gas heaters. Scientists have discovered haunted houses have cold spots. That is because the undead suck on the heat energy in these areas. They feed off the Life Energy of Living humans and animals and birds and pets. They feed off electric heaters. Turn the heaters off and they go dormant… Turn them back on and they spring back into action. They feed off electric appliances. They feed off televisions, computers, computer screens, electric power lines. They feed off the energy of vibrations from drums and musical instruments. Why do you think all cultures have drums in their ceremonies? Why did all the African tribes use drums? Why have the undead expanded music until it is everywhere; in elevators and stores? Then the undead combined drums and musical instruments in the relatively new evil invention called Rock'n Roll as I outlined and explain in pages 2755-2759 in The Path of Splitness.

The undead can also control weather patterns like storms and hurricanes. For instance in 2001 on September 10th, the undead halted a hurricane just off New York city that was about to hit the city and used all that potential negative energy and replaced it with the false flag operation known as 9-11. So instead of the hurricane hitting the city; the twin towers and building 7 were demolished from the inside by thermite explosives attached to the steel girders. In this way the undead managed to keep the energy-karma of the Earth from there being a backlash against their direct interference into the Energy fields of the Living Earth. In the same way the undead used an iceberg to sink the Titanic which was actually the damaged Olympic to cover up their conspiracy to kill all the robber barons who were against establishing a private central bank controlled by jews.

The undead learned that any direct interference into human affairs without masking it from the basic Energy fields of the Living Earth has a huge karmic backlash effect on them and their puppets in the world. This happened when Jesus was crucified. The living Earth detected the undead connections between his death and the realm of the undead and there was a huge catastrophic karmic backlash against their interference… The result was despite everything the undead tried to do to stop it; the teachings of Jesus prevailed and spread all over the world because the Universe recognizes it as Positive Energy.

This is why the undead seek to destroy and nip in the bud any new burgeoning Positive Life Energy as early as possible… By the time they killed Jesus it was too late. His new Positive Energy movement had already grown too large and was spreading too fast to stamp out.

In the case of Germany and Hitler National Socialist movement; the undead suckered Hitler into attacking first, and even then with the karmic advantage on their side, it took all the evil in the world gathered together to destroy him and the German people.

Karmic energy works in this way: An unprovoked attack can be defeated; but only if the response is immediate. That is why in gun fights the person who moves first to shoot loses, unless there is a backlog of karmic guilt connected to the fight that makes the first to move justified. But in large conflicts; the laws of physics overcomes the law of karmic justice. Karmic law only works when the conflict is clearly focused between Good and evil. If one person is Good and the other is evil; in a fair fight the good person will always win.

But once you die and enter the mid-realm between the realm of the living and the realm of the undead: all the laws of Physics disappear and only the laws of the Universe and Karmic Law remains… That is why once you die, IF you have lived a good moral ethical life: you are powerful enough to kill the undead. Every injustice and evil done to you, you can repay back a thousand fold by killing all those entities who were involved in harming you.

That is why if you are a Good person and are not corrupt and weak; you can kill the undead once you die. But if the undead hiding inside you all your life have successfully poisoned you and weakened you and turned you onto paths of evil and corruption; they will easily use your own weaknesses and false beliefs against you. That is why even though the undead managed to kill Jesus physically; his spirit was so powerful and pure he wreaked havoc throughout the realm of the undead after he died. How you live your entire life will determine how you will fair once you die. That is one reason I write this book… to strip away all illusions of the afterworld and all the cunning tricks the undead use against you after you die… As long as you know that ALL the undead are evil and that all of them must be killed dead and that all illusions they try on you are false; they cannot kill you and you will be able to kill them: Period.

You need to understand that initially; all living organisms are born as Positive Energy… But you were born into a world that is cloaked in Negative Energy. The presence of the undead is like a fog, covering the entire Living Earth. You've heard about the fog of war, humans for untold millennia have feared the phenomenon of fog and have seen it as being evil. By permeating the entire Living Earth like a fog with their evil presence, the undead seek to systematically poison all Living Positive Energy and turn it into Negative Energy. They have done it for billions of years and their Karmic debt load of accumulated evil is so huge that the slightest backlash could wipe them all out in an instant. That is why they are so easy to kill. The undead cannot stand or fight against Positive Energy. They can only run from it and flee from it and seek to subvert it.

There are only three things needed for human happiness: Friendship, Love and Beauty… Nature provides all three of these elements; if it were not for the fact that the undead permeate the earth with evil; humans could live in nature without any machines. That is why the undead must be hunted down and killed with extreme prejudice.

Until you can tell and detect the difference between Good and evil; you are living in a poisoned swamp of Hedonistic, irrational, insane evil that is perceived to be "normal" and any attempt to be Good will fail on an individual level.

Only when a large enough population of enlightened humans organize together against evil can there be any chance or hope of defeating the undead. This is why reading my two books is only the first step to defeating the undead. Every single person who reads these two books should spread them to everyone they know and begin to organize groups who contact other people who have read my two books and form a single enlightened global organization to make my two books internationally known.

Before any human can find happiness they must go to war against the undead and kill them all dead. Happiness cannot survive in the world because of the undead. As long as the undead violate the realm of the living with impunity; the human species will go extinct and it will be eons before any species evolves to the extent that it can detect and kill these foul, rotting insane leftovers of rotting corpses.

The very idea that one species out of millions of species should exploit, use up, all of the world's natural resources for their own personal Hedonistic ease and pleasure is insane. Furthermore; in the process of exploiting and raping the entire Earth; that oh, just by happenstance, that this one species at the same time is also polluting and Poisoning the air, the earth and the waters of the entire world, and that nobody is doing anything to stop it, is not only insane and evil: it is not a fucking coincidence… it is not just human selfishness or stupidity or human short sightedness; it is the deliberate plan and intention of the undead to destroy all life on earth.

Civilization is based on the insane idea-assumption that human animals are not part of Nature… That somehow they are special… that some non-existent "god" created them apart from all other animals on Earth, This is the bedrock principle of civilization. That because humans are not part of Nature: they can do anything they want to all the living-breathing organisms of the world. This idea ignores the fact that humans share over 90% of their genetic DNA with all other species on Earth. This one scientific fact refutes all assumptions and idea that humans are in some way "special" or created by some "god".

But exactly what purpose did any "god" create this one living species?... eh? What is this species genetic purpose? No religion has an answer to that;… except the human ability to discern Good from evil… Think about that… because that is exactly why I wrote these two books. To enlighten and educate people about the existence of evil

Get that through your head
Unless humans wake up and become aware of the existence of the undead and their ultimate ghoul; that is exactly what will happen.

Being evil is not natural.
Being evil is not part of human nature.

Humans are only evil when the undead control them and manipulate them to be evil.

That is why all evil people must be killed dead.

The trouble is 99% of humans are evil… they just don't know it… they are not aware that they are being controlled by the undead to be evil.

That is the existential doom facing all humanity today.

Many who are more aware than others see what is going on in the world; but mistakenly believe in a god… Feel or think or believe that the "end-times" prophecy of the end of the world, the end of the Universe, the end of all Life, the end of Humanity is fast approaching, and that when this happens there will be the 'rapture'; where all good people are saved and go to heaven and all evil people will be cast down into hell…

They are dead wrong.

What will happen is the Universe will still exist, this planet will still revolve around the sun; only it will be empty of all Love and Intelligence and Awareness and Humans and Life. And it will take the Universe billions or trillions of years to create a new way for all Energy to find a way to come together without harming itself.

That is what love is:… it is a way for living creatures to come closer together without harming each other.

There is no other power or energy or form of energy that can do this in the Universe. That is why love is so special.

The undead have been attacking and poisoning and destroying Love ever since it first appeared in the hearts of humans; but they don't know how to destroy it completely!

The undead have been attacking and poisoning and destroying Life ever since it first appeared on this Earth; but they don't know how to destroy it completely!

Now the undead are very close to being able to do it.

The undead have been assembling not one, but many, many different ways to destroy all life on earth. They want to unleash all of them at the same time; not just one… this is what the real purpose of the new machine, "AI" technology is for…

Why??

All you need to do is ask Hedonists what is the purpose of their Life and they have no answer. All you need to do is ask Hedonists what is the meaning of their lives and they have no answer… Hedonists do not ask questions… Hedonists do not ask why they do anything. Their excuse for whatever they do is because they "like" doing it. Whether it is playing video games or collecting stamps or stuffing their faces with pizza or drinking coffee or snorting cocaine. But that makes no sense. That does not answer the question. "liking" doing something is not a reason. You may like raping little girls but that is not a reason; that does not make it right or good. Liking something does not make it right or good.

Civilization is like a giant henhouse; the mindless masses are fed chickenfeed so they can produce the billions that the billionaire farmers profit from. Now that AI automation is increasing the billionaire farmers need less consumer chickens to make their billions in profits and are seeking to depopulate the unneeded chickens, while a few chickens that are noticing this in indignation; the rest of the brainless masses remain ignorant and brainwashed.

But the oligarch billionaire farmers need the billions of consumer chickens in order to make their billions of profits. Without the billions of consumer chickens these evil stinking billionaires could not exist. That is the closed loop self-dependency of civilization and that is why it is designed to destroy itself like the snake of evil eating its own tail.

In order to be a sane human being you must ask yourself what is the purpose of your life. What is the reason you are alive. Being part of the giant henhouse called civilization is no answer. Civilization does not have an answer to the meaning of Life. Civilization is not part of Life on earth. It is against all Life on earth. It is destroying the earth.

Getting married and having sex and raising babies and children is not a reason for being alive. Billions of humans have already done that without thinking or asking why and the result is 8 billion insane Hedonistic consumers in an insane overpopulated henhouse called civilization destroying and polluting the planet they live on.

That is why this book must be spread and read… so every human will learn the true reason and the meaning of their lives, and the only way to fulfill it is to create the new civilization that I have outlined in this book; and totally destroy the civilization we live in now before the undead use it to destroy all Life on Earth.

The Universe is imperfect. We humans are the only Energy in the Universe capable of improving the designs of Nature and the Universe. That is how unique and potentially powerful humans can become if we wake up and kill the undead. If this book is spread and humans wake up and kill the undead and their controlled puppets before it is too late; the sky is the limit to what we can accomplish.

The undead are trying to repeat the imperfection of the Universe accumulating too much Energy into giant stars that eventually explode and destroy themselves by accumulating humans into huge cities. If humans read my books and wake up and reverse this evil by forming communities of 12 or 24 or 36 families; this evil can be reversed and wiped out> But only if all humans are educated about the existence of the undead and their deadly ultimate goal to destroy all Life on Earth.

Why is this the answer to all the evils of the present civilization? Because it will do away with consumerism… it will do away with the need for mass manufacturing factories poisoning and polluting the world, it will do away with national governments and their huge armies and nuclear missiles… it will do away with jewish owned central banks and their control over governments and politicians… it will do away with politicians, it will do away with mass media and the mass brainwashing of billions of consumers, it will do away with chemical companies and pharmaceutical companies and oil companies and huge corporations. It will do away with the use of money and the motive of profit and the evils of avarice and greed.

It will do away with billionaires and all the inequality and inequity and wars and mass starvation and impoverishment that exists today. It will do away with all the mindless, pointless Hedonism of hobbies and cliques building their stinking boats and cars and mansions and individual homes. It will do away with drug addiction. It will do away with all the addictions of this civilization. It will do away with wars. It will make everyone much healthier because they will no longer be eating or drinking toxic processed foods and beverages, people will no longer be obese because living in Nature will involve physical activity every day. Humans will no longer be exposed to pollutants in their water, air, food and soil. All pollution from the old civilization will be cleaned up as a global cooperative effort to bring the Living Earth back to full health.

The concept of buying or selling anything will be correctly seen as an evil of the old civilization and done away with. Instead humans will interact with each other purely on a voluntary cooperative level not based on self-interest, but on the mutual shared responsibility has for the well-being and improvement of all Life on Earth.

It will re-introduce ethnic purity as a communal good and allow people of the same culture and ethnicity to live in peace together without hating or fearing their neighbors simply because like attracts like on a social level far outweighs the possibility of opposites attracting each other. It will energize and raise the intelligence of humans by everyone being directly connected to Nature and living in the natural Beauty of the world. It will enable humans to cooperate with each other and heal all the environmental devastation of millions of years of the depredations and destruction of Nature by civilized people.

The bottom line is the entire pyramidal structure of civilization must be torn down and destroyed and replaced with a social structure that does not allow for any social structure or organization to exceed the universal logical numbers of 12, 24, and 36.

But this can only happen if the undead are killed dead… that is the first agenda of the new civilization. Nothing can be achieved as long as the undead poison and ruin all good intentions of humans.

That is the task of all enlightened humans who read this book. That means you must become proactive organized killers of evil people all over the world. If you do not you will remain helpless, stupid, duped slaves of the undead living in fear of your evil masters.

Ever since the human species was created by Nature; the undead have led humans into the depths of depravity and corruption and unhappiness and evil all by luring humans into selfish pleasures and ease; while slowly, systematically taking control over them step by step from the first day they are born to the last day that they die…

What innocent baby born into this world permeated by the undead can ever realize and understand the invisible cunning evil that surrounds it and hides inside of it? What chance does any living human have to consciously fight against such horrible unseen invisible cunning evil foes that are as old as Life itself? When it cannot see what it is fighting and is not aware that the evil which exists is not only all around it but is hidden inside it also??... There is no chance. There never was any chance for humans to cleanse themselves of the undead…

Until now… now you who read these two books have been made aware of the undead and how cunning they are and how evil they are…

When you realize what they have done to you… how they have poisoned and weakened you and corrupted you… how all your failings and faults are not because of you but because of the undead's deliberate attempt to make you easy prey once you reach the realm of the undead…

Then your passion to kill them and tear them limb from limb as savagely and viciously as possible will be as passionate as my desire to kill these filthy pieces of undead shit.

Once you realize and understand what I have made clear as day and laid out in these two books; you will not tolerate the unknowing brain dead masses who are all unaware of their own selves being puppets of the undead. You will only socialize with those who have read these two books and understand and share the knowledge that the only way humans can live with each other is by being completely honest with each other and cooperate with each other without any hidden agendas or self-seeking hidden motives or selfishness.

Then you will live a life of complete clarity and wisdom and you will be able to see through all the cunning machinations of the undead.

Then people possessed by the undead will flee from you in terror. Then the undead will expose themselves as your mortal enemies as they have with me. Then you will be able to recognize kindred souls who are as intelligent and aware as you are instantly and be able to make friends with them. Then you will be able to enlighten them by letting them read these two books. And so: by the coming together of the best of the human species; begin organizing to first kill all of the most evil possessed power mongers of the world and once you die kill every single evil ghoul you can get your hands on. That is the only way humans can save themselves from their own self destruction and the destruction of all Life on Earth.

The highest spiritual insight that is closest to the Truth of the human condition was achieved by the Christian religious conviction and insight that all men are sinners. But they never exactly explained why and how all men and women are sinners…

Now I have

Now you know why and how

The Difference between Living Organisms and Dead Machines

533

Of course the undead systematically attacked this religious level of spiritual piety and poisoned it and corrupted the masses of Christian believers and led them into Hedonism until this belief is now pooh-poohed and derided; simply because when all people are venal and corrupt, there is nobody left to point the finger of blame. Once the huge majority of the masses are corrupted; all previous levels of morality and ethics are ignored. This is how the undead have always worked… By raising the levels of venality and Hedonism slowly over generations; each new "norm" is not seen as a descent into depravity and evil but as the march of "progress" and "enlightenment" and sophistication and modernity that is designed to do away with all earlier levels of morals and ethics as being outmoded and old fashioned. The song "Anything Goes" written during the roaring 20's has been the unspoken anthem of western civilization's religious Hedonism ever since that song was sung.

How the Undead Work

So exactly how do the undead control living humans?... they do it many ways, but primarily by superimposing their undead rotting auras over your living aura… This is why you sometimes itch. When an undead aura that does not match your living aura superimposes itself and tries to influence you, one of their undead bones or skin does not match yours and that interference in your living aura causes an irritation in your energy which is felt by your skin as an itch. Rubbing the itching area does not make the undead fiend superimposing itself over your living aura go away. It just energizes your skin so it doesn't itch anymore.

This is also the reason why those who have near-death experiences encounter being of "light"… What they are actually seeing is many, many undead auras super-imposing themselves into one aura; giving the illusion that this one being is somehow more powerful or wiser or more "loving", etc. It is a way for the undead to instill awe and unquestioning worship of them in the afterlife.

But… if you remain true to yourself and keep your personality and character unchanged; the amount of interference in your life amounts to no more than the occasional itch. The undead can only really affect and control you if you suffer some serious trauma or injury. It is in movements of extreme stress, or fear, or pain… when your living aura is damaged or harmed or weakened that the undead use to pour all their evil cunning filthy poisonous power over you and try to control your thoughts and reactions and words.

Basically the reason billions of Hedonistic consumers are so easily controlled and brainwashed by the mass media is because of fear. And the reason for that is because Hedonists are cowards: they have no morals or ethics that they are willing to fight for. All they care about is their own personal pleasure and ease, and that means their own lives… nobody else's

Any human whose life is based on fear and cowardice is automatically under the control of the undead. This why the undead have created horrors like two world wars, where hundreds of millions of refugees lived in fear of being killed. Any traumatic event in your life is because the undead conspired to hurt you and weaken you and take over control of you.

If you are afraid of the dark, if you are addicted to horror movies, if you drive your car in a state of fear of someone hitting you, if you are afraid of spiders… whatever your irrational fear is, was created by the undead and is being used to control you.

The same is true for people who are terrified of being proven wrong. All liars in the world are controlled by the undead. Their fear of being publicly humiliated is also a common way the undead control humans. Egotists, egomaniacs are all controlled by the undead. The undead make sure these idiots never learn the truth about anything. If you have an "ego" that automatically means you are being controlled by the undead. That stinking poisoned-controlled by the undead jew Freud invented the concept of an ego because he could not explain why so many people consciously went against their own personal interests and lied to themselves. So the undead led him down the garden path of inventing different aspects of human personality like the "id" and the "ego". But he was a sick, twisted Jew as all jews are. They have to be in order to keep their sick twisted belief systems about themselves intact. The truth is there is no such thing as a compartmentalized human personality that Freud invented. It is all a cover for the undead evil secretly hiding inside you and controlling your thoughts and emotions.

It is only people who have no fear that the undead cannot control. I mean irrational fear: not the intelligent fear of getting off the road so a truck won't hit you. It is only people who ate honest enough to admit their mistakes and learn from them that the undead fear.

I can guarantee you this: no person who is controlled by the undead will read this entire book. Sooner or later they will read a truth that destroys their entire belief system of lies and illusions and they will stop reading. Only people who truly want to learn the truth about everything will read my two books. Only people who have retained their Sense of pure Wonder will read this book. That is why I prefaced my first book with the basic principles of how and why you learn anything. All learning is based on wonder… on wondering about things… on questioning things. If you do not question things you will never read my book and you will never learn anything.

What is the latest, newest development of human organs in the human body? Your brain? No. We already had a brain when we were monkeys. Its our skin… the fact that we stopped having fur to cover our bodies and without fur; our skin became more sensitive and we began feeling thins we never were able to feel before. It was only when we developed our skin as a sensitive organ that our brains got bigger because we became more aware, more sensitive to everything around us. That is why humans are designed to touch and feel everything with their skin and hands… which are covered with sensitive skin and why our fingertips have more nerve endings than anywhere else on our skin except our sexual organs. Our brain size increased in order to take in and process all the new information that our skin tells. Us.

And Finally the Obvious Proof that the undead exist and their Goal has always been the Destruction of All Life on Earth.

I am referring to the insane doctrine of all nuclear bomb technology called:

"Nuclear Deterrence" or "Mutually Assured Destruction"

To begin with; the entire basis of human superiority over other animals is its ability to kill… From the first stone tools to the bow and arrow and spears to swords to gunpowder to the invention of dynamite to nuclear bombs; the entire basis of civilization is based on its constantly increasing ability to kill.

The idea… the concept of manufacturing nuclear bombs… just because another nation manufactures them, so that both can agree to not use them because if they did both of them would be utterly destroyed is insane… The idea, the concept of manufacturing better and faster nuclear missiles that cannot be stopped; just to prevent another nation from launching nuclear missiles at them because if they did; both nations would be utterly destroyed and unlivable for centuries is insane.

But this is exactly what exists today. Nations like Russia and America have been engaged in a nuclear arms race ever since the atom bomb was invented and dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki. For 80 years other nations have developed nuclear bombs. For 80 years nations have stockpiled nuclear bombs and missiles and manufactured more and more of them. With the assumption that they are being produced merely as a deterrent and that they would never be used… That is insane.

When European nations manufactured the first modern artillery pieces and airplanes; the most advanced military technology at the time… How long did it take before they used it: eh?.. The result was two World Wars that ended with the invention of the atomic bomb and two atomic bombs being dropped on Japan… How long will it take before someone uses a nuclear bomb again…eh?.. It is merely a matter of time before nuclear bombs are used and that time is fast approaching.

Why? Because Israel has something called a "Samson Option" that negates the doctrine of nuclear deterrence and the doctrine of mutually assured destruction. The Samson option states that if Israel is threatened with destruction it will blow up the entire region including itself. That is insane. That is worse than suicide; it is mutually assured suicide; not mutually assured deterrence…

Yet the fact that Israel has nuclear bombs is not even admitted by the western mainstream media and nations. It is supposed to be a secret but everyone knows they have them. And because of that they do not belong to the nuclear treaty organizations that control such things.

And even worse; Israel is inhabited by batshit crazy racist supremacist Zionists who believe they will control the whole world and the Goyim will be their slaves to be treated like animals and when the world ends they will all go up to heaven where they will reign supreme over all the Goyim as they did on Earth…

Right now as I am writing this: The greatest superpower on Earth the U.S. govt; headed by the senile narcissistic, megalomaniac president Trump is becoming increasingly belligerent towards Iran and threatening to assassinate its spiritual leader and bomb it in its goal of regime change… The Iranians who previously have refused to build a nuclear bomb purely on religious spiritual reasons are finding themselves forced to build one just out of pure self survival… As North Korea had been forced to after being repeatedly lied to and betrayed by the U.S, govt.
More and more national govts are finding that the only way they can defend themselves against the neo-con controlled insane Zionist U.S hegemony in its final desperate attempt for global dominance is to build a nuclear bomb out of the instinct for self-survival…

What will happen if Israel and the U.S. launches another unprovoked attack on Iran again like it just did?.. And Iran has a nuclear bomb-missile? What will happen if more and more nations build nuclear bombs just for self-survival? India and Pakistan who are both equipped with nuclear missiles just narrowly avoided a nuclear confrontation… The present trend is clear and insane and inevitable. It has only one result: A nuclear holocaust that will not only destroy all of civilization but it will destroy all Life on Earth.

The idea!!.... That it is necessary out of self-survival to build a nuclear missiles for self-survival! The idea that all national govts should build nuclear missiles just for self-survival!!... This is not nuclear proliferation: it is nuclear insanity! Is beyond insanity! Yet it is happening right now…

And you don't see the fingerprints of the undead all over this? The one nuclear power nation that is so insane as to have the Samson Option… going berserk and attacking Iran in a surprise attack with the personal aid of the United States president no less…! Now facing the threat of complete annihilation… A nation of insane Zionists who believe in the End of the World myth being pushed to their limit with no one to control them and you don't see the undead at work here? The very existence of this artificial, unnatural jewish state in the Middle east is proof of the undead's ultimate goal.

What happened to the most intelligent species before humans? Dinosaurs evolved from harmless little puppies into insane horrible monsters intent on killing everything they could catch including each other and they went extinct because of it.

The undead are doing the same to humans: They are driving humans to destroy the entire earth and destroy themselves at the same time.

The Difference between Living Organisms and Dead Machines

If you condense the history of the evolution of Life on Earth; this is what you get:

First there were the flying insect wars; then there were the Dinosaur wars… Then there were the Neolithic monster wars, then there were there were human wars culminating in two World Wars with a third nuclear world war in the offing… Now there are mechanical drone wars replicating the first insect wars… Over hundreds of millions of years the historical pattern has been the same because the ghouls of the undead have always been the same. The undead do not change. They are all evil. That is why they must be exterminated.

New Archeological Findings about Jesus

Two new discoveries about Jesus have just been revealed: The letter from Lentulus to the Roman senate during the time that Jesus was alive: describing him as a forceful, charismatic revolutionary who was a man of peace and violence was verified as being a genuine 1st century document. And the newly discovered letter he wrote to his brother John just before his death was also verified as being a 1st century document… Then there is the personal account written to the Roman senate of what happened after Jesus' death… the earthquakes, the darkening of the skies over Jerusalem, the fear and panic and guilt of the jews in Jerusalem which was doubted as a forgery but now has been verified as genuine…

When you put them all together it shows that Jesus was an ordinary man with doubts and weaknesses and faults: not a god. He chased the moneylenders out of the temple because he was a man of violence against evil. He was perceptive enough to recognize that money was the root of all civilized evil. He was tall, muscled and blue-eyed and violent and morally passionate enough to terrify an entire gang of money lenders. Nobody could stop him when he became angry and violent… But among his followers he was peaceful and kind and loving.

Yet he was misunderstood by his own followers and he revealed this in his personal letter too his brother John… and tried to preserve his wisdom and teachings after his death by trying to make sure that John would keep them intact and only reveal them to those advanced enough to understand them.

Another recent archeological discovery that John was actually the head of his disciples ties in with and explains why Jesus wrote his personal letter only to to John and not to anyone else…

Then there is the letter written to the Roman senate about what happened in Jerusalem after Jesus was killed… The sky darkening in mid-day, the earth quakes, the jewish masses being gripped in fear and guilt and foreboding…

What can be gleaned from all these new details about Jesus?

Four things:

1: Jesus was a man not a god.

2: Jesus was the first integrated human.

3: Jesus was a man of peace and violence.

4: Jesus was a mass murderer of the undead.

You see; the undead did not know how to deal with Jesus because he was the first of his kind. They had never encountered someone they could not corrupt and weaken and fool and delude… So they tried to destroy him physically while he was alive. They tried to kill him as brutally and sadistically as possible. They succeeded…. But… his physical death did not affect the integrity and power of his aura after he died. After his death, he began killing all the evil ghouls that had surrounded him. He began killing all the undead in and around Jerusalem… He went on a rampage killing all the undead he could find in Jerusalem. Over the skies of Jerusalem and underneath it inside the catacombs and fissures in the rocks until all of Jerusalem trembled and houses fell. All the undead hiding inside the bodies of living evil jews became so terrified that their puppets could not hide the fear and guilt and terror emanating from the undead hiding inside them.

What was the secret knowledge that he gave to his brother John the leader of his disciples? Why was he so depressed at that time just before his impending death?... The answer lies in what happened after he died and began mass murdering the undead… He found out that there is no god; only demonic evil entities in the afterworld… He was not duped or fooled when the undead tried to pose as a god when he passed into their realm. Instead he began killing them and they could not stop him from killing them… That was his final insight into spirituality that began with his doubts and that he dared not disclose to his followers…

Why is this plausible? His last dying words were asking why his god had forsaken him. In fact one of the apocryphal gospels banned by the church recounts how an evil undead entity comes out of Jesus' body and openly jeers at him on the cross… What if he arrived in the realm of the undead and discovered that he had been duped, that there was no god… only evil demonic entities laughing at him…? What if just before he died the undead in their hatred of him revealed themselves too early? Can you imagine the rage of a religious zealot who had based his entire life on the belief in a supreme deity, only to find out that he was wrong? That he had been fooled? How else can the events after his death be explained in the immediate vicinity of his death? Other martyrs have died and no such after-effects have ever been recorded. But they were not as wise and as perceptive and as spiritually powerful and as integrated as Jesus was…

The lesson you need to take from this is no matter how much the undead try to convince you that you are powerless and you don't matter… IF you are integrated like I am and Jesus was… IF you are a man of peace and violence… meaning that you are someone who loves all good loving peaceful people and hate all evil people and have a visceral urge-desire-passion to kill them… If you can correctly perceive the difference between Good and evil… Once you get to the realm if the undead… you will be powerful enough to kill them and kill them and kill them and kill them… and they won't be able to stop you…

That is why your mission in Life is to become as integrated as possible. This means developing all of you human potential and abilities and talents including the ones you are not good at so that they are all balanced and interconnected…

This means your physical-emotional-mental health and abilities must all be developed. Being mentally intelligent while being fat and unathletic is not good enough. Being athletic and physically fit while being uneducated and ignorant is not good enough. Being enlightened and informed without having a moral-ethical backbone that you live by is not good enough. Being moral and ethical while being a physical coward at the same time is not good enough. You need to impervious to all the cunning evil tricks and delusions of the undead. Only if you have one goal: to kill as many of them as you can will you become invulnerable to their illusions and tricks.

You need to have the moral-ethical-physical courage to kill the undead the instant you can get your hands on them. You need to want to kill them. The only weapon they have against you is fear… And that artificial fear does not come from you… it come from the undead hiding inside you who generate fear only when you are not expecting it… Fear only works as a surprise attack; leaving you momentarily vulnerable at a crucial instant in time…

Well guess what…

When you die physically and enter the realm of the indeed; you will be ready for any and all surprise attacks… There will be no undead hiding inside your physical body anymore because your living aura will not be in a physical body anymore, so they will be unable to poison you with fear anymore… Then you can start hunting them down and killing them and killing them and killing them.

The undead have socially isolated me because they learned from the lesson of Jesus. They could not stop his teachings from spreading because he taught and preached to too many people when he was alive…

But now there is the internet…

Now my books can be copied and spread millions of times and there is nothing the undead can do to stop it… The internet which was invented by the undead to socially isolate humans from each other… but it can also be used to spread the Truth… I am using their own evil against them to spread my books on the internet so that people will wake up and begin socializing with each other in person and form their own small communities where they all live together, work together, sleep together, play together, learn together and love together. That is what Jesus practiced and preached and that is the only way people can escape the evils of civilization.

The whole point of my blueprint for a new civilization is to reverse the deterioration and degradation of the family and family values and to upgrade it and improve it to the level of community values and beyond that: to expand and improve the social structure of civilization so it becomes an intelligent, planned global power based on Responsibility and Cooperation that can and will transform the entire Earth beyond your wildest imagination by reversing and destroying every evil on Earth; beginning with the basic pyramidal evil structure of social, economic, political and military hierarchy…

You can find the rotting ancient pyramids of ancient civilizations all over the world and they are all dead and extinct. The lesson you should learn from them is they all went extinct for a reason and the reason is the control the undead have had over living humans for millions of years ever since the first human was lured into evil by the undead..

Get this through your head.

My two books are the only thing that will save humans from destroying themselves and destroying all Life on Earth. As I speak now; all the bees have disappeared from my wild meadow this year due to the geo-engineering of chemtrails releasing deadly nano particles into the atmosphere that interfere with bees ability to return to the hive.

Dane Wigington has come forth to reveal that government-run geoengineering programs are covertly injecting toxic nanoparticles—like aluminum and barium—into the atmosphere under the guise of climate intervention, raising serious health and environmental concerns. Nicole Shanahan, RFK Jr.'s former running mate, claims a government whistleblower provided evidence that these programs are ongoing despite official denials and strategic rebranding to obscure their existence. Geoengineering expert Dane Wigington tells that these activities are linked to rising rates of diseases like Alzheimer's and the collapse of pollinators, while criticizing the lack of transparency, safety testing, and accountability.

This is a matter of Life and death.
Not only for you and your children
But for the entire Earth

That is why every human who can read needs to read these two books; and why every person who reads these books needs to spread my books to as many literate people as possible.

The closest theory that aligns with actual truth about the evil undead is Magdalena Alonso Villaba's theory called Metempsychosis which she invented in 1976.. She died ion September 11th 2023 and her idea has been totally ignored by mainstream academia. Her theory is that when a person dies; their soul leaves their body and wanders in the air until it enters another person who then acts and behaves as the pervious person did… She had no idea or conception of how horrible and poisonous this theory could be. It destroys the entire concept of free will… It relegates all humans who are born to innocent victims of hovering undead fiends ready to invade their bodies and take them over… Instead this theory is only believed in the idea of the soul of one hero of the people like Thomas Sankara, entering the body of Ibrahim Traore which is total bullshit… The undead cannot survive in the air and they cannot survive direct sunlight But they can and do survive in darkness and they can and do enter the bodies of living people and take them over slowly and inexorably until by the time a person dies they have been completely taken over and upon their death the undead leaves the dying person and slips into the body of another victim while the dying feeble aura of that person is swallowed up into the vortex in the realm of the undead where they are dismembered and their aural energy is used for the continued existence of the evil fiends of the undead and their power.

The only aspect of Villaba's theory that is accurate is that an undead entity taking over control of a living person's soul is a form of psychosis: It is a deadly sickness, a disease that turns people who were once honest and decent and loving into inhuman monsters with no conscious, no ethics, no morality and no love… All you need to do is look around you and trace the descent into evil of people who once were not evil. That process is the direct result of them being infiltrated and poisoned and controlled by the undead. One obvious example is the life of Donald J. Trump.

There is only one pyramidal dynamic in Nature called by scientists: "the food pyramid"… it is not a food pyramid… it is a pyramid based on killing, on death. It is based on larger species killing and eating smaller species. The larger the species the higher in the pyramid of death they are until you reach the top of the death pyramid… In the oceans, the top of the pyramid of death are blue whales and killer whales… During the age of the dinosaurs the top of the death pyramid was Tyrannosaurus Rex… In the African savannah it was lions and their prides… Now humans are at the top of the death pyramid… They kill and eat all other species… When humans were nomadic they still shared top predator status with other large animals until they invented tools to kill the top predators and the largest animals like the Mastodons and Mammoths…

What changed all that? When did humans first create the basis for sedentary civilization?... In northern Israel… where anthropologists found the first evidence of humans crushing seeds to make flour… Why is this so crucial? Why is this historical bit of evidence so important??

Because the undead invented an even more evil way of killing and destroying all Life on Earth… Rather than just killing animals and fish and plants… the undead wanted to kill the source of all Life, the origins of all Life… the seeds of Life… So the undead made their human puppets start to crush and kill and eat seeds…

Eating seeds for nutrition makes no sense… You need to pick thousands of seeds to have just one meal… It would take you hours to have just one handful. Where did this idea come from? From the undead. The idea of growing millions of plants just to kill them and take all their seeds of Life and crush them and eat them… today seems normal but it is not normal it is evil. There is no normality, only millions of years of ongoing ever-increasing insanity and evil by the undead… until now you have the insanity of machines causing mass murder, mass death, mass destruction. Huge agricultural combines cutting and killing trillions of plants and gathering all their seeds to crush them and kill them or use them to feed cattle that are in turn also killed and eaten by billions of insane brainwashed human consumers who would never kill an animal themselves personally.

Why is this anthropological discovery in northern Israel so important?? Because that is where Jews first originated from… That is where the concept of Armageddon comes from… the end of the world… the end of the living Earth. The undead have been using Jews as their puppets to destroy all Life on Earth for thousands of years… Now these evil jews are reaching their ghoul… They are trying desperately to start a 3rd nuclear world war.

The battle between Life and death is going on today… Every day in Gaza jews are killing starving Palestinians and nobody in the world is trying to stop them except Yemen… Oh Ye Men! How many of ye are evil? How many of ye are doing nothing to stop evil? How many of ye are enabling evil by doing nothing? How many of ye are being controlled and used as puppets by the undead? The proportional answer is obvious.

To understand the horror and evil that the genocide in Gaza is you have to go back millions of years in order to understand the history of this region and why it has always been a focal point of conflict and religious hatreds and chaos and wars…

For millions of years the Middle east was the funnel through which countless waves of hominids, walking apes migrated out of Africa into the rest of the world. The first waves lived in caves on the hillsides and were attacked by succeeding waves of hominids… This was the first time hominid became so overpopulated that it led to war… This was the first time hominid tribes warred against each other instead of just going somewhere else to avoid conflict… The reason why hominids migrated out of Africa was because the undead hated them and all the top predators of Africa hated them and hunted them down and killed them. They were a threat to the entire pyramidal eco system of death and evil in Africa. The threat they posed was the threat of Love… Where the dominant species did not kill, but instead made friends. Hominids-walking apes-humans were and still are not genetically designed to kill anything yet they were and still are the most intelligent, adaptive dominant species on Earth…

Even with the undead poisoning hominids, making them use stone tools and made them become scavengers and ;earning how to kill other animals; the killing fields of the African Veldt, the packs of wild dogs, cheetahs, Leopards, Hyenas, lions that hunted at night were too dangerous for them… Every night they were forced to fight off these predators and hominids do not have the night vision predators have; they could not see as well…

So systematically, over hundreds of thousands of years if not millions of years; every sub species of hominids were either hunted to extinction or forced out of Africa.. That is the back history of the Middle east acting as a geographical funnel as the only way out of Africa…

Now we come to the present and I will connect it to the past so you can understand how the undead work…

What happened was over hundreds of thousands of years of walking apes-hominids-Neanderthals-humans killing each other in this narrow corridor that the numbers of their rotting undead souls built up over time… Until they rent the barrier between the realms of the undead and the Realm of the Living. With the barrier-skin between the Realms of the undead and the Realm of the Living ripped open: there followed an influx of undead ghouls flooding into the Realm of the Living… Over time a thin gauze was placed over that inter-dimensional wound… But it was a thin gauze that kept on bleeding hordes of undead ghouls into that region… and for hundreds of thousands of years that region remained a focal point of all evil undead entering into the Realms of the Living and causing huge evil…

NOW THAT GAUZE HAS BEEN RIPPED OFF

WHAT REMAINS IS GAZA; AN OPEN BLEEDING WOUND

A KILLING FIELD WHERE EVIL JEWS MURDER AND KILL STARVING PALESTINIAN BABIES.

The Lure of Love

One of the mist cunning and evil tactics the undead use on good people who are capable of love; especially in family situations is to surround them with evil conniving people who are incapable of love, and have them waste their entire lives seeking their approval and recognition and love while their siblings treat them like dirt, manipulate them, use them and then throw them away, humiliate them, destroy their lives, betray them, steal from them, back stab them and leave them broken, alone, impoverished, traumatized, miserable, depressed, unhappy.

549

Understand This:

People who are actually capable of love are as rare as hens teeth. People who yearn for love are a tiny minority. People who love are used and victimized by the dead. The undead use their need to be loved as a weapon against them. The undead use it so those who yearn for love to tolerate those unfeeling evil scum they are surrounded with; who are completely controlled by the undead and allow them to get away with their evil, their cruelty, their sadism, their nastiness, etc. The undead hate and fear all Love. Love is attacked and poisoned and corrupted and destroyed by the undead. They have been doing it for thousands of years. The undead cannot allow Love to survive because they know if Love flourishes and grows and spreads all their evil will be washed away and all their evil plans and conspiracies will come to nothing.

The undead have learned how to use and spoil and poison every single natural urge and proclivity and instinct for goodness and decency and Love in living humans. That is one reason why every living person needs to read these two books. Only when you are pre-warned and armored against all the cunning tactics and tricks and stratagems of the undead can you defeat them and stay true to your basic Humanity and not allow yourself to be corrupted by them.

Every sweetness! From the first sweet apple Eve offered to Adam to the sweet roundness of her breasts and buttocks to the sweetness of her lips to the sweetness of her love… everything that is good and kind and sweet the undead have corrupted and twisted and poisoned. The undead have replaced the sweetness of love with the mass produced poison of addictive processed sugar. The undead poison all innocent, untainted purity. The undead poison all innocent, untainted purity.

Understand This!

Everything that is Artificial is evil!

From artificial intelligence to artificial chemicals to artificial drugs, from artificial sweeteners to artificial butter called margarine, to artificial makeup on female faces to artificial images on flat screens to artificial symbols to artificial meanings to artificial environments… Today there is so much artificiality and fakery in civilization that people cannot tell what is real and what is fake, Billions of people are living inside bubbles of unreality and are becoming increasingly paranoid and insane because of it. Civilization has become so horrible and inhuman and artificial that people are escaping from the horrors of civilization into fantasies and self-delusions, Civilization is an artificial shell invented by the undead to isolate humans from Reality and Nature and corrupt them and make them go against their own True Nature… Everything in civilization is artificial; that is why all of it is evil.` That is why modern civilization must be completely destroyed before it destroys the entire world…

The origin of Artificial; Intelligence. was first invented as a contingency plan in case of a nuclear world war; so even after all humans were killed on one side; there would still be a mechanical program that continued to launch nuclear missiles against the other side, thus insuring that both sides are killed dead… not just one side. That was the first design of artificial intelligence; it is called "the dead hand switch"… The undead have finally shown their hand … they have finally exposed: what their ultimate goal is:. Do you need any more proof to understand that the undead actually exist?.

That is why my Blueprint for a New Civilization must be read and copied and followed so that humans can go back to Nature and live in Nature, with Nature as we are genetically designed to do. That is why the undead must all be killed and destroyed and exterminated. That is why all evil people controlled by the undead must be killed also. Without their human puppets the undead are powerless. There is no hope for any lasting love unless the campaign against all evil in the world is taken up by all the good decent people of the world and we organize together to kill every single foul greedy inhuman criminal on Earth.

The moral question is:
How can one use Beauty to improve the world without sinking into the evils of usury? How can one use Love to improve the world without sinking into the evil of usury? The answer is to stop using money altogether.

What is Positive and Good about Beauty and Love is its innocence.
But innocence by its own unknowing blindness is open to being victimized and used by evil. Bees spread the pollen of flowers innocently, unknowingly, not knowing what they are doing, not knowing that they are spreading Living Beauty… That is what the human species must do;; but we must do it knowingly and wisely.

The answer is to use the four Universal principles of Honesty, Equality, Cooperation and Responsibility to create more Living Love and more Living Beauty. Life Energy is the only Positive Energy in the Universe that creates more Energy. All other kinds of Energy exchanges do not create more Energy than existed before. The lie of science that Energy cannot be created is a complete fallacy. Every garden proves it is a lie, every seed of grass proves Life Energy can and does create more Energy than existed before. Life Energy is the only Positive Energy in the Universe that grows to create more Energy. Life Energy is sacred and unique. Machine Energy is evil and destructive. Machines create death. If humans do not understand this they will be destroyed by their own machines.

The transition from nomadic tribes constantly traveling over the earth so they did not destroy the eco systems they traveled through to settlements where they systematically destroyed the eco systems they lived in took thousands of years… Without any historical perspective it was too gradual for people to notice that it was evil… The transition from a small cities to larger cities, and then to cities full of millions of people and then to billions of consumers that are now destroying all of the earth by consuming its natural resources took thousands of years to happen. Without any historical perspective it was too gradual for people to notice it was evil… The transition from many deities to a single god took thousands of years; Without any historical perspectivet was too gradual for people to notice that it was evil… The transition from goods being made individually to mass manufacturing took hundreds of years… Without any historical perspective it was too gradual for people to notice that it was evil…

Historical Perspective

If you look at the history of the last 35,000 years with any common sense; what do you see?... At the beginning you see tribes and clans and ethnic peoples, all with different deities, spirits, demons, etc. Thousands and thousands of different entities with different storylines and characteristics and personalities and meanings; all supposedly existing as invisible forces with omnipotent malevolent powers, depending on whatever culture they originated from…

As if this doesn't give the game away; then you see the deliberate dumbing down of humans into believing in only ONE deity!... Discarding all the thousands of previous deities who had been believed in for thousands of years as merely superstition! The Roman pantheon of gods wiped out in a few centuries! And replaced with what? With a penniless ordinary carpenter in Galilee… They couldn't turn him into a god, no, that was too much of a stretch; so they turned him into something even more ridiculous: the son of god! And tried to pass off his crucifixion as proof of his status by his followers being visited by him after his death!... The pure ludicrousness of this rationalization, the idea that a living person who bled and suffered and died was somehow a what? And no other human who ever bled and suffered and died was a son of some god, only Jesus? To glorify his martyrdom and use it to foist this nonsense onto his followers is incredible in itself. How exactly this one god; (the only one in the world by the way) coupled with Mary to produce his son is carefully glossed over. Instead it is called the 'immaculate conception". For god to have a penis is also glossed over; even though Man is supposed to have been created by god in his own image. So if Man has a penis then god must also have a penis… And this tripe is regularly sold and swallowed and believed in to this day. If Man was made in the image of god then god must also have intestines and a rectum. Then god must eat and shit and pee… But this logical deduction is missing from religious tects.

Only with a historical perspective spanning millions and thousands of years of human history can you see the slow, remorseless drive of the undead dumbing down humans and pushing them to become stupider and more evil and more destructive. Only then can you see the original sin of Adam and Eve, the first humans; lured by the undead to commit the sin of Hedonism as the single overriding force throughout all human history that has resulted in the insanities that exist today…

NOW: the changes happening are so fast, people are noticing it because the culmination of all the undead's plans and goals to destroy all Life on Earth are accelerating so fast and becoming clearer and more obvious; but humans have still not yet recognized where this push, this trend is coming from.

THAT IS WHY I HAVE WRITTEN THESE TWO BOOKS

THAT IS WHY EVERYONE MUST READ THESE TWO BOOKS

ONLY WHEN HUMANS RECOGNIZE THE ROOT OF ALL EVILS IN THE WORLD ARE THE UNDEAD CAN THEY DESTROY EVIL AT ITS ROOT.

The Integrated Human

For a living human to develop naturally as we are all designed to…
Meaning the natural growth and integration of all our emotional and mental and physical and social natural intrinsic abilities and potentials is virtually impossible die the presence of the undead continually poisoning and warping and stunting and ruining and sabotaging and destroying our lives from the first day of birth to the last day of death…

HOWEVER: I Indrek Pringi have managed to develop myself in spite of all the attempts by the undead filth hiding inside me and all around me and inside all the people I have come into contact with; and because of this: I can explain to you what I mean by becoming an integrated person,,,

When you are integrated: all the different aspects of your self are so interconnected that there is no lag time between experience-understanding-realization-reaction-action… You see-understand-realize-feel-act in one integrated instant without any need to think about what you see or digest what you experienced or process your feelings and emotions and thoughts…

Your thoughts and emotions become indivisible, inseparable from each other. You feel what you think emotionally and you think what you feel emotionally. You act on what you see-feel-think without any lag time inbetween. So see-feel-think-act becomes a single integrated dynamic like a computer processing thousands of computations in milliseconds.

Why an I writing of this at the end of this book? Because I have already gone through hundreds and hundreds of times when I realized that the undead had managed to succeed in planning and achieving one of their evil filthy tricks against me… Like making me emotionally angry at a certain instant enough to step on the accelerator just before I went over the top of a hill, only to find cars backed up down the hill too close to avoid and I was going too fast to brake; causing an accident where my car was totaled. Or setting up a speed trap for me and getting a traffic ticket just because I had not come to a full stop at a stop sign. Technically I could not fight the ticket even though I had almost come to a full stop… People do that all the time not coming to a full stop at stop signs; but the undead planned the entire thing against me and I knew it… These 2 examples are only some of thousands of times the undead have planned colluded and conspired against me and each time I realized it and wanted to kill them for it.

But since I couldn't; I stopped my anger. Anger is only a trigger mechanism, and it only works when there are no undead filth interfering in the situation. When you see evil; the automatic reaction of an integrated person is rage-anger and the visceral desire to destroy and kill that evil… That is impossible while you are still alive because the undead hide themselves invisibly inside others and inside yourself and all round you so you cannot see them and get at them.

BUT WHEN YOU ARRIVE IN THE REALM OF THE UNDEAD AFTER YOU DIE PHYSICALLY: THAT LIMITATION DISAPPEARS. Once you enter the realm of the undead; every entity you encounter or see can be killed dead. In their own realm they have nowhere to hide anymore; they cannot run away anymore…

Then you do not need anger anymore to kill them; just kill them dead because they need killing. They have escaped being killed for so long; their karmic guilt is so huge, they are asking to be killed.

What I mean is I do not waste my time being angry at the undead while I am alive… The longer I live the more my intention to kill them all once I enter their realm increases into a steel resolve; forged by hundreds of thousands of insights into how evil they all are.

The way to use your anger intelligently is only use it when you are attacked. When someone who is evil attacks you: The instant you recognize they are evil: your anger should be instantaneous. The undead cunningly try to avoid that natural reaction by taking you by surprise when you are not looking, by scaring you into feeling fear. If you are an integrated person like me and constantly on guard and constantly aware of everything around you; that is almost impossible to succeed. Integrated people do not feel fear. They cannot be scared. Only those who are already controlled puppets of the undead feel fear and paranoia. Of you feel fear, if you are paranoid: you are being controlled by the undead.

In this filthy evil corrupt thing called civilization; you are not allowed to kill evil when you see it. You are not allowed to use your natural anger; as a trigger to be used to kill evil. Police are supposed to arrest evil people and they have to go on trial and be sentenced and put into jail. What really happens is the most evil criminals are never arrested and only innocent good people are arrested and petty criminals; not the real evil ones who deserve to be killed a million times over… That is how the undead protect their most evil puppets from being killed dead by good people.

BUT… once you enter the realm of the undead… THEN YOU CAN USE YOUR ANGER EFFECTIVELY AND INTELLIGENTLY: How? The instant you see any entity threatening you or attacking you KILL THEM DEAD by using your anger… In the realm of the undead they will try to scare you with images of muscled monsters. The instant you see one KILL IT DEAD. ATTACK FIRST. Do not wait for them to attack you. ATTACK THEM FIRST AND KILL THEM ALL DEAD. Why do I say this? Because in the realm of the undead there are no "good' entities. There are no "good" angels. There are no "good" relatives. They are all evil: all of them. There are no exceptions. That is why all of them need to be killed dead.

Understand This:

Everything the undead try to scare you with is a carefully constructed illusion. The undead use fear as a weapon against you. Once you recognize that: Once you have no fear you can kill them and keep on killing them until they are all dead.

This is Very Important to Understand

THE UNDEAD ATTACK ALL PEOPLE WHO ARE HAPPY

THE UNDEAD HATE AND FEAR THE POSITIVE ENERGY OF HAPPINESS

THEY WANT EVERYONE TO BE EMOTIONALLY DEAD.

THEY WANT YOU TO FEEL NOTHING. LIKE YOU ARE NOW READING THIS…

WHOEVER IS READING THIS O CAN GUARANTEE THAT YOU ARE NOT HAPPY. IN FACT I CAN GUARANTEE THAT YOU HAVE NEVER EXPERIENCED ANY MOMENT OF TRUE HAPPINESS, AND IF YOU HAVE; IT WAS SO TINY, SO LITTLE, SO FAINT; IT WAS BARELY NOTICED OR FELT…

BUT IF YOU ARE ONE OF THE FEW RARE PEOPLE WHO HAVE INDEED EXPERIENCED TRUE HAPPINESS. I CAN GUARANTEE THAT YOUR HAPPINESS WAS DESTROYED ALMOST IMMEDIATELY BY THE UNDEAD; (AS MINE WAS COUNTLESS TIMES)

THE NATURAL STATE OF HUMAN EXISTENCE AND AWARENESS IS HAPPINESS… IF YOU ARE HEALTHY AND NOT PERMANENTLY DUMBED DOWN AND TRAUMATIZED AND DEADENED BY LIVING INSIDE A CIVILIZATION THAT ONLY TOLERATES DEAD SOULS WHO PERFORM THEIR ROBOTIC FUNCTIONS AS THE OBEDIENT, UNAWARE, IGNORANT-CONTROLLED PUPPETS OF THE UNDEAD; YOU WILL BE ATTACKED AND YOUR SENSE OF WELL-BEING AND HAPPINESS WILL BE DESTROYED THE INSTANT YOU BEGIN TO FEEL HAPPY.

SOMETHING OR SOMEONE WILL APPEAR ALMOST INSTANTLY TO DESTROY YOUR HAPPINESS…

I AM THE ONLY HUMAN WHO HAS EVER BECOME AWARE OF THE UNDEAD ENOUGH TO NOTICE THIS.

THAT IS WHY THE UNDEAD ARE EVIL. THAT IS WHY THEY MUST ALL BE KILLED DEAD.

But wait: you say people do not experience true happiness? Then what about all the weddings with smiling brides and grooms? What about all the parties and smiling people in those parties? Aren't they truly happy?

THAT kind false happiness is a total fraud. The form of happiness in weddings, or people who become a couple enough to live together is a bondage designed to keep them dulled down for the rest of their lives performing their everyday tasks in a state of deadened dullness until when they come home; they experience no true happiness. When they are together their relationship turns into a deadened state of false unchanging normality and any changes in that normality only go to make them more unhappy and unaware and emotionally dead. The bonds of marriage turn into everyday ho-hum ordinariness once couples become used to each other and take each other for granted.

Parties are only Hedonistic rituals where people go to enjoy their selfish little pleasures to mingle with other boring selfish Hedonists.

True happiness is when you feel happy in the moment that you are living. When everything in the world is right with you. When you radiate pure happiness so much; others are attracted to you, wishing unconsciously that some of your happiness will rub off on them. That is very rare and fleeting. The undead make sure it does not last long.

THE UNDEAD NEED TO BE KILLED DEAD BECAUSE THEY ARE THE DESTROYERS OF TRUE HAPPINESS AND BECAUSE THEY HAVE SYSTEMATICALLY DESTROYED THE HAPPINESS OF BILLIONS AND BILLIONS OF PEOPLE AND TURNED THEIR LIVES INTO TRAGIC UNHAPPINESS AND MISERY.

UNTIL THE UNDEAD ARE KILLED DEAD THERE CAN BE NO HUMAN HAPPINESS THAT LASTS.

THAT IS WHY ONCE YOU REACH THE REAKM OF THE UNDEAD YOU MUST KILL THEM ALL YOU MUST KILL THEM FOR WHAT THEY DID TO YOU WHILE YOU WERE ALIVE. THEY KNOW WHAT THEY DID TO YOU. THEY KNOW THEY ARE GUILTY OF DESTROYING YOUR LIFE WHILE YOU WERE ALIVE. THEY KNOW THEY DESERVE TO BE KILLED DEAD.

THAT IS WHY ONCE YOU ENTER THE REALM OF THE UNDEAD; THERE WILL NOT BE ONE SINGLE UNDEAD ENTITY THAT CAN STOP YOU FROM KILLING THEM, BECAUSE EVERY SINGLE UNDEAD ENTITY YOU ENCOUNTER IN THE REALM OF THE UNDEAD WAS ONE OF THE FOUL EVIL THINGS THAT WERE INVOLVED IN RUINING YOUR LIFE WHILE YOU WERE ALIVE.

THE REALM OF THE UNDEAD WORKS FROM DIRECT ASSOCIATION.

THAT MEANS EVERY SINGLE UNDEAD ENTITY THAT CONSPIRED AND ACTED TO POISON YOUR LIFE WHILE YOU ARE ALIVE, YOU WILL BE ABLE TO HUNT DOWN AND KILL THEM DEAD…

BUT IT GOES EVEN FARTHER THAN THAT…

The Difference between Living Organisms and Dead Machines

560

EVERY UNDEAD ENTITY THEY EVER CAME INTO CONTACT WITH YOU WILL ALSO BE ABLE TO HUNT DOWN AND KILL BY FOLLOWING THE DIRECT ASSOCIATIONS THE UNDEAD ENTITIES YOU KILL TO KILL THOSE WHO ARE ABOVE THE ENTITIES YOU KILL…

AND BY THAT METHOD; YOU WILL BE ABLE TO REACH THE TOPMOST CABAL OF EVIL IN THE REALM OF THE UNDEAD AND KILL THEM ALL DEAD.

THUS DESTROYING THE ENTIRE NETWORK OF ORGANIZED PYRAMIDAL-HIERARCHICAL EVIL IN THEIR REALM…

WHICH THEN ALSO DESTROYS THE ABILITY FOR UNDEAD ENTITIES HIDING INSIDE LIVING HUMANS TO CONTACT EACH OTHER AND COLLUDE WITH THOSE IN THE REALM OF THE UNDEAD; THUS ISOLATING THEM AND MAKING THEM INNEFECTIVE.

The Normalization of Evil

One of the first evils the undead managed to normalize millions of years ago was humans using tools to kill with. Turning an animal that is genetically designed not to kill into a killer… Because of the evil poisonous constant presence and influence of the undead, the entire history of humans is a complete reversal of our natural genetic design.

All you need to do is study the history of Europeans invading the new world, where they easily wiped out 97% of the indigenous population because they had better tools to kill with. And in that process they wiped out and killed entire forests, and species like the beaver in 100 years and the buffalo in a decade and replaced the buffalo with domesticated cattle that were slaughtered in butcher yards until buying meat from a store instead of killing the animal yourself became normalized. The winning of the west was based on genocide and mass mechanized butchery until it became normalized; all in the same of "progress" and Hedonism. Hedonism and progress are the same thing. They are the same evil. If asked to kill the animals they eat personally; 90% of consumers would instantly become vegetarians because humans are genetically and instinctually designed not to kill: In fact the act of killing traumatizes people. By mechanizing mass butchery and separating the actual horror of killing and butchering a living animal from buying and eating meat; the undead have made it easier for humans to become normalized to the evils they commit. Every new 'norm' is a new evil disguised as 'progress'. There is no such thing as normality. There are only new changes called 'modernization', new evils under the guise of 'progress' that are progressively more and more evil constantly being pushed by the undead. That is why they must all be hunted down and killed dead.
